The acceptance of and continuance hitherto in the office to which your suffrages have twice called me have been a uniform sacrifice of inclination to the opinion of duty and to a deference for what appeared to be your desire. I constantly hoped that it would have been much earlier in my power, consistently with motives which I was not at liberty to disregard, to return to that retirement from which I had been reluctantly drawn. The strength of my inclination to do this previous to the last election had even led to the preparation of an address to declare it to you; but mature reflection on the then perplexed and critical posture of our affairs with foreign nations and the unanimous advice of persons entitled to my confidence impelled me to abandon the idea. I rejoice that the state of your concerns, external as well as internal, no longer tenders the pursuit of inclination incompatible with the sentiment of duty or propriety, and am persuaded, whatever partiality may be retained for my services, that in the present circumstances of our country you will not disapprove my determination to retire.

The impressions with which I first undertook the arduous trust were explained on the proper occasion. In the discharge of this trust I will only say that I have, with good intentions, contributed toward the organization and administration of the government the best exertions of which a very fallible judgment was capable. Not unconscious in the outset of the inferiority of my qualifications, experience in my own eyes, perhaps still more in the eyes of others, has strengthened the motives to diffidence of myself; and everyday the increasing weight of years admonishes me more and more that the shade of retirement is as necessary to me as it will be welcome. Satisfied that if any circumstances have given peculiar value to my services they were temporary, I have the consolation to believe that, while choice and prudence invite me to quit the political scene, patriotism does not forbid it.

In looking forward to the moment which is intended to terminate the career of my political life, my feelings do not permit me to suspend the deep acknowledgment of that debt of gratitude which I owe to my beloved country for the many honors it has conferred upon me; still more for the steadfast confidence with which it has supported me, and for the opportunities I have thence enjoyed of manifesting my inviolable attachment by services faithful and persevering, though in usefulness unequal to my zeal. If benefits have resulted to our country from these services, let it always be remembered to your praise and as an instructive example in our annals that under circumstances in which the passions, agitated in every direction, were liable to mislead; amidst appearances sometimes dubious; vicissitudes of fortune often discouraging; in situations in which not unfrequently want of success has countenanced the spirit of criticism, the constancy of your support was the essential prop of the efforts and a guaranty of the plans by which they were effected. Profoundly penetrated with this idea, I shall carry it with me to my grave as a strong incitement to unceasing vows that Heaven may continue to you the choicest tokens of its beneficence; that your union and brotherly affection may be perpetual; that the free Constitution which is the work of your hands may be sacredly maintained; that its administration in every department may be stamped with wisdom and virtue; that, in time the happiness of the people of these states, under the auspices of liberty may be made complete by so careful a preservation and so prudent a use of this blessing as will acquire to them the glory of recommending it to the applause, the affection, and adoption of every nation which is yet a stranger to it.

Here, perhaps, I ought to stop. But a solicitude for your welfare which can not end but with my life, and the apprehension of danger natural to that solicitude, urge me on an occasion like the present to offer to your solemn contemplation and to recommend to your frequent review some sentiments which are the result of much reflection, of no inconsiderable observation, and which appear to me all important to the permanency of your felicity as a people. These will be offered to you with the more freedom as you can only see in them the disinterested warnings of a parting friend, who can possibly have no personal motive to bias his counsel. Nor can I forget as an encouragement to it your indulgent reception of my sentiments on a former and not dissimilar occasion.

Interwoven as is the love of liberty with every ligament of your hearts, no recommendation of mine is necessary to fortify or confirm the attachment.

The unity of government which constitutes you one people is also now dear to you. It is justly so, for it is a main pillar in the edifice of your real independence, the support of your tranquillity at home, your peace abroad, of your safety, of your prosperity, of that very liberty which you so highly prize. But as it is easy to foresee that from different causes and from different quarters much pains will be taken, many artifices employed, to weaken in your minds the conviction of this truth, as this is the point in your political fortress against which the batteries of internal and external enemies will be most constantly and actively (though often covertly and insidiously) directed, it is of infinite moment that you should properly estimate the immense value of your national union to your collective and individual happiness; that you should cherish a cordial, habitual, and immovable attachment to it; accustoming yourselves to think and speak of it as of the palladium of your political safety and prosperity; watching for its preservation with jealous anxiety; discountenancing whatever may suggest even a suspicion that it can in any event be abandoned, and indignantly frowning upon the first dawning of every attempt to alienate any portion of our country from the rest or to enfeeble the sacred ties which now link together the various parts.

For this you have every inducement of sympathy and interest. Citizens by birth or choice of a common country, that country has a right to concentrate your affections. The name of American, which belongs to you in your national capacity, must always exalt the just pride of patriotism more than any appellation derived from local discriminations. With slight shades of difference, you have the same religion, manners, habits, and political principles. You have in a common cause fought and triumphed together. The independence and liberty you possess are the work of joint councils and joint efforts, of common dangers, sufferings, and successes.

But these considerations, however powerful they address themselves to your sensibility, are greatly outweighed by those which apply more immediately to your interest. Here every portion of our country finds the most commanding motives for carefully guarding and preserving the union of the whole.

The North, in an unrestrained intercourse with the South, protected by the equal laws of a common government, finds in the productions of the latter great additional resources of maritime and commercial enterprise and precious materials of manufacturing industry. The South, in the same intercourse, benefiting by the same agency of the North, sees its agriculture grow and its commerce expand. Turning partly into its own channels the seamen of the North, it finds its particular navigation invigorated; and while it contributes in different ways to nourish and increase the general mass of the national navigation, it looks forward to the protection of a maritime strength to which itself is unequally adapted. The East, in a like intercourse with the West, already finds, and in the progressive improvement of interior communications by land and water will more and more find, a valuable vent for the commodities which it brings from abroad or manufactures at home. The West derives from the East supplies requisite to its growth and comfort, and what is perhaps of still greater consequence, it must of necessity owe the secure enjoyment of indispensable outlets for its own productions to the weight, influence, and the future maritime strength of the Atlantic side of the Union, directed by an indissoluble community of interest as one nation. Any other tenure by which the West can hold this essential advantage, whether derived from its own separate strength or from an apostate and unnatural connection with any foreign power, must be intrinsically precarious.

While, then, every part of our country thus feels an immediate and particular interest in union, all the parts combined cannot fail to find in the united mass of means and efforts greater strength, greater resource, proportionably greater security from external danger, a less frequent interruption of their peace by foreign nations, and what is of inestimable value, they must derive from union an exemption from those broils and wars between themselves which so frequently afflict neighboring countries not tied together by the same governments, which their own rivalships alone would be sufficient to produce, but which opposite foreign alliances, attachments, and intrigues would stimulate and embitter. Hence, likewise, they will avoid the necessity of those overgrown military establish-

PRESIDENTIAL SPEECHES

GEORGE WASHINGTON: FAREWELL
ADDRESS

PRESIDENTIAL SPEECHESGEORGE
WASHINGTON: FAREWELL
ADDRESS

ments which, under any form of government, are inauspicious to liberty, and which are to be regarded as particularly hostile to republican liberty. In this sense, it is that your union ought to be considered as a main prop of your liberty, and that the love of the one ought to endear to you the preservation of the other.

These considerations speak a persuasive language to every reflecting and virtuous mind, and exhibit the continuance of the union as a primary object of patriotic desire. Is there a doubt whether a common government can embrace so large a sphere? Let experience solve it. To listen to mere speculation in such a case were criminal. We are authorized to hope that a proper organization of the whole, with the auxiliary agency of governments for the respective subdivisions, will afford a happy issue to the experiment. It is well worth a fair and full experiment. With such powerful and obvious motives to union affecting all parts of our country, while experience shall not have demonstrated its impracticability, there will always be reason to distrust the patriotism of those who in any quarter may endeavor to weaken its bands.

In contemplating the causes which may disturb our union it occurs as matter of serious concern that any ground should have been furnished for characterizing parties by geographical discriminations—northern and southern, Atlantic and western—whence designing men may endeavor to excite a belief that there is a real difference of local interests and views. One of the expedients of party to acquire influence within particular districts is to misrepresent the opinions and aims of other districts. You cannot shield yourselves too much against the jealousies and heartburnings which spring from these misrepresentations; they tend to render alien to each other those who ought to be bound together by fraternal affection. The inhabitants of our western country have lately had a useful lesson on this head. They have seen in the negotiation by the executive and in the unanimous ratification by the Senate of the treaty with Spain, and in the universal satisfaction at that event throughout the United States, a decisive proof how unfounded were the suspicions propagated among them of a policy in the general government and in the Atlantic states unfriendly to their interests in regard to the Mississippi. They have been witnesses to the formation of two treaties—that with Great Britain and that with Spain—which secure to them everything they could desire in respect to our foreign relations toward confirming their prosperity. Will it not be their wisdom to rely for the preservation of these advantages on the union by which they were procured? Will they not henceforth be deaf to those advisers, if such there are, who would sever them from their brethren and connect them with aliens?

To the efficacy and permanency of your union a government for the whole is indispensable. No alliances, however strict, between the parts can be an adequate substitute. They must inevitably experience the infractions and interruptions which all alliances in all times have experienced. Sensible of this momentous truth, you have improved upon your first essay by the adoption of a Constitution of government better calculated than your former for an intimate union and for the efficacious management of your common concerns. This government, the offspring of our own choice, uninfluenced and unawed, adopted upon full investigation and mature deliberation, completely free in its principles, in the distribution of its powers, uniting security with energy, and containing within itself a provision for its own amendment, has a just claim to your confidence and your support. Respect for its authority, compliance with its laws, acquiescence in its measures, are duties enjoined by the fundamental maxims of true liberty. The basis of our political systems is the right of the people to make and to alter their constitutions of government. But the constitution which at any time exists till changed by an explicit and authentic act of the whole people is sacredly obligatory upon all. The very idea of the power and the right of the people to establish government presupposes the duty of every individual to obey the established government.

All obstructions to the execution of the laws, all combinations and associations, under whatever plausible character, with the real design to direct, control, counteract, or awe the regular deliberation and action of the constituted authorities, are destructive of this fundamental principle and of fatal tendency. They serve to organize faction; to give it an artificial and extraordinary force; to put in the place of the delegated will of the nation the will of a party, often a small but artful and enterprising minority of the community, and, according to the alternate triumphs of different parties, to make the public administration the mirror of the ill-concerted and incongruous projects of faction rather than the organ of consistent and wholesome plans, digested by common counsels and modified by mutual interests.

However combinations or associations of the above description may now and then answer popular ends, they are likely in the course of time and things to become potent engines by which cunning, ambitious, and unprincipled men will be enabled to subvert the power of the people, and to usurp for themselves the reins of government, destroying afterwards the very engines which have lifted them to unjust dominion.

Toward the preservation of your government and the permanency of your present happy state, it is requisite not only that you steadily discountenance irregular oppositions to its acknowledged authority, but also that you resist with care the spirit of innovation upon its principles, however specious the pretexts. One method of assault may be to effect in the forms of the Constitution alterations which will impair the energy of the system, and thus to undermine what can not be directly overthrown. In all the changes to which you may be invited remember that time and habit are at least as necessary to fix the true character of governments as of other human institutions; that experience is the surest standard by which to test the real tendency of the existing constitution of a country; that facility in changes upon the credit of mere hypothesis and opinion exposes to perpetual change, from the endless variety of hypothesis and opinion; and remember especially that for the efficient management of your common interests in a country so extensive as ours a government of as much vigor as is consistent with the perfect security of liberty is indispensable. Liberty itself will find in such a government, with powers properly distributed and adjusted, its surest guardian. It is, indeed, little else than a name where the government is too feeble to withstand the enterprises of faction, to confine each member of the society within the limits prescribed by the laws, and to maintain all in the secure and tranquil enjoyment of the rights of person and property.

I have already intimated to you the danger of parties in the state, with particular reference to the founding of them on geographical discriminations. Let me now take a more comprehensive view, and warn you in the most solemn manner against the baneful effects of the spirit of party generally.

This spirit, unfortunately, is inseparable from our nature, having its root in the strongest passions of the human mind. It exists under different shapes in all governments, more or less stifled, controlled, or repressed; but in those of the popular form it is seen in its greatest rankness and is truly their worst enemy.

The alternate domination of one faction over another, sharpened by the spirit of revenge natural to party dissension, which in different ages and countries has perpetrated the most horrid enormities, is itself a frightful despotism. But this leads at length to a more formal and permanent despotism. The disorders and miseries which result gradually incline the minds of men to seek security and repose in the absolute power of an individual, and sooner or later the chief of some prevailing faction, more able or more fortunate than his competitors, turns this disposition to the purposes of his own elevation on the ruins of public liberty.

Without looking forward to an extremity of this kind (which nevertheless ought not to be entirely out of sight), the common and continual mischiefs of the spirit of party are sufficient to make it the interest and duty of a wise people to discourage and restrain it.

It serves always to distract the public councils and enfeeble the public administration. It agitates the community with ill-founded jealousies and false alarms; kindles the animosity of one part against another; foment occasionally riot and insurrection. It opens the door to foreign influence and corruption, which find a facilitated access to the government itself through the channels of party passion. Thus the policy and the will of one country are subjected to the policy and will of another.

There is an opinion that parties in free countries are useful checks upon the administration of the government, and serve to keep alive the spirit of liberty. This within certain limits is probably true; and in governments of a monarchical cast patriotism may look with indulgence, if not with favor, upon the spirit of party. But in those of the popular character, in governments purely elective, it is a spirit not to be encouraged. From their natural tendency it is certain there will always be enough of that spirit for every salutary purpose; and there being constant danger of excess, the effort ought to be by force of

PRESIDENTIAL
SPEECHES

GEORGE WASHINGTON: FAREWELL
ADDRESS

PRESIDENTIAL SPEECHESGEORGE
WASHINGTON: FAREWELL
ADDRESS

public opinion to mitigate and assuage it. A fire not to be quenched, it demands a uniform vigilance to prevent its bursting into a flame, lest, instead of warming, it should consume.

It is important, likewise, that the habits of thinking in a free country should inspire caution in those entrusted with its administration to confine themselves within their respective constitutional spheres, avoiding in the exercise of the powers of one department to encroach upon another. The spirit of encroachment tends to consolidate the powers of all the departments in one, and thus to create, whatever the form of government, a real despotism. A just estimate of that love of power and proneness to abuse it which predominates in the human heart is sufficient to satisfy us of the truth of this position. The necessity of reciprocal checks in the exercise of political power, by dividing and distributing it into different depositories, and constituting each the guardian of the public weal against invasions by the others, has been evinced by experiments ancient and modern, some of them in our country and under our own eyes. To preserve them must be as necessary as to institute them. If in the opinion of the people the distribution or modification of the constitutional powers be in any particular wrong, let it be corrected by an amendment in the way which the Constitution designates. But let there be no change by usurpation; for though this in one instance may be the instrument of good, it is the customary weapon by which free governments are destroyed. The precedent must always greatly overbalance in permanent evil any partial or transient benefit which the use can at any time yield.

Of all the dispositions and habits which lead to political prosperity, religion and morality are indispensable supports. In vain would that man claim the tribute of patriotism who should labor to subvert these great pillars of human happiness—these firmest props of the duties of men and citizens. The mere politician, equally with the pious man, ought to respect and to cherish them. A volume could not trace all their connections with private and public felicity. Let it simply be asked, Where is the security for property, for reputation, for life, if the sense of religious obligations desert the oaths which are the instruments of investigation in courts of justice? And let us with caution indulge the supposition that morality can be maintained without religion. Whatever may be conceded to the influence of refined education on minds of peculiar structure, reason and experience both forbid us to expect that national morality can prevail in exclusion of religious principle.

It is substantially true that virtue or morality is a necessary spring of popular government. The rule indeed extends with more or less force to every species of free government. Who that is a sincere friend to it can look with indifference upon attempts to shake the foundation of the fabric? Promote, then, as an object of primary importance, institutions for the general diffusion of knowledge. In proportion as the structure of a government gives force to public opinion, it is essential that public opinion should be enlightened.

As a very important source of strength and security, cherish public credit. One method of preserving it is to use it as sparingly as possible, avoiding occasions of expense by cultivating peace, but remembering also that timely disbursements to prepare for danger frequently prevent much greater disbursements to repel it; avoiding likewise the accumulation of debt, not only by shunning occasions of expense, but by vigorous exertions in time of peace to discharge the debts which unavoidable wars have occasioned, not ungenerously throwing upon posterity the burthen which we ourselves ought to bear. The execution of these maxims belongs to your representatives; but it is necessary that public opinion should cooperate. To facilitate to them the performance of their duty, it is essential that you should practically bear in mind that toward the payment of debts there must be revenue; that to have revenue there must be taxes; that no taxes can be devised which are not more or less inconvenient and unpleasant; that the intrinsic embarrassment inseparable from the selection of the proper objects (which is always a choice of difficulties), ought to be a decisive motive for a candid construction of the conduct of the government in making it, and for a spirit of acquiescence in the measures for obtaining revenue which the public exigencies may at any time dictate.

Observe good faith and justice toward all nations. Cultivate peace and harmony with all. Religion and morality enjoin this conduct. And can it be that good policy does not equally enjoin it? It will be worthy of a free, enlightened, and at no distant period a great nation to give to mankind the magnanimous and too novel example of a people always guided by an exalted justice and benevolence. Who can doubt that in the course of time and things the fruits of such a plan would richly repay any temporary advantages which might be lost by a steady adherence to it? Can it be that Providence has not connected the permanent felicity of a nation with its virtue? The experiment, at least, is recommended by every sentiment which ennobles human nature. Alas! is it rendered impossible by its vices?

In the execution of such a plan nothing is more essential than that permanent, inveterate antipathies against particular nations and passionate attachments for others should be excluded, and that in place of them just and amicable feelings toward all should be cultivated. The nation which indulges toward another in habitual hatred or an habitual fondness is in some degree a slave. It is a slave to its animosity or to its affection, either of which is sufficient to lead it astray from its duty and its interest. Antipathy in one nation against another disposes each more readily to offer insult and injury, to lay hold of slight causes of umbrage, and to be haughty and intractable when accidental or trifling occasions of dispute occur.

Hence frequent collisions, obstinate, envenomed, and bloody contests. The nation prompted by ill will and resentment sometimes impels to war the government contrary to the best calculations of policy. The government sometimes participates in the national propensity, and adopts through passion what reason would reject. At other times it makes the animosity of the nation subservient to projects of hostility, instigated by pride, ambition, and other sinister and pernicious motives. The peace often, sometimes perhaps the liberty, of nations has been the victim.

So, likewise, a passionate attachment of one nation for another produces a variety of evils. Sympathy for the favorite nation, facilitating the illusion of an imaginary common interest in cases where no real common interest exists, and infusing into one the enmities of the other, betrays the former into a participation in the quarrels and wars of the latter without adequate inducement or justification. It leads also to concessions to the favorite nation of privileges denied to others, which is apt doubly to injure the nation making the concessions by unnecessarily parting with what ought to have been retained, and by exciting jealousy, ill will, and a disposition to retaliate in the parties from whom equal privileges are withheld; and it gives to ambitious, corrupted, or deluded citizens (who devote themselves to the favorite nation) facility to betray or sacrifice the interests of their own country without odium, sometimes even with popularity, gilding with the appearances of a virtuous sense of obligation, a commendable deference for public opinion, or a laudable zeal for public good the base or foolish compliances of ambition, corruption, or infatuation.

As avenues to foreign influence in innumerable ways, such attachments are particularly alarming to the truly enlightened and independent patriot. How many opportunities do they afford to tamper with domestic factions, to practice the arts of seduction, to mislead public opinion, to influence or awe the public councils! Such an attachment of a small or weak toward a great and powerful nation dooms the former to be the satellite of the latter. Against the insidious wiles of foreign influence (I conjure you to believe me, fellow citizens), the jealousy of a free people ought to be constantly awake, since history and experience prove that foreign influence is one of the most baneful foes of republican government. But that jealousy, to be useful, must be impartial, else it becomes the instrument of the very influence to be avoided, instead of a defense against it. Excessive partiality for one foreign nation and excessive dislike of another cause those whom they actuate to see danger only on one side, and serve to veil and even second the arts of influence on the other. Real patriots who may resist the intrigues of the favorite are liable to become suspected and odious, while its tools and dupes usurp the applause and confidence of the people to surrender their interests.

The great rule of conduct for us in regard to foreign nations is, in extending our commercial relations to have with them as little political connection as possible. So far as we have already formed engagements let them be fulfilled with perfect good faith. Here let us stop.

Europe has a set of primary interests which to us have none or a very remote relation. Hence she must be engaged in frequent controversies, the causes of which are essentially foreign to our concerns. Hence, therefore, it must be unwise in us to implicate ourselves by artificial ties in the ordinary vicissitudes of her politics or the ordi-

PRESIDENTIAL
SPEECHES

GEORGE WASHINGTON: FAREWELL
ADDRESS

PRESIDENTIAL SPEECHESGEORGE
WASHINGTON: FAREWELL
ADDRESS

nary combinations and collisions of her friendships or enmities.

Our detached and distant situation invites and enables us to pursue a different course. If we remain one people, under an efficient government, the period is not far off when we may defy material injury from external annoyance; when we may take such an attitude as will cause the neutrality we may at any time resolve upon to be scrupulously respected; when belligerent nations, under the impossibility of making acquisitions upon us, will not lightly hazard the giving us provocation; when we may choose peace or war, as our interest, guided by justice, shall counsel.

Why forgo the advantages of so peculiar a situation? Why quit our own to stand upon foreign ground? Why, by interweaving our destiny with that of any part of Europe, entangle our peace and prosperity in the toils of European ambition, rivalry, interest, humor, or caprice?

It is our true policy to steer clear of permanent alliances with any portion of the foreign world, so far, I mean, as we are now at liberty to do it; for let me not be understood as capable of patronizing infidelity to existing engagements. I hold the maxim no less applicable to public than to private affairs that honesty is always the best policy. I repeat, therefore, let those engagements be observed in their genuine sense. But in my opinion it is unnecessary and would be unwise to extend them.

Taking care always to keep ourselves by suitable establishments on a respectable defensive posture, we may safely trust to temporary alliances for extraordinary emergencies.

Harmony, liberal intercourse with all nations are recommended by policy, humanity, and interest. But even our commercial policy should hold an equal and impartial hand, neither seeking nor granting exclusive favors or preferences; consulting the natural course of things; diffusing and diversifying by gentle means the streams of commerce, but forcing nothing; establishing with powers so disposed, in order to give trade a stable course, to define the rights of our merchants, and to enable the government to support them, conventional rules of intercourse, the best that present circumstances and mutual opinion will permit, but temporary and liable to be from time to time abandoned or varied as experience and circumstances shall dictate; constantly keeping in view that it is folly in one nation to look for disinterested favors from another; that it must pay with a portion of its independence for whatever it may accept under that character; that by such acceptance it may place itself in the condition of having given equivalents for nominal favors, and yet of being reproached with ingratitude for not giving more. There can be no greater error than to expect or calculate upon real favors from nation to nation. It is an illusion which experience must cure, which a just pride ought to discard.

In offering to you, my countrymen, these counsels of an old and affectionate friend I dare not hope they will make the strong and lasting impression I could wish—that they will control the usual current of the passions or prevent our nation from running the course which has hitherto marked the destiny of nations. But if I may even flatter myself that they may be productive of some partial benefit, some occasional good—that they may now and then recur to moderate the fury of party spirit, to warn against the mischiefs of foreign intrigue, to guard against the impostures of pretended patriotism—this hope will be a full recompense for the solicitude for your welfare by which they have been dictated.

How far in the discharge of my official duties I have been guided by the principles which have been delineated the public records and other evidences of my conduct must witness to you and to the world. To myself, the assurance of my own conscience is that I have at least believed myself to be guided by them.

In relation to the still subsisting war in Europe, my proclamation of the 22d of April 1793 is the index to my plan. Sanctioned by your approving voice and by that of your representatives in both houses of Congress, the spirit of that measure has continually governed me, uninfluenced by any attempts to deter or divert me from it.

After deliberate examination, with the aid of the best lights I could obtain, I was well satisfied that our country, under all the circumstances of the case, had a right to take, and was bound in duty and interest to take, a neutral position. Having taken it, I determined as far as should depend upon me to maintain it with moderation, perseverance, and firmness.

The considerations which respect the right to hold this conduct it is not necessary on this occasion to detail. I will only observe that, according to my understanding of the matter, that right, so far from being denied by any of the belligerent powers, has been virtually admitted by all.

The duty of holding a neutral conduct may be inferred, without anything more, from the obligation which justice and humanity impose on every nation, in cases in which it is free to act, to maintain inviolate the relations of peace and amity toward other nations.

The inducements of interest for observing that conduct will best be referred to your own reflections and experience. With me a predominant motive has been to endeavor to gain time to our country to settle and mature its yet recent institutions, and to progress without interruption to that degree of strength and consistency which is necessary to give it, humanly speaking, the command of its own fortunes.

Though in reviewing the incidents of my administration I am unconscious of intentional error, I am nevertheless too sensible of my defects not to think it probable that I may have committed many errors. Whatever they may be, I fervently beseech the Almighty to avert or mitigate the evils to which they may tend. I shall also carry with me the hope that my country will never cease to view them with indulgence, and that, after forty-five years of my life dedicated to its service with an upright zeal, the faults of incompetent abilities will be consigned to oblivion, as myself must soon be to the mansions of rest.

Relying on its kindness in this as in other things, and actuated by that fervent love toward it which is so natural to a man who views in it the native soil of himself and his progenitors for several generations, I anticipate with pleasing expectation that retreat in which I promise myself to realize without alloy the sweet enjoyment of partaking in the midst of my fellow citizens the benign influence of good laws under a free government—the ever-favorite object of my heart, and the happy reward, as I trust, of our mutual cares, labors, and dangers.

PRESIDENTIAL SPEECHES

GEORGE WASHINGTON: FAREWELL
ADDRESS

PRESIDENTIAL SPEECHES

ABRAHAM LINCOLN: GETTYSBURG ADDRESS

On November 19, 1863, President Abraham Lincoln delivered an address at the dedication of the national cemetery in Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, that has become one of the most famous speeches of U.S. history. Lincoln's speech came less than six months after the conclusion of the Gettysburg campaign (June 27–July 4, 1863), one of the bloodiest battles of the U.S. Civil War. Confederate General Robert E. Lee and his forces were defeated by Union forces led by General George Meade. The losses for both sides were immense with more than 7,000 killed and 44,000 wounded or missing.

The principal orator at the dedication was Edward Everett, a senator, preacher, and scholar who spoke for more than two hours in the florid style of the time. Lincoln, who presided at the dedication, followed with a few brief remarks in a speech he had written in Washington and then revised slightly before the ceremony. Lincoln honored those who had died at Gettysburg and proclaimed that the cause for which they had died had given the nation a “new birth of freedom.”

Lucid, terse, and precise, Lincoln's speech stood in stark contrast to Everett's. Though the crowd that day applauded Lincoln's address without enthusiasm, generations of schoolchildren have memorized and recited it, while Everett's speech was quickly forgotten.

Source: The Writings of Abraham Lincoln, Constitutional ed., vol. 7 (G. P. Putnam's Sons, 1906), p. 20.

Abraham Lincoln: Gettysburg Address

Fourscore and seven years ago our fathers brought forth on this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal.

Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation, or any nation so conceived and so dedicated, can long endure. We are met on a great battlefield of that war. We have come to dedicate a portion of that field as a final resting-place for those who here gave their lives that that nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this.

But, in a larger sense, we cannot dedicate—we cannot consecrate—we cannot hallow—this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here, have consecrated it far above our poor power to add or detract. The world will little note nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us, the living, rather, to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us—that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion; that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain; that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom; and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth.

PRESIDENTIAL SPEECHES

ABRAHAM LINCOLN: SECOND INAUGURAL ADDRESS

Abraham Lincoln gave many memorable addresses during his political career, but his second inaugural address is ranked as perhaps his greatest speech. On March 4, 1865, as he began his second term as president, Lincoln delivered the address at the Capitol in Washington, D.C. With the Union forces close to victory—the Civil War would end the following month—Lincoln’s address looked forward to the peace that would follow. Throughout the war Lincoln had expressed his desire to preserve the Union. In his address he reminded his listeners that the issue of slavery had been central to the Civil War and suggested that slavery had offended God and brought forth divine retribution in the form of the conflict. Now, with peace at hand, he urged a national reconciliation “with malice toward none, with charity for all.” Lincoln did not have the opportunity to shape Reconstruction. He was shot on April 14, 1865, by John Wilkes Booth during the performance of a play at Ford’s Theater in Washington, D.C. He died the next day.

Abraham Lincoln: Second Inaugural Address

Fellow countrymen:

At this second appearing to take the oath of the presidential office, there is less occasion for an extended address than there was at the first. Then a statement somewhat in detail of a course to be pursued seemed fitting and proper. Now, at the expiration of four years, during which public declarations have been constantly called forth on every point and phase of the great contest which still absorbs the attention and engrosses the energies of the nation, little that is new could be presented. The progress of our arms, upon which all else chiefly depends, is as well known to the public as to myself, and it is, I trust, reasonably satisfactory and encouraging to all. With high hope for the future, no prediction in regard to it is ventured.

On the occasion corresponding to this four years ago, all thoughts were anxiously directed to an impending civil war. All dreaded it, all sought to avert it. While the inaugural address was being delivered from this place, devoted altogether to saving the Union without war, insurgent agents were in the city seeking to destroy it without war—seeking to dissolve the Union and divide effects by negotiation. Both parties deprecated war, but one of them would make war rather than let the nation survive, and the other would accept war rather than let it perish, and the war came.

One-eighth of the whole population were colored slaves, not distributed generally over the Union, but localized in the southern part of it. These slaves constituted a peculiar and powerful interest. All knew that this interest was somehow the cause of the war. To strengthen, perpetuate, and extend this interest was the object for which the insurgents would rend the Union even by Source: James D. Richardson, ed. Messages and Papers of the Presidents: 1789–1897, vol. 6 (1900), pp. 276–277.

PRESIDENTIAL
SPEECHESABRAHAM LINCOLN: SECOND INAUGURAL
ADDRESS

war, while the government claimed no right to do more than to restrict the territorial enlargement of it. Neither party expected for the war the magnitude or the duration which it has already attained. Neither anticipated that the cause of the conflict might cease with or even before the conflict itself should cease. Each looked for an easier triumph, and a result less fundamental and astounding. Both read the same Bible and pray to the same God, and each invokes His aid against the other. It may seem strange that any men should dare to ask a just God's assistance in wringing their bread from the sweat of other men's faces, but let us judge not, that we be not judged. The prayers of both could not be answered. That of neither has been answered fully. The Almighty has His own purposes. "Woe unto the world because of offenses; for it must needs be that offenses come, but woe to that man by whom the offense cometh." If we shall suppose that American slavery is one of those offenses which, in the providence of God, must needs come, but which, having continued through His appointed time, He now wills to remove, and that He gives to both North and South this terrible war as the woe due to those by whom the offense came, shall we discern therein any departure from those divine attributes which the believers in a living God always ascribe to Him? Fondly do we hope, fervently do we pray, that this mighty scourge of war may speedily pass away. Yet, if God wills that it continue until all the wealth piled by the bondsman's two hundred and fifty years of unrequited toil shall be sunk, and until every drop of blood drawn with the lash shall be paid by another drawn with the sword, as was said three thousand years ago, so still it must be said, "the judgments of the Lord are true and righteous altogether."

With malice toward none, with charity for all, with firmness in the right as God gives us to see the right, let us strive on to finish the work we are in, to bind up the nation's wounds, to care for him who shall have borne the battle and for his widow and his orphan, to do all which may achieve and cherish a just and lasting peace among ourselves and with all nations.

PRESIDENTIAL SPEECHES

WOODROW WILSON: FOURTEEN POINTS

By the end of the nineteenth century, U.S. presidents had begun to relax the traditional isolationism of U.S. foreign policy. Nevertheless, when World War I began in 1914, the United States remained aloof from the conflict. President Woodrow Wilson was reelected to a second term in 1916 on the slogan “He kept us out of war.” Wilson and U.S. public opinion shifted, however, when Germany announced that it would engage in unrestricted submarine warfare beginning on February 1, 1917. On April 6, 1917, Wilson signed the congressional declaration of war against Germany.

Wilson, who had attempted to negotiate a peace among the belligerents in 1916, renewed his efforts by proposing a new framework for negotiations. On January 8, 1918, he delivered an address to Congress that named fourteen points to be used as the guide for a peace settlement. The speech became known as the Fourteen Points and served as a distillation of Wilson’s vision of a postwar world. In the address Wilson said that the secret alliances that triggered the war must be replaced with “open covenants of peace, openly arrived at.” He proclaimed the need to demilitarize the ocean and reduce military armaments. He also articulated the desire to end European colonialism and allow the various nationalities of the Austro-Hungarian and Ottoman Empires to create their own states. The most important point was the last, which called for a general association of nations that would guarantee political independence and territorial integrity for all countries.

Following the armistice that ended the war on November 9, 1918, President Wilson led the U.S. delegation to the Paris Peace Conference. Wilson was the only representative of the great powers (which also included Great Britain, France, and Italy) who truly wanted an international organization. His influence was instrumental in persuading the delegates to establish the League of Nations. At home, however, he was unable to secure Senate ratification of the peace treaty that included the league. He was opposed both by Republicans who did not want to commit the United States to supporting the league with financial resources and by isolationists from both major political parties who argued that the United States should not interfere in European affairs.

Woodrow Wilson: Fourteen Points

It will be our wish and purpose that the processes of peace, when they are begun, shall be absolutely open and that they shall involve and permit henceforth no secret understandings of any kind. The day of conquest and aggrandizement is gone by; so is also the day of secret covenants entered into in the interest of particular governments and likely at some unlooked-for moment to upset the peace of the world. It is this happy fact, now clear to the view of every public man whose thoughts do not still linger in an age that is dead and gone, which makes it possible for every nation whose purposes are

PRESIDENTIAL
SPEECHESWOODROW
WILSON: FOURTEEN
POINTS

consistent with justice and the peace of the world to avow now or at any other time the objects it has in view.

We entered this war because violations of right had occurred which touched us to the quick and made the life of our own people impossible unless they were corrected and the world secure once for all against their recurrence. What we demand in this war, therefore, is nothing peculiar to ourselves. It is that the world be made fit and safe to live in; and particularly that it be made safe for every peace-loving nation which, like our own, wishes to live its own life, determine its own institutions, be assured of justice and fair dealing by the other peoples of the world as against force and selfish aggression. All the peoples of the world are in effect partners in this interest, and for our own part we see very clearly that unless justice be done to others it will not be done to us. The programme of the world's peace, therefore, is our programme; and that programme, the only possible programme, as we see it, is this:

I. Open covenants of peace, openly arrived at, after which there shall be no private international understandings of any kind but diplomacy shall proceed always frankly and in the public view.

II. Absolute freedom of navigation upon the seas, outside territorial waters, alike in peace and in war, except as the seas may be closed in whole or in part by international action for the enforcement of international covenants.

III. The removal, so far as possible, of all economic barriers and the establishment of an equality of trade conditions among all the nations consenting to the peace and associating themselves for its maintenance.

IV. Adequate guarantees given and taken that national armaments will be reduced to the lowest point consistent with domestic safety.

V. A free, open-minded, and absolutely impartial adjustment of all colonial claims, based upon a strict observance of the principle that in determining all such questions of sovereignty the interests of the populations concerned must have equal weight with the equitable claims of the government whose title is to be determined.

VI. The evacuation of all Russian territory and such a settlement of all questions affecting Russia as will secure the best and freest cooperation of the other nations of the world in obtaining for her an unhampered and unembarrassed opportunity for the independent determination of her own political development and national policy and assure her of a sincere welcome into the society of free nations under institutions of her own choosing; and, more than a welcome, assistance also of every kind that she may need and may herself desire. The treatment accorded Russia by her sister nations in the months to come will be the acid test of their good will, of their comprehension of her needs as distinguished from their own interests, and of their intelligent and unselfish sympathy.

VII. Belgium, the whole world will agree, must be evacuated and restored, without any attempt to limit the sovereignty which she enjoys in common with all other free nations. No other single act will serve as this will serve to restore confidence among the nations in the laws which they have themselves set and determined for the government of their relations with one another. Without this healing act the whole structure and validity of international law is forever impaired.

VIII. All French territory should be freed and the invaded portions restored, and the wrong done to France by Prussia in 1871 in the matter of Alsace-Lorraine, which has unsettled the peace of the world for nearly fifty years, should be righted, in order that peace may once more be made secure in the interest of all.

IX. A readjustment of the frontiers of Italy should be effected along clearly recognizable lines of nationality.

X. The peoples of Austria-Hungary, whose place among the nations we wish to see safeguarded and assured, should be accorded the freest opportunity to autonomous development.

XI. Rumania, Serbia, and Montenegro should be evacuated; occupied territories restored; Serbia accorded free and secure access to the sea; and the relations of the several Balkan states to one another determined by friendly counsel along historically established lines of allegiance and nationality; and international guarantees of the political and economic independence and territorial integrity of the several Balkan states should be entered into.

XII. The Turkish portion of the present Ottoman Empire should be assured a secure sovereignty, but the other nationalities which are now under Turkish rule should be assured an undoubted security of life and an absolutely unmolested opportunity of autonomous development, and the Dardanelles should be permanently opened as a free passage to the ships and commerce of all nations under international guarantees.

XIII. An independent Polish state should be erected which should include the territories inhabited by indisputably Polish populations, which should be assured a free and secure access to the sea, and whose political and economic independence and territorial integrity should be guaranteed by international covenant.

XIV. A general association of nations must be formed under specific covenants for the purpose of affording mutual guarantees of political independence and territorial integrity to great and small states alike.

In regard to these essential rectifications of wrong and assertions of right we feel ourselves to be intimate partners of all the governments and peoples associated together against the Imperialists. We cannot be separated in interest or divided in purpose. We stand together until the end.

For such arrangements and covenants we are willing to fight and to continue to fight until they are achieved; but only because we wish the right to prevail and desire a just and stable peace such as can be secured only by removing the chief provocations to war, which this programme does remove. We have no jealousy of German greatness, and there is nothing in this programme that impairs it. We grudge her no achievement or distinction of learning or of pacific enterprise such as have made her record very bright and very enviable. We do not wish to injure her or to block in any way her legitimate influence or power. We do not wish to fight her either with arms or with hostile arrangements of trade if she is willing to associate herself with us and the other peace-loving nations of the world in covenants of justice and law and fair dealing. We wish her only to accept a place of equality among the peoples of the world,—the new world in which we now live,—instead of a place of mastery.

PRESIDENTIAL SPEECHES

WOODROW WILSON: FOURTEEN
POINTS

PRESIDENTIAL SPEECHES

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT: FIRST INAUGURAL ADDRESS

During the presidential campaign of 1932, with the United States mired in the Great Depression, Franklin D. Roosevelt called for action by the federal government to revive the economy and end the suffering of the thirteen million people who were unemployed. When he took office on March 4, 1933, the national mood was bleak. In his first inaugural address, Roosevelt reassured the nation that “the only thing we have to fear is fear itself.” He proposed a New Deal for the people of the United States and promised he would use the power of the executive branch to address the economic crisis.

In his speech Roosevelt criticized the financial community for breeding a culture of greed during the 1920s that led to the economic depression. Declaring that “our greatest task is to put people to work,” he proposed to use the government to reinvigorate the economy. He acknowledged that the need for “undelayed action” might require disturbing the “normal balance of executive and legislative authority.”

Roosevelt’s address helped rally the nation. His call for sweeping actions by the federal government produced a torrent of legislation from Congress in his first hundred days in office. Though the Supreme Court initially struck down many of these acts as unconstitutional, within a few years the Court changed its view. As a result, the federal government greatly expanded its power to regulate the economy. Through Roosevelt’s bold initiatives, many U.S. citizens came to view the federal government in a new way—as the catalyst of progressive social change.

Franklin D. Roosevelt: First Inaugural Address

I am certain that my fellow Americans expect that on my induction into the Presidency I will address them with a candor and a decision which the present situation of our Nation impels. This is preeminently the time to speak the truth, the whole truth, frankly and boldly. Nor need we shrink from honestly facing conditions in our country today. This great Nation will endure as it has endured, will revive and will prosper.

So, first of all, let me assert my firm belief that the only thing we have to fear is fear itself—nameless, unreasoning, unjustified terror which paralyzes needed efforts to convert retreat into advance. In every dark hour of our national life a leadership of frankness and vigor has met with that understanding and support of the people themselves which is essential to victory. I am convinced that you will again give that support to leadership in these critical days.

In such a spirit on my part and on yours we face our common difficulties. They concern, thank God, only material things. Values have shrunk to fantastic levels; taxes have risen; our ability to pay has fallen; government of all kinds is faced by serious curtailment of income; the means of exchange are frozen in the currents of trade; the withered leaves of industrial enterprise lie on every side; farmers find no markets for their produce; the savings of many years in thousands of families are gone.

More important, a host of unemployed citizens face the grim problem of existence, and an equally great number toil with little return. Only a foolish optimist can deny the dark realities of the moment.

Yet our distress comes from no failure of substance. We are stricken by no plague of locusts. Compared with the perils which our forefathers conquered because they believed and were not afraid, we have still much to be thankful for. Nature still offers her bounty and human efforts have multiplied it. Plenty is at our doorstep, but a generous use of it languishes in the very sight of the supply. Primarily this is because the rulers of the exchange of mankind's goods have failed, through their own stubbornness and their own incompetence, have admitted their failure, and abdicated. Practices of the unscrupulous money changers stand indicted in the court of public opinion, rejected by the hearts and minds of men.

True they have tried, but their efforts have been cast in the pattern of an outworn tradition. Faced by failure of credit they have proposed only the lending of more money. Stripped of the lure of profit by which to induce our people to follow their false leadership, they have resorted to exhortations, pleading tearfully for restored confidence. They know only the rules of a generation of self-seekers. They have no vision, and when there is no vision the people perish.

The money changers have fled from their high seats in the temple of our civilization. We may now restore that temple to the ancient truths. The measure of the restoration lies in the extent to which we apply social values more noble than mere monetary profit.

Happiness lies not in the mere possession of money; it lies in the joy of achievement, in the thrill of creative effort. The joy and moral stimulation of work no longer must be forgotten in the mad chase of evanescent profits. These dark days will be worth all they cost us if they teach us that our true destiny is not to be ministered unto but to minister to ourselves and to our fellow men.

Recognition of the falsity of material wealth as the standard of success goes hand in hand with the abandonment of the false belief that public office and high political position are to be valued only by the standards of pride of place and personal profit; and there must be an end to a conduct in banking and in business which too often has given to a sacred trust the likeness of callous and selfish wrongdoing. Small wonder that confidence languishes, for it thrives only on honesty, on honor, on the sacredness of obligations, on faithful protection, on unselfish performance; without them it cannot live.

Restoration calls, however, not for changes in ethics alone. This Nation asks for action, and action now.

Our greatest primary task is to put people to work. This is no unsolvable problem if we face it wisely and courageously. It can be accomplished in part by direct recruiting by the Government itself, treating the task as we would treat the emergency of a war, but at the same time, through this employment, accomplishing greatly needed projects to stimulate and reorganize the use of our natural resources.

Hand in hand with this we must frankly recognize the overbalance of population in our industrial centers and, by engaging on a national scale in a redistribution, endeavor to provide a better use of the land for those best fitted for the land. The task can be helped by definite efforts to raise the values of agricultural products and with this the power to purchase the output of our cities. It can be helped by preventing realistically the tragedy of the growing loss through foreclosure of our small homes and our farms. It can be helped by insistence that the Federal, State, and local governments act forthwith on the demand that their cost be drastically reduced. It can be helped by the unifying of relief activities which today are often scattered, uneconomical, and unequal. It can be helped by national planning for and supervision of all forms of transportation and of communications and other utilities which have a definitely public character. There are many ways in which it can be helped, but it can never be helped merely by talking about it. We must act and act quickly.

Finally, in our progress toward a resumption of work we require two safeguards against a return of the evils of the old order; there must be a strict supervision of all banking and credits and investments; there must be an end to speculation with other people's money, and there must be provision for an adequate but sound currency.

There are the lines of attack. I shall presently urge upon a new Congress in special session detailed measures for their fulfillment, and I shall seek the immediate assistance of the several States.

PRESIDENTIAL SPEECHES

FRANKLIN D.
ROOSEVELT: FIRST INAUGURAL ADDRESS

PRESIDENTIAL SPEECHESFRANKLIN D.
ROOSEVELT: FIRST INAUGURAL
ADDRESS

Through this program of action we address ourselves to putting our own national house in order and making income balance outgo. Our international trade relations, though vastly important, are in point of time and necessity secondary to the establishment of a sound national economy. I favor as a practical policy the putting of first things first. I shall spare no effort to restore world trade by international economic readjustment, but the emergency at home cannot wait on that accomplishment.

The basic thought that guides these specific means of national recovery is not narrowly nationalistic. It is the insistence, as a first consideration, upon the interdependence of the various elements in all parts of the United States—a recognition of the old and permanently important manifestation of the American spirit of the pioneer. It is the way to recovery. It is the immediate way. It is the strongest assurance that the recovery will endure.

In the field of world policy I would dedicate this Nation to the policy of the good neighbor—the neighbor who resolutely respects himself and, because he does so, respects the rights of others—the neighbor who respects his obligations and respects the sanctity of his agreements in and with a world of neighbors.

If I read the temper of our people correctly, we now realize as we have never realized before our interdependence on each other; that we can not merely take but we must give as well; that if we are to go forward, we must move as a trained and loyal army willing to sacrifice for the good of a common discipline, because without such discipline no progress is made, no leadership becomes effective. We are, I know, ready and willing to submit our lives and property to such discipline, because it makes possible a leadership which aims at a larger good. This I propose to offer, pledging that the larger purposes will bind upon us all as a sacred obligation with a unity of duty hitherto evoked only in time of armed strife.

With this pledge taken, I assume unhesitatingly the leadership of this great army of our people dedicated to a disciplined attack upon our common problems.

Action in this image and to this end is feasible under the form of government which we have inherited from our ancestors. Our Constitution is so simple and practical that it is possible always to meet extraordinary needs by changes in emphasis and arrangement without loss of essential form. That is why our constitutional system has proved itself the most superbly enduring political mechanism the modern world has produced. It has met every stress of vast expansion of territory, of foreign wars, of bitter internal strife, of world relations.

It is to be hoped that the normal balance of executive and legislative authority may be wholly adequate to meet the unprecedented task before us. But it may be that an unprecedented demand and need for undelayed action may call for temporary departure from that normal balance of public procedure.

I am prepared under my constitutional duty to recommend the measures that a stricken nation in the midst of a stricken world may require. These measures, or such other measures as the Congress may build out of its experience and wisdom, I shall seek, within my constitutional authority, to bring to speedy adoption.

But in the event that the Congress shall fail to take one of these two courses, and in the event that the national emergency is still critical, I shall not evade the clear course of duty that will then confront me. I shall ask the Congress for the one remaining instrument to meet the crisis—broad Executive power to wage a war against the emergency, as great as the power that would be given to me if we were in fact invaded by a foreign foe. For the trust reposed in me I will return the courage and the devotion that befit the time. I can do no less.

We face the arduous days that lie before us in the warm courage of the national unity; with the clear consciousness of seeking old and precious moral values; with the clean satisfaction that comes from the stem performance of duty by old and young alike. We aim at the assurance of a rounded and permanent national life.

We do not distrust the future of essential democracy. The people of the United States have not failed. In their need they have registered a mandate that they want direct, vigorous action. They have asked for discipline and direction under leadership. They have made me the present instrument of their wishes. In the spirit of the gift I take it.

In this dedication of a Nation we humbly ask the blessing of God. May He protect each and every one of us. May He guide me in the days to come.

PRESIDENTIAL SPEECHES

JOHN F. KENNEDY: INAUGURAL ADDRESS

John F. Kennedy was elected president in 1960 by a slim margin over Vice President Richard M. Nixon. During the campaign Kennedy had charged that the United States had fallen militarily behind the Soviet Union during the administration of President Dwight D. Eisenhower. Therefore, when Kennedy gave his inaugural address on January 20, 1961, he focused on U.S. foreign policy.

Kennedy's address revealed how far the United States had moved in international affairs. The isolationism of the 1930s had given way to a foreign policy based on fighting Communism anywhere in the world. He declared that "the torch has been passed to a new generation of Americans" committed to defending liberty.

The most quoted lines of the address—"ask not what your country can do for you, ask what you can do for your country"—became the patriotic rallying cry for Kennedy's New Frontier initiatives, which emphasized the space program, the Peace Corps, and increased defense spending.

John F. Kennedy: Inaugural Address

We observe today not a victory of party but a celebration of freedom—symbolizing an end as well as a beginning—signifying renewal as well as change. For I have sworn before you and Almighty God the same solemn oath our forebears prescribed nearly a century and three-quarters ago.

The world is very different now. For man holds in his mortal hands the power to abolish all forms of human poverty and all forms of human life. And yet the same revolutionary beliefs for which our forebears fought are still at issue around the globe—the belief that the rights of man come not from the generosity of the state but from the hand of God.

We dare not forget today that we are the heirs of that first revolution. Let the word go forth from this time and place, to friend and foe alike, that the torch has been passed to a new generation of Americans—born in this century, tempered by war, disciplined by a hard and bitter peace, proud of our ancient heritage—and unwilling to witness to or permit the slow undoing of those human rights to which this nation has always been committed, and to which we are committed today at home and around the world.

Let every nation know, whether it wishes us well or ill, that we shall pay any price, bear any burden, meet any hardship, support any friend, oppose any foe to assure the survival and the success of liberty.

This much we pledge—and more.

To those old allies whose cultural and spiritual origins we share, we pledge the loyalty of faithful friends. United, there is little we cannot do in a host of new cooperative ventures. Divided, there is little we can do—for we dare not meet a powerful challenge at odds and split asunder.

To those new states whom we welcome to the ranks of the free, we pledge our word that one form of colonial control shall not have

PRESIDENTIAL SPEECHESJOHN F.
KENNEDY: INAUGURAL
ADDRESS

passed away merely to be replaced by a far more iron tyranny. We shall not always expect to find them supporting our view. But we shall always hope to find them strongly supporting their own freedom—and to remember that, in the past, those who foolishly sought power by riding the back of the tiger ended up inside.

To those people in the huts and villages of half the globe struggling to break the bonds of mass misery, we pledge our best efforts to help them help themselves, for whatever period is required—not because the Communists may be doing it, not because we seek their votes, but because it is right. If a free society cannot help the many who are poor, it cannot save the few who are rich.

To our sister republics south of our border, we offer a special pledge—to convert our good words into good deeds—in a new alliance for progress—to assist free men and free governments in casting off the chains of poverty. But this peaceful revolution of hope cannot become the prey of hostile powers. Let all our neighbors know that we shall join with them to oppose aggression or subversion anywhere in the Americas. And let every other power know that this hemisphere intends to remain the master of its own house.

To that world assembly of sovereign states, the United Nations, our last best hope in an age where the instruments of war have far outpaced the instruments of peace, we renew our pledge of support—to prevent it from becoming merely a forum for invective—to strengthen its shield of the new and the weak—and to enlarge the area in which its writ may run.

Finally, to those nations who would make themselves our adversary, we offer not a pledge but a request: that both sides begin anew the quest for peace, before the dark powers of destruction unleashed by science engulf all humanity in planned or accidental self-destruction.

We dare not tempt them with weakness. For only when our arms are sufficient beyond doubt can we be certain beyond doubt that they will never be employed.

But neither can two great and powerful groups of nations take comfort from our present course—both sides overburdened by the cost of modern weapons, both rightly alarmed by the steady spread of the deadly atom, yet both racing to alter that uncertain balance of terror that stays the hand of mankind's final war.

So let us begin anew—remembering on both sides that civility is not a sign of weakness, and sincerity is always subject to proof. Let us never negotiate out of fear. But let us never fear to negotiate.

Let both sides explore what problems unite us instead of belaboring those problems which divide us.

Let both sides, for the first time, formulate serious and precise proposals for the inspection and control of arms—and bring the absolute power to destroy other nations under the absolute control of all nations.

Let both sides seek to invoke the wonders of science instead of its terrors. Together let us explore the stars, conquer the deserts, eradicate disease, tap the ocean depths and encourage the arts and commerce.

Let both sides unite to heed in all corners of the earth the command of Isaiah—to “undo the heavy burdens . . . [and] let the oppressed go free.”

And if a beachhead of cooperation may push back the jungles of suspicion, let both sides join in creating a new endeavor—not a new balance of power, but a new world of law, where the strong are just and the weak secure and the peace preserved.

All this will not be finished in the first 100 days. Nor will it be finished in the first 1,000 days, nor in the life of this Administration, nor even perhaps in our lifetime on this planet. But let us begin.

In your hands, my fellow citizens, more than mine, will rest the final success or failure of our course. Since this country was founded, each generation of Americans has been summoned to give testimony to its national loyalty. The graves of young Americans who answered the call to service surround the globe.

Now the trumpet summons us again—not as a call to bear arms, though arms we need—not as a call to battle, though embattled we are—but a call to bear the burden of a long twilight struggle year in and year out, “rejoicing in hope, patient in tribulation”—a struggle against the common enemies of man: tyranny, poverty, disease and war itself.

Can we forge against these enemies a grand and global alliance, north and south, east and west, that can assure a more fruitful life for all mankind? Will you join in that historic effort?

In the long history of the world, only a few generations have been granted the role of defending freedom in its hour of maximum danger. I do not shrink from this responsibility—I welcome it. I do not believe that any of us would exchange places with any other people or any other generation. The energy, the faith, the devotion which we bring to this endeavor will light our country and all who serve it—and the glow from that fire can truly light the world.

And so, my fellow Americans: ask not what your country can do for you—ask what you can do for your country.

My fellow citizens of the world: ask not what America will do for you, but what together we can do for the freedom of man.

Finally, whether you are citizens of America or citizens of the world, ask of us here the same high standards of strength and sacrifice which we ask of you. With a good conscience our only sure reward, with history the final judge of our deeds, let us go forth to lead the land we love, asking His blessing and His help, but knowing that here on earth God's work must truly be our own.

PRESIDENTIAL SPEECHES

JOHN F.
KENNEDY: INAUGURAL
ADDRESS

PRESIDENTIAL SPEECHES

LYNDON B. JOHNSON: VOTING RIGHTS ACT ADDRESS

On March 15, 1965, President Lyndon B. Johnson addressed a joint session of Congress to urge the passage of new voting rights legislation. Although Johnson had successfully engineered the passage of the landmark Civil Rights Act of 1964 (42 U.S.C.A. § 2000a et seq.) the year before, problems remained. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., and other civil rights leaders demanded an end to racially discriminatory voting practices in the South. They organized public protests and voter registration drives that were met with intense resistance from local authorities.

When King and civil rights supporters marched to Selma, Alabama, in 1965 to demand voting rights, police met them with violence, and several marchers were murdered. The Selma violence, which was broadcast on television news programs, galvanized voting rights supporters in Congress. One week later, President Johnson responded by introducing the Voting Rights Act (42 U.S.C.A. § 1973 et seq.), which included the harshest penalties ever imposed for denials of civil rights. Congress enacted the measure five months later.

In his address Johnson confronted the problem of racism and racial discrimination. He declared that “every American citizen must have an equal right to vote. There is no reason which can excuse the denial of that right.” Johnson reminded the nation that the Fifteenth Amendment, which was passed after the Civil War, gives all citizens the right to vote regardless of race or color, yet states had defied the Constitution and erected barriers based on those forbidden grounds. In Johnson’s view no constitutional or moral issue was at stake. Congress simply needed to enforce the amendment with strict penalties.

Johnson, a native of Texas, surprised the nation near the close of his speech when he invoked the famous civil rights anthem and declared “we shall overcome.” He was greeted by stunned silence, followed by thunderous applause and tears. It was reported that Dr. King, watching the speech on television from Selma, wept. Many historians view the speech as the watershed moment of the civil rights revolution of the 1960s.

Lyndon B. Johnson: Voting Rights Act Address

I speak tonight for the dignity of man and the destiny of democracy.

I urge every member of both parties—Americans of all religions and of all colors—from every section of this country—to join me in that cause.

At times history and fate meet at a single time in a single place to shape a turning point in man’s unending search for freedom. So it was at Lexington and Concord. So it was a century ago at Appomattox. So it was last week in Selma, Alabama.

There is no Negro problem. There is no southern problem. There is no northern problem. There is only an American problem.

And we are met here tonight as Americans—not as Democrats or Republicans—we are met here as Americans to solve that problem.

This was the first nation in the history of the world to be founded with a purpose. The great phrases of that purpose still sound in every American heart, north and south: “All men are created equal”—“Government by consent of the governed”—“Give me liberty or give me death.” . . .

Those words are a promise to every citizen that he shall share in the dignity of man. This dignity cannot be found in man’s possessions. It cannot be found in his power or in his position. It really rests on his right to be treated as a man equal in opportunity to all others. It says that he shall share in freedom, he shall choose his leaders, educate his children, provide for his family according to his ability and his merits as a human being. . . .

Many of the issues of civil rights are very complex and most difficult. But about this there can and should be no argument. Every American citizen must have an equal right to vote. There is no reason which can excuse the denial of that right. There is no duty which weighs more heavily on us than the duty we have to ensure that right.

Yet the harsh fact is that in many places in this country men and women are kept from voting simply because they are Negroes. . . .

Experience has clearly shown that the existing process of law cannot overcome systematic and ingenious discrimination. No law that we now have on the books—and I have helped to put three of them there—can ensure the right to vote when local officials are determined to deny it.

In such a case our duty must be clear to all of us. The Constitution says that no person shall be kept from voting because of his race or his color.

We have all sworn an oath before God to support and to defend that Constitution.

We must now act in obedience to that oath.

Wednesday I will send to Congress a law designed to eliminate illegal barriers to the right to vote. . . .

To those who seek to avoid action by their National Government in their home communities—who want to and who seek to maintain purely local control over elections—the answer is simple. Open your polling places to all your people. Allow men and women to register and vote whatever the color of their skin. Extend the rights of citizenship to every citizen of this land. There is no constitutional issue here. The command of the Constitution is plain. There is no moral issue. It is wrong—deadly wrong—to deny any of your fellow Americans the right to vote in this country. There is no issue of States rights or National rights. There is only the struggle for human rights.

I have not the slightest doubt what will be your answer. . . .

But even if we pass this bill, the battle will not be over. What happened in Selma is part of a far larger movement which reaches into every section and State of America. It is the effort of American Negroes to secure for themselves the full blessings of American life.

Their cause must be our cause too, because it is not just Negroes but really it is all of us, who must overcome the crippling legacy of bigotry and injustice. And we shall overcome. . . .

This great, rich, restless country can offer opportunity and education and hope to all—all black and white, all North and South, sharecropper and city dweller. These are the enemies—poverty, ignorance, disease—they are our enemies, not our fellow man, not our neighbor. And these enemies too—poverty, disease, and ignorance—we shall overcome.

PRESIDENTIAL SPEECHES

LYNDON B.
JOHNSON:
VOTING RIGHTS ACT ADDRESS

PRESIDENTIAL SPEECHES

RONALD REAGAN: FIRST INAUGURAL ADDRESS

RONALD REAGAN was elected president in 1980, defeating the incumbent JIMMY CARTER. Reagan, a Republican from California, had campaigned as much against the federal government as against his opponent. He charged that the federal government had become a bloated bureaucracy since its dramatic growth under FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT in the 1930s and 1940s. He proposed to cut the size of the federal government and its budget and return power to the states.

In his first inaugural address, delivered on January 20, 1981, Reagan reaffirmed his campaign pledges. With the nation in an economic recession, he declared that “government is not the solution to our problem.” Instead, he proposed to remove “the roadblocks that have slowed our economy and reduced productivity,” reawaken “this industrial giant,” get “government back within its means,” and reduce “punitive tax burdens.”

In addition, Reagan announced that he would restore the balance between the various levels of government. The federal government’s growth would be reversed, and power would be returned to the states and the people. Though he denied any intention of doing away with government, Reagan made clear that “we are a nation that has a government—not the other way around.”

Reagan’s address signaled a turning point in modern U.S. history, as conservative political views became more popular with the electorate. Almost every facet of modern U.S. government became the subject of a conservative reevaluation that resulted in significant changes in the regulation of the economy and social welfare programs.

Ronald Reagan: First Inaugural Address

To a few of us here today, this is a solemn and most momentous occasion; and yet, in the history of our Nation, it is a commonplace occurrence. The orderly transfer of authority as called for in the Constitution routinely takes place as it has for almost two centuries and few of us stop to think how unique we really are. In the eyes of many in the world, this every-4-year ceremony we accept as normal is nothing less than a miracle.

Mr. President, I want our fellow citizens to know how much you did to carry on this tradition. By your gracious cooperation in the transition process, you have shown a watching world that we are a united people pledged to maintaining a political system which guarantees individual liberty to a greater degree than any other, and I thank you and your people for all your help in maintaining the continuity which is the bulwark of our Republic.

The business of our nation goes forward. These United States are confronted with an economic affliction of great proportions. We suffer from the longest and one of the worst sustained inflations in our national history. It distorts our economic decisions, penalizes thrift, and crushes the struggling young and the fixed-income elderly alike. It threatens to shatter the lives of millions of our people. Idle industries have cast workers into unemployment, causing human misery and personal indignity.

Those who do work are denied a fair return for their labor by a tax system which penalizes successful achievement and keeps us from maintaining full productivity. But great as our tax burden is, it has not kept pace with public spending. For decades, we have piled deficit upon deficit, mortgaging our future and our children's future for the temporary convenience of the present. To continue this long trend is to guarantee tremendous social, cultural, political, and economic upheavals. You and I, as individuals, can, by borrowing, live beyond our means, but for only a limited period of time.

Why, then, should we think that collectively, as a nation, we are not bound by that same limitation? We must act today in order to preserve tomorrow. And let there be no misunderstanding—we are going to begin to act, beginning today. The economic ills we suffer have come upon us over several decades. They will not go away in days, weeks, or months, but they will go away. They will go away because we, as Americans, have the capacity now, as we have had in the past, to do whatever needs to be done to preserve this last and greatest bastion of freedom.

In this present crisis, government is not the solution to our problem. From time to time, we have been tempted to believe that society has become too complex to be managed by self-rule, that government by an elite group is superior to government for, by, and of the people. But if no one among us is capable of governing himself, then who among us has the capacity to govern someone else? All of us together, in and out of government, must bear the burden. The solutions we seek must be equitable, with no one group singled out to pay a higher price.

We hear much of special interest groups. Our concern must be for a special interest group that has been too long neglected. It knows no sectional boundaries or ethnic and racial divisions, and it crosses political party lines. It is made up of men and women who raise our food, patrol our streets, man our mines and our factories, teach our children, keep our homes, and heal us when we are sick—professionals, industrialists, shopkeepers, clerks, cabbies, and truckdrivers. They are, in short, "We the people," this breed called Americans.

Well, this administration's objective will be a healthy, vigorous, growing economy that provides equal opportunity for all Americans, with no barriers born of bigotry or discrimination. Putting America back to work means putting all Americans back to work. Ending inflation means freeing all Americans from the terror of runaway living costs. All must share in the productive work of this "new beginning" and all must share in the bounty of a revived economy. With the idealism and fair play which are the core of our system and our strength, we can have a strong and prosperous America at peace with itself and the world. So, as we begin, let us take inventory.

We are a nation that has a government—not the other way around. And this makes us special among the nations of the Earth. Our Government has no power except that granted it by the people. It is time to check and reverse the growth of government which shows signs of having grown beyond the consent of the governed.

It is my intention to curb the size and influence of the Federal establishment and to demand recognition of the distinction between the powers granted to the Federal Government and those reserved to the States or to the people. All of us need to be reminded that the Federal Government did not create the States; the States created the Federal Government. Now, so there will be no misunderstanding, it is not my intention to do away with government. It is, rather, to make it work—work with us, not over us; to stand by our side, not ride on our back. Government can and must provide opportunity, not smother it; foster productivity, not stifle it.

If we look to the answer as to why, for so many years, we achieved so much, prospered as no other people on Earth, it was because here, in this land, we unleashed the energy and individual genius of man to a greater extent than has ever been done before. Freedom and the dignity of the individual have been more available and assured here than in any other place on Earth. The price for this freedom at times has been high, but we have never been unwilling to pay that price. It is no coincidence that our present troubles parallel and are proportionate to the intervention and intrusion in our lives that result from unnecessary and excessive growth of government.

It is time for us to realize that we are too great a nation to limit ourselves to small dreams.

PRESIDENTIAL SPEECHES

RONALD REAGAN: FIRST INAUGURAL
ADDRESS

PRESIDENTIAL SPEECHESRONALD
REAGAN: FIRST INAUGURAL
ADDRESS

We are not, as some would have us believe, loomed to an inevitable decline. I do not believe in a fate that will fall on us no matter what we do. I do believe in a fate that will fall on us if we do nothing.

So, with all the creative energy at our command, let us begin an era of national renewal. Let us renew our determination, our courage, and our strength. And let us renew; our faith and our hope. We have every right to dream heroic dreams. Those who say that we are in a time when there are no heroes just don't know where to look. You can see heroes every day going in and out of factory gates. Others, a handful in number, produce enough food to feed all of us and then the world beyond. You meet heroes across a counter—and they are on both sides of that counter. There are entrepreneurs with faith in themselves and faith in an idea who create new jobs, new wealth and opportunity. They are individuals and families whose taxes support the Government and whose voluntary gifts support church, charity, culture, art, and education. Their patriotism is quiet but deep. Their values sustain our national life.

I have used the words “they” and “their” in speaking of these heroes. I could say “you” and “your” because I am addressing the heroes of whom I speak—you, the citizens of this blessed land. Your dreams, your hopes, your goals are going to be the dreams, the hopes, and the goals of this administration, so help me God. We shall reflect the compassion that is so much a part of your makeup. How can we love our country and not love our countrymen, and loving them, reach out a hand when they fall, heal them when they are sick, and provide opportunities to make them self-sufficient so they will be equal in fact and not just in theory? Can we solve the problems confronting us? Well, the answer is an unequivocal and emphatic “yes.” To paraphrase Winston Churchill, I did not take the oath I have just taken with the intention of presiding over the dissolution of the world's strongest economy. In the days ahead I will propose removing the roadblocks that have slowed our economy and reduced productivity. Steps will be taken aimed at restoring the balance between the various levels of government. Progress may be slow—measured in inches and feet, not miles—but we will progress.

It is time to reawaken this industrial giant, to get government back within its means, and to lighten our punitive tax burden. And these will be our first priorities, and on these principles, there will be no compromise. On the eve of our struggle for independence a man who might have been one of the greatest among the Founding Fathers, Dr. Joseph Warren, President of the Massachusetts Congress, said to his fellow Americans, “Our country is in danger, but not to be despaired of. . . . On you depend the fortunes of America. You are to decide the important questions upon which rests the happiness and the liberty of millions yet unborn. Act worthy of yourselves.”

Well, I believe we, the Americans of today, are ready to act worthy of ourselves, ready to do what must be done to ensure happiness and liberty for ourselves, our children and our children's children. And as we renew ourselves here in our own land, we will be seen as having greater strength throughout the world. We will again be the exemplar of freedom and a beacon of hope for those who do not now have freedom.

To those neighbors and allies who share our freedom, we will strengthen our historic ties and assure them of our support and firm commitment. We will match loyalty with loyalty. We will strive for mutually beneficial relations. We will not use our friendship to impose on their sovereignty, for our own sovereignty is not for sale.

As for the enemies of freedom, those who are potential adversaries, they will be reminded that peace is the highest aspiration of the American people. We will negotiate for it, sacrifice for it; we will not surrender for it—now or ever. Our forbearance should never be misunderstood. Our reluctance for conflict should not be misjudged as a failure of will. When action is required to preserve our national security, we will act. We will maintain sufficient strength to prevail if need be, knowing that if we do so we have the best chance of never having to use that strength.

Above all, we must realize that no arsenal, or no weapon in the arsenals of the world, is so formidable as the will and moral courage of free men and women. It is a weapon our adversaries in today's world do not have. It is a weapon that we as Americans do have. Let that be understood by those who practice terrorism and prey upon their neighbors. I am told that tens of thousands of prayer meetings are being held on this day, and for that I am deeply grateful. We are a nation under God, and I believe God intended for us to be free. It would be fitting and good, I think, if on each Inauguration Day in future years it should be declared a day of prayer.

This is the first time in history that this ceremony has been held, as you have been told, on this West Front of the Capitol. Standing here, one faces a magnificent vista, opening up on this city's special beauty and history. At the end of this open mall are those shrines to the giants on whose shoulders we stand. Directly in front of me, the monument to a monumental man: George Washington, Father of our country. A man of humility who came to greatness reluctantly. He led America out of revolutionary victory into infant nationhood. Off to one side, the stately memorial to Thomas Jefferson. The Declaration of Independence flames with his eloquence. And then beyond the Reflecting Pool the dignified columns of the Lincoln Memorial. Whoever would understand in his heart the meaning of America will find it in the life of Abraham Lincoln. Beyond those monuments to heroism is the Potomac River, and on the far shore the sloping hills of Arlington National Cemetery with its row on row of simple white markers bearing crosses or Stars of David. They add up to only a tiny fraction of the price that has been paid for our freedom. Each one of those markers is a monument to the kinds of heroes I spoke of earlier. Their lives ended in places called Belleau Wood. The Argonne, Omaha Beach, Salerno and halfway around the world on Guadalcanal, Tarawa, Pork Chop Hill, the Chosin Reservoir, and in a hundred rice paddies and jungles of a place called Vietnam.

Under one such marker lies a young man—Martin Treptow—who left his job in a small town barber shop in 1917 to go to France with the famed Rainbow Division. There, on the western front, he was killed trying to carry a message between battalions under heavy artillery fire. We are told that on his body was found a diary. On the flyleaf under the heading, "My Pledge," he had written these words: "America must win this war. Therefore, I will work, I will save, I will sacrifice, I will endure, I will fight cheerfully and do my utmost, as if the issue of the whole struggle depended on me alone."

The crisis we are facing today does not require of us the kind of sacrifice that Martin Treptow and so many thousands of others were called upon to make. It does require, however, our best effort, and our willingness to believe in ourselves and to believe in our capacity to perform great deeds; to believe that together, with God's help, we can and will resolve the problems which now confront us. And, after all, why shouldn't we believe that? We are Americans. God bless you, and thank you.

PRESIDENTIAL SPEECHES

RONALD REAGAN: FIRST INAUGURAL
ADDRESS

PRESIDENTIAL SPEECHES

GEORGE W. BUSH: ADDRESS TO CONGRESS, SEPTEMBER 20, 2001

On September 11, 2001, two hijacked aircraft crashed into the World Trade Center in New York City, destroying the complex. Another plane hit the Pentagon, headquarters for the U.S. military, outside Washington, D.C. A fourth plane, also believed to be heading for Washington, D.C., crashed in rural Pennsylvania when passengers attempted to retake control from the hijackers. Almost 3,000 people were killed in the attacks.

Within hours of the attacks, the U.S. government had blamed them on terrorists. Speculation centered around the al Qaeda organization and its leader Osama bin Laden. Bin Laden was believed to be operating out of Afghanistan, a nation controlled by the Taliban, a radical Islamic group sympathetic with bin Laden's ideals. President GEORGE W. BUSH and other administration figures were soon on television and radio telling the nation not to fear and warning the world that the United States would respond to the attacks with determination and vigor.

On September 20th, President Bush spoke before a joint session of Congress in the U.S. Capitol. His speech served many purposes. It honored those who had died in the attacks, and those who were struggling to deal with the aftermath. Bush also sought to reassure Americans that they were safe and that steps were being taken to prevent future attacks. The central message of the speech, however, was that the United States remained strong and unafraid, and that it intended to eliminate terrorist threats through a WAR ON TERROR. President Bush identified al Qaeda as being behind the September 11th attacks and warned the Taliban in Afghanistan that if they failed to cooperate in stopping al Qaeda they would be viewed as collaborators. President Bush went on to make it clear to the American people and the world that a protracted struggle against not just al Qaeda, but world terrorism as a whole, was underway.

President Bush's speech helped honor the fallen and reassure the living, but it did not convince the Taliban to give in to his demands. On October 7, 2001, the United States and its allies began a military campaign against the Taliban and terrorists in Afghanistan. It was eventually successful in driving the Taliban out of power and destroying much of the terrorist's infrastructure in that country.

Mr. Speaker, Mr. President Pro Tempore, members of Congress, and fellow Americans:

In the normal course of events, Presidents come to this chamber to report on the state of the Union. Tonight, no such report is needed. It has already been delivered by the American people.

We have seen it in the courage of passengers, who rushed terrorists to save others on the ground—passengers like an exceptional man named Todd Beamer. And would you please help me to welcome his wife, Lisa Beamer, here tonight.

We have seen the state of our Union in the endurance of rescuers, working past exhaustion.

We have seen the unfurling of flags, the lighting of candles, the giving of blood, the saying of prayers—in English, Hebrew, and Arabic. We have seen the decency of a loving and giving people who have made the grief of strangers their own.

My fellow citizens, for the last nine days, the entire world has seen for itself the state of our Union—and it is strong.

Tonight we are a country awakened to danger and called to defend freedom. Our grief has turned to anger, and anger to resolution. Whether we bring our enemies to justice, or bring justice to our enemies, justice will be done.

I thank the Congress for its leadership at such an important time. All of America was touched on the evening of the tragedy to see Republicans and Democrats joined together on the steps of this Capitol, singing “God Bless America.” And you did more than sing; you acted, by delivering $40 billion to rebuild our communities and meet the needs of our military.

Speaker Hastert, Minority Leader Gephardt, Majority Leader Daschle and Senator Lott, I thank you for your friendship, for your leadership and for your service to our country.

And on behalf of the American people, I thank the world for its outpouring of support. America will never forget the sounds of our National Anthem playing at Buckingham Palace, on the streets of Paris, and at Berlin’s Brandenburg Gate.

We will not forget South Korean children gathering to pray outside our embassy in Seoul, or the prayers of sympathy offered at a mosque in Cairo. We will not forget moments of silence and days of mourning in Australia and Africa and Latin America.

Nor will we forget the citizens of 80 other nations who died with our own: dozens of Pakistanis; more than 130 Israelis; more than 250 citizens of India; men and women from El Salvador, Iran, Mexico and Japan; and hundreds of British citizens. America has no truer friend than Great Britain. Once again, we are joined together in a great cause—so honored the British Prime Minister has crossed an ocean to show his unity of purpose with America. Thank you for coming, friend.

On September the 11th, enemies of freedom committed an act of war against our country. Americans have known wars—but for the past 136 years, they have been wars on foreign soil, except for one Sunday in 1941. Americans have known the casualties of war—but not at the center of a great city on a peaceful morning. Americans have known surprise attacks—but never before on thousands of civilians. All of this was brought upon us in a single day—and night fell on a different world, a world where freedom itself is under attack.

Americans have many questions tonight. Americans are asking: Who attacked our country? The evidence we have gathered all points to a collection of loosely affiliated terrorist organizations known as al Qaeda. They are the same murderers indicted for bombing American embassies in Tanzania and Kenya, and responsible for bombing the USS Cole.

Al Qaeda is to terror what the mafia is to crime. But its goal is not making money; its goal is remaking the world—and imposing its radical beliefs on people everywhere.

The terrorists practice a fringe form of Islamic extremism that has been rejected by Muslim scholars and the vast majority of Muslim clerics—a fringe movement that perverts the peaceful teachings of Islam. The terrorists’ directive commands them to kill Christians and Jews, to kill all Americans, and make no distinction among military and civilians, including women and children.

This group and its leader—a person named Osama bin Laden—are linked to many other organizations in different countries, including the Egyptian Islamic Jihad and the Islamic Movement of Uzbekistan. There are thousands of these terrorists in more than 60 countries. They are recruited from their own nations and neighborhoods and brought to camps in places like Afghanistan, where they are trained in the tactics of terror. They are sent back to their homes or sent to hide in countries around the world to plot evil and destruction.

The leadership of al Qaeda has great influence in Afghanistan and supports the Taliban regime in controlling most of that country. In Afghanistan, we see al Qaeda’s vision for the world.

Afghanistan’s people have been brutalized—many are starving and many have fled. Women are not allowed to attend school. You can be jailed for owning a television. Religion can be practiced only as their leaders dictate. A man can

PRESIDENTIAL SPEECHES

GEORGE W.
BUSH: ADDRESS TO CONGRESS,
SEPTEMBER 20,
2001

PRESIDENTIAL SPEECHES

GEORGE W.
BUSH: ADDRESS TO CONGRESS,
SEPTEMBER 20,
2001

be jailed in Afghanistan if his beard is not long enough.

The United States respects the people of Afghanistan—after all, we are currently its largest source of humanitarian aid—but we condemn the Taliban regime. It is not only repressing its own people, it is threatening people everywhere by sponsoring and sheltering and supplying terrorists. By aiding and abetting murder, the Taliban regime is committing murder.

And tonight, the United States of America makes the following demands on the Taliban: Deliver to United States authorities all the leaders of al Qaeda who hide in your land. Release all foreign nationals, including American citizens, you have unjustly imprisoned. Protect foreign journalists, diplomats and aid workers in your country. Close immediately and permanently every terrorist training camp in Afghanistan, and hand over every terrorist, and every person in their support structure, to appropriate authorities. Give the United States full access to terrorist training camps, so we can make sure they are no longer operating.

These demands are not open to negotiation or discussion. The Taliban must act, and act immediately. They will hand over the terrorists, or they will share in their fate.

I also want to speak tonight directly to Muslims throughout the world. We respect your faith. It's practiced freely by many millions of Americans, and by millions more in countries that America counts as friends. Its teachings are good and peaceful, and those who commit evil in the name of Allah blaspheme the name of Allah. The terrorists are traitors to their own faith, trying, in effect, to hijack Islam itself. The enemy of America is not our many Muslim friends; it is not our many Arab friends. Our enemy is a radical network of terrorists, and every government that supports them.

Our war on terror begins with al Qaeda, but it does not end there. It will not end until every terrorist group of global reach has been found, stopped and defeated.

Americans are asking, why do they hate us? They hate what we see right here in this chamber—a democratically elected government. Their leaders are self-appointed. They hate our freedoms—our freedom of religion, our freedom of speech, our freedom to vote and assemble and disagree with each other.

They want to overthrow existing governments in many Muslim countries, such as Egypt, Saudi Arabia, and Jordan. They want to drive Israel out of the Middle East. They want to drive Christians and Jews out of vast regions of Asia and Africa.

These terrorists kill not merely to end lives, but to disrupt and end a way of life. With every atrocity, they hope that America grows fearful, retreating from the world and forsaking our friends. They stand against us, because we stand in their way.

We are not deceived by their pretenses to piety. We have seen their kind before. They are the heirs of all the murderous ideologies of the 20th century. By sacrificing human life to serve their radical visions—by abandoning every value except the will to power—they follow in the path of fascism, and Nazism, and totalitarianism. And they will follow that path all the way, to where it ends: in history's unmarked grave of discarded lies.

Americans are asking: How will we fight and win this war? We will direct every resource at our command—every means of diplomacy, every tool of intelligence, every instrument of law enforcement, every financial influence, and every necessary weapon of war—to the disruption and to the defeat of the global terror network.

This war will not be like the war against Iraq a decade ago, with a decisive liberation of territory and a swift conclusion. It will not look like the air war above Kosovo two years ago, where no ground troops were used and not a single American was lost in combat.

Our response involves far more than instant retaliation and isolated strikes. Americans should not expect one battle, but a lengthy campaign, unlike any other we have ever seen. It may include dramatic strikes, visible on TV, and covert operations, secret even in success. We will starve terrorists of funding, turn them one against another, drive them from place to place, until there is no refuge or no rest. And we will pursue nations that provide aid or safe haven to terrorism. Every nation, in every region, now has a decision to make. Either you are with us, or you are with the terrorists. From this day forward, any nation that continues to harbor or support terrorism will be regarded by the United States as a hostile regime.

Our nation has been put on notice: We are not immune from attack. We will take defensive measures against terrorism to protect Americans. Today, dozens of federal departments and agencies, as well as state and local governments, have responsibilities affecting homeland security. These efforts must be coordinated at the highest level. So tonight I announce the creation of a Cabinet-level position reporting directly to me—the Office of Homeland Security.

And tonight I also announce a distinguished American to lead this effort, to strengthen American security: a military veteran, an effective governor, a true patriot, a trusted friend—Pennsylvania's Tom Ridge. He will lead, oversee and coordinate a comprehensive national strategy to safeguard our country against terrorism, and respond to any attacks that may come.

These measures are essential. But the only way to defeat terrorism as a threat to our way of life is to stop it, eliminate it, and destroy it where it grows.

Many will be involved in this effort, from FBI agents to intelligence operatives to the reservists we have called to active duty. All deserve our thanks, and all have our prayers. And tonight, a few miles from the damaged Pentagon, I have a message for our military: Be ready. I've called the Armed Forces to alert, and there is a reason. The hour is coming when America will act, and you will make us proud.

This is not, however, just America's fight. And what is at stake is not just America's freedom. This is the world's fight. This is civilization's fight. This is the fight of all who believe in progress and pluralism, tolerance and freedom.

We ask every nation to join us. We will ask, and we will need, the help of police forces, intelligence services, and banking systems around the world. The United States is grateful that many nations and many international organizations have already responded—with sympathy and with support. Nations from Latin America, to Asia, to Africa, to Europe, to the Islamic world. Perhaps the NATO Charter reflects best the attitude of the world: An attack on one is an attack on all.

The civilized world is rallying to America's side. They understand that if this terror goes unpunished, their own cities, their own citizens may be next. Terror, unanswered, can not only bring down buildings, it can threaten the stability of legitimate governments. And you know what—we're not going to allow it.

Americans are asking: What is expected of us? I ask you to live your lives, and hug your children. I know many citizens have fears tonight, and I ask you to be calm and resolute, even in the face of a continuing threat.

I ask you to uphold the values of America, and remember why so many have come here. We are in a fight for our principles, and our first responsibility is to live by them. No one should be singled out for unfair treatment or unkind words because of their ethnic background or religious faith.

I ask you to continue to support the victims of this tragedy with your contributions. Those who want to give can go to a central source of information, <libertyunites.org>, to find the names of groups providing direct help in New York, Pennsylvania, and Virginia.

The thousands of FBI agents who are now at work in this investigation may need your cooperation, and I ask you to give it.

I ask for your patience, with the delays and inconveniences that may accompany tighter security; and for your patience in what will be a long struggle.

I ask your continued participation and confidence in the American economy. Terrorists attacked a symbol of American prosperity. They did not touch its source. America is successful because of the hard work, and creativity, and enterprise of our people. These were the true strengths of our economy before September 11th, and they are our strengths today.

And, finally, please continue praying for the victims of terror and their families, for those in uniform, and for our great country. Prayer has comforted us in sorrow, and will help strengthen us for the journey ahead.

Tonight I thank my fellow Americans for what you have already done and for what you will do. And ladies and gentlemen of the Congress, I thank you, their representatives, for what you have already done and for what we will do together.

Tonight, we face new and sudden national challenges. We will come together to improve air safety, to dramatically expand the number of air marshals on domestic flights, and take new measures to prevent hijacking. We will come

PRESIDENTIAL SPEECHES

GEORGE W.
BUSH: ADDRESS TO CONGRESS,
SEPTEMBER 20,
2001

PRESIDENTIAL SPEECHES

GEORGE W.
BUSH: ADDRESS TO CONGRESS,
SEPTEMBER 20,
2001

together to promote stability and keep our airlines flying, with direct assistance during this emergency.

We will come together to give law enforcement the additional tools it needs to track down terror here at home. We will come together to strengthen our intelligence capabilities to know the plans of terrorists before they act, and find them before they strike.

We will come together to take active steps that strengthen America's economy, and put our people back to work.

Tonight we welcome two leaders who embody the extraordinary spirit of all New Yorkers: Governor George Pataki, and Mayor Rudolph Giuliani. As a symbol of America's resolve, my administration will work with Congress, and these two leaders, to show the world that we will rebuild New York City.

After all that has just passed—all the lives taken, and all the possibilities and hopes that died with them—it is natural to wonder if America's future is one of fear. Some speak of an age of terror. I know there are struggles ahead, and dangers to face. But this country will define our times, not be defined by them. As long as the United States of America is determined and strong, this will not be an age of terror; this will be an age of liberty, here and across the world.

Great harm has been done to us. We have suffered great loss. And in our grief and anger we have found our mission and our moment. Freedom and fear are at war. The advance of human freedom—the great achievement of our time, and the great hope of every time—now depends on us. Our nation—this generation—will lift a dark threat of violence from our people and our future. We will rally the world to this cause by our efforts, by our courage. We will not tire, we will not falter, and we will not fail.

It is my hope that in the months and years ahead, life will return almost to normal. We'll go back to our lives and routines, and that is good. Even grief recedes with time and grace. But our resolve must not pass. Each of us will remember what happened that day, and to whom it happened. We'll remember the moment the news came—where we were and what we were doing. Some will remember an image of a fire, or a story of rescue. Some will carry memories of a face and a voice gone forever.

And I will carry this: It is the police shield of a man named George Howard, who died at the World Trade Center trying to save others. It was given to me by his mom, Arlene, as a proud memorial to her son. This is my reminder of lives that ended, and a task that does not end.

I will not forget this wound to our country or those who inflicted it. I will not yield; I will not rest; I will not relent in waging this struggle for freedom and security for the American people.

The course of this conflict is not known, yet its outcome is certain. Freedom and fear, justice and cruelty, have always been at war, and we know that God is not neutral between them.

Fellow citizens, we'll meet violence with patient justice—assured of the rightness of our cause, and confident of the victories to come. In all that lies before us, may God grant us wisdom, and may He watch over the United States of America.

Thank you.

LEGAL SCHOLARSHIP

- LAWYERS AND JUDGES
- WHAT SHALL BE DONE WITH THE PRACTICE OF THE COURTS?
- CONTRACTS
- THE PATH OF THE LAW
- BRIEF FOR THE DEFENDANT IN ERROR, MULLER V. OREGON
- MECHANICAL JURISPRUDENCE
- THE CAUSES OF POPULAR DISSATISFACTION WITH THE ADMINISTRATION OF JUSTICE
- SOME REFLECTIONS ON THE READING OF STATUTES

Since the nineteenth century, the role of lawyers and the nature of law in U.S. society have been the subject of ongoing debate and scrutiny. Legal scholars and practitioners have discussed whether the law is a self-contained body of rules, displaying logic and reason. Some have embraced this view and have aspired to make law a science. Since the early twentieth century, however, other important legal figures have expressed skepticism about the inner logic of the law, preferring to see legal rulings as responses to immediate social, political, and economic pressures. These skeptics eventually became known as legal realists, a school of thought that can be traced to the scholar and jurist Oliver Wendell Holmes Jr.

The French writer Alexis de Tocqueville visited the United States in the 1830s and wrote about his travels in Democracy in America (1835), one of the classic works of social analysis. Tocqueville, a nobleman, was struck by the democratic character of U.S. society and devoted a section of his work to the role of lawyers and judges. He concluded that lawyers were vital to the preservation of civil order and democracy.

Lawyers have also been the target of popular criticism. In the late eighteenth and early nineteenth century, U.S. critics contended that lawyers and judges conspired to make the law a mysterious body of arcane language and procedures that needlessly complicated problems. Robert Rantoul Jr., a Massachusetts attorney and member of Congress, was a prominent spokesman for the codification movement, which attacked the common law as unsuitable for a democratic republic. In a famous 1836 oration, Rantoul charged that “judge-made law is ex post facto law, and therefore unjust.” People could not know the law because “no one knows what the law is before [the judge] lays it down.” Moreover, a judge was able to rule differently from case to case.

For Rantoul and others, the only solution was to abandon the common-law system and codify all laws into one book that everyone could read and understand. The codification movement had limited success during the nineteenth century. Rantoul advocated a code but never tried to write one. David Dudley Field, a New York attorney, wrote what became known as the Field Code of civil procedure. His code was enacted in twenty-four states, most of them in the West.

The education and training of lawyers began to change in the nineteenth century. Traditionally, the most popular method of becoming a lawyer had been “reading the law” in a law office, learning legal rules and procedures under the tutelage of a practicing attorney. As the century progressed, however, more law schools were opened. The law school curriculum consisted of attending lectures, reading legal treatises, and memorizing legal rules and concepts. Christopher Columbus Langdell changed the course of U.S. legal education when he published his contracts casebook in 1871. Langdell, a professor and dean of Harvard Law School, introduced the case method, which required students to read judicial opinions and analyze the key points of each case. The Socratic method of logical inquiry was an integral part of the program: professors called on students in class, asked them to present their analysis, and challenged their presentation.

Langdell also embraced the nineteenth century's belief in progress and in the superiority of scientific inquiry. Langdell's conclusion that the law could be a science became a tenet of legal scholarship, but he was eventually challenged by Oliver Wendell Holmes Jr. Holmes, a professor and scholar before serving on the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts and the U.S. Supreme Court, rejected the assumption that law was a science or a logical system.

Holmes wrote a set of legal essays that was published in 1881 as The Common Law. In this volume, which is the most renowned work of legal philosophy in U.S. history, Holmes systematically analyzed, classified, and explained various aspects of U.S. common law, ranging from torts to contracts to crime and punishment. He concluded that:

The life of the law has not been logic: it has been experience. The felt necessities of the time, the prevalent moral and political theories, intuitions of public policy, avowed or unconscious, even the prejudices which judges share with their fellow-men, have had a good deal more to do than the syllogism in determining the rules by which men should be governed.

By the beginning of the twentieth century, the United States had become an industrialized, urban nation. Some lawyers and legal scholars attempted to inject new ideas and information into the law in hopes of overturning stubbornly held doctrines and restoring public confidence in a legal system that appeared to be unprepared to face the realities of the new century. Famed lawyer and later Supreme Court justice Louis D. Brandeis revolutionized the law by submitting what has come to be known as the "Brandeis brief" in Muller v. Oregon, 208 U.S. 412, 28 S. Ct. 324, 52 L. Ed. 551 (1908). The brief contained sociological information on the health and well-being of women that Brandeis believed was relevant to deciding whether an Oregon law limiting work hours for women was constitutional. The U.S. Supreme Court upheld the law, lending credibility to Brandeis's use of nonlegal information.

Roscoe Pound, a scholar, teacher, reformer, and dean of Harvard Law School, worked to link law and society through his sociological jurisprudence and to improve the administration of the judicial system. His 1906 speech, "The Causes of Popular Dissatisfaction with the Administration of Justice," was a call to improve court administration and a preview of his theory of law. In 1908 he published "Mechanical Jurisprudence," attacking the notion that an unchanging and inflexible natural law formed the basis for the common law.

The twentieth century also saw the growth of law through legislation. As state legislatures and the U.S. Congress enacted more statutes containing complex and often unclear provisions, the courts were called upon to interpret these laws by using various rules of statutory construction to determine legislative purpose. In 1947, Harvard law professor and later Supreme Court justice Felix Frankfurter delivered a lecture entitled "Some Reflections on the Reading of Statutes," which expounds on the effect that legislative law has on the courts. Fifty years later, the torrent of legislation remains unabated.

LEGAL SCHOLARSHIP

LAWYERS AND JUDGES

Alexis de Tocqueville, 1835

Alexis de Tocqueville, a French political scientist, historian, and politician, is best known for Democracy in America (1835). A believer in democracy, he was concerned about the concentration of power in the hands of a centralized government. During his visit to the United States in 1831 and 1832, Tocqueville observed the deep social and political divisions produced by slavery. He was impressed, however, by the power of a free press and the importance that citizens placed upon the legal system.

In his observations on lawyers and judges, Tocqueville noted that U.S. courts of law possessed enormous political power. Judges had the power of judicial review, which allowed them to strike down laws as unconstitutional. He also observed that lawyers were active in politics, bringing to government and the political arena the knowledge, skills, and temperament peculiar to their profession. Tocqueville pointed out that lawyers are wedded to the public order and are often conservative. He concluded that “lawyers belong to the people by birth and interest, and to the aristocracy by habit and taste; they may be looked upon as the connecting link between the two great classes of society.”

Lawyers and Judges

Whenever a law that the judge holds to be unconstitutional is invoked in a tribunal of the United States, he may refuse to admit it as a rule; this power is the only one peculiar to the American magistrate, but it gives rise to immense political influence. In truth, few laws can escape the searching analysis of the judicial power for any length of time, for there are few that are not prejudicial to some private interest or other, and none that may not be brought before a court of justice by the choice of parties or by the necessity of the case. But as soon as a judge has refused to apply any given law in a case, that law immediately loses a portion of its moral force.

Within these limits the power vested in the American courts of justice of pronouncing a statute to be unconstitutional forms one of the most powerful barriers that have ever been devised against the tyranny of political assemblies.

When we have examined in detail the organization of the [United States] Supreme Court and the entire prerogatives which it exercises, we shall readily admit that a more imposing judicial power was never constituted by any people. The Supreme Court is placed higher than any other known tribunal, both by the nature of its rights and the class of justiciable parties which it controls.

The peace, the prosperity, and the very existence of the Union are vested in the hands of the seven Federal judges [of the United States Supreme Court]. Without them the Constitu-

From Democracy in America.

LEGAL SCHOLARSHIPLAWYERS AND JUDGES

tion would be a dead letter: the executive appeals to them for assistance against the encroachments of the legislative power; the legislature demands their protection against the assaults of the executive; they defend the Union from the disobedience of the states, the states from the exaggerated claims of the Union, the public interest against private interests, and the conservative spirit of stability against the fickleness of the democracy. Their power is enormous, but it is the power of public opinion. They are all-powerful as long as the people respect the law; but they would be impotent against popular neglect or contempt of the law. The force of public opinion is the most intractable of agents, because its exact limits cannot be defined; and it is not less dangerous to exceed than to remain below the boundary prescribed.

* * *

Democratic laws generally tend to promote the welfare of the greatest possible number; for they emanate from the majority of the citizens, who are subject to error, but who cannot have an interest opposed to their own advantage. The laws of an aristocracy tend, on the contrary, to concentrate wealth and power in the hands of the minority; because an aristocracy, by its very nature, constitutes a minority. It may therefore be asserted, as a general proposition, that the purpose of a democracy in its legislation is more useful to humanity than that of an aristocracy. This, however, is the sum total of its advantages.

* * *

No political form has hitherto been discovered that is equally favorable to the prosperity and the development of all the classes into which society is divided. These classes continue to form, as it were, so many distinct communities in the same nation; and experience has shown that it is no less dangerous to place the fate of these classes exclusively in the hands of any one of them than it is to make one people the arbiter of the destiny of another. When the rich alone govern, the interest of the poor is always endangered; and when the poor make the laws, that of the rich incurs very serious risks. The advantage of democracy does not consist, therefore, as has sometimes been asserted, in favoring the prosperity of all, but simply in contributing to the well-being of the greatest number.

The men who are entrusted with the direction of public affairs in the United States are frequently inferior, in both capacity and morality, to those whom an aristocracy would raise to power. But their interest is identified and mingled with that of the majority of their fellow citizens. They may frequently be faithless and frequently mistaken, but they will never systematically adopt a line of conduct hostile to the majority; and they cannot give a dangerous or exclusive tendency to the government.

* * *

It is not always feasible to consult the whole people, either directly or indirectly, in the formation of law; but it cannot be denied that, when this is possible, the authority of law is much augmented. This popular origin which impairs the excellence and the wisdom of legislation, contributes much to increase its power. There is an amazing strength in the expression of the will of a whole people; and when it declares itself, even the imagination of those who would wish to contest it is overawed. The truth of this fact is well known by parties, and they consequently strive to make out a majority whenever they can. If they have not the greater number of voters on their side, they assert that the true majority abstained from voting; and if they are foiled even there, they have recourse to those persons who had no right to vote.

In the United States, except slaves, servants, and paupers supported by the townships, there is no class of persons who do not exercise the elective franchise and who do not indirectly contribute to make the laws. Those who wish to attack the laws must consequently either change the opinion of the nation or trample upon its decision.

A second reason, which is still more direct and weighty, may be adduced: in the United States everyone is personally interested in enforcing the obedience of the whole community to the law; for as the minority may shortly rally the majority to its principles, it is interested in professing that respect for the decrees of the legislator which it may soon have occasion to claim for its own. However irksome an enactment may be, the citizen of the United States complies with it, not only because it is the work of the majority, but because it is his own, and he regards it as a contract to which he is himself a party.

In the United States, then, that numerous and turbulent multitude does not exist who, regarding the law as their natural enemy, look upon it with fear and distrust. It is impossible, on the contrary, not to perceive that all classes display the utmost reliance upon the legislation of their country and are attached to it by a kind of parental affection.

In visiting the Americans and studying their laws, we perceive that the authority they have entrusted to members of the legal profession, and the influence that these individuals exercise in the government, are the most powerful existing security against the excesses of democracy. This effect seems to me to result from a general cause, which it is useful to investigate, as it may be reproduced elsewhere. . . .

Men who have made a special study of the laws derive from [that] occupation certain habits of order, a taste for formalities, and a kind of instinctive regard for the regular connection of ideas, which naturally render them very hostile to the revolutionary spirit and the unreflecting passions of the multitude.

The special information that lawyers derive from their studies ensures them a separate rank in society, and they constitute a sort of privileged body in the scale of intellect. This notion of their superiority perpetually recurs to them in the practice of their profession: they are the masters of a science which is necessary, but not very generally known; they serve as arbiters between the citizens; and the habit of directing to their purpose the blind passions of parties in litigation inspires them with a certain contempt for the judgment of the multitude. Add to this that they naturally constitute a body; not by any previous understanding, or by an agreement that directs them to a common end; but the analogy of their studies and the uniformity of their methods connect their minds as a common interest might unite their endeavors.

Some of the tastes and the habits of the aristocracy may consequently be discovered in the characters of lawyers. They participate in the same instinctive love of order and formalities; and they entertain the same repugnance to the actions of the multitude, and the same secret contempt of the government of the people. I do not mean to say that the natural propensities of lawyers are sufficiently strong to sway them irresistibly; for they, like most other men, are governed by their private interests, and especially by the interests of the moment.

I do not, then, assert that all the members of the legal profession are at all times the friends of order and the opponents of innovation, but merely that most of them are usually so. In a community to which lawyers are allowed to occupy without opposition that high station which naturally belongs to them, their general spirit will be eminently conservative and anti-democratic. When an aristocracy excludes the leaders of that profession from its ranks, it excites enemies who are the more formidable as they are independent of the nobility by their labors and feel themselves to be their equals in intelligence though inferior in opulence and power.

Lawyers are attached to public order beyond every other consideration, and the best security of public order is authority. It must not be forgotten, also, that if they prize freedom much, they generally value legality still more; they are less afraid of tyranny than of arbitrary power; and, provided the legislature undertakes of itself to deprive men of their independence, they are not dissatisfied.

The government of democracy is favorable to the political power of lawyers; for when the wealthy, the noble, and the prince are excluded from the government, the lawyers take possession of it, in their own right, as it were, since they are the only men of information and sagacity, beyond the sphere of the people, who can be the object of the popular choice. If, then, they are led by their tastes towards the aristocracy and the prince, they are brought in contact with the people by their interests. They like the government of democracy without participating in its propensities and without imitating its weaknesses; whence they derive a two-fold authority from it and over it. The people in democratic states do not mistrust the members of the legal profession, because it is known that they are interested to serve the popular cause; and the people listen to them without irritation, because they do not attribute to them any sinister designs. The lawyers do not, indeed, wish to overthrow the institutions of democracy, but they constantly endeavor to turn it away from its real direction by means that are foreign to its nature. Lawyers belong to the people by birth and interest, and to the aristocracy by habit and taste; they may be looked upon as the connecting link between the two great classes of society.

LEGAL SCHOLARSHIP

LAWYERS AND JUDGES

LEGAL SCHOLARSHIPLAWYERS AND
JUDGES

The profession of the law is the only aristocratic element that can be amalgamated without violence with the natural elements of democracy and be advantageously and permanently combined with them. I am not ignorant of the defects inherent in the character of this body of men; but without this admixture of lawyer-like sobriety with the democratic principle, I question whether democratic institutions could long be maintained; and I cannot believe that a republic could hope to exist at the present time if the influence of lawyers in public business did not increase in proportion to the power of the people.

* * *

In America there are no nobles or literary men, and the people are apt to mistrust the wealthy; lawyers consequently form the highest political class and the most cultivated portion of society. They have therefore nothing to gain by innovation, which adds a conservative interest to their natural taste for public order. If I were asked where I place the American aristocracy, I should reply without hesitation that it is not among the rich, who are united by no common tie, but that it occupies the judicial bench and the bar.

The more we reflect upon all that occurs in the United States, the more we shall be persuaded that the lawyers, as a body, form the most powerful, if not the only, counterpoise to the democratic element. In that country we easily perceive how the legal profession is qualified by its attributes, and even by its faults, to neutralize the vices inherent in popular government. When the American people are intoxicated by passion or carried away by the impetuosity of their ideas, they are checked and stopped by the almost invisible influence of their legal counselors. These secretly oppose their aristocratic propensities to the nation's democratic instincts, their superstitious attachment to what is old to its love of novelty, their narrow views to its immense designs, and their habitual procrastination to its ardent impatience.

The courts of justice are the visible organs by which the legal profession is enabled to control the democracy. The judge is a lawyer who, independently of the taste for regularity and order that he has contracted in the study of law, derives an additional love of stability from the inalienability of his own functions. His legal attainments have already raised him to a distinguished rank among his fellows; his political power completes the distinction of his station and gives him the instincts of the privileged classes.

* * *

It must not be supposed, moreover, that the legal spirit is confined in the United States to the courts of justice; it extends far beyond them. As the lawyers form the only enlightened class whom the people do not mistrust, they are naturally called upon to occupy most of the public stations. They fill the legislative assemblies and are at the head of the administration; they consequently exercise a powerful influence upon the formation of the law and upon its execution. The lawyers are obliged, however, to yield to the current public opinion, which is too strong for them to resist; but it is easy to find indications of what they would do if they were free to act. The Americans, who have made so many innovations in their political laws, have introduced very sparing alterations in their civil laws, and that with great difficulty, although many of these laws are repugnant to their social condition. The reason for this is that in matters of civil law the majority are obliged to defer to the authority of the legal profession, and the American lawyers are disinclined to innovate when they are left to their own choice.

* * *

The influence of legal habits extends beyond the precise limits I have pointed out. Scarcely any political question arises in the United States that is not resolved, sooner or later, into a judicial question. Hence all parties are obliged to borrow, in their daily controversies, the ideas, and even the language, peculiar to judicial proceedings. As most public men are or have been legal practitioners, they introduce the customs and technicalities of their profession into the management of public affairs. The jury extends this habit to all classes. The language of the law thus becomes, in some measure, a vulgar tongue; the spirit of the law, which is produced in the schools and courts of justice, gradually penetrates beyond their walls into the bosom of society, where it descends to the lowest classes, so that at last the whole people contract the habits and the tastes of the judicial magistrate. The lawyers of the United States form a party which is but little feared and scarcely perceived, which has no badge peculiar to itself, which adapts itself with great flexibility to the exigencies of the time and accommodates itself without resistance to all the movements of the social body. But this party extends over the whole community and penetrates into all the classes which compose it; it acts upon the country imperceptibly, but finally fashions it to suit its own purposes.

LEGAL SCHOLARSHIP

LAWYERS AND JUDGES

LEGAL SCHOLARSHIP

WHAT SHALL BE DONE WITH THE PRACTICE OF THE COURTS?

David Dudley Field, 1847

David Dudley Field was an attorney from a prominent New York family. His brother was Stephen J. Field, a U.S. Supreme Court justice. Field was a leading crusader for the codification movement. He attacked the rules of civil procedure of his time, which were based on English common-law pleading practices. Common-law pleading was an arcane practice filled with traps for the uninitiated that could result in the dismissal of the case on procedural grounds. Field's essay of 1847, "What Shall Be Done with the Practice of the Courts," presented his case for what is now known as code pleading.

As a member of the New York pleading and practice commission, Field prepared a civil procedure code that the legislature adopted in 1848. The code simplified the filing and prosecution of lawsuits. It was a significant improvement over common-law systems of procedure, in that it required that the complaint contain "a plain and concise statement of the facts constituting plaintiff's cause of action." The code used the pleading as a way of narrowing and defining the dispute rather than as a general means of initiating a civil action.

The Field Code was later adopted by Missouri, California, and many other states. In time, however, code pleading became very technical, requiring the pleader to set forth the facts underlying and demonstrating the existence of the cause of action. Matters were simplified in 1938, when the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure were adopted. Rule 8(a) provides that the complaint shall contain "a short and plain statement of the claim showing that the pleader is entitled to relief." Likewise, the defendant "shall state in short and plain terms" the defenses to the plaintiff's complaint. There is no requirement that facts be alleged.

In the twentieth century, the desire for codification led to the drafting of various sets of uniform laws, including the Uniform Commercial Code and the Uniform Probate Code.

What Shall Be Done with the Practice of the Courts?

The Constitution of this State [New York, 1846], which goes into effect to-day, will render great changes necessary in our system of legal procedure. It remodels our Courts; unites the administration of law and equity in the same tribunal; directs testimony to be taken in like manner in both classes of cases; abolishes the offices of Master and Examiner in Chancery, hitherto important parts of our equity system; and, finally, directs that the next Legislature shall provide for the appointment of three commissioners, "whose duty it shall be to revise, reform, simplify, and abridge the rules of practice, pleadings, forms, and proceedings of the courts of record," and report thereon to the Legislature for its action.

Important modifications of the equity practice are thus made indispensable, in order to adapt it to the new mode of taking testimony. But I think that the Convention intended, and that the people expect, much greater changes than these. We know that radical reform in legal proceedings has long been demanded by no inconsiderable number of the people; that a more determined agitation of the subject has been postponed by its friends, till such time as there should be a reorganization of the judicial establishment, upon the idea that a new system of procedure and a new system of Courts ought to come in together; that it was a prominent topic in the Convention itself, where its friends were in an undoubted majority; and that the manifestations of public sentiment out of doors were no less clear than were the sentiments of that body. Indeed, if now, after all that has been done within the last five years, there should be made only such changes as the Constitution absolutely commands, there will be great and general disappointment.

Every consideration, as it seems to me, makes it expedient for us all now to enter heartily upon the work of amendment. Those of us who have long been laboring for a radical reformation of the law, and those who have felt less inclination for it, should find this an occasion to act together in the common pursuit of thorough and wise reforms. We feel the inconvenience of the present state of things. We know that the technicality and the drudgery of legal proceedings are discreditable to our profession. Justice is entangled in the net of forms.

Believing, therefore, that great changes are inevitable in any event, and that this is a period favorable to the adoption of all the reforms which are really required, I wish it were possible to engage every member of the legal profession in the promotion of a wise, safe, and radical reform. Radical reform will come sooner or later, with us or without us. Shall we cooperate to make it at the same time wise and safe?

Such a reform, I am persuaded, should have in view nothing less than a uniform course of proceeding, in all cases, legal and equitable.

What I propose, then, in respect to cases of legal cognizance, is this: that the present forms of action be abolished, and in their stead a complaint and answer required, each setting forth the real claim and defense of the parties. Such pleadings would be precisely similar to those proposed for equity cases, and we should thus have a uniform course of pleading for all cases, legal and equitable. The distinction between the two classes of cases is now merely a distinction in the forms of proceeding. The Court of Chancery has existed only in consequence of the narrow and fixed forms of the common law. If those forms had been abolished, and a natural procedure adopted, the course of the two Courts would long ago have been assimilated.

Let the plaintiff set forth his cause of action in his complaint briefly, in ordinary language, and without repetition; and let the defendant make his answer in the same way. Let each party verify his allegation by making oath that he believes it to be true. The complaint will then acquaint the defendant with the real charge, while the answer will inform the plaintiff of the real defense. The disputed facts will be sifted from the undisputed, and the parties will go to trial knowing what they have to answer. The plaintiff will state his case as he believes it, and as he expects to prove it. The defendant, on his part, will set forth what he believes and expects to establish, and he need set forth no more. He will not be likely to aver what he does not believe. His answer will disclose the whole of his defense, because he will not be allowed to prove anything which the answer does not contain. He will not be perplexed with questions of double pleading, nor shackled by ancient technical rules.

The legitimate end of every administration of law is to do justice, with the least possible delay and expense. Every system of pleading is useful only as it tends to this end. This it can do but one of two ways: either by enabling the parties the better to prepare for trial, or by assisting the jury and the Court in judging the causes.

If we adopt the plan of pleading which I propose, we shall save both time and expense. We shall avoid the risk of losing causes from mistaking the rules of pleading; and we take one step, and that a great one, toward introducing simplicity and directness into the machinery of the law.

And is, indeed, the learning of the profession bound up with the system of common-law pleading? Is the noble science of jurisprudence—the fruit of the experience of ages, at once the monument and the record of civiliza-

LEGAL SCHOLARSHIP

WHAT SHALL BE DONE WITH THE
PRACTICE OF
THE COURTS?

LEGAL SCHOLARSHIP*WHAT SHALL BE DONE WITH THE
PRACTICE OF THE COURTS?

tion—inseparable from such paltry learning as that, “after the declaration, the parties must at each stage demur, or plead by way of traverse, or by way of confession and avoidance,” or that “upon a traverse issue must be tendered,” or anything of that sort? Lawyers have enough to learn if their studies are confined to useful knowledge. To assert that the great body of the law, civil and criminal—the law which defines rights and punishes crimes; the law which regulates the proprietorship, the enjoyment, and the transmission of property in all its forms; which explains the nature and the obligations of contracts through all their changes; the law that prevails equally on the sea and the land; the law that is enforced in courts of chancery and courts of admiralty, as well as in the courts of common law—to assert that this vast body of law requires the aid of that small portion which regulates the written statement of the parties in the courts of common law, is to assert a monstrous paradox, fitter for ridicule than for argument.

LEGAL SCHOLARSHIP

CONTRACTS

Christopher C. Langdell, 1871

The 1871 publication of A Selection of Cases on the Law of Contracts by Christopher Columbus Langdell revolutionized legal education. The book, which consisted of a collection of mostly English judicial opinions, was meant to assist the professor in developing within the student a scientific approach to the law. Langdell chose the cases for the fundamental principles they contained. Students were expected to dispense with the idea that they were attending a vocational school. Instead, they were to apply the principles they learned in the scientific search for truth. In his preface Langdell said that he sought to “select, classify, and arrange all cases which had contributed in any important degree to the growth, development, or establishment of any of its essential doctrines.”

Contracts

PREFACE

I entered upon the duties of my present position, a year and a half ago, with a settled conviction that law could only be taught or learned effectively by means of cases in some form. I had entertained such an opinion ever since I knew anything of the nature of law or legal study; but it was chiefly through my experience as a learner that it was formed, as well as subsequently strengthened and confirmed. Of teaching indeed, as a business, I was entirely without experience; nor had I given much consideration to that subject, except so far as proper methods of teaching are involved in proper methods of study.

Now, however, I was called upon to consider directly the subject of teaching, not theoretically but practically, in connection with a large school with its more or less complicated organization, its daily routine, and daily duties. I was expected to take a large class of pupils, meet them regularly from day to day, and give them systematic instruction in such branches of law as had been assigned to me. To accomplish this successfully, it was necessary, first, that the efforts of the pupils should go hand in hand with mine, that is, that they should study with direct reference to my instruction; secondly, that the study thus required of them should be of the kind from which they might reap the greatest and most lasting benefit; thirdly, that the instruction should be of such a character that the pupils might at least derive a greater advantage from attending it than from devoting the same time to private study. How could this threefold object be accomplished? Only one mode occurred to me which seemed to hold out any reasonable prospect of success; and that was, to make a series of cases, carefully selected from the books of reports, the subject alike of study and instruction. But here I was met by what seemed at first to be an insuperable practical difficulty, namely, the want of books; for though it might be practicable, in case of private pupils having free access to a complete library, to refer them directly to the books of reports, such a course was quite out of the question with a large class, all of whom would want the same books at the same time. Nor would such a course be without great drawbacks and inconveniences, even in the case of a single pupil. As he would always have to go where the books were, and could only have access to them there during certain prescribed hours, it would be impossible for him to economize his time or work to the best advantage; and he would be liable to be constantly haunted by the apprehension that he was spending time, labor, and money in studying cases which would be inaccessible to him in after life.

LEGAL SCHOLARSHIP

CONTRACTS

It was with a view to removing these obstacles, that I was first led to inquire into the feasibility of preparing and publishing such a selection of cases as would be adapted to my purpose as a teacher. The most important element in that inquiry was the great and rapidly increasing number of reported cases in every department of law. In view of this fact, was there any satisfactory principle upon which such a selection could be made? It seemed to me that there was. Law, considered as a science, consists of certain principles or doctrines. To have such a mastery of these as to be able to apply them with constant facility and certainly to the ever-tangled skein of human affairs, is what constitutes a true lawyer; and hence to acquire that mastery should be the business of every earnest student of law. Each of these doctrines has arrived at its present state by slow degrees; in other words, it is a growth, extending in many cases through centuries. This growth is to be traced in the main through a series of cases; and much the shortest and best, if not the only way of mastering the doctrine effectually is by studying the cases in which it is embodied. But the cases which are useful and necessary for this purpose at the present day bear an exceedingly small proportion to all that have been reported. The vast majority are useless and worse than useless for any purpose of systematic study. Moreover, the number of fundamental legal doctrines is much less than is commonly supposed; the many different guises in which the same doctrine is constantly making its appearance, and the great extent to which legal treatises are a repetition of each other, being the cause of much misapprehension. If these doctrines could be so classified and arranged that each should be found in its proper place, and nowhere else, they would cease to be formidable from their number. It seemed to me, therefore, to be possible to take such a branch of the law as Contracts, for example, and, without exceeding comparatively moderate limits, to select, classify, and arrange all the cases which had contributed in any important degree to the growth, development, or establishment of any of its essential doctrines; and that such a work could not fail to be of material service to all who desire to study that branch of law systematically and in its original sources.

LEGAL SCHOLARSHIP

THE PATH OF THE LAW

Oliver Wendell Holmes Jr., 1897

Oliver Wendell Holmes Jr. is one of the most celebrated legal figures in U.S. history. His writings on jurisprudence have shaped discussions on the nature of law, and his court opinions have been studied as much for their style as their intellectual content.

Holmes rejected the idea that law could be studied as a science. He also emphatically dismissed Langdell's belief that legal systems obey rules of logic. While his book, The Common Law (1881), is a scholarly tour de force, his 1897 essay, "The Path of the Law," has proved to be one of the most influential works in legal theory. In the essay Holmes builds on the themes of The Common Law, which included his disassociation of law from morality and his emphasis on policy over logic. He went on to define the law as a prediction of what the courts would do in a particular situation. He proposed a "bad man" theory of justice: a bad man will want to know only what the material consequences of his conduct will be; he will not be motivated by morality or conscience.

Holmes's jurisprudence led to the conclusion that judges make decisions first and then come up with reasons to explain them. His approach, which has been characterized as cynical, touched a nerve with succeeding generations of legal scholars.

The Path of the Law

When we study law we are not studying a mystery but a well known profession. We are studying what we shall want in order to appear before judges, or to advise people in such a way as to keep them out of court. The reason why it is a profession, why people will pay lawyers to argue for them or to advise them, is that in societies like ours the command of the public force is intrusted to the judges in certain cases, and the whole power of the state will be put forth, if necessary, to carry out their judgments and decrees. People want to know under what circumstances and how far they will run the risk of coming against what is so much stronger than themselves, and hence it becomes a business to find out when this danger is to be feared. The object of our study, then, is prediction, the prediction of the incidence of the public force through the instrumentality of the courts.

The means of the study are a body of reports, of treatises, and of statutes, in this country and in England, extending back for six hundred years, and now increasing annually by hundreds. In these sibylline leaves are gathered the scattered prophecies of the past upon the cases in which the ax will fall. These are what properly have been called the oracles of the law. Far the most important and pretty nearly the whole meaning of every new effort of legal thought is to make these prophecies more precise, and to generalize them into a thoroughly connected system. The process is one, from a lawyer's statement of a case, eliminating as it

Source: Reprinted in its entirety from O. W. Holmes, Jr., The Path of the Law, 10 HARVARD LAW REVIEW 457 (1897). The footnotes have been renumbered.

LEGAL SCHOLARSHIPTHE PATH OF
THE LAW

does all the dramatic elements with which his client's story has clothed it, and retaining only the facts of legal import, up to the final analyses and abstract universals of theoretic jurisprudence. The reason why a lawyer does not mention that his client wore a white hat when he made a contract, while Mrs. Quickly would be sure to dwell upon it along with the parcel gilt goblet and the sea-coal fire, is that he foresees that the public force will act in the same way whatever his client had upon his head. It is to make the prophecies easier to be remembered and to be understood that the teachings of the decisions of the past are put into general propositions and gathered into textbooks, or that statutes are passed in a general form. The primary rights and duties with which jurisprudence busies itself again are nothing but prophecies. One of the many evil effects of the confusion between legal and moral ideas, about which I shall have something to say in a moment, is that theory is apt to get the cart before the horse, and to consider the right or the duty as something existing apart from and independent of the consequences of its breach, to which certain sanctions are added afterward. But, as I shall try to show, a legal duty so called is nothing but a prediction that if a man does or omits certain things he will be made to suffer in this or that way by judgment of the court;—and so of a legal right.

The number of our predictions when generalized and reduced to a system is not unmanageably large. They present themselves as a finite body of dogma which may be mastered within a reasonable time. It is a great mistake to be frightened by the ever increasing number of reports. The reports of a given jurisdiction in the course of a generation take up pretty much the whole body of the law, and restate it from the present point of view. We could reconstruct the corpus from them if all that went before were burned. The use of the earlier reports is mainly historical, a use about which I shall have something to say before I have finished.

I wish, if I can, to lay down some first principles for the study of this body of dogma or systematized prediction which we call the law, for men who want to use it as the instrument of their business to enable them to prophesy in their turn, and, as bearing upon the study, I wish to point out an ideal which as yet our law has not attained.

The first thing for a business-like understanding of the matter is to understand its limits, and therefore I think it desirable at once to point out and dispel a confusion between morality and law, which sometimes rises to the height of conscious theory, and more often and indeed constantly is making trouble in detail without reaching the point of consciousness. You can see very plainly that a bad man has as much reason as a good one for wishing to avoid an encounter with the public force, and therefore you can see the practical importance of the distinction between morality and law. A man who cares nothing for an ethical rule which is believed and practised by his neighbors is likely nevertheless to care a good deal to avoid being made to pay money, and will want to keep out of jail if he can.

I take it for granted that no hearer of mine will misinterpret what I have to say as the language of cynicism. The law is the witness and external deposit of our moral life. Its history is the history of the moral development of the race. The practice of it, in spite of popular jests, tends to make good citizens and good men. When I emphasize the difference between law and morals I do so with reference to a single end, that of learning and understanding the law. For that purpose you must definitely master its specific marks, and it is for that that I ask you for the moment to imagine yourselves indifferent to other and greater things.

I do not say that there is not a wider point of view from which the distinction between law and morals becomes of secondary or no importance, as all mathematical distinctions vanish in presence of the infinite. But I do say that that distinction is of the first importance for the object which we are here to consider,—a right study and mastery of the law as a business with well understood limits, a body of dogma enclosed within definite lines. I have just shown the practical reason for saying so. If you want to know the law and nothing else, you must look at it as a bad man, who cares only for the material consequences which such knowledge enables him to predict, not as a good one, who finds his reasons for conduct, whether inside the law or outside of it, in the vaguer sanctions of conscience. The theoretical importance of the distinction is no less, if you would reason on your subject aright. The law is full of phraseology drawn from morals, and by the mere force of language continually invites us to pass from one domain to the other without perceiving it, as we are sure to do unless we have the boundary constantly before our minds. The law talks about rights, and duties, and malice, and intent, and negligence, and so forth, and nothing is easier, or, I may say, more common in legal reasoning, than to take these words in their moral sense, at some stage of the argument, and so to drop into fallacy. For instance, when we speak of the rights of man in a moral sense, we mean to mark the limits of interference with individual freedom which we think are prescribed by conscience, or by our ideal, however reached. Yet it is certain that many laws have been enforced in the past, and it is likely that some are enforced now, which are condemned by the most enlightened opinion of the time, or which at all events pass the limit of interference as many consciences would draw it. Manifestly, therefore, nothing but confusion of thought can result from assuming that the rights of man in a moral sense are equally rights in the sense of the Constitution and the law. No doubt simple and extreme cases can be put of imaginable laws which the statute-making power would not dare to enact, even in the absence of written constitutional prohibitions, because the community would rise in rebellion and fight; and this gives some plausibility to the proposition that the law, if not a part of morality, is limited by it. But this limit of power is not coextensive with any system of morals. For the most part it falls far within the lines of any such system, and in some cases may extend beyond them, for reasons drawn from the habits of a particular people at a particular time. I once heard the late Professor Agassiz²⁹ say that a German population would rise if you added two cents to the price of a glass of beer. A statute in such a case would be empty words, not because it was wrong, but because it could not be enforced. No one will deny that wrong statutes can be and are enforced, and we should not all agree as to which were the wrong ones.

LEGAL SCHOLARSHIPTHE PATH OF
THE LAW

The confusion with which I am dealing besets confessedly legal conceptions. Take the fundamental question, What constitutes the law? You will find some text writers telling you that it is something different from what is decided by the courts of Massachusetts or England, that it is a system of reason, that it is a deduction from principles of ethics or admitted axioms or what not, which may or may not coincide with the decisions. But if we take the view of our friend the bad man we shall find that he does not care two straws for the axioms or deductions, but that he does want to know what the Massachusetts or English courts are likely to do in fact. I am much of his mind. The prophecies of what the courts will do in fact, and nothing more pretentious, are what I mean by the law.

Take again a notion which as popularly understood is the widest conception which the law contains;—the notion of legal duty, to which already I have referred. We fill the word with all the content which we draw from morals. But what does it mean to a bad man? Mainly, and in the first place, a prophecy that if he does certain things he will be subjected to disagreeable consequences by way of imprisonment or compulsory payment of money. But from his point of view, what is the difference between being fined and being taxed a certain sum for doing a certain thing? That his point of view is the test of legal principles is shown by the many discussions which have arisen in the courts on the very question whether a given statutory liability is a penalty or a tax. On the answer to this question depends the decision whether conduct is legally wrong or right, and also whether a man is under compulsion or free. Leaving the criminal law on one side, what is the difference between the liability under the mill acts or statutes authorizing a taking by eminent domain and the liability for what we call a wrongful conversion of property where restoration is out of the question? In both cases the party taking another man's property has to pay its fair value as assessed by a jury, and no more. What significance is there in calling one taking right and another wrong from the point of view of the law? It does not matter, so far as the given consequence, the compulsory payment, is concerned, whether the act to which it is attached is described in terms of praise or in terms of blame, or whether the law purports to prohibit it or to allow it. If it matters at all, still speaking from the bad man's point of view, it must be because in one case and not in the other some further disadvantages, or at least some further consequences, are attached to the act by the law. The only other disadvantages thus attached to it which I ever have been able to think of are ²⁹ [Ed. note] Jean Louis Rodolphe Agassiz (1807–73), a Swiss born naturalist and, inter alia, Professor of Natural History at Harvard. His second wife, Elizabeth Cabot (née Cary) (1822–1907) was one of the founders of Radcliffe College and its president from 1894 until 1902.

LEGAL SCHOLARSHIPTHE PATH OF
THE LAW

to be found in two somewhat insignificant legal doctrines, both of which might be abolished without much disturbance. One is, that a contract to do a prohibited act is unlawful, and the other, that, if one of two or more joint wrongdoers has to pay all the damages, he cannot recover contribution from his fellows. And that I believe is all. You see how the vague circumference of the notion of duty shrinks and at the same time grows more precise when we wash it with cynical acid and expel everything except the object of our study, the operations of the law.

Nowhere is the confusion between legal and moral ideas more manifest than in the law of contract. Among other things, here again the so called primary rights and duties are invested with a mystic significance beyond what can be assigned and explained. The duty to keep a contract at common law means a prediction that you must pay damages if you do not keep it,—and nothing else. If you commit a tort, you are liable to pay a compensatory sum. If you commit a contract, you are liable to pay a compensatory sum unless the promised event comes to pass, and that is all the difference. But such a mode of looking at the matter stinks in the nostrils of those who think it advantageous to get as much ethics into the law as they can. It was good enough for Lord Coke, however, and here, as in many other cases, I am content to abide with him. In Bromage v. Genning,³⁰ a prohibition was sought in the King's Bench against a suit in the marches of Wales for the specific performance of a covenant to grant a lease, and Coke said that it would subvert the intention of the covenantor, since he intends it to be at his election either to lose the damages or to make the lease. Sergeant Harris for the plaintiff confessed that he moved the matter against his conscience, and a prohibition was granted. This goes further than we should go now, but it shows what I venture to say has been the common law point of view from the beginning, although Mr. Harriman, in his very able little book upon Contracts has been misled, as I humbly think, to a different conclusion.

I have spoken only of the common law, because there are some cases in which a logical justification can be found for speaking of civil liabilities as imposing duties in an intelligible sense. These are the relatively few in which equity will grant an injunction, and will enforce it by putting the defendant in prison or otherwise punishing him unless he complies with the order of the court. But I hardly think it advisable to shape general theory from the exception, and I think it would be better to cease troubling ourselves about primary rights and sanctions altogether, than to describe our prophecies concerning the liabilities commonly imposed by the law in those inappropriate terms.

I mentioned, as other examples of the use by the law of words drawn from morals, malice, intent, and negligence. It is enough to take malice as it is used in the law of civil liability for wrongs,—what we lawyers call the law of torts,—to show you that it means something different in law from what it means in morals, and also to show how the difference has been obscured by giving to principles which have little or nothing to do with each other the same name. Three hundred years ago a parson preached a sermon and told a story out of Fox's Book of Martyrs of a man who had assisted at the torture of one of the saints, and afterward died, suffering compensatory inward torment. It happened that Fox was wrong. The man was alive and chanced to hear the sermon, and thereupon he sued the parson. Chief Justice Wray instructed the jury that the defendant was not liable, because the story was told innocently, without malice. He took malice in the moral sense, as importing a malevolent motive. But nowadays no one doubts that a man may be liable, without any malevolent motive at all, for false statements manifestly calculated to inflict temporal damage. In stating the case in pleading, we still should call the defendant's conduct malicious; but, in my opinion at least, the word means nothing about motives, or even about the defendant's attitude toward the future, but only signifies that the tendency of his conduct under the known circumstances was very plainly to cause the plaintiff temporal harm.³¹

In the law of contract the use of moral phraseology has led to equal confusion, as I have shown in part already, but only in part. Morals deal with the actual internal state of the individual's mind, what he actually intends. From the time of the Romans down to now, this mode of dealing has affected the language of the law as to contract, and the language used has reacted upon the thought. We talk about a contract as a meeting of the minds of the parties, and thence it is inferred in various cases that there is no contract because their minds have not met; that is, because they have intended different things or because one party has not known of the assent of the other. Yet nothing is more certain than that parties may be bound by a contract to things which neither of them intended, and when one does not know of the other's assent. Suppose a contract is executed in due form and in writing to deliver a lecture, mentioning no time. One of the parties thinks that the promise will be construed to mean at once, within a week. The other thinks that it means when he is ready. The court says that it means within a reasonable time. The parties are bound by the contract as it is interpreted by the court, yet neither of them meant what the court declares that they have said. In my opinion no one will understand the true theory of contract or be able even to discuss some fundamental questions intelligently until he has understood that all contracts are formal, that the making of a contract depends not on the agreement of two minds in one intention, but on the agreement of two sets of external signs,—not on the parties' having meant the same thing but on their having said the same thing. Furthermore, as the signs may be addressed to one sense or another,—to sight or to hearing,—on the nature of the sign will depend the moment when the contract is made. If the sign is tangible, for instance, a letter, the contract is made when the letter of acceptance is delivered. If it is necessary that the minds of the parties meet, there will be no contract until the acceptance can be read,—none, for example, if the acceptance be snatched from the hand of the offerer by a third person.

³⁰ 1 Roll[e] Rep. 368 [81 Eng.Rep. 540 (1616)].

³¹ See Hanson v. Globe Newspaper Co., 159 Mass. 293, 302 [34 N.E. 462, 465 (1893)].

This is not the time to work out a theory in detail, or to answer many obvious doubts and questions which are suggested by these general views. I know of none which are not easy to answer, but what I am trying to do now is only by a series of hints to throw some light on the narrow path of legal doctrine, and upon two pitfalls which, as it seems to me, lie perilously near to it. Of the first of these I have said enough. I hope that my illustrations have shown the danger, both to speculation and to practice, of confounding morality with law, and the trap which legal language lays for us on that side of our way. For my own part, I often doubt whether it would not be a gain if every word of moral significance could be banished from the law altogether, and other words adopted which should convey legal ideas uncolored by anything outside the law. We should lose the fossil records of a good deal of history and the majesty got from ethical associations, but by ridding ourselves of an unnecessary confusion we should gain very much in the clearness of our thought.

So much for the limits of the law. The next thing which I wish to consider is what are the forces which determine its content and its growth. You may assume, with Hobbes and Bentham and Austin, that all law emanates from the sovereign, even when the first human beings to enunciate it are the judges, or you may think that law is the voice of the Zeitgeist, or what you like. It is all one to my present purpose. Even if every decision required the sanction of an emperor with despotic power and a whimsical turn of mind, we should be interested none the less, still with a view to prediction, in discovering some order, some rational explanation, and some principle of growth for the rules which he laid down. In every system there are such explanations and principles to be found. It is with regard to them that a second fallacy comes in, which I think it important to expose.

The fallacy to which I refer is the notion that the only force at work in the development of the law is logic. In the broadest sense, indeed, that notion would be true. The postulate on which we think about the universe is that there is a fixed quantitative relation between every phenomenon and its antecedents and consequents. If there is such a thing as a phenomenon without these fixed quantitative relations, it is a miracle. It is outside the law of cause and effect, and as such transcends our power of thought, or at least is something to or from which we cannot reason. The condition of our thinking about the universe is that it is capable of being thought about rationally, or, in other words, that every part of it is effect and cause in the same sense in which those parts are with which we are most familiar. So in the broadest sense it is true that the law is a logical development, like everything else. The danger of which I speak is not the admission that the principles governing other phenomena also govern the law, but the notion that a given system, ours, for instance, can be worked out like mathematics from some general axioms of conduct. This is the natural error of the schools, but it is not confined to them. I once heard a very eminent judge say that he never let a decision go

LEGAL SCHOLARSHIP

THE PATH OF
THE LAW

LEGAL SCHOLARSHIPTHE PATH OF
THE LAW

until he was absolutely sure that it was right. So judicial dissent often is blamed, as if it meant simply that one side or the other were not doing their sums right, and, if they would take more trouble, agreement inevitably would come.

This mode of thinking is entirely natural. The training of lawyers is a training in logic. The processes of analogy, discrimination, and deduction are those in which they are most at home. The language of judicial decision is mainly the language of logic. And the logical method and form flatter that longing for certainty and for repose which is in every human mind. But certainty generally is illusion, and repose is not the destiny of man. Behind the logical form lies a judgment as to the relative worth and importance of competing legislative grounds, often an inarticulate and unconscious judgment, it is true, and yet the very root and nerve of the whole proceeding.³²

You can give any conclusion a logical form. You always can imply a condition in a contract. But why do you imply it? It is because of some belief as to the practice of the community or of a class, or because of some opinion as to policy, or, in short, because of some attitude of yours upon a matter not capable of exact quantitative measurement, and therefore not capable of founding exact logical conclusions. Such matters really are battle grounds where the means do not exist for determinations that shall be good for all time, and where the decision can do no more than embody the preference of a given body in a given time and place. We do not realize how large a part of our law is open to reconsideration upon a slight change in the habit of the public mind. No concrete proposition is self-evident, no matter how ready we may be to accept it, not even Mr. Herbert Spencer's Every man has a right to do what he wills, provided he interferes not with a like right on the part of his neighbors.

Why is a false and injurious statement privileged, if it is made honestly in giving information about a servant? It is because it has been thought more important that information should be given freely, than that a man should be protected from what under other circumstances would be an actionable wrong. Why is a man at liberty to set up a business which he knows will ruin his neighbor? It is because the public good is supposed to be best subserved by free competition. Obviously such judgments of relative importance may vary in different times and places. Why does a judge instruct a jury that an employer is not liable to an employee for an injury received in the course of his employment unless he is negligent, and why do the jury generally find for the plaintiff if the case is allowed to go to them? It is because the traditional policy of our law is to confine liability to cases where a prudent man might have foreseen the injury, or at least the danger, while the inclination of a very large part of the community is to make certain classes of persons insure the safety of those with whom they deal. Since the last words were written, I have seen the requirement of such insurance put forth as part of the programme of one of the best known labor organizations. There is a concealed, half conscious battle on the question of legislative policy, and if any one thinks that it can be settled deductively, or once for all, I only can say that I think he is theoretically wrong, and that I am certain that his conclusion will not be accepted in practice semper ubique et ab omnibus.³³

Indeed, I think that even now our theory upon this matter is open to reconsideration, although I am not prepared to say how I should decide if a reconsideration were proposed. Our law of torts comes from the old days of isolated, ungeneralized wrongs, assaults, slanders, and the like, where the damages might be taken to lie where they fell by legal judgment. But the torts with which our courts are kept busy to-day are mainly the incidents of certain well known businesses. They are injuries to person or property by railroads, factories, and the like. The liability

³² [Ed. note] Cf. the famous opening lines from The Common Law:

The object of this book is to present a general view of the Common Law. To accomplish the task, other tools are needed besides logic. It is something to show that the consistency of a system requires a particular result, but it is not all. The life of the law has not been logic: it has been experience. The felt necessities of the time, the prevalent moral and political theories, intuitions of public policy, avowed or unconscious, even the prejudices which judges share with their fellow-men, have had a good deal more to do than the syllogism in determining the rules by which men should be governed. The law embodies the story of a nation's development through many centuries, and it cannot be dealt with as if it contained only the axioms and corollaries of a book of mathematics. In order to know what it is, we must know what it has been, and what it tends to become. We must alternately consult history and existing theories of legislation. But the most difficult labor will be to understand the combination of the two into new products at every stage. . . .

O. W. Holmes, Jr., THE COMMON LAW 1 (1881).

³³ [Ed. note] Literally "forever, everywhere and by everyone."

LEGAL SCHOLARSHIPTHE PATH OF
THE LAW

for them is estimated, and sooner or later goes into the price paid by the public. The public really pays the damages, and the question of liability, if pressed far enough, is really the question how far it is desirable that the public should insure the safety of those whose work it uses. It might be said that in such cases the chance of a jury finding for the defendant is merely a chance, once in a while rather arbitrarily interrupting the regular course of recovery, most likely in the case of an unusually conscientious plaintiff, and therefore better done away with. On the other hand, the economic value even of a life to the community can be estimated, and no recovery, it may be said, ought to go beyond that amount. It is conceivable that some day in certain cases we may find ourselves imitating, on a higher plane, the tariff for life and limb which we see in the Leges Barbarorum.

I think that the judges themselves have failed adequately to recognize their duty of weighing considerations of social advantage. The duty is inevitable, and the result of the often proclaimed judicial aversion to deal with such considerations is simply to leave the very ground and foundation of judgments inarticulate, and often unconscious, as I have said. When socialism first began to be talked about, the comfortable classes of the community were a good deal frightened. I suspect that this fear has influenced judicial action both here and in England, yet it is certain that it is not a conscious factor in the decisions to which I refer. I think that something similar has led people who no longer hope to control the legislatures to look to the courts as expounders of the Constitutions, and that in some courts new principles have been discovered outside the bodies of those instruments, which may be generalized into acceptance of the economic doctrines which prevailed about fifty years ago, and a wholesale prohibition of what a tribunal of lawyers does not think about right. I cannot but believe that if the training of lawyers led them habitually to consider more definitely and explicitly the social advantage on which the rule they lay down must be justified, they sometimes would hesitate where now they are confident, and see that really they were taking sides upon debatable and often burning questions.

So much for the fallacy of logical form. Now let us consider the present condition of the law as a subject for study, and the ideal toward which it tends. We still are far from the point of view which I desire to see reached. No one has reached it or can reach it as yet. We are only at the beginning of a philosophical reaction, and of a reconsideration of the worth of doctrines which for the most part still are taken for granted without any deliberate, conscious, and systematic questioning of their grounds. The development of our law has gone on for nearly a thousand years, like the development of a plant, each generation taking the inevitable next step, mind, like matter, simply obeying a law of spontaneous growth. It is perfectly natural and right that it should have been so. Imitation is a necessity of human nature, as has been illustrated by a remarkable French writer, M. Tarde,³⁴ in an admirable book, "Les Lois de l'Imitation." Most of the things we do, we do for no better reason than that our fathers have done them or that our neighbors do them, and the same is true of a larger part than we suspect of what we think. The reason is a good one, because our short life gives us no time for a better, but it is not the best. It does not follow, because we all are compelled to take on faith at second hand most of the rules on which we base our action and our thought, that each of us may not try to set some corner of his world in the order of reason, or that all of us collectively should not aspire to carry reason as far as it will go throughout the whole domain. In regard to the law, it is true, no doubt, that an evolutionist will hesitate to affirm universal validity for his social ideals, or for the principles which he thinks should be embodied in legislation. He is content if he can prove them best for here and now. He may be ready to admit that he knows nothing about an absolute best in the cosmos, and even that he knows next to nothing about a permanent best for men. Still it is true that a body of law is more rational and more civilized when every rule it contains is referred articulately and definitely to an end which it subserves, and when the grounds for desiring that end are stated or are ready to be stated in words.

At present, in very many cases, if we want to know why a rule of law has taken its particular shape, and more or less if we want to know why it exists at all, we go to tradition. We follow it ³⁴ [Ed. note] Gabriel Tarde (1843–1904). French sociologist and criminologist and from 1899 until his death Professor of Modern Philosophy, College de France. Tarde regarded man as an agent striving to realize ends suggested by the social environment and either sanctioned or rejected by that enactment. Les Lois de l'Imitation was published in 1890.

LEGAL SCHOLARSHIPTHE PATH OF
THE LAW

into the Year Books, and perhaps beyond them to the customs of the Salian Franks, and somewhere in the past, in the German forests, in the needs of Norman kings, in the assumptions of a dominant class, in the absence of generalized ideas, we find out the practical motive for what now best is justified by the mere fact of its acceptance and that men are accustomed to it. The rational study of law is still to a large extent the study of history. History must be a part of the study, because without it we cannot know the precise scope of rules which it is our business to know. It is a part of the rational study, because it is the first step toward an enlightened scepticism, that is, toward a deliberate reconsideration of the worth of those rules. When you get the dragon out of his cave on to the plain and in the daylight, you can count his teeth and claws, and see just what is his strength. But to get him out is only the first step. The next is either to kill him, or to tame him and make him a useful animal. For the rational study of the law the black-letter man may be the man of the present, but the man of the future is the man of statistics and the master of economics. It is revolting to have no better reason for a rule of law than that so it was laid down in the time of Henry IV. It is still more revolting if the grounds upon which it was laid down have vanished long since, and the rule simply persists from blind imitation of the past. I am thinking of the technical rule as to trespass ab initio, as it is called, which I attempted to explain in a recent Massachusetts case.³⁵

Let me take an illustration, which can be stated in a few words, to show how the social end which is aimed at by a rule of law is obscured and only partially attained in consequence of the fact that the rule owes its form to a gradual historical development, instead of being reshaped as a whole, with conscious articulate reference to the end in view. We think it desirable to prevent one man's property being misappropriated by another, and so we make larceny a crime. The evil is the same whether the misappropriation is made by a man into whose hands the owner has put the property, or by one who wrongfully takes it away. But primitive law in its weakness did not get much beyond an effort to prevent violence, and very naturally made a wrongful taking, a trespass, part of its definition of the crime. In modern times the judges enlarged the definition a little by holding that, if the wrongdoer gets possession by a trick or device, the crime is committed. This really was giving up the requirement of a trespass, and it would have been more logical, as well as truer to the present object of the law, to abandon the requirement altogether. That, however, would have seemed too bold, and was left to statute. Statutes were passed making embezzlement a crime. But the force of tradition caused the crime of embezzlement to be regarded as so far distinct from larceny that to this day, in some jurisdictions at least, a slip corner is kept open for thieves to contend, if indicted for larceny, that they should have been indicted for embezzlement, and if indicted for embezzlement, that they should have been indicted for larceny, and to escape on that ground.

Far more fundamental questions still await a better answer than that we do as our fathers have done. What have we better than a blind guess to show that the criminal law in its present form does more good than harm? I do not stop to refer to the effect which it has had in degrading prisoners and in plunging them further into crime, or to the question whether fine and imprisonment do not fall more heavily on a criminal's wife and children than on himself. I have in mind more far-reaching questions. Does punishment deter? Do we deal with criminals on proper principles? A modern school of Continental criminalists plumes itself on the formula, first suggested, it is said, by Gall,³⁶ that we must consider the criminal rather than the crime. The formula does not carry us very far, but the inquiries which have been started look toward an answer of my questions based on science for the first time. If the typical criminal is a degenerate, bound to swindle or to murder by as deep seated an organic necessity as that which makes the rattlesnake bite, it is idle to talk of deterring him by the classical method of imprisonment. He must be got rid of; he cannot be improved, or frightened out of his structural reaction. If, on the other hand, crime, like normal human conduct, is mainly a matter of imitation, punishment fairly may be expected to help to keep it out of fashion. The study of criminals has been thought by some well known men of science to sustain the former hypothesis. The statistics of the relative increase of crime in crowded places like large cities, where example has the greatest chance to work, and in less populated parts, where the contagion spreads more slowly, have been used with great force in favor of the latter view. But there is weighty authority for the belief that, however this may be, "not the nature of the crime, but the dangerousness of the criminal, constitutes the only reasonable legal criterion to guide the inevitable social reaction against the criminal."³⁷

³⁵ Commonwealth v. Rubin, 165 Mass. 453, [43 N.E. 200 (1896)].

³⁶ [Ed. note] Probably Franz Joseph Gall (1758–1828), a German physician who eventually settled first in Vienna and later in Paris and was the founder of phrenology.

The impediments to rational generalization, which I illustrated from the law of larceny, are shown in the other branches of the law, as well as in that of crime. Take the law of tort or civil liability for damages apart from contract and the like. Is there any general theory of such liability, or are the cases in which it exists simply to be enumerated, and to be explained each on its special ground, as is easy to believe from the fact that the right of action for certain well known classes of wrongs like trespass or slander has its special history for each class? I think that there is a general theory to be discovered, although resting in tendency rather than established and accepted. I think that the law regards the infliction of temporal damage by a responsible person as actionable, if under the circumstances known to him the danger of his act is manifest according to common experience, or according to his own experience if it is more than common, except in cases where upon special grounds of policy the law refuses to protect the plaintiff or grants a privilege to the defendant.³⁸ I think that commonly malice, intent, and negligence mean only that the danger was manifest to a greater or less degree, under the circumstances known to the actor, although in some cases of privilege malice may mean an actual malevolent motive, and such a motive may take away a permission knowingly to inflict harm, which otherwise would be granted on this or that ground of dominant public good. But when I stated my view to a very eminent English judge the other day, he said: "You are discussing what the law ought to be; as the law is, you must show a right. A man is not liable for negligence unless he is subject to a duty." If our difference was more than a difference in words, or with regard to the proportion between the exceptions and the rule, then, in his opinion, liability for an act cannot be referred to the manifest tendency of the act to cause temporal damage in general as a sufficient explanation, but must be referred to the special nature of the damage, or must be derived from some special circumstances outside of the tendency of the act, for which no generalized explanation exists. I think that such a view is wrong, but it is familiar, and I dare say generally is accepted in England.

Everywhere the basis of principle is tradition, to such an extent that we even are in danger of making the rôle of history more important than it is. The other day Professor Ames wrote a learned article³⁹ to show, among other things, that the common law did not recognize the defence of fraud in actions upon specialties, and the moral might seem to be that the personal character of that defence is due to its equitable origin. But if, as I have said, all contracts are formal, the difference is not merely historical, but theoretic, between defects of form which prevent a contract from being made, and mistaken motives which manifestly could not be considered in any system that we should call rational except against one who was privy to those motives. It is not confined to specialties, but is of universal application. I ought to add that I do not suppose that Mr. Ames would disagree with what I suggest.

However, if we consider the law of contract, we find it full of history. The distinctions between debt, covenant, and assumpsit are merely historical. The classification of certain obligations to pay money, imposed by the law irrespective of any bargain as quasi contracts, is merely historical. The doctrine of consideration is merely historical. The effect given to a seal is to be explained by history alone.—Consideration is a mere form. Is it a useful form? If so, why should it not be required in all contracts? A seal is a mere form, and is vanishing in the scroll and in enactments that a consideration must be given, seal or no seal.—Why should any merely historical distinction be allowed to affect the rights and obligations of business men?

Since I wrote this discourse I have come on a very good example of the way in which tradition

LEGAL SCHOLARSHIP

THE PATH OF
THE LAW

³⁷ Havelock Ellis, "The Criminal," 41, citing Garofalo [Baron Raffaele, 1851–1934, Italian statesman, jurist, and criminologist].

³⁸ An example of the law's refusing to protect the plaintiff is when he is interrupted by a stranger in the use of a valuable way, which he has traveled adversely for a week less than the period of prescription. A week later he will have gained a right, but now he is only a trespasser. Examples of privilege I have given already. One of the best is competition in business.

³⁹ [Ed. note] Unquestionably, Specialty Contracts and Equitable Defences, 9 HARV. L.REV. 49 (1895).

LEGAL SCHOLARSHIPTHE PATH OF
THE LAW

not only overrides rational policy, but overrides it after first having been misunderstood and having been given a new and broader scope than it had when it had a meaning. It is the settled law of England that a material alteration of a written contract by a party avoids it as against him. The doctrine is contrary to the general tendency of the law. We do not tell a jury that if a man ever has lied in one particular he is to be presumed to lie in all. Even if a man has tried to defraud, it seems no sufficient reason for preventing him from proving the truth. Objections of like nature in general go to the weight, not to the admissibility, of evidence. Moreover, this rule is irrespective of fraud, and is not confined to evidence. It is not merely that you cannot use the writing, but that the contract is at an end. What does this mean? The existence of a written contract depends on the fact that the offeror and offeree have interchanged their written expressions, not on the continued existence of those expressions. But in the case of a bond the primitive notion was different. The contract was inseparable from the parchment. If a stranger destroyed it, or tore off the seal, or altered it, the obligee could not recover, however free from fault, because the defendant's contract, that is, the actual tangible bond which he had sealed, could not be produced in the form in which it bound him. About a hundred years ago Lord Kenyon undertook to use his reason on this tradition, as he sometimes did to the detriment of the law, and, not understanding it, said he could see no reason why what was true of a bond should not be true of other contracts. His decision happened to be right, as it concerned a promissory note, where again the common law regarded the contract as inseparable from the paper on which it was written, but the reasoning was general, and soon was extended to other written contracts, and various absurd and unreal grounds of policy were invented to account for the enlarged rule.

I trust that no one will understand me to be speaking with disrespect of the law, because I criticise it so freely. I venerate the law, and especially our system of law, as one of the vastest products of the human mind. No one knows better than I do the countless number of great intellects that have spent themselves in making some addition or improvement, the greatest of which is trifling when compared with the mighty whole. It has the final title to respect that it exists, that it is not a Hegelian dream, but a part of the lives of men. But one may criticise even what one reveres. Law is the business to which my life is devoted, and I should show less than devotion if I did not do what in me lies to improve it, and, when I perceive what seems to me the ideal of its future, if I hesitated to point it out and to press toward it with all my heart.

Perhaps I have said enough to show the part which the study of history necessarily plays in the intelligent study of the law as it is to-day. In the teaching of this school and at Cambridge it is in no danger of being undervalued. Mr. Bigelow here and Mr. Ames and Mr. Thayer there have made important contributions which will not be forgotten, and in England the recent history of early English law by Sir Frederick Pollock and Mr. Maitland has lent the subject an almost deceptive charm. We must beware of the pitfall of antiquarianism, and must remember that for our purposes our only interest in the past is for the light it throws upon the present. I look forward to a time when the part played by history in the explanation of dogma shall be very small, and instead of ingenious research we shall spend our energy on a study of the ends sought to be attained and the reasons for desiring them. As a step toward that ideal it seems to me that every lawyer ought to seek an understanding of economics. The present divorce between the schools of political economy and law seems to me an evidence of how much progress in philosophical study still remains to be made. In the present state of political economy, indeed, we come again upon history on a larger scale, but there we are called on to consider and weigh the ends of legislation, the means of attaining them, and the cost. We learn that for everything we have to give up something else, and we are taught to set the advantage we gain against the other advantage we lose, and to know what we are doing when we elect.

There is another study which sometimes is undervalued by the practical minded, for which I wish to say a good word, although I think a good deal of pretty poor stuff goes under that name. I mean the study of what is called jurisprudence. Jurisprudence, as I look at it, is simply law in its most generalized part. Every effort to reduce a case to a rule is an effort of jurisprudence, although the name as used in English is confined to the broadest rules and most fundamental conceptions. One mark of a great lawyer is that he sees the application of the broadest rules. There is a story of a Vermont justice of the peace before whom a suit was brought by one farmer against another for breaking a churn. The justice took time to consider, and then said that he had looked through the statutes and could find nothing about churns, and gave judgment for the defendant. The same state of mind is shown in all our common digests and text-books. Applications of rudimentary rules of contract or tort are tucked away under the head of Railroads or Telegraphs or go to swell treatises on historical subdivisions, such as Shipping or Equity, or are gathered under an arbitrary title which is thought likely to appeal to the practical mind, such as Mercantile Law. If a man goes into law it pays to be a master of it, and to be a master of it means to look straight through all the dramatic incidents and to discern the true basis for prophecy. Therefore, it is well to have an accurate notion of what you mean by law, by a right, by a duty, by malice, intent, and negligence, by ownership, by possession, and so forth. I have in my mind cases in which the highest courts seem to me to have floundered because they had no clear ideas on some of these themes. I have illustrated their importance already. If a further illustration is wished, it may be found by reading the Appendix to Sir James Stephen's Criminal Law on the subject of possession, and then turning to Pollock and Wright's enlightened book.⁴⁰ Sir James Stephen is not the only writer whose attempts to analyze legal ideas have been confused by striving for a useless quintessence of all systems, instead of an accurate anatomy of one. The trouble with Austin was that he did not know enough English law. But still it is a practical advantage to master Austin, and his predecessors, Hobbes and Bentham, and his worthy successors, Holland and Pollock. Sir Frederick Pollock's recent little book is touched with the felicity which marks all his works, and is wholly free from the perverting influence of Roman models.

The advice of the elders to young men is very apt to be as unreal as a list of the hundred best books. At least in my day I had my share of such counsels, and high among the unrealities I place the recommendation to study the Roman law. I assume that such advice means more than collecting a few Latin maxims with which to ornament the discourse,—the purpose for which Lord Coke recommended Bracton. If that is all that is wanted, the title "De Regulis Juris Antiqui" can be read in an hour. I assume that, if it is well to study the Roman law, it is well to study it as a working system. That means mastering a set of technicalities more difficult and less understood than our own, and studying another course of history by which even more than our own the Roman law must be explained. If any one doubts me, let him read Keller's⁴¹ "Der Römische Civil Process und die Actionen," a treatise on the praetor's edict, Muirhead's most interesting "Historical Introduction to the Private Law of Rome," and, to give him the best chance possible, Sohm's⁴² admirable Institutes. No. The way to gain a liberal view of your subject is not to read something else, but to get to the bottom of the subject itself. The means of doing that are, in the first place, to follow the existing body of dogma into its highest generalizations by the help of jurisprudence; next, to discover from history how it has come to be what it is; and, finally, so far as you can, to consider the ends which the several rules seek to accomplish, the reasons why those ends are desired, what is given up to gain them, and whether they are worth the price.

We have too little theory in the law rather than too much, especially on this final branch of study. When I was speaking of history, I mentioned larceny as an example to show how the law suffered from not having embodied in a clear form a rule which will accomplish its manifest purpose. In that case the trouble was due to the survival of forms coming from a time when a more limited purpose was entertained. Let me now give an example to show the practical importance, for the decision of actual cases, of understanding the reasons of the law, by taking an example from rules which, so far as I know, never have been explained or theorized about in any adequate way. I refer to statutes of limitation and the law of prescription. The end of such rules is obvious, but what is the justification for depriving a man of his rights, a pure evil as far as it goes, in consequence of the lapse of time? Sometimes the loss of evidence is referred to, but that is a secondary matter. Sometimes the desirability of peace, but why is peace more desirable after twenty years than before? It is increasingly likely to come without the aid of legislation. Sometimes it is said that, if a man neglects to enforce his rights, he cannot complain if, after a while, the law follows his example. Now if this is

LEGAL SCHOLARSHIP

THE PATH OF
THE LAW

⁴⁰ [Ed. note] AN ESSAY ON POSSESSION IN THE COMMON LAW (1888).

⁴¹ [Ed. note] Friedrich Ludwig von Keller (1799–1860).

⁴² [Ed. note] Rudolph Sohm (1841–1917).

LEGAL SCHOLARSHIPTHE PATH OF
THE LAW

all that can be said about it, you probably will decide a case I am going to put, for the plaintiff; if you take the view which I shall suggest, you possibly will decide it for the defendant. A man is sued for trespass upon land, and justifies under a right of way. He proves that he has used the way openly and adversely for twenty years, but it turns out that the plaintiff had granted a license to a person whom he reasonably supposed to be the defendant's agent, although not so in fact, and therefore had assumed that the use of the way was permissive, in which case no right would be gained. Has the defendant gained a right or not? If his gaining it stands on the fault and neglect of the landowner in the ordinary sense, as seems commonly to be supposed, there has been no such neglect, and the right of way has not been acquired. But if I were the defendant's counsel, I should suggest that the foundation of the acquisition of rights by lapse of time is to be looked for in the position of the person who gains them, not in that of the loser. Sir Henry Maine has made it fashionable to connect the archaic notion of property with prescription. But the connection is further back than the first recorded history. It is in the nature of man's mind. A thing which you have enjoyed and used as your own for a long time, whether property or an opinion, takes root in your being and cannot be torn away without your resenting the act and trying to defend yourself, however you came by it. The law can ask no better justification than the deepest instincts of man. It is only by way of reply to the suggestion that you are disappointing the former owner, that you refer to his neglect having allowed the gradual dissociation between himself and what he claims, and the gradual association of it with another. If he knows that another is doing acts which on their face show that he is on the way toward establishing such an association, I should argue that in justice to that other he was bound at his peril to find out whether the other was acting under his permission, to see that he was warned, and, if necessary, stopped.

I have been speaking about the study of the law, and I have said next to nothing of what commonly is talked about in that connection,—text-books and the case system, and all the machinery with which a student comes most immediately in contact. Nor shall I say anything about them. Theory is my subject, not practical details. The modes of teaching have been improved since my time, no doubt, but ability and industry will master the raw material with any mode. Theory is the most important part of the dogma of the law, as the architect is the most important man who takes part in the building of a house. The most important improvements of the last twenty-five years are improvements in theory. It is not to be feared as unpractical, for, to the competent, it simply means going to the bottom of the subject. For the incompetent, it sometimes is true, as has been said, that an interest in general ideas means an absence of particular knowledge. I remember in army days reading of a youth who, being examined for the lowest grade and being asked a question about squadron drill, answered that he never had considered the evolutions of less than ten thousand men. But the weak and foolish must be left to their folly. The danger is that the able and practical minded should look with indifference or distrust upon ideas the connection of which with their business is remote. I heard a story, the other day, of a man who had a valet to whom he paid high wages, subject to deduction for faults. One of his deductions was, "For lack of imagination, five dollars." The lack is not confined to valets. The object of ambition, power, generally presents itself nowadays in the form of money alone. Money is the most immediate form, and is a proper object of desire. "The fortune," said Rachel, "is the measure of the intelligence." That is a good text to waken people out of a fool's paradise. But, as Hegel says,⁴³ "It is in the end not the appetite, but the opinion, which has to be satisfied." To an imagination of any scope the most far-reaching form of power is not money, it is the command of ideas. If you want great examples read Mr. Leslie Stephen's "History of English Thought in the Eighteenth Century," and see how a hundred years after his death the abstract speculations of Descartes had become a practical force controlling the conduct of men. Read the works of the great German jurists, and see how much more the world is governed to-day by Kant than by Bonaparte. We cannot all be Descartes or Kant, but we all want happiness. And happiness, I am sure from having known many successful men, cannot be won simply by being counsel for great corporations and having an income of fifty thousand dollars. An intellect great enough to win the prize needs other food beside success. The remoter and more general aspects of the law are those which give it universal interest. It is through them that you not only become a great master in your calling, but connect your subject with the universe and catch an echo of the infinite, a glimpse of its unfathomable process, a hint of the universal law.

⁴³ Phil. des Rechts, § 190.

LEGAL SCHOLARSHIP

THE PATH OF
THE LAW

LEGAL SCHOLARSHIP

BRIEF FOR THE DEFENDANT IN ERROR, MULLER V. OREGON

Louis D. Brandeis, October Term, 1907

The World's Experience Upon Which the Legislation Limiting the Hours of Labor for Women is Based

In MULLER V. OREGON in 1908, the U.S. Supreme Court upheld an Oregon law that prohibited the employment of women for more than ten hours a day. The decision was based in large part on a brief submitted by LOUIS D. BRANDEIS in support of the law. The brief emphasized the differences between women and men and presented information showing that long work hours could have injurious effects on the health and welfare of women and their children, including their unborn children. The Court unanimously agreed, noting that “woman’s physical structure and the performance of maternal functions place her at a disadvantage in the struggle for subsistence.”

The Brandeis brief signaled a change in the type of evidence a court would consider in determining a case. With the growth of the social sciences, quantitative and qualitative studies conducted by researchers would increasingly find their way into U.S. courtrooms.

Brief for the Defendant in Error, Muller v. Oregon

I. THE DANGERS OF LONG HOURS

A. Causes

(1) Physical Differences Between Men and Women. The dangers of long hours for women arise from their special physical organization taken in connection with the strain incident to factory and similar work.

Long hours of labor are dangerous for women primarily because of their special physical organization. In structure and function women are differentiated from men. Besides these anatomical and physiological differences, physicians are agreed that women are fundamentally weaker than men in all that makes for endurance: in muscular strength, in nervous energy, in the powers of persistent attention and application. Overwork, therefore, which strains endurance to the utmost, is more disastrous to the health of women than of men, and entails upon them more lasting injury.

Report of Select Committee on Shops Early Closing Bill, British House of Commons, 1895.

Dr. Percy Kidd, physician in Brompton and London Hospitals:

The most common effect I have noticed of the long hours is general deterioration of health; very general symptoms which we medically attribute to over-action, and debility of the nervous system; that includes a great deal more than what is called nervous disease, such as indigestion, constipation, a general slackness, and a great many other indefinite symptoms.

Are those symptoms more marked in women than in men?

I think they are much more marked in women. I should say one sees a great many more women of this class than men; but I have seen precisely the same symptoms in men, I should not say in the same proportion, because one has not been able to make anything like a statistical inquiry. There are other symptoms, but I mention those as being the most common. Another symptom especially among women is anemia, bloodlessness or pallor, that I have no doubt is connected with long hours indoors.

Report of the Maine Bureau of Industrial and Labor Statistics, 1888.

Let me quote from Dr. Ely Van der Warker (1875):

Woman is badly constructed for the purposes of standing eight or ten hours upon her feet. I do not intend to bring into evidence the peculiar position and nature of the organs contained in the pelvis, but to call attention to the peculiar construction of the knee and the shallowness of the pelvis, and the delicate nature of the foot as part of a sustaining column. The knee joint of woman is a sexual characteristic. Viewed in front and extended, the joint in but a slight degree interrupts the gradual taper of the thigh into the leg. Viewed in a semi-flexed position, the joint forms a smooth ovate spheroid. The reason of this lies in the smallness of the patella in front, and the narrowness of the articular surfaces of the tibia and femur, and which in man form the lateral prominences, and thus is much more perfect as a sustaining column than that of a woman. The muscles which keep the body fixed upon the thighs in the erect position labor under the disadvantage of shortness of purchase, owing to the short distance, compared to that of man, between the crest of the ilium and the great trochanter of the femur, thus giving to man a much larger purchase in the leverage existing between the trunk and the extremities. Comparatively the foot is less able to sustain weight than that of man, owing to its shortness and the more delicate formation of the tarsus and metatarsus.

Report of the Massachusetts Bureau of Labor Statistics, 1875.

A "lady operator," many years in the business, informed us: "I have had hundreds of lady compositors in my employ, and they all exhibited, in a marked manner, both in the way they performed their work and in its results, the difference in physical ability between themselves and men. They cannot endure the prolonged close attention and confinement which is a great part of typesetting. I have few girls with me more than two or three years at a time; they must have vacations, and they break down in health rapidly. I know no reason why a girl could not set as much type as a man, if she were as strong to endure the demand on mind and body."

Report of the Nebraska Bureau of Labor and Industrial Statistics, 1901–1902.

They (women) are unable, by reason of their physical limitations, to endure the same hours of exhaustive labor as may be endured by men without injury to their health would wreck the constitution and destroy the health of women, and render them incapable of bearing their share of the burdens of the family and the home. The State must be accorded the right to guard and protect women as a class against such a condition, and the law in question to that extent conserves the public health and welfare.

In strength as well as in rapidity and precision of movement women are inferior to men. This is not a conclusion that has ever been contested. It is in harmony with all the practical experience of life. It is perhaps also in harmony with the results of those investigators . . . who have found that, as in the blood of women, so also in their muscles, there is more water than in those of men. To a very great extent it is a certainty, a matter of difference in exercise and environment. It is probably, also, partly a matter of organic constitution.

The motor superiority of men, and to some extent of males generally, is, it can scarcely be doubted, a deep-lying fact. It is related to what is most fundamental in men and in women, and to their whole psychic organization.

There appears to be a general agreement that women are more docile and amenable to discipline; that they can do light work equally well; that they are steadier in some respects; but that, on the other hand, they are often absent on account of slight indisposition, and they break down sooner under strain.

* * *

It has been estimated that out of every one hundred days women are in a semipathological state of health for from fourteen to sixteen days. The natural congestion of the pelvic organs during menstruation is augmented and favored by work on sewing machines and other industrial occupations necessitating the constant use of the lower part of the body. Work during these periods tends to induce chronic congestion of the uterus and appendages, and dysmenorrhea and flexion of the uterus are well known affections of working girls.

VII. Laundries

The specific prohibition in the Oregon Act of more than ten hours' work in laundries is not an arbitrary discrimination against that trade. Laundries would probably not be included under the general terms of "manufacturing" or

LEGAL SCHOLARSHIP

BRIEF FOR THE DEFENDANT IN ERROR, MULLER V. OREGON

LEGAL SCHOLARSHIPBRIEF FOR THE DEFENDANT IN ERROR, MULLER
V. OREGON

“mechanical establishments”; and yet the special dangers of long hours in laundries, as the business is now conducted, present strong reasons for providing a legal limitation of the hours of work in that business.

DANGEROUS TRADES. THOMAS OLIVER, MEDICAL EXPERT ON DANGEROUS TRADES COMMITTEES OF THE HOME
OFFICE. 1902.

Chapter XLVII. Laundry Workers.

It is perhaps difficult to realize that the radical change which has everywhere transformed industrial conditions has already affected this occupation (laundry work) also, and that for good or for evil the washerwoman is passing under the influences which have so profoundly modified the circumstances of her sister of the spinning-wheel and the sewing needle. When the first washing machine and ironing roller were applied to this occupation, alteration in the conditions became as much a foregone conclusion as it did in the case of the textile or the clothing manufactures, when the spinning frame, the power loom, or the sewing machine appeared.

Meanwhile, few industries afford at the present time a more interesting study. From a simple home occupation it is steadily being transformed by the application of power-driven machinery and by the division of labor into a highly organized factory industry, in which complicated labor-saving contrivances of all kinds play a prominent part. The tremendous impetus in the adoption of machinery, and the consequent modification of the system of employment so striking in the large laundries, is not greater than the less obvious but even more important development in the same direction among small laundries. Indeed the difference is rapidly becoming one of degree only. In the large laundries may be found perhaps more machinery and a greater number of the newest devices, but the fundamental change has affected all alike.

* * *

D. BAD EFFECT UPON MORALS

Report of British Chief Inspector of Factories and Workshops, 1900.

One of the most unsatisfactory results of the present system of lack of working hours in laundries is the unfortunate moral effect on the women and girls. . . . Women who are employed at arduous work till far into the night are not likely to be early risers nor given to punctual attendance in the mornings, and workers who on one or two days in the week are dismissed to idleness or to other occupations, while on the remaining days they are expected to work for abnormally long hours, are not rendered methodical, industrious, or dependable workers by such an unsatisfactory training. The self-control and good habits engendered by a regular and definite period of moderate daily employment, which affords an excellent training for the young worker in all organized industries, is sadly lacking, and, instead, one finds periods of violent overwork alternating with hours of exhaustion. The result is the establishment of a kind of “vicious circle”; bad habits among workers make compliance by their employers with any regulation as to hours very difficult while a lack of loyal adherence to reasonable hours of employment by many laundry occupiers increases the difficulty for those who make the attempt in real earnestness.

LEGAL SCHOLARSHIP

MECHANICAL
JURISPRUDENCE

Roscoe Pound, 1908

ROScoe POUND followed in Oliver Wendell Holmes's footsteps. In "Mechanical Jurisprudence" (1908), Pound coined the term mechanical jurisprudence to refer to the common but odious practice whereby judges woodenly applied previous precedents to the facts of cases without regard to the consequences. For Pound, the logic of previous precedents alone would not solve jurisprudential problems. The essay decries the ossification of legal concepts into self-evident truths.

In opposition to mechanical jurisprudence, Pound offered his theory of sociological jurisprudence. He acknowledged that the common law contains some constant principles, particularly in regard to methods. He gave these principles the name "taught legal tradition." Pound believed that the implementation of this taught legal tradition by wise common-law judges resulted in substantive change, which reflected changes in society. As the interpreters of the common law, judges had a special duty to consider the practical effects of their decisions and to strive to ensure that they facilitated rather than hindered societal growth.

Mechanical Jurisprudence

"There is no way," says Sir Frederick Pollock, "by which modern law can escape from the scientific and artificial character imposed on it by the demand of modern societies for full, equal, and exact justice." An Australian judge has stated the same proposition in these words: "The public is more interested than it knows in maintaining the highest scientific standard in the administration of justice." Every lawyer feels this, and every thoughtful student of institutions must admit it. But what do we mean by the word "scientific" in this connection? What is scientific law? What constitutes science in the administration of justice? Sir Frederick Pollock gives us the clue when he defines the reasons that compel law to take on this scientific character as three: the demand for full justice, that is for solutions that go to the root of controversies; the demand for equal justice, that is a like adjustment of like relations under like conditions; and the demand for exact justice, that is for a justice whose operations, within reasonable limits, may be predicted in advance of action. In other words, the marks of a scientific law are, conformity to reason, uniformity, and certainty. Scientific law is a reasoned body of principles for the administration of justice, and its antithesis is a system of enforcing magisterial caprice, however honest, and however much disguised under the name of justice or equity or natural law. But this scientific character of law is a means—a means toward the end of law, which is the administration of justice. Law is forced to take on this character in order to accomplish its end fully, equally, and exactly; and in so far as it fails to perform its function fully, equally, and exactly, it fails in the end for which it exists. Law is scientific in order to eliminate so far as may be the personal equation in judicial administration, to preclude cor-

Source: Reprinted from 8 Columbia Law Review 605.

LEGAL SCHOLARSHIPMECHANICAL
JURISPRUDENCE

ruption and to limit the dangerous possibilities of magisterial ignorance. Law is not scientific for the sake of science. Being scientific as a means toward an end, it must be judged by the results it achieves, not by the niceties of its internal structure; it must be valued by the extent to which it meets its end, not by the beauty of its logical processes or the strictness with which its rules proceed from the dogmas it takes for its foundation.

Two dangers have to be guarded against in a scientific legal system, one of them in the direction of the effect of its scientific and artificial character upon the public, the other in the direction of its effect upon the courts and the legal profession. With respect to the first danger, it is well to remember that law must not become too scientific for the people to appreciate its workings. Law has the practical function of adjusting everyday relations so as to meet current ideas of fair play. It must not become so completely artificial that the public is led to regard it as wholly arbitrary. No institution can stand upon such a basis today. Reverence for institutions of the past will not preserve, of itself, an institution that touches everyday life as profoundly as does the law. Legal theory can no more stand as a sacred tradition in the modern world than can political theory. It has been one of the great merits of English law that its votaries have always borne this in mind. When Lord Esher said, "the law of England is not a science," he meant to protest against a pseudo-science of technical rules existing for their own sake and subserving supposed ends of science, while defeating justice. And it is the importance of the role of jurors in tempering the administration of justice with common-sense and preserving a due connection of the rules governing everyday relations with everyday needs of ordinary men that has atoned for the manifold and conspicuous defects of trial by jury and is keeping it alive. In Germany today one of the problems of law reform is how to achieve a similar tempering of the justice administered by highly trained specialists.

In the other direction, the effect of a scientific legal system upon the courts and upon the legal profession is more subtle and far-reaching. The effect of all systems is apt to be petrification of the subject systematized. Perfection of scientific system and exposition tends to cut off individual initiative in the future, to stifle independent consideration of new problems and of new phases of old problems, and to impose the ideas of one generation upon another. This is so in all departments of learning. One of the obstacles to advance in every science is the domination of the ghosts of departed masters. Their sound methods are forgotten, while their unsound conclusions are held for gospel. Legal science is not exempt from this tendency. Legal systems have their periods in which science degenerates, in which system decays into technicality, in which a scientific jurisprudence becomes a mechanical jurisprudence.

Roman law in its decadence furnishes a striking example. The Valentinian "law of citations" made a selection of juriconsults of the past and allowed their writings only to be cited. It declared them, with the exception of Papinian, equal in authority. It confined the judge, when questions of law were in issue, to the purely mechanical task of counting and of determining the numerical preponderance of authority. Principles were no longer resorted to in order to make rules to fit cases. The rules were at hand in a fixed and final form, and cases were to be fitted to the rules. The classical jurisprudence of principles had developed, by the very weight of its authority, a jurisprudence of rules; and it is in the nature of rules to operate mechanically.

Undoubtedly one cause of the tendency of scientific law to become mechanical is to be found in the average man's admiration for the ingenious in any direction, his love of technicality as a manifestation of cleverness, his feeling that law, as a developed institution, ought to have a certain ballast of mysterious technicality. "Philosophy's queerest arguments," says James, "tickle agreeably our sense of subtlety and ingenuity." Every practitioner has encountered the lay obsession as to invalidity of a signing with a lead pencil. Every law teacher has had to combat the student obsession that notice, however cogent, may be disregarded unless it is "official." Lay hair-splitting over rules and regulations goes far beyond anything of which lawyers are capable. Experienced advocates have insisted that in argument to a jury, along with a just, common-sense theory of the merits, one ought to have a specious technicality for good measure. But apart from this general human tendency, there is the special tendency of the lawyer to regard artificiality in law as an end, to hold science something to be pursued for its own sake, to forget in this pursuit the purpose of law and hence of scientific law, and to judge rules and doctrines by their conformity to a supposed science and not by the results to which they lead. In periods of growth and expansion, this tendency is repressed. In periods of maturity and stability, when the opportunity for constructive work is largely eliminated, it becomes very marked.

I have known judges, [said Chief Justice Erle] bred in the world of legal studies, who delighted in nothing so much as in a strong decision. Now a strong decision is a decision opposed to common-sense and to common convenience. . . . A great part of the law made by judges consists of strong decisions, and as one strong decision is a precedent for another a little stronger, the law at last, on some matters, becomes such a nuisance that equity intervenes, or an Act of Parliament must be passed to sweep the whole away.

The instance suggested in the conversation from which the foregoing extract is taken illustrates very well the development of a mechanical legal doctrine. Successive decisions upon the construction of wills had passed upon the meaning of particular words and phrases in particular wills. These decisions were used as guides in the construction of other wills. Presently rules grew up whereby it was settled that particular words and phrases had prescribed hard and fast meanings, and the construction of wills became so artificial, so scientific, that it defeated the very end of construction and compelled a series of sections in the Wills Act of 1836.

I have referred to mechanical jurisprudence as scientific because those who administer it believe it such. But in truth it is not science at all. We no longer hold anything scientific merely because it exhibits a rigid scheme of deductions from a priori conceptions. In the philosophy of today, theories are "instruments, not answers to enigmas, in which we can rest." The idea of science as a system of deductions has become obsolete, and the revolution which has taken place in other sciences in this regard must take place and is taking place in jurisprudence also. This revolution in science at large was achieved in the middle of the nineteenth century. In the first half of that century, scientific method in every department of learning was dominated by the classical German philosophy. Men conceived that by dialectics and deduction from controlling conceptions they could construe the whole content of knowledge. Even in the natural sciences this belief prevailed and had long dictated theories of nature and of natural phenomena.

Linnaeus, for instance, lays down a proposition, omne vivum ex ovo, and from this fundamental conception deduces a theory of homologies between animal and vegetable organs. He deemed no study of the organisms and the organs themselves necessary to reach or to sustain these conclusions. Yet, today, study of the organisms themselves has overthrown his fundamental proposition. The substitution of efficient for final causes as explanations of natural phenomena has been paralleled by a revolution in political thought. We do not base institutions upon deduction from assumed principles of human nature; we require them to exhibit practical utility, and we rest them upon a foundation of policy and established adaptation to human needs. It has been asserted that to no small extent the old mode of procedure was borrowed from the law. We are told that it involved a "fundamentally juristic conception of the world in which all kinds of action and every sort of judgment was expressed in legal phraseology." We are told that "in the Middle Ages human welfare and even religion was conceived under the form of legality, and in the modern world this has given place to utility." We have, then, the same task in jurisprudence that has been achieved in philosophy, in the natural sciences and in politics. We have to rid ourselves of this sort of legality and to attain a pragmatic, a sociological legal science.

What is needed nowadays, [it has been said] is that as against an abstract and unreal theory of State omnipotence on the one hand, and an atomistic and artificial view of individual independence on the other, the facts of the world with its innumerable bonds of association and the naturalness of social authority should be generally recognized, and become the basis of our laws, as it is of our life.

Herein is the task of the sociological jurist. Professor Small defines the sociological movement as "a frank endeavor to secure for the human factor in experience the central place which belongs to it in our whole scheme of thought and action." The sociological movement in jurisprudence is a movement for pragmatism as a philosophy of law; for the adjustment of principles and doctrines to the human conditions they are to govern rather than to assumed first principles; for putting the human factor in the central place and relegating logic to its true position as an instrument.

Jurisprudence is last in the march of the sciences away from the method of deduction from

LEGAL SCHOLARSHIP

MECHANICAL JURISPRUDENCE

LEGAL SCHOLARSHIPMECHANICAL
JURISPRUDENCE

predetermined conceptions. On the continent of Europe, both the historical school of jurists and the philosophical school, which were dominant until at least the last quarter of the nineteenth century, proceeded in this way. The difference between them lay in the manner in which they arrived at their fundamental conceptions. The former derived them from the history of juristic speculation and the historical development of the Roman sources. The latter, through metaphysical inquiries, arrived at certain propositions as to human nature, and deduced a system from them. This was the philosophical theory behind the eighteenth-century movement for codification. Ihering was the pioneer in the work of superseding this jurisprudence of conceptions (Begriffsjurisprudenz) by a jurisprudence of results (Wirklichkeitsjurisprudenz). He insisted that we should begin at the other end; that the first question should be, how will a rule or a decision operate in practice? For instance, if a rule of commercial law were in question, the search should be for the rule that best accords with and gives effect to sound business practice. In the Civil Law, the doctrine as to mistake in the formation of a contract affords an example of the working of the two methods. Savigny treated the subject according to the jurisprudence of conceptions. He worked out historically and analytically the conception of a contract and deduced therefrom the rules to govern cases of mistake. It followed, from his conception, that if A telegraphed B to buy shares and the telegram as delivered to B read sell, there was no contract between A and B, and hence no liability of A to B; and for a time it was so held. But this and some of the other resulting rules were so far from just in their practical operation that, following the lead of Ihering, they have been abandoned and the ordinary understanding of businessmen has been given effect. And, in this same connection, the new German code has introduced, as a criterion of error in the content of an expression of the will, the question, what would be regarded as essential in the ordinary understanding of business. Even better examples of the workings of a jurisprudence of conceptions, for our purposes, may be found in the manner in which common-law courts have dealt with points of mercantile law. For instance, the law of partnership is made difficult and often unjust by the insistence of the courts upon deducing its rules from a conception of joint ownership and joint obligation, instead of ascertaining and giving effect to the actual situation as understood and practiced by merchants. The legal theory does not affect the actual course of business an iota. But it leads to unfortunate results when that course of business, for some reason, comes before the courts. Again, the refusal of Lord Holt to recognize the negotiability of promissory notes proceeded upon a deduction from the conception of a chose in action. A jurisprudence of ends would have avoided each of these errors.

In periods of legal development through juristic speculation and judicial decision, we have a jurisprudence of ends in fact, even if in form it is a jurisprudence of conceptions. The Roman jus gentium was worked out for concrete causes and the conceptions were later generalizations from its results. The jus naturale was a system of reaching reasonable ends by bringing philosophical theory into the scale against the hard and fast rules of antiquity. The development of equity in England was attained by a method of seeking results in concrete causes. The liberalizing of English law through the law merchant was brought about by substituting business practice for juridical conceptions. The development of the common law in America was a period of growth because the doctrine that the common law was received only so far as applicable led the courts, in adapting English case-law to American conditions, to study the conditions of application as well as the conceptions and their logical consequences. Whenever such a period has come to an end, when its work has been done and its legal theories have come to maturity, the jurisprudence of conceptions tends to decay. Conceptions are fixed. The premises are no longer to be examined. Everything is reduced to simple deduction from them. Principles cease to have importance. The law becomes a body of rules. This is the condition against which sociologists now protest, and protest rightly.

A period of legislative activity supervenes to supply, first new rules, then new premises, and finally a systematic body of principles as a fresh start for juristic development. But such periods hitherto have not been periods of growth. Usually legislative activity has not gone beyond the introduction of new rules or of new premises, and the chief result has been a summing up of the juristic accomplishment of the past in improved form. The further step, which is beginning to be taken in our present era of legal development through legislation, is in reality an awakening of juristic activity, as jurists perceive that they may effect results through the legislator as well as through the judge or the doctrinal writer. This step has yet to be taken outside of Germany. And in the first and second stages of a period of legislation the mechanical character of legal science is aggravated by the imperative theory, which is a concomitant of legislative activity. Austin's proposition that law is command so complete that even the unwritten law must be given this character, since whatever the sovereign permits he commands, was simply rediscovered during the legislative ferment of the reform movement in English law. In the flowering-time of Papal legislation the canon law had already asserted it. Moreover, a period of legislation and codification has brought German jurists to a like conclusion. At such times, when law is felt to be positive, to be the command of the law-maker, a tendency to enact rules as such becomes manifest. Roman law, in its period of legislation, can furnish more than one example of the sort of law-making of which we complain to-day.

Before the analytical school, which revived the imperative theory to meet the facts of an age of legislation, had become established, historical jurists led a revolt. But their jurisprudence is a jurisprudence of conceptions. Moreover, they have had little effect upon the actual course of Anglo-American law. The philosophical jurists have protested also and have appealed from purely legal considerations to considerations of reason and of natural law. But theirs, too, is a jurisprudence of conceptions, and their method, of itself, offers no relief. Their service has been in connection with the general sociological movement, in giving natural law a new and a modern aspect, and in promoting a general agreement among jurists on a sociological basis. In Europe, it is obvious that the different schools are coming together in a new sociological school that is to dominate juristic thought. Instead of seeking for an ideal universal law by metaphysical methods, the idea of all schools is to turn "the community of fact of mankind into a community of law in accord with the reasonable ordering of active life." Hence they hold that "the less arbitrary the character of a rule and the more clearly it conforms to the nature of things, the more nearly does it approach to the norm of a perfect law." The utilitarian theory of Bentham was a theory of legislation. The sociological theory of the present is a theory of legal science. Probably the chief merit of the new German code lies in its conformity in so large a degree to this theory. It lays down principles from which to deduce, not rules, but decisions; and decisions will indicate a rule only so long as the conditions to which they are applied cause them to express the principle. This, and not lax methods of equitable application, into which American courts are falling so generally, is the true way to make rules fit cases instead of making cases fit rules.

An efficient cause of the failure of much American legislation is that it is founded on an assumption that it is enough for the State to command. Legislation has not been the product of preliminary study of the conditions to which it was to apply. It has not expressed social standards accurately. It has not responded accurately to social needs. Hence a large proportion has been nugatory in practice. But the difficulty is not, as some have assumed, that matters of private law are not within the legitimate scope of legislation. It is rather that legislation has approached them upon a false theory. Judicial law-making also has acted upon an erroneous theory; and its results are often quite as much disregarded in practice as are statutes. Judicial law-making, however, cannot escape, except within very narrow limits, until it is given a new starting point from without. Legislative law-making, on the contrary, may do so and is beginning to do so.

That our case law at its maturity has acquired the sterility of a fully developed system, may be shown by abundant examples of its failure to respond to vital needs of present-day life. Its inadequacy to deal with employers' liability; the failure of the theory of "general jurisprudence" of the Supreme Court of the United States to give us a uniform commercial law; the failure of American courts, with centuries of discussion before them, to work out a reasonable or certain law of future interests in land; the breakdown of the common law in the matter of discrimination by public service companies because of inability to make procedure enforce its doctrines and rules; its breakdown in the attempt to adjust water rights in our newer states, where there was opportunity for free development; its inability to hold promoters to their duty and to protect the interests of those who invest in corporate enterprises against mismanagement and breach of trust; its failure to

LEGAL SCHOLARSHIP

MECHANICAL JURISPRUDENCE

LEGAL SCHOLARSHIPMECHANICAL
JURISPRUDENCE

work out a scheme of responsibility that will hold legal entities, or those who hide behind their skirts, to their duty to the public—all these failures, and many more might be adduced, speak for themselves. But compare these failures with the great achievements of the youth of our case-law, with Lord Mansfield's development of a law of quasi-contracts from the fictions of the common counts, with Lord Mansfield's development of mercantile law by judicial decision, with Kent's working out of equity for America from a handful of English decisions, with Marshall's work in giving us a living constitution by judicial interpretation. Now and then, at present, we see vigorous life in remote corners of our case law, as, for instance, in the newer decisions as to surface and underground waters. But judicial revolt from mechanical methods to-day is more likely to take the form of "officious kindness" and flabby equitable application of law. Our judge-made law is losing its vitality, and it is a normal phenomenon that it should do so.

I have suggested some examples of the failure of our case law to rise to social and legal emergencies. Let me point to some phases of its active operation which lead to the same conclusion.

The manner in which the Fourteenth Amendment is applied affords a striking instance of the workings today of a jurisprudence of conceptions. Starting with the conception that it was intended to incorporate Spencer's Social Statics in the fundamental law of the United States, rules have been deduced that obstruct the way of social progress. The conception of liberty of contract, in particular, has given rise to rules and decisions which, tested by their practical operation, defeat liberty. As Mr. Olney says of the Adair Case, "it is archaic, it is a long step into the past, to conceive of and deal with the relations between the employer in such industries and the employee, as if the parties were individuals." The conception of freedom of contract is made the basis of a logical deduction. The court does not inquire what the effect of such a deduction will be, when applied to the actual situation. It does not observe that the result will be to produce a condition precisely the reverse of that which the conception originally contemplated. Again, the Commerce Clause of the Federal Constitution has been taken by one judge, at least, to be a constitutional enactment of a conception of free trade among the states. Deductions from this and like conceptions, assumed to express the meaning and the sole meaning of the clause, have given us rules which, when applied to the existing commercial and industrial situation, are wholly inadequate.

Procedure, with respect to which every thoughtful lawyer must feel that we are inexcusably behind the rest of the English-speaking world, suffers especially from mechanical jurisprudence. The conception of a theory of the case, developed by the common-law forms of action, has, in nearly half of our code jurisdictions, nullified the legislative intent and made the practice more rigid than at common law. But this conception is regarded by many as fundamental. In deductions from this conception they lose sight of the end of procedure, they make scientific procedure an end of itself, and thus, in the result, make adjective law an agency for defeating or delaying substantive law and justice instead of one for enforcing and speeding them. Aristotle discusses a project of a Greek reformer for enabling tribunals to render what he called a divided judgment. At that time, the judgment had to be absolute one way or the other. If a plaintiff claimed twenty minæ: when but eighteen were proved to be due him, there was no course but to find for the defendant. The proposal to correct this and to allow a finding for the eighteen minæ: due did not meet with Aristotle's approval. He said:

A juror who votes acquittal decides, not that the defendant owes nothing, but that he does not owe the twenty minæ: claimed.

We smile now at Aristotle's hard and fast deduction, in the face of a manifestly absurd result, from his conception of the trial of an issue. But at least half our jurisdictions do the same thing essentially in this matter of the theory of a plaintiff's case. That his pleadings and proofs disclose a case and a good case is not enough. The courts say they are not foreclosing that case; they are merely deciding upon the theory he has chosen to advance.

Again, in the practice as to parties, the common-law conception that there must be a joint interest or a joint liability, because there must be one controversy and joint parties are as one party, has seriously interfered with the liberal plan of the framers of the original Code of Civil Procedure. I can only cite some of the cases. But let me compare with our American cases a recent English decision. In that case two plaintiffs sued for an injunction against infringement of copyright and for an accounting of profits. Only one was owner of the copyright; the other was a mere licensee. But which one was owner was not clear. The court did not deem it necessary to take up this question and determine whether one only was owner and if so which, although a money recovery was to be had. So long as the plaintiffs were agreed among themselves and the defendant had wronged and owed money to one or the other of them, it affirmed a decree for an injunction and accounting. Although in strictness it might be that only one was entitled to judgment and so it would be necessary to determine which one, the court wasted no time on that question so long as nothing turned on it. Here the court was conscious that procedure was a mere means. It strove to vindicate the substantive law. It was not set upon adhering with scrupulous exactness to logical deductions from a conception of adjective law at the expense of the merits the latter exists to give effect to.

Trial procedure is full of mechanical jurisprudence born of deduction from conceptions. The decisions as to the effect of a view of the locus by a jury, in which judgments are reversed unless jurors are told, in the face of common-sense, not to use what they see as evidence, in order to vindicate a conception of the duty of a court of review; the wilderness of decisions as to the province of court and jury, in which, carrying a conception of distinction between law and fact to extreme logical results, the courts at one moment assume that jurors are perfect and will absolutely follow an abstract instruction to its logical consequences, in the face of common-sense and the evidence, and at the next assume that they are fools and will be misled by anything not relevant that drops from the court; and the practice of instructions, one way or the other, when doubtful points of law arise, a general verdict, and a new trial, if the court of review takes another view of the point, when the verdict could have been taken quite as well subject to the point of law reserved, and a new trial obviated, illustrate forcibly the extent to which procedural conceptions, pursued for their own sake, may defeat the end of procedure and defeat the substance of the law. For delay of justice is denial of justice. Every time a party goes out of court on a mere point of practice, substantive law suffers an injury. The life of the law is in its enforcement.

Evidence also has been a prolific field for the unchecked jurisprudence of conceptions. But one example must suffice. The decisions by which in a majority of jurisdictions jurors are not permitted to learn directly the views of standard texts upon scientific and technical subjects, but must pass upon the conflicting opinions of experts without the aid of the impartial sources of information to which any common-sense man would resort in practice, carry out a conception of the competency of evidence at the expense of the end of evidence. In one case, the question was whether death had taken place from strangulation. The trial was held in a rural community, and the medical experts accessible had had no actual experience of cases of strangulation of the sort involved. But standard medical works did relate cases precisely in point, and, after proof that they were standard authorities, a physician was allowed to testify with respect to the symptoms disclosed in the light of the recorded experience of mankind. For this, the judgment was reversed. To vindicate a juridical conception, the court shut out the best possible means of information, in the circumstances of the case in hand, and allowed an accused person to escape because of the inevitable limits of experience of a rural physician.

How far the mechanical jurisprudence, of which the example just given is an extreme case, forgets the end in the means, is made manifest by the stock objection to attempts at introducing a common-sense and business-like procedure. We are told that formal and technical procedure "makes better lawyers." One might ask whether the making of good lawyers is the end of law. But what is a good lawyer? Let Ulpian answer:

lus est ars boni et æqui. Cuius merito quis nos sacerdotes appellet; iustitiam namque colimus et boni et æqui, notitiam profiteamur, æquum ab iniquo separantes, licitum ab illicito discernentes, bonos non solum metu pœnarum, verum etiam præmiorum quoque exhortatione efficere cupientes veram, nisi fallor, philosophiam, non simulatam affectantes.

The nadir of mechanical jurisprudence is reached when conceptions are used, not as premises from which to reason, but as ultimate solutions. So used, they cease to be conceptions and become empty words. James has called attention to a like vice in philosophical thought:

Metaphysics has usually followed a very primitive kind of quest. You know how men have always hankered after unlawful magic,

LEGAL SCHOLARSHIP

MECHANICAL JURISPRUDENCE

LEGAL SCHOLARSHIPMECHANICAL
JURISPRUDENCE

and you know what a great part in magic words have always played. If you have his name, or the formula of incantation that binds him, you can control the spirit, genie, afrite, or whatever the power may be. . . . So the universe has always appeared to the natural mind as a kind of enigma of which the key must be sought in the shape of some illuminating or power-bringing word or name. That word names the universe's principle, and to possess it is after a fashion to possess the universe itself. "God," "Matter," "Reason," "the Absolute," "Energy," are so many solving names. You can rest when you have them. You are at the end of your metaphysical quest.

Current decisions and discussions are full of such solving words: estoppel, malice, privity, implied, intention of the testator, vested and contingent—when we arrive at these we are assumed to be at the end of our juristic search. Like Habib in the Arabian Nights, we wave aloft our scimitar and pronounce the talismanic word.

With legislative law-making in the grip of the imperative theory and its arbitrary results, and judicial decision in the grip of a jurisprudence of conceptions and its equally arbitrary results, whither are we to turn? Judicial law-making cannot serve us. As things are, the cure would be worse than the disease. No court could hold such hearings as those had by legislative committees upon measures for the protection of operatives, described by Mrs. Kelley, or that recently had before the Interstate Commerce Commission as to uniform bills of lading. We must soon have a new starting-point that only legislation can afford. That we may put the sociological, the pragmatic theory behind legislation, is demonstrated every day. Legislative reference bureaus, the Comparative Law Bureau, the Conferences of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws, such hearings as the one before the Interstate Commerce Commission already referred to, hearings before legislative committees, such conferences as the one held recently with respect to the Sherman Anti-trust Law, bar-association discussions of reforms in procedures—all these are furnishing abundant material for legislation of the best type. No such resources are open to the courts. Hence common-law lawyers will some day abandon their traditional attitude toward legislation; will welcome legislation and will make it what it should be. The part played by jurists in the best days of Roman legislation, and the part they have taken in modern Continental legislation, should convince us, if need be, that juristic principles may be recognized and juristic speculation may be put into effect quite as well by legislation as by judicial decision.

Herein is a noble task for the legal scholars of America. To test the conceptions worked out in the common law by the requirements of the new juristic theory, to lay sure foundations for the ultimate legislative restatement of the law, from which judicial decision shall start afresh—this is as great an opportunity as has fallen to the jurists of any age. The end of a period of development by judicial decision is marked by the prevalence of two types of judges; those who think it a great display of learning and of judicial independence to render what Chief Justice Erle called "strong decisions," and those who fix their gaze upon the raw equities of a cause and forage in the books for cases to sustain the desired result. But the task of a judge is to make a principle living, not by deducing from it rules, to be, like the Freshman's hero, "immortal for a great many years," but by achieving thoroughly the less ambitious but more useful labor of giving a fresh illustration of the intelligent application of the principle to a concrete cause, producing a workable and a just result. The real genius of our common law is in this, not in an eternal case-law. Let the principles be formulated by whom or derived from whence you will. The Common Law will look to courts to develop and expound them, the Civil Law to doctrinal treatises. It is only a lip service to our common law that would condemn it to a perpetuity of mechanical jurisprudence through distrust of legislation.

LEGAL SCHOLARSHIP

THE CAUSES OF POPULAR DISSATISFACTION WITH THE ADMINISTRATION OF JUSTICE

Roscoe Pound, 1906

ROScoe POUND presented “The Causes of Popular Dissatisfaction with the Administration of Justice” at the annual convention of the American Bar Association in 1906. The lecture was a call to improve court administration and a preview of his theory of law. It has remained a classic statement on the need for efficient and equitable judicial administration.

Pound acknowledged that some people have always been dissatisfied with the law, but he contended that the courts did indeed need to be administered more effectively. He also noted that the adversary system often turned litigation into a game, irritating parties, jurors, and witnesses and giving the public the “false notion of the purpose and end of law.” In addition, he attacked the overlapping jurisdiction of courts and argued that each state had too many courts.

In 1909 Pound organized the First National Conference on Criminal Law and Criminology, which gathered participants from many professions to discuss ways to reform the criminal law. The conference was one of the first of Pound’s efforts to give practical application to sociological jurisprudence. Later, in 1929 President HERBERT HOOVER appointed Pound to the Wickersham Commission, the popular name for the National Commission on Law Observance and Enforcement. This commission conducted the first comprehensive national study of crime and law enforcement in U.S. history. The findings of the commission, which were published in fourteen volumes in 1931 and 1932, covered every aspect of the criminal justice system, including the causes of crime, police and prosecutorial procedures, and the importance of probation and parole.

Pound’s lecture is a treasure trove of ideas concerning the management of courts. The area of court administration has grown since the 1960s, and court administrators now play an active role in monitoring and managing case-loads. Many states have also heeded Pound’s advice and unified their trial courts, thereby eliminating several layers of courts.

The Causes of Popular Dissatisfaction with the Administration of Justice

Dissatisfaction with the administration of justice is as old as law. Not to go outside of our own legal system, discontent has an ancient and unbroken pedigree. The Anglo-Saxon laws continually direct that justice is to be done equally to rich and to poor and the king exhorts that the peace be kept better than has been wont, and that “men of every order readily submit ... each to that law which is appropriate to him.” The author of the apocryphal Mirror of Justices gives a list of one hundred and fifty-five abuses in legal administration, and names it as one of the chief abuses of the degenerate times in which he lived that executions of judges for corrupt or illegal decisions had ceased. Wyclif complains Source: Reprinted from 29 A.B.A. Rep., pt. I, 395–417, 1906.

LEGAL SCHOLARSHIPTHE CAUSES OF POPULAR
DISSATISFACTION
WITH THE
ADMINISTRATION
OF JUSTICE

that "lawyers make process by subtlety and cavilations of law civil, that is much heathen men's law, and do not accept the form of the gospel, as if the gospel were not so good as pagan's law." Starkey, in the reign of Henry VIII, says: "Everyone that can color reason maketh a stop to the best law that is beforetime devised." James I reminded his judges that "the law was founded upon reason, and that he and others had reason as well as the judges." In the eighteenth century, it was complained that the bench was occupied by "legal monks, utterly ignorant of human nature and of the affairs of men." In the nineteenth century the vehement criticism of the period of the reform movement needs only to be mentioned. In other words, as long as there have been laws and lawyers, conscientious and well-meaning men have believed that laws were mere arbitrary technicalities, and that the attempt to regulate the relations of mankind in accordance with them resulted largely in injustice. But we must not be deceived by this innocuous and inevitable discontent with all law into overlooking or underrating the real and serious dissatisfaction with courts and lack of respect for law which exists in the United States today.

In spite of the violent opposition which the doctrine of judicial power over unconstitutional legislation at first encountered, the tendency to give the fullest scope to the common law doctrine of supremacy of law and to tie down administration by common law liabilities and judicial review, was, until recently, very marked. Today, the contrary tendency is no less marked. Courts are distrusted, and executive boards and commissions with summary and plenary powers, freed, so far as constitutions will permit, from judicial review, have become the fashion. It will be assumed, then, that there is more than the normal amount of dissatisfaction with the present-day administration of justice in America. Assuming this, the first step must be diagnosis, and diagnosis will be the sole purpose of this paper. It will attempt only to discover and to point out the causes of current popular dissatisfaction. The inquiry will be limited, moreover, to civil justice. For while the criminal law attracts more notice, and punishment seems to have greater interest for the lay mind than the civil remedies of prevention and compensation, the true interest of the modern community is in the civil administration of justice. Revenge and its modern outgrowth, punishment, belong to the past of legal history. The rules which define these invisible boundaries, within which each may act without conflict with the activities of his fellows in a busy and crowded world, upon which investor, promoter, buyer, seller, employer, and employee must rely consciously or subconsciously in their every-day transactions, are conditions precedent of modern social and industrial organization.

With the scope of inquiry so limited, the causes of dissatisfaction with the administration of justice may be grouped under four main heads: (1) Causes for dissatisfaction with any legal system, (2) causes lying in the peculiarities of our Anglo-American legal system, (3) causes lying in our American judicial organization and procedure, and (4) causes lying in the environment of our judicial administration.

It needs but a superficial acquaintance with literature to show that all legal systems among all peoples have given rise to the same complaints. Even the wonderful mechanism of modern German judicial administration is said to be distrusted by the people on the time-worn ground that there is one law for the rich and another for the poor. It is obvious, therefore, that there must be some cause or causes inherent in all law and in all legal systems in order to produce this universal and invariable effect. These causes of dissatisfaction with any system of law I believe to be the following: (1) The necessarily mechanical operation of rules, and hence of laws; (2) the inevitable difference in rate of progress between law and public opinion; (3) the general popular assumption that the administration of justice is an easy task, to which anyone is competent; and (4) popular impatience of restraint.

The most important and most constant cause of dissatisfaction with all law at all times is to be found in the necessarily mechanical operation of legal rules. This is one of the penalties of uniformity. Legal history shows an oscillation between wide judicial discretion on the one hand and strict confinement of the magistrate by minute and detailed rules upon the other hand. From time to time more or less reversion to justice without law becomes necessary in order to bring the public administration of justice into touch with changed moral, social, or political conditions. But such periods of reversion result only in new rules or changed rules. In time the modes of exercising discretion become fixed, the course of judicial action becomes stable and uniform, and the new element, whether custom or equity or natural law, becomes as rigid and mechanical as the old. This mechanical action of the law may be minimized, but it cannot be obviated. Laws are general rules; and the process of making them general involves elimination of the immaterial elements of particular controversies. If all controversies were alike or if the degree in which actual controversies approximate to the recognized types could be calculated with precision, this would not matter. The difficulty is that in practice they approximate to these types in infinite gradations. When we eliminate immaterial factors to reach a general rule, we can never entirely avoid eliminating factors which will be more or less material in some particular controversy. If to meet this inherent difficulty in administering justice according to law we introduce a judicial dispensing power, the result is uncertainty and an intolerable scope for the personal equation of the magistrate. If we turn to the other extreme and pile up exceptions and qualifications and provisos, the legal system becomes cumbrous and unworkable. Hence the law has always ended in a compromise, in a middle course between wide discretion and over-minute legislation. In reaching this middle ground, some sacrifice of flexibility of application to particular cases is inevitable. In consequence, the adjustment of the relations of man and man according to these rules will of necessity appear more or less arbitrary and more or less in conflict with the ethical notions of individuals.

In periods of absolute or generally received moral systems, the contrast between legal results and strict ethical requirements will appeal only to individuals. In periods of free individual thought in morals and ethics, and especially in an age of social and industrial transition, this contrast is greatly intensified and appeals to large classes of society. Justice, which is the end of law, is the ideal compromise between the activities of all in a crowded world. The law seeks to harmonize these activities and to adjust the relations of every man with his fellows so as to accord with the moral sense of the community. When the community is at one in its ideas of justice, this is possible. When the community is divided and diversified, and groups and classes and interests, understanding each other none too well, have conflicting ideas of justice, the task is extremely difficult. It is impossible that legal and ethical ideas should be in entire accord in such a society. The individual looks at cases one by one and measures them by his individual sense of right and wrong. The lawyer must look at cases in gross and must measure them largely by an artificial standard. He must apply the ethics of the community, not his own. If discretion is given him, his view will be that of the class from which he comes. If his hands are tied by law, he must apply the ethics of the past as formulated in common law and legislation. In either event, judicial and individual ethical standards will diverge. And this divergence between the ethical and the legal, as each individual sees it, makes him say with Luther, "Good jurist, bad Christian."

A closely related cause of dissatisfaction with the administration of justice according to law is to be found in the inevitable difference in rate of progress between law and public opinion. In order to preclude corruption, to exclude the personal prejudices of magistrates, and to minimize individual incompetency, law formulates the moral sentiments of the community in rules to which the judgments of tribunals must conform. These rules, being formulations of public opinion, cannot exist until public opinion has become fixed and settled, and cannot change until a change of public opinion has become complete. It follows that this difficulty in the judicial administration of justice, like the preceding, may be minimized, but not obviated. In a rude age the Teutonic moots in which every free man took a hand might be possible. But these tribunals broke under pressure of business and became ordinary courts with permanent judges. The Athenians conceived that the people themselves should decide each case. But the Athenian dikastery, in which controversies were submitted to blocks of several hundred citizens by way of reaching the will of the democracy, proved to register its caprice for the moment rather than its permanent will. Modern experience with juries, especially in commercial causes, does not warrant us in hoping much from any form of judicial referendum. Public opinion must affect the administration of justice through the rules by which justice is administered rather than through the direct administration. All interference with the uniform and automatic application of these rules, when actual controversies arise, introduces an anti-legal element which becomes intolerable. But, as public opinion affects tribunals through the rules by which they decide and these rules once made, stand till abro-

LEGAL SCHOLARSHIP

THE CAUSES OF POPULAR DISSATISFACTION WITH THE ADMINISTRATION OF JUSTICE

LEGAL SCHOLARSHIPTHE CAUSES OF
POPULAR
DISSATISFACTION
WITH THE
ADMINISTRATION
OF JUSTICE

gated or altered, any system of law will be made up of successive strata of rules and doctrines representing successive and often widely divergent periods of public opinion. In this sense, law is often in very truth a government of the living by the dead. The unconscious changes of judicial law making and the direct alterations of legislation and codification operate to make this government by the dead reasonably tolerable. But here again we must pay a price for certainty and uniformity. The law does not respond quickly to new conditions. It does not change until ill effects are felt; often not until they are felt acutely. The moral or intellectual or economic change must come first. While it is coming, and until it is so complete as to affect the law and formulate itself therein, friction must ensue. In an age of rapid moral, intellectual, and economic changes, often crossing one another and producing numerous minor resultants, this friction cannot fail to be in excess.

A third perennial source of popular dissatisfaction with the administration of justice according to law may be found in the popular assumption that the administration of justice is an easy task to which anyone is competent. Laws may be compared to the formulas of engineers. They sum up the experience of many courts with many cases and enable the magistrate to apply that experience subconsciously. So, the formula enables the engineer to make use of the accumulated experience of past builders, even though he could not work out a step in its evolution by himself. A layman is no more competent to construct or to apply the one formula than the other. Each requires special knowledge and special preparation. Nonetheless, the notion that anyone is competent to adjudicate the intricate controversies of a modern community contributes to the unsatisfactory administration of justice in many parts of the United States. The older states have generally outgrown it. But it is felt in extravagant powers of juries, lay judges of probate and legislative or judicial law making against stare decisis, in most of the commonwealths of the South and West. The public seldom realizes how much it is interested in maintaining the highest scientific standard in the administration of justice. There is no more certain protection against corruption, prejudice, class feeling, or incompetence. Publicity will avail something. But the daily criticism of trained minds, the knowledge that nothing which does not conform to the principles and received doctrines of scientific jurisprudence will escape notice, does more than any other agency for the every-day purity and efficiency of courts of justice.

Another necessary source of dissatisfaction with judicial administration of justice is to be found in popular impatience of restraint. Law involves restraint and regulation, with the sheriff and his posse in the background to enforce it. But, however necessary and salutary this restraint, men have never been reconciled to it entirely. The very fact that it is a compromise between the individual and his fellows makes the individual, who must abate some part of his activities in the interest of his fellows, more or less restive. In an age of absolute theories, monarchical or democratic, this restiveness is acute. A conspicuous example is to be seen in the contest between the king and the common law courts in the seventeenth century. An equally conspicuous example is to be seen in the attitude of the frontiersman toward state-imposed justice. "The unthinking sons of the sage brush," says Owen Wister, "ill tolerate anything which stands for discipline, good order and obedience; and the man who lets another command him they despise. I can think of no threat more evil for our democracy, for it is a fine thing diseased and perverted, namely, the spirit of independence gone drunk." This is an extreme case. But in a lesser degree the feeling that each individual, as an organ of the sovereign democracy, is above the law he helps to make, fosters everywhere a disrespect for legal methods and institutions and a spirit of resistance to them. It is "the reason of this our artificial man the commonwealth," says Hobbes, "and his command that maketh law." This man, however, is abstract. The concrete man in the street or the concrete mob is much more obvious; and it is no wonder that individuals and even classes of individuals fail to draw the distinction.

A considerable portion of current dissatisfaction with the administration of justice must be attributed to the universal causes just considered. Conceding this, we have next to recognize that there are potent causes in operation of a character entirely different.

Under the second main head, causes lying in our peculiar legal system, I should enumerate five: (1) The individualist spirit of our common law, which agrees ill with a collectivist age; (2) the common law doctrine of contentious proce-ture, which turns litigation into a game; (3) political jealousy, due to the strain put upon our legal system by the doctrine of supremacy of law; (4) the lack of general ideas or legal philosophy, so characteristic of Anglo-American law, which gives us petty tinkering where comprehensive reform is needed; and (5) defects of form due to the circumstance that the bulk of our legal system is still case law.

The first of these, conflict between the individualist spirit of the common law and the collectivist spirit of the present age, has been treated of on another occasion. What was said then need not be repeated. Suffice it to point out two examples. From the beginning, the main reliance of our common law system has been individual initiative. The main security for the peace at common law is private prosecution of offenders. The chief security for the efficiency and honesty of public officers is mandamus or injunction by a taxpayer to prevent waste of the proceeds of taxation. The reliance for keeping public service companies to their duty in treating all alike at reasonable price is an action to recover damages. Moreover, the individual is supposed at common law to be able to look out for himself and to need no administrative protection. If he is injured through contributory negligence, no theory of comparative negligence comes to his relief; if he hires as an employee, he assumes the risk of the employment; if he buys goods, the rule is caveat emptor. In our modern industrial society, this whole scheme of individual initiative is breaking down. Private prosecution has become obsolete. Mandamus and injunction have failed to prevent rings and bosses from plundering public funds. Private suits against carriers for damages have proved no preventive of discrimination and extortionate rates. The doctrine of assumption of risk becomes brutal under modern conditions of employment. An action for damages is no comfort to us when we are sold diseased beef or poisonous canned goods. At all these points, and they are points of every-day contact with the most vital public interests, common law methods of relief have failed. The courts have not been able to do the work which the common law doctrine of supremacy of law imposed on them. A widespread feeling that the courts are inefficient has been a necessary result. But, along with this, another phase of the individualism of the common law has served to increase public irritation. At the very time the courts have appeared powerless themselves to give relief, they have seemed to obstruct public efforts to get relief by legislation. The chief concern of the common law is to secure and protect individual rights. "The public good," says Blackstone, "is in nothing more essentially interested than in the protection of every individual's private rights." Such, it goes without saying, is not the popular view today. Today we look to society for protection against individuals, natural or artificial, and we resent doctrines that protect these individuals against society for fear society will oppress us. But the common law guaranties of individual rights are established in our constitutions, state and federal. So that, while in England these common law dogmas have had to give way to modern legislation, in America they stand continually between the people, or large classes of the people, and legislation they desire. In consequence, the courts have been put in a false position of doing nothing and obstructing everything, which it is impossible for the layman to interpret aright.

A no less potent source of irritation lies in our American exaggerations of the common law contentious procedure. The sporting theory of justice, the "instinct of giving the game fair play," as Professor Wigmore has put it, is so rooted in the profession in America that most of us take it for a fundamental legal tenet. But it is probably only a survival of the days when a lawsuit was a fight between two clans in which change of venue had been taken to the forum. So far from being a fundamental fact of jurisprudence, it is peculiar to Anglo-American law; and it has been strongly curbed in modern English practice. With us, it is not merely in full acceptance, it has been developed and its collateral possibilities have been cultivated to the furthest extent. Hence in America we take it as a matter of course that a judge should be a mere umpire, to pass upon objections and hold counsel to the rules of the game, and that the parties should fight out their own game in their own way without judicial interference. We resent such interference as unfair, even when in the interests of justice. The idea that procedure must of necessity be wholly contentious disfigures our judicial administration at every point. It leads the most conscientious judge to feel that he is merely to decide the contest, as counsel present it, according to the rules of the game, not to search independently for truth and justice. It leads counsel to forget that they are officers of the court and to deal with the rules of law and procedure exactly

LEGAL SCHOLARSHIP

THE CAUSES OF POPULAR
DISSATISFACTION
WITH THE
ADMINISTRATION OF JUSTICE

LEGAL SCHOLARSHIPTHE CAUSES OF
POPULAR
DISSATISFACTION
WITH THE
ADMINISTRATION
OF JUSTICE

as the professional football coach with the rules of the sport. It leads to exertion to "get error into the record" rather than to dispose of the controversy finally and upon its merits. It turns witnesses, and especially expert witnesses, into partisans pure and simple. It leads to sensational cross-examinations "to affect credit," which have made the witness stand "the slaughter house of reputations." It prevents the trial court from restraining the bullying of witnesses and creates a general dislike, if not fear, of the witness function which impairs the administration of justice. It keeps alive the unfortunate exchequer rule, dead in the country of its origin, according to which errors in the admission or rejection of evidence are presumed to be prejudicial and hence demand a new trial. It grants new trials because by inability to procure a bill of exceptions a party has lost the chance to play another inning in the game of justice. It creates vested rights in errors of procedure, of the benefit whereof parties are not to be deprived. The inquiry is not, What do substantive law and justice require? Instead, the inquiry is: Have the rules of the game been carried out strictly? If any material infraction is discovered, just as the football rules put back the offending team five or ten or fifteen yards, as the case may be, our sporting theory of justice awards new trials, or reverses judgments, or sustains demurrers in the interest of regular play.

The effect of our exaggerated contentious procedure is not only to irritate parties, witnesses and jurors in particular cases, but to give to the whole community a false notion of the purpose and end of law. Hence comes, in large measure, the modern American race to beat the law. If the law is a mere game, neither the players who take part in it nor the public who witness it can be expected to yield to its spirit when their interests are served by evading it. And this is doubly true in a time which requires all institutions to be economically efficient and socially useful. We need not wonder that one part of the community strain their oaths in the jury box and find verdicts against unpopular litigants in the teeth of law and evidence, while another part retain lawyers by the year to advise how to evade what to them are unintelligent and unreasonable restrictions upon necessary modes of doing business. Thus the courts, instituted to administer justice according to law, are made agents or abettors of lawlessness.

Another source of irritation at our American courts is political jealousy due to the strain put upon our legal system by the doctrine of the supremacy of law. By virtue of this doctrine, which has become fundamental in our polity, the law restrains, not individuals alone, but a whole people. The people so restrained would be likely in any event to be jealous of the visible agents of restraint. Even more is this true in that the subjects which our constitutional polity commits to the courts are largely matters of economics, politics, and sociology upon which a democracy is peculiarly sensitive. Not only are these matters made into legal questions, but they are tried as incidents of private litigation. This phase of the common law doctrine was felt as a grievance in the seventeenth century. "I tell you plainly," said Bacon, as attorney general, in arguing a question of prerogative to the judges, "I tell you plainly it is little better than a by-let or crooked creek to try whether the king hath power to erect this office in an assize between Brownlow and Michell." King Demos must feel much the same at seeing the constitutionality of the Missouri Compromise tried in an action of trespass, at seeing the validity of the legal tender laws tried on pleas of payment in private litigation, at seeing the power of the federal government to carry on the Civil War tried judicially in admiralty, at seeing the income tax overthrown in a stockholder's bill to enjoin waste of corporate assets and at seeing the important political questions in the Insular Cases disposed of in forfeiture proceedings against a few trifling imports. Nor is this the only phase of the common law doctrine of supremacy of law which produces political jealousy of the courts. Even more must the layman be struck with the spectacle of law paralyzing administration which our polity so frequently presents. The difficulties with writs of habeas corpus which the federal government encountered during the Civil War and the recent case of the income tax will occur to you at once. In my own state, in a few years we have seen a freight-rate law suspended by decree of a court and have seen the collection of taxes from railroad companies, needed for the everyday conduct of public business, tied up by an injunction. The strain put upon judicial institutions by such litigation is obviously very great.

Lack of general ideas and absence of any philosophy of law, which has been characteristic of our law from the beginning and has been a point of pride at least since the time of Coke, contributes its mite also toward the causes of dissatisfaction with courts. For one thing, it keeps us in the thrall of a fiction. There is a strong aversion to straightforward change of any important legal doctrine. The cry is interpret it. But such interpretation is spurious. It is legislation. And to interpret an obnoxious rule out of existence rather than to meet it fairly and squarely by legislation is a fruitful source of confusion. Yet the Bar are trained to it as an ancient common law doctrine, and it has a great hold upon the public. Hence if the law does not work well, says Bentham, with fine sarcasm, "it is never the law itself that is in the wrong; it is always some wicked interpreter of the law that has corrupted and abused it." Thus another unnecessary strain is imposed upon our judicial system and courts are held for what should be the work of the legislature.

The defects of form inherent in our system of case law have been the subject of discussion and controversy too often to require extended consideration. Suffice it to say that the want of certainty, confusion and incompleteness inherent in all case law, and the waste of labor entailed by the prodigious bulk to which ours has attained, appeal strongly to the layman. The compensating advantages of this system, as seen by the lawyer and by the scientific investigator, are not apparent to him. What he sees is another phase of the great game; a citation match between counsel, with a certainty that diligence can rake up a decision somewhere in support of any conceivable proposition.

Passing to the third head, causes lying in our judicial organization and procedure, we come upon the most efficient causes of dissatisfaction with the present administration of justice in America. For I venture to say that our system of courts is archaic and our procedure behind the times. Uncertainty, delay and expense, and above all the injustice of deciding cases upon points of practice, which are the mere etiquette of justice, direct results of the organization of our courts and the backwardness of our procedure, have created a deep-seated desire to keep out of court, right or wrong, on the part of every sensible business man in the community.

Our system of courts is archaic in three respects: (1) In its multiplicity of courts, (2) in preserving concurrent jurisdictions, (3) in the waste of judicial power which it involves. The judicial organizations of the several states exhibit many differences of detail. But they agree in these three respects. Multiplicity of courts is characteristic of archaic law. In Anglo-Saxon law, one might apply to the Hundred, the Shire, the Witan, or the king in person. Until Edward I broke up private jurisdictions, there were the king's superior courts of law, the itinerant justices, the county courts, the local or communal courts, and the private courts of lordships; besides which one might always apply to the king or to the Great Council for extraordinary relief. When later the royal courts had superseded all others, there were the concurrent jurisdictions of King's Bench, Common Pleas, and Exchequer, all doing the same work, while appellate jurisdiction was divided by King's Bench, Exchequer Chamber, and Parliament. In the Fourth Institute, Coke enumerates seventy-four courts. Of these, seventeen did the work that is now done by three, the County Courts, the Supreme Court of Judicature, and the House of Lords. At the time of the reorganization by the Judicature Act of 1873, five appellate courts and eight courts of first instance were consolidated into the one Supreme Court of Judicature. It was the intention of those who devised the plan of the Judicature Act to extend the principle of unity of jurisdiction by cutting off the appellate jurisdiction of the House of Lords and by incorporating the County Courts in the newly formed Supreme Court as branches thereof. The recommendation as to the County Courts was not adopted, and the appellate jurisdiction of the House of Lords was restored in 1875. In this way the unity and simplicity of the original design were impaired. But the plan, although adopted in part only, deserves the careful study of American lawyers as a model modern judicial organization. Its chief features were (1) to set up a single court, complete in itself, embracing all superior courts and jurisdictions; (2) to include in this one court, as a branch thereof, a single court of final appeal. In the one branch, the court of first instance, all original jurisdiction at law, in equity, in admiralty, in bankruptcy, in probate, and in divorce was to be consolidated; in the other branch, the court of appeal, the whole reviewing jurisdiction was to be established. This idea of unification, although not carried out completely, has proved most effective. Indeed, its advantages are self-evident. Where the appellate tribunal and the court of first instance are branches of one court, all expense of transfer of record, of transcripts, bills of exceptions, writs of error, and citations is

LEGAL SCHOLARSHIP

THE CAUSES OF POPULAR
DISSATISFACTION
WITH THE
ADMINISTRATION OF JUSTICE

LEGAL SCHOLARSHIPTHE CAUSES OF
POPULAR
DISSATISFACTION
WITH THE
ADMINISTRATION
OF JUSTICE

wiped out. The records are the records of the court, of which each tribunal is but a branch. The court and each branch thereof knows its own records, and no duplication and certification is required. Again, all appellate practice, with its attendant pitfalls, and all waste of judicial time in ascertaining how or whether a case has been brought into the court of review is done away with. One may search the recent English reports in vain for a case where an appeal has miscarried on a point of practice. Cases on appellate procedure are wanting. In effect there is no such thing. The whole attention of the court and of counsel is concentrated upon the cause. On the other hand, our American reports bristle with fine points of appellate procedure. More than four per cent of the digest paragraphs of the last ten volumes of the American Digest have to do with Appeal and Error. In ten volumes of the Federal Reporter, namely volumes 129 to 139, covering decisions of the Circuit Courts of Appeals from 1903 till the present, there is an average of ten decisions upon points of appellate practice to the volume. Two cases to the volume, on the average, turn wholly upon appellate procedure. In the ten volumes there are six civil cases turning upon the question whether error or appeal was the proper mode of review, and in two civil cases the question was whether the Circuit Court of Appeals was the proper tribunal. I have referred to these reports because they represent courts in which only causes of importance may be brought. The state reports exhibit the same condition. In ten volumes of the Southwestern Reporter, the decisions of the Supreme Court and Courts of Appeals of Missouri show that nearly twenty per cent involve points of appellate procedure. In volume 87, of fifty-three decisions of the Supreme Court and ninety-seven of the Courts of Appeals, twenty-eight are taken up in whole or in part with the mere technics of obtaining a review. All of this is sheer waste, which a modern judicial organization would obviate.

Even more archaic is our system of concurrent jurisdiction of state and federal courts in causes involving diversity of citizenship; a system by virtue of which causes continually hang in the air between two courts, or, if they do stick in one court or the other, are liable to an ultimate overturning because they stuck in the wrong court. A few statistics on this point may be worth while. In the ten volumes of the Federal Reporter referred to, the decisions of the Circuit Courts of Appeals in civil cases average seventy-six to the volume. Of these, on the average, between four and five in a volume are decided on points of federal jurisdiction. In a little more than one to each volume, judgments of Circuit Courts are reversed on points of jurisdiction. The same volumes contain on the average seventy-three decisions of Circuit Courts in civil cases to each volume. Of these, six, on the average, are upon motions to remand to the state courts, and between eight and nine are upon other points of federal jurisdiction. Moreover, twelve cases in the ten volumes were remanded on the form of the petition for removal. In other words, in nineteen and three-tenths per cent of the reported decisions of the Circuit Courts the question was whether those courts had jurisdiction at all; and in seven per cent of these that question depended on the form of the pleadings. A system that permits this and reverses four judgments a year because the cause was brought in or removed to the wrong tribunal is out of place in a modern business community. All original jurisdiction should be concentrated. It ought to be impossible for a cause to fail because brought in the wrong place. A simple order of transfer from one docket to another in the same court ought to be enough. There should be no need of new papers, no transcripts, no bandying of cases from one court to another on orders of removal and of remand, no beginnings again with new process.

Judicial power may be wasted in three ways: (1) By rigid districts or courts or jurisdictions, so that business may be congested in one court while judges in another are idle; (2) by consuming the time of courts with points of pure practice, when they ought to be investigating substantial controversies; and (3) by nullifying the results of judicial action by unnecessary retrials. American judicial systems are defective in all three respects. The Federal Circuit Courts and Circuit Courts of Appeals are conspicuous exceptions in the first respect, affording a model of flexible judicial organization. But in nearly all of the states, rigid districts and hard and fast lines between courts operate to delay business in one court while judges in another have ample leisure. In the second respect, waste of judicial time upon points of practice, the intricacies of federal jurisdiction, and the survival of the obsolete Chinese Wall between law and equity in procedure make our federal courts no less conspicuous sinners. In the ten volumes of the Federal Reporter examined, of an average of seventy-six decisions of the Circuit Courts of Appeals in each volume, two turn upon the distinction between law and equity in procedure and not quite one judgment to each volume is reversed on this distinction. In an average of seventy-three decisions a volume by the Circuit Courts, more than three in each volume involve this same distinction, and not quite two in each volume turn upon it. But many states that are supposed to have reformed procedure scarcely make a better showing.

Each state has to a great extent its own procedure. But it is not too much to say that all of them are behind the times. We struck one great stroke in 1848 and have rested complacently or contented ourselves with patchwork amendment ever since. The leading ideas of the New York Code of Civil Procedure marked a long step forward. But the work was done too hurriedly and the plan of a rigid code, going into minute detail, was clearly wrong. A modern practice act lays down the general principles of practice and leaves details to rules of court. The New York Code Commission was appointed in 1847 and reported in 1848. If we except the Connecticut Practice Act of 1878, which shows English influence, American reform in procedure has stopped substantially where that commission left it. In England, beginning with 1826 and ending with 1874, five commissions have put forth nine reports upon this subject. As a consequence we have nothing in America to compare with the radical treatment of pleading in the English Judicature Act and the orders based thereon. We still try the record, not the case. We are still reversing judgments for non-joinder and misjoinder. The English practice of joinder of parties against whom relief is claimed in the alternative, rendering judgment against any that the proof shows to be liable and dismissing the rest, makes an American lawyer rub his eyes. We are still reversing judgments for variances. We still reverse them because the recovery is in excess of the prayer, though sustained by the evidence.

But the worst feature of American procedure is the lavish granting of new trials. In the ten volumes of the Federal Reporter referred to, there are, on the average, twenty-five writs of error in civil cases to the volume. New trials are awarded on the average in eight cases a volume, or nearly twenty-nine per cent. In the state courts the proportion of new trials to causes reviewed, as ascertained from investigation of the last five volumes of each series of the National Reporter system, runs over forty per cent. In the last three volumes of the New York Reports (180–182), covering the period from December 6, 1904, to October 24, 1905, forty-five new trials are awarded. Nor is this all. In one case in my own state an action for personal injuries was tried six times, and one for breach of contract was tried three times and was four times in the Supreme Court. When with this we compare the statistics of the English Court of Appeal, which does not grant to exceed twelve new trials a year, or new trials in about three per cent of the cases reviewed, it is evident that our methods of trial and review are out of date.

A comparison of the volume of business disposed of by English and by American courts will illustrate the waste and delay caused by archaic judicial organization and obsolete procedure. In England there are twenty-three judges of the High Court who dispose on the average of fifty-six hundred contested cases, and have before them, in one form or another, some eighty thousand cases each year. In Nebraska there are twenty-eight district judges who have no original probate jurisdiction and no jurisdiction in bankruptcy or admiralty, and they had upon their dockets last year forty-three hundred and twenty cases, of which they disposed of about seventy per cent. England and Wales, with a population in 1900 of 32,000,000, employ for their whole civil litigation ninety-five judges, that is, thirty-seven in the Supreme Court and House of Lords and fifty-eight county judges. Nebraska, with a population in 1900 of 1,066,000, employs for the same purpose one hundred and twenty-nine. But these one hundred and twenty-nine are organized on an antiquated system and their time is frittered away on mere points of legal etiquette.

Finally, under the fourth and last head, causes lying in the environment of our judicial administration, we may distinguish six: (1) Popular lack of interest in justice, which makes jury service a bore and the vindication of right and law secondary to the trouble and expense involved; (2) the strain put upon law in that it has today to do the work of morals also; (3) the effect of transition to a period of legislation; (4) the putting of our courts into politics; (5) the making the legal profession into a trade, which has superseded the relation of attorney and

LEGAL SCHOLARSHIP

THE CAUSES OF POPULAR
DISSATISFACTION
WITH THE
ADMINISTRATION OF JUSTICE

LEGAL SCHOLARSHIPTHE CAUSES OF
POPULAR
DISSATISFACTION
WITH THE
ADMINISTRATION
OF JUSTICE

client by that of employer and employee; and (6) public ignorance of the real workings of courts due to ignorant and sensational reports in the press. Each of these deserves consideration, but a few points only may be noticed. Law is the skeleton of social order. It must be "clothed upon by the flesh and blood of morality." The present is a time of transition in the very foundations of belief and of conduct. Absolute theories of morals and supernatural sanctions have lost their hold. Conscience and individual responsibility are relaxed. In other words, the law is strained to do double duty, and more is expected of it than in a time when morals as a regulating agency are more efficacious. Another strain upon our judicial system results from the crude and unorganized character of American legislation in a period when the growing point of law has shifted to legislation. When, in consequence, laws fail to produce the anticipated effects, judicial administration shares the blame. Worse than this is the effect of laws not intended to be enforced. These parodies, like the common law branding of felons, in which a piece of bacon used to be interposed between the branding iron and the criminal's skin, breed disrespect for law. Putting courts into politics and compelling judges to become politicians, in many jurisdictions has almost destroyed the traditional respect for the Bench. Finally, the ignorant and sensational reports of judicial proceedings, from which alone a great part of the public may judge of the daily work of the courts, completes the impression that the administration of justice is but a game. There are honorable exceptions, but the average press reports distract attention from the real proceeding to petty tilts of counsel, encounters with witnesses and sensational by-incidents. In Nebraska, not many years since, the federal court enjoined the execution of an act to regulate insurance companies. In press accounts of the proceeding, the conspiracy clause of the bill was copied in extenso under the headline "Conspiracy Charged," and it was made to appear that the ground of the injunction was a conspiracy between the state officers and some persons unknown. It cannot be expected that the public shall form any just estimate of our courts of justice from such data.

Reviewing the several causes for dissatisfaction with the administration of justice which have been touched upon, it will have been observed that some inhere in all law and are the penalty we pay for uniformity; that some inhere in our political institutions and are the penalty we pay for local self-government and independence from bureaucratic control; that some inhere in the circumstances of an age of transition and are the penalty we pay for individual freedom of thought and universal education. These will take care of themselves. But too much of the current dissatisfaction has a just origin in our judicial organization and procedure. The causes that lie here must be heeded. Our administration of justice is not decadent. It is simply behind the times. Political judges were known in England down to the last century. Lord Kenyon, as Master of the Rolls, sat in Parliament and took as active a part in political squabbles in the House of Commons as our state judges today in party conventions. Dodson and Fogg and Sergeant Buzzfuzz wrought in an atmosphere of contentious procedure. Bentham tells us that in 1797, out of five hundred and fifty pending writs of error, five hundred and forty-three were shams or vexatious contrivances for delay. Jarndyce and Jarndyce dragged out its weary course in chancery only half a century ago. We are simply stationary in that period of legal history. With law schools that are rivaling the achievements of Bologna and of Bourges to promote scientific study of the law; with active Bar Associations in every state to revive professional feeling and throw off the yoke of commercialism; with the passing of the doctrine that politics, too, is a mere game to be played for its own sake, we may look forward confidently to deliverance from the sporting theory of justice; we may look forward to a near future when our courts will be swift and certain agents of justice, whose decisions will be acquiesced in and respected by all.

LEGAL MISCELLANY

PRESIDENTS AND VICE PRESIDENTS OF THE UNITED STATES

PRESIDENTIAL NOMINATIONS TO THE SUPREME COURT

TIME CHART OF THE SUPREME COURT

SUCCESSION OF SUPREME COURT JUSTICES

U.S. ATTORNEYS GENERAL

CONGRESSIONAL TIMELINE: NINETEENTH CENTURY

CONGRESSIONAL TIMELINE: TWENTIETH AND TWENTY-FIRST CENTURIES

BRITISH REGNAL YEARS

LEGAL MISCELLANY

This section contains a diverse collection of legal, political, and historical information, most of which is organized in tabular form and in chronological order.

The tables provide readers with precise dates of the reigns of British monarchs and the terms of service of U.S. Supreme Court justices, presidents, vice presidents, and attorneys general. Readers may, for example, consult the succession of Supreme Court justices to determine which justices were on the Court when a major case was decided.

Using a chronological sequence, the congressional timeline links pertinent information about the House of Representatives and the Senate (size, political parties, procedural matters) with major court cases, laws, and investigations. Wars, presidential eras, and developments in science, technology, and communications are included as well.

The following tables are included:

- Presidents and Vice Presidents of the United States
- Presidential Nominations to the Supreme Court
- Time Chart of the Supreme Court
- Succession of Supreme Court Justices
- U.S. Attorneys General
- Congressional Timeline: Nineteenth Century
- Congressional Timeline: Twentieth Century
- British Regnal Years

Presidents and Vice Presidents of the United States

President	Service		Vice President	Congress
1 George Washington, F	April 30, 1789	to	March 3, 1797	1 John Adams 1, 2, 3, 4
2 John Adams, F	March 4, 1797		March 3, 1801	2 Thomas Jefferson 5, 6
3 Thomas Jefferson, D-R	March 4, 1801		March 3, 1805	3 Aaron Burr 7, 8
Thomas Jefferson, D-R	March 4, 1805		March 3, 1809	4 George Clinton 9, 10
4 James Madison, D-R	March 4, 1809		March 3, 1813	George Clinton 11, 12
James Madison, D-R	March 4, 1813		March 3, 1817	5 Elbridge Gerry 13, 14
5 James Monroe, D-R	March 4, 1817		March 3, 1825	6 Daniel D. Tompkins 15, 16, 17, 18
6 John Quincy Adams, D-R	March 4, 1825		March 3, 1829	7 John C. Calhoun 19, 20
7 Andrew Jackson, D	March 4, 1829		March 3, 1833	John C. Calhoun 21, 22
Andrew Jackson, D	March 4, 1833		March 3, 1837	8 Martin Van Buren 23, 24
8 Martin Van Buren, D	March 4, 1837		March 3, 1841	9 Richard M. Johnson 25, 26
9 William Henry Harrison ^a , W	March 4, 1841		April 4, 1841	10 John Tyler 27
10 John Tyler, W	April 6, 1841		March 3, 1845	27, 28
11 James K. Polk, D	March 4, 1845		March 3, 1849	11 George M. Dallas 29, 30
12 Zachary Taylor ^a , W	March 5, 1849		July 9, 1850	12 Millard Fillmore 31
13 Millard Fillmore, W	July 10, 1850		March 3, 1853	31, 32
14 Franklin Pierce, D	March 4, 1853		March 3, 1857	13 William R. King 33, 34
15 James Buchanan, D	March 4, 1857		March 3, 1861	14 John C. Breckinridge 35, 36
16 Abraham Lincoln, R	March 4, 1861		March 3, 1865	15 Hannibal Hamlin 37, 38
Abraham Lincoln ^a , R	March 4, 1865		April 15, 1865	16 Andrew Johnson 39
17 Andrew Johnson, R	April 15, 1865		March 3, 1869	39, 40
18 Ulysses S. Grant, R	March 4, 1869		March 3, 1873	17 Schuyler Colfax 41, 42
Ulysses S. Grant, R	March 4, 1873		March 3, 1877	18 Henry Wilson 43, 44
19 Rutherford B. Hayes, R	March 4, 1877		March 3, 1881	19 William A. Wheeler 45, 46
20 James A. Garfield ^a , R	March 4, 1881		September 19, 1881	20 Chester A. Arthur 47
21 Chester A. Arthur, R	September 20, 1881		March 3, 1885	47, 48
22 Grover Cleveland, D	March 4, 1885		March 3, 1889	21 Thomas A. Hendricks 49, 50
23 Benjamin Harrison, R	March 4, 1889		March 3, 1893	22 Levi P. Morton 51, 52
24 Grover Cleveland, D	March 4, 1893		March 3, 1897	23 Adlai E. Stevenson 53, 54
25 William McKinley, R	March 4, 1897		March 3, 1901	24 Garret A. Hobart 55, 56
William McKinley ^a , R	March 4, 1901		September 14, 1901	25 Theodore Roosevelt 57
26 Theodore Roosevelt, R	September 14, 1901		March 3, 1905	57, 58
Theodore Roosevelt, R	March 4, 1905		March 3, 1909	26 Charles W. Fairbanks 59, 60
27 William H. Taft, R	March 4, 1909		March 3, 1913	27 James S. Sherman 61, 62
28 Woodrow Wilson, D	March 4, 1913		March 3, 1921	28 Thomas R. Marshall 63, 64, 65, 66
29 Warren G. Harding ^a , R	March 4, 1921		August 2, 1923	29 Calvin Coolidge 67
30 Calvin Coolidge, R	August 3, 1923		March 3, 1925	68
Calvin Coolidge, R	March 4, 1925		March 3, 1929	30 Charles G. Dawes 69, 70
31 Herbert C. Hoover, R	March 4, 1929		March 3, 1933	31 Charles Curtis 71, 72
32 Franklin D. Roosevelt ^b , D	March 4, 1933		January 20, 1941	32 John N. Garner 73, 74, 75, 76
Franklin D. Roosevelt, D	January 20, 1941		January 20, 1945	33 Henry A. Wallace 77, 78
Franklin D. Roosevelt ^d , D	January 20, 1945		April 12, 1945	34 Harry S. Truman 79
33 Harry S. Truman, D	April 12, 1945		January 20, 1949	79, 80
Harry S. Truman, D	January 20, 1949		January 20, 1953	35 Alben W. Barkley 81, 82
34 Dwight D. Eisenhower, R	January 20, 1953		January 20, 1961	36 Richard M. Nixon 83, 84, 85, 86
35 John F. Kennedy ^a , D	January 20, 1961		November 22, 1963	37 Lyndon B. Johnson 87, 88
36 Lyndon B. Johnson, D	November 22, 1963		January 20, 1965	88
Lyndon B. Johnson, D	January 20, 1965		January 20, 1969	38 Hubert H. Humphrey 89, 90
37 Richard M. Nixon, R	January 20, 1969		January 20, 1973	39 Spiro T. Agnew 91, 92, 93
Richard M. Nixon ^c , R	January 20, 1973		August 9, 1974	40 Gerald R. Ford ^d 93
38 Gerald R. Ford ^e , R	August 9, 1974		January 20, 1977	41 Nelson A. Rockefeller 93, 94
39 Jimmy Carter, D	January 20, 1977		January 20, 1981	42 Walter F. Mondale 95, 96
40 Ronald Reagan, R	January 20, 1981		January 20, 1989	43 George H. W. Bush 97, 98, 99, 100
41 George H. W. Bush, R	January 20, 1989		January 20, 1993	44 Dan Quayle 101, 102
42 Bill Clinton, D	January 20, 1993		January 20, 2001	45 Al Gore 103, 104, 105, 106
43 George W. Bush, R	January 20, 2001			46 Dick Cheney 107, 108

^aDied in office.^bFirst president to be inaugurated under 20th Amendment, Jan. 20, 1937.^cResigned Aug. 9, 1974.^dFirst nonelected vice president, chosen under 25th Amendment procedure.^eFirst nonelected president.

Party affiliation follows each president's name. F = Federalist, D-R = Democratic-Republican, D = Democrat, W = Whig, R = Republican.

SOURCE: The World Almanac 1997, White House web page, and U.S. House of Representatives web page.

Presidential Nominations to the Supreme Court

The following table shows the presidents who nominated the various Supreme Court justices and the states from which the justices were appointed. The names of chief justices are followed by an asterisk.

President	Nominee	Year Nominated
George Washington	John Jay (N.Y.)*	1789
	John Rutledge (S.C.)	1789
	William Cushing (Mass.)	1789
	James Wilson (Pa.)	1789
	Robert H. Harrison (Md.) ^a	1789
	John Blair (Va.)	1789
	James Iredell (N.C.)	1790
	Thomas Johnson (Md.)	1791
	William Paterson (N.J.)	1793
	John Rutledge (S.C.)* ^b	1795
	Samuel Chase (Md.)	1796
John Adams	Oliver Ellsworth (Conn.)*	1796
	Bushrod Washington (Va.)	1798
	Alfred Moore (N.C.)	1799
Thomas Jefferson	John Marshall (Va.)*	1801
	William Johnson (S.C.)	1804
	Henry Brockholst Livingston (N.Y.)	1806
James Madison	Thomas Todd (Ky.)	1807
	Joseph Story (Mass.)	1811
	Gabriel Duvall (Md.)	1811
James Monroe	Smith Thomson (N.Y.)	1823
John Quincy Adams	Robert Trimble (Ky.)	1826
Andrew Jackson	John McLean (Ohio)	1829
	Henry Baldwin (Pa.)	1830
	James M. Wayne (Ga.)	1835
	Roger B. Taney (Md.)*	1836
	Philip B. Barbour (Va.)	1836
Martin Van Buren	John Catron (Tenn.)	1837
	John McKinley (Ala.)	1837
	Peter V. Daniel (Va.)	1841
John Tyler	Samuel Nelson (N.Y.)	1845
James Polk	Levi Woodbury (N.H.)	1845
	Robert C. Grier (Pa.)	1846
Millard Fillmore	Benjamin R. Curtis (Mass.)	1851
Franklin Pierce	John A. Campbell (Ala.)	1853
James Buchanan	Nathan Clifford (Me.)	1858
Abraham Lincoln	Noah H. Swayne (Ohio)	1862
	Samuel F. Miller (Iowa)	1862
	David Davis (Ill.)	1862
	Stephen J. Field (Calif.)	1863
	Salmon P. Chase (Ohio)*	1864
Ulysses S. Grant	William Strong (Pa.)	1870
	Joseph P. Bradley (N.J.)	1870
	Ward Hunt (N.Y.)	1873
	Morrison R. Waite (Ohio)*	1874
Rutherford Hayes	John M. Harlan (Ky.)	1877
	William B. Woods (Ga.)	1881
James Garfield	Stanley Matthews (Ohio)	1881
Chester Arthur	Horace Gray (Mass.)	1882
	Samuel Blatchford (N.Y.)	1882
Grover Cleveland	Lucius Q. C. Lamar (Miss.)	1888
	Melville W. Fuller (Ill.)*	1888
Benjamin Harrison	David J. Brewer (Kan.)	1889
	Henry B. Brown (Mich.)	1891
	George Shiras Jr. (Pa.)	1892
	Howell E. Jackson (Tenn.)	1893
Grover Cleveland	Edward D. White (La.)	1894
	Rufus W. Peckham (N.Y.)	1895
William McKinley	Joseph McKenna (Calif.)	1898

[continued]

^aDeclined appointment.

^bAccepted appointment but delayed taking his seat and later resigned.

Presidential Nominations to the Supreme Court

The following table shows the presidents who nominated the various Supreme Court justices and the states from which the justices were appointed. The names of chief justices are followed by an asterisk.

President	Nominee	Year Nominated
Theodore Roosevelt	Oliver Wendell Holmes Jr. (Mass.)	1902
	William R. Day (Ohio)	1903
	William H. Moody (Mass.)	1906
William Taft	Horace H. Lurton (Tenn.)	1910
	Edward D. White (La.)*	1910
	Charles E. Hughes (N.Y.)	1910
	Willis Van Devanter (Wyo.)	1911
	Joseph R. Lamar (Ga.)	1911
	Mahlon Pitney (N.J.)	1912
Woodrow Wilson	James C. McReynolds (Tenn.)	1914
	Louis D. Brandeis (Mass.)	1916
	John H. Clarke (Ohio)	1916
Warren Harding	William H. Taft (Conn.)*	1921
	George Sutherland (Utah)	1922
	Pierce Butler (Minn.)	1922
	Edward T. Sanford (Tenn.)	1923
Calvin Coolidge	Harlan F. Stone (N.Y.)	1925
Herbert Hoover	Charles E. Hughes (N.Y.)*	1930
	Owen J. Roberts (Pa.)	1930
	Benjamin N. Cardozo (N.Y.)	1932
Franklin D. Roosevelt	Hugo L. Black (Ala.)	1937
	Stanley F. Reed (Ky.)	1938
	Felix Frankfurter (Mass.)	1939
	William O. Douglas (Conn.)	1939
	Frank Murphy (Mich.)	1940
	Harlan F. Stone (N.Y.)*	1941
	James F. Byrnes (S.C.)	1941
	Robert H. Jackson (N.Y.)	1941
	Wiley B. Rutledge (Iowa)	1943
	Harold H. Burton (Ohio)	1945
Harry S. Truman	Fred M. Vinson (Ky.)*	1946
	Tom C. Clark (Tex.)	1946
	Sherman Minton (Ind.)	1949
	Earl Warren (Calif.)*	1953
Dwight D. Eisenhower	John M. Harlan (N.Y.)	1955
	William J. Brennan Jr. (Ind.)	1956
	Charles E. Whittaker (Mo.)	1957
	Potter Stewart (Ohio)	1958
	Byron R. White (Colo.)	1962
John F. Kennedy	Arthur J. Goldberg (Ill.)	1962
	Abe Fortas (Tenn.)	1965
Lyndon B. Johnson	Thurgood Marshall (N.Y.)	1967
	Warren Earl Burger (Minn.)*	1969
Richard M. Nixon	Harry A. Blackmun (Minn.)	1970
	Lewis F. Powell (Va.)	1971
	William H. Rehnquist (Ariz.)	1971
Gerald Ford	John Paul Stevens (Ill.)	1976
Ronald Reagan	Sandra Day O'Connor (Ariz.)	1981
	William H. Rehnquist (Ariz.)*	1986
	Antonin Scalia (Va.)	1986
	Anthony M. Kennedy (Calif.)	1988
George H. W. Bush	David H. Souter (N.H.)	1990
	Clarence Thomas (Va.)	1991
Bill Clinton	Ruth Bader Ginsburg (D.C.)	1993
	Stephen Breyer (Mass.)	1994

Time Chart of the Supreme Court

This table is designed to aid the user in identifying the composition of the Supreme Court at any given time in U.S. history. Each listing is headed by the chief justice, whose name is italicized. Associate justices are listed following the chief justice in order of seniority. The name of each justice is followed by a symbol representing his or her party affiliation at the time of appointment.

F = Federalist

DR = Democratic-Republican (Jeffersonian)

D = Democrat

W = Whig

R = Republican

I = Independent

1789	1790–91	1792	1793–94	1795	1796–97	1798–99
Jay (F) J. Rutledge (F) Cushing (F) Wilson (F) Blair (F)	Jay (F) J. Rutledge (F) Cushing (F) Wilson (F) Blair (F) Iredell (F)	Jay (F) Cushing (F) Wilson (F) Blair (F) Iredell (F) T. Johnson (F)	Jay (F) Cushing (F) Wilson (F) Blair (F) Iredell (F) Paterson (F)	J. Rutledge (F) ^a Cushing (F) Wilson (F) Blair (F) Iredell (F) Paterson (F)	Ellsworth (F) Cushing (F) Wilson (F) Iredell (F) Paterson (F) S. Chase (F)	Ellsworth (F) Cushing (F) Iredell (F) Paterson (F) S. Chase (F) Washington (F)
1823–25	1811–22	1807–10	1806	1804–05	1801–03	1800
J. Marshall (F) Washington (F) W. Johnson (DR) Todd (DR) Duval (DR) Story (DR) Thompson (DR)	J. Marshall (F) Washington (F) W. Johnson (DR) Livingston (DR) Todd (DR) Duval (DR) Story (DR)	J. Marshall (F) Cushing (F) S. Chase (F) Washington (F) W. Johnson (DR) Livingston (DR) Todd (DR)	J. Marshall (F) Cushing (F) S. Chase (F) Washington (F) W. Johnson (DR) Livingston (DR)	J. Marshall (F) Cushing (F) Paterson (F) S. Chase (F) Washington (F) W. Johnson (DR)	J. Marshall (F) Cushing (F) Paterson (F) S. Chase (F) Washington (F) Moore (F)	Ellsworth (F) Cushing (F) Paterson (F) S. Chase (F) Washington (F) Moore (F)
1826–28	1829	1830–34	1835	1836	1837–40	1841–43
J. Marshall (F) Washington (F) W. Johnson (DR) Duval (DR) Story (DR) Thompson (DR) Trimble (DR)	J. Marshall (F) Washington (F) W. Johnson (DR) Story (DR) Thompson (DR) McLean (D)	J. Marshall (F) W. Johnson (DR) Duval (DR) Story (DR) Thompson (DR) McLean (D) Baldwin (D)	J. Marshall (F) Duval (DR) Story (DR) Thompson (DR) McLean (D) Baldwin (D) Wayne (D)	Taney (D) Story (DR) Thompson (DR) McLean (D) Baldwin (D) Wayne (D) Barbour (D)	Taney (D) Story (DR) Thompson (DR) McLean (D) Baldwin (D) Wayne (D) Barbour (D) Catron (D) McKinley (D)	Taney (D) Story (DR) Thompson (DR) McLean (D) Baldwin (D) Wayne (D) Catron (D) McKinley (D) Daniel (D)
1861	1858–60	1853–57	1851–52	1846–50	1845	1844
Taney (D) McLean (D) Wayne (D) Catron (D) Nelson (D) Grier (D) Campbell (D) Clifford (D)	Taney (D) McLean (D) Wayne (D) Catron (D) Daniel (D) Nelson (D) Grier (D) Campbell (D) Clifford (D)	Taney (D) McLean (D) Wayne (D) Catron (D) Daniel (D) Nelson (D) Grier (D) Curtis (W) Campbell (D)	Taney (D) McLean (D) Wayne (D) Catron (D) McKinley (D) Daniel (D) Nelson (D) Grier (D) Curtis (W)	Taney (D) McLean (D) Wayne (D) Catron (D) McKinley (D) Daniel (D) Nelson (D) Woodbury (D) Grier (D)	Taney (D) McLean (D) Wayne (D) Catron (D) McKinley (D) Daniel (D) Nelson (D) Woodbury (D)	Taney (D) Story (DR) McLean (D) Catron (D) Wayne (D) Catron (D) McKinley (D) Daniel (D)
1862	1863	1864–65	1866	1867–69	1870–71	1872–73
Taney (D) Wayne (D) Catron (D) Nelson (D) Grier (D) Clifford (D) Swayne (R) Miller (R) Davis (R)	Taney (D) Wayne (D) Catron (D) Nelson (D) Grier (D) Clifford (D) Swayne (R) Miller (R) Davis (R) Field (D)	S. P. Chase (R) Wayne (D) Catron (D) ^b Nelson (D) Grier (D) Clifford (D) Swayne (R) Miller (R) Davis (R) Field (D)	S. P. Chase (R) Wayne (D) ^b Nelson (D) Grier (D) Clifford (D) Swayne (R) Miller (R) Davis (R) Field (D)	S. P. Chase (R) Nelson (D) Grier (D) Clifford (D) Swayne (R) Miller (R) Davis (R) Field (D)	S. P. Chase (R) Nelson (D) Clifford (D) Swayne (R) Miller (R) Davis (R) Field (D) Strong (R) Bradley (R) Bradley (R)	S. P. Chase (R) Clifford (D) Swayne (R) Miller (R) Davis (R) Field (D) Strong (R) Bradley (R) Hunt (R)

[continued]

^aRutledge was a recess appointment whose confirmation was rejected by the Senate after the 1795 term.

^bUpon the death of Catron in 1865 and Wayne in 1867, their positions were abolished according to a congressional act of 1866. The Court's membership was reduced to eight until a new position was created by Congress in 1869. The new seat has generally been regarded as a re-creation of Wayne's set.

Time Chart of the Supreme Court

This table is designed to aid the user in identifying the composition of the Supreme Court at any given time in U.S. history. Each listing is headed by the chief justice, whose name is italicized. Associate justices are listed following the chief justice in order of seniority. The name of each justice is followed by a symbol representing his or her party affiliation at the time of appointment.

F = Federalist
DR = Democratic-Republican (Jeffersonian)
D = Democrat

W = Whig
R = Republican
I = Independent

1889	1888	1882–87	1881	1880	1877–79	1874–76
Fuller (D) Miller (R) Field (D) Bradley (R) Harlan (Ky.) (R) Gray (R) Blatchford (R) L. Lamar (D) Brewer (R)	Fuller (D) Miller (R) Field (D) Bradley (R) Harlan (Ky.) (R) Matthews (R) Gray (R) Blatchford (R) L. Lamar (D)	Waite (R) Miller (R) Field (D) Bradley (R) Harlan (Ky.) (R) Woods (R) Matthews (R) Gray (R) Blatchford (R)	Waite (R) Miller (R) Field (D) Bradley (R) Hunt (R) Harlan (Ky.) (R) Woods (R) Matthews (R) Gray (R)	Waite (R) Clifford (D) Swayne (R) Miller (R) Field (D) Bradley (R) Hunt (R) Harlan (Ky.) (R) Woods (R)	Waite (R) Clifford (D) Swayne (R) Miller (R) Field (D) Strong (R) Bradley (R) Hunt (R) Harlan (Ky.) (R)	Waite (R) Clifford (D) Swayne (R) Miller (R) Davis (R) Field (D) Strong (R) Bradley (R) Hunt (R)
1890–91	1892	1893	1894	1895–97	1898–1901	1902
Fuller (D) Field (D) Bradley (R) Harlan (Ky.) (R) Gray (R) Blatchford (R) L. Lamar (D) Brewer (R) Brown (R)	Fuller (D) Field (D) Harlan (Ky.) (R) Gray (R) Blatchford (R) L. Lamar (D) Brewer (R) Brown (R) Shiras (R)	Fuller (D) Field (D) Harlan (Ky.) (R) Gray (R) Blatchford (R) Brewer (R) Brown (R) Shiras (R) H. Jackson (D)	Fuller (D) Field (D) Harlan (Ky.) (R) Gray (R) Brewer (R) Brown (R) Shiras (R) H. Jackson (D) E. White (D)	Fuller (D) Field (D) Harlan (Ky.) (R) Gray (R) Brewer (R) Brown (R) Shiras (R) E. White (D) Peckham (D) McKenna (D)	Fuller (D) Harlan (Ky.) (R) Gray (R) Brewer (R) Brown (R) Shiras (R) E. White (D) Peckham (D) McKenna (R)	Fuller (D) Harlan (Ky.) (R) Brewer (R) Brown (R) Shiras (R) E. White (D) Peckham (D) McKenna (R) Holmes (R)
1916–20	1914–15	1912–13	1910–11	1909	1906–08	1903–05
E. White (D) McKenna (R) Holmes (R) Day (R) Van Devanter (R) Pitney (R) McReynolds (D) Brandeis (R) ^c Clarke (D)	E. White (D) McKenna (R) Holmes (R) Day (R) Hughes (R) Van Devanter (R) J. Lamar (D) Pitney (R) McReynolds (D)	E. White (D) McKenna (R) Holmes (R) Day (R) Lurton (D) Hughes (R) Van Devanter (R) J. Lamar (D) Pitney (R)	E. White (D) Harlan (Ky.) (R) McKenna (R) Holmes (R) Day (R) Lurton (D) Hughes (R) Van Devanter (R) J. Lamar (D)	Fuller (D) Harlan (Ky.) (R) Brewer (R) E. White (D) McKenna (R) Holmes (R) Day (R) Moody (R) Lurton (D)	Fuller (D) Harlan (Ky.) (R) Brewer (R) E. White (D) Peckham (D) McKenna (R) Holmes (R) Day (R) Moody (R)	Fuller (D) Harlan (Ky.) (R) Brewer (R) Brown (R) E. White (D) Peckham (D) McKenna (R) Holmes (R) Day (R)
1921	1922	1923–24	1925–29	1930–31	1932–36	1937
Taft (R) McKenna (R) Holmes (R) Day (R) Van Devanter (R) Pitney (R) McReynolds (D) Brandeis (R) Clarke (D)	Taft (R) McKenna (R) Holmes (R) Van Devanter (R) Pitney (R) McReynolds (D) Brandeis (R) Sutherland (R) Butler (D)	Taft (R) McKenna (R) Holmes (R) Van Devanter (R) McReynolds (D) Brandeis (R) Sutherland (R) Butler (D) Sanford (R)	Taft (R) Holmes (R) Van Devanter (R) McReynolds (D) Brandeis (R) Sutherland (R) Butler (D) Sanford (R) Stone (R)	Hughes (R) Holmes (R) Van Devanter (R) McReynolds (D) Brandeis (R) Sutherland (R) Butler (D) Stone (R) Roberts (R)	Hughes (R) Van Devanter (R) McReynolds (D) Brandeis (R) Sutherland (R) Butler (D) Stone (R) Roberts (R) Cardozo (D)	Hughes (R) McReynolds (D) Brandeis (R) Sutherland (R) Butler (D) Stone (R) Roberts (R) Cardozo (D) Black (D)
1946–48	1945	1943–44	1941–42	1940	1939	1938
Vinson (D) Black (D) Reed (D) Frankfurter (I) Douglas (D) Murphy (D) R. Jackson (D) W. Rutledge (D) Burton (R)	Stone (R) Black (D) Reed (D) Frankfurter (I) Douglas (D) Murphy (D) R. Jackson (D) W. Rutledge (D) Burton (R)	Stone (R) Roberts (R) Black (D) Reed (D) Frankfurter (I) Douglas (D) Murphy (D) R. Jackson (D) W. Rutledge (D)	Stone (R) Roberts (R) Black (D) Reed (D) Frankfurter (I) Douglas (D) Murphy (D) Byrnes (D) R. Jackson (D)	Hughes (R) McReynolds (D) Stone (R) Roberts (R) Black (D) Reed (D) Frankfurter (I) Douglas (D) Murphy (D)	Hughes (R) McReynolds (D) Butler (D) Stone (R) Roberts (R) Black (D) Reed (D) Frankfurter (I) Douglas (D)	Hughes (R) McReynolds (D) Brandeis (R) Butler (D) Stone (R) Roberts (R) Cardozo (D) Black (D) Reed (D)

[continued]

^cAccording to Professor Henry Abraham, "Many—and with some justice—consider Brandeis a Democrat, however, he was in fact a registered Republican when nominated" (Henry Abraham, Freedom and the Court, 3d ed. 455 [1977]).

Time Chart of the Supreme Court

This table is designed to aid the user in identifying the composition of the Supreme Court at any given time in U.S. history. Each listing is headed by the chief justice, whose name is italicized. Associate justices are listed following the chief justice in order of seniority. The name of each justice is followed by a symbol representing his or her party affiliation at the time of appointment.

F = Federalist

DR = Democratic-Republican (Jeffersonian)

D = Democrat

W = Whig

R = Republican

I = Independent

1949-52	1953-54	1955	1956	1957	1958-61	1962-65
Vinson (D)	Warren (R)	Warren (R)	Warren (R)	Warren (R)	Warren (R)	Warren (R)
Black (D)	Black (D)	Black (D)	Black (D)	Black (D)	Black (D)	Black (D)
Reed (D)	Reed (D)	Reed (D)	Reed (D)	Frankfurter (I)	Frankfurter (I)	Douglas (D)
Frankfurter (I)	Frankfurter (I)	Frankfurter (I)	Frankfurter (I)	Douglas (D)	Douglas (D)	Clark (D)
Douglas (D)	Douglas (D)	Douglas (D)	Douglas (D)	Burton (R)	Clark (D)	Harlan (N.Y.) (R)
R. Jackson (D)	R. Jackson (D)	Burton (R)	Burton (R)	Clark (D)	Harlan (N.Y.) (R)	Brennan (D)
Burton (R)	Burton (R)	Clark (D)	Clark (D)	Harlan (N.Y.) (R)	Brennan (D)	Stewart (R)
Clark (D)	Clark (D)	Minton (D)	Harlan (N.Y.) (R)	Brennan (D)	Whittaker (R)	B. White (D)
Minton (D)	Minton (D)	Harlan (N.Y.) (R)	Brennan (D)	Whittaker (R)	Stewart (R)	Goldberg (D)
1972-75	1971	1970	1969-70	1969	1967-69	1965-67
Burger (R)	Burger (R)	Burger (R)	Burger (R)	Burger (R)	Warren (R)	Warren (R)
Douglas (D)	Douglas (D)	Black (D)	Black (D)	Black (D)	Black (D)	Black (D)
Brennan (D)	Brennan (D)	Douglas (D)	Douglas (D)	Douglas (D)	Douglas (D)	Douglas (D)
Stewart (R)	Stewart (R)	Harlan (N.Y.) (R)	Harlan (N.Y.) (R)	Harlan (N.Y.) (R)	Harlan (N.Y.) (R)	Clark (D)
B. White (D)	B. White (D)	Brennan (D)	Brennan (D)	Brennan (D)	Brennan (D)	Harlan (N.Y.) (R)
T. Marshall (D)	T. Marshall (D)	Stewart (R)	Stewart (R)	Stewart (R)	Stewart (R)	Brennan (D)
Blackmun (R)	Blackmun (R)	B. White (D)	B. White (D)	B. White (D)	B. White (D)	Stewart (R)
Powell (D)		T. Marshall (D)	T. Marshall (D)	Fortas (D)	Fortas (D)	B. White (D)
Rehnquist (R)		Blackmun (R)		T. Marshall (D)	T. Marshall (D)	Fortas (D)
1975-81	1981-85	1986-87	1988-89	1990	1991-92	1993
Burger (R)	Burger (R)	Rehnquist (R)	Rehnquist (R)	Rehnquist (R)	Rehnquist (R)	Rehnquist (R)
Brennan (D)	Brennan (D)	Brennan (D)	Brennan (D)	B. White (D)	B. White (D)	Blackmun (R)
Stewart (R)	B. White (D)	B. White (D)	B. White (D)	T. Marshall (D)	Blackmun (R)	Stevens (R)
B. White (D)	T. Marshall (D)	T. Marshall (D)	T. Marshall (D)	Blackmun (R)	Stevens (R)	O'Connor (R)
T. Marshall (D)	Blackmun (R)	Blackmun (R)	Blackmun (R)	Stevens (R)	O'Connor (R)	Scalia (R)
Blackmun (R)	Powell (D)	Powell (D)	Stevens (R)	O'Connor (R)	Scalia (R)	Kennedy (R)
Powell (D)	Rehnquist (R)	Stevens (R)	O'Connor (R)	Scalia (R)	Kennedy (R)	Souter (R)
Rehnquist (R)	Stevens (R)	O'Connor (R)	Scalia (R)	Kennedy (R)	Souter (R)	Thomas (R)
Stevens (R)	O'Connor (R)	Scalia (R)	Kennedy (R)	Souter (R)	Thomas (R)	Ginsburg (D)
1994-2003						Rehnquist (R)
						Stevens (R)
						O'Connor (R)
						Scalia (R)
						Kennedy (R)
						Souter (R)
						Thomas (R)
						Ginsburg (D)
						Breyer (D)

Succession of Supreme Court Justices

This table is designed to aid the user in identifying the succession of justices on the Supreme Court. Read vertically, the table lists the succession of justices in each position of the Court and the years served by each.

The number of justices constituting the Supreme Court has varied. Initially, the Court comprised six justices, but Congress increased the number to seven in 1807, to nine in 1837, and then to ten in 1863. In 1866, Congress reduced the number of justices to eight in an effort to prevent President Andrew Johnson from making any appointments to the Court. As a result, the positions of John Catron, who died in 1865, and James M. Wayne, who died in 1867, were abolished. In 1869, Congress raised the number of justices to nine, where it has remained. William Strong, the first justice appointed under the new statute, has generally been considered to have succeeded Wayne. Thus, Catron is the only person who has held the tenth seat on the Court.

Chief Justices	Associate Justices
Jay 1789–1795	J. Rutledge 1789–1791	Cushing 1789–1810	Wilson 1789–1798	Harrison ^f 1789	Iredell 1790–1798	Todd 1807–1826	Field 1863–1897	McKinley 1837–1852	Catron 1837–1865
J. Rutledge ^a 1795	T. Johnson 1791–1793	Story 1811–1845	Washington 1798–1829	Blair 1789–1796	Moore 1799–1804	Trimble 1826–1828	McKenna 1898–1925	Campbell 1853–1861
Ellsworth 1796–1799	Paterson 1793–1806	Woodbury 1845–1851	Baldwin 1830–1844	S. Chase 1796–1811	W. Johnson 1804–1834	McLean 1829–1861	Stone ^h 1925–1941	Davis 1862–1877
J. Marshall 1801–1835	Livingston 1806–1823	Curtis 1851–1857	Grier 1846–1870	Duvall 1812–1835	Wayne 1835–1867	Swayne 1862–1881	R. Jackson 1941–1954	Harlan 1877–1911
Taney 1836–1864	Thomson 1823–1843	Clifford 1858–1881	Bradley 1870–1892	Barbour 1836–1841	Strong 1870–1880	Matthews 1881–1889	Harlan 1955–1971	Pitney 1912–1922
S. P. Chase 1864–1873	Nelson 1845–1872	Gray 1882–1902	Woods 1881–1887	Daniel 1841–1860	Shiras 1892–1903	Brewer 1889–1910	Rehnquist ⁱ 1971–1986	Sanford 1923–1930
Waite 1874–1888	Hunt 1873–1882	Holmes 1902–1932	L. Lamar 1888–1893	Miller 1862–1890	Day 1903–1922	Hughes 1910–1916	Scalia 1986–	Roberts 1930–1945
Fuller 1888–1910	Blatchford 1882–1893	Cardozo 1932–1938	H. Jackson 1893–1895	Brown 1891–1906	Butler 1922–1939	Clarke 1916–1922		Burton 1945–1958
E. White ^b 1910–1921	E. White ^d 1894–1910	Frankfurter 1939–1962	Peckham 1895–1909	Moody 1906–1910	Murphy 1940–1949	Sutherland 1922–1938		Stewart 1958–1981
Taft 1921–1930	Van Devanter 1911–1937	Goldberg 1962–1965	Lurton 1910–1914	J. Lamar 1911–1916	Clark 1949–1967	Reed 1938–1957		O'Connor 1981–
Hughes 1930–1941	Black 1937–1971	Fortas ^e 1965–1969	McReynolds 1914–1941	Brandeis 1916–1939	T. Marshall 1967–1991	Whittaker 1957–1962
Stone ^c 1941–1946	Powell 1971–1988	Blackmun 1970–1994	Byrnes 1941–1942	Douglas 1939–1975	Thomas 1991–	B. White 1962–1993
Vinson 1946–1953	Kennedy 1988–	Breyer 1994–	W. Rutledge 1943–1949	Stevens 1976–		Ginsburg 1993–
Warren 1953–1969			Minton 1949–1956
Burger 1969–1986			Brennan 1956–1990
Rehnquist ^g 1986–			Souter 1990–

^aAppointment not confirmed.

^bAssociate justice, 1894–1910.

^cAssociate justice, 1925–1941.

^dLater chief justice, 1910–1921.

^eAppointment as chief justice but not confirmed; resigned.

^fDeclined appointment.

^gAssociate justice, 1971–1986.

^hLater chief justice, 1941–1946.

ⁱLater chief justice, 1986–.

U.S. Attorneys General

Name	Term	President
Edmund Randolph	1789-1794	Washington
William Bradford	1794-1795	Washington
Charles Lee	1795-1801	Washington & John Adams
Levi Lincoln	1801-1805	Jefferson
John Breckenridge	1805-1806	Jefferson
Caesar A. Rodney	1807-1811	Jefferson & Madison
William Pinkney	1811-1814	Madison
Richard Rush	1814-1817	Madison
William Wirt	1817-1829	Monroe & John Q. Adams
John M. Berrien	1829-1831	Jackson
Roger B. Taney	1831-1833	Jackson
Benjamin F. Butler	1833-1838	Jackson & Van Buren
Felix Grundy	1838-1839	Van Buren
Henry D. Gilpin	1840-1841	Van Buren
John J. Crittenden	1841	Harrison & Tyler
Hugh S. Legare	1841-1843	Tyler
John Nelson	1843-1845	Tyler
John Y. Mason	1845-1846	Polk
Nathan Clifford	1846-1848	Polk
Issac Toucey	1848-1849	Polk
Reverdy Johnson	1849-1850	Taylor
John J. Crittenden	1850-1853	Fillmore
Caleb Cushing	1853-1857	Pierce
Jeremiah S. Black	1857-1860	Buchanan
Edwin M. Stanton	1860-1861	Buchanan
Edward Bates	1861-1864	Lincoln
James Speed	1864-1866	Lincoln & Johnson
Henry Stanberry	1866-1868	Johnson
William M. Everts	1868-1869	Johnson
Ebenezer R. Hoar	1869-1870	Grant
Amos T. Akerman	1870-1872	Grant
George H. Williams	1871-1875	Grant
Edwards Pierrepont	1875-1876	Grant
Alphonso Taft	1876-1877	Grant
Charles Devens	1877-1881	Hayes
Wayne MacVeagh	1881	Garfield
Benjamin H. Brewster	1881-1885	Arthur
Augustus H. Garland	1885-1889	Cleveland
William H.H. Miller	1889-1893	Harrison
Richard Olney	1893-1895	Cleveland
Judson Harmon	1895-1897	Cleveland
Joseph McKenna	1897-1898	McKinley
John W. Griggs	1898-1901	McKinley
Philander C. Knox	1901-1904	McKinley
William H. Moody	1904-1906	Roosevelt
Charles J. Bonaparte	1906-1909	Roosevelt
George W. Wickersham	1909-1913	Taft
James C. McReynolds	1913-1914	Wilson
Thomas Watt Gregory	1914-1919	Wilson
A. Mitchell Palmer	1919-1921	Wilson
Harry M. Daugherty	1921-1924	Harding
Harlan Fiske Stone	1924-1925	Coolidge
John G. Sargent	1925-1929	Coolidge
William D. Mitchell	1929-1933	Hoover
Homer S. Cummings	1933-1939	Roosevelt
Frank Murphy	1939-1940	Roosevelt
Robert H. Jackson	1940-1941	Roosevelt
Francis Biddle	1941-1945	Roosevelt
Tom C. Clark	1945-1949	Truman
J. Howard McGrath	1949-1952	Truman
James P. McGranery	1952-1953	Truman
Herbert Brownell Jr.	1953-1957	Eisenhower
William P. Rogers	1957-1961	Eisenhower

[CONTINUED]

U.S. Attorneys General

Name	Term	President
Robert F. Kennedy	1961-1964	Kennedy
Nicholas deB. Katzenbach	1965-1966	Johnson
Ramsey Clark	1967-1969	Johnson
John N. Mitchell	1969-1972	Nixon
Richard G. Kleindienst	1972-1973	Nixon
Elliot L. Richardson	1973	Nixon
William B. Saxbe	1974-1975	Nixon
Edward H. Levi	1975-1977	Ford
Griffin B. Bell	1977-1979	Carter
Benjamin R. Civiletti	1979-1981	Carter
William French Smith	1981-1985	Reagan
Edwin Meese III	1985-1988	Reagan
Richard Thornburgh	1988-1991	Reagan & George Bush
William Barr	1991-1993	George Bush
Janet Reno	1993-2001	Clinton
John Ashcroft	2001-	George W. Bush

SOURCE: U.S. Department of Justice.

Image Not Available

British Regnal Years

Regnal years run from the date of the monarch's accession to the throne until the same date in the next calendar year. Thus an event occurring on March 24, 1626, would be the first regnal year of King Charles I who acceded to the throne on March 27, 1625. British statutes are usually cited by regnal years.

Sovereign	Accession	Length of reign
William I	Oct. 14, 1066	21
William II	Sept. 26, 1087	13
Henry I	Aug. 5, 1100	36
Stephen	Dec. 26, 1135	19
Henry II	Dec. 19, 1154	35
Richard I	Sept. 23, 1189	10
John	May 27, 1199	18
Henry III	Oct. 28, 1216	57
Edward I	Nov. 20, 1272	35
Edward II	July 8, 1307	20
Edward III	Jan. 25, 1326	51
Richard II	June 22, 1377	23
Henry IV	Sept. 30, 1399	14
Henry V	March 21, 1413	10
Henry VI	Sept. 1, 1422	39
Edward IV	March 4, 1461	23
Edward V	April 9, 1483	—
Richard III	June 26, 1483	3
Henry VII	Aug. 22, 1485	24
Henry VIII	April 22, 1509	38
Edward VI	Jan. 28, 1547	7
Mary	July 6, 1553	6
Elizabeth	Nov. 17, 1558	45
James I	March 24, 1603	23
Charles I	March 27, 1625	24
The Commonwealth ^a	Jan. 30, 1649	11
Charles II	May 29, 1660	37
James II	Feb. 6, 1685	4
William III and Mary II	Feb. 13, 1689	14
Anne	March 8, 1702	13
George I	Aug. 1, 1714	13
George II	June 11, 1727	34
George III	Oct. 25, 1760	60
George IV	Jan. 29, 1820	11
William IV	June 26, 1830	7
Victoria	June 20, 1837	64
Edward VII	Jan. 22, 1901	9
George V	May 6, 1910	25
Edward VIII	Jan. 20, 1936	1
George VI	Dec. 11, 1936	15
Elizabeth II	Feb. 6, 1952	—

^aThe government established by Parliament after the abolition of the monarchy. The government of Oliver Cromwell and his son (1653–1658) is also known as the Protectorate.

WEST'S ENCYCLOPEDIA of AMERICAN LAW

2ND EDITION

HOW TO USE THIS BOOK

- 1 Article Title
- 2 Definition in italics with Latin translation provided
- 3 First-level subhead
- 4 Timeline for subject of biography, including general historical events and life events
- 5 Sidebar expands upon an issue addressed briefly in the article
- 6 Quotation from subject of biography
- 7 Biography of contributor to American law
- 8 Internal cross-reference to entry within WEAL
- 9 In Focus article examines a controversial or complex aspect of the article topic
- 10 Cross-references at end of article
- 11 Full cite for case be active in New Jersey. He was admitted to the New Jersey Provincial bar in 1723, and joined the Council of New Jersey in that same year, serving until 1735. From 1723 to 1727 Alexander performed the duties of New Jersey attorney general.

In 1735, journalist JOHN PETER ZENGER was on trial, accused of libelous attacks on the administration of New York Governor William Cosby. Alexander served as codefense lawyer at this trial, and ALEXANDER HAMILTON, pleaded the case. Zenger was acquitted, and the success of this defense was a triumph for the principles of a free press.

Alexander died in Albany, New York, on April 12, 1756.

ALIAS

[Latin. Otherwise called.] A term used to indicate that a person is known by more than one name.

Alias is a short and more popular phrase for alias dictus. The abbreviation a.k.a., also known as, is frequently used in connection with the description of a person sought by law enforcement officers to disclose the names that the person has been known to use. A fictitious name assumed by a person is popularly termed an alias.

ALIAS WRIT

A second writ, or court order, issued in the same case after an earlier writ of that kind has been issued but has not been effective.

12

11

ALIEN AND SEDITION ACTS

In 1798, the Federalist-controlled Congress passed four acts to empower the president of the United States to expel dangerous ALIENS from the country; to give the president authority to arrest, detain, and deport resident aliens hailing from enemy countries during times of war; to lengthen the period of naturalization for immigrants, and to silence Republican criticism of the FEDERALIST PARTY. Also an act passed by Congress in 1918 during WORLD WAR I that made it a crime to disrupt military recruiting or enlistments, to encourage support for Germany and its allies or disrespect for American war efforts, or to otherwise bring the U.S. government, its leaders, or its symbols into disrepute.

The Alien and Sedition Acts of 1798

Passions over the French Revolution split early American politics. Having endured SHAY'S REBELLION and the WHISKEY REBELLION, Federalists saw much to fear in the French Revolution. On the other hand, Democratic-Republicans, led by THOMAS JEFFERSON, proudly supported the French Revolution as the progeny of the American Revolution. Democratic-Republicans still viewed Britain as an enemy, while the Federalists regarded Britain as a bulwark against French militancy.

In early 1798, JOHN QUINCY ADAMS, son of President JOHN ADAMS and the U.S. ambassador to Prussia, advised his father that France intended to invade America's western frontier. Jonathan Dayton, speaker of the U.S. House of Representatives, speculated publicly that troops already massed in French ports were destined for North America. Federal officials feared parts of America were rife with French agents and sympathizers who might rise up in support of an invasion. George Tucker, professor of Law at the College of William and Mary, predicted that 100,000 U.S. inhabitants, including himself, would join a French invading army. Former president GEORGE WASHINGTON, summoned

13

JAMES ALEXANDER 1691-1756

WEST'S ENCYCLOPEDIA OF AMERICAN LAW, 2ND EDITION

14

15

The First Payments of Social Security

After the enactment of the Social Security Act of 1935 (42 U.S.C. § 301 et seq.) and the creation of the Social Security Administration (SSA), the federal government had a short time to establish the program before beginning to pay benefits. Monthly benefits were to begin in 1940. The period from 1937 to 1940 was to be used both to build up the trust funds and to provide a minimum period for participation for persons to qualify for monthly benefits.

From 1937 until 1940, however, Social Security paid benefits in the form of a single, lump-sum payment. The purpose of these one-time payments was to provide some compensation to people who contributed to the program but would not participate long enough to be vested for monthly benefits.

The first applicant for a lump-sum benefit was Ernest Ackerman, a Cleveland motorman who retired one day after the Social Security Program began. During his one day of participation in the program, five cents was withheld from Ackerman's pay for Social Security, and upon retiring, he received a lump-sum payment of seventeen cents.

Payments of monthly benefits began in January 1940. On January 31, 1940, the first monthly retirement check was issued to Ida May Fuller of Ludlow, Vermont, in the amount of $22.54. Fuller died in January 1975 at the age of one hundred. During her thirty-five years as a beneficiary, she received more than $20,000 in benefits.

tions to Social Security. There is no financial need requirement to be satisfied. Once a worker qualifies for protection, his family is also entitled to protection. The entire program is geared toward helping families as a matter of social policy.

Two large funds of money are held in trust to pay benefits earned by people under OASDI: the Old Age and Survivors Trust Fund and the Disability Insurance Trust Fund. As workers and employers make payroll contributions to these funds, money is paid out in benefits to people currently qualified to receive monthly checks.

The OASDI program is funded by payroll taxes levied on employees and their employers and on the self-employed. The tax is imposed upon the employee's taxable income, up to a maximum taxable amount, with the employer contributing an equal amount. The self-employed person contributes twice the amount levied on an employee. In 2003 the rate was 6.2 percent, levied on earned income up to a maximum of $87,000.

Old Age Benefits A person becomes eligible for Social Security old age benefits by working a minimum number of calendar quarters. The number of quarters required for full insurance increases with the worker's age. Forty quarters is the maximum requirement. The individual is credited for income up to the maximum amount of money covered by Social Security for those years. This amount is adjusted to reflect the impact of inflation on normal earnings and ensure that a worker who pays increasing Social Security contributions during his or her work life will receive retirement benefits that keep pace with inflation.

Persons born before 1950 can retire at age 65 with full benefits based on their average income during their working years. For those born between 1950 and 1960, the retirement age for full benefits has increased to age 66. Persons born in 1960 or later will not receive full retirement benefits until age 67. Any person, however, may retire at age 62 and receive less than full benefits. At age 65, a worker's spouse who has not contributed to Social Security receives 50 percent of the amount paid to the worker.

Since 1975 Social Security benefits have increased annually to offset the corrosive effects of inflation on fixed incomes. These increases, known as cost of living allowances (COLAs), are based on the annual increase in consumer prices. Allowing benefits to increase automatically ended the need for special acts of Congress, but it has also steadily increased the cost of the Social Security Program.

WEST'S ENCYCLOPEDIA OF AMERICAN LAW, 2ND EDITION

161

THE GOVERNMENT [THAT THE FRAMERS OF THE
CONSTITUTION]
DEVELOPED REQUIRED SEVERAL AMENDMENTS, A CIVIL WAR, AND MOMENTOUS SOCIAL TRANSFORMATION TO ATTAIN THE SYSTEM OF CONSTITUTIONAL GOVERNMENT, AND ITS RESPECT FOR THE INDIVIDUAL FREEDOMS AND
HUMAN RIGHTS, THAT WE HOLD AS FUNDAMENTAL TODAY.
THURGOOD
MARSHALL

have the same inheritance rights as other children. The ruling was believed to be the first on the controversial issue by any state supreme court.

Also in January 2002, Marshall addressed the Massachusetts Bar Association Conference, where he called for "a revolution in the administration of justice" stating that the court system needed to improve its management system as well as its staffing and budget controls. In March 2002, her discussion of the court system's problems were amplified in a 52-page report that was published by a blue-ribbon panel appointed by Marshall.

FURTHER READINGS

Taylor, Stacy A. 2006. "A Subtle Revolution as Winters Lead the Bench." Christian Science Monitor (January 5).
Larose, Denise. 2002. "Court Rules on Pathosuous Conception." Associated Press (January 2).

MARSHALL PLAN

AFTER WORLD WAR II, Europe was devastated and urgently needed an organized plan for reconstruction and economic and technical aid. The Marshall Plan was initiated in 1947 to meet this need.

The originator of the plan, U.S. Secretary of State George C. Marshall, introduced it in a speech at Harvard University on June 5, 1947. He pointed out two basic reasons for providing aid to Europe: The United States sought the establishment of the European countries as independent nations capable of conducting valuable trade with the United States; and the threat of a Communist takeover was more prevalent in countries that were suffering economic depression.

In 1947 a preliminary conference to discuss the terms of the program convened in Paris. The Soviet Union was invited to attend but subsequently withdrew from the program, as did other Soviet countries.

Sixteen European countries eventually participated, and, in July 1947, the Committee for European Economic Cooperation was established to allow representatives from member countries to draft a report that listed their requirements for food, supplies, and technical assistance for a four-year period.

The Committee for European Economic Cooperation subsequently became the Organization of European Economic Cooperation, an expanded and permanent organization that was responsible for submitting petitions for aid. In 1948, Congress passed the Economic Cooperation Act (62 Stat. 137), establishing funds for the Marshall Plan to be administered under the Economic Cooperation Administration, which was directed by Paul G. Hoffman.

Between 1948 and 1952, the sixteen-member countries received more than $13 billion dollars in aid under the Marshall Plan. The plan was generally regarded as a success that led to industrial and agricultural production, while stifling the Communist movement. The plan was not without its critics, however, and many Europeans believed the COLD WAR hostilities between the Soviet nations and the free world were aggravated by it.

MARSHALL, THURGOOD

Thurgood Marshall, the first African American to serve on the U.S. Supreme Court, saw law as a catalyst for social change. For nearly 60 years, as both a lawyer and a jurist, Marshall worked to dismantle the system of SEGREGATION and improve the legal and social position of minorities.

Marshall was born July 2, 1908, in Baltimore, the son of a Pullman porter and a schoolteacher. He was a graduate of Lincoln University, a small, all-black college in Pennsylvania, and Howard University Law School in Washington, D.C. At Howard, Marshall excelled under the guidance of Vice Dean CHARLES HAMILTON HOLSTON, the first African American to win a case before the U.S. Supreme Court. Holston encouraged his students to become not just lawyers but "social engineers" who could use the legal system to improve society. Marshall graduated first in his law class in 1933.

Marshall's attendance at predominantly black Howard University illustrates the barriers faced by African Americans during the early twentieth century. Although Marshall wished to attend law school at the University of Maryland (a public institution in his home town of Baltimore), he was prohibited by law from doing so because of his race. This injustice helped set Marshall on a course of opposing all forms of official segregation that denied equal opportunities to African Americans.

After law school, Marshall set up a practice in Baltimore, representing indigent clients in civil rights cases. In 1936, his mentor Holston offered him a position with the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP).

171

and in 1940, Marshall became director of the NAACP LEGAL DEFENSE AND EDUCATIONAL FUND, a position he held until 1961. Determined to eliminate segregation, Marshall coordinated a nationwide campaign to integrate higher education. He filed several successful lawsuits against public, graduate and professional schools that refused to accept African-American students. These suits paved the way for similar cases at the high school and elementary school levels. Marshall also journeyed throughout the deep South, traveling fifty thousand miles a year to fight JIM CROW LAWS (a series of laws that provided for racial segregation in the South) and to represent criminal defendants.

Marshall argued 32 cases before the U.S. Supreme Court and won 29 of them. No doubt his most famous and far-reaching triumph before the High Court was BROWN V. BOARD OF EDUCATION OF TOPEKA, KANSAS, 347 U.S. 483, 74 S. Ct. 686, 98 L. Ed. 873 (1954). In that case, the father of African-American student Linda Brown sued the school board of Topeka, Kansas, over its segregation policy. Brown was required by law to attend an all-African-American school several blocks from her home even though an all-white public school was located in her own neighborhood. Under Kansas law, cities of more than 15,000 people, such as Topeka, could choose to operate segregated schools. Marshall argued that these segregated schools, defended by officials as "separate but equal," were unconstitutional.

The SEPARATE-BUT-EQUAL doctrine originated in PLESSY V. FERGUSON, 163 U.S. 537, 16 S. Ct. 1138, 41 L. Ed. 256 (1896), a case allowing segregated public accommodations for whites

Thurgood Marshall.
LIBRARY OF CONGRESS

and blacks. In a plainspoken argument, Marshall dismissed as fallacy the notion that segregated schools offered the same educational experiences to black and white students. Sociological and psychological studies demonstrated that black children were in fact harmed by the policy of school segregation. The students' self-esteem was damaged and their future diminished when they were forced to accept inadequate facilities, equipment, and educational opportunities. Marshall argued that the only purpose segregation served was to perpetuate the myth of African-Americans' inferiority. A unanimous Court agreed and struck down the separate-but-equal doctrine, a

181

THURGOOD MARSHALL 1908-1993

WEST'S ENCYCLOPEDIA OF AMERICAN LAW, 2ND EDITION

THE FUTURE OF SOCIAL SECURITY

191

THE payment of OLD-AGE, SURVIVORS, AND DISABILITY INSURANCE (OASDI) benefits has been a cornerstone of U.S. social welfare policy since the establishment of the SOCIAL SECURITY ADMINISTRATION in 1935. At the same time, the long-term financial stability of OASDI has been a constant worry. In the early years of the twentieth century, concerns about Social Security mounted as policy makers assessed the impact of the retirement of the "Baby Boom" generation. Many younger people raised the issue of "generational equity." They expressed doubt that Social Security benefits will be available when they retire, and anger that they will be forced to pay, through payroll taxes, for the baby boomers' retirement benefits.

Reform of the Social Security system has always been a political hot potato. Retirees and those approaching retirement form a strong LOBBYING force, and they zealously protect their benefits. Employers and employees are equally vocal in their opposition to higher payroll taxes to fund OASDI. Thus, changes in Social Security required bipartisan support, which materialized in the face of an impending Social Security crisis. The 1982-83 National Commission on Social Security Reform successfully secured from Congress the short-term financing of OASDI. As a result, Congress passed a series of laws meant to accumulate surpluses as a hedge against future burdens. The Social Security surplus is the amount by which revenue from the federal payroll tax exceeds the amount of Social Security benefits paid out.

Shortly after these new laws went into effect, Social Security began running a surplus. Surplus Social Security revenue can be used to fund other government programs and to help retire the national debt. During the favorable economic climate of the late 1990s, Congress began to use the surplus to pay down the federal debt, hoping to better position the government to meet its obligations to future retirees. And, in 2000, the federal government generated enough revenue so that the entire Social Security surplus was available for paying off debt.

The state of Social Security became a major campaign issue in the 2000 elections, with both Republicans and Democrats attempting to appear as though they were guardians of Social Security assets. Candidates from both parties promised to create a "lockbox," meaning that the Social Security surplus would be spent entirely on debt retirement. With the advent of fiscally lean years in the early 2000s, the lockbox approach was largely disregarded by politicians who advanced other ideas about what to do with Social Security surpluses. These ideas included using the surplus to help offset decreases in revenues brought about by tax cuts and using the surplus to fund new or expanded spending initiatives.

Analysis argue that the real issue often is clouded. It is not how to spend the surplus now, but how to maintain the long-term solvency of the Social Security trust fund. Planners estimate that the income from the trust fund will exceed expenses each year until 2020. The trust fund balances will then start to decline as investments are redeemed to meet the increased expenses from a swelling retired workforce. Although it is estimated that 75 percent of the costs would continue to be met from current payroll and income taxes, in the absence of any changes, full benefits could not be paid beginning in 2030.

In its 1996 report, the Social Security Administration's Advisory Council looked at various long-term financing options for OASDI. The council could not reach consensus on a specific long-term plan, but it did suggest several types of financing that represent a marked departure from previous efforts to fund Social Security. The council noted that past efforts have generally featured cutting benefits and raising tax rates on a "pay-as-you-go" basis. The council agreed that this approach must be changed and offered three ways of restoring financial solvency.

One approach, called Maintenance of Benefits (MB), calls for an increase in income taxes on OASDI benefits, a reduction of some revenue from other trust funds, and, most importantly, the adoption of a plan allowing the federal government to invest a portion of the trust fund assets directly in common stocks. Rates of return on stocks have historically exceeded those on federal government bonds, where all Social Security above the exempt amount. Once a person reaches age 70, however, he does not have to report earnings to the SSA, and the benefit is not reduced.

Survivors' Benefits Survivors' benefits are paid to family members when a worker dies. Survivors can receive benefits if the deceased worker was employed and contributed to Social momentous victory for Marshall, affecting public schools in twenty-one states.

Marshall was appointed to the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit in 1961, and served there until 1965 when he was named SOLICITOR GENERAL for the United States. He was appointed to the U.S. Supreme Court in 1967 by President LYNDON B. JOHNSON and served as an associate justice for 24 years.

While on the Court, Marshall was known more for his impassioned dissents than for his majority opinions. In particular, as a staunch opponent of CAPITAL PUNISHMENT, he regularly voiced his disagreement with the majority in death penalty cases. He was also a firm backer of AFFIRMATIVE ACTION and contributed one of his most famous dissents in REGENTS OF THE UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA V. BAKE, 438 U.S. 265, 98 S. Ct. 2733, 57 L. Ed. 2d 750 (1978). In that case, Marshall criticized the high court's ruling that a public medical school's policy of reserving 16 of 100 spots for minority students was unconstitutional. Marshall also dissented in San Antonio Independent School District v. Rodriguez, 411 U.S. 1, 93 S. Ct. 1278, 36 L. Ed. 2d 16 (1973), disagreeing with the majority view that a Texas property tax system used to fund public education was acceptable, even though it allowed wealthier districts to provide a better school system for students in those districts than less wealthy districts could provide. Marshall objected strongly to the property tax arrangement, claiming that it deprived poor children of an equal education.

Marshall wrote the majority opinion in Annals of the United States v. Logan Valley Plaza, 391 U.S. 308, 88 S. Ct. 1601, 20 L. Ed. 2d 603 (1968), in which the Court declared that a shopping center was a public forum from which picketers could not be barred by private owners.

Marshall retired from the Court in 1991, but continued his criticism of government policies that were detrimental to African Americans or other disenfranchised groups.

Marshall died on January 24, 1993, in Bethesda, Maryland. Upon Marshall's death, nearly 20,000 mourners filed by his casket during the 12 hours it lay in state in the Great Hall of the U.S. Supreme Court.

FURTHER READINGS

Bland, Randall Watson. 2001. Justice Thurgood Marshall: Crusader for Liberty: His Judicial Biography (1908-1993). Bethesda, Md.: Academia Press.

Clemson, U.W., and Bryan K. Fair. 2003. "Lawyers, Civil Disobedience, and Equality in the Twenty-First Century: Lessons from Two American Heroes." Alabama Law Review 34 (spring): 559-83.

Kennedy, Randall. 1999. "Thurgood's Coming." Long Before He Became the Nation's First Black Supreme Court Justice. Thurgood Marshall Was a Lawyer on the Razor's Edge of American Social Struggle. American Lawyer 21 (December): 94.

Mohr, Richard H.W. 1999. "Thurgood Marshall and the High Court—the Two Decades Jurisprudence of a Conscience." Appellate Law Review 26 (January): 289-332.

Tushnet, Mark V. 1997. Making Constitutional Law: Thurgood Marshall and the Supreme Court, 1961-1991. New York: Oxford Univ. Press.

Williams, Juan. Thurgood Marshall: American Revolutionary. 2000. New York: Times Books.

CROSS-REFERENCES

Civil Rights Movement; Integration; School Desegregation.

MARTIAL LAW

The exercise of government and control by military authorities over the civilian population of a designated territory.

Martial law is an extreme and rare measure used to control society during war or periods of civil unrest or chaos. According to the Supreme Court, the term martial law carries no precise meaning (Duncan v. Kahanamoku, 327 U.S. 304, 66 S. Ct. 606, 90 L. Ed. 688 [1946]). However, most declarations of martial law have some common features. Generally, the institution of martial law contemplates some use of military force. To a varying extent, depending on the martial law order, government military personnel have the authority to make and enforce civil and criminal laws. Certain civil liberties may be suspended, such as the right to be free from unreasonable SEARCHES AND SEIZURES, FREEDOM OF ASSOCIATION, and freedom of movement. And the writ of HABEAS CORPUS may be suspended (this writ allows persons who are unlawfully imprisoned to gain freedom through a court proceeding).

In the United States, martial law has been instituted on the national level only once, during the Civil War, and on a regional level only once, during World War II. Otherwise, it has been limited to the states. Uprisings, political protests, labor strikes, and riots have, at various times, caused several state governors to declare some measure of martial law.

Martial law on the national level may be declared by Congress or the president. Under 1101

1111

WEST'S ENCYCLOPEDIA of AMERICAN LAW

2ND EDITION

VOLUME 13

DICTIONARY AND INDEXES

THOMSON

GALE

West's Encyclopedia of American Law, 2nd Edition

Project Editors

Jeffrey Lehman
Shirelle Phelps

Editorial

Andrew C. Claps, Pamela A. Dear, Jason M.
Everett, Lynn U. Koch, John F. McCoy,
Jeffrey Wilson, Jennifer M. York, Ralph Zerbonia

Research

Barbara McNeil

Editorial Support Services

Ryan Cartmill, Mark Hefner, Sue Petrus

Data Capture

Katrina Coach, Nikita Greene, Beverly Jendrowski, Elizabeth Pilette, Beth Richardson

Indexing Services

Lynne Maday

Permissions

Margaret A. Chamberlain

Imaging and Multimedia

Dean Dauphinais, Leitha Etheridge-Sims,
Mary Grimes, Lezlie Light, Dan Newell,
David G. Oblender, Chris O'Bryan

Product Design

Cynthia Baldwin, Kate Scheible

Composition and Electronic Capture

Evi Seoud, Mary Beth Trimper

Manufacturing

Rhonda Williams

© 2005 Thomson Gale, a part of The Thomson Corporation.

Thomson and Star Logo are trademarks and Gale is a registered trademark used herein under license.

For more information, contact

The Gale Group, Inc.
27500 Drake Rd.

Farmington Hills, MI 48331-3535

Or you can visit our Internet site at <http://www.gale.com>

ALL RIGHTS RESERVED

No part of this work covered by the copyright hereon may be reproduced or used in any form or by any means—graphic, electronic, or mechanical, including photocopying, recording, taping, Web distribution, or information storage retrieval systems—without the written permission of the publisher.

This publication is a creative work fully protected by all applicable copyright laws, as well as by misappropriation, trade secret, unfair condition, and other applicable laws. The authors and editors of this work have added value to the underlying factual material herein through one or more of the following: coordination, expression, arrangement, and classification of the information.

For permission to use material from this product, submit your request via Web at <http://www.gale-edit.com/permission> or you may download our Permissions Request form and submit your request by fax of mail to:

Permissions Department

The Gale Group, Inc.

27500 Drake Rd.

Farmington Hills, MI 48331-3535

Permissions Hotline:

248-699-8006 or 800-877-4253, ext. 8006

Fax: 248-699-8074 or 800-762-4058

Inside cover photographs reproduced by permission of the Library of Congress (Thurgood Marshall).

Since this page cannot legibly accommodate all copyright notices, the acknowledgments constitute an extension of the copyright notice.

While every effort has been made to ensure the reliability of the information presented in this publication, The Gale Group, Inc. does not guarantee the accuracy of the data contained herein. The Gale Group, Inc. accepts no payment for listing; and inclusion in the publication of any organization, agency, institution, publication service, or individual does not imply endorsement of the editors or publisher. Errors brought to the attention of the publisher and verified to the satisfaction of the publisher will be corrected in future editions.

Library of Congress Cataloging-in-Publication Data

West's encyclopedia of American law / Jeffrey Lehman, editor, Shirelle Phelps, editor.— 2nd ed.

p. cm.

Includes bibliographical references and index.

ISBN 0-7876-6367-0 (hardcover set : alk. paper)

1. Law—United States—Encyclopedias. 2. Law—United States—Popular works. I. Lehman, Jeffrey. II. Phelps, Shirelle.

KF154.W47 2004

349.73'03—dc22

2004004918

ISBN 0-7876-6367-0 (set), ISBN 0-7876-6368-9 (vol. 1), ISBN 0-7876-6369-7 (vol. 2), ISBN 0-7876-6370-0
(vol. 3), ISBN 0-7876-6371-9 (vol. 4), ISBN 0-7876-6372-7 (vol. 5), ISBN 0-7876-6373-5 (vol. 6), ISBN 0-7876-6374-3 (vol. 7), ISBN 0-7876-6375-1 (vol. 8), ISBN 0-7876-6376-X (vol. 9), ISBN 0-7876-6377-8 (vol.
10), ISBN 0-7876-6378-6 (vol. 11), ISBN 0-7876-6379-4 (vol. 12), ISBN 0-7876-9420-7 (vol. 13)

This title is also available as an e-book. ISBN 0-7876-9373-1 (set) Contact your Gale sales representative for ordering information.

Printed in the United States of America

10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 1

DEDICATION

West's Encyclopedia of American Law
(WEAL) is dedicated to librarians and library patrons throughout the United States and beyond. Your interest in the American legal system helps to expand and fuel the framework of our Republic.

CONTENTS

VOLUME 1

Preface	iii
Contributors	vii
A–Ba	1
Abbreviations	507

VOLUME 2

Preface	iii
Contributors	vii
Be–Col	1
Abbreviations	511

VOLUME 3

Preface	iii
Contributors	vii
Com–Dor	1
Abbreviations	511

VOLUME 4

Preface	iii
Contributors	vii
Dou–Fre	1
Abbreviations	509

VOLUME 5

Preface	iii
Contributors	vii
Fri–Jam	1
Abbreviations	501

VOLUME 6

Preface	iii
Contributors	vii
Jap–Ma	1
Abbreviations	469

VOLUME 7

Preface	iii
Contributors	vii
Mc–Pl	1
Abbreviations	467

VOLUME 8

Preface	iii
Contributors	vii
Po–San	1
Abbreviations	461

VOLUME 9

Preface	iii
Contributors	vii
Sar–Ten	1
Abbreviations	465

VOLUME 10

Preface	iii
Contributors	vii
Ter–Z	1
Abbreviations	459

VOLUME 11

Milestones in the Law

VOLUME 12

Primary Documents

VOLUME 13

Dictionary of Legal Terms

Cases Index

General Index

PREFACE

The U.S. legal system is admired around the world for the freedoms it allows the individual and the fairness with which it attempts to treat all persons. On the surface, it may seem simple, yet those who have delved into it know that this system of federal and state constitutions, statutes, regulations, and common-law decisions is elaborate and complex. It derives from the English common law, but includes principles older than England, along with some principles from other lands. The U.S. legal system, like many others, has a language all its own, but too often it is an unfamiliar language: many concepts are still phrased in Latin. The second edition of West's Encyclopedia of American Law (WEAL) explains legal terms and concepts in everyday language, however. It covers a wide variety of persons, entities, and events that have shaped the U.S. legal system and influenced public perceptions of it.

MAIN FEATURES OF THIS SET

Entries

This encyclopedia contains nearly 5,000 entries devoted to terms, concepts, events, movements, cases, and persons significant to U.S. law. Entries on legal terms contain a definition of the term, followed by explanatory text if necessary. Entries are arranged alphabetically in standard encyclopedia format for ease of use. A wide variety of additional features, listed later in this preface, provide interesting background and supplemental information.

Definitions Every entry on a legal term is followed by a definition, which appears at the beginning of the entry and is italicized. The Dictionary and Indexes volume includes a glossary containing all the definitions from WEAL.

Further Readings To facilitate further research, a list of Further Readings is included at the end of a majority of the main entries.

Cross-References WEAL provides two types of cross-references, within and following entries. Within the entries, terms are set in small capital letters—for example, LIEN—to indicate that they have their own entry in the encyclopedia. At the end of the entries, related entries the reader may wish to explore are listed alphabetically by title.

Blind cross-reference entries are also included to direct the user to other entries throughout the set.

In Focus Essays

In Focus essays accompany related entries and provide additional facts, details, and arguments on particularly interesting, important, or controversial issues raised by those entries. The subjects covered include hotly contested issues, such as abortion, capital punishment, and gay rights; detailed processes, such as the Food and Drug Administration's approval process for new drugs; and important historical or social issues, such as debates over the formation of the U.S. Constitution.

Sidebars

Sidebars provide brief highlights of some interesting facet of accompanying entries. They complement regular entries and In Focus essays by adding informative details. Sidebar topics include the Million Man March and the branches of the U.S. armed services. Sidebars appear at the top of a text page and are set in a box.

Biographies

WEAL profiles a wide variety of interesting and influential people—including lawyers, judges, government and civic leaders, and historical and modern figures—who have played a part in creating or shaping U.S. law. Each biography includes a timeline, which shows important moments in the subject's life as well as important historical events of the period. Biographies appear alphabetically by the subject's last name.

ADDITIONAL FEATURES OF THIS SET

Enhancements Throughout WEAL, readers will find a broad array of photographs, charts, graphs, manuscripts, legal forms, and other visual aids enhancing the ideas presented in the text.

Indexes WEAL features a cases index and a cumulative general index in a separate volume.

Appendices

Three appendix volumes are included with WEAL, containing hundreds of pages of documents, laws, manuscripts, and forms fundamental to and characteristic of U.S. law.

Milestone Cases in the Law

A special Appendix volume entitled Milestones in the Law, allows readers to take a close look at landmark cases in U.S. law. Readers can explore the reasoning of the judges and the arguments of the attorneys that produced major decisions on important legal and social issues. Included in each Milestone are the opinions of the lower courts; the briefs presented by the parties to the U.S. Supreme Court; and the decision of the Supreme Court, including the majority opinion and all concurring and dissenting opinions for each case.

Primary Documents

There is also an Appendix volume containing more than 60 primary documents, such as the English Bill of Rights, Martin Luther King Jr.'s Letter from Birmingham Jail, and several presidential speeches.

Citations

Wherever possible, WEAL entries include citations for cases and statutes mentioned in the text. These allow readers wishing to do additional research to find the opinions and statutes cited. Two sample citations, with explanations of common citation terms, can be seen below and opposite.

Miranda v. Arizona ,	384	U.S.	436,	86 S.Ct. 1602,	16 L.Ed. 2d 694	(1966)
1	2	3	4	5	6	7

- 1. Case title. The title of the case is set in italics and indicates the names of the parties. The suit in this sample citation was between Ernesto A. Miranda and the state of Arizona.
- 2. Reporter volume number. The number preceding the reporter name indicates the reporter volume containing the case. (The volume number appears on the spine of the reporter, along with the reporter name.)
- 3. Reporter name. The reporter name is abbreviated. The suit in the sample citation is from the reporter, or series of books, called U.S. Reports, which contains cases from the U.S. Supreme Court. (Numerous reporters publish cases from the federal and state courts.)
- 4. Reporter page. The number following the reporter name indicates the reporter page on which the case begins.
- 5. Additional reporter citation. Many cases may be found in more than one reporter. The suit in the sample citation also appears in volume 86 of the Supreme Court Reporter, beginning on page 1602.
- 6. Additional reporter citation. The suit in the sample citation is also reported in volume 16 of the Lawyer's Edition, second series, beginning on page 694.
- 7. Year of decision. The year the court issued its decision in the case appears in parentheses at the end of the cite.

Brady Handgun Violence Prevention Act,	Pub. L. No. 103–159,	107 Stat.	1536	(18 U.S.C.A. §§ 921–925A)
1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8

1. Statute title.
2. Public law number. In the sample citation, the number 103 indicates that this law was passed by the 103d Congress, and the number 159 indicates that it was the 159th law passed by that Congress.
3. Reporter volume number. The number preceding the reporter name indicates the reporter volume containing the statute.
4. Reporter name. The reporter name is abbreviated. The statute in the sample citation is from Statutes at Large.
5. Reporter page. The number following the reporter name indicates the reporter page on which the statute begins.
6. Title number. Federal laws are divided into major sections with specific titles. The number preceding a reference to the U.S. Code Annotated is the title number. title 18 of the U.S. Code is Crimes and Criminal Procedure.
7. Additional reporter. The statute in the sample citation may also be found in the U.S. Code Annotated.
8. Section number. The section numbers following a reference to the U.S. Code Annotated indicate where the statute appears in that reporter.

CONTRIBUTORS

Editorial Reviewers

Matthew C. Cordon
Frederick K. Grittner
Stephanie Schmitt
Linda Tashbook
M. Uri Toch

Contributing Authors

James Cahoy
Matthew C. Cordon
Richard J. Cretan
Mark Engsberg
Frederick K. Grittner
Lauri R. Harding
David R. Johnstone
Theresa J. Lippert
Frances T. Lynch
George A. Milite
Melodie Monahan
Kelle Sisung
Scott D. Slick

Contributors to Previous Edition

Richard Abowitz
Paul Bard
Joanne Bergum
Michael Bernard
Gregory A. Borchard
Susan Buie

Terry Carter
Sally Chatelaine
Joanne Smestad Claussen
Richard Cretan
Lynne Crist
Paul D. Daggett
Susan L. Dalhed
Lisa M. DelFiacco
Suzanne Paul Dell'Oro
Dan DeVoe
Joanne Engelking
Sharon Fischlowitz
Jonathan Flanders
Lisa Florey
Robert A. Frame
John E. Gisselquist
Russell L. Gray III
Frederick K. Grittner
Victoria L. Handler
Heidi L. Headlee
James Heidberg
Clifford P. Hooker
Marianne Ashley Jerpbak
Andrew Kass
Margaret Anderson Kelliher
Christopher J. Kennedy
Anne E. Kevlin
Ann T. Laughlin
Laura Ledsworth-Wang
Linda Lincoln

Gregory Luce
David Luiken
Jennifer Marsh
Sandra M. Olson
Anne Larsen Olstad
William Ostrem
Lauren Pacelli
Randolph C. Park
Gary Peter
Michele A. Potts
Reinhard Priester
Christy Rain
Brian Roberts
Debra J. Rosenthal
Mary Lahr Schier
Mary Scarbrough
Theresa L. Schulz
John Scobey
James Slavicek
Scott D. Slick
David Strom
Wendy Tien
Douglas Tueting
Richard F. Tyson
Christine Ver Ploeg
George E. Warner
Anne Welsbacher
Eric P. Wind
Lindy T. Yokanovich

CONTENTS

APPENDIX: DICTIONARY AND INDEXES

DICTIONARY OF LEGAL TERMS	1
CASES INDEX	211
GENERAL INDEX	257

DICTIONARY OF LEGAL TERMS

A fortiori: [Latin, With stronger reason.] This phrase is used in logic to denote an argument to the effect that because one ascertained fact exists, therefore another which is included in it or analogous to it and is less improbable, unusual, or surprising must also exist.

A mensa et thoro: [Latin, From table and bed.] More commonly translated, “from bed and board.”

A posteriori: [Latin, From the effect to the cause.]

A priori: [Latin, From the cause to the effect.]

Ab initio: [Latin, From the beginning; from the first act; from the inception.] An agreement is said to be “void ab initio” if it has at no time had any legal validity. A party may be said to be a trespasser, an estate said to be good, an agreement or deed said to be void, or a marriage or act said to be unlawful, ab initio. Contrasted in this sense with EX POST FACTO, or with postea.

Abandonment: The surrender, relinquishment, disclaimer, or cession of property or of rights. Voluntary relinquishment of all right, title, claim, and possession, with the intention of not reclaiming it.

The giving up of a thing absolutely, without reference to any particular person or purpose. For example, vacating property with the intention of not returning, so that it may be appropriated by the next comer or finder. The voluntary relinquishment of possession of a thing by its owner with the intention of terminating ownership, but without vesting it in any other person. The relinquishing of all title, possession, or claim, or a virtual, intentional throwing away of property.

Term includes both the intention to abandon and the external act by which the intention is carried into effect. In determining whether someone has abandoned property or rights, the intention is the first and paramount object of inquiry, for there can be no abandonment without the intention to abandon.

Abandonment differs from surrender in that surrender requires an agreement, and also from FORFEITURE, in that forfeiture may be against the intention of the party alleged to have forfeited.

In the case of children, abandonment is the willful forsaking or forgoing of parental duties. Desertion as a legal concept, is similar in this respect, although broader in scope, covering both real and constructive situations; abandonment is generally seen as involving a specific and tangible forsaking or forgoing.

Abatement: A reduction, a decrease, or a diminution. The suspension or cessation, in whole or in part, of a continuing charge, such as rent.

Abatement of an action: An entire overthrow or destruction of a suit so that it is quashed and ended.

Abdication: Renunciation of the privileges and prerogatives of an office. The act of a sovereign in renouncing and relinquishing his or her government or throne, so that either the throne is left entirely vacant, or is filled by a successor appointed or elected beforehand. Also, where a magistrate or person in office voluntarily renounces or gives it up before the time of service has expired. It differs from resignation, in that resignation is made by one who has received an office from another and restores it into that person's hands, as an inferior into the hands of a superior; abdication is the relinquishment of an office which has devolved by act of law. It is said to be a renunciation, quitting, and relinquishing, so as to have nothing further to do with a thing, or the doing of such actions as are inconsistent with the holding of it. Voluntary and permanent withdrawal from power by a public official or monarch.

Abduction: The act of restraining another through the use or threat of DEADLY FORCE or through fraudulent persuasion. The requisite restraint generally requires that the abductor intend to prevent the liberation of the abductee. Some states require that the abductee be a minor or that the abductor intend to subject the abductee to prostitution or illicit sexual activity.

Abet: To encourage or incite another to commit a crime. This word is usually applied to aiding in the commission of a crime. To abet another to commit a murder is to command, procure, counsel, encourage, induce, or assist. To facilitate the commission of a crime, promote its accomplishment, or help in advancing or bringing it about.

In relation to charge of aiding and abetting, term includes knowledge of the perpetrator's wrongful purpose, and encouragement, promotion or counsel of another in the commission of the criminal offense.

A French word, abeter—to bait or excite an animal.

Abettor: One who commands, advises, instigates, or encourages another to commit a crime. A person who, being present, incites another to commit a crime, and thus becomes a principal. To be an abettor, the accused must have instigated or advised the commission of a crime or been present for the purpose of assisting in its commission; he or she must share criminal intent with which the crime was committed.

Abeysance: A lapse in succession during which there is no person in whom title is vested. In the law of estates, the condition of a freehold when there is no person in whom it is vested. In such cases the freehold has been said to be in nubibus (in the clouds), in pendent (in suspension); and in gremio legis (in the bosom of the law). Where there is a tenant of the freehold, the remainder or reversion in fee may exist for a time without any particular owner, in which case it is said to be in abeyance. A condition of being undetermined or in state of suspension or inactivity. In regard to sales to third parties of property acquired by county at TAX SALE, being held in abeyance means that certain rights or conditions are in expectancy.

Abiding conviction: A definite conviction of guilt derived from a thorough examination of the whole case. Used commonly to instruct juries on the frame of mind required for guilt proved BEYOND A REASONABLE DOUBT. A settled or fixed conviction.

Abjuration: A renunciation or ABANDONMENT by or upon oath. The renunciation under oath of one's citizenship or some other right or privilege.

Abode: One's home; habitation; place of dwelling; or residence. Ordinarily means "domicile." Living place impermanent in character. The place where a person dwells. Residence of a legal voter. Fixed place of residence for the time being. FOR SERVICE OF PROCESS, one's fixed place of residence for the time being; his or her "usual place of abode."

Abolition: The destruction, annihilation, abrogation, or extinguishment of anything, but especially things of a permanent nature—such as institutions, usages, or customs, as in the abolition of SLAVERY.

Abortion: The spontaneous or artificially induced expulsion of an embryo or fetus. As used in legal context, the term usually refers to induced abortion.

Abrogation: The destruction or annulling of a former law by an act of the legislative power, by constitutional authority, or by usage. It stands opposed to rogation; and is distinguished from derogation, which implies the taking away of only some part of a law; from SUBROGATION, which denotes the substitution of a clause; from dispensation, which only sets it aside in a particular instance; and from antiquation, which is the refusing to pass a law.

Abscond: To go in a clandestine manner out of the jurisdiction of the courts, or to lie concealed, in order to avoid their process. To hide, conceal, or absent oneself clandestinely, with the intent to avoid legal process. To postpone limitations. To flee from arresting or prosecuting officers of the state.

Absconding debtor: One who absconds from creditors to avoid payment of debts. A debtor who has intentionally concealed himself or herself from creditors, or withdrawn from the reach of their suits, with intent to frustrate their just demands. Such act was formerly an act of bankruptcy.

Absentee: One who has left, either temporarily or permanently, his or her domicile or usual place of residence or business. A person beyond the geographical borders of a state who has not authorized an agent to represent him or her in legal proceedings that may be commenced against him or her within the state.

Absentee voting: Participation in an election by qualified voters who are permitted to mail in their ballots.

Absolute: Complete; perfect; final; without any condition or incumbrance; as an absolute bond in distinction from a conditional bond. Unconditional; complete and perfect in itself; without relation to or dependence on other things or persons.

Free from conditions, limitations or qualifications, not dependent, or modified or affected by circumstances; that is, without any condition or restrictive provisions.

Absolute deed: A document used to transfer unrestricted title to property.

Abstention doctrine: The concept under which a federal court exercises its discretion and equitable powers and declines to decide a legal action over which it has jurisdiction pursuant to the Constitution and statutes where the state judiciary is capable of rendering a definitive ruling in the matter.

Abstract: To take or withdraw from; as, to abstract the funds of a bank. To remove or separate. To summarize or abridge.

Abstract of title: A condensed history, taken from public records or documents, of the ownership of a piece of land.

Abstraction: Taking from someone with an intent to injure or defraud.

Abuse: Everything that is contrary to good order established by usage. Departure from reasonable use; immoderate or improper use. Physical or mental maltreatment. Misuse. Deception. To wrong in speech, reproach coarsely, disparage, revile, and malign.

Abuse excuse: Description of efforts by some criminal defendants to negate criminal responsibility by showing that they could not tell right from wrong due to abuse by their spouses or parents. Although this defense is not specifically recognized in substantive CRIMINAL LAW, it has been used successfully in some cases to prove, for example, the INSANITY DEFENSE.

Abuse of discretion: A failure to take into proper consideration the facts and law relating to a particular matter; an ARBITRARY or unreasonable departure from precedent and settled judicial custom.

Abuse of power: Improper use of authority by someone who has that authority because he or she holds a public office.

Abuse of process: The use of legal process to accomplish an unlawful purpose; causing a summons, writ, warrant, mandate, or any other process to issue from a court in order to accomplish some purpose not intended by the law.

Abusive: Tending to deceive; practicing abuse; prone to ill-treat by coarse, insulting words or harmful acts. Using ill treatment; injurious, improper, hurtful, offensive, reproachful.

Abut: To reach; to touch. To touch at the end; be contiguous; join at a border or boundary; terminate on; end at; border on; reach or touch with an end. The term abutting implies a closer proximity than the term adjacent.

Academic freedom: The right to teach as one sees fit, but not necessarily the right to teach evil. The term encompasses much more than teaching-related speech rights of teachers.

Academic year: That period of time necessary to complete an actual course of study during a school year.

Accede: To consent or to agree, as to accede to another's point of view. To enter an office or to accept a position, as to accede to the presidency.

Acceleration: A hastening; a shortening of the time until some event takes place.

Acceleration clause: The provision in a credit agreement, such as a mortgage, note, bond, or deed of trust, that allows the lender to require immediate payment of all money due if certain conditions occur before the time that payment would otherwise be due.

Acceptance: An express act or implication by conduct that manifests assent to the terms of an offer in a manner invited or required by the offer so that a binding contract is formed. The exercise of power conferred by an offer by performance of some act. The act of a person to whom something is offered or tendered by another, whereby the offeree demonstrates through an act invited by the offer an intention of retaining the subject of the offer.

Access: Freedom of approach or communication; or the means, power, or opportunity of approaching, communicating, or passing to and from. Sometimes importing the occurrence of sexual intercourse; otherwise as importing opportunity of communication for that purpose as between HUSBAND AND WIFE.

In real property law, the term access denotes the right vested in the owner of the land that adjoins a road or other highway to go and return from his own land to the highway without obstruction. Access to property does not necessarily carry with it possession.

For purposes of establishing element of access by defendant in COPYRIGHT infringement action, access is ordinarily defined as opportunity to copy.

Accession: Coming into possession of a right or office; increase; augmentation; addition.

The right to all that one's own property produces, whether that property be movable or immovable; and the right to that which is united to it by accession, either naturally or artificially. The right to own things that become a part of something already owned.

A principle derived from the CIVIL LAW, by which the owner of property becomes entitled to all that it produces, and to all that is added or united to it, either naturally or artificially (that is, by the labor or skill of another) even where such addition extends to a change of form or materials; and by which, on the other hand, the possessor of property becomes entitled to it, as against the original owner, where the addition made to it by skill and labor is of greater value than the property itself, or where the change effected in its form is so great as to render it impossible to restore it to its original shape.

Generally, accession signifies acquisition of title to PERSONAL PROPERTY by bestowing labor on it that converts it into an entirely different thing or by incorporation of property into a union with other property.

The commencement or inauguration of a sovereign's reign.

Accessory: Aiding or contributing in a secondary way or assisting in or contributing to as a subordinate.

In CRIMINAL LAW, contributing to or aiding in the commission of a crime. One who, without being present at the commission of an offense, becomes guilty of such offense, not as a chief actor, but as a participant, as by command, advice, instigation, or concealment; either before or after the fact or commission.

One who aids, abets, commands, or counsels another in the commission of a crime.

Accident: The word accident is derived from the Latin verb accidere, signifying "fall upon, befall, happen, chance." In its most commonly accepted meaning, or in its ordinary or popular sense, the word may be defined as meaning: some sudden and unexpected event taking place without expectation, upon the instant, rather than something that continues, progresses or develops; something happening by chance; something unforeseen, unexpected, unusual, extraordinary, or phenomenal, taking place not according to the usual course of things or events, out of the range of ordinary calculations; that which exists or occurs abnormally, or an uncommon occurrence. The word may be employed as denoting a calamity, casualty, catastrophe, disaster, an undesirable or unfortunate happening; any unexpected personal injury resulting from any unlooked for mishap or occurrence; any unpleasant or unfortunate occurrence that causes injury, loss, suffering, or death; some untoward occurrence aside from the usual course of events. An event that takes place without one's foresight or expectation; an undesigned, sudden, and unexpected event.

Accidental death benefit: A provision of a life insurance policy stating that if the insured—the person whose life has been insured—dies in an accident, the beneficiary of the policy—the person to whom its proceeds are payable—will receive twice the face value of the policy.

Accidental killing: A death caused by a lawful act done under the reasonable belief that no harm was likely to result.

Accidental vein: An imprecise term that refers generally to a continuous body of a mineral or mineralized rock filling a seam other than the principal vein that led to the discovery of the mining claim or location.

Accidents of navigation: Mishaps that are peculiar to travel by sea or to normal navigation; accidents caused at sea by the action of the elements, rather than by a failure to exercise good handling, working, or navigating of a ship. Such accidents could not have been avoided by the exercise of nautical skill or prudence.

Accommodation endorsement: The act of a third person—the accommodation party—in writing his or her name on the back of a COMMERCIAL PAPER without any consideration, but merely to benefit the person to whom the paper is payable or to enable the person who made the document—the maker—to obtain money or credit on it.

Accommodation paper: A type of COMMERCIAL PAPER (such as a bill or note promising that money will be paid to someone) that is signed by another person—the accommodation party—as a favor to the promisor—the accommodated party—so that credit may be extended to him or her on the basis of the paper.

Accommodation party: One who signs a COMMERCIAL PAPER for the purpose of lending his or her name and credit to another party to the document—the accommodated party—to help that party obtain a loan or an extension of credit.

Accompany: To go along with; to go with or to attend as a companion or associate.

Accomplice: One who knowingly, voluntarily, and with common intent unites with the principal offender in the commission of a crime. One who is in some way concerned or associated in commission of crime; partaker of guilt; one who aids or assists, or is an ACCESSORY. One who is guilty of complicity in crime charged, either by being present and aiding or abetting in it, or having advised and encouraged it, though absent from place when it was committed, though mere presence, ACQUIESCENCE, or silence, in the absence of a duty to act, is not enough, no matter how reprehensible it may be, to constitute one an accomplice. One is liable as an accomplice to the crime of another if he or she gave assistance or encouragement or failed to perform a legal duty to prevent it with the intent thereby to promote or facilitate commission of the crime.

Accomplice witness: A witness to a crime who, either as principal, ACCOMPLICE, or ACCESSORY, was connected with the crime by unlawful act or omission on his or her part, transpiring either before, at time of, or after commission of the offense, and whether or not he or she was present and participated in the crime.

Accord: An agreement that settles a dispute, generally requiring an obligee to accept a compromise or satisfaction from the obligor with something less than what was originally demanded. Also often used synonymously with treaty.

Accord and satisfaction: A method of discharging a claim whereby the parties agree to give and accept something in settlement of the claim and perform the agreement, the accord being the agreement and the satisfaction its execution or performance, and it is a new contract substituted for an old contract which is thereby discharged, or for an obligation or CAUSE OF ACTION which is settled, and must have all of the elements of a valid contract.

Accouchement: The act of giving birth to a child.

Account: A written list of transactions, noting money owed and money paid; a detailed statement of mutual demands arising out of a contract or a fiduciary relationship.

Account, action on: A civil lawsuit maintained under the COMMON LAW to recover money owed on an account.

Account payable: A debt owed by a business that arises in the normal course of its dealings, that has not been replaced by a note from another debtor, and that is not necessarily due or past due.

Account receivable: A debt owed by a business that arises in the normal course of dealings and is not supported by a negotiable instrument.

Account rendered: A statement of transactions made out by a creditor and presented to the debtor.

Account stated: An amount that accurately states money due to a creditor; a debt arising out of transactions between a debtor and creditor that has been reduced to a balance due for the items of account.

Accountant: A person who has the requisite skill and experience in establishing and maintaining accurate financial records for an individual or a business. The duties of an accountant may include designing and controlling systems of records, auditing books, and preparing financial statements. An accountant may give tax advice and prepare tax returns.

Accounting: A system of recording or settling accounts in financial transactions; the methods of determining income and expenses for tax and other financial purposes. Also, one of the remedies available for enforcing a right or redressing a wrong asserted in a lawsuit.

Accredit: To give official authorization or status. To recognize as having sufficient academic standards to qualify graduates for higher education or for professional practice. In INTERNATIONAL LAW: (1) To acknowledge; to receive as an envoy and give that person credit and rank accordingly. (2) To send with credentials as an envoy. This latter use is now the accepted one.

Accredited law school: A law school that has been approved by the state and the Association of American Law Schools (AALS), the AMERICAN BAR ASSOCIATION (ABA), or both.

Accretion: The act of adding portions of soil to the soil already in possession of the owner by gradual deposition through the operation of natural causes.

The growth of the value of a particular item given to a person as a specific bequest under the provisions of a will between the time the will was written and the time of death of the testator—the person who wrote the will.

Accrual basis: A method of accounting that reflects expenses incurred and income earned for INCOME TAX purposes for any one year.

Accrue: To increase; to augment; to come to by way of increase; to be added as an increase, profit, or damage. Acquired; falling due; made or executed; matured; occurred; received; vested; was created; was incurred.

To attach itself to, as a subordinate or accessory claim or demand arises out of, and is joined to, its principal.

The term is also used of independent or original demands, meaning to arise, to happen, to come into force or existence; to vest, as in the phrase, “The right of action did not accrue within six years.” To become a present right or demand; to come to pass.

Accumulated earnings tax: A special tax imposed on corporations that accumulate (rather than distribute via dividends) their earnings beyond the reasonable needs of the business. The accumulated earnings tax is imposed on accumulated taxable income in addition to the corporate INCOME TAX.

Accumulation trust: An arrangement whereby property is transferred by its owner—the settlor—with the intention that it be administered by someone else—a trustee—for another person’s benefit, with the direction that the trustee gather, rather than distribute, the income of the trust and any profits made from the sale of any of the property making up the trust until the time specified in the document that created the trust.

Accumulative judgment: A second or additional judgment against a person who has already been convicted and sentenced for another crime; the execution of the second judgment is postponed until the person’s first sentence has been completed.

Accumulative sentence: A sentence—a court’s formal pronouncement of the legal consequences of a person’s conviction of a crime—additional to others, imposed on a defendant who has been convicted upon an indictment containing several counts, each charging a distinct offense, or who is under conviction at the same time for several distinct offenses; each sentence is to run consecutively, beginning at the expiration of the previous sentence.

Accusation: A formal criminal charge against a person alleged to have committed an offense punishable by law, which is presented before a court or a magistrate having jurisdiction to inquire into the alleged crime.

Accusatory body: Body such as a GRAND JURY whose duty it is to hear evidence to determine whether a person should be accused of (charged with) a crime; to be distinguished from a traverse or petit jury, which is charged with the duty of determining guilt or innocence.

Accused: The generic name for the defendant in a criminal case. A person becomes accused within the meaning of a guarantee of SPEEDY TRIAL only at the point at which either formal indictment or information has been returned against him or her, or when he or she becomes subject to actual restraints on liberty imposed by arrest, whichever occurs first.

Acknowledgment: To acknowledge is to admit, affirm, declare, testify, avow, confess, or own as genuine. Admission or affirmation of obligation or responsibility. Most states have adopted the Uniform Acknowledgment Act.

Acquiescence: Conduct recognizing the existence of a transaction and intended to permit the transaction to be carried into effect; a tacit agreement; consent inferred from silence.

Acquired immune deficiency syndrome: A disease caused by the human immunodeficiency virus (HIV) that produces disorders and infections that can lead to death.

Acquisition charge: A fee imposed upon a borrower who satisfies a loan prior to the date of payment specified in the loan agreement.

Acquit: To set free, release or discharge as from an obligation, burden or accusation. To absolve one from an obligation or a liability; or to legally certify the innocence of one charged with a crime.

Acquittal: The legal and formal certification of the innocence of a person who has been charged with a crime.

Act: Something done; usually, something done intentionally or voluntarily or with a purpose.

Act of god: An event that directly and exclusively results from the occurrence of natural causes that could not have been prevented by the exercise of foresight or caution; an inevitable accident.

Action: Conduct; behavior; something done; a series of acts.

A case or lawsuit; a legal and formal demand for enforcement of one's rights against another party asserted in a court of justice.

Action on the case: One of the old common-law FORMS OF ACTION that provided a remedy for the invasion of personal or property interests.

Actionable: Giving sufficient legal grounds for a lawsuit; giving rise to a CAUSE OF ACTION.

Actionable per se: Legally sufficient to support a lawsuit in itself.

Actual cash value: The fair or reasonable cash price for which a property could be sold in the market in the ordinary course of business, and not at forced sale. The price it will bring in a fair market after reasonable efforts to find a purchaser who will give the highest price. What property is worth in money, allowing for depreciation. Ordinarily, actual cash value, fair market value, and market value are synonymous terms.

Actual notice: Conveying facts to a person with the intention to apprise that person of a proceeding in which his or her interests are involved, or informing a person of some fact that he or she has a right to know and which the informer has a legal duty to communicate.

Actuary: A statistician who computes insurance and PENSION rates and premiums on the basis of the experience of people sharing similar age and health characteristics.

Actus reus: [Latin, Guilty act.] As an element of criminal responsibility, the wrongful act or omission that comprises the physical components of a crime. Criminal statutes generally require proof of both actus reus and mens rea on the part of a defendant in order to establish criminal liability.

Ad damnum: [Latin, To the loss.] The clause in a complaint that sets a maximum amount of money that the plaintiff can recover under a default judgment if the defendant fails to appear in court.

Ad hoc: [Latin, For this; for this special purpose.] An attorney ad hoc or a guardian or curator ad hoc is one appointed for a special purpose, generally to represent the client, ward, or child in the particular action in which the appointment is made.

Ad hominem: [Latin, To the person.] A term used in debate to denote an argument made personally against an opponent, instead of against the opponent's argument.

Ad interim: [Latin, In the meantime.] An officer ad interim is a person appointed to fill a position that is temporarily open, or to perform the functions of a particular position during the absence or temporary incapacity of the individual who regularly fulfills those duties.

Ad litem: [Latin, For the suit; for the purposes of the suit; pending the suit.] A GUARDIAN AD LITEM is a guardian appointed to prosecute or defend a suit on behalf of a party who is legally incapable of doing so, such as an infant or an insane person.

Ad valorem: According to value.

Adaptation: The act or process of modifying an object to render it suitable for a particular or new purpose or situation.

Add-on: A purchase of additional goods before payment is made for goods already purchased.

Addict: Any individual who habitually uses any narcotic drug so as to endanger the public morals, health, safety, or welfare, or who is so drawn to the use of such narcotic drugs as to have lost the power of self-control with reference to his or her drug use.

Additional extended coverage: A provision added to an insurance policy to extend the scope of coverage to include further risks to dwellings.

Additional instructions: A charge given to a jury by a judge after the original instructions to explain the law and guide the jury in its decision making.

Additur: The power of the trial court to assess damages or increase the amount of an inadequate award made by jury verdict, as a condition of a denial of a motion for a new trial, with the consent of the defendant whether or not the plaintiff consents to such action. This is not allowed in the federal system.

Adduce: To present, offer, bring forward, or introduce.

Ademption: The failure of a gift of personal property—a bequest—or of real property—a devise—to be distributed according to the provisions of a decedent's will because the property no longer belongs to the testator at the time of his or her death or because the property has been substantially changed.

Adequate: Sufficient; equal to what is required; suitable to the case or occasion.

Adequate remedy at law: Sufficient compensation by way of monetary damages.

Adhesion contract: A type of contract, a legally binding agreement between two parties to do a certain thing, in which one side has all the bargaining power and uses it to write the contract primarily to his or her advantage.

Adjacent: Lying near or close to; neighboring.

Adjective law: The aggregate of rules of procedure or practice. Also called adjectival law, as opposed to that body of law that the courts are established to administer (called substantive law), it means the rules according to which the SUBSTANTIVE LAW is administered, e.g., Rules of CIVIL PROCEDURE. That part of the law that provides a method for enforcing or maintaining rights, or obtaining redress for their invasion. Pertains to and prescribes the practice, method, procedure, or legal machinery by which substantive law is enforced or made effective.

Adjoining landowners: Those persons, such as next-door and backyard neighbors, who own lands that share common boundaries and therefore have mutual rights, duties, and liabilities.

Adjourned term: A CONTINUANCE of a previous or regular court session that results from postponement.

Adjournment: A putting off or postponing of proceedings; an ending or dismissal of further business by a court, legislature, or public official—either temporarily or permanently.

Adjudge: To determine by a judge; to pass on and decide judicially.

Adjudication: The legal process of resolving a dispute. The formal giving or pronouncing of a judgment or decree in a court proceeding; also the judgment or decision given. The entry of a decree by a court in respect to the parties in a case. It implies a hearing by a court, after notice, of legal evidence on the factual issue(s) involved. The equivalent of a determination. It indicates that the claims of all the parties thereto have been considered and set at rest.

Adjudicative facts: Factual matters concerning the parties to an administrative proceeding as contrasted with legislative facts, which are general and usually do not touch individual questions of particular parties to a proceeding. Facts that concern a person's motives and intent, as contrasted with general policy issues. Those facts that must be found BEYOND A REASONABLE DOUBT by the trier of fact before there can be a conviction.

Adjudicative facts, of which a trial court may take notice if a fact is not subject to reasonable dispute, are those to which law is applied in the process of adjudication; they are facts that, in a jury case, normally go to the jury.

Adjunction: Attachment or affixing to another. Something attached as a dependent or auxiliary part.

Adjuration: A swearing; taking an oath to be truthful.

Adjust: To settle or arrange; to free from differences or discrepancies. To bring to a satisfactory state so that parties are agreed, as to adjust amount of loss by fire or controversy regarding property or estate. To bring to proper relations. To determine and apportion an amount due. The term is sometimes used in the sense of pay, when used in reference to a liquidated claim. Determination of an amount to be paid to insured by insurer to cover loss or damage sustained.

Adjusted gross income: The term used for INCOME TAX purposes to describe gross income less certain allowable deductions such as trade and business deductions, moving expenses, ALIMONY paid, and penalties for premature withdrawals from term savings accounts, in order to determine a person's taxable income.

Adjuster: A person appointed or employed to settle or arrange matters that are in dispute; one who determines the amount to be paid on a claim.

Adjustment securities: Stocks and bonds of a new corporation that are issued to stockholders during a corporate reorganization in exchange for stock held in the original corporation before it was reorganized.

Administer: To give an oath, as to administer the oath of office to the president at the inauguration. To direct the transactions of business or government. Immigration laws are administered largely by the Immigration and Naturalization Service. To take care of affairs, as an executor administers the estate of a deceased person. To directly cause the ingestion of medications or poisons. To apply a court decree, enforce its provisions, or resolve disputes concerning its meaning.

Administration: The performance of executive duties in an institution or business. The SMALL BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION is responsible for administration of some disaster-relief loans. In government, the practical management and direction of some department or agency in the EXECUTIVE BRANCH; in general, the entire class of public officials and employees managing the executive department. The management and distribution of the estate of a decedent performed under the supervision of the surrogate's or probate court by a person duly qualified and legally appointed. If the decedent made a valid will designating someone called an executor to handle this function, the court will issue that person letters testamentary as authority to do so. If a person dies intestate or did not name an executor in his or her will, the court will appoint an administrator and grant him or her LETTERS OF ADMINISTRATION to perform the duties of administration.

Administrative acts: Whatever actions are necessary to carry out the intent of statutes; those acts required by legislative policy as it is expressed in laws enacted by the legislature.

Administrative adjudication: The process by which an ADMINISTRATIVE AGENCY issues an order, such order being affirmative, negative, injunctive, or declaratory in form.

Administrative agency: An official governmental body empowered with the authority to direct and supervise the implementation of particular legislative acts. In addition to agency, such governmental bodies may be called commissions, corporations (e.g., FEDERAL DEPOSIT INSURANCE CORPORATION), boards, departments, or divisions.

Administrative board: A comprehensive phrase that can refer to any ADMINISTRATIVE AGENCY but usually means a public agency that holds hearings.

Administrative discretion: The exercise of professional expertise and judgment, as opposed to strict adherence to regulations or statutes, in making a decision or performing official acts or duties.

Administrative law and procedure: Administrative law is the body of law that allows for the creation of public regulatory agencies and contains all of the statutes, judicial decisions, and regulations that govern them. It is created by administrative agencies to implement their powers and duties in the form of rules, regulations, orders, and decisions. Administrative procedure constitutes the methods and processes before administrative agencies, as distinguished from judicial procedure, which applies to courts.

Administrator: A person appointed by the court to manage and take charge of the assets and liabilities of a decedent who has died without making a valid will.

Admiralty and maritime law: A field of law relating to, and arising from, the practice of the admiralty courts (tribunals that exercise jurisdiction over all contracts, TORTS, offenses, or injuries within maritime law) that regulates and settles special problems associated with sea navigation and commerce.

Admissible: A term used to describe information that is relevant to a determination of issues in any judicial proceeding so that such information can be properly considered by a judge or jury in making a decision.

Admission: A voluntary ACKNOWLEDGMENT made by a party to a lawsuit or in a criminal prosecution that certain facts that are inconsistent with the party's claims in the controversy are true.

Admission to the bar: The procedure that governs the authorization of attorneys to practice law before the state and federal courts.

Admonition: Any formal verbal statement made during a trial by a judge to advise and caution the jury on their duty as jurors, on the admissibility or nonadmissibility of evidence, or on the purpose for which any evidence admitted may be considered by them. A reprimand directed by the court to an attorney appearing before it cautioning the attorney about the unacceptability of his or her conduct before the court. If the attorney continues to act in the same way, ignoring the admonition, the judge will find him or her in CONTEMPT of court, punishable by a fine, imprisonment, or both. In criminal prosecution, before the court receives and records the plea of the accused, a statement made by a judge informing the accused on the effect and consequences of a plea of guilty to criminal charges.

Adopt: To accept, appropriate, choose, or select, as to adopt a child. To consent to and put into effect, as to adopt a constitution or a law.

Adoption: A two-step judicial process in conformance to state statutory provisions in which the legal obligations and rights of a child toward the biological parents are terminated and new rights and obligations are created between the child and the adoptive parents.

Adult: A person who by virtue of attaining a certain age, generally eighteen, is regarded in the eyes of the law as being able to manage his or her own affairs.

Adulteration: Mixing something impure with something genuine, or an inferior article with a superior one of the same kind.

Adultery: Voluntary sexual relations between an individual who is married and someone who is not the individual's spouse.

Advance: To pay money or give something of value before the date designated to do so; to provide capital to help a planned enterprise, expecting a return from it; to give someone an item before payment has been made for it.

Advance sheets: Pamphlets containing recently decided opinions of federal courts or state courts of a particular region.

Advancement: A gift of money or property made by a person while alive to his or her child or other legally recognized heir, the value of which the person intends to be deducted from the child's or heir's eventual share in the estate after the giver's death.

Adversary proceeding: Any action, hearing, investigation, inquest, or inquiry brought by one party against another in which the party seeking relief has given legal notice to and provided the other party with an opportunity to contest the claims that have been made against him or her. A court trial is a typical example of an adversary proceeding.

Adversary system: The scheme of American JURISPRUDENCE wherein a judge or jury renders a decision in a controversy between or among parties who assert contradictory positions during a judicial examination such as a trial, hearing, or other adjudication.

Adverse interest: The legal right or liability of a person called to testify as a witness in a lawsuit that might be lost or impaired if the party who called him or her to testify wins the case.

Adverse possession: A method of gaining legal title to real property by the actual, open, hostile, and continuous possession of it to the exclusion of its true owner for the period prescribed by state law. PERSONAL PROPERTY may also be acquired by adverse possession.

Advice and consent: The authority given by the U.S. Constitution to the Senate to ratify treaties and confirm presidential cabinet, ambassadorial, and judicial appointments.

Advise: To give an opinion or recommend a plan or course of action; to give notice; to encourage, inform, or acquaint.

Advisement: Deliberation; consultation.

Advisory jury: A jury that makes recommendations to a judge but does not render final judgment.

Advisory opinion: An opinion by a court as to the legality of proposed legislation or conduct, given in response to a request by the government, legislature, or some other interested party.

Advocacy: The act of PLEADING or arguing a case or a position; forceful persuasion.

Advocate: To support or defend by argument; to recommend publicly. An individual who presents or argues another's case; one who gives legal advice and pleads the cause of another before a court or tribunal; a counselor. A person admitted to the PRACTICE OF LAW who advises clients of their legal rights and argues their cases in court.

Aeronautics: The science and art of flight, encompassing the functioning and ownership of aircraft vehicles from balloons to those that travel into space.

Affidavit: A written statement of facts voluntarily made by an affiant under an oath or affirmation administered by a person authorized to do so by law.

Affiliation proceeding: A court hearing to determine whether a man against whom the action is brought is the father of an illegitimate child and thus legally bound to provide financial support for the child.

Formerly referred to as BASTARDY ACTIONS or proceedings in many jurisdictions, as of 2003 these were called PATERNITY or FILIATION PROCEEDINGS. In several states, these proceedings are governed in part by the Uniform Parentage Act, first adopted by the COMMISSIONERS ON UNIFORM LAWS in 1973. The purpose of the act is to identify natural fathers through a paternity test so that a court may order CHILD SUPPORT obligations against them.

Affinity: The relationship that a person has to the blood relatives of a spouse by virtue of the marriage.

Affirm: To ratify, establish, or reassert. To make a solemn and formal declaration, as a substitute for an oath, that the statements contained in an AFFIDAVIT are true or that a witness will tell the truth. In the practice of appellate courts, to declare a judgment, decree, or order valid and to concur in its correctness so that it must stand as rendered in the lower court. As a matter of PLEADING, to allege or aver a matter of fact.

Affirmance: A declaration by an appellate court that a judgment, order, or decree of a lower court that has been brought before it for review is valid and will be upheld.

Affirmation: A solemn and formal declaration of the truth of a statement, such as an AFFIDAVIT or the actual or prospective testimony of a witness or a party that takes the place of an oath. An affirmation is also used when a person cannot take an oath because of religious convictions.

Affirmative action: Employment programs required by federal statutes and regulations designed to remedy discriminatory practices in hiring minority group members; i.e. positive steps designed to eliminate existing and continuing discrimination, to remedy lingering effects of past discrimination, and to create systems and procedures to prevent future discrimination; commonly based on population percentages of minority groups in a particular area. Factors considered are race, color, sex, creed, and age.

Affirmative defense: A new fact or set of facts that operates to defeat a claim even if the facts supporting that claim are true.

Affray: A criminal offense generally defined as the fighting of two or more persons in a public place that disturbs others.

Aforesaid: Before, already said, referred to, or recited.

Aforethought: In CRIMINAL LAW, intentional, deliberate, planned, or premeditated.

After-acquired property clause: A phrase in a mortgage (an interest in land that furnishes security for payment of a debt or performance of an obligation) that provides that any holdings obtained by the borrower subsequent to the date of the loan and mortgage will automatically constitute additional security for the loan.

After-acquired title: A legal doctrine under which, if a grantor conveys what is mistakenly believed to be good title to land that he or she did not own, and the grantor later acquires that title, it vests automatically in the grantee.

After-born child: A child born after a will has been executed by either parent or after the time in which a class gift made according to a trust arrangement expires.

Age discrimination: Prejudicial treatment or denial of rights based on age.

Age of consent: The age at which a person may marry without parental approval. The age at which a female is legally capable of agreeing to sexual intercourse, so that a male who engages in sex with her cannot be prosecuted for STATUTORY RAPE.

Age of majority: The age at which a person, formerly a minor or an infant, is recognized by law to be an adult, capable of managing his or her own affairs and responsible for any legal obligations created by his or her actions.

Age of reason: The age at which a child is considered capable of acting responsibly.

Agency: A consensual relationship created by contract or by law where one party, the principal, grants authority for another party, the agent, to act on behalf of and under the control of the principal to deal with a third party. An agency relationship is fiduciary in nature, and the actions and words of an agent exchanged with a third party bind the principal.

Agent: One who agrees and is authorized to act on behalf of another, a principal, to legally bind an individual in particular business transactions with third parties pursuant to an agency relationship.

Aggravated assault: A person is guilty of aggravated assault if he or she attempts to cause serious bodily injury to another or causes such injury purposely, knowingly, or recklessly under circumstances manifesting extreme indifference to the value of human life; or attempts to cause or purposely or knowingly causes bodily injury to another with a deadly weapon. In all jurisdictions statutes punish such aggravated assaults as assault with intent to murder (or rob or kill or rape) and assault with a dangerous (or deadly) weapon more severely than “simple” assaults.

Aggravation: Any circumstances surrounding the commission of a crime that increase its seriousness or add to its injurious consequences.

Aggression: Unjustified planned, threatened, or carried out use of force by one nation against another.

Aggressive collection: Various legal methods used by a creditor to force a debtor to repay an outstanding obligation.

Aggrieved party: An individual who is entitled to commence a lawsuit against another because his or her legal rights have been violated.

Agreement: A meeting of minds with the understanding and acceptance of reciprocal legal rights and duties as to particular actions or obligations, which the parties intend to exchange; a mutual assent to do or refrain from doing something; a contract.

The writing or document that records the meeting of the minds of the parties. An oral compact between two parties who join together for a common purpose intending to change their rights and duties.

Agricultural law: The body of law governing the cultivation of various crops and the raising and management of livestock to provide a food and fabric supply for human and animal consumption.

Agriculture subsidies: Payments by the federal government to producers of agricultural products for the purpose of stabilizing food prices, ensuring plentiful food production, guaranteeing farmers’ basic incomes, and generally strengthening the agricultural segment of the national economy.

Aid and abet: To assist another in the commission of a crime by words or conduct.

Aid and comfort: To render assistance or counsel. Any act that deliberately strengthens or tends to strengthen enemies of the United States, or that weakens or tends to weaken the power of the United States to resist and attack such enemies is characterized as aid and comfort.

Alcohol: The active principle of intoxicating drinks, produced by the fermentation of sugars.

Alderman or alderwoman: A public officer of a town or city council or a local legislative body who is elected to the position by the persons he or she represents.

Aleatory contract: A mutual agreement between two parties in which the performance of the contractual obligations of one or both parties depends upon a fortuitous event.

Alias: [Latin, Otherwise called.] A term used to indicate that a person is known by more than one name.

Alias writ: A second writ, or court order, issued in the same case after an earlier writ of that kind has been issued but has not been effective.

Alien enemy: In INTERNATIONAL LAW, a foreign born citizen or subject of a nation or power that is hostile to the United States.

Alienable: The character of property that makes it capable of sale or transfer.

Absent a restriction in the owner’s right, interests in real property and tangible PERSONAL PROPERTY are generally freely and fully alienable by their nature. Likewise, many types of intangible personal property, such as a patent or TRADEMARK, are alienable forms of property. By comparison, constitutional rights of life, liberty, and property are not transferable and, thus, are termed inalienable. Similarly, certain forms of property, such as employee security benefits, are typically not subject to transfer on the part of the owner and are inalienable forms of property.

Alienate: To voluntarily convey or transfer title to real property by gift, disposition by will or the laws of DESCENT AND DISTRIBUTION, or by sale.

Alienation clause: A provision in a document permitting or forbidding a person from transferring property that is the subject of the document.

Alienation of affection: The removal of love, companionship, or aid of an individual's spouse.

Aliens: Foreign-born persons who have not been naturalized to become U.S. citizens under federal law and the Constitution.

Alimony: Payment that a family court may order one person in a couple to make to the other person when that couple separates or divorces.

All fours: Identical; similar.

Allegation: The assertion, claim, declaration, or statement of a party to an action, setting out what he or she expects to prove.

Allege: To state, recite, assert, or charge the existence of particular facts in a PLEADING or an indictment; to make an allegation.

Allegiance: In ENGLISH LAW, the duty of loyalty and obedience owed by all persons born within the king's realm that attaches immediately upon their birth and that they cannot be relieved of by their own actions.

In U.S. law, the obligation of fidelity and obedience that is owed by native born and naturalized American citizens to the United States that cannot be relinquished without the consent of the government expressed by a statutory enactment.

Allocation: The apportionment or designation of an item for a specific purpose or to a particular place.

Allocution: The formal inquiry by a judge of an accused person, convicted of a crime, as to whether the person has any legal cause to show why judgment should not be pronounced against him or her or as to whether the person has anything to say to the court before being sentenced.

Allodial: Free; not subject to the rights of any lord or superior; owned without obligation of vassalage or fealty; the opposite of feudal.

A description given to the outright ownership of land that did not impose upon its owner the performance of feudal duties.

Allograph: A writing or signature made by one person for another.

Allonge: Additional paper firmly attached to COMMERCIAL PAPER, such as a promissory note, to provide room to write endorsements.

Allotment: A portion, share, or division. The proportionate distribution of shares of stock in a corporation. The partition and distribution of land.

Alter ego: A doctrine used by the courts to ignore the corporate status of a group of stockholders, officers, and directors of a corporation in reference to their limited liability so that they may be held personally liable for their actions when they have acted fraudulently or unjustly or when to refuse to do so would deprive an innocent victim of redress for an injury caused by them.

Alteration: Modification; changing a thing without obliterating it.

Alteration of instruments: A change in the meaning or language of a legal document, such as a contract, deed, lease, or COMMERCIAL PAPER, that is made by one party to the document without the consent of the other after it has been signed or completed.

Alternative dispute resolution: Procedures for settling disputes by means other than litigation; e.g., by ARBITRATION, mediation, or minitrials. Such procedures, which are usually less costly and more expeditious than litigation, are increasingly being used in commercial and labor disputes, DIVORCE actions, in resolving motor vehicle and MEDICAL MALPRACTICE tort claims, and in other disputes that would likely otherwise involve court litigation.

Alternative relief: Remedies sought in a lawsuit in various forms or in the alternative, such as a demand for SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE of a contract or monetary damages to compensate for the failure to perform the obligation, or both.

Alternative writ: An order, issued originally by the king in England but more recently by a court, commanding a person to do a specific thing or to appear and explain why he or she should not be compelled to do it.

Ambassadors and consuls: An ambassador is the foreign diplomatic representative of a nation who is authorized to handle political negotiations between his or her country and the country where the ambassador has been assigned. A consul is the commercial agent of a nation, who is empowered only to engage in business transactions, and not political matters in the country where he or she is stationed.

Ambiguity: Uncertainty or doubtfulness of the meaning of language.

Ambit: A boundary line that indicates ownership of a parcel of land as opposed to other parcels; an exterior or enclosing line. The limits of a power or jurisdiction. The delineation of the scope of a particular subject matter.

Ambulance chaser: A colloquial phrase that is used derisively for a person who is hired by an attorney to seek out NEGLIGENCE cases at the scenes of accidents or in hospitals where injured parties are treated, in exchange for a percentage of the damages that will be recovered in the case.

Also used to describe attorneys who, upon learning of a personal injury that might have been caused by the negligence or the wrongful act of another, immediately contact the victim for consent to represent him or her in a lawsuit in exchange for a CONTINGENT FEE, a percentage of the judgment recovered.

Ambulatory: Movable; revocable; subject to change; capable of alteration.

Amendment: The modification of materials by the addition of supplemental information; the deletion of unnecessary, undesirable, or outdated information; or the correction of errors existing in the text.

Amicable action: An action commenced and maintained by the mutual consent and arrangement of the parties to obtain a judgment of a court on a doubtful QUESTION OF LAW that is based upon facts that both parties accept as being correct and complete.

Amicus curiae: Literally, friend of the court. A person with strong interest in or views on the subject matter of an action, but not a party to the action, may petition the court for permission to file a brief, ostensibly on behalf of a party but actually to suggest a rationale consistent with its own views. Such amicus curiae briefs are commonly filed in appeals concerning matters of a broad public interest; e.g., civil rights cases. They may be filed by private persons or the government. In appeals to the U.S. courts of appeals, an amicus brief may be filed only if accompanied by written consent of all parties, or by leave of court granted on motion or at the request of the court, except that consent or leave shall not be required when the brief is presented by the United States or an officer or agency thereof.

Amnesty: The action of a government by which all persons or certain groups of persons who have committed a criminal offense—usually of a political nature that threatens the sovereignty of the government (such as SEDITION or treason)—are granted IMMUNITY from prosecution.

Amortization: The reduction of a debt incurred, for example, in the purchase of stocks or bonds, by regular payments consisting of interest and part of the principal made over a specified time period upon the expiration of which the entire debt is repaid. A mortgage is amortized when it is repaid with periodic payments over a particular term. After a certain portion of each payment is applied to the interest on the debt, any balance reduces the principal.

The allocation of the cost of an intangible asset, for example, a patent or COPYRIGHT, over its estimated useful life that is considered an expense of doing business and is used to offset the earnings of the asset by its declining value. If an intangible asset has an indefinite life, such as good will, it cannot be amortized.

Amotion: Putting out; removal; taking away; dispossession of lands.

Amount in controversy: The value of the relief demanded or the amount of monetary damages claimed in a lawsuit.

Analogy: The inference that two or more things that are similar to each other in some respects are also similar in other respects.

Anarchism: The theory espousing a societal state in which there is no structured government or law or in which there is resistance to all current forms of government.

Ancient lights: A doctrine of English COMMON LAW that gives a landowner an EASEMENT or right by prescription to the unobstructed passage of light and air from adjoining land if the landowner has had uninterrupted use of the lights for twenty years.

Ancient writing: An original document affecting the transfer of real property, which can be admitted as evidence in a lawsuit because its aged condition and its location upon discovery sufficiently establish its authenticity.

Ancillary: Subordinate; aiding. A legal proceeding that is not the primary dispute but which aids the judgment rendered in or the outcome of the main action. A descriptive term that denotes a legal claim, the existence of which is dependent upon or reasonably linked to a main claim.

Ancillary administration: The settlement and distribution of a decedent's property in the state where it is located and which is other than the state in which the decedent was domiciled.

Animal rights: Protection of animals from cruelty through requirements of humane treatment. Laws protecting animal rights proscribe certain forms of brutal and merciless treatment of animals in medical and scientific research and in the handling of and slaughter of animals for human consumption.

Animus: [Latin, Mind, soul, or intention.] A tendency or an inclination toward a definite, sometimes unavoidable, goal; an aim, objective, or purpose.

Annexation: The act of attaching, uniting, or joining together in a physical sense; consolidating.

Annotation: A note, summary, or commentary on some section of a book or a statute that is intended to explain or illustrate its meaning.

Annual percentage rate: The actual cost of borrowing money, expressed in the form of a yearly measure to allow consumers to compare the cost of borrowing money among several lenders.

Annual report: A document published by public corporations on a yearly basis to provide stockholders, the public, and the government with financial data, a summary of ownership, and the accounting practices used to prepare the report.

Annuity: A right to receive periodic payments, usually fixed in size, for life or a term of years that is created by a contract or other legal document.

Annulment: A judgment by a court that retroactively invalidates a marriage to the date of its formation.

Anon.: An abbreviation for anonymous, nameless, or name unknown.

Answer: The first responsive pleading filed by the defendant in a civil action; a formal written statement that admits or denies the allegations in the complaint and sets forth any available AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSES.

Ante: [Latin, Before.] A reference to a previous portion of a report or textbook.

Antecedent debt: A legally enforceable obligation, which has been in existence prior to the time in question, to reimburse another with money or property.

Anticipation: The performance of an act or obligation before it is legally due. In patent law, the publication of the existence of an invention that has already been patented or has a PATENT PENDING, which are grounds for denying a patent to an invention that has substantially the same structure and function as the earlier invention.

Anticipatory repudiation: The unjustifiable denial by a party to a contract of any intention to perform contractual duties, which occurs prior to the time performance is due.

Antinomy: An expression in law and logic to indicate that two authorities, laws, or propositions are inconsistent with each other.

Antitrust law: Legislation enacted by the federal and various state governments to regulate trade and commerce by preventing unlawful restraints, price-fixing, and monopolies; to promote competition; and to encourage the production of quality goods and services at the lowest prices, with the primary goal of safeguarding public welfare by ensuring that consumer demands will be met by the manufacture and sale of goods at reasonable prices.

Apparent: That which is clear, plain, and evident.

Appeal: Timely resort by an unsuccessful party in a lawsuit or administrative proceeding to an appropriate superior court empowered to review a final decision on the ground that it was based upon an erroneous application of law.

Appear: To come before a court as a party or a witness in a lawsuit.

Appearance: A coming into court by a party to a suit, either in person or through an attorney, whether as plaintiff or defendant. The formal proceeding by which a defendant submits to the jurisdiction of the court. The voluntary submission to a court's jurisdiction.

Appellant: A person who, dissatisfied with the judgment rendered in a lawsuit decided in a lower court or the findings from a proceeding before an ADMINISTRATIVE AGENCY, asks a superior court to review the decision.

Appellate: Relating to appeals; reviews by superior courts of decisions of inferior courts or administrative agencies and other proceedings.

Appellate advocacy: Legal representation by an attorney before any state or federal court of intermediate or final appeal.

Appellate court: A court having jurisdiction to review decisions of a trial-level or other lower court.

Appellee: A party who has won a judgment in a lawsuit or favorable findings in an administrative proceeding, which judgment or findings the losing party, the appellant, seeks to have a higher court reverse or set aside.

Appoint: To designate, select, or assign authority to a position or an office.

Appointment, power of: A power that is conferred upon a donee to dispose of the donor's property by nominating and selecting one or more third-parties to receive it. The property may consist of tangible items like cars, boats, and household items, or it may consist of an intangible interest in property, such as the right to receive dividend income from stocks.

Apportionment: The process by which legislative seats are distributed among units entitled to representation; determination of the number of representatives that a state, county, or other subdivision may send to a legislative body. The U.S. Constitution provides for a census every ten years, on the basis of which Congress apportions representatives according to population; each state, however, must have at least one representative. Districting is the establishment of the precise geographical boundaries of each such unit or constituency. Apportionment by state statute that denies the rule of ONE-PERSON, ONE-VOTE is violative of EQUAL PROTECTION OF LAWS.

Also, the allocation of a charge or cost such as real estate taxes between two parties, often in the same ratio as the respective times that the parties are in possession or ownership of property during the fiscal period for which the charge is made or assessed.

Appraisal: A valuation or an approximation of value by impartial, properly qualified persons; the process of determining the value of an asset or liability, which entails expert opinion rather than express commercial transactions.

Appraiser: A person selected or appointed by a competent authority or an interested party to evaluate the financial worth of property.

Appreciation: The fair and reasonable estimation of the value of an item. The increase in the financial worth of an asset as compared to its value at a particular earlier date as a result of inflation or greater market demand.

Apprehension: The seizure and arrest of a person who is suspected of having committed a crime. A reasonable belief of the possibility of imminent injury or death at the hands of another that justifies a person acting in SELF-DEFENSE against the potential attack.

Apprentice: A person who agrees to work for a specified time in order to learn a trade, craft, or profession in which the employer, traditionally called the master, assents to instruct him or her.

Appropriation: The designation by the government or an individual of the use to which a fund of money is to be applied. The selection and setting apart of privately owned land by the government for public use, such as a military reservation or public building. The diversion of water flowing on public domain from its natural course by means of a canal or ditch for a private beneficial use of the appropriator.

Approval: The present confirmation, ratification, or assent to some action or thing done by another, which is submitted to an individual, group, or governmental body for judgment. The acceptance by a judge of a bond, security, or other document that is required by law to meet with the judge's satisfaction before it becomes legally effective.

Appurtenance: An ACCESSORY or adjunct that is attached and incidental to something that has greater importance or value. As applied to real property, an object attached to or a right to be used with land as an incidental benefit but which is necessary to the complete use and enjoyment of the property.

Arbiter: [Latin, One who attends something to view it as a spectator or witness.] Any person who is given an absolute power to judge and rule on a matter in dispute.

Arbitrage: The simultaneous purchase in one market and sale in another of a security or commodity in hope of making a profit on price differences in the different markets.

Arbitrary: Irrational; capricious.

Arbitration: The submission of a dispute to an unbiased third person designated by the parties to the controversy, who agree in advance to comply with the award—a decision to be issued after a hearing at which both parties have an opportunity to be heard.

Architect: A person who prepares the plan and design of a building or other structure and sometimes supervises its construction.

Arguendo: In the course of the argument.

Argument: A form of expression consisting of a coherent set of reasons presenting or supporting a point of view; a series of reasons given for or against a matter under discussion that is intended to convince or persuade the listener.

Argumentative: Controversial; subject to argument.

Armistice: A suspending or cessation of hostilities between belligerent nations or forces for a considerable time. An armistice differs from a mere “suspension of arms” in that the latter is concluded for very brief periods and for local military purposes only, whereas an armistice not only covers a longer period, but is agreed upon for political purposes. It is said to be general if it relates to the whole area of the war, and partial if it relates to only a portion of that area. Partial armistices are sometimes called truces but there is no hard and fast distinction.

Arraignment: A criminal proceeding at which the defendant is officially called before a court of competent jurisdiction, informed of the offense charged in the complaint, information, indictment, or other charging document, and asked to enter a plea of guilty, not guilty, or as otherwise permitted by law. Depending on the jurisdiction, arraignment may also be the proceeding at which the court determines whether to set bail for the defendant or release the defendant on his or her own recognizance.

Array: The entire group of jurors selected for a trial from which a smaller group is subsequently chosen to form a petit jury or a GRAND JURY; the list of potential jurors.

Arrears: A sum of money that has not been paid or has only been paid in part at the time it is due.

Arrest: A seizure or forcible restraint; an exercise of the power to deprive a person of his or her liberty; the taking or keeping of a person in custody by legal authority, especially, in response to a criminal charge.

Arrest of judgment: The postponement or stay of an official decision of a court, or the refusal to render such a determination, after a verdict has been reached in an action at law or a criminal prosecution, because some defect appears on the face of the record that, if a decision is made, would make it erroneous or reversible.

Arrest warrant: A written order issued by authority of the state and commanding the seizure of the person named.

Arrogation: Claiming or seizing something without justification; claiming something on behalf of another. In CIVIL LAW, the ADOPTION of an adult who was legally capable of acting for himself or herself.

Arson: At COMMON LAW, the malicious burning or exploding of the dwelling house of another, or the burning of a building within the curtilage, the immediate surrounding space, of the dwelling of another.

Articles: Series or subdivisions of individual and distinct sections of a document, statute, or other writing, such as the ARTICLES OF CONFEDERATION. Codes or systems of rules created by written agreements of parties or by statute that establish standards of legally acceptable behavior in a business relationship, such as articles of incorporation or articles of partnership. Writings that embody contractual terms of agreements between parties.

Articles of confederation: The document that set forth the terms under which the original thirteen states agreed to participate in a centralized form of government, in addition to their self-rule, and that was in effect from March 1, 1781, to March 4, 1789, prior to the adoption of the Constitution.

Articles of impeachment: Formal written allegations of the causes that warrant the criminal trial of a public official before a quasi-political court.

Articles of incorporation: The document that must be filed with an appropriate government agency, commonly the office of the SECRETARY OF STATE, if the owners of a business want it to be given legal recognition as a corporation.

Articles of organization: A document required to be filed with an appropriate state or local government agency, in order to establish legal recognition of a LIMITED LIABILITY COMPANY (LLC). Articles of organization closely parallel articles of incorporation needed for legal creation and recognition of corporations.

Articles of partnership: A written compact by which parties agree to pool their money, labor, and/or skill to carry on a business for profit. The parties sign the compact with the understanding that they will share proportionally the losses and profits according to the provisions and conditions that they have mutually assented would govern their business relationship.

Articles of war: Codes created to prescribe the manner in which the ARMED SERVICES of a nation are to be governed.

Artificial insemination: The process by which a woman is medically impregnated using semen from her husband or from a third-party donor.

Artificial person: A legal entity that is not a human being but for certain purposes is considered by virtue of statute to be a natural person.

As is: A term used to describe a sales transaction in which the seller offers goods in their present, existing condition to prospective buyers.

As per: A phrase commonly recognized to mean “in accordance with the terms of” a particular document—such as a contract, deed, or affidavit—or “as authorized by the contract.”

Asportation: The removal of items from one place to another, such as carrying things away illegally.

Assassination: Murder committed by a perpetrator without the personal provocation of the victim, who is usually a government official.

Assault: At COMMON LAW, an intentional act by one person that creates an apprehension in another of an imminent harmful or offensive contact.

Assault and battery: Two separate offenses against the person that when used in one expression may be defined as any unlawful and unpermitted touching of another. Assault is an act that creates an apprehension in another of an imminent, harmful, or offensive contact. The act consists of a threat of harm accompanied by an apparent, present ability to carry out the threat. BATTERY is a harmful or offensive touching of another.

Assembly: The congregation of a number of persons at the same location.

Assent: An intentional approval of known facts that are offered by another for acceptance; agreement; consent.

Assess: To determine financial worth. To ascertain the amount of damages. To fix and adjust the individual shares to be contributed by several persons toward a common beneficial objective in proportion to the benefit each person will receive. To tax by having qualified experts estimate the value of property by considering the nature of the property, its size, the value of other comparable property, and the proportionate share of services that is used by that property. To levy a charge on the owner of property that has been improved at the expense of the local government unit, such as when sewers or sidewalks are installed.

Assessed valuation: The financial worth assigned to property by taxing authorities that is used as a basis or factor against which the tax rate is applied.

Assessment: The process by which the financial worth of property is determined. The amount at which an item is valued. A demand by the board of directors of a corporation for the payment of any money that is still owed on the purchase of capital stock. The determination of the amount of damages to be awarded to a plaintiff who has been successful in a lawsuit. The ascertainment of the pro rata share of taxes to be paid by members of a group of taxpayers who have directly benefited from a particular common goal or project according to the benefit conferred upon the individual or his or her property. This is known as a special assessment. The listing and valuation of property for purposes of fixing a tax upon it for which its owner will be liable. The procedure by which the INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE, or other government department of taxation, declares that a taxpayer owes additional tax because, for example, the individual has understated personal gross income or has taken deductions to which he or she is not entitled. This process is also known as a deficiency assessment.

Asset: Real or PERSONAL PROPERTY, whether tangible or intangible, that has financial value and can be used for the payment of its owner's debts.

Assign: To transfer to another, as to assign one's right to receive rental income from property to another. To designate for a particular function, as to assign an attorney to defend an indigent in a criminal prosecution. To specify or point out, as to assign errors in a lower court proceeding on a writ of error that is submitted to request a court to reverse the judgment of the lower court.

Assigned account: A type of secured transaction whereby an account receivable is pledged to a bank, factor, or other lender to secure the repayment of a loan.

Assigned risk: A danger or hazard of loss or injury that an insurer will not normally accept for coverage under a policy issued by the insurer, but that the insurance company is required by state law to offer protection against by participating in a pool of insurers who are also compelled to provide coverage.

Assigned risk plan: An insurance plan created and imposed by state statute under which persons who normally would be denied insurance coverage as bad risks are permitted to purchase insurance from a pool of insurers who must offer coverage to such individuals.

Assignment: A transfer of rights in real property or PERSONAL PROPERTY to another that gives the recipient—the transferee—the rights that the owner or holder of the property—the transferor—had prior to the transfer.

Assignment for benefit of creditors: The voluntary transfer of all or most of a debtor's property to another person in trust so that he or she will collect any money that is owed to the debtor, sell the debtor's property, and apply the money received to the payment of the debts, returning any surplus to the debtor.

Assigns: Individuals to whom property is, will, or may be transferred by conveyance, will, DESCENT AND DISTRIBUTION, or statute; assignees.

Assistance, writ of: A court order issued to enforce an existing judgment.

Assize, or assise: A judicial procedure in early England whereby a certain number of men in a community were called together to hear and decide a dispute; a type of court. A type of writ, commanding the convening of such a tribunal in order to determine disputed rights to possess land. An edict or statute issued by an ancient assembly.

Associate justice: The designation given to a judge who is not the chief or presiding justice of the court on which he or she sits.

Assumpsit: [Latin, He undertook or he promised.] A promise by which someone assumes or undertakes an obligation to another person. The promise may be oral or in writing, but it is not under seal. It is express when the person making the promise puts it into distinct and specific language, but it may also be implied because the law sometimes imposes obligations based on the conduct of the parties or the circumstances of their dealings.

Assumption: The undertaking of the repayment of a debt or the performance of an obligation owed by another.

Assumption of risk: A defense, facts offered by a party against whom proceedings have been instituted to diminish a plaintiff's CAUSE OF ACTION or defeat recovery to an action in NEGLIGENCE, which entails proving that the plaintiff knew of a dangerous condition and voluntarily exposed himself or herself to it.

Assured: A person protected by insurance coverage against loss or damage stipulated by the provisions of a policy purchased from an insurance company or an underwriter.

Asylum: Protection granted to ALIENS who cannot return to their homeland.

Asylums: Establishments that exist for the aid and protection of individuals in need of assistance due to disability, such as insane persons, those who are physically handicapped, or persons who are unable to properly care for themselves, such as orphans.

At issue: A phrase that describes the status of parties in a lawsuit when they make contradictory statements about a point specified in their pleadings.

At large: Not limited to any place, person, or topic; for example, a representative at large is elected by the voters of the state as a whole rather than voters of a particular district. Free from control or restraint, such as a criminal at large.

At law: According to law; by, for, or in the law, as in the professional title attorney at law. Within or arising from the traditions of the COMMON LAW as opposed to EQUITY, the system of law that developed alongside the common law and emphasized fairness and justice rather than enforcement of technical rules.

Attachment: The legal process of seizing property to ensure satisfaction of a judgment.

Attainder: At COMMON LAW, that extinction of CIVIL RIGHTS and capacities that took place whenever a person who had committed TREASON or a felony received a sentence of death for the crime.

The effect of attainder upon a felon was, in general terms, that all estate, real and personal, was forfeited. In common law, attainder resulted in three ways: by confession, by verdict, and by process or outlawry. The first case was where the prisoner pleaded guilty at the bar, or having fled, confessed guilt and abjured the realm to save his or her life. The second was where the prisoner pleaded not guilty at the bar, and the jury brought in a verdict against him or her. The third, when the person accused made his or her escape and was outlawed.

In England, by statute 33 & 34 Vict. c. 23, attainder upon conviction, with consequent corruption of blood, FORFEITURE, or ESCHEAT, was abolished. In the United States, the doctrine of attainder is now scarcely known, although during and shortly after the Revolution acts of attainder were passed by several of the states. The passage of such bills is expressly forbidden by the Constitution (Art. I, Sec. 9).

Bills of attainder are special acts of the legislature that inflict capital punishments upon persons supposed to be guilty of high offenses, such as treason and felony, without any conviction in the ordinary course of judicial proceedings. If an act inflicts a milder degree of punishment than death, it is called a bill of pains and penalties, but both are included in the prohibition in the Constitution (Art. I, Sec. 9).

Attempt: An undertaking to do an act that entails more than mere preparation but does not result in the successful completion of the act.

Attenuate: To reduce the force or severity; to lessen a relationship or connection between two objects.

Attest: To solemnly declare verbally or in writing that a particular document or testimony about an event is a true and accurate representation of the facts; to bear witness to. To formally certify by a signature that the signer has been present at the execution of a particular writing so as to rebut any potential challenges to its authenticity.

Attestation: The act of attending the execution of a document and bearing witness to its authenticity, by signing one's name to it to affirm that it is genuine. The certification by a custodian of records that a copy of an original document is a true copy that is demonstrated by his or her signature on a certificate.

Attorn: To turn over money, rent, or goods to another. To assign to a specific function or service.

Attorney-client privilege: In the law of evidence, a client's privilege to refuse to disclose, and to prevent any other person from disclosing, confidential communications between the client and his or her attorney. Such privilege protects communications between attorney and client that are made for the purpose of furnishing or obtaining professional legal advice or assistance. That privilege that permits an attorney to refuse to testify as to communications from the client. It belongs to the client, not the attorney, and hence only the client may waive it. In federal courts, state law is applied with respect to such privilege.

Attorney: A person admitted to practice law in at least one jurisdiction and authorized to perform criminal and civil legal functions on behalf of clients. These functions include providing legal counsel, drafting legal documents, and representing clients before courts, administrative agencies, and other tribunals.

Attorney general: The chief law enforcement officer of the United States or of a state government, typically serving in an EXECUTIVE BRANCH position. The individual represents the government in litigation and serves as the principal advisor to government officials and agencies in legal matters.

Attorney misconduct: Behavior by an attorney that conflicts with established rules of professional conduct and is punishable by disciplinary measures.

Attorney's lien: The right of a lawyer to hold a client's property or money until payment has been made for legal aid and advice given.

Auctions: A sale open to the general public and conducted by an auctioneer, a person empowered to conduct such a sale, at which property is sold to the highest bidder.

Audi alteram partem: [Latin, hear the other side.] It embodies the concept in CRIMINAL LAW that no person should be condemned unheard; it is akin to DUE PROCESS. The notion that an individual, whose life, liberty, or property are in legal jeopardy, has the right to confront the evidence against him or her in a fair hearing is one of the fundamental principles of CONSTITUTIONAL LAW in the United States and England.

Audit: A systematic examination of financial or accounting records by a specialized inspector, called an auditor, to verify their accuracy and truthfulness. A hearing during which financial data are investigated for purposes of authentication.

Authentication: The confirmation rendered by an officer of a court that a certified copy of a judgment is what it purports to be, an accurate duplicate of the original judgment. In the law of evidence, the act of establishing a statute, record, or other document, or a certified copy of such an instrument as genuine and official so that it can be used in a lawsuit to prove an issue in dispute.

Authorities: Governmental entities that have been created and delegated with official responsibilities, such as a county highway authority. In legal research and citation, entities cited as sources of law, such as statutes, judicial decisions, and legal textbooks. Parties support their positions in a lawsuit by citing authorities in briefs, motions, and other documents submitted to the court.

Authorize: To empower another with the legal right to perform an action.

Automatism: An involuntary act such as sleepwalking that is performed in a state of unconsciousness. The subject does not act voluntarily and is not fully aware of his or her actions while in a state of automatism. Automatism has been used as a defense to show that a defendant lacked the requisite mental state for the commission of a crime. A defense based on automatism asserts that there was no act in the legal sense because at the time of the alleged crime, the defendant had no psychic awareness or volition. Some American jurisdictions have recognized automatism as a complete, AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE to most criminal charges. An INSANITY DEFENSE, by comparison, asserts that the accused possessed psychic awareness or volition, but at the time of the offense, the accused possessed a mental disorder or defect that caused them to commit the offense or prevented them from understanding the wrongness of the offense.

Autopsy: The dissection of a dead body by a medical examiner or physician authorized by law to do so in order to determine the cause and time of a death that appears to have resulted from other than natural causes.

Auxiliary: Aiding; ancillary; subordinate; subsidiary.

Aver: To specifically allege certain facts or claims in a PLEADING.

Averment: The allegation of facts or claims in a PLEADING.

Avoidable consequences: The doctrine that places the responsibility of minimizing damages upon the person who has been injured.

Avoidance: An escape from the consequences of a specific course of action through the use of legally acceptable means. Cancellation; the act of rendering something useless or legally ineffective.

Avowal: An open declaration by an attorney representing a party in a lawsuit, made after the jury has been removed from the courtroom, that requests the admission of particular testimony from a witness that would otherwise be inadmissible because it has been successfully objected to during the trial.

Avulsion: The immediate and noticeable addition to land caused by its removal from the property of another, by a sudden change in a water bed or in the course of a stream.

Award: To concede; to give by judicial determination; to rule in favor of after an evaluation of the facts, evidence, or merits. The decision made by a panel of arbitrators or commissioners, a jury, or other authorized individuals in a controversy that has been presented for resolution. A document that memorializes the determination reached in a dispute.

Back pay award: A legally enforceable decree ordering an employer to pay to an employee retroactively a designated increase in his or her salary that occurred during a particular period of employment. A decision rendered by a judicial or QUASI-JUDICIAL body that an employee has a legal right to collect accrued salary that has not been paid out to him or her.

Back to work agreement: The accord reached between an employer and a union to which his or her employees belong that establishes the terms and conditions governing the return of striking employees to work.

Backdating: Predating a document or instrument prior to the date it was actually drawn. The negotiability of an instrument is not affected by the fact that it is backdated.

Bad faith: The fraudulent deception of another person; the intentional or malicious refusal to perform some duty or contractual obligation.

Bail: The system that governs the status of individuals charged with committing crimes, from the time of their arrest to the time of their trial, and pending appeal, with the major purpose of ensuring their presence at trial.

- Bail bond: A written promise signed by a defendant or a surety (one who promises to act in place of another) to pay an amount fixed by a court should the defendant named in the document fail to appear in court for the designated criminal proceeding at the date and time specified.
- Bailee: One to whom PERSONAL PROPERTY is entrusted for a particular purpose by another, the bailor, according to the terms of an express or implied agreement.
- Bailiff: An individual who is entrusted with some authority, care, guardianship, or jurisdiction over designated persons or property. One who acts in a managerial or ministerial capacity or takes care of land, goods, and chattels of another in order to make the best profit for the owner. A minor officer of a court serving primarily as a messenger or usher. A low-level court official or sheriff's deputy whose duty is to preserve and protect orderly conduct in court proceedings.
- Bailment: The temporary placement of control over, or possession of, PERSONAL PROPERTY by one person, the bailor, into the hands of another, the bailee, for a designated purpose upon which the parties have agreed.
- Bailor: One who places control over or possession of PERSONAL PROPERTY in the hands of another, a bailee, for its care, safekeeping, or use, in accordance to the terms of a mutual agreement.
- Bait and switch: A deceptive sales technique that involves advertising a low-priced item to attract customers to a store, then persuading them to buy more expensive goods by failing to have a sufficient supply of the advertised item on hand or by disparaging its quality.
- Balance sheet: A comprehensive financial statement that is a summarized assessment of a company's accounts specifying its assets and liabilities. A report, usually prepared by independent auditors or accountants, which includes a full and complete statement of all receipts and disbursements of a particular business. A review that shows a general balance or summation of all accounts without showing the particular items that make up the several accounts.
- Balancing: A process sometimes used by state and federal courts in deciding between the competing interests represented in a case.
- Balloon payment: The final installment of a loan to be paid in an amount that is disproportionately larger than the regular installment.
- Banc: [French, Bench.] The location where a court customarily or permanently sits.
- Banishment: A form of punishment imposed on an individual, usually by a country or state, in which the individual is forced to remain outside of that country or state.
- Banker's lien: An enforceable right of a bank to hold in its possession any money or property belonging to a customer and to apply it to the repayment of any outstanding debt owed to the bank, provided that, to the bank's knowledge, such property is not part of a trust fund or is not already burdened with other debts.
- Bankruptcy: A federally authorized procedure by which a debtor—an individual, corporation, or municipality—is relieved of total liability for its debts by making court-approved arrangements for their partial repayment.
- Banks and banking: Authorized financial institutions and the business in which they engage, which encompasses the receipt of money for deposit, to be payable according to the terms of the account; collection of checks presented for payment; issuance of loans to individuals who meet certain requirements; discount of COMMERCIAL PAPER; and other money-related functions.
- Bar association: An organization of lawyers established to promote professional competence, enforce standards of ethical conduct, and encourage a spirit of public service among members of the legal profession.
- Bar examination: A written test that an individual must pass before becoming licensed to practice law as an attorney.

Bargain: A reciprocal understanding, contract, or agreement of any sort usually pertaining to the loan, sale, or exchange of property between two parties, one of whom wants to dispose of an item that the other wants to obtain. To work out the terms of an agreement; to negotiate in GOOD FAITH for the purpose of entering into an agreement.

Bargaining agent: A union that possesses the sole authority to act on behalf of all the employees of a particular type in a company.

Barratry: In CRIMINAL LAW, the frequent incitement of lawsuits and quarrels that is a punishable offense.

Barrister: In ENGLISH LAW, an attorney who has an exclusive right of argument in all the superior courts.

Barter: The exchange of goods or services without the use of money as currency.

Base fee: An interest in real property that has the potential to last forever, provided a specific contingency does not occur.

Base line: Survey line used in the government survey to establish township lines. Horizontal elevation line used as a centerline in a highway survey.

Basis: The minimum, fundamental constituents, foundation, or support of a thing or a system without which the thing or system would cease to exist. In accounting, the value assigned to an asset that is sold or transferred so that it can be determined whether a gain or loss has resulted from the transaction. The amount that property is estimated to be worth at the time it is purchased, acquired, and received for tax purposes.

Bastardy action: An archaic name given to a court proceeding in which the PATERNITY of an illegitimate child is determined in order to impose and enforce support obligations upon the father.

Battel: Physical combat engaged in by an accuser and accused to resolve their differences, usually involving a serious crime or ownership of land. It was recognized by the English king from the eleventh to seventeenth centuries.

Battered child/spouse syndrome: A condition created by sustained physical, sexual, and/or emotional abuse, which creates a variety of physical and emotional symptoms.

Battery: At common law, an intentional unpermitted act causing harmful or offensive contact with the “person” of another.

Bearer: One who is the holder or possessor of an instrument that is negotiable—for example, a check, a draft, or a note—and upon which a specific payee is not designated.

Belief: Mental reliance on or acceptance of a particular concept, which is arrived at by weighing external evidence, facts, and personal observation and experience.

Below: In an inferior, subordinate, or lower place in regard to any entity.

Bench: A forum of justice comprised of the judge or judges of a court. The seat of the court occupied by the judges.

Bench trial: A trial conducted before a judge presiding without a jury.

Bench warrant: A process that is initiated by the court pro se in order to attach or arrest a person. An order that a judge, or group of judges, issues directly to the police with the purpose of directing a person’s arrest.

Beneficial association: An incorporated or voluntary nonprofit organization that has been created primarily to protect and aid its members and their dependents.

Beneficial interest: Profits or advantages from property derived from the terms of a trust agreement.

Beneficial use: A right to utilize real property, including light, air, and access to it, in any lawful manner to gain a profit, advantage, or enjoyment from it. A right to enjoy real or PERSONAL PROPERTY held by a person who has equitable title to it while legal title is held by another.

Beneficiary: An organization or a person for whom a trust is created and who thereby receives the benefits of the trust. One who inherits under a will. A person entitled to a beneficial interest or a right to profits, benefit, or advantage from a contract.

Benefit of clergy: In old England, the privilege of clergy that allowed them to avoid trial by all courts of the civil government.

Bequeath: To dispose of PERSONAL PROPERTY owned by a decedent at the time of death as a gift under the provisions of the decedent's will.

Bequest: A gift of PERSONAL PROPERTY, such as money, stock, bonds, or jewelry, owned by a decedent at the time of death which is directed by the provisions of the decedent's will; a legacy.

Best evidence: An original document or object offered as proof of a fact in a lawsuit as opposed to a photocopy of, or other substitute for, the item or the testimony of a witness describing it.

Bestiality: Sexual relations between a human being and an animal.

Beyond a reasonable doubt: The standard that must be met by the prosecution's evidence in a criminal prosecution: that no other logical explanation can be derived from the facts except that the defendant committed the crime, thereby overcoming the presumption that a person is innocent until proven guilty.

Bias: A predisposition or a preconceived opinion that prevents a person from impartially evaluating facts that have been presented for determination; a prejudice.

Bicameral: The division of a legislative or judicial body into two components or chambers.

Bifurcated trial: One judicial proceeding that is divided into two stages in which different issues are addressed separately by the court.

Bilateral contract: An agreement formed by an exchange of a promise in which the promise of one party is consideration supporting the promise of the other party.

Bill: A declaration in writing. A document listing separate items. An itemized account of charges or costs. In EQUITY practice, the first PLEADING in the action, the paper in which the plaintiff sets out his or her case and demands relief from the defendant.

Bill of attainder: A special legislative enactment that imposes a death sentence without a judicial trial upon a particular person or class of persons suspected of committing serious offenses, such as TREASON or a felony.

Bill of exchange: A three-party negotiable instrument in which the first party, the drawer, presents an order for the payment of a sum certain on a second party, the drawee, for payment to a third party, the payee, on demand or at a fixed future date.

Bill of indictment: A formal written document that is drawn up by a government prosecutor accusing a designated person of having committed a felony or misdemeanor and which is presented to a GRAND JURY so that it may take action upon it.

Bill of lading: A document signed by a carrier (a transporter of goods) or the carrier's representative and issued to a consignor (the shipper of goods) that evidences the receipt of goods for shipment to a specified designation and person.

Bill of particulars: A written statement used in both civil and criminal actions that is submitted by a plaintiff or a prosecutor at the request of a defendant, giving the defendant detailed information concerning the claims or charges made against him or her.

Bill of review: In the practice of EQUITY courts, a paper filed with a court after expiration of the time for filing a petition for a rehearing in order to request, due to exceptional circumstances, the correction or reversal of a final judgment or decree.

Bill of rights: A declaration of individual rights and freedoms, usually issued by a national government.

A list of fundamental rights included in each state constitution.

The first ten amendments to the U.S. Constitution, ratified in 1791, which set forth and guarantee certain fundamental rights and privileges of individuals, including freedom of religion, speech, press, and assembly; guarantee of a speedy jury trial in criminal cases; and protection against excessive bail and CRUEL AND UNUSUAL PUNISHMENT.

Bill of sale: In the law of contracts, a written agreement, previously required to be under seal, by which one person transfers to another a right to, or interest in, PERSONAL PROPERTY and goods, a legal instrument that conveys title in property from seller to purchaser.

Bills and notes: An archaic term that designated the body of law currently known as the law of COMMERCIAL PAPER, which governs the methods by which commercial transactions are financed and facilitated by the execution and transfer of documents that contain promises to repay debts according to the terms specified in the documents.

Bills of credit: Non-interest-bearing promissory notes issued by the government and backed by its faith and credit to be paid when presented by their holders, which are in the form of currency and are intended to be circulated and exchanged in the community as money.

Binder: A written document that records the essential provisions of a contract of insurance and temporarily protects the insured until an insurance company has investigated the risks to be covered, or until a formal policy is issued.

A receipt for cash or for a check that is deposited by a prospective buyer with the seller to secure the right to purchase real estate at terms that have been agreed upon by both buyer and seller.

Binding authority: Source of law that a judge must evaluate when making a decision in a case. For example, statutes from the same state where a case is being brought, or higher court decisions, are binding authority for a judge.

Binding over: The requirement imposed by a court or a magistrate upon a person to enter into a recognizance or to post bail to ensure that he or she will appear for trial. The transfer of a case from a lower court to a higher court or to a GRAND JURY after PROBABLE CAUSE to believe that the defendant committed the crime has been established.

Birth control: A measure or measures undertaken to prevent conception.

Black codes: A body of laws, statutes, and rules enacted by southern states immediately after the Civil War to regain control over the freed slaves, maintain white supremacy, and ensure the continued supply of cheap labor.

Black letter law: A term used to describe basic principles of law that are accepted by a majority of judges in most states.

Blackacre: A fictitious designation that legal writers use to describe a piece of land.

Blacklist: A list of individuals or organizations designated for special discrimination or boycott; also to put a person or organization on such a list.

Blackmail: The crime involving a threat for purposes of compelling a person to do an act against his or her will, or for purposes of taking the person's money or property.

Blackstone's commentaries: A series of lectures delivered by the English jurist SIR WILLIAM BLACKSTONE at Oxford in 1753 and published as Commentaries on the Laws of England in four volumes between 1765 and 1769, which systematized and clarified the amorphous body of ENGLISH LAW.

Blank: Lacking something essential to fulfillment or completeness; unrestricted or open. A space left empty for the insertion of one or more words or marks in a written document that will effectuate its meaning or make it legally operative. A printed legal form in which the standard or necessary words are printed in their proper order with spaces left open, to be filled with names, dates, figures, and additional clauses.

Blank endorsement: The writing of the name of a person who holds a negotiable instrument on the back of the document without specifically designating to whom the paper is to be paid, which transfers the rights that the signer had in the instrument to the person who presents it for payment.

Blasphemy: The malicious or wanton reproach of God, either written or oral. In ENGLISH LAW, the offense of speaking disparaging words about God, Jesus Christ, the Bible, or the Book of Common Prayer with the intent to undermine religious beliefs and promote CONTEMPT and hatred for the church as well as general immorality. In U.S. law, any maliciously intended written or oral accusation made against God or religion with the purpose of dishonoring the divine majesty and alienating mankind from the love and reverence of God.

Block: A segment of a town or city surrounded by streets and avenues on at least three sides and usually occupied by buildings, though it may be composed solely of vacant lots. The section of a city enclosed by streets that is described by a map which indicates how a portion of land will be subdivided.

Blockbusting: The practice of illegally frightening homeowners by telling them that people who are members of a particular race, religion, or national origin are moving into their neighborhood and that they should expect a decline in the value of their property. The purpose of this scheme is to get the homeowners to sell out at a deflated price.

Blood feud: Avenging the WRONGFUL DEATH of a person's kin by killing the murderer or by receiving compensation from the murderer's possessions.

Blotter: A written record of arrests and other occurrences maintained by the police. The report kept by the police when a suspect is booked, which involves the written recording of facts about the person's arrest and the charges against him or her.

Blue book: A publication that establishes the correct form of case citations or of references to a legal authority showing where information can be found. A volume that explains the organization of a state government and provides the names of state officials. The proper title is "The Bluebook: A Uniform System of Citation." In a generic sense, this term also refers to a report issued by the Joint Committee on Taxation regarding recent tax legislation.

Blue laws: A state or local law that prohibits commercial activities on Sunday.

Blue ribbon jury: A group of highly qualified persons selected by a court on the request of either party to a lawsuit to decide complex and specialized disputes.

Blue sky law: A popular name for state statutes providing for the regulation and supervision of SECURITIES offerings and sales, to protect citizen-investors from investing in fraudulent companies. Most blue sky laws require the registration of new issues of securities with a state agency that reviews selling documents for accuracy and completeness. Blue sky laws also often regulate securities brokers and salespeople.

Board of directors: A group of people comprising the governing body of a corporation.

Board of pardons: Part of the executive branch of state government authorized to grant pardons, and restore civil and political rights, to individuals convicted of crimes. A pardon, in the legal sense, releases an individual from punishment or penalty, but does not necessarily exonerate them of guilt.

Board of regents: An independent governing body that oversees a state's public COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES.

Body: The principal part of anything as distinguished from its subordinate parts, as in the main part of an instrument. An individual, an organization, or an entity given legal recognition, such as a corporation or "body corporate." A compilation of laws known as a "body of laws."

Body execution: An arrest; a seizure of a defendant.

Boilerplate: A description of uniform language used normally in legal documents that has a definite, unvarying meaning in the same context that denotes that the words have not been individually fashioned to address the legal issue presented.

Bona fide: [Latin, In good faith.] Honest; genuine; actual; authentic; acting without the intention of defrauding.

Bonds: Written documents by which a government, corporation, or individual—the obligor—promises to perform a certain act, usually the payment of a definite sum of money, to another—the obligee—on a certain date.

Book value: The current value of an asset. The book value of an asset at any time is its cost minus its accumulated depreciation. (Depreciation reflects the decrease in the useful life of an asset due to use of the asset.) Companies use book value to determine the point at which they have recovered the cost of an asset.

The net asset value of a company's SECURITIES. This is calculated by subtracting from the company's total assets the following items: intangible assets (such as goodwill), current liabilities, and long-term liabilities and EQUITY issues. This figure, divided by the total number of bonds or of shares of stock, is the book value per bond or per share of stock.

Booking: The procedure by which law enforcement officials record facts about the arrest of and charges against a suspect such as the crime for which the arrest was made, together with information concerning the identification of the suspect and other pertinent facts.

Bookkeeping: The process of systematically and methodically recording the financial accounts and transactions of an entity.

Bootstrap doctrine: A principle in the resolution of conflict of laws that prevents a party from bringing an action in one state's court in an attempt to collaterally attack the final judgment from another state's court. The doctrine is based upon the principle of RES JUDICATA, which prevents a party from litigating a jurisdictional claim that has already been resolved by a prior, final decision, or if the litigants had an opportunity to raise the issue and challenge the other court's lack of jurisdiction and failed to do so.

Bottomry: A contract, in maritime law, by which money is borrowed for a specified term by the owner of a ship for its use, equipment, or repair for which the ship is pledged as collateral. If the ship is lost in the specified voyage or during the limited time, the lender will lose his or her money according to the provisions of the contract. A contract by which a ship or its freight is pledged as security for a loan, which is to be repaid only in the event that the ship survives a specific risk, voyage, or period.

Boundaries: Natural or artificial separations or divisions between adjoining properties that show their limits.

Bounty hunter: Name for a category of persons who are offered a promised gratuity in return for "hunting" down and capturing or killing a designated target, usually a person or animal.

Boycott: A lawful concerted attempt by a group of people to express displeasure with, or obtain concessions from, a particular person or company by refusing to do business with them. An unlawful attempt that is prohibited by the SHERMAN ANTI-TRUST ACT (15 U.S.C.A. § 1 et seq.), to adversely affect a company through threat, coercion, or intimidation of its employees, or to prevent others from doing business with said company. A practice utilized in labor disputes whereby an organized group of employees bands together and refrains from dealing with an employer, the legality of which is determined by applicable provisions of statutes governing labor-management relations.

Bracket: The category of the percentage of INCOME TAX found on the tax tables set by the INTERNAL REVENUE CODE, within which a taxpayer falls based upon his or her taxable income.

Breach of marriage promise: A common-law right of action for breaking a commitment to enter into matrimony.

Breach of the peace: A comprehensive term encompassing acts or conduct that seriously endanger or disturb public peace and order.

Breaking: To use physical force to separate or damage a solid object.

Bribery: The offering, giving, receiving, or soliciting of something of value for the purpose of influencing the action of an official in the discharge of his or her public or legal duties.

Bridges: Structures constructed over obstructions to highways or waterways, such as canals or rivers, in order to provide continuous and convenient passages for purposes of transportation. A bridge includes the necessary abutments and approaches that make it accessible. A public bridge that spans obstructions to a public highway is built on land owned by the state government for public use, while a private bridge is built on private property for the use of particular individuals who own it.

Brief: A summary of the important points of a longer document. An abstract of a published judicial opinion prepared by a law student as part of an assignment in the CASE METHOD study of law. A written document drawn up by an attorney for a party in a lawsuit or by a party himself or herself appearing pro se that concisely states the following: (1) issues of a lawsuit; (2) facts that bring the parties to court; (3) relevant laws that can affect the subject of the dispute; and (4) arguments that explain how the law applies to the particular facts so that the case will be decided in the party's favor.

Bright line rule: A judicial rule that helps resolve ambiguous issues by setting a basic standard that clarifies the AMBIGUITY and establishes a simple response.

The bright line rule exists to bring clarity to a law or regulation that could be read in two (or more) ways. Often a bright line is established when the need for a simple decision outweighs the need to weigh both sides of a particular issue.

Bring suit: To initiate legal proceedings; to start an action for judicial relief.

Broadcasting: As a verb, to transmit programs or signals intended to be received by the public through radio, television, or similar means. As a noun, the radio, television, or other program received by the public through the transmission.

Broker: An individual or firm employed by others to plan and organize sales or negotiate contracts for a commission.

Buggery: The criminal offense of anal or oral copulation by penetration of the male organ into the anus or mouth of another person of either sex or copulation between members of either sex with an animal.

Building and loan association: An organization that exists to accumulate a fund, composed of subscriptions and savings of its members, to help facilitate the purchase or construction of real estate by such members by lending them the necessary funds.

Building codes: A series of ordinances enacted by a state or local governmental entity, establishing minimum requirements that must be met in the construction and maintenance of buildings.

Building line: A line that a MUNICIPAL CORPORATION establishes, beyond which no building may extend to ensure that its streets will appear uniform.

Bulk transfer: A sale of all or most of the materials, supplies, merchandise, or other inventory of a business at one time that is not normally done in the ordinary course of the seller's business.

Bulletin: A printing of public notices and announcements that discloses the progress of matters affecting the general public and which usually includes provisions for public comment. A summarized report of a newsworthy item for immediate release to the public. The official publication of an association, business, or institution.

Burden of going forward: The onus on a party to refute or to explain evidence presented in a case.

Burden of persuasion: The onus on the party with the BURDEN OF PROOF to convince the trier of fact of all elements of his or her case. In a criminal case the burden of the government to produce evidence of all the necessary elements of the crime BEYOND A REASONABLE DOUBT.

Burden of pleading: The duty of a party to plead a matter to be heard in a lawsuit. The onus on the defendant to introduce or raise the defense for consideration in the lawsuit. This concept is also referred to as burden of allegation.

Burden of proof: A duty placed upon a civil or criminal defendant to prove or disprove a disputed fact.

Bureaucracy: A system of administration wherein there is a specialization of functions, objective qualifications for office, action according to the adherence to fixed rules, and a hierarchy of authority and delegated power.

Burglary: The criminal offense of breaking and entering a building illegally for the purpose of committing a crime.

Business affected with a public interest: A commercial venture or an occupation that has become subject to governmental regulation by virtue of its offering essential services or products to the community at large.

Business judgment rule: A legal principle that makes officers, directors, managers, and other agents of a corporation immune from liability to the corporation for loss incurred in corporate transactions that are within their authority and power to make when sufficient evidence demonstrates that the transactions were made in GOOD FAITH.

Business record exception: A rule of evidence that allows routine entries made customarily in financial records, or business logs or files kept in the regular course of business, to be introduced as proof in a lawsuit when the person who made such notations is not available to testify.

Business trust: An unincorporated business organization created by a legal document, a declaration of trust, and used in place of a corporation or partnership for the transaction of various kinds of business with limited liability.

“But for” rule: In the law of NEGLIGENCE, a principle that provides that the defendant's conduct is not the cause of an injury to the plaintiff, unless that injury would not have occurred except for (“but for”) the defendant's conduct.

Bylaws: The rules and regulations enacted by an association or a corporation to provide a framework for its operation and management.

Cabinet: The counsel or group of advisers of a king or other chief executive of a government. A group of individuals who advise the president of the United States.

Calendar: A list of cases that are awaiting trial or other settlement, often called a trial list or docket.

Call: To convoke or summon by public announcement; to request the appearance and participation of several people—such as a call of a jury to serve, a roll call, a call of public election, or a call of names of the members of a legislative body.

In contract law, the demand for the payment of money according to the contract terms, usually by formal notice.

As applied to corporation law, the demand of the board of directors that subscribers pay an installment or portion of the amount that is still owed on shares that they have agreed to buy. A call price is the price paid by a corporation for the redemption of its own SECURITIES.

In securities, a contract that gives a person the right to demand payment of a certain specified number of shares of stock at a stated price or upon a fixed date.

Calvo clause: A provision in an agreement between a private individual and a foreign state that says, in effect, that “aliens are not entitled to rights and privileges not accorded to nationals, and that, therefore, they may seek redress for grievances only before local authorities.”

Calvo doctrine: The principle set forth by an Argentine jurist, Carlos Calvo, that a government has no duty to compensate ALIENS for losses or injuries that they incur as a result of domestic disturbances or a civil war, in cases where the state is not at fault, and, therefore, no justification exists for foreign nations to intervene to secure the settlements of the claims made by their citizens due to such losses or injuries.

Camera: A chamber, room, or apartment in old ENGLISH LAW. A judge’s chamber. Treasury, chest, or coffer.

Canals: Artificial channels for the conveyance of water, used for navigation, transportation, drainage, or irrigation of land.

Cancellation of an instrument: An equitable remedy by which a court relieves both parties to a legal document of their obligations under it due to FRAUD, duress, or other grounds.

Canon law: Any church’s or religion’s laws, rules, and regulations; more commonly, the written policies that guide the administration and religious ceremonies of the Roman Catholic Church.

Canons of construction: The system of basic rules and maxims applied by a court to aid in its interpretation of a written document, such as a statute or contract.

Canons of ethics: Rules that govern the PRACTICE OF LAW.

Capacity: The ability, capability, or fitness to do something; a legal right, power, or competency to perform some act. An ability to comprehend both the nature and consequences of one’s acts.

Capias: [Latin, That you take.] The name for several different kinds of writs, or court orders, all of which require an officer to take the defendant into custody.

Capital asset: Property held by a taxpayer, such as houses, cars, stocks, bonds, and jewelry, or a building owned by a corporation to furnish facilities for its employees.

Capital punishment: The lawful infliction of death as a punishment; the death penalty.

Capital stock: All shares constituting ownership of a business, including common stock and preferred stock. The amount of shares that a corporate charter requires to be subscribed and paid, or secured to be paid, by shareholders. The amount of stock that a corporation may issue; the amount actually contributed, subscribed, or secured to be paid on. The liability of the corporation to its shareholders after creditors’ claims have been settled. The valuation of the corporation as a business enterprise.

Capitalize: To regard the cost of an improvement or other purchase as a capital asset for purposes of determining INCOME TAX liability. To calculate the net worth upon which an investment is based. To issue company stocks or bonds to finance an investment.

Capitation tax: An assessment levied by the government upon a person at a fixed rate regardless of income or worth.

Caption: The standardized heading of a legal instrument, such as a motion or a complaint, which sets forth the names of the parties in controversy, the name of the court, the docket number, and the name of the action.

Care: Watchful attention; custody; diligence; concern; caution; as opposed to NEGLIGENCE or carelessness.

Carjacking: The criminal taking of a motor vehicle from its driver by force, violence, or intimidation.

Carnal knowledge: Copulation; the act of a man having sexual relations with a woman.

Carpetbag judges: Colloquial term used to describe northern judges during the post-Civil War era who traveled to the South to serve on southern courts, typically for personal gain. "Carpetbag" refers to the judges's practice of carrying their possessions with them in carpetbags.

Carriers: Individuals or businesses that are employed to deliver people or property to an agreed destination.

Carrier's lien: The right of an individual or organization that publicly advertises itself for hire for the transportation of goods to keep possession of the cargo it has delivered to a destination until the person who is liable to pay the freight charges plus any other expenses incurred by its shipment has done so.

Carry-back: The name given to the method provided under federal tax law that allows a taxpayer to apply net operating losses incurred during one year to the recomputation of INCOME TAX owed to the government for three preceding taxable years.

Carry-over: The designation of the process by which net operating loss for one year may be applied, as provided by federal tax law, to each of several taxable years following the taxable year of such loss.

Carrying charges: Payments made to satisfy expenses incurred as a result of ownership of property, such as land taxes and mortgage payments. Disbursements paid to creditors, in addition to interest, for extending credit.

Cartel: A combination of producers of any product joined together to control its production, sale, and price, so as to obtain a MONOPOLY and restrict competition in any particular industry or commodity. Cartels exist primarily in Europe, being illegal in the United States by ANTITRUST LAWS. Also, an association by agreement of companies or sections of companies having common interests, designed to prevent extreme or UNFAIR COMPETITION and allocate markets, and to promote the interchange of knowledge resulting from scientific and technical research, exchange of patent rights, and standardization of products.

In war, an agreement between two hostile powers for the delivery of prisoners or deserters, or authorizing certain nonhostile intercourse between each other that would otherwise be prevented by the state of war, for example, agreements between enemies for intercommunication by post, telegraph, telephone, or railway.

Case: A general term for any action, CAUSE OF ACTION, lawsuit, or controversy. All the evidence and testimony compiled and organized by one party in a lawsuit to prove that party's version of the controversy at a trial in court.

Case agreed on: An action in which the parties submit a formal written enumeration of facts that they both accept as correct and complete so that a judge can render a decision based upon conclusions of law that can be drawn from the stated facts.

Case in chief: The portion of a trial whereby the party with the BURDEN OF PROOF in the case presents its evidence. The term differs from a rebuttal, whereby a party seeks to contradict the other party's evidence. Case in chief differs from "case" in that the latter term encompasses the evidence presented by both the party with the burden of proof and the party with the burden of rebutting that evidence.

Case law: Legal principles enunciated and embodied in judicial decisions that are derived from the application of particular areas of law to the facts of individual cases.

Case method: A system of instruction or study of law focused upon the analysis of court opinions rather than lectures and textbooks; the predominant method of teaching in U.S. law schools today.

Case or controversy: A term used in Article III, Section 2, of the Constitution to describe the structure by which actual, conflicting claims of individuals must be brought before a federal court for resolution if the court is to exercise its jurisdiction to consider the questions and provide relief.

Case stated: An action that is brought upon the agreement of the parties who submit a statement of undisputed facts to the court but who take adversary positions as to the legal ramifications of the facts, thereby requiring a judge to decide the QUESTION OF LAW presented.

Casebook: A printed compilation of judicial decisions illustrating the application of particular principles of a specific field of law, such as TORTS, that is used in LEGAL EDUCATION to teach students under the CASE METHOD system.

Cash basis: A method of accounting that considers only money actually received as income and only money actually paid out as expense.

Cash surrender value: The amount of money that an insurance company pays an insured upon cancellation of a life insurance policy before death and which is a specific figure assigned to the policy at that particular time, reduced by a charge for administrative expenses.

Casual: Irregular, occasional, or accidental; happening without being planned or foreseen.

Casual ejector: A fictitious and nominal defendant in an action of EJECTMENT.

Casualty: A serious or fatal accident. A person or thing injured, lost, or destroyed. A disastrous occurrence due to sudden, unexpected, or unusual cause. Accident; misfortune or mishap; that which comes by chance or without design. A loss from such an event or cause, as by fire, shipwreck, lightning, etc.

Casus belli: [Latin, Cause of war.] A term used in INTERNATIONAL LAW to describe an event or occurrence giving rise to or justifying war.

Categorical: That which is unqualified or unconditional.

Causa mortis: [Latin, In contemplation of approaching death.] A phrase sometimes used in reference to a deathbed gift, or a gift causa mortis, since the giving of the gift is made in expectation of approaching death. A gift causa mortis is distinguishable from a gift inter vivos, which is a gift made during the donor's (the giver's) lifetime.

Cause: Each separate antecedent of an event. Something that precedes and brings about an effect or a result. A reason for an action or condition. A ground of a legal action. An agent that brings something about. That which in some manner is accountable for a condition that brings about an effect or that produces a cause for the resultant action or state.

A suit, litigation, or action. Any question, civil or criminal, litigated or contested before a court of justice.

Cause célèbre: [French, famous case.] A trial or lawsuit in which the subject matter or a participant is particularly newsworthy, unusual, or sensational and that typically attracts a great deal of media attention. For example, the case of Scott Peterson, accused of the murder of his pregnant wife, Laci Peterson, was a cause célèbre in 2003.

Cause of action: The fact or combination of facts that gives a person the right to seek judicial redress or relief against another. Also, the legal theory forming the basis of a lawsuit.

Caveat: [Latin, Let him beware.] A warning; admonition. A formal notice or warning given by an interested party to a court, judge, or ministerial officer in opposition to certain acts within his or her power and jurisdiction.

Caveat emptor: [Latin, Let the buyer beware.] A warning that notifies a buyer that the goods he or she is buying are “as is,” or subject to all defects.

Cease and desist order: An order issued by an ADMINISTRATIVE AGENCY or a court proscribing a person or a business entity from continuing a particular course of conduct.

Cede: To yield up; to assign; to grant; to surrender; to withdraw. Generally used to designate the transfer of territory from one government to another.

Celebration of marriage: A colloquial phrase that refers to the solemnization or formalization of a marriage.

Cemeteries: Areas that are set aside by public authority or private persons for the burial of the dead.

Censorship: The suppression or proscription of speech or writing that is deemed obscene, indecent, or unduly controversial.

Censure: A formal, public reprimand for an infraction or violation.

Census: An official count of the population of a particular area, such as a district, state, or nation.

Century Digest®: A volume of the American Digest System that arranges by subject summaries of court opinions reported chronologically in the various units of the National Reporter System during the period from 1658 to 1896.

Certificate: A written document that is official verification that a condition or requirement has, or has not, been met.

A written assurance issued from a court that is notification to another officer, judge, or court of procedures practiced therein.

A document (such as a birth certificate) prepared by an official during the course of his or her regular duties, and which may be used as evidence for certain purposes.

A document certifying that one has fulfilled certain requirements and may practice in a field.

Certificate of deposit: A written recognition by a bank of a deposit, coupled with a pledge to pay the deposited amount plus interest, if any, to the depositor or to his or her order, or to another individual or to his or her order.

A form of COMMERCIAL PAPER that serves as documentary evidence that a savings account exists.

Certificate of occupancy: A document issued by a local building or ZONING authority to the owner of premises attesting that the premises have been built and maintained according to the provisions of building or zoning ordinances, such as those that govern the number of fire exits or the safety of electrical wiring.

Certification proceeding: An administrative hearing before the NATIONAL LABOR RELATIONS BOARD (NLRB), pursuant to the federal WAGNER ACT (29 U.S.C.A. § 151 et seq. [1935]) to determine whether a group of employees is an appropriate bargaining unit, and if so, to decide whether a particular union should be declared its bargaining agent.

Certified check: A written order made by a depositor to a bank to pay a certain sum to the person designated—the payee—which is marked by the bank as “accepted” or “certified,” thereby unconditionally promising that the bank will pay the order upon its presentation by the payee.

Certified copy: A photocopy of a document, judgment, or record that is signed and attested to as an accurate and a complete reproduction of the original document by a public official in whose custody the original has been placed for safekeeping.

Certiorari: [Latin, To be informed of.] At COMMON LAW, an original writ or order issued by the Chancery or King's Bench, commanding officers of inferior courts to submit the record of a cause pending before them to give the party more certain and speedy justice.

A writ that a superior appellate court issues in its discretion to an inferior court, ordering it to produce a certified record of a particular case it has tried, in order to determine whether any irregularities or errors occurred that justify review of the case.

A device by which the SUPREME COURT OF THE UNITED STATES exercises its discretion in selecting the cases it will review.

Cession: The act of relinquishing one's right.

A surrender, relinquishment, or assignment of territory by one state or government to another. The territory of a foreign government gained by the transfer of sovereignty.

Cestui que: [French, He or she who.] The person for whom a benefit exists.

Cf.: An abbreviation for the Latin word confer, meaning "compare."

C.F.&I.: An abbreviation for cost, freight, and insurance that is used in a sales contract to indicate that the purchase price quoted for the goods by the seller includes the expense incurred by the seller for shipment of such goods and for insurance of the goods against loss or destruction until their arrival at the destination named by the buyer.

Chain of custody: The movement and location of physical evidence from the time it is obtained until the time it is presented in court.

Chain of title: A list of successive owners of a parcel of land, beginning from the government, or original owner, to the person who currently owns the land.

Chain referral: A type of sales plan that convinces individuals to make purchases based upon the promise that their payment will be reduced for each new purchaser they recommend to the seller.

Chambers: A judge's private room or office wherein he or she hears motions, signs papers, and performs other tasks pertaining to his or her office when a session of the court, such as a trial, is not being held.

Chamizal tract: A description of the 1895 title dispute between the United States and Mexico that arose over a tract of land in El Paso, Texas, known as "El Chamizal."

ChamPERTY and maintenance: Champerty is the process whereby one person bargains with a party to a lawsuit to obtain a share in the proceeds of the suit. Maintenance is the support or promotion of another person's suit initiated by intermeddling for personal gain.

Chancellor: A secretary, secretary of state, or minister of a king or other high nobleman.

Chancery: The old English court in which the monarch's secretary, or Chancellor, began hearing lawsuits during the fourteenth century.

Character evidence: Proof or attestations about an individual's moral standing, general nature, traits, and reputation in the general community.

Charge: To impose a burden, duty, obligation, or lien; to create a claim against property; to assess; to demand; to accuse; to instruct a jury on matters of law. To impose a tax, duty, or trust. To entrust with responsibilities and duties (e.g., care of another). In commercial transactions, to bill or invoice; to purchase on credit. In CRIMINAL LAW, to indict or formally accuse.

An encumbrance, lien, or claim; a burden or load; an obligation or duty; a liability; an accusation. A person or thing committed to the care of another. The price of, or rate for, something.

Charge-off: Eliminate or write off.

Charitable trust: The arrangement by which real or PERSONAL PROPERTY given by one person is held by another to be used for the benefit of a class of persons or the general public.

Charities: Organizations created for the purpose of philanthropic rather than pecuniary pursuits.

Charter: A grant from the government of ownership rights in land to a person, a group of people, or an organization such as a corporation.

A basic document of law of a MUNICIPAL CORPORATION granted by the state, defining its rights, liabilities, and responsibilities of self-government.

A document embodying a grant of authority from the legislature or the authority itself, such as a corporate charter.

The leasing of a mode of transportation, such as a bus, ship, or plane. A charter-party is a contract formed to lease a ship to a merchant in order to facilitate the conveyance of goods.

Chattel: An item of PERSONAL PROPERTY that is movable; it may be animate or inanimate.

Chattel mortgage: A transfer of some legal or equitable right in PERSONAL PROPERTY as security for the payment of money or performance of some other act. Chattel mortgages have generally been superseded by other types of SECURED TRANSACTIONS under the UNIFORM COMMERCIAL CODE (UCC), a body of law adopted by the states that governs commercial transactions.

Chattel paper: A writing or writings that evidence both a monetary obligation and a security interest in or a lease of specific goods. In many instances chattel paper will consist of a negotiable instrument coupled with a security agreement. When a transaction is evidenced both by such a security agreement or a lease and by an instrument or a series of instruments, the group of writings taken together constitutes chattel paper.

Check: A written order instructing a bank to pay upon its presentation to the person designated in it, or to the person possessing it, a certain sum of money from the account of the person who draws it.

Checkoff: A system whereby an employer regularly deducts a portion of an employee's wages to pay union dues or initiation fees.

Chief justice: The presiding, most senior, or principal judge of a court.

Child abuse: Physical, sexual, or emotional mistreatment or neglect of a child.

Child care: The supervision and nurturing of a child, including casual and informal services provided by a parent and more formal services provided by an organized child care center.

Child custody: The care, control, and maintenance of a child, which a court may award to one of the parents following a DIVORCE or separation proceeding.

Child labor laws: Federal and state legislation that protects children by restricting the type and hours of work they perform.

Child molestation: Child molestation is a crime involving a range of indecent or sexual activities between an adult and a child, usually under the age of 14. In psychiatric terms, these acts are sometimes known as pedophilia. It is important, however, to keep in mind that child molestation and child SEXUAL ABUSE refer to specific, legally defined actions. They do not necessarily imply that the perpetrator bears a particular psychological makeup or motive. For example, not all incidents of child molestation are perpetrated by pedophiles; sometimes the perpetrator has other motives for his or her actions and does not manifest an ongoing pattern of sexual attraction to children. Thus, not all child molestation is perpetrated by pedophiles, and not all pedophiles actually commit child molestation.

Child pornography: Child pornography is the visual representation of minors under the age of 18 engaged in sexual activity or the visual representation of minors engaging in lewd or erotic behavior designed to arouse the viewer's sexual interest.

Child support: A payment that a noncustodial parent makes as a contribution to the costs of raising her or his child.

Children's rights: The opportunity for children to participate in political and legal decisions that affect them; in a broad sense, the rights of children to live free from hunger, abuse, neglect, and other inhumane conditions.

Chilling effect doctrine: In CONSTITUTIONAL LAW, any practice or law that has the effect of seriously dissuading the exercise of a constitutional right, such as FREEDOM OF SPEECH.

Choate: Perfected, complete, or certain.

Chose: [French, Thing.] Chattel; item of PERSONAL PROPERTY.

Chose in action: The right to bring a lawsuit to recover chattels, money, or a debt.

Churning: The practice whereby a BROKER dealing in SECURITIES abuses the confidence of a client for personal gain by unnecessarily trading stocks to earn more commissions.

Circuit: A territorial or geographical division of a country or state.

Circuit court: A specific tribunal that possesses the legal authority to hear cases within its own geographical territory.

Circumstantial evidence: Information and testimony presented by a party in a civil or criminal action that permit conclusions that indirectly establish the existence or nonexistence of a fact or event that the party seeks to prove.

Citation: A paper commonly used in various courts—such as a probate, matrimonial, or traffic court—that is served upon an individual to notify him or her that he or she is required to appear at a specific time and place.

Reference to a legal authority—such as a case, constitution, or treatise—where particular information may be found.

Citator: A volume or set of volumes that is a record of the status of cases or statutes.

Cite: To notify a person of a proceeding against him or her or to call a person forth to appear in court.

To make reference to a legal authority, such as a case, in a citation.

Citizens: Those who, under the Constitution and laws of the United States, or of a particular community or of a foreign country, owe allegiance and are entitled to the enjoyment of all CIVIL RIGHTS that ACCRUE to those who qualify for that status.

Civil action: A lawsuit brought to enforce, redress, or protect rights of private litigants—the plaintiffs and the defendants—not a criminal proceeding.

Civil death: The FORFEITURE of rights and privileges of an individual who has been convicted of a serious crime.

Civil disobedience: A symbolic, non-violent violation of the law, done deliberately in protest against some form of perceived injustice. Mere dissent, protest, or disobedience of the law does not qualify. The act must be nonviolent, open and visible, illegal, performed for the moral purpose of protesting an injustice, and done with the expectation of being punished.

Civil law: A body of rules that delineate private rights and remedies, and govern disputes between individuals in such areas as contracts, property, and FAMILY LAW; distinct from criminal or public law. Civil law systems, which trace their roots to ancient Rome, are governed by doctrines developed and compiled by legal scholars. Legislators and administrators in civil law countries use these doctrines to fashion a code by which all legal controversies are decided.

Civil procedure: The methods, procedures, and practices used in civil cases.

Civil rights: Personal liberties that belong to an individual, owing to his or her status as a citizen or resident of a particular country or community.

Civil service: The designation given to government employment for which a person qualifies on the basis of merit rather than political patronage or personal favor.

Civilian review boards: A municipal body composed of citizen representatives charged with the investigation of complaints by members of the public concerning misconduct by police officers. Such bodies may be independent agencies or part of a law enforcement agency.

C.J.: An abbreviation for chief justice, the principal presiding judge or the judge with most seniority on a particular court, as well as an abbreviation for circuit judge, the judge of a particular judicial circuit.

CJS®: The abbreviation for Corpus Juris Secundum, which is a comprehensive encyclopedia of the principles of American law.

Claim: To demand or assert as a right. Facts that combine to give rise to a legally enforceable right or judicial action. Demand for relief.

Claim for relief: The section of a modern complaint that states the redress sought from a court by a person who initiates a lawsuit.

Class action: A lawsuit that allows a large number of people with a common interest in a matter to sue or be sued as a group.

Clause: A section, phrase, paragraph, or segment of a legal document, such as a contract, deed, will, or constitution, that relates to a particular point.

Clause paramount: In ADMIRALTY LAW, a statement required by federal law to be included in any bill of lading, which evinces a contract for the transportation of goods by sea from U.S. ports in foreign trade.

Clear: Free from doubt, burden, or obstacle; without limitation; plain or unencumbered.

Clear and convincing proof: A standard applied by a jury or by a judge in a nonjury trial to measure the probability of the truthfulness of particular facts alleged during a civil lawsuit.

Clear and present danger: An early standard by which the constitutionality of laws regulating subversive expression were evaluated in light of the First Amendment's guarantee of FREEDOM OF SPEECH.

Clear title: Unencumbered or unrestricted legal ownership that is free from doubt as to its validity.

Clemency: Leniency or mercy. A power given to a public official, such as a governor or the president, to in some way lower or moderate the harshness of punishment imposed upon a prisoner.

Clergy malpractice: A breach of the duty owed by a member of the clergy (e.g., trust, loyalty, confidentiality, guidance) that results in harm or loss to his or her parishioner. A claim for clergy malpractice asserts that a member of the clergy should be held liable for professional misconduct or an unreasonable lack of competence in his or her capacity as a religious leader and counselor.

Clerical error: A mistake made in a letter, paper, or document that changes its meaning, such as a typographical error or the unintentional addition or omission of a word, phrase, or figure.

Clerk: A person employed in an office or government agency who performs various tasks such as keeping records or accounts, filing, letter writing, or transcribing. One who works in a store and whose job might include working as a cashier, selling merchandise, or waiting on customers.

Client: A person who employs or retains an attorney to represent him or her in any legal business; to assist, to counsel, and to defend the individual in legal proceedings; and to appear on his or her behalf in court.

Client security funds: State funds that compensate clients of attorneys who have stolen their money. Monies for these funds come from attorney registration and bar association fees.

Close: A parcel of land that is surrounded by a boundary of some kind, such as a hedge or a fence. To culminate, complete, finish, or bring to an end. To seal up. To restrict to a certain class. A narrow margin, as in a close election.

Close writ: In ENGLISH LAW, a certain kind of letter issued by the sovereign that is sealed with the great seal indicating his or her office and directed to a particular person and for a special purpose.

Closed account: A detailed statement of the mutual debit and credit demands between parties to which no further changes can be made on either side.

Closed corporation: A type of business corporation that is owned and operated by a small group of people.

Closed shop: A shop in which persons are required to join a particular union as a precondition to employment and to remain union members for the duration of their employment.

Closely held: A phrase used to describe the ownership, management, and operation of a corporation by a small group of people.

Closing: The final transaction between a buyer and seller of real property.

Closing argument: The final factual and legal argument made by each attorney on all sides of a case in a trial prior to a verdict or judgment.

Cloture: The procedure by which debate is formally ended in a meeting or legislature so that a vote may be taken.

Cloud on title: An apparent claim or encumbrance, such as a lien, that, if true, impairs the right of the owner to transfer his or her property free and clear of the interests of any other party.

Club: An organization composed of people who voluntarily meet on a regular basis for a mutual purpose other than educational, religious, charitable, or financial pursuits. A club is any kind of group that has members who meet for a social, literary, or political purpose, such as health clubs, country clubs, book clubs, and women's associations. The term club is not a legal term per se, but a group that organizes itself as a club must comply with any laws governing its organization and otherwise be cognizant of the legal ramifications in undertaking to organize itself in this manner.

Co-maker: One who becomes obligated, an obligor, under a negotiable instrument—such as a check or promissory note—by signing his or her name along with the name of the original obligor, thereby promising to pay on it in full.

A co-maker is a type of accommodation party, who is someone who has signed a COMMERCIAL PAPER to aid someone wishing to raise money on it. An accommodation party lends his or her name to another person and makes a promise to pay the bill or note when it is due if the other person defaults.

Co: A prefix that denotes jointness or the state of being conjunct or united. To be together, with, or not separate from; conjoint or combined.

Code: A systematic and comprehensive compilation of laws, rules, or regulations that are consolidated and classified according to subject matter.

Code of judicial conduct: A collection of rules governing the conduct of judges while they serve in their professional capacity.

Code pleading: A statutory scheme that abolished the ancient common-law FORMS OF ACTION and replaced the overly technical system of COMMON-LAW PLEADING with simplified provisions for a plaintiff to bring a lawsuit and a defendant to answer the claims alleged against him or her.

Codicil: A document that is executed by a person who had previously made his or her will, to modify, delete, qualify, or revoke provisions contained in it.

Codification: The collection and systematic arrangement, usually by subject, of the laws of a state or country, or the statutory provisions, rules, and regulations that govern a specific area or subject of law or practice.

Coercion: The intimidation of a victim to compel the individual to do some act against his or her will by the use of psychological pressure, physical force, or threats. The crime of intentionally and unlawfully restraining another's freedom by threatening to commit a crime, accusing the victim of a crime, disclosing any secret that would seriously impair the victim's reputation in the community, or by performing or refusing to perform an official action lawfully requested by the victim, or by causing an official to do so.

A defense asserted in a criminal prosecution that a person who committed a crime did not do so of his or her own free will, but only because the individual was compelled by another through the use of physical force or threat of immediate serious bodily injury or death.

Cognizable: The adjective "cognizable" has two distinct (and unrelated) applications within the field of law. A cognizable claim or controversy is one that meets the basic criteria of viability for being tried or adjudicated before a particular tribunal. The term means that the claim or controversy is within the power or jurisdiction of a particular court to adjudicate.

Conversely, a "cognizable group" of jurors or potential jurors refers to that common trait or characteristic among them that is recognized as distinguishing them from others, such as race, ethnicity, and gender. Trial counsel are generally prohibited from eliminating jurors who are in the same cognizable group as that of a party or litigant through discriminatory PEREMPTORY CHALLENGES when that distinction is the basis for the challenge. In Batson v. Kentucky, 476 U.S. 79, 106 S.Ct. 1712, 90 L.Ed.2d 69, 54 USLW 4425 (U.S.Ky., Apr 30, 1986) (NO. 84-6263), the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that prosecutors may not use peremptory challenges to exclude African Americans from a jury solely on the basis of race. Over the years, other cases have expanded the scope of protected or "cognizable groups" of jurors to include gender, religion, and socioeconomic status.

Cognizance: The power, authority, and ability of a judge to determine a particular legal matter. A judge's decision to take note of or deal with a cause.

Cognovit actionem: [Latin, He has confessed the action.] The written confession made by a defendant admitting the merits of the action brought against him or her by a plaintiff. The confession is usually based upon designated conditions, given in court, and impliedly empowers the plaintiff's attorney to sign judgment and issue execution for its enforcement.

Cognovit note: An extraordinary document by which a debtor authorizes his or her creditor's attorney to enter a confession in court that allows judgment against the debtor.

Cohabitation: A living arrangement in which an unmarried couple lives together in a long-term relationship that resembles a marriage.

Coinsurance: A provision of an insurance policy that provides that the insurance company and the insured will apportion between them any loss covered by the policy according to a fixed percentage of the value for which the property, or the person, is insured.

Collateral: Related; indirect; not bearing immediately upon an issue. The property pledged or given as a security interest, or a guarantee for payment of a debt, that will be taken or kept by the creditor in case of a default on the original debt.

Collateral attack: An attempt to impeach or overturn a judgment rendered in a judicial proceeding, made in a proceeding other than within the original action or an appeal from it.

Collateral estoppel: A doctrine by which an earlier decision rendered by a court in a lawsuit between parties is conclusive as to the issues or controverted points so that they cannot be relitigated in subsequent proceedings involving the same parties.

Collateral heir: A successor to property—either by will or descent and distribution—who is not directly descended from the deceased but comes from a parallel line of the deceased's family, such as a brother, sister, uncle, aunt, niece, nephew, or cousin.

Collateral warranty: In real estate transactions, an assurance or guaranty of title made by the holder of the title to the person to whom the property is conveyed.

Collective bargaining: The process through which a LABOR UNION and an employer negotiate the scope of the employment relationship.

Collective bargaining agreement: The contractual agreement between an employer and a LABOR UNION that governs wages, hours, and working conditions for employees and which can be enforced against both the employer and the union for failure to comply with its terms. Such an agreement is ordinarily reached following the process of COLLECTIVE BARGAINING. A high profile example of such bargaining happens in the world of professional BASEBALL.

Collision: The violent contact of one vehicle—such as an automobile, ship, or boat—with another vehicle.

Collusion: An agreement between two or more people to defraud a person of his or her rights or to obtain something that is prohibited by law.

A secret arrangement wherein two or more people whose legal interests seemingly conflict conspire to commit FRAUD upon another person; a pact between two people to deceive a court with the purpose of obtaining something that they would not be able to get through legitimate judicial channels.

Color: The appearance or semblance of a thing, as distinguished from the thing itself.

Color of law: The appearance of a legal right.

Color of office: A description of an act by an officer done without authority under the pretext that he or she has an official right to do the act by reason of the officer's position.

Color of title: The appearance of a legally enforceable right of possession or ownership. A written instrument that purports to transfer ownership of property but, due to some defect, does not have that effect. A document purporting to pass title to land, such as a deed that is defective due to a lack of title in the grantor, passes only color of title to the grantee.

Colorable: False; counterfeit; something that is false but has the appearance of truth.

Combination: In CRIMINAL LAW, an agreement between two or more people to act jointly for an unlawful purpose; a conspiracy. In patent law, the joining together of several separate inventions to produce a new invention.

Combination in restraint of trade: An illegal compact between two or more persons to unjustly restrict competition and monopolize commerce in goods or services by controlling their production, distribution, and price or through other unlawful means.

Comity: Courtesy; respect; a disposition to perform some official act out of goodwill and tradition rather than obligation or law. The acceptance or ADOPTION of decisions or laws by a court of another jurisdiction, either foreign or domestic, based on public policy rather than legal mandate.

Commerce: The exchange of goods, products, or any type of PERSONAL PROPERTY. Trade and traffic carried on between different peoples or states and its inhabitants, including not only the purchase, sale, and exchange of commodities but also the instrumentalities, agencies, and means by which business is accomplished. The transportation of persons and goods, by air, land, and sea. The exchange of merchandise on a large scale between different places or communities.

Commerce clause: The provision of the U.S. Constitution that gives Congress exclusive power over trade activities among the states and with foreign countries and Indian tribes.

Commerce, electronic: Any sales transaction that takes place via computer or over the INTERNET.

Commercial code: A colloquial designation for the body of law known as the UNIFORM COMMERCIAL CODE (UCC), which governs the various business transactions that are integral parts of the U.S. system of commerce. The UCC has been adopted in virtually all of the states.

Commercial law: A broad concept that describes the SUBSTANTIVE LAW that governs transactions between business entities, with the exception of maritime transportation of goods (regulated by ADMIRALTY AND MARITIME LAW). Commercial law includes all aspects of business, including advertising and marketing, collections and BANKRUPTCY, banking, contracts, negotiable instruments, SECURED TRANSACTIONS, and trade in general. It covers both domestic and foreign trade; it also regulates trade between states.

Commercial paper: A written instrument or document such as a check, draft, promissory note, or a certificate of deposit, that manifests the pledge or duty of one individual to pay money to another.

Commingling: Combining things into one body.

Commissioner: A person charged with the management or direction of a board, a court, or a government agency.

Commitment: Proceedings directing the confinement of a mentally ill or incompetent person for treatment.

Commitment fee: Compensation paid to a lender by a borrower for the lender's promise to give a mortgage at some future time.

Committee: An individual or group of people to whom authority has been delegated by a larger group to perform a particular function or duty. A part of a legislative body made up of one or more individuals who have been assigned the task of investigating a certain issue and reporting their observations and recommendations to the legislature. The Senate has various committees, such as the Committee on Nuclear Energy. The name given to the person or group of people appointed by a court and charged with the responsibility of acting as the guardian of an incompetent person.

Commodity: A tangible item that may be bought or sold; something produced for commerce.

Common-law action: A lawsuit governed by the general principles of law derived from court decisions, as opposed to the provisions of statutes. Actions ex contractu, arising out of a breach of contract, and actions ex delicto, based upon the commission of a TORT, are common-law actions.

Common-law courts: The early royal courts in England that administered the law common to all.

Common-law pleading: The system of rules and principles that governed the forms into which parties cast their claims or defenses in order to set an issue before the court.

Common-law trust: More commonly known as a BUSINESS TRUST or a Massachusetts trust. A business organization for investment purposes by which trustees manage and control property for the benefit of beneficiaries who are protected against personal liability for any losses incurred.

Common: Belonging to or pertaining to the general public. Common lands, also known as public lands, are those that are set aside for use by the community at large, such as parks and public recreation areas. Common also means habitual or recurring, such as offenses that are committed frequently or repeatedly. A common thief is one who has been repeatedly convicted of LARCENY. Something that is common is owned equally by two or more people, such as a piece of land. A TENANCY IN COMMON is an interest in land wherein at least two people share ownership.

Common carrier: An individual or business that advertises to the public that it is available for hire to transport people or property in exchange for a fee.

Common council: In English LEGAL HISTORY, the name given to Parliament. In the U.S. legal system, the legislative body of a city or of a MUNICIPAL CORPORATION.

Common count: A traditional type of COMMON-LAW PLEADING that is used in actions to recover a debt of money of the defendant based upon an express or implied promise to pay after performance had been rendered. In a common-count PLEADING, the plaintiff sets forth in account form the facts that constitute the basis of his or her claim, such as money had and received and goods sold and delivered.

Common disaster: A set of circumstances in which two individuals die apparently simultaneously.

Common lands: An archaic designation of property set aside and regulated by the local, state, or federal government for the benefit of the public for recreational purposes.

Common law: The ancient law of England based upon societal customs and recognized and enforced by the judgments and decrees of the courts. The general body of statutes and case law that governed England and the American colonies prior to the American Revolution.

The principles and rules of action, embodied in case law rather than legislative enactments, applicable to the government and protection of persons and property that derive their authority from the community customs and traditions that evolved over the centuries as interpreted by judicial tribunals.

A designation used to denote the opposite of statutory, equitable, or civil, for example, a common-law action.

Common-law marriage: A union of two people not formalized in the customary manner as prescribed by law but created by an agreement to marry followed by COHABITATION.

Common pleas: Trial-level courts of general jurisdiction. One of the royal common-law courts in England existing since the beginning of the thirteenth century and developing from the Curia Regis, or the King's Court.

Common scold: A person who frequently or habitually causes public disturbances or breaks the peace by brawling or quarreling.

Common stock: Evidence of participation in the ownership of a corporation that takes the form of printed certificates.

Communis error facit jus: [Latin, common error makes law.] Another expression for this idea is "common opinion," or communis opinio. In ancient Rome, the phrase expressed the notion that a generally accepted opinion or belief about a legal issue makes that opinion or belief the law. Judges have pointed out that universal opinion may also be universal error. Until the error is discovered, however, the belief continues to be the law. The concept of communis opinio is not especially favored by contemporary U.S. courts.

Communism: A system of social organization in which goods are held in common.

Community-oriented policing: A philosophy that combines traditional aspects of law enforcement with prevention measures, problem-solving, community engagement, and community partnerships.

Community property: The holdings and resources owned in common by a HUSBAND AND WIFE.

Community service: A sentencing option for persons convicted of crimes in which the court orders the defendant to perform a number of hours of unpaid work for the benefit of the public.

Commutation: Modification, exchange, or substitution.

Compact: An agreement, treaty, or contract.

Compact Clause: A provision contained in Article I, Section 10, Clause 3, of the U.S. Constitution, which states, "No State shall, without the consent of Congress . . . enter into any Agreement or Compact with another State.” Intende to curtail the increase of political power in the individual states that might interfere with the supremacy of the federal government or impose an unconstitutional burden on interstate commerce in violation of the COMMERCE CLAUSE.

Company: An organization of individuals conducting a commercial or industrial enterprise. A corporation, partnership, association, or joint stock company.

Comparable worth: The idea that men and women should receive equal pay when they perform work that involves comparable skills and responsibility or that is of comparable worth to the employer; also known as pay equity.

Comparative rectitude: The principle by which a DIVORCE is awarded to the party whose fault is less serious in cases where both spouses allege grounds that would justify a divorce.

Compensation: A pecuniary remedy that is awarded to an individual who has sustained an injury in order to replace the loss caused by said injury, such as WORKERS’ COMPENSATION. Wages paid to an employee or, generally, fees, salaries, or allowances. The payment a landowner is given to make up for the injury suffered as a result of the seizure when his or her land is taken by the government through EMINENT DOMAIN.

Compensatory damages: A sum of money awarded in a civil action by a court to indemnify a person for the particular loss, detriment, or injury suffered as a result of the unlawful conduct of another.

Competent: Possessing the necessary reasoning abilities or legal qualifications; qualified; capable; sufficient.

Competent evidence: Information that proves a point at issue in a lawsuit.

Complainant: A plaintiff; a person who commences a civil lawsuit against another, known as the defendant, in order to remedy an alleged wrong. An individual who files a written accusation with the police charging a suspect with the commission of a crime and providing facts to support the allegation and which results in the criminal prosecution of the suspect.

Complaint: The PLEADING that initiates a civil action; in CRIMINAL LAW, the document that sets forth the basis upon which a person is to be charged with an offense.

Compliance: Observance; conformity; obedience.

Composition with creditors: A contract made by an insolvent or financially pressed debtor with two or more creditors in which the creditors agree to accept one specific partial payment of the total amount of their claims, which is to be divided pro rata among them in full satisfaction of their claims.

Compound interest: Interest generated by the sum of the principal and any accrued interest.

Compounding a felony: A criminal offense consisting of the acceptance of a reward or other consideration in exchange for an agreement not to prosecute or reveal a felony committed by another.

Compounding offense: A criminal act in which a person agrees not to report the occurrence of a crime or not to prosecute a criminal offender in exchange for money or other consideration.

Comprise: To embrace, cover, or include; to confine within; to consist of.

Compromise and settlement: Settlement of a dispute by mutual agreement to avoid a lawsuit.

Comptroller: An officer who conducts the fiscal affairs of a state or MUNICIPAL CORPORATION.

Compulsory process: The method employed by which a person wanted as a witness, or for some other purpose, in a civil or criminal action is forced to appear before the court hearing the proceeding.

Compurgator: In early legal practice, one of several character witnesses produced by someone accused of a crime or by a defendant in a civil suit to attest, in court, that he or she believed the defendant on his or her oath.

Computer-assisted legal research: Technology that allows lawyers and judges to bypass the traditional law library and locate statutes, court cases, and other legal references in minutes using a personal computer, research software or the INTERNET, and an online connection.

Computer crime: The use of a computer to take or alter data, or to gain unlawful use of computers or services.

Con: A prefix meaning with or together. A slang abbreviation for confidence, as in con man or con game. To con someone is to deceive or take advantage of a person through FRAUD or trickery after winning the person's confidence. Con is also used as a slang abbreviation for convict, as in ex-con to mean someone previously incarcerated. An abbreviation for contra, which means against. To show the pros and cons of a particular issue means to present arguments or evidence on both sides.

Concealment of birth or death: The crime of refusing to disclose the birth or death of a newborn child.

Conciliation: The process of adjusting or settling disputes in a friendly manner through extrajudicial means. Conciliation means bringing two opposing sides together to reach a compromise in an attempt to avoid taking a case to trial. ARBITRATION, in contrast, is a contractual remedy used to settle disputes out of court. In arbitration the two parties in controversy agree in advance to abide by the decision made by a third party called in as a mediator, whereas conciliation is less structured.

Conciliation, international: A method by which the differences between nations may be settled by means of a commission employed to consider and report upon such differences.

Conclusion of law: The rule by which the rights of parties in a lawsuit are determined by a judge's application of relevant statutes or legal principles to the facts of the case that have been found to be true by the jury. The final judgment or decree rendered by a court based upon the verdict reached by the jury. Legal principles that provide the basis for the decision rendered by a judge in a case tried without a jury or with an ADVISORY JURY after certain facts have been established.

Conclusive: Determinative; beyond dispute or question. That which is conclusive is manifest, clear, or obvious. It is a legal inference made so peremptorily that it cannot be overthrown or contradicted.

Concur: To agree; coincide; act together. To concur is to evidence consent in an affirmative or concrete manner as opposed to merely acquiescing or silently submitting to a decision.

Concurrent: Simultaneous; converging; of equal or joint authority.

Concurrent estates: Ownership or possession of real property by two or more individuals simultaneously.

Concurrent jurisdiction: The authority of several different courts, each of which is authorized to entertain and decide cases dealing with the same subject matter.

Concurrent resolution: An action of Congress passed in the form of an enactment of one house, with the other house in agreement, which expresses the ideas of Congress on a particular subject.

Concurrent writs: Court orders issued in duplicate originals; several orders issued at the same time for the same purpose.

Condemn: To adjudge or find guilty of a crime and sentence. To declare a building or ship unsafe for use or occupancy. To decide that a navigable vessel is a prize or is unfit for service. To take privately owned land for public use in exchange for just compensation by virtue of the power of EMINENT DOMAIN.

Condemnation: The process of implementing EMINENT DOMAIN, whereby the government takes private property for public use.

Condition: A future and uncertain event upon the happening of which certain rights or obligations will be either enlarged, created, or destroyed.

Conditional: Subject to change; dependent upon or granted based on the occurrence of a future, uncertain event.

Condominium, international: A non-self-governing territory over which two states share administrative control. In this context the term coimperium is sometimes used interchangeably with the term condominium.

Condominiums and cooperatives: Two common forms of multiple-unit dwellings, with independent owners or lessees of the individual units comprising the multiple-unit dwelling who share various costs and responsibilities of areas they use in common.

Condonation: In marriage, the voluntary pardoning by an innocent spouse of an offense committed by his or her partner conditioned upon the promise that it will not recur.

Confederacy: The association or banding together of two or more persons for the purpose of committing an act or furthering an enterprise that is forbidden by law, or that, though lawful in itself, becomes unlawful when made the object of the confederacy. More commonly called a conspiracy. The union of two or more independent states for the purpose of common safety or a furtherance of their mutual goals.

Confederation: A union of states in which each member state retains some independent control over internal and external affairs. Thus, for international purposes, there are separate states, not just one state. A federation, in contrast, is a union of states in which external affairs are controlled by a unified, central government.

Confession: A statement by which an individual acknowledges his or her guilt in the commission of a crime.

Confession and avoidance: A form of plea that served as the formal answer to a plaintiff's complaint or declaration.

Confession of judgment: A procedure whereby a defendant did not enter a plea, the usual response to a plaintiff's declaration in COMMON-LAW PLEADING, but instead either confessed to the accuracy of the plaintiff's claim or withdrew a plea already entered.

Confidential communication: A form of PRIVILEGED COMMUNICATION passed from one individual to another, intended to be heard only by the individual addressed.

Confidential relation: Any connection between two individuals in which one of the parties has an obligation to act with extreme GOOD FAITH for the benefit of the other party.

Confiscate: To expropriate private property for public use without compensating the owner under the authority of the POLICE POWER of the government. To seize property.

Conflict of interest: A term used to describe the situation in which a public official or fiduciary who, contrary to the obligation and absolute duty to act for the benefit of the public or a designated individual, exploits the relationship for personal benefit, typically pecuniary.

Conformed copy: A duplicate of a document that includes handwritten notations of items incapable of reproduction, such as a signature, which must be inscribed upon the duplicate with the explanation that it was placed there by the person whose signature appears on the original document.

Conforming use: When land is employed in compliance with ZONING ordinances in a particular area.

Confrontation: A fundamental right of a defendant in a criminal action to come face-to-face with an adverse witness in the court's presence so the defendant has a fair chance to object to the testimony of the witness, and the opportunity to cross-examine him or her.

Confusion: The combination or mixture of two things; the process of commingling.

Confusion of goods: A blending together of property individually owned by two or more people so as to make it impossible to distinguish who owns what.

Conglomerate: A corporation operating in several different and unrelated enterprises, such as the movie industry, baking, and oil refining.

Congressional-executive agreement: An accord made by joint authority of the Congress and the president covering areas of INTERNATIONAL LAW that are not within the ambit of treaties.

Congressional record: A daily publication of the federal government that details the legislative proceedings of Congress.

Conjugal: Pertaining or relating to marriage; suitable or applicable to married people.

Connecting up doctrine: A term relating to the admissibility of evidence which means that a fact may be admitted into evidence provided that its relevance will subsequently become apparent when it is linked to other facts presented later.

Connivance: The furtive consent of one person to cooperate with another in the commission of an unlawful act or crime—such as an employer's agreement not to withhold taxes from the salary of an employee who wants to evade federal INCOME TAX. The false consent that a plaintiff gave to a defendant's past conduct during their marriage which the plaintiff presently alleges as a ground for DIVORCE.

Conquest: A term used in feudal law to designate land acquisition by purchase; or any method other than descent or inheritance by which an individual obtains ownership of an estate. A term used in INTERNATIONAL LAW for the process whereby a sovereign nation is, by force of arms, made to submit to another nation; the defeated country thus becomes part of the empire of the conqueror.

Consanguinity: Blood relationship; the relation of people who descend from the same ancestor.

Conscientious objector: A person who, because of principles of religious training and moral belief, is opposed to all war regardless of its cause.

Conscription: Compulsory enrollment and induction into the military service.

Consensual alteration: A change in a legal document agreed to by the parties and binding upon them.

Consent: Voluntary ACQUIESCENCE to the proposal of another; the act or result of reaching an accord; a concurrence of minds; actual willingness that an act or an infringement of an interest shall occur.

Consent decree: A settlement of a lawsuit or criminal case in which a person or company agrees to take specific actions without admitting fault or guilt for the situation that led to the lawsuit.

Consequential damages: Injury or harm that does not ensue directly and immediately from the act of a party, but only from some of the results of such act, and that is compensable by a monetary award after a judgment has been rendered in a lawsuit. Detriment that arises from the interposition of special, unpredictable circumstances. Harm to a person or property directly resulting from any breach of WARRANTY or from a false factual statement, concerning the quality or nature of goods sold, made by the seller to induce the sale and relied on by the buyer.

Conservator of the peace: An officer of the government authorized by law to act in such a manner that will preserve and maintain the order and safety of the community and the general public.

Consideration: Something of value given by both parties to a contract that induces them to enter into the agreement to exchange mutual performances.

Consignment: The delivery of goods to a carrier to be shipped to a designated person for sale. A BAILMENT of goods for sale.

Consortium: The marital alliance between a HUSBAND AND WIFE and their respective right to each other's support, cooperation, aid, and companionship.

Consortium/intergovernmental corporations and consortiums: Quasi-business associations formed to provide services, arrange financing, or operate certain enterprises.

Conspiracy: An agreement between two or more persons to engage jointly in an unlawful or criminal act, or an act that is innocent in itself but becomes unlawful when done by the combination of actors.

Constable: An official of a MUNICIPAL CORPORATION whose primary duties are to protect and preserve the peace of the community.

Constitute: To comprise or put together. That which is duly constituted is properly made up and formally correct and valid.

Constitution: The fundamental law, written or unwritten, that establishes the character of a government by defining the basic principles to which a society must conform; by describing the organization of the government and regulation, distribution, and limitations on the functions of different government departments; and by prescribing the extent and manner of the exercise of its sovereign powers.

A legislative charter by which a government or group derives its authority to act.

Constitution of the United States: A written document executed by representatives of the people of the United States as the absolute rule of action and decision for all branches and officers of the government, and with which all subsequent laws and ordinances must be in accordance unless it has been changed by a constitutional amendment by the authority that created it.

Constitutional: That which is consistent with or dependent upon the fundamental law that defines and establishes government in society and basic principles to which society is to conform.

Constitutional amendment: The means by which an alteration to the U.S. Constitution, whether a modification, deletion, or addition, is accomplished.

Constitutional law: The written text of the state and federal constitutions. The body of judicial precedent that has gradually developed through a process in which courts interpret, apply, and explain the meaning of particular constitutional provisions and principles during a legal proceeding. Executive, legislative, and judicial actions that conform with the norms prescribed by a constitutional provision.

Construction: The process by which the meaning of an ambiguous provision of a statute, written document, or oral agreement is determined.

Constructive: That which exists, not in fact, but as a result of the operation of law. That which takes on a character as a consequence of the way it is treated by a rule or policy of law, as opposed to its actual character.

Constructive desertion: The end of marital COHABITATION brought about when one spouse, by his or her conduct, forces the other to leave home.

Constructive eviction: The disturbance, by a landlord, of a tenant's possession of premises that the landlord makes uninhabitable and unsuitable for the purposes for which they were leased, causing the tenant to surrender possession.

Constructive trust: A relationship by which a person who has obtained title to property has an equitable duty to transfer it to another, to whom it rightfully belongs, on the basis that the acqui-tion or retention of it is wrongful and would unjustly enrich the person if he or she were allowed to retain it.

Consular court: A tribunal convened by public officials who reside in a foreign country to protect the interests of their country for the settlement of civil cases based upon situations that happened in the foreign nation and which is held pursuant to authority granted by treaty.

Consuls: Public officials stationed in a foreign country who are responsible for developing and securing the economic interests of their government and safeguarding the welfare of their government's citizens who might be traveling or residing within their jurisdiction.

Consumer: An individual who purchases and uses products and services in contradistinction to manufacturers who produce the goods or services and wholesalers or retailers who distribute and sell them. A member of the general category of persons who are protected by state and federal laws regulating price policies, financing practices, quality of goods and services, credit reporting, debt collection, and other trade practices of U.S. commerce. A purchaser of a product or service who has a legal right to enforce any implied or express warranties pertaining to the item against the manufacturer who has introduced the goods or services into the marketplace or the seller who has made them a term of the sale.

Consumer credit: Short-term loans made to enable people to purchase goods or services primarily for personal, family, or household purposes.

Consumer fraud: Deceptive practices that result in financial or other losses for consumers in the course of seemingly legitimate business transactions.

Consumer price index: A computation made and issued monthly by the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the federal LABOR DEPARTMENT that attempts to track the price level of designated goods and services purchased by the average consumer.

Consumer protection: Consumer protection laws are federal and state statutes governing sales and credit practices involving consumer goods. Such statutes prohibit and regulate deceptive or UNCONSCIONABLE advertising and sales practices, product quality, credit financing and reporting, debt collection, leases, and other aspects of consumer transactions.

Consumer software piracy: The unauthorized use, possession, downloading, duplication, distribution, or sale of copyrighted computer software.

Consummate: To carry into completion; to fulfill; to accomplish.

Contemner: An individual who intentionally acts to hinder or obstruct the administration of justice by a court, either by refusing to comply with its orders or by disrupting its orderly proceedings, thereby committing CONTEMPT.

Contemplation of death: The apprehension of an individual that his or her life will be ended in the immediate future by a particular illness the person is suffering from or by an imminent known danger which the person faces.

Contempt: An act of deliberate disobedience or disregard for the laws, regulations, or decorum of a public authority, such as a court or legislative body.

Contest: To defend against an adverse claim made in a court by a plaintiff or a prosecutor; to challenge a position asserted in a judicial proceeding, as to contest the probate of a will.

Context: The language that precedes and follows a series of words, such as a particular sentence or clause.

Continental Congress: The first national legislative assembly in the United States, existing from 1774 to 1789.

Contingent: Fortuitous; dependent upon the possible occurrence of a future event, the existence of which is not assured.

Contingent fee: Payment to an attorney for legal services that depends, or is contingent, upon there being some recovery or award in the case. The payment is then a percentage of the amount recovered—such as 25 percent if the matter is settled, or 30 percent if it proceeds to trial.

Continuance: The adjournment or postponement of an action pending in a court to a later date of the same or another session of the court, granted by a court in response to a motion made by a party to a lawsuit. The entry into the trial record of the adjournment of a case for the purpose of formally evidencing it.

Contra: Against; conflicting; opposite.

Contraband: Any property that it is illegal to produce or possess. Smuggled goods that are imported into or exported from a country in violation of its laws.

Contracts: Agreements between two entities, creating an enforceable obligation to do, or to refrain from doing, a particular thing.

Contravention: A term of French law meaning an act violative of a law, a treaty, or an agreement made between parties; a breach of law punishable by a fine of fifteen francs or less and by an imprisonment of three days or less. In the U.S. legal system, a breach or violation of the provisions of a contract, statute, or treaty.

Contributing to the delinquency of a minor: Any action by an adult that allows or encourages illegal behavior by a person under the age of 18, or that places children in situations that expose them to illegal behavior. Contributing to the delinquency of a minor can be as simple as keeping a child home from school and thus, making the child a truant. It also can manifest itself in more serious behavior. For example, an adult who commits a crime in the presence of a child can be charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor, as can an adult who serves alcoholic beverages to anyone under the legal drinking age. Still more egregious is sexual exploitation, which could include having sexual relations with minors or engaging in the production or trafficking of CHILD PORNOGRAPHY.

Contribution: In maritime law, where the property of one of several parties with interests in a vessel and cargo has been voluntarily sacrificed for the common safety of the vessel—as by casting goods overboard to lighten the vessel—such loss must be made up by the contribution of the others, which is labeled “general average.” In CIVIL LAW, a partition by which the creditors of an insolvent debtor divide among themselves the proceeds of the debtor’s property in proportion to the amount of their respective credits. The right of a defendant who has paid an entire debt, or common liability, to recoup a proportionate share of the payment from another defendant who is equally responsible for the payment of that debt or liability.

Controller: The key financial officer of a state, private, or MUNICIPAL CORPORATION, who is charged with certain specific responsibilities related to its financial affairs.

Controversy: An actual dispute between individuals who seek judicial resolution of their grievances that have arisen from a conflict of their alleged legal rights.

Controvert: To contest, deny, or take issue with.

Contumacy: Willful disobedience. The intentional failure of an individual to obey a summons to appear in court to defend against a charge or to obey an order rendered by the court.

Convention: An agreement or compact, particularly an international agreement, such as the GENEVA CONVENTION. An accord between states or nations, which resembles a treaty: ordinarily applied to agreements prior to an execution of an official treaty or which serve as its foundation; or to international agreements for the regulation of international affairs of common interest not within the ambit of commercial transactions or politics, such as international postage. An agreement between states concerning finance, trade, or other matters considered less significant than those usually governed by a treaty. An assembly or meeting of representatives or members of legislative, political, or fraternal organizations.

Conventional: Derived from or contingent upon the mutual agreement of the parties, as opposed to that created by or dependent upon a statute or other act of the law.

Conversion: Any unauthorized act that deprives an owner of personal property without his or her consent.

Conveyance: The transfer of ownership or interest in real property from one person to another by a document, such as a deed, lease, or mortgage.

Convict: To adjudge an accused person guilty of a crime at the conclusion of a criminal prosecution, or after the entry of a plea of guilty or a plea of nolo contendere. An individual who has been found guilty of a crime and, as a result, is serving a sentence as punishment for the act; a prisoner.

Conviction: The outcome of a criminal prosecution which concludes in a judgment that the defendant is guilty of the crime charged. The juncture of a criminal proceeding during which the question of guilt is ascertained. In a case where the perpetrator has been adjudged guilty and sentenced, a record of the summary proceedings brought pursuant to any penal statute before one or more justices of the peace or other properly authorized persons.

Cooling-off period: An interval of time during which no action of a specific type can be taken by either side in a dispute. An automatic delay in certain jurisdictions, apart from ordinary court delays, between the time when DIVORCE papers are filed and the divorce hearing takes place. An amount of time within which a buyer is permitted to cancel a contract for the purchase of consumer goods—designed to effect CONSUMER PROTECTION. A number of states require that a three-day cancellation period must be allowed purchasers following door-to-door sales.

Cooperative: An association or corporation established for the purpose of providing services on a nonprofit basis to its shareholders or members who own and control it.

Copyright: A bundle of intangible rights granted by statute to the author or originator of certain literary or artistic productions, whereby, for a limited period, the exclusive privilege is given to that person (or to any party to whom he or she transfers ownership) to make copies of the same for publication and sale.

Copyright arbitration royalty panel: Three-member ad hoc board empowered to make decisions regarding ratemaking and distributions of COPYRIGHT ROYALTIES collected for compulsory licenses under the Copyright Act of 1976.

Copyright, international: The manner in which the exclusive rights to reproduce and distribute copies of various intellectual productions may be obtained in foreign countries.

Coram: [Latin, Before; in the presence of.] Coram nobis: [Latin, In our presence; before us.] The designation of a remedy for setting aside an erroneous judgment in a civil or criminal action that resulted from an error of fact in the proceeding.

Coram rege: [Latin, In the presence of the king himself.]

Correspondent: One of two or more parties against whom a lawsuit is commenced. A person named with others who must answer claims alleged in a bill, petition, or LIBEL in a judicial proceeding. An individual who is accused of ADULTERY with another's spouse being sued for DIVORCE on that ground and who thereby becomes a defendant in the action.

Corner: For surveying purposes, the designation given to a particular location formed by the intersection of two boundary lines of real property.

The process by which a group of investors or dealers in a particular commodity exploit its market by purchasing it in large quantities and removing it from general sale for a time, thereby dramatically increasing its market price because its limited supply is greatly exceeded by the demand for it. The condition created when a commitment is made to sell at a special time of delivery in the future, a much greater quantity of a commodity than is available in the present market.

Corollary: A consequence or result that can be logically drawn from the existence of a set of facts by the exercise of common sense and reason.

Coroner: An official of a MUNICIPAL CORPORATION whose designated functions include the investigation of the cause of any violent or suspicious death that takes place within the geographical boundaries of his or her municipality.

Corporal punishment: Physical punishment, as distinguished from pecuniary punishment or a fine; any kind of punishment inflicted on the body.

Corporate: Pertaining to or possessing the qualities of a corporation, a legal entity created—pursuant to state law—to serve the purposes set out in its certificate of incorporation.

Corporate personality: The distinct status of a business organization that has complied with law for its recognition as a legal entity and that has an independent legal existence from that of its officers, directors, and shareholders.

Corporations: Artificial entities that are created by state statute, and that are treated much like individuals under the law, having legally enforceable rights, the ability to acquire debt and to pay out profits, the ability to hold and transfer property, the ability to enter into contracts, the requirement to pay taxes, and the ability to sue and be sued.

Corporeal: Possessing a physical nature; having an objective, tangible existence; being capable of perception by touch and sight.

Corpse: The physical remains of an expired human being prior to complete decomposition.

Corpus: [Latin, Body, aggregate, or mass.]

Corpus delicti: [Latin, The body of the crime.] The foundation or material substance of a crime.

Corpus juris: [Latin, A body of law.] A phrase used to designate a volume encompassing several collections of law, such as the Corpus Juris Civilis. The name of an American legal encyclopedia, the most recent edition of which is known as Corpus Juris Secundum (C.J.S.®).

Corpus juris civilis: [Latin, The body of the civil law.] The name given in the early seventeenth century to the collection of CIVIL LAW based upon the compilation and CODIFICATION of the Roman system of JURISPRUDENCE directed by the Emperor JUSTINIAN I during the years from 528 to 534 A.D.

Correlative: Having a reciprocal relationship in that the existence of one relationship normally implies the existence of the other.

Correspondence audit: An examination of the accuracy of a taxpayer's income tax return conducted through the mail by the INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE, which sends the taxpayer a request for proof of a particular deduction or exemption taken by either completing a special form or sending photocopies of relevant financial records.

Correspondent: A bank, SECURITIES firm, or other financial institution that regularly renders services for another in an area or market to which the other party lacks direct access. A bank that functions as an agent for another bank and carries a deposit balance for a bank in another city.

Corroborate: To support or enhance the believability of a fact or assertion by the presentation of additional information that confirms the truthfulness of the item.

Corruption of blood: In ENGLISH LAW, the result of attainder, in that the attainted person lost all rights to inherit land or other hereditaments from an ancestor, to retain possession of such property and to transfer any property rights to anyone, including heirs, by virtue of his or her conviction for TREASON or a felony punishable by death, because the law considered the person's blood tainted by the crime.

Cosigner: An obligor—a person who becomes obligated, under a COMMERCIAL PAPER, such as a promissory note or check—by signing the instrument in conjunction with the original obligor, thereby promising to pay it in full.

Costs: Fees and charges required by law to be paid to the courts or their officers, the amount of which is specified by court rule or statute. A monetary allowance, granted by the court to a prevailing party and recoverable from the unsuccessful party, for expenses incurred in instituting or defending an action or a separate proceeding within an action.

Council: A legislative body of local government. A group of persons who, whether elected or appointed, serve as representatives of the public to establish state or municipal policies and to assist the chief executive of the government unit in the performance of duties.

Counsel: An attorney or lawyer. The rendition of advice and guidance concerning a legal matter, contemplated form of argument, claim, or action.

Counsellor: One engaged in the PRACTICE OF LAW; lawyer; advocate.

Count: In COMMON-LAW PLEADING or CODE PLEADING, the initial statements made by a plaintiff that set forth a CAUSE OF ACTION to commence a civil lawsuit; the different points of a plaintiff's declaration, each of which constitute a basis for relief. In CRIMINAL PROCEDURE, one of several parts or charges of an indictment, each accusing the defendant of a different offense.

Counterclaim: A claim by a defendant opposing the claim of the plaintiff and seeking some relief from the plaintiff for the defendant.

Counterclaims and setoffs against sovereigns: A comprehensive term for the vulnerability of a foreign government to retaliatory suits against it arising out of a lawsuit that it commences against a party.

Counterfeit: To falsify, deceive, or defraud. A copy or imitation of something that is intended to be taken as authentic and genuine in order to deceive another.

Counterfeiting: The process of fraudulently manufacturing, altering, or distributing a product that is of lesser value than the genuine product.

Counteroffer: In contract law, a proposal made in response to an original offer modifying its terms, but which has the legal effect of rejecting it.

Countersign: The inscription of one's name at the end of a writing, done by a secretary or a subordinate, to attest to the fact that such a writing has been signed by a principal or a superior, thereby vouching for the genuineness of the signature. To write one's name at the end of a document—in addition to the inscription of a name by another—to attest to the authenticity of the signature.

County: A political subdivision of a state, the power and importance of which varies from one state to another.

Coupon: A certificate evidencing the obligation to pay an installment of interest or a dividend that must be cut and presented to its issuer for payment when it is due.

Course of dealing: A clearly recognizable pattern of previous conduct between parties to a business transaction.

Course of employment: As set forth in WORKERS' COMPENSATION acts, the time, place, and conditions under which an on-the-job accident occurs. The performance of an act that an employee might prudently do while in the appropriate area during working hours.

Course of performance: Evidence of the conduct of parties concerning the execution of obligations under a contract requiring more than one performance that is used for the purpose of interpreting the contract's provisions.

Court: A judicial tribunal established to administer justice. An entity in the government to which the administration of justice is delegated. In a broader sense, the term may also refer to a legislative assembly; a deliberative body, such as the General Court of Massachusetts, which is its legislature. The words court, judge, or judges, when used in laws, are often synonymous. A kangaroo court is a mock legal proceeding that disregards law and justice by issuing a biased, predetermined judgment regardless of the evidence presented before it.

Court administrator: An officer of the judicial system who performs administrative and clerical duties essential to the proper operation of the business of a court, such as tracking trial dates, keeping records, entering judgments, and issuing process.

Court commissioners: Persons appointed by a judge to find facts, to hear testimony, or to perform a specific function connected with certain types of cases.

Court hand: In old English practice, the peculiar style and form of writing in which court records were transcribed from the earliest period to the reign of George II, circa 1760.

Court-martial: A tribunal that tries violations of military CRIMINAL LAW. It often refers to the entire military justice process, from actual court proceedings to punishment.

Court of appeal: An intermediate federal judicial tribunal of review that is found in thirteen judicial districts, called circuits, in the United States.

A state judicial tribunal that reviews a decision rendered by an inferior tribunal to determine whether it made errors that warrant the reversal of its judgment.

Court of claims: A state judicial tribunal established as the forum in which to bring certain types of lawsuits against the state or its political subdivisions, such as a county. The former designation given to a federal tribunal created in 1855 by Congress with original jurisdiction—initial authority—to decide an action brought against the United States that is based upon the Constitution, federal law, any regulation of the executive department, or any express or implied contracts with the federal government.

Court of probate: A judicial body that exercises jurisdiction over the acceptance of wills as valid documents and over the management and settlement of the estates of minors or of spendthrifts, of mentally incompetent persons, and of habitual drunkards.

Court opinion: A statement that is prepared by a judge or court announcing the decision after a case is tried; includes a summary of the facts, a recitation of the applicable law and how it relates to the facts, the rationale supporting the decision, and a judgment; and is usually presented in writing, though occasionally an oral opinion is rendered.

Courts of request: Inferior judicial tribunals in England, created by special enactments of Parliament, that possessed local jurisdiction to determine actions involving claims for small debts. These courts were abolished in 1846 and replaced by county courts.

Covenant: An agreement, contract, or written promise between two individuals that frequently constitutes a pledge to do or refrain from doing something.

Covenant, action of: One of the old common-law FORMS OF ACTION by which the plaintiff claimed damages for breach of a COVENANT, that is, a contract under seal.

Covenant marriage: A legal union of HUSBAND AND WIFE that requires premarital counseling, marital counseling if problems occur, and limited grounds for DIVORCE.

Cover: To protect or shelter; to make good; to insure. To cover a check means to deposit sufficient funds in a bank account to pay the amount written on a check or checks.

The right of a purchaser to buy goods other than those that were originally contracted for as a remedy in the event of a breach of contract by the seller.

Coverage: The risks that are included in the terms of an insurance contract for protection under the policy; the amount and type of insurance.

Coverture: An archaic term that refers to the legal status of a married woman.

CPA: An abbreviation for certified public accountant. A CPA is a trained accountant who has been examined and licensed by the state. He or she is permitted to perform all the tasks of an ordinary accountant in addition to examining the books and records of various business organizations, such as corporations.

Craft union: An association of laborers wherein all the members do the same type of work.

Credibility: Believability. The major legal application of the term credibility relates to the testimony of a witness or party during a trial. Testimony must be both competent and credible if it is to be accepted by the trier of fact as proof of an issue being litigated.

Credit: A term used in accounting to describe either an entry on the righthand side of an account or the process of making such an entry. A credit records the increases in liabilities, owners' EQUITY, and revenues as well as the decreases in assets and expenses.

A sum in taxation that is subtracted from the computed tax, as opposed to a deduction that is ordinarily subtracted from gross income to determine adjusted gross income or taxable income. Claim for a particular sum of money.

The ability of an individual or a company to borrow money or procure goods on time, as a result of a positive opinion by the particular lender concerning such borrower's solvency and reliability. The right granted by a creditor to a debtor to delay satisfaction of a debt, or to incur a debt and defer the payment thereof.

Credit bureau: A privately owned, profit-making establishment that—as a regular business—collects and compiles data regarding the solvency, character, responsibility, and reputation of a particular individual or business in order to furnish such information to subscribers, in the form of a report allowing them to evaluate the financial stability of the subject of the report.

Credit union: A corporation formed under special statutory provisions to further thrift among its members while providing credit for them at more favorable rates of interest than those offered by other lending institutions. A credit union is a cooperative association that utilizes funds deposited by a small group of people who are its sole borrowers and beneficiaries. It is ordinarily subject to regulation by state banking boards or commissions. When formed pursuant to the Federal Credit Union Act (12 U.S.C.A. § 1751 et seq. [1934]), credit unions are chartered and regulated by the NATIONAL CREDIT UNION ADMINISTRATION.

Creditor: An individual to whom an obligation is owed because he or she has given something of value in exchange. One who may legally demand and receive money, either through the fulfillment of a contract or due to injury sustained as a result of another's NEGLIGENCE or intentionally wrongful act. The term creditor is also used to describe an individual who is engaged in the business of lending money or selling items for which immediate payment is not demanded but an obligation of repayment exists as of a future date.

Creditor's bill: An equitable proceeding initiated by a person who has obtained—and is entitled to enforce—a money judgment against a debtor to collect the payment of a debt that cannot be reached through normal legal procedures.

Crimes: Acts or omissions that are in violation of law.

Criminal: Pertaining to, or involving, crimes or the administration of penal justice. An individual who has been found guilty of the commission of conduct that causes social harm and that is punishable by law; a person who has committed a crime.

Criminal action: The procedure by which a person accused of committing a crime is charged, brought to trial, and judged.

Criminal conversation: A TORT under COMMON LAW that involves the seduction of another person's spouse.

Criminal forfeiture: The loss of a criminal defendant's rights to property which is confiscated by the government when the property was used in the commission of a crime. The seizure by law enforcement officers of an automobile used in the transportation of illegal narcotics is a criminal forfeiture.

Criminal law: A body of rules and statutes that defines conduct prohibited by the government because it threatens and harms public safety and welfare and that establishes punishment to be imposed for the commission of such acts.

Criminal negligence: The failure to use reasonable care to avoid consequences that threaten or harm the safety of the public and that are the foreseeable outcome of acting in a particular manner.

Criminal procedure: The framework of laws and rules that govern the administration of justice in cases involving an individual who has been accused of a crime, beginning with the initial investigation of the crime and concluding either with the unconditional release of the accused by virtue of acquittal (a judgment of not guilty) or by the imposition of a term of punishment pursuant to a conviction for the crime.

Criminology: The scientific study of the causation, correction, and prevention of crime.

Critical legal studies: An intellectual movement whose members argue that law is neither neutral nor value free but is in fact inseparable from politics.

Crop insurance: A contract of indemnity by which, for a specified premium, one party promises to compensate another for the financial loss incurred by the destruction of agricultural products from the forces of nature, such as rain, hail, frost, or insect infestation.

Crops: Commodities produced from the earth which are planted, raised, and gathered within the course of a single season.

Cross-action: A separate and independent lawsuit brought by the defendant against a plaintiff for some reason arising from the same transaction or event that is the basis for the plaintiff's lawsuit.

Cross-claim: A demand made in a PLEADING against another party on the same side of the lawsuit.

Cross-complaint: A type of PLEADING that asserts a claim against any of the parties suing the person making the complaint, or against anyone else involved in the same controversy or having an interest in the same property that is the subject of the lawsuit.

Cross-demand: A claim made against someone who has already made a demand of the person asserting that claim.

Cross-examination: The questioning of a witness or party during a trial, hearing, or deposition by the party opposing the one who asked the person to testify in order to evaluate the truth of that person's testimony, to develop the testimony further, or to accomplish any other objective. The interrogation of a witness or party by the party opposed to the one who called the witness or party, upon a subject raised during direct examination—the initial questioning of a witness or party—on the merits of that testimony.

Cruel and inhuman treatment: Another name for cruelty, or for the intentional, hostile infliction of physical or mental suffering upon another individual, which is a ground for DIVORCE in many states.

Cruel and unusual punishment: Such punishment as would amount to torture or barbarity, any cruel and degrading punishment not known to the COMMON LAW, or any fine, penalty, confinement, or treatment that is so disproportionate to the offense as to shock the moral sense of the community.

Cruelty: The deliberate and malicious infliction of mental or physical pain upon persons or animals.

CTA: An abbreviation for cum testamento annexo, Latin for “with the will attached.”

Culpa: [Latin, Fault, blame, or neglect.] A CIVIL LAW term that implies that certain conduct is actionable.

Culpable: Blameworthy; involving the commission of a fault or the breach of a duty imposed by law.

Culprit: An individual who has been formally charged with a criminal offense but who has not yet been tried and convicted.

Cum testamento annexo: [Latin, With the will annexed.] A phrase that describes an administrator named by a probate or surrogate court to settle and distribute an estate according to the terms of a will in which the testator, its maker, has failed to name an executor, or in which the one named refuses to act or is legally incapable of acting.

Cumulative evidence: Facts or information that proves what has previously been established by other information concerning the same issue.

Cumulative sentence: Separate consecutive terms of imprisonment imposed upon a defendant who has been convicted of two or more distinct offenses; any term of imprisonment that becomes effective subsequent to the expiration of a prior one.

Cumulative voting: A method of election of the board of directors used by corporations whereby a stockholder may cast as many votes for directors as he or she has shares of stock, multiplied by the number of directors to be elected.

A plan used for the election of members to the lower house of the Illinois legislature by which voters, each of whom is given three votes, may cast all of the votes for one candidate or allocate them among two or three candidates.

Cunnilingus: An act in which the female sexual organ is orally stimulated.

Cure: The act of restoring health after injury or illness. Care, including medical and nursing services rendered to a sailor throughout a period of duty, pursuant to the principle that the owner of a vessel must furnish maintenance and cure to a sailor who becomes ill or is injured during service.

The right of a seller, under the UNIFORM COMMERCIAL CODE (UCC), a body of law governing commercial transactions, to correct a delivery of goods that do not conform to contractual terms made to a buyer within the period specified by the contract in order to avoid a breach of contract action.

The actual payment of all amounts that are past due in regard to a default in such payments.

Curia: [Latin, Court.] A judicial tribunal or court convened in the sovereign’s palace to dispense justice. A court that exercised jurisdiction over civil matters, as distinguished from religious matters, which were determined by ecclesiastical courts, a system of courts in England that were held by authority of the sovereign and had jurisdiction over matters concerning the religion and ritual of the established church.

Curia regis: [Latin, The King’s Court.]

Current account: A detailed financial statement representing the debit and credit relationship between two parties that has not been finally settled or paid because of the continuous, ongoing dealings of the parties.

Curtesy: An estate to which a man is entitled by common-law right on the death of his wife, in all the lands that his wife owned at any time during their marriage, provided a child is born of the marriage who could inherit the land.

Curtilage: The area, usually enclosed, encompassing the grounds and buildings immediately surrounding a home that is used in the daily activities of domestic life.

Custodial interrogation: Questioning initiated by law enforcement officers after a person is taken into custody or otherwise deprived of his or her freedom in any significant way, thus requiring that the person be advised of his or her applicable constitutional rights.

Custody: The care, possession, and control of a thing or person. The retention, inspection, guarding, maintenance, or security of a thing within the immediate care and control of the person to whom it is committed. The detention of a person by lawful authority or process.

Customs duties: Tariffs or taxes payable on merchandise imported or exported from one country to another.

Cy pres: Abbreviated form of cy pres comme possible, French for “as near as possible.” The name of a rule employed in the construction of such instruments as trusts and wills, by which the intention of the person who executes the instrument is effectuated as nearly as possible when circumstances make it impossible or illegal to give literal effect to the document.

Damages: Monetary compensation that is awarded by a court in a civil action to an individual who has been injured through the wrongful conduct of another party.

Damnum: [Latin, Damage.] The loss or reduction in the value of property, life, or health of an individual as a consequence of FRAUD, carelessness, or accident.

Danelage: A system of law introduced into England as a result of its invasion and conquest by the Danes during the eighth and ninth centuries, which occurred primarily in some of the midland counties and on the eastern coast.

Dangerous instrumentality: Any article that is inherently hazardous or has the potential for harming people through its careless use.

Day certain: A specified date. A term used in the rules of civil and CRIMINAL PROCEDURE to designate a particular time by which all motions for a new trial must be submitted to the court.

Day in court: The opportunity afforded an individual to have a claim litigated in a judicial setting.

Days of grace: An extension of the time originally scheduled for the performance of an act, such as payment for a debt, granted merely as a gratuitous favor by the person to whom the performance is owed.

De bonis non administratis: [Latin, Of the goods not administered.] When an administrator is appointed to succeed another who has left the estate partially unsettled, the administrator is said to be granted “administration de bonis non,” that is, of the goods not already administered.

De facto: [Latin, In fact.] In fact, in deed, actually.

De jure: [Latin, In law.] Legitimate; lawful, as a MATTER OF LAW. Having complied with all the requirements imposed by law.

De minimis: An abbreviated form of the Latin MAXIM de minimis non curat lex, “the law cares not for small things.” A legal doctrine by which a court refuses to consider trifling matters.

De novo: [Latin, Anew.] A second time; afresh. A trial or a hearing that is ordered by an appellate court that has reviewed the record of a hearing in a lower court and sent the matter back to the original court for a new trial, as if it had not been previously heard nor decided.

Dead man's statutes: State RULES OF EVIDENCE that make the oral statements of a decedent inadmissible in a civil lawsuit against the executor or administrator of the decedent's estate when presented by persons to bolster their claims against the estate.

Deadly force: An amount of force that is likely to cause either serious bodily injury or death to another person.

Death and dying: Death is the end of life. Dying is the process of approaching death, including the choices and actions involved in that process.

Death warrant: An order from the executive, the governor of a state, or the president directing the warden of a prison or a sheriff or other appropriate officer to carry into execution a sentence of death; an order commanding that a named person be put to death in a specified manner at a specific time.

Debenture: [Latin, Are due.] A promissory note or bond offered by a corporation to a creditor in exchange for a loan, the repayment of which is backed only by the general creditworthiness of the corporation and not by a mortgage or a lien on any specific property.

Debit: A sum charged as due or owing. An entry made on the asset side of a ledger or account. The term is used in bookkeeping to denote the left side of the ledger, or the charging of a person or an account with all that is supplied to or paid out for that person or for the subject of the account. Also, the balance of an account where it is shown that something remains due to the party keeping the account.

As a noun, an entry on the left-hand side of an account. As a verb, to make an entry on the left-hand side of an account. A term used in accounting or bookkeeping that results in an increase to an asset and an expense account and a decrease to a liability, revenue, or owner's EQUITY account.

Debt: A sum of money that is owed or due to be paid because of an express agreement; a specified sum of money that one person is obligated to pay and that another has the legal right to collect or receive.

A fixed and certain obligation to pay money or some other valuable thing or things, either in the present or in the future. In a still more general sense, that which is due from one person to another, whether money, goods, or services. In a broad sense, any duty to respond to another in money, labor, or service; it may even mean a moral or honorary obligation, unenforceable by legal action. Also, sometimes an aggregate of separate debts, or the total sum of the existing claims against a person or company. Thus we speak of the "national debt," the "bonded debt" of a corporation, and so on.

Debt, action of: One of the oldest common-law FORMS OF ACTION available to private litigants seeking to collect what is owed to them because of a harm done to them by another.

Debt poolers: Individuals or organizations who receive and apply monthly funds from a person owing money to several creditors and who make arrangements to pay these creditors less than what is actually owed.

Debtor: One who owes a debt or the performance of an obligation to another, who is called the creditor; one who may be compelled to pay a claim or demand; anyone liable on a claim, whether due or to become due. In BANKRUPTCY law, a person who files a voluntary petition or person against whom an involuntary petition is filed. A person or municipality concerning which a bankruptcy case has been commenced.

Decedent: An individual who has died. The term literally means "one who is dying," but it is commonly used in the law to denote one who has died, particularly someone who has recently passed away.

Deceit: A MISREPRESENTATION made with the express intention of defrauding someone, which subsequently causes injury to that person.

Decennial Digest®: One of the titles of the American Digest System that classifies by topic the summaries of court decisions that were reported chronologically in the various units of the National Reporter System.

Decision: A conclusion reached after an evaluation of facts and law.

Decision on the merits: An ultimate determination rendered by a court in an action that concludes the status of legal rights contested in a controversy and precludes a later lawsuit on the same CAUSE OF ACTION by the parties to the original lawsuit.

Declaration: The first PLEADING in a lawsuit governed by the rule of COMMON-LAW PLEADING. In the law of evidence, a statement or narration made not under oath but simply in the middle of things, as a part of what is happening. Also, a proclamation.

Declaration of trust: An assertion by a property owner that he or she holds the property or estate for the benefit of another person, or for particular designated objectives.

Declaratory judgment: Statutory remedy for the determination of a JUSTICIABLE controversy where the plaintiff is in doubt as to his or her legal rights. A binding adjudication of the rights and status of litigants even though no consequential relief is awarded.

Decree: A judgment of a court that announces the legal consequences of the facts found in a case and orders that the court's decision be carried out. A decree in EQUITY is a sentence or order of the court, pronounced on hearing and understanding all the points in issue, and determining the rights of all the parties to the suit, according to equity and good conscience. It is a declaration of the court announcing the legal consequences of the facts found. With the procedural merger of law and equity in the federal and most state courts under the Rules of Civil Procedure, the term judgment has generally replaced decree.

Dedication: In COPYRIGHT law the first publication of a work that does not comply with the requirements relating to copyright notice and which therefore permits anyone to legally republish it. The gift of land—or an EASEMENT, that is, a right of use of the property of another—by the owner to the government for public use, and accepted for such use by or on behalf of the public.

Deductible: That which may be taken away or subtracted. In taxation, an item that may be subtracted from gross income or adjusted gross income in determining taxable income (e.g., interest expenses, charitable contributions, certain taxes).

The portion of an insured loss to be borne by the insured before he or she is entitled to recovery from the insurer.

Deduction: That which is deducted; the part taken away; abatement; as in deductions from gross income in arriving at net income for tax purposes.

In CIVIL LAW, a portion or thing that an heir has a right to take from the mass of the succession before any partition takes place.

Deed: A written instrument, which has been signed and delivered, by which one individual, the grantor, conveys title to real property to another individual, the grantee; a conveyance of land, tenements, or hereditaments, from one individual to another.

Deed of trust: A document that embodies the agreement between a lender and a borrower to transfer an interest in the borrower's land to a neutral third party, a trustee, to secure the payment of a debt by the borrower.

Deem: To hold; consider; adjudge; believe; condemn; determine; treat as if; construe.

Defalcation: The misappropriation or EMBEZZLEMENT of money.

Defamation: Any intentional false communication, either written or spoken, that harms a person's reputation; decreases the respect, regard, or confidence in which a person is held; or induces disparaging, hostile, or disagreeable opinions or feelings against a person.

Default: An omission; a failure to do that which is anticipated, expected, or required in a given situation.

Default judgment: Judgment entered against a party who has failed to defend against a claim that has been brought by another party. Under rules of CIVIL PROCEDURE, when a party against whom a judgment for affirmative relief is sought has failed to plead (i.e., answer) or otherwise defend, the party is in default and a judgment by default may be entered either by the clerk or the court.

Defeasance clause: A provision of a mortgage—an interest in land given to a mortgagee-lender to secure the payment of a debt—which promises that the mortgagor-borrower will regain title to the mortgaged property when all the terms of the mortgage have been met.

Defeasible: Potentially subject to defeat, termination, or ANNULMENT upon the occurrence of a future action or event, or the performance of a condition subsequent.

Defect: Imperfection, flaw, or deficiency.

Defendant: The person defending or denying; the party against whom relief or recovery is sought in an action or suit, or the accused in a criminal case.

Defense: The forcible repulsion of an unlawful and violent attack, such as the defense of one's person, property, or country in time of war.

The totality of the facts, law, and contentions presented by the party against whom a civil action or criminal prosecution is instituted in order to defeat or diminish the plaintiff's CAUSE OF ACTION or the prosecutor's case. A reply to the claims of the other party, which asserts reasons why the claims should be disallowed. The defense may involve an absolute denial of the other party's factual allegations or may entail an AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE, which sets forth completely new factual allegations. Pursuant to the rules of federal CIVIL PROCEDURE, numerous defenses may be asserted by motion as well as by answer, while other defenses must be pleaded affirmatively.

Deficiency: A shortage or insufficiency. The amount by which federal INCOME TAX due exceeds the amount reported by the taxpayer on his or her return; also, the amount owed by a taxpayer who has not filed a return. The outstanding balance of a debt secured by a mortgage after the mortgaged property has been sold to satisfy the obligation at a price less than the debt.

Deficiency judgment: An assessment of personal liability against a mortgagor, a person who pledges title to property to secure a debt, for the unpaid balance of the mortgage debt when the proceeds of a foreclosure sale are insufficient to satisfy the debt.

Deficit: A deficiency, misappropriation, or defalcation; a minus balance; something wanting.

Definitive: Conclusive; ending all controversy and discussion in a lawsuit.

Deforcement: The common-law name given to the wrongful possession of land to which another person is rightfully entitled; the detention of DOWER from a widow.

Defraud: To make a MISREPRESENTATION of an existing material fact, knowing it to be false or making it recklessly without regard to whether it is true or false, intending for someone to rely on the misrepresentation and under circumstances in which such person does rely on it to his or her damage. To practice FRAUD; to cheat or trick. To deprive a person of property or any interest, estate, or right by fraud, deceit, or artifice.

Degree: Extent, measure, or scope of an action, condition, or relation. Legal extent of guilt or NEGLIGENCE. Title conferred on graduates of school, college, or university. The state or civil condition of a person. The grade or distance one thing may be removed from another; i.e., the distance, or number of removes that separate two persons who are related by consanguinity. Thus, a sibling is in the second degree of kinship but a parent is in the first degree of kinship.

Del credere: [Italian, Of belief or trust.] An arrangement in which an agent or factor—an individual who takes possession and agrees to sell goods for another—consents for an additional fee to guarantee that the purchaser, to whom credit has been extended, is financially solvent and will perform the contract.

Delectus personae: [Latin, Choice of the person.] By this term is understood the right of partners to exercise their choice and preference as to the admission of any new members to the partnership, and as to the persons to be so admitted, if any. The doctrine is equally applicable to close and family corporations and is exemplified in the use of restrictions for the transfer of shares of stock.

Delegate: A person who is appointed, authorized, delegated, or commissioned to act in the place of another. Transfer of authority from one to another. A person to whom affairs are committed by another.

A person elected or appointed to be a member of a representative assembly. Usually spoken of one sent to a special or occasional assembly or convention. Person selected by a constituency and authorized to act for it at a party or state political convention.

As a verb, it means to transfer authority from one person to another; to empower one to perform a task in behalf of another, e.g., a landlord may delegate an agent to collect rents.

Delegation: A sending away; a putting into commission; the assignment of a debt to another; the entrusting of another with a general power to act for the good of those who depute him or her; a body of delegates. The transfer of authority by one person to another.

The body of delegates from a state to a national nominating convention or from a county to a state or other party convention. The whole body of delegates or representatives sent to a convention or assembly from one district, place, or political unit is collectively spoken of as a delegation.

Deliberate: Willful; purposeful; determined after thoughtful evaluation of all relevant factors; dispassionate. To act with a particular intent, which is derived from a careful consideration of factors that influence the choice to be made.

Delictum: [Latin, A fault.] An injury, an offense, or a tort—a wrong done to the property or person of another that does not involve breach of contract. Culpability; blameworthiness of a criminal nature, as in the Latin phrase in pari delicto—in equal fault or equally criminal—used to describe accomplices to a crime.

Delivery: The transfer of possession of real property or PERSONAL PROPERTY from one person to another.

Demand: Peremptory allegation or assertion of a legal right.

Demeanor: The outward physical behavior and appearance of a person.

Demise: Death. A conveyance of property, usually of an interest in land. Originally meant a posthumous grant but has come to be applied commonly to a conveyance that is made for a definitive term, such as an estate for a term of years. A lease is a common example, and demise is sometimes used synonymously with “lease” or “let.”

Demonstrative evidence: Evidence other than testimony that is presented during the course of a civil or criminal trial. Demonstrative evidence includes actual evidence (e.g., a set of bloody gloves from a murder scene) and illustrative evidence (e.g., photographs and charts).

Demonstrative legacy: A gift by will of money or other PERSONAL PROPERTY that is to be paid to an heir from a fund designated in the provisions of the will but, in any event, is to be paid if there are sufficient available assets in the estate.

Demur: To dispute a legal PLEADING or a statement of the facts being alleged through the use of a demurrer.

Demurrage: A separate freight charge, in addition to ordinary shipping costs, which is imposed according to the terms of a carriage contract upon the person responsible for unreasonable delays in loading or unloading cargo. In maritime law, demurrage is the amount identified in a charter contract as damages payable to a shipowner as compensation for the detention of a ship beyond the time specified by a charter party for loading and unloading or for sailing.

Demurrer: An assertion by the defendant that although the facts alleged by the plaintiff in the complaint may be true, they do not entitle the plaintiff to prevail in the lawsuit.

Deny: To refuse to acknowledge something; to disclaim connection with or responsibility for an action or statement. To deny someone of a legal right is to deprive him or her of that right.

Dependent: A person whose support and maintenance is contingent upon the aid of another. Conditional.

Dependent relative revocation: The doctrine that regards as mutually interrelated the acts of a testator destroying a will and executing a second will. In such cases, if the second will is either never made or improperly executed, there is a rebuttable presumption that the testator would have preferred the former will to no will at all, which allows the possibility of probate of the destroyed will.

Depletion allowance: A tax deduction authorized by federal law for the exhaustion of oil and gas wells, mines, timber, mineral deposits or reserves, and other natural deposits.

Deponent: An individual who, under oath or affirmation, gives out-of-court testimony in a deposition. A deponent is someone who gives evidence or acts as a witness. The testimony of a deponent is written and carries the deponent's signature.

Deportation: Banishment to a foreign country, attended with confiscation of property and deprivation of CIVIL RIGHTS.

The transfer of an alien, by exclusion or expulsion, from the United States to a foreign country. The removal or sending back of an alien to the country from which he or she came because his or her presence is deemed inconsistent with the public welfare, and without any punishment being imposed or contemplated. The grounds for deportation are set forth at 8 U.S.C.A. § 1251, and the procedures are provided for in §§ 1252-1254.

Depose: To make a deposition; to give evidence in the shape of a deposition; to make statements that are written down and sworn to; to give testimony that is reduced to writing by a duly qualified officer and sworn to by the deponent.

To deprive an individual of a public employment or office against his or her will. The term is usually applied to the deprivation of all authority of a sovereign.

In ancient usage, to testify as a witness; to give evidence under oath.

Deposition: The testimony of a party or witness in a civil or criminal proceeding taken before trial, usually in an attorney's office.

Depository: The place where a deposit is placed and kept, e.g., a bank, savings and loan institution, credit union, or trust company. A place where something is deposited or stored as for safekeeping or convenience, e.g., a safety deposit box.

Deposits in court: The payments of funds or property to an officer of the court as a precautionary measure during the pendency of litigation.

Depreciation: The gradual decline in the financial value of property used to produce income due to its increasing age and eventual obsolescence, which is measured by a formula that takes into account these factors in addition to the cost of the property and its estimated useful life.

Deputy: A person duly authorized by an officer to serve as his or her substitute by performing some or all of the officer's functions.

Derivative action: A lawsuit brought by a shareholder of a corporation on its behalf to enforce or defend a legal right or claim, which the corporation has failed to do.

Derivative evidence: Facts, information, or physical objects that tend to prove an issue in a criminal prosecution but which are excluded from consideration by the trier of fact because they were learned directly from information illegally obtained in violation of the constitutional guarantee against unreasonable SEARCHES AND SEIZURES.

Derogation: The partial repeal of a law, usually by a subsequent act that in some way diminishes its ORIGINAL INTENT or scope.

Descent: Hereditary succession. Succession to the ownership of an estate by inheritance, or by any act of law, as distinguished from purchase. Title by descent is the title by which one person, upon the death of another, acquires the real estate of the latter as an heir at law. The title by inheritance is in all cases called descent, although by statute law the title is sometimes made to ascend. The division among those legally entitled thereto of the real property of intestates.

Descent and distribution: The area of law that pertains to the transfer of real property or PERSONAL PROPERTY of a decedent who failed to leave a will or make a valid will and the rights and liabilities of heirs, next of kin, and distributees who are entitled to a share of the property.

Descriptive word index: An alphabetically arranged aid used in legal research used to locate cases that have discussed a particular topic.

Desertion: The act by which a person abandons and forsakes, without justification, a condition of public, social, or family life, renouncing its responsibilities and evading its duties. A willful ABANDONMENT of an employment or duty in violation of a legal or moral obligation.

Criminal desertion is a husband's or wife's abandonment or willful failure without JUST CAUSE to provide for the care, protection, or support of a spouse who is in ill health or necessitous circumstances.

Desk audit: An evaluation of a particular civil service position to determine whether its duties and responsibilities correspond to its job classification and salary grade.

Destroy: In general, to ruin completely; may include a taking. To ruin the structure, organic existence, or condition of a thing; to demolish; to injure or mutilate beyond possibility of use; to nullify.

Desuetude: The state of being unused; legally, the doctrine by which a law or treaty is rendered obsolete because of disuse. The concept encompasses situations in which a court refuses to enforce an unused law even if the law has not been repealed.

Detainer: The act (or the juridical fact) of withholding from a lawfully entitled person the possession of land or goods, or the restraint of a person's personal liberty against his or her will; detention. The wrongful keeping of a person's goods is called an UNLAWFUL DETAINER although the original taking may have been lawful.

A request filed by a criminal justice agency with the institution in which a prisoner is incarcerated asking the institution either to hold the prisoner for the agency or to notify the agency when release of the prisoner is imminent.

Detectives: Individuals whose business it is to observe and provide information about alleged criminals or to discover matters of secrecy for the protection of the public.

Detention: The act of keeping back, restraining, or withholding, either accidentally or by design, a person or thing.

Determinable: Liable to come to an end upon the happening of a certain contingency. Susceptible of being determined, found out, definitely decided upon, or settled.

Determinate sentence: A sentence to confinement for a fixed or minimum period that is specified by statute.

Determination: The final resolution or conclusion of a controversy.

Deterrence: A theory that criminal laws are passed with well-defined punishments to discourage individual criminal defendants from becoming repeat offenders and to discourage others in society from engaging in similar criminal activity

Detinue: One of the old common-law FORMS OF ACTION used to recover PERSONAL PROPERTY from a person who refuses to give it up. Also used to collect money damages for losses caused by the wrongful detention.

Detriment: Any loss or harm to a person or property; relinquishment of a legal right, benefit, or something of value.

Deviance: Conspicuous dissimilarity with, or variation from, customarily acceptable behavior.

Devise: A testamentary disposition of land or realty; a gift of real property by the last will and testament of the donor. When used as a noun, it means a testamentary disposition of real or PERSONAL PROPERTY, and when used as a verb, it means to dispose of real or personal property by will. To contrive; plan; scheme; invent; prepare.

Dewey decimal system: A numerical classification system of books employed by libraries.

Dicta: Opinions of a judge that do not embody the resolution or determination of the specific case before the court. Expressions in a court's opinion that go beyond the facts before the court and therefore are individual views of the author of the opinion and not binding in subsequent cases as legal precedent. The plural of dictum.

Dictum: [Latin, A remark.] A statement, comment, or opinion. An abbreviated version of obiter dictum, "a remark by the way," which is a collateral opinion stated by a judge in the decision of a case concerning legal matters that do not directly involve the facts or affect the outcome of the case, such as a legal principle that is introduced by way of illustration, argument, analogy, or suggestion.

Digest: A collection or compilation that embodies the chief matter of numerous books, articles, court decisions, and so on, disposed under proper heads or titles, and usually by an alphabetical arrangement, for facility in reference.

An index to reported cases, providing brief statements of court holdings or facts of cases, which is arranged by subject and subdivided by jurisdiction and courts.

Dilatory: Tending to cause a delay in judicial proceedings.

Dilatory plea: In common-law-pleading, any of several types of defenses that could be asserted against a plaintiff's CAUSE OF ACTION, delaying the time when the court would begin consideration of the actual facts in the case.

Diligence: Vigilant activity; attentiveness; or care, of which there are infinite shades, from the slightest momentary thought to the most vigilant anxiety. Attentive and persistent in doing a thing; steadily applied; active; sedulous; laborious; unremitting; untiring. The attention and care required of a person in a given situation; the opposite of NEGLIGENCE.

Diminished capacity: This doctrine recognizes that although, at the time the offense was committed, an accused was not suffering from a mental disease or defect sufficient to exonerate him or her from all criminal responsibility, the accused's mental capacity may have been diminished by intoxication, trauma, or mental disease so that he or she did not possess the specific mental state or intent essential to the particular offense charged.

Diminution: Taking away; reduction; lessening; incompleteness.

Diplomatic agents: Government representatives who are sent by one country to live and work in another, to serve as intermediaries between the two countries.

Diplomatic immunity: A principle of INTERNATIONAL LAW that provides foreign diplomats with protection from legal action in the country in which they work.

Direct: As a verb, to point to; guide; order; command; instruct. To advise; suggest; request. As an adjective, immediate; proximate; by the shortest course; without circuitry; operating by an immedi-ate connection or relation, instead of operating through an intermediary; the opposite of indirect. In the usual or regular course or order, as distinguished from that which diverts, interrupts, or opposes. The opposite of cross, contrary, collateral, or remote. Without any intervening medium, agency, or influence; unconditional.

Direct evidence: Evidence in the form of testimony from a witness who actually saw, heard, or touched the subject of questioning. Evidence that, if believed, proves existence of the fact in issue without inference or presumption. That means of proof which tends to show the existence of a fact in question, without the intervention of the proof of any other fact, and which is distinguished from CIRCUMSTANTIAL EVIDENCE, often called indirect.

Evidence that directly proves a fact, without an inference or presumption, and which in itself, if true, conclusively establishes that fact.

Direct examination: The primary questioning of a witness during a trial that is conducted by the side for which that person is acting as a witness.

Direct tax: A charge levied by the government upon property, which is determined by its financial worth.

Directed verdict: A procedural device whereby the decision in a case is taken out of the hands of the jury by the judge.

Director: One who supervises, regulates, or controls.

Directory: A provision in a statute, rule of procedure, or the like, that is a mere direction or instruction of no obligatory force and involves no invalidating consequence for its disregard, as opposed to an imperative or mandatory provision, which must be followed. The general rule is that the prescriptions of a statute relating to the performance of a public duty are so far directory that, though neglect of them may be punishable, it does not affect the validity of the acts done under them, as in the case of a statute requiring an officer to prepare and deliver a document to another officer on or before a certain day.

Disability: The lack of competent physical and mental faculties; the absence of legal capability to perform an act.

The term disability usually signifies an incapacity to exercise all the legal rights ordinarily possessed by an average person. Convicts, minors, and incompetents are regarded to be under a disability. The term is also used in a more restricted sense when it indicates a hindrance to marriage or a deficiency in legal qualifications to hold office.

The impairment of earning capacity; the loss of physical function resulting in diminished efficiency; the inability to work.

Disaffirm: Repudiate; revoke consent; refuse to support former acts or agreements.

Disallow: To exclude; reject; deny the force or validity of.

Disaster relief: Monies or services made available to individuals and communities that have experienced losses due to disasters such as floods, hurricanes, earthquakes, drought, tornadoes, and riots.

Disbar: To revoke an attorney's license to practice law.

Discharge: To liberate or free; to terminate or extinguish. A discharge is the act or instrument by which a contract or agreement is ended. A mortgage is discharged if it has been carried out to the full extent originally contemplated or terminated prior to total execution.

Discharge also means to release, as from legal confinement in prison or the military service, or from some legal obligation such as jury duty, or the payment of debts by a person who is bankrupt. The document that indicates that an individual has been legally released from the military service is called a discharge.

Disciplinary rules: Precepts, such as the Code of Professional Responsibility, that proscribe an attorney from taking certain actions in the PRACTICE OF LAW.

Disclaimer: The denial, refusal, or rejection of a right, power, or responsibility.

Discontinuance: Cessation; ending; giving up. The discontinuance of a lawsuit, also known as a dismissal or a nonsuit, is the voluntary or involuntary termination of an action.

Discovery: A category of procedural devices employed by a party to a civil or criminal action, prior to trial, to require the adverse party to disclose information that is essential for the preparation of the requesting party's case and that the other party alone knows or possesses.

Discretion in decision making: Discretion is the power or right to make official decisions using reason and judgment to choose from among acceptable alternatives.

Discretionary trust: An arrangement whereby property is set aside with directions that it be used for the benefit of another, the beneficiary, and which provides that the trustee (one appointed or required by law to administer the property) has the right to accumulate, rather than pay out to the beneficiary, the annual income generated by the property or a portion of the property itself.

Discrimination: In CONSTITUTIONAL LAW, the grant by statute of particular privileges to a class arbitrarily designated from a sizable number of persons, where no reasonable distinction exists between the favored and disfavored classes. Federal laws, supplemented by court decisions, prohibit discrimination in such areas as employment, housing, VOTING RIGHTS, education, and access to public facilities. They also proscribe discrimination on the basis of race, age, sex, nationality, disability, or religion. In addition, state and local laws can prohibit discrimination in these areas and in others not covered by federal laws.

Disfranchisement: The removal of the rights and privileges inherent in an association with a group; the taking away of the rights of a free citizen, especially the right to vote. Sometimes called disenfranchisement.

The relinquishment of a person's right to membership in a corporation is distinguishable from a motion, which is the act of removing an officer from an office without depriving him or her of membership in the corporate body.

Dishonor: To refuse to accept or pay a draft or to pay a promissory note when duly presented. An instrument is dishonored when a necessary or optional presentment is made and due acceptance or payment is refused, or cannot be obtained within the prescribed time, or in case of bank collections, the instrument is seasonably returned by the midnight deadline; or presentment is excused and the instrument is not duly accepted or paid. Includes the insurer of a letter of credit refusing to pay or accept a draft or demand for payment.

As respects the flag, to deface or defile, imputing a lively sense of shaming or an equivalent acquiescent callousness.

Disinherit: To cut off from an inheritance. To deprive someone, who would otherwise be an heir to property or another right, of his or her right to inherit.

Disinterested: Free from bias, prejudice, or partiality.

Dismissal: A discharge of an individual or corporation from employment. The disposition of a civil or criminal proceeding or a claim or charge made therein by a court order without a trial or prior to its completion which, in effect, is a denial of the relief sought by the commencement of the action.

Disorderly conduct: A broad term describing conduct that disturbs the peace or endangers the morals, health, or safety of a community.

Disorderly house: A place where individuals reside or which they frequent for purposes that pose a threat to public health, morals, convenience, or safety, and that may create a public NUISANCE.

A disorderly house is an all-inclusive term that may be used to describe such places as a house of prostitution, an illegal gambling casino, or a site where drugs are constantly bought and sold. It is any place where unlawful practices are habitually carried on by the public.

Disparagement: In old ENGLISH LAW, an injury resulting from the comparison of a person or thing with an individual or thing of inferior quality; to discredit oneself by marriage below one's class. A statement made by one person that casts aspersions on another person's goods, property, or intangible things.

Disparate impact: A theory of liability that prohibits an employer from using a facially neutral employment practice that has an unjustified adverse impact on members of a protected class. A facially neutral employment practice is one that does not appear to be discriminatory on its face; rather it is one that is discriminatory in its application or effect.

Disposable earnings: That portion of one's income that a person is free to spend or invest as he or she sees fit, after payment of taxes and other obligations.

Disposition: Act of disposing; transferring to the care or possession of another. The parting with, alienation of, or giving up of property. The final settlement of a matter and, with reference to decisions announced by a court, a judge's ruling is commonly referred to as disposition, regardless of level of resolution. In CRIMINAL PROCEDURE, the sentencing or other final settlement of a criminal case. With respect to a mental state, means an attitude, prevailing tendency, or inclination.

Dispositive fact: Information or evidence that unqualifiedly brings a conclusion to a legal controversy.

Dispossession: The wrongful, nonconsensual ouster or removal of a person from his or her property by trick, compulsion, or misuse of the law, whereby the violator obtains actual occupation of the land. Dispossession encompasses intrusion, disseisin, or forcement.

Dispute: A conflict or controversy; a conflict of claims or rights; an assertion of a right, claim, or demand on one side, met by contrary claims or allegations on the other. The subject of litigation; the matter for which a suit is brought and upon which issue is joined, and in relation to which jurors are called and witnesses examined.

Disqualify: To deprive of eligibility or render unfit; to disable or incapacitate.

Dissent: An explicit disagreement by one or more judges with the decision of the majority on a case before them.

Dissolution: Act or process of dissolving; termination; winding up. In this sense it is frequently used in the phrase dissolution of a partnership.

Dissolve: To terminate; abrogate; cancel; annul; disintegrate. To release or unloose the binding force of anything.

Distinguish: To set apart as being separate or different; to point out an essential disparity.

Distrain: To seize the property of an individual and retain it until an obligation is performed. The taking of the goods and chattels of a tenant by a landlord in order to satisfy an unpaid debt.

Distress: The seizure of PERSONAL PROPERTY for the satisfaction of a demand.

Distributee: An heir; a person entitled to share in the distribution of an estate. This term is used to denote one of the persons who is entitled, under the statute of distributions, to the personal estate of one who is dead intestate.

Distributor: A wholesaler; an individual, corporation, or partnership buying goods in bulk quantities from a manufacturer at a price close to the cost of manufacturing them and reselling them at a higher price to other dealers, or to various retailers, but not directly to the general public.

District: One of the territorial areas into which an entire state or country, county, municipality, or other political subdivision is divided, for judicial, political, electoral, or administrative purposes.

The circuit or territory within which a person may be compelled to appear. Circuit of authority; province.

District and prosecuting attorneys: The elected or appointed public officers of each state, county, or other political subdivision who institute criminal proceedings on behalf of the government.

District court: A designation of an inferior state court that exercises general jurisdiction that it has been granted by the constitution or statute which created it. A U.S. judicial tribunal with original jurisdiction to try cases or controversies that fall within its limited jurisdiction.

Disturbance of the peace: An offense constituting a malicious and willful intrusion upon the peace and quiet of a community or neighborhood.

Divers: Several; any number more than two; different.

Diversion: A turning aside or altering of the natural course or route of a thing. The term is chiefly applied to the unauthorized change or alteration of a water course to the prejudice of a lower riparian, or to the unauthorized use of funds.

A program for the disposition of a criminal charge without a criminal trial; sometimes called operation de nova, intervention, or deferred prosecution.

Diversity of citizenship: A phrase used with reference to the jurisdiction of the federal courts which, under the U.S. Constitution, Art. III, § 2, extends to cases between citizens of different states designating the condition existing when the party on one side of a lawsuit is a citizen of one state and the party on the other side is a citizen of another state, or between a citizen of a state and an alien. The requisite jurisdictional amount must, in addition, be met.

Divest: To deprive or take away.

Dividend: The distribution of current or accumulated earnings to the shareholders of a corporation pro rata based on the number of shares owned. Dividends are usually issued in cash. However, they may be issued in the form of stock or property. The dividend on preferred shares is generally a fixed amount; however, on common shares the dividend varies depending on such things as the earnings and available cash of the corporation as well as future plans for the acquisition of property and equipment by the corporation.

Divine right of kings: The authority of a monarch to rule a realm by virtue of birth.

Divorce: A court decree that terminates a marriage; also known as marital dissolution.

Dock: To curtail or diminish, as, for example, to dock a person's wages for lateness or poor work. The cage or enclosed space in a criminal court where prisoners stand when brought in for trial.

Docket: A written list of judicial proceedings set down for trial in a court.

To enter the dates of judicial proceedings scheduled for trial in a book kept by a court.

Doctrine: A legal rule, tenet, theory, or principle. A political policy.

Document: A written or printed instrument that conveys information.

Document of title: Any written instrument, such as a bill of lading, a warehouse receipt, or an order for the delivery of goods, that in the usual course of business or financing is considered sufficient proof that the person who possesses it is entitled to receive, hold, and dispose of the instrument and the goods that it covers.

Documentary evidence: A type of written proof that is offered at a trial to establish the existence or nonexistence of a fact that is in dispute.

Doing business: A qualification imposed in state LONG-ARM STATUTES governing the SERVICE OF PROCESS, the method by which a lawsuit is commenced, which requires nonresident corporations to engage in commercial transactions within state borders in order to be subject to the PERSONAL JURISDICTION of state courts.

Domain: The complete and absolute ownership of land. Also the real estate so owned. The inherent sovereign power claimed by the legislature of a state, of controlling private property for public uses, is termed the right of eminent domain.

National domain is sometimes applied to the aggregate of the property owned directly by a nation. Public domain embraces all lands, the title to which is in the United States, including land occupied for the purposes of federal buildings, arsenals, dock-yards, and so on, and land of an agricultural or mineral character not yet granted to private owners.

Sphere of influence. Range of control or rule; realm.

Dombec: [Saxon, Judgment book.] The name given by the Saxons to the code of laws by which they lived.

Domesday Book: An ancient record of land ownership in England.

Domestic: Pertaining to the house or home. A person employed by a household to perform various servient duties. Any household servant, such as a maid or butler. Relating to a place of birth, origin, or domicile.

Domestic partnership law: The area of law that deals with the rights of unmarried adults who choose to live together in the same manner as a married couple but who are not married.

Domestic violence: Any abusive, violent, coercive, forceful, or threatening act or word inflicted by one member of a family or household on another can constitute domestic violence.

Domiciliary administration: The settlement and distribution of a decedent's estate in the state of his or her permanent residence, the place to which the decedent intended to return even though he or she might actually have resided elsewhere.

Dominant: Prevalent; paramount in force or effect; of primary importance or consideration. That which is dominant possesses rights that prevail over those of others.

Dominant cause: The essential or most direct source of an accident or injury, regardless of when it occurred.

Dominion: Perfect control in right of ownership. The word implies both title and possession and appears to require a complete retention of control over disposition. Title to an article of property, which arises from the power of disposition and the right of claiming it. Sovereignty; as in the dominion of the seas or over a territory.

In CIVIL LAW, with reference to the title to property that is transferred by a sale of it, dominion is said to be either proximate or remote, the former being the kind of title vesting in the purchaser when he or she has acquired both the ownership and the possession of the article, the latter describing the nature of the title when he or she has legitimately acquired the ownership of the property but there has been no delivery.

Donative: Relating to the gratuitous transfer of something as in the nature of a gift.

Donee: The recipient of a gift. An individual to whom a power of appointment is conveyed.

Donor: The party conferring a power. One who makes a gift. One who creates a trust.

Doom: An archaic term for a court's judgment. For example, some criminal sentences still end with the phrase " . . . which is pronounced for doom."

Dormant: Latent; inactive; silent. That which is dormant is not used, asserted, or enforced.

Double entry: A bookkeeping system that lists each transaction twice in the ledger.

Double indemnity: A term of an insurance policy by which the insurance company promises to pay the insured or the beneficiary twice the amount of coverage if loss occurs due to a particular cause or set of circumstances.

Double insurance: Duplicate protection provided when two companies deal with the same individual and undertake to indemnify that person against the same losses.

Double jeopardy: A second prosecution for the same offense after acquittal or conviction or multiple punishments for same offense. The evil sought to be avoided by prohibiting double jeopardy is double trial and double conviction, not necessarily double punishment.

Double taxation agreements: The requirement that an entity or individual pay two separate taxes on the same property for the same purpose and during the same time period. Under Subchapter C of the INTERNAL REVENUE CODE, the federal government imposes double taxation on corporations by taxing both the profits received by the corporation and the earnings distributed to shareholders of the corporation through stock dividends.

Doubt: To question or hold questionable. Uncertainty of mind; the absence of a settled opinion or conviction; the attitude of mind toward the acceptance of or belief in a proposition, theory, or statement, in which the judgment is not at rest but inclines alternately to either side.

Dower: The provision that the law makes for a widow out of the lands or tenements of her husband, for her support and the nurture of her children. A species of life estate that a woman is, by law, entitled to claim on the death of her husband, in the lands and tenements of which he was seised in fee during the marriage, and which her issue, if any, might by possibility have inherited. The life estate to which every married woman is entitled on the death of her husband, intestate, or, in case she dissents from his will, one-third in value of all lands of which her husband was beneficially seized in law or in fact, at any time during coverture.

Down payment: A percentage of the total purchase price of an item that is proffered when the item is bought on credit.

Draconian laws: A code of laws prepared by Draco, the celebrated lawgiver of Athens, that, by modern standards, are considered exceedingly severe. The term draconian has come to be used to refer to any unusually harsh law.

Draft: A written order by the first party, called the drawer, instructing a second party, called the drawee (such as a bank), to pay money to a third party, called the payee. An order to pay a sum certain in money, signed by a drawer, payable on demand or at a definite time, to order or bearer.

A tentative, provisional, or preparatory writing out of any document (as a will, contract, lease, and so on) for purposes of discussion and correction, which is afterward to be prepared in its final form.

Compulsory CONSCRIPTION of persons into military service.

Also, a small arbitrary deduction or allowance made to a merchant or importer, in the case of goods sold by weight or taxable by weight, to cover possible loss of weight in handling or from differences in scales.

Drafter: The person who draws or frames a legal document such as a will, PLEADING, conveyance, or contract. One who writes an original legislative bill for the U.S. Senate or House of Representatives is called the drafter of that bill.

Drain: A trench or ditch to convey water from wet land; a channel through which water may flow off. The word has no technical legal meaning. Any hollow space in the ground, natural or artificial, where water is collected and passes off, is a ditch or drain.

Also, sometimes, the EASEMENT or servitude (acquired by grant or prescription) that consists of the right to drain water through another's land.

Dramshop acts: Statutes, also called civil liability acts, that impose civil liability upon one who sells intoxicating liquors when a third party has been injured as a result of the purchaser's intoxication and such sale has either caused or contributed to the state of intoxication.

Draw: To aim a firearm, or deadly weapon, at a particular target.

To prepare a written bill of exchange, COMMERCIAL PAPER, draft, or negotiable instrument and place one's signature on it, creating a legal obligation under its terms. To write a document, such as a deed, complaint, or petition, including the essential information necessary to make it legally effective upon its execution by the designated parties.

To lawfully remove money from an account held in a bank, treasury, or other depository.

Drawee: A person or bank that is ordered by its depositor, a drawer, to withdraw money from an account to pay a designated sum to a person according to the terms of a check or a draft.

Drawer: A person who orders a bank to withdraw money from an account to pay a designated person a specific sum according to the term of a bill, a check, or a draft. An individual who writes and signs a COMMERCIAL PAPER, thereby becoming obligated under its terms.

Droit: [French, Justice, right, law.] A term denoting the abstract concept of law or a right.

Drug courts: A special court with jurisdiction over cases involving drug-using offenders. Drug courts are treatment-based alternatives to prisons, youth-detention facilities, jails, and PROBATION. These courts make extensive use of comprehensive supervision, drug testing, treatment services, immediate sanctions, and incentives.

Druggist: An individual who, as a regular course of business, mixes, compounds, dispenses, and sells medicines and similar health aids.

Drugs and narcotics: Drugs are articles that are intended for use in the diagnosis, cure, mitigation, treatment, or prevention of disease in humans or animals, and any articles other than food, water, or oxygen that are intended to affect the mental or body function of humans or animals. Narcotics are any drugs that dull the senses and commonly become addictive after prolonged use.

Drunkard: One who habitually engages in the overindulgence of alcohol.

Drunkenness: The state of an individual whose mind is affected by the consumption of alcohol.

Dual nationality: An equal claim, simultaneously possessed by two nations, to the allegiance of an individual.

Duces tecum: [Latin, Bring with you.] Commonly called a SUBPOENA DUCES TECUM, a type of legal writ requiring one who has been summoned to appear in court to bring some specified item with him or her for use or examination by the court.

Due: Just; proper; regular; lawful; sufficient; reasonable, as in the phrases due care, due process of law, due notice.

Owing; payable; justly owed. That which one contracts to pay or perform to another; that which law or justice requires to be paid or done. Owed, or owing, as distinguished from payable. A debt is often said to be due from a person where he or she is the party owing it, or primarily bound to pay, whether the time for payment has or has not arrived. The same thing is true of the phrase due and owing.

Due date: The particular day on or before which something must be done to comply with law or contractual obligation.

Due notice: Information that must be given or made available to a particular person or to the public within a legally mandated period of time so that its recipient will have the opportunity to respond to a situation or to allegations that affect the individual's or public's legal rights or duties.

Due process of law: A fundamental, constitutional guarantee that all legal proceedings will be fair and that one will be given notice of the proceedings and an opportunity to be heard before the government acts to take away one's life, liberty, or property. Also, a constitutional guarantee that a law shall not be unreasonable, ARBITRARY, or capricious.

Dueling: The fighting of two persons, one against the other, at an appointed time and place, due to an earlier quarrel. If death results, the crime is murder. It differs from an affray in this, that the latter occurs on a sudden quarrel, while the former is always the result of design.

Dummy: Sham; make-believe; pretended; imitation. Person who serves in place of another, or who serves until the proper person is named or available to take his place (e.g., dummy corporate directors; dummy owners of real estate).

Duress: Unlawful pressure exerted upon a person to coerce that person to perform an act that he or she ordinarily would not perform.

Durham rule: A principle of CRIMINAL LAW used to determine the validity of the INSANITY DEFENSE asserted by an accused, that he or she was insane at the time of committing a crime and therefore should not be held legally responsible for the action.

Duty: A legal obligation that entails mandatory conduct or performance. With respect to the laws relating to CUSTOMS DUTIES, a tax owed to the government for the import or export of goods.

Duty of tonnage: A fee that encompasses all taxes and CUSTOMS DUTIES, regardless of their name or form, imposed upon a vessel as an instrument of commerce for entering, remaining in, or exiting from a port.

DWI: An abbreviation for driving while intoxicated, which is an offense committed by an individual who operates a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol or DRUGS AND NARCOTICS.
An abbreviation for died without issue, which commonly appears in genealogical tables.

Dying declaration: A statement by a person who is conscious and knows that death is imminent concerning what he or she believes to be the cause or circumstances of death that can be introduced into evidence during a trial in certain cases.

Earned income: Sources of money derived from the labor, professional service, or entrepreneurship of an individual taxpayer as opposed to funds generated by investments, dividends, and interest.

Earnest money: A sum of money paid by a buyer at the time of entering a contract to indicate the intention and ability of the buyer to carry out the contract. Normally such earnest money is applied against the purchase price. Often the contract provides for FORFEITURE of this sum if the buyer defaults. A deposit of part payment of purchase price on sale to be consummated in future.

Easement: A right of use over the property of another. Traditionally the permitted kinds of uses were limited, the most important being rights of way and rights concerning flowing waters. The easement was normally for the benefit of adjoining lands, no matter who the owner was (an easement appurtenant), rather than for the benefit of a specific individual (easement in gross).

Ecclesiastical courts: In England, the collective classification of particular courts that exercised jurisdiction primarily over spiritual matters. A system of courts, held by authority granted by the sovereign, that assumed jurisdiction over matters concerning the ritual and religion of the established church, and over the rights, obligations, and discipline of the clergy.

Edict: A decree or law of major import promulgated by a king, queen, or other sovereign of a government.

Education law: The body of state and federal constitutional provisions; local, state, and federal statutes; court opinions; and government regulations that provide the legal framework for educational institutions.

Effect: As a verb, to do; to produce; to make; to bring to pass; to execute; enforce; accomplish. As a noun, that which is produced by an agent or cause; result; outcome; consequence. The result that an instrument between parties will produce in their relative rights, or which a statute will produce upon the existing law, as discovered from the language used, the forms employed, or other materials for construing it. The operation of a law, of an agreement, or an act. The phrases take effect, be in force, and go into operation, are used interchangeably.

In the plural, a person's effects are the real and PERSONAL PROPERTY of someone who has died or who makes a will.

Effective rate: Another name for annual percentage rate that refers to the amount of yearly interest to be charged by a lender on the money borrowed by a debtor.

In federal INCOME TAX law, the actual tax rate that an individual taxpayer pays based upon his or her taxable income.

Efficient cause: That which actually precipitates an accident or injury.

E.G.: An abbreviation for exempli gratia [Latin, for the sake of an example].

Ejectment: One of the old FORMS OF ACTION for recovery of the possession of real property.

Elder law: As of the early 2000s a relatively new specialty devoted to the legal issues of SENIOR CITIZENS, including estate planning, HEALTH CARE, planning for incapacity or mental incompetence, the receipt of benefits, and employment discrimination.

Election of remedies: The liberty of choosing (or the act of choosing) one out of several means afforded by law for the redress of an injury, or one out of several available FORMS OF ACTION. An election of remedies arises when one having two coexistent but inconsistent remedies chooses to exercise one, in which event she or he loses the right to thereafter exercise the other. Doctrine provides that if two or more remedies exist that are repugnant and inconsistent with one another, a party will be bound if he or she has chosen one of them.

Elections: The processes of voting to decide a public question or to select one person from a designated group to perform certain obligations in a government, corporation, or society.

Elective share: Statutory provision that a surviving spouse may choose between taking that which is provided in the will of the deceased spouse or taking a statutorily prescribed share of the estate. Such election may be presented if the will leaves the spouse less than he or she would otherwise receive by statute. This election may also be taken if the spouse seeks to set aside a will that contains a provision to the effect that an attempt to contest the will defeats the rights of one to take under the will.

Electoral: A voter who has fulfilled the qualifications imposed by law; a constituent; a selector of a public officer; a person who has the right to cast a ballot for the approval or rejection of a political proposal or question, such as the issuance of bonds by a state or municipality to finance public works projects.

A member of the electoral college—an association of voters elected by the populace of each state and the District of Columbia—which convenes every four years to select the president and vice president of the United States.

Electoral college: Nominated persons, known as electors, from the states and the District of Columbia, who meet every four years in their home state or district and cast ballots to choose the president and vice president of the United States.

Electronic surveillance: Observing or listening to persons, places, or activities—usually in a secretive or unobtrusive manner—with the aid of electronic devices such as cameras, microphones, tape recorders, or wire taps. The objective of electronic surveillance when used in law enforcement is to gather evidence of a crime or to accumulate intelligence about suspected criminal activity. Corporations use electronic surveillance to maintain the security of their buildings and grounds or to gather information about competitors.

Element: A material factor; a basic component.

Emancipation: The act or process by which a person is liberated from the authority and control of another person.

Embargo: A proclamation or order of government, usually issued in time of war or threatened hostilities, prohibiting the departure of ships or goods from some or all ports until further order. Government order prohibiting commercial trade with individuals or businesses of other specified nations. Legal prohibition on commerce.

The temporary or permanent SEQUESTRATION of the property of individuals for the purposes of a government, e.g., to obtain vessels for the transport of troops, the owners being reimbursed for this forced service.

Embargo act: A legislative measure enacted by Congress in 1807 at the behest of President Thomas Jefferson that banned trade between U.S. ports and foreign nations.

Embezzlement: The fraudulent conversion of another's property by a person who is in a position of trust, such as an agent or employee.

Emblements: Crops annually produced by the labor of a tenant. Corn, wheat, rye, potatoes, garden vegetables, and other crops that are produced annually, not spontaneously, but by labor and industry. The doctrine of emblements denotes the right of a tenant to take and carry away, after the tenancy has ended, such annual products of the land as have resulted from the tenant's care and labor.

Embracery: The crime of attempting to influence a jury corruptly to one side or the other by promises, persuasions, entreaties, entertainments, and the like. The person guilty of it is called an embraceor. This is both a state and federal crime, and is commonly included under the offense of obstructing justice.

Emergency doctrine: A principle that allows individuals to take action in the face of a sudden or urgent need for aid, without being subject to normal standards of reasonable care. Also called imminent peril doctrine, or sudden peril doctrine.

Emigration: The act of moving from one country to another with intention not to return. It is to be distinguished from expatriation, which means the ABANDONMENT of one's country and renunciation of one's citizenship in it, while emigration denotes merely the removal of person and property to another country. Expatriation is usually the consequence of emigration. Emigration is also sometimes used in reference to the removal from one section to another of the same country.

Eminent domain: The power to take private property for public use by a state, municipality, or private person or corporation authorized to exercise functions of public character, following the payment of just compensation to the owner of that property.

Emolument: The profit arising from office, employment, or labor; that which is received as a compensation for services, or which is annexed to the possession of office as salary, fees, and perquisites. Any perquisite, advantage, profit, or gain arising from the possession of an office.

Employment at will: A common-law rule that an employment contract of indefinite duration can be terminated by either the employer or the employee at any time for any reason; also known as terminable at will.

Employment law: The body of law that governs the employer-employee relationship, including individual employment contracts, the application of TORT and contract doctrines, and a large group of statutory regulation on issues such as the right to organize and negotiate collective bargaining agreements, protection from discrimination, wages and hours, and health and safety.

En banc: [Latin, French. In the bench.] Full bench. Refers to a session where the entire membership of the court will participate in the decision rather than the regular quorum. In other countries, it is common for a court to have more members than are usually necessary to hear an appeal. In the United States, the Circuit Courts of Appeal usually sit in panels of judges but for important cases may expand the bench to a larger number, when the judges are said to be sitting en banc. Similarly, only one of the judges of the U.S. TAX COURT will typically hear and decide on a tax controversy. However, when the issues involved are unusually novel or of wide impact, the case will be heard and decided by the full court sitting en banc.

Enabling clause: The section of a constitution or statute that provides government officials with the power to put the constitution or statute into force and effect.

Enabling statute: A law that gives new or extended authority or powers, generally to a public official or to a corporation.

Enact: To establish by law; to perform or effect; to decree.

Encroachment: An illegal intrusion in a highway or navigable river, with or without obstruction. An encroachment upon a street or highway is a fixture, such as a wall or fence, which illegally intrudes into or invades the highway or encloses a portion of it, diminishing its width or area, but without closing it to public travel.

Encumber: To burden property by way of a charge that must be removed before ownership is free and clear.

Encumbrance: A burden, obstruction, or impediment on property that lessens its value or makes it less marketable. An encumbrance (also spelled incumbrance) is any right or interest that exists in someone other than the owner of an estate and that restricts or impairs the transfer of the estate or lowers its value. This might include an EASEMENT, a lien, a mortgage, a mechanic's lien, or accrued and unpaid taxes.

Endorse: To sign a paper or document, thereby making it possible for the rights represented therein to pass to another individual. Also spelled indorse.

Endorsement: A signature on a COMMERCIAL PAPER or document.

Endowment: A transfer, generally as a gift, of money or property to an institution for a particular purpose. The bestowal of money as a permanent fund, the income of which is to be used for the benefit of a charity, college, or other institution.

Enemy combatant: Captured fighter in a war who is not entitled to prisoner of war status because he or she does not meet the definition of a lawful combatant as established by the GENEVA CONVENTION; a saboteur.

Enfeoffment: Also known as feoffment. Complete surrender and transfer of all land ownership rights from one person to another. In old ENGLISH LAW, an enfeoffment was a transfer of property by which the new owner was given both the right to sell the land and the right to pass it on to heirs, evidenced by livery of seisin, a ceremony for transferring the possession of real property from one individual to another.

Enfranchisement: The act of making free (as from SLAVERY); giving a franchise or freedom to; investiture with privileges or capacities of freedom, or municipal or political liberty. Conferring the privilege of voting upon classes of persons who have not previously possessed such.

Engage: To become involved with, do, or take part in something.

Engagement: A binding, pledging, or coming together. A mutual pact, contract, or agreement.

English-only laws: Laws that seek to establish English as the official language of the United States.

English law: The system of law that has developed in England from approximately 1066 to the present.

Engross: To print a final copy of a document. In archaic CRIMINAL LAW, engrossment was the process of forcing higher the price of a good by buying it up and creating a MONOPOLY.

Engrossed bill: A legislative proposal that has been prepared in a final form for its submission to a vote of the law-making body after it has undergone discussion and been approved by the appropriate committees.

Enhancement: Increase in value; improvement.

Enjoin: To direct, require, command, or admonish.

Enjoyment: The exercise of a right; the possession and fruition of a right or privilege. Comfort, consolation, contentment, ease, happiness, pleasure, and satisfaction. Such includes the beneficial use, interest, and purpose to which property may be put, and implies right to profits and income therefrom.

Enrolled bill: The final copy of a bill or joint resolution that has passed both houses of a legislature and is ready for signature. In legislative practice, a bill that has been duly introduced, finally passed by both houses, signed by the proper officers of each, approved by the governor (or president), and filed by the SECRETARY OF STATE.

Entail: To abridge, settle, or limit succession to real property. An estate whose succession is limited to certain people rather than being passed to all heirs.

Enter: To form a constituent part; to become a part or partaker; to penetrate; share or mix with, as tin enters into the composition of pewter. To go or come into a place or condition; to make or effect an entrance; to cause to go into or be received into.

In the law of real property, to go upon land for the purpose of taking possession of it. In strict usage, the entering is preliminary to the taking possession but in common parlance the entry is now merged in the taking possession.

To place anything before a court, or upon or among the records, in a formal and regular manner, and usually in writing as in to enter an appearance, or to enter a judgment. In this sense the word is nearly equivalent to setting down formally in writing, in either a full or abridged form.

Entertainment law: The areas of law governing professionals and businesses in the entertainment industry, particularly contracts and INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY; more particularly, certain legal traditions and aspects of these areas of law that are unique to the entertainment industry.

Entice: To wrongfully solicit, persuade, procure, allure, attract, draw by blandishment, coax, or seduce. To lure, induce, tempt, incite, or persuade a person to do a thing. Enticement of a child is inviting, persuading, or attempting to persuade a child to enter any vehicle, building, room, or secluded place with intent to commit an unlawful sexual act upon or with the person of said child.

Entirety: The whole, in contradistinction to a moiety or part only. When land is conveyed to HUSBAND AND WIFE, they do not take by moieties, but both are seised of the entirety. Parceners, on the other hand, have not an entirety of interest, but each is properly entitled to the whole of a distinct moiety.

Entitlement: An individual's right to receive a value or benefit provided by law.

Entity: A real being; existence. An organization or being that possesses separate existence for tax purposes. Examples would be corporations, partnerships, estates, and trusts. The accounting entity for which accounting statements are prepared may not be the same as the entity defined by law.

Entity includes corporation and foreign corporation; not-for-profit corporation; profit and not-for-profit unincorporated association; BUSINESS TRUST, estate, partnership, trust, and two or more persons having a joint or common economic interest; and state, U.S., and foreign governments.

An existence apart, such as a corporation in relation to its stockholders.

Entity includes person, estate, trust, governmental unit.

Entrapment: The act of government agents or officials that induces a person to commit a crime he or she is not previously disposed to commit.

Entry: The act of making or entering a record; a setting down in writing of particulars; or that which is entered; an item. Generally synonymous with recording.

Passage leading into a house or other building or to a room; a vestibule.

The act of a merchant, trader, or other business-person in recording in his or her account books the facts and circumstances of a sale, loan, or other transaction. The books in which such memoranda are first (or originally) inscribed are called books of original entry, and are PRIMA FACIE evidence for certain purposes.

In COPYRIGHT law, depositing with the register of copyrights the printed title of a book, pamphlet, and so on, for the purpose of securing copyright on the same.

In immigration law, any coming of an alien into the United States, from a foreign part or place or from an outlying possession, whether voluntary or otherwise.

In CRIMINAL LAW, entry is the unlawful making of one's way into a dwelling or other house for the purpose of committing a crime therein. In cases of BURGLARY, the least entry with the whole or any part of the body, hand, or foot, or with any instrument or weapon, introduced for the purpose of committing a felony, is sufficient to complete the offense.

In customs law, the entry of imported goods at the custom house consists in submitting them to the inspection of the revenue officers, together with a statement or description of such goods, and the original invoices of the same, for the purpose of estimating the duties to be paid thereon.

In real property law, the right or authority to assert one's possessory interest or ownership in a piece of land by going onto the land.

Entry of judgment: Formally recording the result of a lawsuit that is based upon the determination by the court of the facts and applicable law, and that makes the result effective for purposes of bringing an action to enforce it or to commence an appeal.

Enumerated: This term is often used in law as equivalent to mentioned specifically, designated, or expressly named or granted; as in speaking of enumerated governmental powers, items of property, or articles in a tariff schedule.

Environmental law: An amalgam of state and federal statutes, regulations, and common-law principles covering AIR POLLUTION, WATER POLLUTION, hazardous waste, the wilderness, and endangered wildlife.

Equal protection: The constitutional guarantee that no person or class of persons shall be denied the same protection of the laws that is enjoyed by other persons or other classes in like circumstances in their lives, liberty, property, and pursuit of happiness. The Declaration of Independence states:

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness.

Equitable remedy: Court-ordered action that directs parties to do or not to do something; such remedies include injunctive relief and SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE. Alternatively, a non-monetary remedy, such as an INJUNCTION or specific performance, obtained when a legal remedy such as money damages cannot adequately redress the injury.

Equity: In its broadest sense, equity is fairness. As a legal system, it is a body of law that addresses concerns that fall outside the jurisdiction of COMMON LAW. Equity is also used to describe the money value of property in excess of claims, liens, or mortgages on the property.

Equity of redemption: The right of a mortgagor, that is, a borrower who obtains a loan secured by a pledge of his or her real property, to prevent foreclosure proceedings by paying the amount due on the loan, a mortgage, plus interest and other expenses after having failed to pay within the time and according to the terms specified therein.

Ergo: Latin, therefore; hence; because.

Erratum: [Latin, Error.] The term used in the Latin formula for the assignment of mistakes made in a case.

Error: A mistake in a court proceeding concerning a MATTER OF LAW or fact, which might provide a ground for a review of the judgment rendered in the proceeding.

Escalator clause: A stipulation contained in a union contract stating that wages will be raised or lowered, based upon an external standard such as the cost of living index. A term, ordinarily in a contract or lease, that provides for an increase in the money to be paid under certain conditions.

Escape: The criminal offense of fleeing legal custody without authority or consent.

Escheat: The power of a state to acquire title to property for which there is no owner.

Escrow: Something of value, such as a deed, stock, money, or written instrument, that is put into the custody of a third person by its owner, a grantor, an obligor, or a promisor, to be retained until the occurrence of a contingency or performance of a condition.

Espionage: The act of securing information of a military or political nature that a competing nation holds secret. It can involve the analysis of diplomatic reports, publications, statistics, and broadcasts, as well as spying, a clandestine activity carried out by an individual or individuals working under secret identity to gather classified information on behalf of another entity or nation. In the United States, the organization that heads most activities dedicated to espionage is the CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE AGENCY (CIA).

Esq.: An abbreviation for esquire, which is a title used by attorneys in the United States. The term esquire has a different meaning in ENGLISH LAW. It is used to signify a title of dignity, which ranks above gentleman and directly below knight.

Establish: This word occurs frequently in the Constitution of the United States, and it is used there in different meanings: (1) to settle firmly, to fix unalterably; as in to establish justice, which is the avowed object of the Constitution; (2) to make or form; as in to establish uniform laws governing naturalization or BANKRUPTCY; (3) to found, to create, to regulate; as in “Congress shall have power to establish post offices”; (4) to found, recognize, confirm, or admit; as in “Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion”; and (5) to create, to ratify, or confirm, as in “We, the people . . . do ordain and establish this Constitution.”

To settle, make, or fix firmly; place on a permanent footing; found; create; put beyond doubt or dispute; prove; convince. To enact permanently. To bring about or into existence.

Estate: The degree, quantity, nature, and extent of interest that a person has in real and PERSONAL PROPERTY. Such terms as estate in land, tenement, and hereditaments may also be used to describe an individual's interest in property.

When used in connection with probate proceedings, the term encompasses the total property that is owned by a decedent prior to the distribution of that property in accordance with the terms of a will, or when there is no will, by the laws of inheritance in the state of domicile of the decedent. It means, ordinarily, the whole of the property owned by anyone, the realty as well as the personality.

In its broadest sense, the social, civic, or political condition or standing of a person; or, a class of persons grouped for social, civic, or political purposes.

Estate and gift taxes: A combined federal tax on transfers by gift or death.

Estimated tax: Federal and state tax laws require a quarterly payment of estimated taxes due from corporations, trusts, estates, non-wage employees, and wage employees with income not subject to withholding. Individuals must remit at least 100 percent of their prior year tax liability or 90 percent of their current year tax liability in order to avoid an underpayment penalty. Corporations must pay at least 90 percent of their current year tax liability in order to avoid an underpayment penalty. Additional taxes due, if any, are paid on taxpayer's annual tax return.

Estoppel: A legal principle that bars a party from denying or alleging a certain fact owing to that party's previous conduct, allegation, or denial.

Et al.: An abbreviated form of et alia, Latin for "and others." When affixed after the name of a person, et al. indicates that additional persons are acting in the same manner, such as several plaintiffs or grantors.

Et seq.: An abbreviation for the Latin et sequentes or et sequentia, meaning "and the following."

Ethics, legal: The branch of philosophy that defines what is good for the individual and for society and establishes the nature of obligations, or duties, that people owe themselves and one another. In modern society, ethics define how individuals, professionals, and corporations choose to interact with one another.

Euthanasia: [Greek, good death.] The term normally implies an intentional termination of life by another at the explicit request of the person who wishes to die. Euthanasia is generally defined as the act of killing an incurably ill person out of concern and compassion for that person's suffering. It is sometimes called mercy killing, but many advocates of euthanasia define mercy killing more precisely as the ending of another person's life without his or her request. Euthanasia, on the other hand, is usually separated into two categories: passive euthanasia and active euthanasia. In many jurisdictions, active euthanasia can be considered murder or MANSLAUGHTER, whereas passive euthanasia is accepted by professional medical societies, and by the law under certain circumstances.

Eviction: The removal of a tenant from possession of premises in which he or she resides or has a property interest done by a landlord either by reentry upon the premises or through a court action.

Evidence: Any matter of fact that a party to a lawsuit offers to prove or disprove an issue in the case. A system of rules and standards that is used to determine which facts may be admitted, and to what extent a judge or jury may consider those facts, as proof of a particular issue in a lawsuit.

Ex dividend: A phrase used by stockbrokers that denotes that a stock is sold without the purchaser receiving the right to own its recently declared dividend which has not yet been paid to the stockholders.

Ex officio: [Latin, From office.] By virtue of the characteristics inherent in the holding of a particular office without the need of specific authorization or appointment.

Ex parte: [Latin, On one side only.] Done by, for, or on the application of one party alone.

Ex post facto laws: [Latin, "After-the-fact" laws.] Laws that provide for the infliction of punishment upon a person for some prior act that, at the time it was committed, was not illegal.

Examination: A search, inspection, or interrogation.

In CRIMINAL PROCEDURE, the PRELIMINARY HEARING held to decide whether a suspect arrested for a crime should be brought to trial.

In trial practice, the interrogation of a witness to elicit his or her testimony in a civil or criminal action, so that the facts he or she possesses are presented before the trial of fact for consideration.

In the law governing real property transactions, an investigation made into the history of the ownership of and conditions that exist upon land so that a purchaser can determine whether a seller is entitled to sell the land free and clear of any claims made by third persons.

In patent law, an inquiry made at the PATENT AND TRADEMARK OFFICE to determine the novelty and utility of an invention for which a patent application has been filed and whether the invention interferes with any other invention.

Examiner: An official or other person empowered by another—whether an individual, business, or government agency—to investigate and review specified documents for accuracy and truthfulness.

A court-appointed officer, such as a master or referee, who inspects evidence presented to resolve controverted matters and records statements made by witnesses in the particular proceeding pending before that court.

A government employee in the PATENT AND TRADEMARK OFFICE whose duty it is to scrutinize the application made for a patent by an inventor to determine whether the invention meets the statutory requirements of patentability.

A federal employee of the INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE who reviews income tax returns for accuracy and truthfulness.

Exception: The act of excepting or excluding from a number designated or from a description; that which is excepted or separated from others in a general rule or description; a person, thing, or case specified as distinct or not included; an act of excepting, omitting from mention, or leaving out of consideration. Express exclusion of something from operation of contract or deed. An exception operates to take something out of a thing granted that would otherwise pass or be included.

Objection to an order or ruling of a trial court. A formal objection to the action of the court, during the trial of a case, in refusing a request or overruling an objection; implying that the party excepting does not acquiesce in the decision of the court, but will seek to procure its reversal, and that he or she means to save the benefit of his or her request or objection in some future proceeding. Under rules practiced in the federal and most state courts, the need for claiming an exception to evidence or to a ruling to preserve appellate rights has been eliminated in favor of an objection.

Exchange: An association, organization, or group of persons, incorporated or unincorporated, that constitutes, maintains, or provides a marketplace or facilities for bringing together purchasers and sellers of SECURITIES or commodities futures.

Exchange of property: A transaction wherein parties trade goods, or commodities, for other goods, in contrast with a sale or trading of goods for money.

Excise: A tax imposed on the performance of an act, the engaging in an occupation, or the enjoyment of a privilege. A tax on the manufacture, sale, or use of goods or on the carrying on of an occupation or activity, or a tax on the transfer of property. In current usage the term has been extended to include various license fees and practically every internal revenue tax except the INCOME TAX (e.g., federal alcohol and tobacco excise taxes).

Exclusionary clause: A term in a sales contract that limits the remedies available to one or both parties to it in an action for breach of WARRANTY, statements made as to the quality of the goods sold. A provision of an insurance contract that prohibits recovery pursuant to its terms if certain designated circumstances occur.

Exclusionary rule: The principle based on federal CONSTITUTIONAL LAW that evidence illegally seized by law enforcement officers in violation of a suspect's right to be free from unreasonable SEARCHES AND SEIZURES cannot be used against the suspect in a criminal prosecution.

Exclusive: Pertaining to the subject alone, not including, admitting, or pertaining to any others. Sole. Shutting out; debarring from interference or participation; vested in one person alone. Apart from all others, without the admission of others to participation.

Exclusive agency: Grant to an agent of exclusive right to sell within a particular market or area. A contract to give an exclusive agency to deal with property is ordinarily interpreted as not precluding competition by the principal generally, but only as precluding him or her from appointing another agent to accomplish the result. The grant of an exclusive agency to sell, that is, the exclusive right to sell the products of a wholesaler in a specified territory, ordinarily is interpreted as precluding competition in any form within the designated area.

Exculpate: To clear or excuse from guilt.

Excuse: The explanation for the performance or nonperformance of a particular act; a reason alleged in court as a basis for exemption or relief from guilt.

Execute: To complete; to make; to sign; to perform; to do; to carry out according to its terms; to fulfill the command or purpose of. To perform all necessary formalities, as to make and sign a contract, or sign and deliver a note.

Execution: The carrying out of some act or course of conduct to its completion. In CRIMINAL LAW, the carrying out of a death sentence.

The process whereby an official, usually a sheriff, is directed by an appropriate judicial writ to seize and sell as much of a debtor's nonexempt property as is necessary to satisfy a court's monetary judgment.

With respect to contracts, the performance of all acts necessary to render a contract complete as an instrument, which conveys the concept that nothing remains to be done to make a complete and effective contract.

Executive branch: The branch of the U.S. government that is composed of the president and all the individuals, agencies, and departments that report to the president, and that is responsible for administering and enforcing the laws that Congress passes.

Executive order: A presidential policy directive that implements or interprets a federal statute, a constitutional provision, or a treaty.

Executive privilege: The right of the president of the United States to withhold information from Congress or the courts.

Executors and administrators: Those who are designated by the terms of a will or appointed by a court of probate to manage the assets and liabilities of the estate of the deceased.

Executory: That which is yet to be fully executed or performed; that which remains to be carried into operation or effect; incomplete; depending upon a future performance or event. The opposite of executed.

Exemplification: An official copy of a document from public records, made in a form to be used as evidence, and authenticated or certified as a true copy.

Exercise: To put into action, practice, or force; to make use of something, such as a right or option.

Exhaustion of remedies: The exhaustion-of-remedies doctrine requires that procedures established by statute, COMMON LAW, contract, or custom must be initiated and followed in certain cases before an aggrieved party may seek relief from the courts. After all other available remedies have been exhausted, a lawsuit may be filed.

Exhibit: As a verb, to show or display; to offer or present for inspection. To produce anything in public, so that it may be taken into possession. To present; to offer publicly or officially; to file of record. To administer; to cause to be taken, as medicines. To submit to a court or officer in the course of proceedings.

As a noun, a paper or document produced and exhibited to a court during a trial or hearing, or to a person taking depositions, or to auditors or arbitrators as a voucher, or in proof of facts, or as otherwise connected with the subject matter, and which, on being accepted, is marked for identification and annexed to the deposition, report, or other principal document, or filed of record, or otherwise made a part of the case.

A paper, document, chart, map, or the like, referred to and made a part of an AFFIDAVIT, PLEADING, or brief. An item of physical, tangible evidence that is to be or has been offered to the court for inspection.

Exoneration: The removal of a burden, charge, responsibility, duty, or blame imposed by law. The right of a party who is secondarily liable for a debt, such as a surety, to be reimbursed by the party with primary liability for payment of an obligation that should have been paid by the first party.

Expatriation: The VOLUNTARY ACT of abandoning or renouncing one's country and becoming the citizen or subject of another.

Expectancy: A mere hope, based upon no direct provision, promise, or trust. An expectancy is the possibility of receiving a thing, rather than having a vested interest in it.

Expert testimony: Testimony about a scientific, technical, or professional issue given by a person qualified to testify because of familiarity with the subject or special training in the field.

Expository statute: A law executed to explain the actual meaning and intent of a previously enacted statute.

Express: Clear; definite; explicit; plain; direct; unmistakable; not dubious or ambiguous. Declared in terms; set forth in words. Directly and distinctly stated. Made known distinctly and explicitly, and not left to inference. Manifested by direct and appropriate language, as distinguished from that which is inferred from conduct. The word is usually contrasted with implied.

Expropriation: The taking of private property for public use or in the public interest. The taking of U.S. industry situated in a foreign country, by a foreign government.

Expunge: To destroy; blot out; obliterate; erase; efface designedly; strike out wholly. The act of physically destroying information—including criminal records—in files, computers, or other depositories.

Extension: An increase in the length of time specified in a contract.

A part constituting an addition or enlargement, as in an annex to a building or an extension to a house. Addition to existing facilities.

An allowance of additional time for the payment of debts. An agreement between a debtor and his or her creditors, by which they allow the debtor further time for the payment of liabilities. A creditor's indulgence by giving a debtor further time to pay an existing debt.

The word extension, when used in its proper and usual sense in connection with a lease, means a prolongation of the previous leasehold estate. The distinction between extension and renewal of lease is chiefly that, in the case of renewal, a new lease is requisite, while, in the case of extension, the same lease continues in force during an additional period upon performance of a stipulated act. An option for renewal implies giving a new lease on the same terms as those of an old lease, while an option for extension contemplates a CONTINUANCE of an old lease for a further period.

Request for additional time to file an income tax return beyond the due date.

Extenuating circumstances: Facts surrounding the commission of a crime that work to mitigate or lessen it.

Extinguishment: The destruction or cancellation of a right, a power, a contract, or an estate.

Extort: To compel or coerce, as in a confession or information, by any means serving to overcome the other's power of resistance, thus making the confession or admission involuntary. To gain by wrongful methods; to obtain in an unlawful manner, as in to compel payments by means of threats of injury to person, property, or reputation. To exact something wrongfully by threatening or putting in fear. The natural meaning of the word extort is to obtain money or other valuable things by compulsion, by actual force, or by the force of motives applied to the will, and often more overpowering and irresistible than physical force.

Extortion: The obtaining of property from another induced by wrongful use of actual or threatened force, violence, or fear, or under color of official right.

Extra: [Latin, Beyond, except, without, out of, outside.] Additional.

Extradition: The transfer of an accused from one state or country to another state or country that seeks to place the accused on trial.

Extrajudicial: That which is done, given, or effected outside the course of regular judicial proceedings. Not founded upon, or unconnected with, the action of a court of law, as in extrajudicial evidence or an extrajudicial oath.

That which, though done in the course of regular judicial proceedings, is unnecessary to such proceedings, or interpolated, or beyond their scope, as in an extrajudicial opinion.

Extraordinary remedy: The designation given to such writs as HABEAS CORPUS, MANDAMUS, and QUO WARRANTO, determined in special proceedings and granted only where absolutely necessary to protect the legal rights of a party in a particular case, as opposed to the customary relief obtained by the maintenance of an action.

Extraterritoriality: The operation of laws upon persons existing beyond the limits of the enacting state or nation but who are still amenable to its laws. Jurisdiction exercised by a nation in other countries by treaty, or by its own ministers or consuls in foreign lands.

Extremis: A description of the state of being ill beyond the hope of recovery, with death imminent.

Extrinsic evidence: Facts or information not embodied in a written agreement such as a will, trust, or contract.

Eyewitness: An individual who was present during an event and is called by a party in a lawsuit to testify as to what he or she observed.

Face: The external appearance or surface of anything; that which is readily observable by a spectator. The words contained in a document in their plain or obvious meaning without regard to external evidence or facts.

Face value: A readily ascertainable amount of money determinable from the words of a written instrument alone without the aid of any other source.

Facsimile: An exact replica of a document that is copied so as to preserve all its original marks and notations.

Fact: Incident, act, event, or circumstance. A fact is something that has already been done or an action in process. It is an event that has definitely and actually taken place, and is distinguishable from a suspicion, innuendo, or supposition. A fact is a truth as opposed to fiction or mistake.

Fact and law: A term used to denote issues or events that have taken place and the legal jurisdiction that governs how they are viewed. Fact in legal terms, is the event, while law refers to the actual rules that determine how facts are viewed by the courts. Lawyers and courts may separate fact and law to differentiate them; thus, a QUESTION OF FACT concerns the actual events of a case as they might be examined by a jury, while a QUESTION OF LAW focuses on the legal rules and principles as determined by a judge, and applied to the facts by a jury.

Fact situation: A concise description of all the occurrences or circumstances of a particular case, without any discussion of their consequences under the law. The fact situation, sometimes referred to as a fact pattern, is a summary of what took place in a case for which relief is sought. The fact situation of one case is almost always distinguishable from that of another case.

Factor: An event, circumstance, influence, or element that plays a part in bringing about a result.

Factors: People who are employed by others to sell or purchase goods, who are entrusted with possession of the goods, and who are compensated by either a commission or a fixed salary.

Factum: [Latin, Fact, act, or deed.] A fact in evidence, which is generally the central or primary fact upon which a controversy will be decided.

Failure of consideration: As applied to contracts, this term does not necessarily mean a want of consideration, but implies that a consideration, originally existing and good, has since become worthless or has ceased to exist or been extinguished, partially or entirely. It means that sufficient consideration was contemplated by the parties at the time the contract was entered into, but either on account of some innate defect in the thing to be given, or nonperformance in whole or in part of that which the promisee agreed to do, nothing of value can be or is received by the promisee.

Failure of issue: Dying without having any children or without surviving children.

Failure to state a claim: Within a judicial forum, the failure to present sufficient facts which, if taken as true, would indicate that any violation of law occurred or that the claimant is entitled to a legal remedy.

Fair comment: A form of qualified privilege applied to news media publications relating to discussion of matters that are of legitimate concern to the community as a whole because they materially affect the interests of all the community. A term used in the defense of LIBEL actions, applying to statements made by a writer (e.g., in the news media) in an honest belief in their truth, relating to official acts, even though the statements are not true in fact. Fair comment must be based on facts truly stated, must not contain imputations of corrupt or dishonorable motives except as warranted by the facts, and must be an honest expression of the writer's real opinion.

Fair hearing: A judicial proceeding that is conducted in such a manner as to conform to fundamental concepts of justice and equality.

Fair market value: The amount for which real property or PERSONAL PROPERTY would be sold in a voluntary transaction between a buyer and seller, neither of whom is under any obligation to buy or sell.

Fair-trade laws: State statutes enacted in the first half of the twentieth century permitting manufacturers to set minimum, maximum, or actual selling prices for their products, and thus to prevent retailers from selling products at very low prices.

Fairness doctrine: The doctrine that imposes affirmative responsibilities on a broadcaster to provide coverage of issues of public importance that is adequate and fairly reflects differing viewpoints. In fulfilling its fairness doctrine obligations, a broadcaster must provide free time for the presentation of opposing views if a paid sponsor is unavailable and must initiate programming on public issues if no one else seeks to do so.

False advertising: "Any advertising or promotion that misrepresents the nature, characteristics, qualities or geographic origin of goods, services or commercial activities" (LANHAM ACT, 15 U.S.C.A. § 1125(a)).

False arrest: A TORT (a civil wrong) that consists of an unlawful restraint of an individual's personal liberty or freedom of movement by another purporting to act according to the law.

False demonstration: An inaccurate or erroneous description of an individual or item in a written instrument.

False imprisonment: The illegal confinement of one individual against his or her will by another individual in such a manner as to violate the confined individual's right to be free from restraint of movement.

False personation: The crime of falsely assuming the identity of another to gain a benefit or avoid an expense.

False pretenses: False representations of material past or present facts, known by the wrongdoer to be false, and made with the intent to defraud a victim into passing title in property to the wrongdoer.

Family car doctrine: A RULE OF LAW applied in particular cases of NEGLIGENCE that extends liability to the owner of an automobile for damage done by a family member while using the car.

Family law: Statutes, court decisions, and provisions of the federal and state constitutions that relate to family relationships, rights, duties, and finances.

Family medical leave: Federal, state, and local laws that authorize employees to take paid or unpaid leave for a defined period of time for major health-related medical issues affecting their immediate family.

Fatal: Deadly or mortal; destructive; devastating.

Fault: Neglect of care; an act to which blame or censure is attached. Fault implies any NEGLIGENCE, error, or defect of judgment.

Feasance: The performance of an act.

Federal: Relating to the general government or union of the states; based upon, or created pursuant to, the laws of the Constitution of the United States.

Federal appendix: A legal reference source containing federal courts of appeals decisions that have not been selected by the court for publication.

Federal budget: An annual effort to balance federal spending on such areas as forestry, education, space technology, and the national defense, with revenue, which the United States collects largely through federal taxes.

Federal courts: The U.S. judicial tribunals created by Article III of the Constitution, or by Congress, to hear and determine JUSTICIABLE controversies.

Federal question: An issue directly involving the U.S. Constitution, federal statutes, or treaties between the United States and a foreign country.

Federal Register: A daily publication that makes available to the public the rules, regulations, and other legal notices issued by federal administrative agencies.

Federal Reporter®: A legal reference source primarily covering published decisions of federal appellate courts.

Federal Rules Decision®: A reporter that reprints decisions rendered by federal district courts that interpret or apply the Federal Rules of Civil, Criminal, and Appellate Procedure and also the FEDERAL RULES OF EVIDENCE.

Federal rules of evidence: The FEDERAL RULES OF EVIDENCE generally govern civil and criminal proceedings in the courts of the United States and proceedings before U.S. BANKRUPTCY judges and U.S. magistrates, to the extent and with the exceptions stated in the rules. Promulgated by the U.S. Supreme Court and amended by Congress from time to time, the Federal RULES OF EVIDENCE are considered legislative enactments that have the force of statute, and courts interpret them as they would any other statute, employing traditional tools of statutory construction in applying their provisions.

Federal Supplement®: A set of legal reference books containing decisions of federal courts in chronological order.

Federalism: Federalism is a principle of government that defines the relationship between the central government at the national level and its constituent units at the regional, state, or local levels. Under this principle of government, power and authority is allocated between the national and local governmental units, such that each unit is delegated a sphere of power and authority only it can exercise, while other powers must be shared.

Federalist papers: A collection of eighty-five essays by ALEXANDER HAMILTON (1755–1804), JAMES MADISON (1751–1836), and JOHN JAY (1745–1829) that explain the philosophy and defend the advantages of the U.S. Constitution.

Federation: A joining together of states or nations in a league or association; the league itself. An unincorporated association of persons for a common purpose.

Fee: A compensation paid for particular acts, services, or labor, generally those that are performed in the line of official duties or a particular profession. An interest in land; an estate of inheritance.

Fee simple: The greatest possible estate in land, wherein the owner has the right to use it, exclusively possess it, commit waste upon it, dispose of it by deed or will, and take its fruits. A fee simple represents absolute ownership of land, and therefore the owner may do whatever he or she chooses with the land. If an owner of a fee simple dies intestate, the land will descend to the heirs.

Fee tail: An estate in land subject to a restriction regarding inheritance.

Fellatio: A sexual act in which a male places his penis into the mouth of another person.

Fellow-servant rule: A common-law rule governing job-related injuries that prevents employees from recovering damages from employers if an injury was caused by the NEGLIGENCE of a coworker.

Felon: An individual who commits a crime of a serious nature, such as BURGLARY or murder. A person who commits a felony.

Felonious: Done with an intent to commit a serious crime or a felony; done with an evil heart or purpose; malicious; wicked; villainous.

Felony: A serious crime, characterized under federal law and many state statutes as any offense punishable by death or imprisonment in excess of one year.

Felony-murder rule: A RULE OF LAW that holds that if a killing occurs during the commission or attempted commission of a felony (a major crime), the person or persons responsible for the felony can be charged with murder.

Feminist jurisprudence: A philosophy of law based on the political, economic, and social equality of the sexes.

Fences: Enclosures composed of any substance that will present an adequate blockade around a field, yard, or other such expanse of land for the purpose of prohibiting intrusions from outside.

Feoffment: Total relinquishment and transfer of all rights of ownership in land from one individual to another.

Ferae naturae: [Latin, Of a wild nature or disposition.]

Feres doctrine: A doctrine that bars claims against the federal government by members of the armed forces and their families for injuries arising from or in the course of activity incident to military service.

Ferry: A specially constructed vessel to bring passengers and property across rivers and other bodies of water from one shoreline to another, making contact with a thoroughfare at each terminus. The landing place for a boat. A right or privilege to maintain a vessel upon a body of water in order to transport people and their vehicles across it in exchange for payment of a reasonable toll.

Fetal rights: The rights of any unborn human fetus, which is generally a developing human from roughly eight weeks after conception to birth.

Fetal tissue research: Scientific experimentation performed upon or using tissue taken from human fetuses.

Feudalism: A series of contractual relationships between the upper classes, designed to maintain control over land.

Fiat: [Latin, Let it be done.] In old English practice, a short order or warrant of a judge or magistrate directing some act to be done; an authority issuing from some competent source for the doing of some legal act.

One of the proceedings in the English BANKRUPTCY practice: a power, signed by the lord chancellor and addressed to the court of bankruptcy, authorizing the petitioning creditor to prosecute his complaint before that court. By the statute 12 & 13 Vict., c. 116, fiats were abolished.

Arbitrary or authoritative order or decision.

F.I.C.A.: An abbreviation for the Federal Insurance Contributions Act (26 U.S.C.A. § 3101 et seq. [1954]), which established the SOCIAL SECURITY tax on income received in the form of wages from employment.

Fiction: An assumption made by a court and embodied in various legal doctrines that a fact or concept is true when in actuality it is not true, or when it is likely to be equally false and true.

Fictitious: Based upon a fabrication or pretense.

Fidelity bond: An insurance device in the form of a personal guaranty that protects against loss resulting from disreputable or disloyal employees or other individuals who possess positions of confidence.

Fidelity insurance: An agreement whereby, for a designated sum of money, one party agrees to guarantee the loyalty and honesty of an agent, officer, or employee of an employer by promising to compensate the employer for losses incurred as a result of the disloyalty or dishonesty of such individuals.

Fiduciary: An individual in whom another has placed the utmost trust and confidence to manage and protect property or money. The relationship wherein one person has an obligation to act for another's benefit.

Field audit: A systematic investigation by the INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE of a taxpayer's financial records and his or her tax return that is conducted at the taxpayer's place of business or at the office of the individual who prepared the return.

Field code of New York: The first code of CIVIL PROCEDURE that established simplified rules for PLEADING an action before a court, which was proposed by DAVID DUDLEY FIELD in 1848 for the state of New York and enacted by the state legislature.

Fieri facias: [Latin, Cause (it) to be done.] The name of a writ of execution that directs a sheriff to seize and sell the goods and chattels of a JUDGMENT DEBTOR in order to satisfy the judgment against the debtor.

Fifo: An abbreviation for first-in, first-out, a method employed in accounting for the identification and valuation of the inventory of a business.

File: A record of the court. A paper is said to be filed when it is delivered to the proper officer to be kept on file as a matter of record and reference. But in general the terms file and the files are used loosely to denote the official custody of the court or the place in the offices of a court where the records and papers are kept. The file in a case includes the original complaint and all pleadings and papers belonging thereto.

Filiation proceeding: A process whereby a court determines the PATERNITY of an illegitimate child in order to establish the father's duty to provide support for the child.

Filibuster: A tactic used by a legislative representative to hinder and delay consideration of and action to be taken on a proposed bill through prolonged, irrelevant, and procrastinating speeches on the floor of the House, Senate, or other legislative body.

Filius nullius: [Latin, A son of nobody.] An illegitimate child who had few legal rights under the COMMON LAW.

Final decision: The resolution of a controversy by a court or series of courts from which no appeal may be taken and that precludes further action. The last act by a lower court that is required for the completion of a lawsuit, such as the handing down of a final judgment upon which an appeal to a higher court may be brought.

Finance charge: The amount owed to a lender by a purchaser-debtor to be allowed to pay for goods purchased over a series of installments, as opposed to one lump sum at the time of the sale or billing.

Financial responsibility acts: State statutes that require owners of motor vehicles to produce proof of financial accountability as a condition to acquiring a license and registration so that judgments rendered against them arising out of the operation of the vehicles may be satisfied.

Financial statement: Any report summarizing the financial condition or financial results of a person or an organization on any date or for any period. Financial statements include the balance sheet and the income statement and sometimes the statement of changes in financial position.

Finder: An intermediary who contracts to find, introduce, and bring together parties to a business opportunity, leaving ultimate negotiations and consummation of business transaction to the principals. With respect to a SECURITIES issue, refers to one who brings together an issuer and an underwriter; in connection with mergers, refers to one who brings two companies together. May also refer to one who secures mortgage financing for a borrower, locates a particular type of executive or professional for a corporation, or locates a particular type of business acquisition for a corporation.

Finding: The result of the deliberations of a jury or a court. A decision upon a QUESTION OF FACT reached as the result of a judicial examination or investigation by a court, jury, referee, CORONER, etc. A recital of the facts as found. The word commonly applies to the result reached by a judge or jury.

Finding lost goods: The discovery of PERSONAL PROPERTY that has been unintentionally removed from its owner's possession through his or her neglect or inadvertence.

Fines: Monetary charges imposed upon individuals who have been convicted of a crime or a lesser offense.

Fingerprints: Impressions or reproductions of the distinctive pattern of lines and grooves on the skin of human fingertips.

Fire: The primary result of combustion. The juridical meaning does not differ from the vernacular meaning.

Fire statute: In ADMIRALTY LAW, a federal law that exempts the owner of a vessel from liability to any person for loss of, or damage to, merchandise shipped, taken in, or put on board such vessel as a result of a fire, unless the fire was intentionally or negligently caused by the owner.

Firm offer: A definite and binding proposal, in writing, to enter into a contractual agreement.

First impression: The initial presentation to, or examination by, a court of a particular QUESTION OF LAW.

First instance: The initial trial court where an action is brought.

Fiscal: Relating to finance or financial matters, such as money, taxes, or public or private revenues.

Fishing expedition: Also known as a “fishing trip.” Using the courts to find out information beyond the fair scope of the lawsuit. The loose, vague, unfocused questioning of a witness or the overly broad use of the discovery process. Discovery sought on general, loose, and vague allegations, or on suspicion, surmise, or vague guesses. The scope of discovery may be restricted by protective orders as provided for by the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

Fixed asset: Property, such as machinery or buildings, utilized in a business that will not be used or liquidated during the current fiscal period.

Fixed charges: Costs that do not vary with changes in output and would continue even if a firm produced no output at all, such as most management expenses, interests on bonded debt, depreciation, property taxes, and other irreducible overhead.

Fixture: An article in the nature of PERSONAL PROPERTY which has been so annexed to the realty that it is regarded as a part of the real property. That which is fixed or attached to something permanently as an appendage and is not removable.

A thing is deemed to be affixed to real property when it is attached to it by roots, imbedded in it, permanently resting upon it, or permanently attached to what is thus permanent, as by means of cement, plaster, nails, bolts, or screws.

Goods are fixtures when they become so related to particular real estate that an interest in them arises under real estate law, e.g. a furnace affixed to a house or other building, counters permanently affixed to the floor of a store, or a sprinkler system installed in a building.

Fixtures possess the attributes of both real and personal property.

Flag: The official banner of a state or nation, often decorated with emblems or images that symbolize that state or nation.

Flagrante delicto: [Latin, In the act of perpetrating the crime.]

Floating capital: Funds retained for the purpose of paying current expenses as opposed to fixed assets.

Floating lien: A security interest retained in collateral even when the collateral changes in character, classification, or location. An inventory loan in which the lender receives a security interest or general claim on all of a company’s inventory. A security interest under which the borrower pledges security for present and future advances.

Flotsam: A name for the goods that float upon the sea when cast overboard for the safety of the ship or when a ship is sunk. Distinguished from jetsam (goods deliberately thrown over to lighten ship) and ligan (goods cast into the sea attached to a buoy).

F.O.B.: An abbreviation for free on board, which means that a vendor or consignor will deliver goods on a railroad car, truck, vessel, or other conveyance without any expense to the purchaser or consignee.

Follow: To conform to, comply with, or be fixed or determined by; as in the expression “costs follow the event of the suit.” To go, proceed, or come after. To seek to obtain; to accept as authority, as in adhering to precedent.

Forbearance: Refraining from doing something that one has a legal right to do. Giving of further time for repayment of an obligation or agreement; not to enforce claim at its due date. A delay in enforcing a legal right. Act by which creditor waits for payment of debt due by a debtor after it becomes due.

Within USURY law, the contractual obligation of a lender or creditor to refrain, during a given period of time, from requiring the borrower or debtor to repay the loan or debt then due and payable.

Force: Power, violence, compulsion, or constraint exerted upon or against a person or thing. Power dynamically considered, that is, in motion or in action; constraining power, compulsion; strength directed to an end. Commonly the word occurs in such connections as to show that unlawful or wrongful action is meant, e.g., forcible entry.

Power statically considered, that is, at rest, or latent, but capable of being called into activity upon occasion for its exercise. Efficacy; legal validity. This is the meaning when we say that a statute or a contract is in force.

Force majeure: [French, A superior or irresistible power.] An event that is a result of the elements of nature, as opposed to one caused by human behavior.

Forced sale: An involuntary transaction that occurs in the form and at the time specified by law for the purpose of applying the proceeds to satisfy debts, such as a mortgage or a tax lien, incurred by the owner of the property.

Forcible detainer: A summary and expeditious statutory remedy used by a party entitled to actual possession of premises to secure its possession, where the occupant initially in lawful possession of it refuses to relinquish it when his or her right to possession ends.

Forcible entry and detainer: A summary proceeding to recover possession of land that is instituted by one who has been wrongfully ousted from, or deprived of, possession.

Foreclosure: A procedure by which the holder of a mortgage—an interest in land providing security for the performance of a duty or the payment of a debt—sells the property upon the failure of the debtor to pay the mortgage debt and, thereby, terminates his or her rights in the property.

Foreign: That which belongs to, or operates in accordance with, another nation, territory, state, or jurisdiction, as in the case of nonresident trustees, corporations, or persons.

Foreign affairs power: Under INTERNATIONAL LAW a state has the right to enter into relations with other states. This power to conduct foreign affairs is one of the rights a state gains by attaining independence. The division of authority within a government to exercise its foreign affairs power varies from state to state. In the United States that power is vested primarily in the president, although the Congress retains important express and implied powers over international affairs.

Forensic: Belonging to courts of justice.

Forensic science: The application of scientific knowledge and methodology to legal problems and criminal investigations.

Foreseeability: The facility to perceive, know in advance, or reasonably anticipate that damage or injury will probably ensue from acts or omissions.

Forfeit: To lose to another person or to the state some privilege, right, or property due to the commission of an error, an offense, or a crime, a breach of contract, or a neglect of duty; to subject property to confiscation; or to become liable for the payment of a penalty, as the result of a particular act. To lose a franchise, estate, or other property, as provided by the applicable law, due to NEGLIGENCE, misfeasance, or omission.

Forfeiture: The involuntary relinquishment of money or property without compensation as a consequence of a breach or nonperformance of some legal obligation or the commission of a crime. The loss of a corporate charter or franchise as a result of illegality, malfeasance, or NONFEASANCE. The surrender by an owner of his or her entire interest in real property, mandated by law as a punishment for illegal conduct or NEGLIGENCE. Under old ENGLISH LAW, the release of land by a tenant to the tenant's lord due to some breach of conduct, or the loss of goods or chattels (articles of PERSONAL PROPERTY) assessed as a penalty against the perpetrator of some crime or offense and as a recompense to the injured party.

Forgery: The creation of a false written document or alteration of a genuine one, with the intent to defraud.

Form: A prototype of an instrument to be employed in a legal transaction or a judicial proceeding that includes the primary essential matters, the appropriate technical phrases or terms, and any additional material required to render it officially accurate, arranged in suitable and systematic order, and conducive to ADAPTATION to the circumstances of the particular case.

Formal party: A person who has no interest in the dispute between the immediate litigants but has an interest in the subject matter that can be expeditiously settled in the current proceedings and thereby prevent additional litigation.

Formed design: In CRIMINAL LAW, and especially in regard to HOMICIDE, the killing of one human being by the instigation, act, or omission of another, who has a deliberate and fixed intention to kill, whether or not directed against a certain person.

Forms of action: The old common-law patterns for different kinds of lawsuits.

Fornication: Sexual intercourse between a man and a woman who are not married to each other.

Forswear: In CRIMINAL LAW, to make oath to that which the deponent knows to be untrue. This term is wider in its scope than perjury, for the latter, as a technical term, includes the idea of the oath being taken before a competent court or officer and relating to a material issue, which is not implied by the word forswear.

Forthwith: Immediately; promptly; without delay; directly; within a reasonable time under the circumstances of the case.

Forum: A court of justice where disputes are heard and decided; a judicial tribunal that hears and decides disputes; a place of jurisdiction where remedies afforded by the law are pursued.

Forwarding fee: A payment of money made by one attorney who receives a client to another attorney who referred the client.

Foundation: A permanent fund established and maintained by contributions for charitable, educational, religious, research, or other benevolent purposes. An institution or association given to rendering financial aid to colleges, schools, hospitals, and charities and generally supported by gifts for such purposes.

The founding or building of a college or hospital. The incorporation or endowment of a college or hospital is the foundation, and those who endow it with land or other property are the founders.

Preliminary questions to a witness to establish admissibility of evidence. Laying a foundation is a prerequisite to the admission of evidence at trial. It is established by testimony that identifies the evidence sought to be admitted and connects it with the issue in question.

Four corners: The document itself; the face of a written instrument.

Franchise: A special privilege to do certain things that is conferred by government on an individual or a corporation and which does not belong to citizens generally of common right, e.g., a right granted to offer CABLE TELEVISION service.

A privilege granted or sold, such as to use a name or to sell products or services. In its simplest terms, a franchise is a license from the owner of a TRADEMARK OR TRADE NAME permitting another to sell a product or service under that name or mark. More broadly stated, a franchise has evolved into an elaborate agreement under which the franchisee undertakes to conduct a business or sell a product or service in accordance with methods and procedures prescribed by the franchisor, and the franchisor undertakes to assist the franchisee through advertising, promotion, and other advisory services.

The right of suffrage; the right or privilege of voting in public elections. Such right is guaranteed by the Fifteenth, Nineteenth, and Twenty-fourth Amendments to the U.S. Constitution.

As granted by a professional sports association, franchise is a privilege to field a team in a given geographic area under the auspices of the league that issues it. It is merely an incorporeal right.

Fraud: A false representation of a matter of fact—whether by words or by conduct, by false or misleading allegations, or by concealment of what should have been disclosed—that deceives and is intended to deceive another so that the individual will act upon it to her or his legal injury.

Fraudulent: The description of a willful act commenced with the SPECIFIC INTENT to deceive or cheat, in order to cause some financial detriment to another and to engender personal financial gain.

Fraudulent conveyance: A transfer of property that is made to swindle, hinder, or delay a creditor, or to put such property beyond his or her reach.

Free agency: A legal status that allows a professional athlete to negotiate an employment contract with the team of his or her choosing instead of being confined to one team. Athletes may become free agents after they have served a specific amount of time under contract with a team.

Freedom of association and assembly: The right to associate with others for the purpose of engaging in constitutionally protected activities.

Freedom of speech: The right, guaranteed by the FIRST AMENDMENT to the U.S. Constitution, to express beliefs and ideas without unwarranted government restriction.

Freedom of the press: The right, guaranteed by the FIRST AMENDMENT to the U.S. Constitution, to gather, publish, and distribute information and ideas without government restriction; this right encompasses freedom from PRIOR RESTRAINTS on publication and freedom from CENSORSHIP.

Freehold: A life estate, an interest in land the duration of which is restricted to the life or lives of a particular person or persons holding it, or an estate in fee, an interest in property that is unconditional and represents the broadest ownership interest recognized by law.

Freight: The price or compensation paid for the transportation of goods by a carrier. Freight is also applied to the goods transported by such carriers.

Freight forwarder: An individual who, as a regular business, assembles and combines small shipments into one lot and takes the responsibility for the transportation of such property from the place of receipt to the place of destination.

Friend of the court: A person who has a strong interest in a matter that is the subject of a lawsuit in which he or she is not a party.

Friendly fire: Fire burning in a place where it was intended to burn, although damages may result. In a military conflict, the discharge of weapons against one's own troops.

Friendly suit: A lawsuit brought by an executor or administrator of the estate of a deceased person in the name of a creditor as if that creditor had initiated the action. The executor or administrator brings the suit against himself or herself in order to compel the creditors to take an equal distribution of the assets of the estate. An action brought by parties who agree to submit some doubtful question to the court in order to obtain an opinion on that issue.

Frisk: A term used in CRIMINAL LAW to refer to the superficial running of the hands over the body of an individual by a law enforcement agent or official in order to determine whether such individual is holding an illegal object, such as a weapon or narcotics. A frisk is distinguishable from a search, which is a more extensive examination of an individual.

Frivolous: Of minimal importance; legally worthless.

Frolic: Activities performed by an employee during working hours that are not considered to be in the course of his or her employment, since they are for the employee's personal purposes only.

Fruit of the poisonous tree: The principle that prohibits the use of secondary evidence in trial that was culled directly from primary evidence derived from an illegal SEARCH AND SEIZURE.

Frustration: In the law of contracts, the destruction of the value of the performance that has been bargained for by the promisor as a result of a supervening event.

Fugitive from justice: An individual who, after having committed a criminal offense, leaves the jurisdiction of the court where such crime has taken place or hides within such jurisdiction to escape prosecution.

Fund: A comprehensive term for any money that is set aside for a particular purpose or that is accessible for the satisfaction of debts or claims.

Fundamental law: The constitution of a state or nation; the basic law and principles contained in federal and state constitutions that direct and regulate the manner in which government is exercised.

Fungible: A description applied to items of which each unit is identical to every other unit, such as in the case of grain, oil, or flour.

Future acquired property: Property that is received or obtained by a borrower subsequent to the date that he or she executes a loan agreement which offers property currently owned as collateral.

Future earnings: Earnings that, if it had not been for an injury, could have been made in the future, but which were lost as result of the injury.

Future interest: A claim on property, real or personal, that will begin at some point in the future. A future interest allows the grantor to retain the right to use that property until the specified transfer date. Future interest agreements are often used by donors for tax purposes. For example, a person may grant a future interest in his or her home to a charity, with the stipulation that he will retain use of the home for the remainder of his life, also called a "life estate". Although the charity will not receive the property until the donor's death, the donor can claim a tax deduction the same year the future interest is granted. Also called future estate.

Futures: Contracts that promise to purchase or sell standard commodities at a forthcoming date and at a fixed price.

Gag order: A court order to gag or bind an unruly defendant or remove her or him from the courtroom in order to prevent further interruptions in a trial. In a trial with a great deal of notoriety, a court order directed to attorneys and witnesses not to discuss the case with the media—such order being felt necessary to assure the defendant of a fair trial. A court order, directed to the media, not to report certain aspects of a crime or criminal investigation prior to trial.

Gag rule: A rule, regulation, or law that prohibits debate or discussion of a particular issue.

Game: Wild birds and beasts. The word includes all game birds and game animals.

Gaming: The act or practice of gambling; an agreement between two or more individuals to play collectively at a game of chance for a stake or wager, which will become the property of the winner and to which all involved make a contribution.

Garnishee: An individual who holds money or property that belongs to a debtor subject to an attachment proceeding by a creditor.

Garnishment: A legal procedure by which a creditor can collect what a debtor owes by reaching the debtor's property when it is in the hands of someone other than the debtor.

Gay and lesbian rights: The goal of full legal and social equality for gay men and lesbians sought by the gay movement in the United States and other Western countries.

General appearance: The act by which a defendant completely consents to the jurisdiction of the court by appearing before it either in person or through an authorized representative thereby waiving any jurisdictional defects that might be raised except for that of the competency of the court.

General creditor: An individual to whom money is due from a debtor, but whose debt is not secured by property of the debtor. One to whom property has not been pledged to satisfy a debt in the event of nonpayment by the individual owing the money.

General execution: A court order commanding a public official, such as a sheriff, to take the PERSONAL PROPERTY of a defendant to satisfy the amount of a judgment awarded against such defendant.

General intent: In CRIMINAL LAW and TORT LAW, a mental plan to do that which is forbidden by the law.

General jurisdiction: The legal authority of a court to entertain whatever type of case comes up within the geographical area over which its power extends.

General legacy: A monetary gift, payable out of the collective assets of the estate of a testator—one who makes a will—and not from a designated source.

General term: A sitting of the court en banc, with the participation of the entire membership of the court rather than the regular quorum. A phrase used in some jurisdictions to signify the ordinary session of a court during which the trial determination of actions occur.

General verdict: A decision by a jury that determines which side in a particular controversy wins, and in some cases, the amount of money in damages to be awarded.

General welfare: The concern of the government for the health, peace, morality, and safety of its citizens.

Generally accepted accounting principles: The standard accounting rules, regulations, and procedures used by companies in maintaining their financial records.

Genetic engineering: The human manipulation of the genetic material of a cell.

Genetic screening: The scientific procedure of examining genetic makeup to determine if an individual possesses genetic traits that indicate a tendency toward acquiring or carrying certain diseases or conditions. In 2001, scientists first published the complete human genome map (a human's genetic blueprint), greatly advancing the capability and use of genetic screening, manipulation, and replication.

Genocide: The crime of destroying or conspiring to destroy a national, ethnic, racial, or religious group.

Gerrymander: The process of dividing a particular state or territory into election districts in such a manner as to accomplish an unlawful purpose, such as to give one party a greater advantage.

Gift: A voluntary transfer of property or of a property interest from one individual to another, made gratuitously to the recipient. The individual who makes the gift is known as the donor, and the individual to whom the gift is made is called the donee.

Gleaning: Harvesting for free distribution to the needy, or for donation to a nonprofit organization for ultimate distribution to the needy, an agricultural crop that has been donated by the owner.

Gloss: An annotation, explanation, or commentary on a particular passage in a book or document, which is ordinarily placed on the same page or in the margin to elucidate or amplify the passage.

Going concern value: The value inherent in an active, established company as opposed to a firm that is not yet established.

The value of the assets of a business considered as an operating whole.

Going public: Altering the organization of a corporation from ownership and control by a small group of people, as in a close corporation, to ownership by the general public, as in a publicly held corporation.

Golden parachute: An agreement that provides key executives with generous severance pay and other benefits in the event that their employment is terminated as a result of a change of ownership at their employer corporation; known more formally as a change-of-control agreement.

Good behavior: Orderly and lawful action; conduct that is deemed proper for a peaceful and law-abiding individual.

Good cause: Legally adequate or substantial grounds or reason to take a certain action.

Good faith: Honesty; a sincere intention to deal fairly with others.

Good samaritan doctrine: A principle of TORT LAW that provides that a person who sees another individual in imminent and serious danger or peril cannot be charged with NEGLIGENCE if that first person attempts to aid or rescue the injured party, provided the attempt is not made recklessly.

Good time: The amount of time deducted from time to be served in prison on a given sentence, at some point after the prisoner's admission to prison, contingent upon good behavior or awarded automatically by the application of a statute or regulation. Good time can be forfeited for misbehavior. In some jurisdictions, prisoners may not earn good time during their first year of their sentence.

Good will: The favorable reputation and clientele of an established and well-run business.

Goods: Items; chattels; things; any PERSONAL PROPERTY.

Government instrumentality doctrine: A rule that provides that any organization run by a branch of the government is immune from taxation.

Grab law: State statutory provisions and common-law principles that govern the aggressive use of legal and equitable remedies, such as attachment and GARNISHMENT, by creditors to collect payment from debtors.

Grace period: In insurance law, a period beyond the due date of a premium (usually thirty or thirty-one days) during which the insurance is continued in force and during which the payment may be made to keep the policy in good standing. The grace period for payment of the premium does not provide free insurance or operate to continue the policy in force after it expires by agreement of the parties. Grace period may also refer to a period of time provided for in a loan agreement during which default will not occur even though a payment is overdue.

Graduated tax: Tax structured so that the rate increases as the amount of income of taxpayer increases.

Graft: A colloquial term referring to the unlawful acquisition of public money through questionable and improper transactions with public officials.

Grand jury: A panel of citizens that is convened by a court to decide whether it is appropriate for the government to indict (proceed with a prosecution against) someone suspected of a crime.

Grand larceny: A category of larceny—the offense of illegally taking the property of another—in which the value of the property taken is greater than that set for petit larceny.

Grandfather clause: A portion of a statute that provides that the law is not applicable in certain circumstances due to preexisting facts.

Grant: To confer, give, or bestow. A gift of legal rights or privileges, or a recognition of asserted rights, as in treaty.

- Grantee: An individual to whom a transfer or conveyance of property is made.
- Granting clause: The portion of an instrument of conveyance, such as a deed, containing the words that transfer a present interest from the grantor to the grantee.
- Grantor: An individual who conveys or transfers ownership of property.
- Grantor-grantee index: A master reference book, ordinarily kept in the office of official records of a particular county, which lists all recorded deeds as evidence of ownership of real property.
- Gratuitous: Bestowed or granted without consideration or exchange for something of value.
- Gratuitous licensee: An individual who is permitted, although not invited, to enter another individual's property and who provides no consideration in exchange for such permission.
- Gratuity: Money, also known as a tip, given to one who provides services and added to the cost of the service provided, generally as a reward for the service provided and as a supplement to the service provider's income.
- Gravamen: The basis or essence of a grievance; the issue upon which a particular controversy turns.
- Green card: The popular name for the Alien Registration Receipt Card issued to all immigrants entering the United States on a non-temporary visa who have registered with and been fingerprinted by the Immigration and Naturalization Service. The name green card comes from the distinctive coloration of the card.
- Greenmail: A corporation's attempt to stop a takeover bid by paying a price above market value for stock held by the aggressor.
- Grievance procedure: A term used in LABOR LAW to describe an orderly, established way of dealing with problems between employers and employees.
- Gross: Great; culpable; general; absolute. A thing in gross exists in its own right, and not as an appendage to another thing. Before or without diminution or deduction. Whole; entire; total; as in the gross sum, amount, weight—as opposed to net. Not adjusted or reduced by deductions or subtractions.
Out of all measure; beyond allowance; flagrant; shameful; as a gross dereliction of duty, a gross injustice, gross carelessness or NEGLIGENCE. Such conduct as is not to be excused.
- Gross estate: All the real and PERSONAL PROPERTY owned by a decedent at the time of his or her death.
- Gross income: The financial gains received by an individual or a business during a fiscal year.
- Gross negligence: An indifference to, and a blatant violation of, a legal duty with respect to the rights of others.
- Ground rent: Perpetual consideration paid for the use and occupation of real property to the individual who has transferred such property, and subsequently to his or her descendants or someone to whom the interest is conveyed.
- Grounds: The basis or foundation; reasons sufficient in law to justify relief.
- Group legal services: Legal services provided under a plan to members, who may be employees of the same company, members of the same organization, or individual consumers.
- Guarantee: One to whom a guaranty is made. This word is also used, as a noun, to denote the contract of guaranty or the obligation of a guarantor, and, as a verb, to denote the action of assuming the responsibilities of a guarantor.
- Guaranty: As a verb, to agree to be responsible for the payment of another's debt or the performance of another's duty, liability, or obligation if that person does not perform as he or she is legally obligated to do; to assume the responsibility of a guarantor; to warrant.

As a noun, an undertaking or promise that is collateral to the primary or principal obligation and that binds the guarantor to performance in the event of nonperformance by the principal obligor.

Guaranty clause: A provision contained in a written document, such as a contract, deed, or mortgage, whereby one individual undertakes to pay the obligation of another individual.

The stipulation contained in Article IV, Section 4, of the U.S. Constitution, in which the federal government promises a republican form of government to every state and the defense and protection of the federal government if DOMESTIC VIOLENCE occurs.

Guardian: A person lawfully invested with the power, and charged with the obligation, of taking care of and managing the property and rights of a person who, because of age, understanding, or self-control, is considered incapable of administering his or her own affairs.

Guardian ad litem: A guardian appointed by the court to represent the interests of INFANTS, the unborn, or incompetent persons in legal actions.

Guardian and ward: The legal relationship that exists between a person (the guardian) appointed by a court to take care of and manage the property of a person (the ward) who does not possess the legal capacity to do so, by reason of age, comprehension, or self-control.

Guilty: Blameworthy; culpable; having committed a TORT or crime; devoid of innocence.

Gun control: Government regulation of the manufacture, sale, and possession of firearms.

Habeas corpus: [Latin, You have the body.] A writ (court order) that commands an individual or a government official who has restrained another to produce the prisoner at a designated time and place so that the court can determine the legality of custody and decide whether to order the prisoner's release.

Habendum clause: The portion of a deed to real property that begins with the phrase To have and to hold and that provides a description of the ownership rights of the transferee of such property.

Habitability: Fitness for occupancy. The requirement that rented premises, such as a house or apartment, be reasonably fit to occupy.

Habitual: Regular or customary; usual.

Harbor: As a noun, a haven, or a space of deep water so sheltered by the adjacent land and surroundings as to afford a safe anchorage for ships.

As a verb, to afford lodging to, to shelter, or to give a refuge to. To clandestinely shelter, succor, and protect improperly admitted ALIENS. It may be aptly used to describe the furnishing of shelter, lodging, or food clandestinely or with concealment, and under certain circumstances may be equally applicable to those acts divested of any accompanying secrecy. Harboring a criminal is a crime under both federal and state statutes and a person who harbors a criminal is an ACCESSORY after the fact.

Hate crime: A crime motivated by racial, religious, gender, sexual orientation, or other prejudice.

Have and hold: The opening words, or habendum clause, found in a deed to real property, which describes the ownership rights of the individual to whom such property is being conveyed.

Hawkers and peddlers: A hawker is an individual who sells wares by carrying them through the streets. The person's ordinary methods of attracting attention include addressing the public, using placards, labels, and signs, or displaying merchandise in a public place. A peddler is defined as a retail dealer who brings goods from place to place, exhibiting them for sale. The terms are frequently defined in state statutes or city ordinances and are often used interchangeably.

H.B.: An abbreviation for a house bill, a proposed law brought before the House of Representatives, as opposed to the Senate.

Head of household: An individual in one family setting who provides actual support and maintenance to one or more individuals who are related to him or her through ADOPTION, blood, or marriage.

Headnote: A brief summary of a legal rule or a significant fact in a case that, among other headnotes that apply to the case, precedes the full text opinion printed in the reports or reporters. A syllabus to a reported case that summarizes the points decided in the case and is placed before the text of the opinion.

Hearing: A legal proceeding where an issue of law or fact is tried and evidence is presented to help determine the issue.

Hearing examiner: An employee of an ADMINISTRATIVE AGENCY who is charged with conducting adjudicative proceedings on matters within the scope of the jurisdiction of the agency.

Hearsay: A statement made out of court that is offered in court as evidence to prove the truth of the matter asserted.

Heart balm acts: Statutes that abrogate or restrict lawsuits brought by individuals who seek pecuniary damages to salve their broken hearts.

Heat of passion: A phrase used in CRIMINAL LAW to describe an intensely emotional state of mind induced by a type of provocation that would cause a reasonable person to act on impulse or without reflection.

Heir: An individual who receives an interest in, or ownership of, land, tenements, or hereditaments from an ancestor who has died intestate, through the laws of DESCENT AND DISTRIBUTION. At COMMON LAW, an heir was the individual appointed by law to succeed to the estate of an ancestor who died without a will. It is commonly used today in reference to any individual who succeeds to property, either by will or law.

Held: In relation to the opinion of a court, decided.

Henceforth: From this time forward.

Hereafter: In the future.

Hereditament: Anything that can be passed by an individual to heirs.

Hierarchy: A group of people who form an ascending chain of power or authority.

High crimes and misdemeanors: The offenses for which presidents, vice presidents, and all civil officers, including federal judges, can be removed from office through a process called IMPEACHMENT.

Highway: A main road or thoroughfare, such as a street, boulevard, or parkway, available to the public for use for travel or transportation.

Hijacking: The seizure of a commercial vehicle—airplane, ship, or truck—by force or threat of force.

Hold harmless agreement: An agreement or contract in which one party agrees to hold the other free from the responsibility for any liability or damage that might arise out of the transaction involved.

Hold over: To continue in possession of an office and exercise the functions associated therewith following the expiration of the term thereof. To retain possession as a tenant of real property following the termination of the lease or tenancy at will.

Holder: An individual who has lawfully received possession of a COMMERCIAL PAPER, such as a check, and who is entitled to payment on such instrument.

Holder in due course: An individual who takes a COMMERCIAL PAPER for value, in GOOD FAITH, with the belief that it is valid, with no knowledge of any defects.

Holding: A comprehensive term applied to the property, whether real, personal, or both, owned by an individual or a business. The legal principle derived from a judicial decision. That part of the written opinion of a court in which the law is specifically applied to the facts of the instant controversy. It is relied upon when courts use the case as an established precedent in a subsequent case.

Holding company: A corporation that limits its business to the ownership of stock in and the supervision of management of other corporations.

Holiday: A day of recreation; a consecrated day; a day set apart for the suspension of business.

Holograph: A will or deed written entirely by the testator or grantor with his or her own hand and not witnessed.

Home rule: The right to local self-government including the powers to regulate for the protection of the public health, safety, morals, and welfare; to license; to tax; and to incur debt.

Homeless person: An individual who lacks housing, including one whose primary residence during the night is a supervised public or private facility that provides temporary living accommodations; an individual who is a resident in transitional housing; or an individual who has as a primary residence a public or private place not designed for, or ordinarily used as, a regular sleeping accommodation for human beings.

Homeowner's warranty: An insurance protection program offered by a number of builders of residential dwellings in the United States.

Homestead: The dwelling house and its adjoining land where a family resides. Technically, and pursuant to the modern homestead exemption laws, an artificial estate in land, created to protect the possession and enjoyment of the owner against the claims of creditors by preventing the sale of the property for payment of the owner's debts so long as the land is occupied as a home.

Homicide: The killing of one human being by another human being.

Honor: As a verb, to accept a bill of exchange, or to pay a note, check, or accepted bill, at maturity. To pay or to accept and pay, or, where a credit so engages, to purchase or discount a draft complying with the terms of the draft.

As a noun, in old ENGLISH LAW, a seigniorship of several manors held under one baron or lord paramount. Also those dignities or privileges, degrees of nobility, knighthood, and other titles that flow from the crown.

In the United States, the customary title of courtesy given to judges, and occasionally to some other officers, as, "his honor," "your honor," "honorable."

Honorary trust: An arrangement whereby property is placed in the hands of another to be used for specific noncharitable purposes where there is no definite ascertainable beneficiary—one who profits by the act of another—and that is unenforceable in the absence of statute.

Hornbook: A primer; a book explaining the basics, fundamentals, or rudiments of any science or branch of knowledge. The phrase hornbook law is a colloquial designation of the rudiments or general principles of law.

A colloquial reference to a series of textbooks that review various fields of law in summary, narrative form, as opposed to casebooks, which are designed as primary teaching tools and include many reprints of court opinions.

Hostages: Persons taken by an individual or organized group in order to force a state, government unit, or community to meet certain conditions: payment of ransom, release of prisoners, or some other act.

Hostile fire: In insurance law, a combustion that cannot be controlled, that escapes from where it was initially set and confined, or one that was not intended to exist.

Hostile witness: A witness at a trial who is so adverse to the party that called him or her that he or she can be cross-examined as though called to testify by the opposing party.

Hot pursuit: A doctrine that provides that the police may enter the premises where they suspect a crime has been committed without a warrant when delay would endanger their lives or the lives of others and lead to the escape of the alleged perpetrator; also sometimes called fresh pursuit.

Hotchpot: The process of combining and assimilating property belonging to different individuals so that the property can be equally divided; the taking into consideration of funds or property that have already been given to children when dividing up the property of a decedent so that the respective shares of the children can be equalized.

House arrest: Confinement to one's home or another specified location instead of incarceration in a jail or prison.

House of representatives: The lower chamber, or larger branch, of the U.S. Congress, or a similar body in the legislature of many of the states.

Housebreaking: The act of using physical force to gain access to, and entering, a house with an intent to commit a felony inside.

Household: Individuals who comprise a family unit and who live together under the same roof; individuals who dwell in the same place and comprise a family, sometimes encompassing domestic help; all those who are under the control of one domestic head.

Human rights: Basic rights that fundamentally and inherently belong to each individual.

Hundred: A political subdivision in old England.

Hung jury: A trial jury duly selected to make a decision in a criminal case regarding a defendant's guilt or innocence, but who are unable to reach a verdict due to a complete division in opinion.

Huntley hearing: In New York state, a separate proceeding in a criminal action conducted solely for the purpose of determining the admissibility of the extrajudicial statements made by the defendant.

Husband and wife: A man and woman who are legally married to one another and are thereby given by law specific rights and duties resulting from that relationship.

Hypothecate: To pledge property as security or collateral for a debt. Generally, there is no physical transfer of the pledged property to the lender, nor is the lender given title to the property, though he or she has the right to sell the pledged property in the case of default.

Hypothesis: An assumption or theory.

Hypothetical question: A mixture of assumed or established facts and circumstances, developed in the form of a coherent and specific situation, which is presented to an expert witness at a trial to elicit his or her opinion.

Ibid.: An abbreviation of the Latin ibidem, meaning “in the same place; in the same book; on the same page.”

Idem: [Latin, The same.] Used to indicate a reference that has previously been made and typically abbreviated “id.” in legal and scholarly bibliographic citations.

I.E.: An abbreviation for the Latin id est, “that is to say, meaning.”

Illegitimacy: The condition before the law, or the social status, of a child whose parents were not married to each other at the time of his or her birth.

Illicit: Not permitted or allowed; prohibited; unlawful; as an illicit trade; illicit intercourse.

Illusory promise: A statement that appears to assure a performance and form a contract but, when scrutinized, leaves to the speaker the choice of performance or nonperformance, which means that the speaker does not legally bind himself or herself to act.

Immaterial: Not essential or necessary; not important or pertinent; not decisive; of no substantial consequence; without weight; of no material significance.

Immediate cause: The final act in a series of provocations leading to a particular result or event, directly producing such result without the intervention of any further provocation.

Immigration: The entrance into a country of foreigners for purposes of permanent residence. The correlative term emigration denotes the act of such persons in leaving their former country.

Imminent: Impending; menacingly close at hand; threatening.

Immunity: Exemption from performing duties that the law generally requires other citizens to perform, or from a penalty or burden that the law generally places upon other citizens.

Impanel: The act of the clerk of the court in making up a list of the jurors who have been selected for the trial of a particular cause. All the steps of ascertaining who shall be the proper jurors to sit in the trial of a particular case up to the final formation.

Impartial: Favoring neither; disinterested; treating all alike; unbiased; equitable, fair, and just.

Impeach: To accuse; to charge a liability upon; to sue. To dispute, disparage, deny, or contradict; as in to impeach a judgment or decree, or impeach a witness; or as used in the rule that a jury cannot impeach its verdict. To proceed against a public officer for crime or misfeasance, before a proper court, by the presentation of a written accusation called ARTICLES OF IMPEACHMENT.

Impeachment: A process that is used to charge, try, and remove public officials for misconduct while in office.

Impediment: A disability or obstruction that prevents an individual from entering into a contract.

Impersonation: The crime of pretending to be another individual in order to deceive others and gain some advantage.

Impertinence: Irrelevancy; the flaw of bearing no reasonable relationship to the issues or proceeding at hand.

Impleader: A procedural device used in a civil action whereby a defendant brings into the lawsuit a third party who is not already a party to the action but may ultimately be liable for the plaintiff's claim against the defendant.

Implied: Inferred from circumstances; known indirectly.

Implied consent: Consent that is inferred from signs, actions, or facts, or by inaction or silence.

Implied warranty: A promise, arising by operation of law, that something that is sold will be merchantable and fit for the purpose for which it is sold.

Impossibility: A legal excuse or defense to an action for the breach of a contract; less frequently, a defense to a criminal charge of an attempted crime, such as attempted ROBBERY or murder.

Impostor rule: Under UNIFORM COMMERCIAL CODE, Article 3, Sect. 404(a), a rule stating that if an impostor endorses a negotiable instrument and receives payment in GOOD FAITH, the drawer of the instrument is responsible for the loss. An example would be if an individual impersonates a person for whom a check has been cut or misrepresents himself as that person's agent. If the impostor receives the check, endorses it, and cashes it at the drawer's bank, the drawer is responsible for the loss, because the bank accepted the endorsement in good faith. The bank may be responsible for a percentage of the loss if it failed to exercise "ordinary care"; for example, if the bank did not check the impostor's identification. The impostor rule is based on the assumption that between the bank and the drawer, the drawer is in a better position to prevent the loss. Also spelled imposter rule.

Imposts: Taxes or duties; taxes levied by the government on imported goods.

Impoundment: An action taken by the president in which he or she proposes not to spend all or part of a sum of money appropriated by Congress.

Impracticability: Substantial difficulty or inconvenience in following a particular course of action, but not such insurmountability or hopelessness as to make performance impossible.

Imprimatur: [Latin, Let it be printed.] A license or allowance, granted by the constituted authorities, giving permission to print and publish a book. This allowance was formerly necessary in England before any book could lawfully be printed, and in some other countries is still required.

Imprisonment: Incarceration; the act of restraining the personal liberty of an individual; confinement in a prison.

Improvements: Additions or alterations to real property that increase the value thereof.

Imputed: Attributed vicariously.

Imputed knowledge: The comprehension attributed or charged to a person because the facts in issue were open to discovery and it was that person's duty to apprise himself or herself of them; more accurately described as knowledge.

Imputed notice: Information regarding particular facts or circumstances that the law permits to affect the legal rights of a person who has no firsthand knowledge of them but who should have learned of them because his or her agent or representative had direct knowledge of that information and a duty to report it to him or her.

In blank: Absent limitation or restriction.

In camera: In chambers; in private. A judicial proceeding is said to be heard in camera either when the hearing is had before the judge in his or her private chambers or when all spectators are excluded from the courtroom.

In common: Shared in respect to title, use, or enjoyment; without apportionment or division into individual parts. Held by several for the equal advantage, use, or enjoyment of all.

In evidence: Facts, documents, or exhibits that have been introduced before and accepted by the court for consideration as PROBATIVE matter.

In extremis: [Latin, In extremity.] A term used in reference to the last illness prior to death.

In forma pauperis: [Latin, In the character or manner of a pauper.] A phrase that indicates the permission given by a court to an indigent to initiate a legal action without having to pay for court fees or costs due to his or her lack of financial resources.

In kind: Of the same class, category, or species.

In lieu of: Instead of; in place of; in substitution of. It does not mean in addition to.

In loco parentis: [Latin, in the place of a parent.] The legal doctrine under which an individual assumes parental rights, duties, and obligations without going through the formalities of legal ADOPTION.

In medias res: [Latin, Into the heart of the subject, without preface or introduction.]

In pari delicto: [Latin, In equal fault.] A descriptive phrase that indicates that parties involved in an action are equally culpable for a wrong.

In pari materia: [Latin, Upon the same subject.] A designation applied to statutes or general laws that were enacted at different times but pertain to the same subject or object.

In perpetuity: Of endless duration; not subject to termination.

In personam: [Latin, Against the person.] A lawsuit seeking a judgment to be enforceable specifically against an individual person.

In re: [Latin, In the matter of.] Concerning or regarding. The usual style for the name of a judicial proceeding having some item of property at the center of the dispute rather than adverse parties.

In rem: [Latin, In the thing itself.] A lawsuit against an item of property, not against a person (in personam).

In specie: Specific; specifically. Thus, to decree performance in specie is to decree SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE. In kind; in the same or like form. A thing is said to exist in specie when it retains its existence as a distinct individual of a particular class.

In terrorem: [Latin, In fright or terror; by way of a threat.] A description of a legacy or gift given by will with the condition that the donee must not challenge the validity of the will or other testament.

Inadmissible: That which, according to established legal principles, cannot be received into evidence at a trial for consideration by the jury or judge in reaching a determination of the action.

Inadvertence: The absence of attention or care; the failure of an individual to carefully and prudently observe the progress of a court proceeding that might have an effect upon his or her rights.

Inalienable: Not subject to sale or transfer; inseparable.

Inc.: An abbreviation for incorporated; having been formed as a legal or political entity with the advantages of perpetual existence and succession.

Incapacity: The absence of legal ability, competence, or qualifications.

Incarceration: Confinement in a jail or prison; imprisonment.

Incest: The crime of sexual relations or marriage taking place between a male and female who are so closely linked by blood or affinity that such activity is prohibited by law.

Inchoate: Imperfect; partial; unfinished; begun, but not completed; as in a contract not executed by all the parties.

Incident of ownership: Some aspect of the exclusive possession or control over the disposition or use of property that demonstrates that the person with such exclusive rights has not relinquished them.

Incidental: Contingent upon or pertaining to something that is more important; that which is necessary, appertaining to, or depending upon another known as the principal.

Incite: To arouse; urge; provoke; encourage; spur on; goad; stir up; instigate; set in motion; as in to incite a riot. Also, generally, in CRIMINAL LAW to instigate, persuade, or move another to commit a crime; in this sense nearly synonymous with abet.

Income: The return in money from one's business, labor, or capital invested; gains, profits, salary, wages, etc.

The gain derived from capital, from labor or effort, or both combined, including profit or gain through sale or conversion of capital. Income is not a gain accruing to capital or a growth in the value of the investment, but is a profit, something of exchangeable value, proceeding from the property and being received or drawn by the recipient for separate use, benefit, and disposal. That which comes in or is received from any business, or investment of capital, without reference to outgoing expenditures.

Income splitting: The right, created by provisions of federal tax laws, given to married couples who file joint returns to have their combined incomes subject to an INCOME TAX at a rate equal to that which would be imposed if each had filed a separate return for one-half the amount of their combined income.

Income tax: A charge imposed by government on the annual gains of a person, corporation, or other taxable unit derived through work, business pursuits, investments, property dealings, and other sources determined in accordance with the INTERNAL REVENUE CODE or state law.

Incompatibility: The inability of a HUSBAND AND WIFE to cohabit in a marital relationship.

Incompetency: The lack of ability, knowledge, legal qualification, or fitness to discharge a required duty or professional obligation.

Incompetent evidence: Probative matter that is not admissible in a legal proceeding; evidence that is not admissible under the FEDERAL RULES OF EVIDENCE. That which the law does not allow to be presented at all, or in connection with a particular matter, due to lack of originality, a defect in the witness or the document, or due to the nature of the evidence in and of itself.

Inconsistent: Reciprocally contradictory or repugnant.

Incontestability clause: A provision in a life or HEALTH INSURANCE policy that precludes the insurer from alleging that the policy, after it has been in effect for a stated period (typically two or three years), is void because of misrepresentations made by the insured in the application for it.

Incorporate: To formally create a corporation pursuant to the requirements prescribed by state statute; to confer a corporate franchise upon certain individuals.

Incorporation by reference: The method of making one document of any kind become a part of another separate document by alluding to the former in the latter and declaring that the former shall be taken and considered as a part of the latter the same as if it were completely set out therein.

Incorporation doctrine: A constitutional doctrine whereby selected provisions of the BILL OF RIGHTS are made applicable to the states through the DUE PROCESS CLAUSE of the FOURTEENTH AMENDMENT.

Incorporeal: Lacking a physical or material nature but relating to or affecting a body.

Incremental: Additional or increased growth, bulk, quantity, number, or value; enlarged.

Incriminate: To charge with a crime; to expose to an accusation or a charge of crime; to involve oneself or another in a criminal prosecution or the danger thereof; as in the rule that a witness is not bound to give testimony that would tend to incriminate him or her.

Inculcate: To accuse; to involve in blame or guilt.

Incumbent: An individual who is in current possession of a particular office and who is legally authorized to discharge the duties of that office.

Incur: To become subject to and liable for; to have liabilities imposed by act or operation of law.

Indefeasible: That which cannot be defeated, revoked, or made void. This term is usually applied to an estate or right that cannot be defeated.

Indefinite term: A prison sentence for a specifically designated length of time up to a certain prescribed maximum, such as one to ten years or twenty-five years to life.

Indemnify: To compensate for loss or damage; to provide security for financial reimbursement to an individual in case of a specified loss incurred by the person.

Indemnity: Recompense for loss, damage, or injuries; restitution or reimbursement.

Indenture: An agreement declaring the benefits and obligations of two or more parties, often applicable in the context of BANKRUPTCY and bond trading.

Independent audit: A systematic review of the accuracy and truthfulness of the accounting records of a particular individual, business, or organization by a person or firm skilled in the necessary accounting methods and not related in any way to the person or firm undergoing the audit.

Independent contractor: A person who contracts to do work for another person according to his or her own processes and methods; the contractor is not subject to another's control except for what is specified in a mutually binding agreement for a specific job.

Independent counsel: An attorney appointed by the federal government to investigate and prosecute federal government officials.

Indeterminate: That which is uncertain or not particularly designated.

Index: A book containing references, alphabetically arranged, to the contents of a series or collection of documents or volumes; or a section (normally at the end) of a single volume or set of volumes containing such references to its contents.

Statistical indexes are also used to track or measure changes in the economy (for example, the Consumer Price Index) and movement in stock markets (for example, Standard & Poor's Index). Such indexes are usually keyed to a base year, month, or other period of comparison.

In mortgage financing, the term is used to determine adjustable-rate mortgage (ARM) interest rates after the discount period ends. Common indexes for ARMs are one-year Treasury SECURITIES and the national average cost of funds to savings and loan associations.

Index to legal periodicals: The set of volumes that lists what has appeared in print from 1926 to the present in the major law reviews and law-oriented magazines in various countries—usually organized according to author, title, and subject, and containing a table of cases.

Indicia: Signs; indications. Circumstances that point to the existence of a given fact as probable, but not certain. For example, indicia of partnership are any circumstances which would induce the belief that a given person was in reality, though not technically, a member of a given firm.

Indictment: A written accusation charging that an individual named therein has committed an act or omitted to do something that is punishable by law.

Indirect evidence: Probative matter that does not proximately relate to an issue but that establishes a hypothesis by showing various consistent facts.

Indispensable party: An individual who has an interest in the substantive issue of a legal action of such a nature that a final decree cannot be handed down without that interest being affected or without leaving the controversy in a condition whereby its final determination would be totally UNCONSCIONABLE.

Individual retirement account: A means by which an individual can receive certain federal tax advantages while investing for retirement.

Indorse: To sign a paper or document, thereby making it possible for the rights represented therein to pass to another individual. Also spelled endorse.

Indorsement: A signature on a COMMERCIAL PAPER or document.

Inducement: An advantage or benefit that precipitates a particular action on the part of an individual.

Industrial union: A labor organization composed of members employed in a particular field, such as textiles, but who perform different individual jobs within their general type of work.

Infamy: Notoriety; condition of being known as possessing a shameful or disgraceful reputation; loss of character or good reputation.

Infancy: Minority; the status of an individual who is below the legal age of majority.

Infants: Persons who are under the age of legal majority—at COMMON LAW, 21 years, now generally 18 years. According to the sense in which this term is used, it may denote the age of the person, the contractual disabilities that non-age entails, or his or her status with regard to other powers or relations.

Inference: In the law of evidence, a truth or proposition drawn from another that is supposed or admitted to be true. A process of reasoning by which a fact or proposition sought to be established is deduced as a logical consequence from other facts, or a state of facts, already proved or admitted. A logical and reasonable conclusion of a fact not presented by direct evidence but which, by process of logic and reason, a trier of fact may conclude exists from the established facts. Inferences are deductions or conclusions that with reason and common sense lead the jury to draw from facts which have been established by the evidence in the case.

Inferior court: This term may denote any court subordinate to the chief appellate tribunal in the particular judicial system (e.g., trial court); but it is also commonly used as the designation of a court of special, limited, or statutory jurisdiction, whose record must show the existence and attaching of jurisdiction in any given case.

Infirmity: Flaw, defect, or weakness.

Information: The formal accusation of a criminal offense made by a public official; the sworn, written accusation of a crime.

Information and belief: A standard phrase added to qualify a statement made under oath; a phrase indicating that a statement is made, not from firsthand knowledge but, nevertheless, in the firm belief that it is true.

Informed consent: Assent to permit an occurrence, such as surgery, that is based on a complete disclosure of facts needed to make the decision intelligently, such as knowledge of the risks entailed or alternatives.

The name for a fundamental principle of law that a physician has a duty to reveal what a reasonably prudent physician in the medical community employing reasonable care would reveal to a patient as to whatever reasonably foreseeable risks of harm might result from a proposed course of treatment. This disclosure must be afforded so that a patient—exercising ordinary care for his or her own welfare and confronted with a choice of undergoing the proposed treatment, alternative treatment, or none at all—can intelligently exercise judgment by reasonably BALANCING the probable risks against the probable benefits.

Infra: [Latin, Below, under, beneath, underneath.] A term employed in legal writing to indicate that the matter designated will appear beneath or in the pages following the reference.

Infraction: Violation or infringement; breach of a statute, contract, or obligation.

Infringement: The encroachment, breach, or violation of a right, law, regulation, or contract.

Ingrossing: The act of making a perfect copy of a particular instrument, such as a deed, lease, or will, from a rough draft so that it may be properly executed to achieve its purpose.

Inherent: Derived from the essential nature of, and inseparable from, the object itself.

Inherit: To receive property according to the state laws of intestate succession from a decedent who has failed to execute a valid will, or, where the term is applied in a more general sense, to receive the property of a decedent by will.

Inheritance: Property received from a decedent, either by will or through state laws of intestate succession, where the decedent has failed to execute a valid will.

Initiative: A process of a participatory democracy that empowers the people to propose legislation and to enact or reject the laws at the polls independent of the lawmaking power of the governing body.

Injunction: A court order by which an individual is required to perform, or is restrained from performing, a particular act. A writ framed according to the circumstances of the individual case.

Injure: To interfere with the legally protected interest of another or to inflict harm on someone, for which an action may be brought. To damage or impair.

Injurious falsehood: A fallacious statement that causes intentional damage to an individual's commercial or economic relations.

Any type of defamatory remark, either written or spoken, that causes pecuniary loss to an individual through disparagement of a particular business dealing.

Injury: A comprehensive term for any wrong or harm done by one individual to another individual's body, rights, reputation, or property. Any interference with an individual's legally protected interest.

Inland waters: Canals, lakes, rivers, water courses, inlets, and bays that are nearest to the shores of a nation and subject to its complete sovereignty.

Innkeeper: An individual who, as a regular business, provides accommodations for guests in exchange for reasonable compensation.

Innocent: Absent guilt; acting in GOOD FAITH with no knowledge of defects, objections, or inculpatory circumstances.

Innocent purchaser: An individual who, in GOOD FAITH and by an honest agreement, buys property in the absence of sufficient knowledge to charge him or her with notice of any defect in the transaction.

Inns of chancery: Ancient preparatory colleges where qualified clerks studied the drafting of writs, which was a function of the officers of the Court of Chancery.

Inns of court: Organizations that provide preparatory education for ENGLISH LAW students in order to teach them to practice in court.

Inoperative: Void; not active; ineffectual.

Inquest: An inquiry by a CORONER or medical examiner, sometimes with the aid of a jury, into the cause of a violent death or a death occurring under suspicious circumstances. Generally an inquest may result in a finding of natural death, accidental death, suicide, or murder. Criminal prosecution may follow when culpable conduct has contributed to the death.

The body of jurors called to inquire into the circumstances of a death that occurred suddenly, by violence, or while imprisoned. Any body of jurors called to inquire into certain matters. (A GRAND JURY is sometimes called a grand inquest, for example.)

The determination or findings of a body of persons called to make a legal inquiry or the report issued after their investigation.

Inquiry, commissions of: Individuals employed, during conciliation, to investigate the facts of a particular dispute and to submit a report stating the facts and proposing terms for the resolution of the differences.

Inquisitorial system: A method of legal practice in which the judge endeavors to discover facts while simultaneously representing the interests of the state in a trial.

Insanity defense: A defense asserted by an accused in a criminal prosecution to avoid liability for the commission of a crime because, at the time of the crime, the person did not appreciate the nature or quality or wrongfulness of the acts.

Insecurity clause: Provision in a contract that allows a creditor to make an entire debt come due if there is good reason to believe that the debtor cannot or will not pay.

Insider: In the context of federal regulation of the purchase and sale of SECURITIES, anyone who has knowledge of facts not available to the general public.

Insolvency: An incapacity to pay debts upon the date when they become due in the ordinary course of business; the condition of an individual whose property and assets are inadequate to discharge the person's debts.

Inspection: An examination or investigation; the right to see and duplicate documents, enter land, or make other such examinations for the purpose of gathering evidence.

Installment: Regular, partial portion of the same debt, paid at successive periods as agreed by a debtor and creditor.

Instant: Current or present.

Instigate: To incite, stimulate, or induce into action; goad into an unlawful or bad action, such as a crime.

Institute: To inaugurate, originate, or establish. In CIVIL LAW, to direct an individual who was named as heir in a will to pass over the estate to another designated person, known as the substitute.

Institution: The commencement or initiation of anything, such as an action. An establishment, particularly one that is eleemosynary or public by nature.

Instructions: Directives given by a judge to a jury during a trial prescribing the manner in which the jurors should proceed in deciding the case at bar. Jury instructions ordinarily include a statement of the QUESTIONS OF FACT for determination by the jury, as well as a statement of the laws applicable to the facts of the case.

Instrument: A formal or legal written document; a document in writing, such as a deed, lease, bond, contract, or will. A writing that serves as evidence of an individual's right to collect money, such as a check.

Instrumentality rule: A principle of corporate law that permits a court to disregard the corporate existence of a subsidiary corporation when it is operated solely for the benefit of the parent corporation, which controls and directs the activities of the subsidiary while asserting the shield of limited liability.

Insurable interest: A right, benefit, or advantage arising out of property that is of such nature that it may properly be indemnified.

Insurance: A contract whereby, for specified consideration, one party undertakes to compensate the other for a loss relating to a particular subject as a result of the occurrence of designated hazards.

Insured: The person who obtains or is otherwise covered by insurance on his or her health, life, or property. The insured in a policy is not limited to the insured named in the policy but applies to anyone who is insured under the policy.

Insurer: An individual or company who, through a contractual agreement, undertakes to compensate specified losses, liability, or damages incurred by another individual.

Insurrection: A rising or rebellion of citizens against their government, usually manifested by acts of violence.

Intangibles: Property that is a “right” such as a patent, COPYRIGHT, or TRADEMARK, or one that is lacking physical existence, such as good will. A nonphysical, noncurrent asset that exists only in connection with something else, such as the good will of a business.

Integrated: Completed; made whole or entire. Desegregated; converted into a nonracial, nondiscriminatory system.

Integrated agreement: A contract that contains within its four corners the entire understanding of the parties and is subject to the PAROL EVIDENCE rule, which seeks to preserve the integrity of written agreements by refusing to allow the parties to modify their contract through the introduction of prior or contemporaneous oral declarations.

Integrated bar: The process of organizing the attorneys of a state into an association, membership in which is a condition precedent to the right to practice law.

Integration: The bringing together of separate elements to create a whole unit. The bringing together of people from the different demographic and racial groups that make up U.S. society.

Intellectual property: Intangible rights protecting the products of human intelligence and creation, such as copyrightable works, patented inventions, TRADEMARKS, and trade secrets. Although largely governed by federal law, state law also governs some aspects of intellectual property.

Intemperance: A lack of moderation. Habitual intemperance is that degree of intemperance in the use of intoxicating liquor which disqualifies the person a great portion of the time from properly attending to business. Habitual or excessive use of liquor.

Intent: A determination to perform a particular act or to act in a particular manner for a specific reason; an aim or design; a resolution to use a certain means to reach an end.

Inter alia: [Latin, Among other things.] A phrase used in PLEADING to designate that a particular statute set out therein is only a part of the statute that is relevant to the facts of the lawsuit and not the entire statute.

Inter vivos: [Latin, Between the living.] A phrase used to describe a gift that is made during the donor’s lifetime.

Interest: A comprehensive term to describe any right, claim, or privilege that an individual has toward real or PERSONAL PROPERTY. Compensation for the use of borrowed money.

Interest on lawyers trust account: A system in which lawyers place certain client deposits in interest-bearing accounts, with the interest then used to fund programs, such as legal service organizations who provide services to clients in need.

Interference: In the law of PATENTS, the presence of two pending applications, or an existing patent and a pending application that encompass an identical invention or discovery.

Intergovernmental immunity doctrine: A principle established under CONSTITUTIONAL LAW that prevents the federal government and individual state governments from intruding on one another’s sovereignty. Intergovernmental immunity is intended to keep government agencies from restricting the rights of other government agencies.

Interim: [Latin, In the meantime: temporary; between.] Interlineation: The process of writing between the lines of an instrument; that which is written between the lines of a document.

Interlocking directorate: The relationship that exists between the board of directors of one corporation with that of another due to the fact that a number of members sit on both boards and, therefore, there is a substantial likelihood that neither corporation acts independently of the other.

Interlocutory: Provisional; interim; temporary; not final; that which intervenes between the beginning and the end of a lawsuit or proceeding to either decide a particular point or matter that is not the final issue of the entire controversy or prevent irreparable harm during the pendency of the lawsuit.

Internal audit: An inspection and verification of the financial records of a company or firm by a member of its own staff to determine the accuracy and acceptability of its accounting practices.

International law: The body of law that governs the legal relations between or among states or nations.

International waterways: Narrow channels of marginal sea or inland waters through which international shipping has a right of passage.

Internet: A worldwide TELECOMMUNICATIONS network of business, government, and personal computers.

Internet fraud: A crime in which the perpetrator develops a scheme using one or more elements of the INTERNET to deprive a person of property or any interest, estate, or right by a false representation of a matter of fact, whether by providing misleading information or by concealment of information.

Interpleader: An equitable proceeding brought by a third person to have a court determine the ownership rights of rival claimants to the same money or property that is held by that third person.

Interpolation: The process of inserting additional words in a complete document or instrument in such manner as to alter its intended meaning; the addition of words to a complete document or instrument.

Interpretation: The art or process of determining the intended meaning of a written document, such as a constitution, statute, contract, deed, or will.

Interrogatories: Written questions submitted to a party from his or her adversary to ascertain answers that are prepared in writing and signed under oath and that have relevance to the issues in a lawsuit.

Interstate compact: A voluntary arrangement between two or more states that is designed to solve their common problems and that becomes part of the laws of each state.

Intervening cause: A separate act or omission that breaks the direct connection between the defendant's actions and an injury or loss to another person, and may relieve the defendant of liability for the injury or loss.

Intervenor: An individual who is not already a party to an existing lawsuit but who makes himself or herself a party either by joining with the plaintiff or uniting with the defendant in resistance of the plaintiff's claims.

Intervention: A procedure used in a lawsuit by which the court allows a third person who was not originally a party to the suit to become a party, by joining with either the plaintiff or the defendant.

Intestacy: The state or condition of dying without having made a valid will or without having disposed by will of a segment of the property of the decedent.

Intestate: The description of a person who dies without making a valid will or the reference made to this condition.

Intestate succession: The inheritance of an ancestor's property according to the laws of DESCENT AND DISTRIBUTION that are applied when the deceased has not executed a valid will.

Intoxication: A state in which a person's normal capacity to act or reason is inhibited by alcohol or drugs.

Intrinsic evidence: Information necessary for the determination of an issue in a lawsuit that is gleaned from the provisions of a document itself, as opposed to testimony from a witness or the terms of other writings that have not been admitted by the court for consideration by the trier of fact.

Inure: To result; to take effect; to be of use, benefit, or advantage to an individual.

Invalid: Null; void; without force or effect; lacking in authority.

Inventory: An itemized list of property that contains a description of each specific article.

Investiture: In ecclesiastical law, one of the formalities by which an archbishop confirms the election of a bishop. During the feudal ages, the rite by which an overlord granted a portion of his lands to his vassal.

Investment: The placement of a particular sum of money in business ventures, real estate, or SECURITIES of a permanent nature so that it will produce an income.

Invitation: The act by which an owner or occupier of particular land or premises encourages or attracts others to enter, remain in, or otherwise make use of his or her property.

Invitee: An individual who enters another's premises as a result of an express or implied invitation of the owner or occupant for their mutual gain or benefit.

Invoice: An itemized statement or written account of goods sent to a purchaser or consignee by a vendor that indicates the quantity and price of each piece of merchandise shipped.

Involuntary confession: An admission, especially by an individual who has been accused of a crime, that is not freely offered but rather is precipitated by a threat, fear, torture, or a promise.

Involuntary manslaughter: The act of unlawfully killing another human being unintentionally.

Involuntary servitude: SLAVERY; the condition of an individual who works for another individual against his or her will as a result of force, coercion, or imprisonment, regardless of whether the individual is paid for the labor.

Ipse dixit: [Latin, He himself said it.] An unsupported statement that rests solely on the authority of the individual who makes it.

Ipso facto: [Latin, By the fact itself; by the mere fact.]

Irreconcilable differences: The existence of significant differences between a married couple that are so great and beyond resolution as to make the marriage unworkable, and for which the law permits a DIVORCE.

Irregularity: A defect, failure, or mistake in a legal proceeding or lawsuit; a departure from a prescribed rule or regulation.

Irrelevant: Unrelated or inapplicable to the matter in issue.

Irreparable injury: Any harm or loss that is not easily repaired, restored, or compensated by monetary damages. A serious wrong, generally of a repeated and continuing nature, that has an equitable remedy of injunctive relief.

Irresistible impulse: A test applied in a criminal prosecution to determine whether a person accused of a crime was compelled by a mental disease to commit it and therefore cannot be held criminally responsible for her or his actions; in a WRONGFUL DEATH case, a compulsion to commit suicide created by the defendant.

Irretrievable breakdown of marriage: The situation that exists when either or both spouses no longer are able or willing to live with each other, thereby destroying their HUSBAND AND WIFE relationship with no hope of resumption of spousal duties.

Irrevocable: Unable to cancel or recall; that which is unalterable or irreversible.

IRS: An abbreviation for the INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE, a federal agency charged with the responsibility of administering and enforcing internal revenue laws.

Island: A land area surrounded by water and remaining above sea level during high tide.

Issue: To promulgate or send out. In a lawsuit, a disputed point of law or QUESTION OF FACT, set forth in the pleadings, that is alleged by one party and denied by the other.

In the law governing the transfer or distribution of property, a child, children, and all individuals who descend from a common ancestor or descendants of any degree.

Issue preclusion: A concept that refers to the fact that a particular QUESTION OF FACT or law, one that has already been fully litigated by the parties in an action for which there has been a judgment on the merits, cannot be relitigated in any future action involving the same parties or their privies (persons who would be bound by the judgment rendered for the party).

Itemize: To individually state each item or article.

Jactitation: Deceitful boasting, a deceptive claim, or a continuing assertion prejudicial to the right of another.

Jail: A building designated or regularly used for the confinement of individuals who are sentenced for minor crimes or who are unable to gain release on bail and are in custody awaiting trial.

Jailhouse lawyer: Prison inmates with some knowledge of law who give legal advice and assistance to their fellow inmates.

J.D.: An abbreviation for Juris Doctor, the degree awarded to an individual upon the successful completion of law school.

Jeopardy: Danger; hazard; peril. In a criminal action, the danger of conviction and punishment confronting the defendant.

Jetsam: The casting overboard of goods from a vessel, by its owner, under exigent circumstances in order to provide for the safety of the ship by lightening its cargo load.

Jobber: A merchant, middle person, or wholesaler who purchases goods from a manufacturer in lots or bulk and resells the goods to a consumer, or to a retailer, who then sells them to a consumer. One who buys and sells on the stock exchange or who deals in stocks, shares, and SECURITIES.

John Doe or Jane Doe: A fictitious name used for centuries in the law when a specific person is not known by name.

Joinder: The union in one lawsuit of multiple parties who have the same rights or against whom rights are claimed as coplaintiffs or codefendants. The combination in one lawsuit of two or more causes of action, or grounds for relief. At COMMON LAW the acceptance by opposing parties that a particular issue is in dispute.

Joint: United; coupled together in interest; shared between two or more persons; not solitary in interest or action but acting together or in unison. A combined, undivided effort or undertaking involving two or more individuals. Produced by or involving the concurring action of two or more; united in or possessing a common relation, action, or interest. To share common rights, duties, and liabilities.

Joint and several liability: A designation of liability by which members of a group are either individually or mutually responsible to a party in whose favor a judgment has been awarded.

Joint estate: Property owned by two or more people at the same time, under the same title, with the same interest, and with the same right of possession.

Joint operating agreement: Any contract, agreement, JOINT VENTURE, or other arrangement entered into by two or more businesses in which the operations and the physical facilities of a failing business are merged, although each business retains its status as a separate entity in terms of profits and individual mission.

Joint resolution: A type of measure that Congress may consider and act upon, the other types being bills, concurrent resolutions, and simple resolutions, in addition to treaties in the Senate.

Joint stock company: An association engaged in a business for profit with ownership interests represented by shares of stock.

Joint tenancy: A type of ownership of real or PERSONAL PROPERTY by two or more persons in which each owns an undivided interest in the whole.

Joint tortfeasor: Two or more individuals with joint and several liability in a tort action for the same injury to the same person or property.

Joint venture: An association of two or more individuals or companies engaged in a solitary business enterprise for profit without actual partnership or incorporation; also called a joint adventure.

Journal: A book or log in which entries are made to record events on a daily basis. A book where transactions or events are recorded as they occur.

J.P.: An abbreviation for JUSTICE OF THE PEACE, a minor ranking judicial officer with limited statutory jurisdiction over preservation of the peace, civil cases, and lesser criminal offenses.

J.S.D.: An abbreviation for Doctor of Juridical Science, a degree awarded to highly qualified individuals who have successfully completed a prescribed course of advanced study in law after having earned J.D. and LL.M. degrees.

Judge: To make a decision or reach a conclusion after examining all the factual evidence presented. To form an opinion after evaluating the facts and applying the law.

A public officer chosen or elected to preside over and to administer the law in a court of justice; one who controls the proceedings in a courtroom and decides QUESTIONS OF LAW or discretion.

Judge advocate: A legal adviser on the staff of a military command. A designated officer of the Judge Advocate General's Corps (JAGC) of the U.S. Army, Navy, Air Force, or Marine Corps.

Judgment: A decision by a court or other tribunal that resolves a controversy and determines the rights and obligations of the parties.

Judgment creditor: A party to which a debt is owed that has proved the debt in a legal proceeding and that is entitled to use judicial process to collect the debt; the owner of an unsatisfied court decision.

Judgment debtor: A party against which an unsatisfied court decision is awarded; a person who is obligated to satisfy a court decision.

- Judgment docket: A list under which judicial orders of a particular court are recorded by a clerk or other designated officer to be available for inspection by the public.
- Judgment note: A promissory note authorizing an attorney, holder, or clerk of court to appear for the maker of the note and confess, or assent to, a judgment to be entered against the maker due to default in the payment of the amount owed.
- Judgment notwithstanding the verdict: A judgment entered by the court in favor of one party even though the jury returned a verdict for the opposing party.
- Judgment proof: A term used to describe an individual who is financially unable to pay an adverse court decision awarding a sum of money to the opposing party.
- Judicare: To decide or determine in a judicial manner.
- Judicature: A term used to describe the judicial branch of government; the judiciary; or those connected with the court system.
- Judicature acts: English statutes that govern and revise the organization of the judiciary.
- Judicial: Relating to the courts or belonging to the office of a judge; a term pertaining to the administration of justice, the courts, or a judge, as in judicial power.
- Judicial action: The adjudication by the court of a controversy by hearing the cause and determining the respective rights of the parties.
- Judicial administration: The practices, procedures, and offices that deal with the management of the administrative systems of the courts.
- Judicial assistance: Aid offered by the judicial tribunals of one state to the judicial tribunals of a second state.
- Judicial immunity: A judge's complete protection from personal liability for exercising judicial functions.
- Judicial notice: A doctrine of evidence applied by a court that allows the court to recognize and accept the existence of a particular fact commonly known by persons of average intelligence without establishing its existence by admitting evidence in a civil or criminal action.
- Judicial review: A court's authority to examine an executive or legislative act and to invalidate that act if it is contrary to constitutional principles.
- Judicial sale: The transfer of title to and possession of a debtor's property to another in exchange for a price determined in proceedings that are conducted under a judgment or an order of court by an officer duly appointed and commissioned to do so.
- Judicial writs: Orders issued by a judge in the English courts after a lawsuit had begun.
- Judiciary: The branch of government that is endowed with the authority to interpret and apply the law, adjudicate legal disputes, and otherwise administer justice.
- Junior: Younger; subsequently born or created; later in rank, tenure, preference, or position.
- Junk bond: A security issued by a corporation that is considered to offer a high risk to bondholders.
- Jural: The principles of natural and positive rights recognized by law.
- Jurat: The certificate of an officer that a written instrument was sworn to by the individual who signed it.
- Juridical: Pertaining to the administration of justice or to the office of a judge.
- Jurimetrics: The study of law and science.

Juris: [Latin, Of right; of law.] A phrase that serves as the root for diverse terms and phrases dealing with the law; for example, jurisdiction, JURISPRUDENCE, or jurist.

Juris doctor: The degree awarded to an individual upon the successful completion of law school.

Jurisdiction: The geographic area over which authority extends; legal authority; the authority to hear and determine causes of action.

Jurisdictional dispute: Conflicting claims made by two different LABOR UNIONS to an employer regarding assignment of the work or union representation.

Jurisprudence: From the Latin term juris prudentia, which means “the study, knowledge, or science of law”; in the United States, more broadly associated with the philosophy of law.

Jurist: A judge or legal scholar; an individual who is versed or skilled in law.

Juristic act: An action intended and capable of having a legal effect; any conduct by a private individual designed to originate, terminate, or alter a right.

Jury: In trials, a group of people who are selected and sworn to inquire into matters of fact and to reach a verdict on the basis of the evidence presented to them.

Jury commission: A group of officials charged with the responsibility of choosing the names of prospective jury members or of selecting the list of jurors for a particular term in court.

Jury nullification: A sanctioned doctrine of trial proceedings wherein members of a jury disregard either the evidence presented or the instructions of the judge in order to reach a verdict based upon their own consciences. It espouses the concept that jurors should be the judges of both law and fact.

Jus: [Latin, right; justice; law; the whole body of law; also a right.] The term is used in two meanings: Jus means law, considered in the abstract; that is, as distinguished from any specific enactment, which we call, in a general sense, the law. Or it means the law taken as a system, an aggregate, a whole. Or it may designate some one particular system or body of particular laws; as in the phrases jus civile, jus gentium, jus proetorium.

In a second sense, jus signifies a right; that is, a power, privilege, faculty, or demand inherent in one person and incident upon another; or a capacity residing in one person of controlling, with the assent and assistance of the state, the actions of another. This is its meaning in the expressions jus in rem, jus accrescendi, jus possessionis.

Jus cogens: That body of peremptory principles or norms from which no derogation is permitted; those norms recognized by the international community as a whole as being fundamental to the maintenance of an international legal order.

Elementary rules that concern the safeguarding of peace and notably those that prohibit recourse to force or the threat of force. Norms of a humanitarian nature are included, such as prohibitions against GENOCIDE, SLAVERY, and RACIAL DISCRIMINATION.

Jus tertii: The right of a third party. A tenant or bailee or another in possession of property, who pleads that the title is in some person other than that person’s landlord or bailor, is said to set up a jus tertii.

Just: Legally right; conformity with that which is lawful or fair.

Just cause: A reasonable and lawful ground for action.

Just compensation: Equitable remuneration to the owner of private property that is expropriated for public use through condemnation, the implementation of the governmental power of EMINENT DOMAIN.

Just desserts: A retributive theory of criminal punishment that proposes reduced judicial discretion in sentencing and specific sentences for criminal acts without regard to the individual defendant.

Just war: As widely used, a term referring to any war between states that meets generally accepted international criteria of justification. The concept of just war invokes both political and theological ideology, as it promotes a peaceful resolution and coexistence between states, and the use of force or the invocation of armed conflict only under certain circumstances. It is not the same as, but is often confused with, the term jihad or “holy war,” a Muslim religious justification for war.

Justice: The proper administration of the law; the fair and equitable treatment of all individuals under the law. A title given to certain judges, such as federal and state supreme court judges.

Justice of the peace: A judicial officer with limited power whose duties may include hearing cases that involve civil controversies, conserving the peace, performing judicial acts, hearing minor criminal complaints, and committing offenders.

Justiciable: Capable of being decided by a court.

Justification: A sufficient or acceptable excuse or explanation made in court for an act that is otherwise unlawful; the showing of an adequate reason, in court, why a defendant committed the offense for which he or she is accused that would serve to relieve the defendant of liability.

A legal excuse for the performance or nonperformance of a particular act that is the basis for exemption from guilt. A classic example is the excuse of SELF-DEFENSE offered as justification for the commission of a murder.

Juvenile law: An area of the law that deals with the actions and well-being of persons who are not yet adults.

Kangaroo court: [Slang of U.S. origin.] An unfair, biased, or hasty judicial proceeding that ends in a harsh punishment; an unauthorized trial conducted by individuals who have taken the law into their own hands, such as those put on by vigilantes or prison inmates; a proceeding and its leaders who are considered sham, corrupt, and without regard for the law.

Kentucky Resolutions: A set of proposals formulated by THOMAS JEFFERSON and approved by the state legislature of Kentucky during 1798 and 1799 in opposition to the enactment of the ALIEN AND SEDITION ACTS (1 Stat. 566, 570, 577, 596) by Congress.

Keogh Plan: A retirement account that allows workers who are self-employed to set aside a percentage of their net earnings for retirement income.

Key Numbers®: A system devised by West Group involving the classification of legal subjects that are organized within their publications according to specific topics and subtopics. Each topic and subtopic is given a key number which consists of one or more digits preceded by the symbol of a key assigned to each individual classification.

Keycite™: An interactive, computer-assisted citatory service that allows legal researchers to verify the validity of a case and to find all references that have cited that case as authority.

Kickback: The seller's return of part of the purchase price of an item to a buyer or buyer's representative for the purpose of inducing a purchase or improperly influencing future purchases.

Kidnapping: The crime of unlawfully seizing and carrying away a person by force or FRAUD, or seizing and detaining a person against his or her will with an intent to carry that person away at a later time.

Kilberg doctrine: A principle applied in lawsuits involving conflicts of law that provides that a court in the place where a WRONGFUL DEATH action is brought is not bound by the law of the place where the conduct causing death occurred concerning limitations on damages.

Kin: Relation by blood or consanguinity; relatives by birth.

King's bench or queen's bench: The highest common-law court in England until its end as a separate tribunal in 1875.

Kiting: The unlawful practice of drawing checks against a bank account containing insufficient funds to cover them, with the expectation that the necessary funds will be deposited before such checks are presented for payment.

Knowingly: Consciously; willfully; subject to complete understanding of the facts or circumstances.

Labor law: An area of the law that deals with the rights of employers, employees, and labor organizations.

Labor union: An association, combination, or organization of employees who band together to secure favorable wages, improved working conditions, and better work hours, and to resolve grievances against employers.

Laches: A defense to an equitable action, that bars recovery by the plaintiff because of the plaintiff's undue delay in seeking relief.

Lame duck: An elected official, who is to be followed by another, during the period of time between the election and the date that the successor will fill the post.

Lame-duck amendment: The popular name given to the TWENTIETH AMENDMENT to the U.S. Constitution.

Land-use control: Activities such as ZONING, the regulation of the development of real estate, and city planning.

Land grant: A conveyance of public property to a subordinate government or corporation; a MUNITMENT OF TITLE issued by a state or government for the donation of some part of the public domain.

Landlord: A lessor of real property; the owner or possessor of an estate in land or a rental property, who, in an exchange for rent, leases it to another individual known as the tenant.

Landlord and tenant: An association between two individuals arising from an agreement by which one individual occupies the other's real property with permission, subject to a rental fee.

Landmark: A structure that has significant historical, architectural, or cultural meaning and that has been given legal protection from alteration and destruction.

Lapse: The termination or failure of a right or privilege because of a neglect to exercise that right or to perform some duty within a time limit, or because a specified contingency did not occur. The expiration of coverage under an insurance policy because of the insured's failure to pay the premium.

The common-law principle that a gift in a will does not take effect but passes into the estate remaining after the payment of debts and particular gifts, if the beneficiary is alive when the will is executed but subsequently predeceases the testator.

Larceny: The unauthorized taking and removal of the PERSONAL PROPERTY of another by an individual who intends to permanently deprive the owner of it; a crime against the right of possession.

Lasciviousness: Lewdness; indecency; OBSCENITY; behavior that tends to deprave the morals in regard to sexual relations.

Last clear chance: In the law of TORTS, the doctrine that excuses or negates the effect of the plaintiff's contributory NEGLIGENCE and permits him or her to recover, in particular instances, damages regardless of his or her own lack of ordinary care.

Last resort: A court, such as the U.S. Supreme Court, from which there is no further appeal of a judgment rendered by it in review of a decision in a civil or criminal action by a lower court.

Latent: Hidden; concealed; that which does not appear upon the face of an item.

Lateral support: The right of a landowner to have his or her property naturally upheld by the adjoining land or the soil beneath.

Law: A body of rules of conduct of binding legal force and effect, prescribed, recognized, and enforced by controlling authority.

Law and literature: An interdisciplinary study that examines the relationship between the fields of law and literature, with each field borrowing insights and methods of analysis from the other.

Law day: The date prescribed in a bond, mortgage, or deed for payment of the debt; the maturity date. May 1st, observed in schools, public assemblies, and courts, in honor of our legal system.

Law French: A corrupt French dialect used by English lawyers from after the Norman Conquest in 1066 until slightly after the end of the Restoration period in 1688.

Law journal: A magazine or newspaper that contains articles, news items, comments on new laws and case decisions, court calendars, and suggestions for practicing law, for use by attorneys.

Law merchant: The system of rules and customs and usages generally recognized and adopted by traders as the law for the regulation of their commercial transactions and the resolution of their controversies.

Law of nations: The body of customary rules that determine the rights and that regulate the intercourse of independent countries in peace and war.

Law of the case: The principle that if the highest appellate court has determined a legal question and returned the case to the court below for additional proceedings, the question will not be determined differently on a subsequent appeal in the same case where the facts remain the same.

Law of the land: The designation of general public laws that are equally binding on all members of the community.

Law of the sea: The part of public INTERNATIONAL LAW that deals with maritime issues.

Law reports: Published volumes of the decisions of courts.

Law review: A law school publication containing both case summaries written by student members and scholarly articles written by law professors, judges, and attorneys. These articles focus on current developments in the law, case decisions, and legislation. Law reviews are edited by students, and students contribute notes to featured articles.

Lawful: Licit; legally warranted or authorized.

Lawsuit: A popular designation of a legal proceeding between two parties in the courts, instituted by one party to compel another to do himself or herself justice, regardless of whether the action is based upon law or EQUITY.

Lawyer-witness rule: The principle that prohibits an attorney from serving as an advocate and a witness in the same case. Also known as the advocate-witness rule, it keeps attorneys from being placed in a situation that could at best create a conflict of interest for both themselves and their clients. It also keeps adversary attorneys from having to cross-examine opposing counsel in front of a jury at trial. Attorneys are allowed to serve as witnesses if their testimony is about factual matters that have no bearing on the case; likewise, they are allowed to remain as counsel if their removal from the case would create a substantial hardship for the client. The rule does not prohibit attorneys from being witnesses in general, nor does it prohibit an attorney-witness from assisting in a client's case, for example by acting as a consultant or attending depositions.

Lawyer: A person, who through a regular program of study, is learned in legal matters and has been licensed to practice his or her profession. Any qualified person who prosecutes or defends causes in courts of record or other judicial tribunals of the United States, or of any of the states, or who renders legal advice or assistance in relation to any cause or matter. Unless a contrary meaning is plainly indicated this term is synonymous with attorney, attorney at law, or counselor at law.

Lay: Nonprofessional, such as a lay witness who is not a recognized expert in the area that is the subject of the person's testimony. That which relates to persons or entities not clerical or ecclesiastical; a person not in ecclesiastical orders. To present the formal declarations by the parties of their respective claims and defenses in pleadings. A share of the profits of a fishing or WHALING voyage, allotted to the officers and seamen, in the nature of wages.

Layaway: An agreement between a retail seller and a consumer that provides that the seller will retain designated consumer goods for sale to the consumer at a specified price on a future date, if the consumer deposits with the seller an agreed upon sum of money.

Leading case: An important judicial decision that is frequently regarded as having settled or determined the law upon all points involved in such controversies and thereby serves as a guide for subsequent decisions.

Leading question: A query that suggests to the witness how it is to be answered or puts words into the mouth of the witness to be merely repeated in his or her response.

Lease: A contractual agreement by which one party conveys an estate in property to another party, for a limited period, subject to various conditions, in exchange for something of value, but still retains ownership.

Leaseback: A transaction whereby land is sold and subsequently rented by the seller from the purchaser who is the new owner.

Leasehold: An estate, interest, in real property held under a rental agreement by which the owner gives another the right to occupy or use land for a period of time.

Leave: To give or dispose of by will. Willful departure with intent to remain away. Permission or authorization to do something.

Ledger: The principal book of accounts of a business enterprise in which all the daily transactions are entered under appropriate headings to reflect the debits and credits of each account.

Legacy: A disposition of PERSONAL PROPERTY by will.

Legal: Conforming to the law; required or permitted by law; not forbidden by law.

Legal advertising: Any advertising an attorney purchases or places in publications, outdoor installations, radio, television, or any other written or recorded media.

Legal age: The time of life at which a person acquires full capacity to make his or her own contracts and deeds and to transact business or to enter into some particular contract or relation, such as marriage.

Legal aid: A system of nonprofit organizations that provide legal services to people who cannot afford an attorney.

Legal assistant: A person, working under the supervision of a lawyer, qualified through education, training, or work experience to perform substantive legal work that requires knowledge of legal concepts and is customarily, but not exclusively, performed by a lawyer; also known as a paralegal.

Legal cap: Long stationery with a wide left-hand margin and a narrow right-hand margin, used by attorneys.

Legal cause: In the law of TORTS, conduct that is a substantial factor in bringing about harm, which is synonymous with proximate cause.

Legal certainty: A test in CIVIL PROCEDURE designed to establish that a complaint has met the minimum amount in controversy required for a court to have jurisdiction to hear the case. Under this test, if it is apparent from the face of the pleadings, to a “legal certainty” that the plaintiff cannot recover or was never entitled to the amount in the complaint, then the case will be dismissed.

Legal detriment: A change in position by one to whom a promise has been made, or an assumption of duties or liabilities not previously imposed on the person, due to the person’s reliance on the actions of the one who makes the promise.

Legal fiction: An assumption that something occurred or someone or something exists which, in fact, is not the case, but that is made in the law to enable a court to equitably resolve a matter before it.

Legal history: The record of past events that deal with the law.

Legal list statutes: State laws that enumerate the investments into which certain institutions and fiduciaries—those who manage money and property for another and who must exercise a standard of care in such activity in accordance with law or contract—can venture.

Legal positivism: A school of JURISPRUDENCE whose advocates believe that the only legitimate sources of law are those written rules, regulations, and principles that have been expressly enacted, adopted, or recognized by a governmental entity or political institution, including administrative, executive, legislative, and judicial bodies.

Legal proceedings: All actions that are authorized or sanctioned by law and instituted in a court or a tribunal for the acquisition of rights or the enforcement of remedies.

Legal publishing: The production of texts that report laws or discuss the PRACTICE OF LAW.

Legal realism: The school of legal philosophy that challenges the orthodox view of U.S. JURISPRUDENCE under which law is characterized as an autonomous system of rules and principles that courts can logically apply in an objective fashion to reach a determinate and apolitical judicial decision.

Legal representation: The legal work that a licensed attorney performs on behalf of a client.

Legal representative: In its broadest sense, one who stands in place of, and represents the interests of, another. A person who oversees the legal affairs of another. Examples include the executor or administrator of an estate and a court appointed guardian of a minor or incompetent person.

This term is almost always held to be synonymous with the term personal representative. In accident cases, the member of the family entitled to benefits under a WRONGFUL DEATH statute.

Legal reserve: Liquid assets that life insurance companies are required by statute to set aside and maintain to assure payment of claims and benefits. In banking, that percentage of bank deposits that must by law be maintained in cash or equally liquid assets to meet the demands of depositors.

Legal residence: The place of domicile—the permanent dwelling—to which a person intends to return despite temporary abodes elsewhere or momentary absences.

Legal right: An interest that the law protects; an enforceable claim; a privilege that is created or recognized by law, such as the constitutional right to FREEDOM OF SPEECH.

Legal tender: All U.S. coins and currencies—regardless of when coined or issued— including (in terms of the FEDERAL RESERVE System) Federal Reserve notes and circulating notes of Federal Reserve banks and national banking associations that are used for all debts, public and private, public charges, taxes, duties, and dues.

Legal title: Ownership of property that is cognizable or enforceable in a court of law, or one that is complete and perfect in terms of the apparent right of ownership and possession, but that, unlike equitable title, carries no beneficial interest in the property.

Legalese: Slang; technical jargon used by attorneys that is often beyond the comprehension of the nonlawyer.

Legatee: A person who receives PERSONAL PROPERTY through a will.

Legation: The persons commissioned by one government to exercise diplomatic functions at the court of another, including the minister, secretaries, attachés, and interpreters, are collectively called the legation of their government. The word also denotes the official residence of a foreign minister.

Leges henrici: [Latin, Laws of Henry.] A book written between 1114 and 1118 containing Anglo-Saxon and Norman law. It is an invaluable source of knowledge of the period preceding the full development of the Norman law.

Legislate: To enact laws or pass resolutions by the lawmaking process, in contrast to law that is derived from principles espoused by courts in decisions.

Legislation: Lawmaking; the preparation and enactment of laws by a legislative body.

Legislative: Pertaining to the governmental function of lawmaking or to the process of enacting laws.

Legislative acts: Statutes passed by lawmakers, as opposed to court-made laws.

Legislative council: Research and support arm of state legislatures and assemblies. Council members research legislative issues, draft legislative proposals, prepare legal opinions, and provide general support services. Also called legislative counsel.

Legislative facts: Matters of such general knowledge that they need not be proven to an ADMINISTRATIVE AGENCY that is deciding a question of policy.

Legislative history: The discussions and documents, including committee reports, hearings, and floor debates, surrounding and preceding the enactment of a law.

Legislature: A representative assembly of persons that makes statutory laws for a municipality, state, or nation.

Legitimate: To make lawful, such as when a child is born prior to the parents' marriage and they subsequently wed and thereby confer upon the child the same legal status as those born in lawful wedlock.

That which is lawful, legal, recognized by law, or in accordance with law, such as legitimate children or legitimate authority; real, valid, or genuine.

Lemon laws: Laws governing the rights of purchasers of new and used motor vehicles that do not function properly and which have to be returned repeatedly to the dealer for repairs.

Lessee: One who rents real property or PERSONAL PROPERTY from another.

Lesser included offense: A lesser crime whose elements are encompassed by a greater crime.

Lessor: One who rents real property or PERSONAL PROPERTY to another.

Let: To award a contract, such as for the erection of public works, to one of several bidders.
To lease certain property.

Letter of credit: A written instrument from a bank or merchant in one location that requests that anyone or a specifically named party advance money or items on credit to the party holding or named in the document.

Letter of the law: The strict and exact force of the language used in a statute, as distinguished from the spirit, general purpose, and policy of the statute.

Letter ruling: In tax law a written interpretation of certain provisions of federal statutes by the Office of the Assistant Commissioner of the Internal Revenue Service.

Letters of administration: A formal document issued by a court of probate appointing a manager of the assets and liabilities of the estate of the deceased in certain situations.

Letters patent: An instrument issued by a government that conveys a right or title to a private individual or organization, including conveyances of land and inventions.

Letters rogatory: A formal written request made by one judicial body to another court in a different, independent jurisdiction that a witness who resides in that jurisdiction be examined through the use of interrogatories accompanying the request.

A device used in INTERNATIONAL LAW by which the courts of one country ask the courts of another to utilize their procedure to assist the country making the request in the administration of justice within its borders.

Letters testamentary: The formal instrument of authority and appointment granted by the proper court to an executor (one designated in a will to manage the estate of the deceased) empowering that person to execute the functions of the office.

Levees and flood control: The system constructed and maintained by government to prevent the overflow of water.

Leverage: A method of financing an investment by which an investor pays only a small percentage of the purchase price in cash, with the balance supplemented by borrowed funds, in order to generate a greater rate of return than would be produced by paying primarily cash for the investment; the economic benefit gained by such financing.

Levy: To assess; raise; execute; exact; tax; collect; gather; take up; seize. Thus, to levy a tax; to levy a NUISANCE; to levy a fine; to levy war; to levy an execution, i.e., to levy or collect a sum of money on an execution.

A seizure. The obtaining of money by legal process through seizure and sale of property; the raising of the money for which an execution has been issued.

Lewdness: Behavior that is deemed morally impure or unacceptable in a sexual sense; open and public indecency tending to corrupt the morals of the community; gross or wanton indecency in sexual relations.

Lex: [Latin, Law.] In medieval JURISPRUDENCE, a body or collection of various laws peculiar to a given nation or people; not a code in the modern sense, but an aggregation or collection of laws not codified or systematized. Also, a similar collection of laws relating to a general subject, and not peculiar to any one people.

Lex fori: [Latin, The law of the forum, or court.] The positive law of the state, nation, or jurisdiction within which a lawsuit is instituted or remedy sought.

Lex loci: [Latin, The law of the place.] The law of the state or the nation where the matter in litigation transpired.

Lexis®: An online legal information service that provides the full text of opinions and statutes in electronic format. Subscribers use their personal computers to search the LEXIS database for relevant cases. They may download or print the legal information they retrieve.

Liability: A comprehensive legal term that describes the condition of being actually or potentially subject to a legal obligation.

Libel and slander: Two TORTS that involve the communication of false information about a person, a group, or an entity such as a corporation. Libel is any DEFAMATION that can be seen, such as a writing, printing, effigy, movie, or statue. Slander is any defamation that is spoken and heard.

Libelant: Formerly the party who filed an initiatory PLEADING (a formal declaration of a claim) in an ecclesiastical or religious matter or in an ADMIRALTY case, corresponding to the plaintiff in actions at law.

Libelous: In the nature of a written DEFAMATION, a communication that tends to injure reputation.

Libertarianism: A political philosophy that advocates free will, individual rights, and voluntary cooperation.

Liberty: The state of being free; enjoying various social, political, or economic rights and privileges. The concept of liberty forms the core of all democratic principles. Yet, as a legal concept, it defies clear definition.

License: The permission granted by competent authority to exercise a certain privilege that, without such authorization, would constitute an illegal act, a TRESPASS or a TORT. The certificate or the document itself that confers permission to engage in otherwise proscribed conduct.

Licentiousness: Acting without regard to law, ethics, or the rights of others.

Lien: A right given to another by the owner of property to secure a debt, or one created by law in favor of certain creditors.

Life estate: An estate whose duration is limited to the life of the party holding it, or some other person.

Life in being: A phrase used in the common-law and statutory rules against perpetuities, meaning the remaining duration of the life of a person who is in existence at the time when the deed or will takes effect.

Life or limb: The phrase within the FIFTH AMENDMENT to the U.S. Constitution, commonly known as the DOUBLE JEOPARDY Clause, that provides, “nor shall any person be subject for the same offence to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb,” pursuant to which there can be no second prosecution after a first trial for the same offense.

Lifo: An abbreviation for last in, first out, a method used in inventory accounting to value the merchandise of a particular business.

Lift: To raise; to take up.

Ligan: Goods cast into the sea tied to a buoy, so that they may be found again by the owners. When goods are cast into the sea in storms or shipwrecks and remain there, without coming to land, they are distinguished by the names of jetsam, flotsam, and ligan.

Limitation: A qualification, restriction, or circumspection.

Limitations of actions: Statutes restricting the right to bring suit on certain civil causes of action or criminal prosecutions, which provide that a suit may not be commenced unless it is brought within a designated period after the time that the right to sue accrued.

Limited: Restricted in duration, extent, or scope; confined.

Limited liability company: A noncorporate business whose owners actively participate in the organization’s management and are protected against personal liability for the organization’s debts and obligations.

Limited liability partnership: A form of general partnership that provides an individual partner protection against personal liability for certain partnership obligations.

Line of credit: The maximum borrowing power granted to a person from a financial institution.

Lineal: That which comes in a line, particularly a direct line, as from parent to child or grandparent to grandchild.

Lineup: A criminal investigation technique in which the police arrange a number of individuals in a row before a witness to a crime and ask the witness to identify which, if any, of the individuals committed the crime.

Liquid assets: Cash, or property immediately convertible to cash, such as SECURITIES, notes, life insurance policies with cash surrender values, U.S. savings bonds, or an account receivable.

Liquidate: To pay and settle the amount of a debt; to convert assets to cash; to aggregate the assets of an insolvent enterprise and calculate its liabilities in order to settle with the debtors and the creditors and apportion the remaining assets, if any, among the stockholders or owners of the corporation.

Liquidated damages: Monetary compensation for a loss, detriment, or injury to a person or a person's rights or property, awarded by a court judgment or by a contract stipulation regarding breach of contract.

Liquidation: The collection of assets belonging to a debtor to be applied to the discharge of his or her outstanding debts.

A type of proceeding pursuant to federal BANKRUPTCY law by which certain property of a debtor is taken into custody by a trustee to be sold, the proceeds to be distributed to the debtor's creditors in satisfaction of their claims.

The settlement of the financial affairs of a business or individual through the sale of all assets and the distribution of the proceeds to creditors, heirs, or other parties with a legal claim.

Lis pendens: [Latin, Pending lawsuit.] A reference to the jurisdiction (or control) that courts obtain over property in a suit awaiting action.

A notice filed in the office of public records that the ownership of real property is the subject of a legal controversy and that anyone who purchases it takes it subject to any claims asserted in the action and thereby its value might be diminished.

Listing: An agreement that represents the right of a real estate agent or BROKER to handle the sale of real property and to receive a fee or commission for services.

Litchfield Law School: The first law school in America, founded by Tapping Reeve (b. October 1744, in Southhold, Long Island, New York; d. December 13, 1823, in Litchfield, Connecticut) in 1784 in Litchfield, Connecticut. It continued operation until 1833.

Literal construction: The determination by a court of the meaning of the language of a document by an examination of only the actual words used in it, without any consideration of the intent of the parties who signed the writing except for the fact that they chose the language now in dispute.

Literary property: The interest of an author in an original and expressive composition, that entitles the author to the exclusive use and profit thereof, with no interest vested in any other individual. The corporal property in which an intellectual production is embodied.

Litigation: An action brought in court to enforce a particular right. The act or process of bringing a lawsuit in and of itself; a judicial contest; any dispute.

Littoral rights: Rights relating to the ownership of property that abuts an ocean, sea, or lake.

Litvinov assignment of 1933: An executive agreement made by President FRANKLIN DELANO ROOSEVELT as part of the arrangements by which the United States recognized the Soviet Union.

Livery of seisin: A ceremony performed in medieval England that effected the transfer of land from one party to another.

Livery stable keepers: Individuals who, as a regular course of business, provide quarters for the boarding of horses and rent them for hire.

Living trust: A property right, held by one party for the benefit of another, that becomes effective during the lifetime of the creator and is, therefore, in existence upon his or her death.

Living will: A written document that allows a patient to give explicit instructions about medical treatment to be administered when the patient is terminally ill or permanently unconscious; also called an advance directive.

LL.B.: An abbreviation denoting the degree of bachelor of laws, which was the basic degree awarded to an individual upon completion of law school until the late 1960s.

LL.M.: An abbreviation for Master of Laws, which is an advanced degree that is awarded to an individual who already holds a J.D. upon the successful completion of a prescribed course of graduate study in law.

Load lines: A marking indicating the extent to which the weight of a load may safely submerge a ship; also called Plimsoll line.

Loan commitment: Commitment to a borrower by a lending institution that it will loan a specific amount at a certain rate on a particular piece of real estate. Such commitment is usually limited to a specified time period (e.g., four months), which is commonly based on the estimated time that it will take the borrower to construct or purchase the home contemplated by the loan.

Loan shark: A person who lends money in exchange for its repayment at an interest rate that exceeds the percentage approved by law and who uses intimidating methods or threats of force in order to obtain repayment.

Lobbying: The process of influencing public and government policy at all levels: federal, state, and local.

Local action: A lawsuit concerning a transaction that could not occur except in some particular place. Any type of lawsuit that can be brought only in one place. A classic example is a situation where recovery of possession of a particular parcel of land is sought.

Lockout: Employer's withholding of work from employees in order to gain concession from them; it is the employers' counterpart of the employee's strike. Refusal by the employer to furnish available work to its regular employees, whether refusal is motivated by the employer's desire to protect itself against economic injury, by its desire to protect itself at the bargaining table, or by both.

Lockup: A place of detention in a police station, court or other facility used for persons awaiting trial. In corporate law, a slang term that refers to the setting aside of SECURITIES for purchase by friendly interests in order to defeat or make more difficult a takeover attempt. A lockup option is a takeover defensive measure permitting a friendly suitor to purchase divisions of a corporation for a set price when any person or group acquires a certain percentage of the corporation's shares. To be legal, such agreement must advance or stimulate the bidding process, to best serve the interests of the shareholders through encouraged competition.

Loco parentis: [Latin, The place of a parent.] A description of the relationship that an adult or an institution assumes toward an infant or minor of whom the adult is not a parent but to whom the adult or institution owes the obligation of care and supervision.

Locus: Latin, Place; place where a thing is performed or done.

Lodger: An occupant of a portion of a dwelling, such as a hotel or boardinghouse, who has mere use of the premises without actual or exclusive possession thereof. Anyone who lives or stays in part of a building that is operated by another and who does not have control over the rooms therein.

Log rolling: A legislative practice of embracing in one bill several distinct matters, none of which, perhaps, could singly obtain the assent of the legislature, and then procuring its passage by a combination of the minorities in favor of each of the measures into a majority that will adopt them all.

Practice of including in one statute or constitutional amendment more than one proposition, inducing voters to vote for all, notwithstanding they might not have voted for all if amendments or statutes had been submitted separately.

Logging: The cutting of, or commercial dealing in, tree trunks that have been cut down and stripped of all branches.

Logging in: A colloquial term for the process of making the initial record of the names of individuals who have been brought to the police station upon their arrest.

Long-arm statute: A state law that allows the state to exercise jurisdiction over an out-of-state defendant, provided that the prospective defendant has sufficient minimum contacts with the forum state.

Loophole: An omission or AMBIGUITY in a legal document that allows the intent of the document to be evaded.

Loss: Diminution, reduction, depreciation, decrease in value; that which cannot be recovered.

Loss of services: A deprivation of a family member, such as a parent or spouse, of the right to benefit from the performance of various duties, coupled with the privation of love and companionship, provided by the victim of a personal injury or WRONGFUL DEATH.

Lost instruments: Documents that cannot be located after a thorough, careful, and diligent search has been made for them.

Lot: In sales, a parcel or single article that is the subject matter of a separate sale or delivery, irrespective of whether or not it is adequate to perform the contract. In the SECURITIES and commodities market, a specific number of shares or a particular quantity of a commodity specified for trading. In the law of real estate, one of several parcels into which real property is divided.

Low-tide elevation: Offshore land features such as shoals, rocks, or reefs that are exposed at low tide but submerged at high tide are referred to as low-tide elevations.

Loyalty oath: An oath that declares an individual's allegiance to the government and its institutions and disclaims support of ideologies or associations that oppose or threaten the government.

L.S.: An abbreviation for locus sigilli, Latin for "the place of the seal," signifying the place within a written contract where a seal is affixed in order to bind the agreement.

Lump-sum settlement: The payment of an entire debt all at once rather than in installments; the payment of a set amount of money to satisfy a pecuniary obligation that might otherwise continue indefinitely.

Lynching: Violent punishment or execution, without due process, for real or alleged crimes.

Magistrate: Any individual who has the power of a public civil officer or inferior judicial officer, such as a JUSTICE OF THE PEACE.

Mail cover: The process governed by the U.S. Postal Regulations (39 C.F.R. § 233.3) that allows the recording of all the information that appears on the outside cover of mail in any class, and also allows the recording of the contents of second-, third-, and fourth-class mail, international parcel post mail, and mail on which the appropriate postage has not been paid.

Mail fraud: A crime in which the perpetrator develops a scheme using the mails to defraud another of money or property. This crime specifically requires the intent to defraud, and is a federal offense governed by section 1341 of title 18 of the U.S. Code. The mail fraud statute was first enacted in 1872 to prohibit illicit mailings with the Postal Service (formerly the Post Office) for the purpose of executing a fraudulent scheme.

Maintenance: Unauthorized intervention by a nonparty in a lawsuit, in the form of financial or other support and assistance to prosecute or defend the litigation. The preservation of an asset or of a condition of property by upkeep and necessary repairs.

A periodic monetary sum paid by one spouse for the benefit of the other upon separation or the dissolution of marriage; also called ALIMONY or spousal support.

Majority: Full age; legal age; age at which a person is no longer a minor. The age at which, by law, a person is capable of being legally responsible for all of his or her acts (e.g. contractual obligations), and is entitled to the management of his or her own affairs and to the enjoyment of civic rights (e.g. right to vote). The opposite of minority. Also the status of a person who is a major in age.

The greater number. The number greater than half of any total.

Maker: One who makes, frames, executes, or ordains; as a lawmaker, or the maker of a promissory note. One who signs a note to borrow and, as such, assumes the obligation to pay the note when due. The person who creates or executes a note, that is, issues it, and in signing the instrument makes the promise of payment contained therein. One who signs a check; in this context, synonymous with drawer. One who issues a promissory note or certificate of deposit.

Mala fides: [Latin, Bad faith.]

Mala in se: Wrongs in themselves; acts morally wrong; offenses against conscience.

Mala prohibita: [Latin, Wrongs prohibited.] A term used to describe conduct that is prohibited by laws, although not inherently evil.

Malfeasance: The commission of an act that is unequivocally illegal or completely wrongful.

Malice: The intentional commission of a wrongful act, absent justification, with the intent to cause harm to others; conscious violation of the law that injures another individual; a mental state indicating a disposition in disregard of social duty and a tendency toward malfeasance.

Malice aforethought: A predetermination to commit an act without legal justification or excuse. A malicious design to injure. An intent, at the time of a killing, willfully to take the life of a human being, or an intent willfully to act in callous and wanton disregard of the consequences to human life; but malice aforethought does not necessarily imply any ill will, spite or hatred towards the individual killed.

Malicious: Involving malice; characterized by wicked or mischievous motives or intentions.

Malicious mischief: Willful destruction of PERSONAL PROPERTY of another, from actual ill will or resentment towards its owner or possessor. Though only a TRESPASS at the COMMON LAW, it is now a misdemeanor in most states.

Malicious prosecution: An action for damages brought by one against whom a civil suit or criminal proceeding has been unsuccessfully commenced without PROBABLE CAUSE and for a purpose other than that of bringing the alleged offender to justice.

Malpractice: The breach by a member of a profession of either a standard of care or a standard of conduct.

Man-in-the-house rule: A regulation that was formerly applied in certain jurisdictions that denied poor families WELFARE payments in the event that a man resided under the same roof with them.

Managed care: A general term that refers to health plans that attempt to control the cost and quality of care by coordinating medical and other health-related services.

Manager: One who has charge of a corporation and control of its business, or of its branch establishments, divisions, or departments, and who is vested with a certain amount of discretion and independent judgment. A person chosen or appointed to manage, direct, or administer the affairs of another person or of a business, sports team, or the like. The designation of manager implies general power and permits reasonable inferences that the employee so designated is invested with the general conduct and control of the employer's business.

Mandamus: [Latin, We comand.] A writ or order that is issued from a court of superior jurisdiction that commands an inferior tribunal, corporation, MUNICIPAL CORPORATION, or individual to perform, or refrain from performing, a particular act, the performance or omission of which is required by law as an obligation.

Mandate: A judicial command, order, or precept, written or oral, from a court; a direction that a court has the authority to give and an individual is bound to obey.

Mandatory: Peremptory; obligatory; required; that which must be subscribed to or obeyed.

Mandatory authority: Precedents, in the form of prior decisions by a higher court of the same state on point, statutes, or other sources of law that must be considered by a judge in the determination of a legal controversy.

Manor: A house, a dwelling, or a residence.

Manslaughter: The unjustifiable, inexcusable, and intentional killing of a human being without deliberation, premeditation, and malice. The unlawful killing of a human being without any deliberation, which may be involuntary, in the commission of a lawful act without due caution and circumspection.

Manufactures: Items of trade that have been transformed from raw materials, either by labor, art, skill, or machine into finished articles that have new forms, qualities, or properties.

Margin: The edge or border; the edge of a body of water where it meets the land. As applied to a boundary line of land, the margin of a river, creek, or other watercourse means the center of the stream. But in the case of a lake, bay, or natural pond, the margin means the line where land and water meet.

In finance, the difference between market value of loan collateral and face value of loan.

A sum of money, or its equivalent, placed in the hands of a BROKER by the principal or person on whose account a purchase or sale of SECURITIES is to be made, as a security to the former against losses to which he or she may be exposed by subsequent fluctuations in the market value of the stock. The amount paid by the customer when he uses a broker's credit to buy a security.

In commercial transactions the difference between the purchase price paid by an intermediary or retailer and the selling price, or difference between price received by manufacturer for its goods and costs to produce. Also called gross profit margin.

Margin call: A demand by a BROKER that an investor who has purchased SECURITIES using credit extended by the broker (on margin) pay additional cash into his or her brokerage account to reduce the amount of debt owed.

Marital: Pertaining to the relationship of HUSBAND AND WIFE; having to do with marriage.

Marital communications privilege: The right given to a HUSBAND AND WIFE to refuse to testify in a trial as to confidential statements made to each other within and during the framework of their spousal relationship.

Maritime lien: The right of a particular individual to compel the sale of a ship because he or she has not been paid a debt owed to him or her on account of such vessel.

Market value: The highest price a willing buyer would pay and a willing seller would accept, both being fully informed, and the property being exposed for sale for a reasonable period of time. The market value may be different from the price a property can actually be sold for at a given time (market price). The market value of an article or piece of property is the price that it might be expected to bring if offered for sale in a fair market; not the price that might be obtained on a sale at public auction or a sale forced by the necessities of the owner, but such a price as would be fixed by negotiation and mutual agreement, after ample time to find a purchaser, as between a vendor who is willing (but not compelled) to sell and a purchaser who desires to buy but is not compelled to take the particular article or piece of property.

Marketable title: Ownership and possession of real property that is readily transferable since it is free from valid claims by outside parties.

Marque and reprisal: A commission by which the head of a government authorizes a private ship to capture enemy vessels.

Marriage: The legal status, condition, or relationship that results from a contract by which one man and one woman, who have the capacity to enter into such an agreement, mutually promise to live together in the relationship of HUSBAND AND WIFE in law for life, or until the legal termination of the relationship.

Marshal: A federal court officer whose job entails maintaining the peace, delivering legal papers, and performing duties similar to those of a state sheriff.

Marshaling assets and securities: The process of organizing, ranking, and distributing funds in a manner set forth by law as being the most effective way to discharge debts that are owed to various creditors.

Martial law: The exercise of government and control by military authorities over the civilian population of a designated territory.

Martindale-Hubbell Law Directory: A database containing information about attorneys and law firms around the world.

Mass communications law: A body of primarily federal statutes, regulations, and judicial decisions that govern radio; broadcast, cable, and satellite television; and other means of electronic communication.

Massachusetts trust: A business arrangement that is used in place of a corporation or partnership in which trustees hold title to property for the advantage of beneficiaries for investment purposes.

Master: An individual who hires employees or servants to perform services and who directs the manner in which such services are performed.

A court officer appointed by a judge to perform such jobs as examining witnesses, taking testimony, computing damages, or taking oaths, affidavits, or acknowledgments of deeds.

Master and servant: An archaic generic legal phrase that is used to describe the relationship arising between an employer and an employee.

Material: Important; affecting the merits of a case; causing a particular course of action; significant; substantial. A description of the quality of evidence that possesses such substantial PROBATIVE value as to establish the truth or falsity of a point in issue in a lawsuit.

Mathews v. Eldridge test: A three-part test that determines whether an individual has received DUE PROCESS under the Constitution. The test balances (1) the importance of the interest at stake; (2) the risk of an erroneous deprivation of the interest because of the procedures used, and the probable value of additional procedural safeguards; and (3) the government's interest.

Matter of fact: That which is to be determined by the senses or by the testimony of witnesses who describe what they have perceived through the senses of sight, smell, touch, taste, and hearing.

Matter of law: That which is determined or ascertained through the use of statutes, rules, court decisions, and interpretations of legal principles.

Matter of record: Anything that has been entered in the formal written record of a court, which can be proved by the production of that record.

Maxim: A broad statement of principle, the truth and reasonableness of which are self-evident. A rule of EQUITY, the system of justice that complements the COMMON LAW.

Mayhem: Mayhem at COMMON LAW required a type of injury that permanently rendered the victim less able to fight offensively or defensively; it might be accomplished either by the removal of (dismemberment), or by the disablement of, some bodily member useful in fighting. Today, by statute, permanent disfigurement has been added; and as to dismemberment and disablement, there is no longer a requirement that the member have military significance. In many states the crime of mayhem is treated as aggravated assault.

McCarran internal security act: Legislation proposed by Senator PATRICK ANTHONY MCCARRAN and enacted by Congress in 1950 that subjected alleged members of designated Communist-action organizations to regulation by the federal government.

M.C.J.: An abbreviation for master of comparative JURISPRUDENCE, a degree awarded to foreign lawyers trained in CIVIL LAW countries who have successfully completed a year of full-time study of the Anglo-American legal system.

McNabb-Mallory rule: A federal judicial doctrine that operates to exclude from evidence a confession that is obtained from a person who was not brought before a judicial officer promptly after the person's arrest.

Mechanic's lien: A charge or claim upon the property of another individual as security for a debt that is created in order to obtain priority of payment of the price or value of work that is performed and materials that are provided in the erection or repair of a building or other structure.

Mediation: A settlement of a dispute or controversy by setting up an independent person between two contending parties in order to aid them in the settlement of their disagreement.

Medicaid: A joint federal-state program that provides HEALTH CARE insurance to low-income persons.

Medical examiner: A public official charged with investigating all sudden, suspicious, unexplained, or unnatural deaths within the area of his or her appointed jurisdiction. A medical examiner differs from a CORONER in that a medical examiner is a physician. Medical examiners have replaced coroners in most states and jurisdictions.

Medical malpractice: Improper, unskilled, or negligent treatment of a patient by a physician, dentist, nurse, pharmacist, or other HEALTH CARE professional.

Medicare: A federally funded system of health and hospital insurance for persons aged 65 and older and for DISABLED PERSONS.

Meeting of creditors: One of the first steps in federal BANKRUPTCY proceedings whereby the creditors of a debtor meet in court to present their claims against him or her and a trustee is named to handle the application of the debtor's assets to pay his or her debts.

Meeting of minds: The mutual agreement and assent of the parties to a contract to its substance and terms.

Membership corporation: A company or organization that is formed for purposes other than generating a profit.

Memorandum: An informal record, in the form of a brief written note or outline, of a particular legal transaction or document for the purpose of aiding the parties in remembering particular points or for future reference.

Memorandum decision: A court's decision that gives the ruling (what it decides and orders done), but no opinion (reasons for the decision).

Mens rea: As an element of criminal responsibility, a guilty mind; a guilty or wrongful purpose; a criminal intent. Guilty knowledge and wilfulness.

Mensa et thoro: [Latin, From bed and board.] A type of DIVORCE that is a partial termination of the duties of a marital relationship.

Mental anguish: When connected with a physical injury, includes both the resultant mental sensation of pain and also the accompanying feelings of distress, fright, and anxiety. As an element of damages implies a relatively high degree of mental pain and distress; it is more than mere disappointment, anger, worry, resentment, or embarrassment, although it may include all of these, and it includes mental sensation of pain resulting from such painful emotions as grief, severe disappointment, indignation, wounded pride, shame, despair, and/or public humiliation. In other connections, and as a ground for DIVORCE or for compensable damages or an element of damages, it includes the mental suffering resulting from the excitation of the more poignant and painful emotions, such as grief, severe disappointment, indignation, wounded pride, shame, public humiliation, despair, etc.

Mental cruelty: A course of conduct on the part of one spouse toward the other spouse that can endanger the mental and physical health and efficiency of the other spouse to such an extent as to render CONTINUANCE of the marital relation intolerable. As a ground for DIVORCE, it is conduct that causes embarrassment, humiliation, and anguish so as to render life miserable and unendurable or to cause a spouse's life, person, or health to become endangered.

Mercantile: Relating to trade or commerce; commercial; having to do with the business of buying and selling; relating to merchants.

Merchantable: Salable; of quality and type ordinarily acceptable among vendors and buyers.

Mercian law: A major body of Anglo-Saxon customs that, along with the Dane law and the West Saxon law, continued to constitute the law in England in the days immediately following the Norman Conquest.

Merger: The combination or fusion of one thing or right into another thing or right of greater or larger importance so that the lesser thing or right loses its individuality and becomes identified with the greater whole.

Mergers and acquisitions: Methods by which corporations legally unify ownership of assets formerly subject to separate controls.

Merit system: System used by federal and state governments for hiring and promoting governmental employees to civil service positions on the basis of competence.

Merits: The strict legal rights of the parties to a lawsuit.

Mesne: Intermediate; intervening; the middle between two extremes, especially of rank or time. In feudal law, an intermediate lord; a lord who stood between a tenant and the chief lord; a lord who was also a tenant.

Metes and bounds: The boundary lines of land, with their terminal points and angles. A way of describing land by listing the compass directions and distances of the boundaries. It is often used in connection with the Government Survey System.

Military government: A government that is established during or after military occupation by the victorious country in an armed conflict. According to INTERNATIONAL LAW, the territory that has been placed under the authority of a hostile army continues to belong to the state that has been ousted. However, it may be ruled by the occupiers under a special regime.

Military law: The body of laws, rules, and regulations that have been developed to meet the needs of the military. It encompasses service in the military, the constitutional rights of service members, the military criminal justice system, and the INTERNATIONAL LAW of armed conflict.

Militia: A group of private citizens who train for military duty in order to be ready to defend their state or country in times of emergency. A militia is distinct from regular military forces, which are units of professional soldiers maintained both in war and peace by the federal government.

Mill: One-tenth of one cent: $0.001. A mill rate is used by many localities to compute property taxes. For example, some states levy a one-time nonrecurring tax of two mills per dollar (0.2%) on the fair market value of all notes, bonds, and other obligations for payment of money that are secured by mortgage, deed of trust, or other lien on real property in lieu of all other taxes on such property.

Mine and mineral law: The law governing the ownership, sale, and operation of mines, quarries, and wells, and the rights to natural resources found in the earth.

Mineral right: An interest in minerals in land, with or without ownership of the surface of the land. A right to take minerals or a right to receive a royalty.

Minimum wage: The minimum hourly rate of compensation for labor, as established by federal statute and required of employers engaged in businesses that affect interstate commerce. Most states also have similar statutes governing minimum wages.

Ministerial: Done under the direction of a supervisor; not involving discretion or policymaking.

Minitrial: A private, voluntary, and informal type of ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION.

Minor: An infant or person who is under the age of legal competence. A term derived from the CIVIL LAW, which described a person under a certain age as less than so many years. In most states, a person is no longer a minor after reaching the age of 18 (though state laws might still prohibit certain acts until reaching a greater age; e.g., purchase of liquor). Also, less; of less consideration; lower; a person of inferior condition.

Minority: The state or condition of a minor; infancy. Opposite of majority. The smaller number of votes of a deliberative assembly; opposed to majority. In context of the Constitution's guarantee of EQUAL PROTECTION, minority does not have merely numerical denotation but refers to identifiable and specially disadvantaged groups such as those based on race, religion, ethnicity, or national origin.

Minute book: An account where official proceedings are recorded.

Minutes: The written record of an official proceeding. The notes recounting the transactions occurring at a meeting or official proceeding; a record kept by courts and corporations for future reference.

Miscarriage of justice: A legal proceeding resulting in a prejudicial outcome.

Miscegenation: Mixture of races. A term formerly applied to marriage between persons of different races. Statutes prohibiting marriage between persons of different races have been held to be invalid as contrary to the EQUAL PROTECTION CLAUSE of the Constitution.

Mischief: A specific injury or damage caused by another person's action or inaction. In CIVIL LAW, a person who suffered physical injury due to the NEGLIGENCE of another person could allege mischief in a lawsuit in TORT. For example, if a baseball is hit through a person's window by accident, and the resident within is injured, mischief can be claimed. It is distinct from malicious mischief, which is a criminal act usually involving reckless or intentional behavior such as VANDALISM.

Misdemeanor: Offenses lower than felonies and generally those punishable by fine, penalty, FORFEITURE, or imprisonment other than in a penitentiary. Under federal law, and most state laws, any offense other than a felony is classified as a misdemeanor. Certain states also have various classes of misdemeanors (e.g., Class A, B, etc.).

Misfeasance: A term used in TORT LAW to describe an act that is legal but performed improperly.

Misprision: The failure to perform a public duty.

Misrepresentation: An assertion or manifestation by words or conduct that is not in accord with the facts.

Mistake: An unintentional act, omission, or error.

Mistake of fact: An error that is not caused by the neglect of a legal duty on the part of the person committing the error but rather consists of an unconscious ignorance of a past or present material event or circumstance or a belief in the present existence of a material event that does not exist or a belief in the past existence of a material event that did not exist.

Mistake of law: A misconception that occurs when a person with complete knowledge of the facts reaches an erroneous conclusion as to their legal effect; an incorrect opinion or inference, arising from a flawed evaluation of the facts.

Mistrial: A courtroom trial that has been terminated prior to its normal conclusion. A mistrial has no legal effect and is considered an invalid or nugatory trial. It differs from a “new trial,” which recognizes that a trial was completed but was set aside so that the issues could be tried again.

Mitigating circumstances: Circumstances that may be considered by a court in determining culpability of a defendant or the extent of damages to be awarded to a plaintiff. Mitigating circumstances do not justify or excuse an offense but may reduce the severity of a charge. Similarly, a recognition of mitigating circumstances to reduce a damage award does not imply that the damages were not suffered but that they have been partially ameliorated.

Mitigation of damages: The use of reasonable care and diligence in an effort to minimize or avoid injury.

Mittimus: A court order directing a sheriff or other police officer to escort a convict to a prison.

Mixed actions: Lawsuits having two purposes: to recover real property and to obtain monetary damages.

M’Naghten rule: A test applied to determine whether a person accused of a crime was sane at the time of its commission and, therefore, criminally responsible for the wrongdoing.

Mock trial: A simulated trial-level proceeding conducted by students to understand trial rules and processes. Usually tried before a mock jury, these proceedings are different from MOOT COURT proceedings, which simulate appellate arguments.

Model acts: Statutes and court rules drafted by the American Law Institute (ALI), the AMERICAN BAR ASSOCIATION (ABA), the COMMISSIONERS ON UNIFORM LAWS, and other organizations. State legislatures may adopt model acts in whole or in part, or they may modify them to fit their needs. Model acts differ from UNIFORM ACTS, which are usually adopted by the states in virtually the same form proposed by the American Law Institute and other organizations.

Modification: A change or alteration in existing materials.

Modus operandi: [Latin, Method of working.] A term used by law enforcement authorities to describe the particular manner in which a crime is committed.

Moiety: One-half.

Money laundering: The process of taking the proceeds of criminal activity and making them appear legal.

Money paid: The technical name given a declaration in ASSUMPSIT in which the plaintiff declares that the defendant had and received certain money. A COMMON-LAW PLEADING, stating that the defendant received money that, in EQUITY and good conscience, should be paid to the plaintiff.

Monopoly: An economic advantage held by one or more persons or companies deriving from the exclusive power to carry on a particular business or trade or to manufacture and sell a particular item, thereby suppressing competition and allowing such persons or companies to raise the price of a product or service substantially above the price that would be established by a free market.

Monument: Anything by which the memory of a person, thing, idea, art, science or event is preserved or perpetuated. A tomb where a dead body has been deposited.

In REAL-PROPERTY law and surveying, visible marks or indications left on natural or other objects indicating the lines and boundaries of a survey. Any physical object on the ground that helps to establish the location of a boundary line called for; it may be either natural (e.g., trees, rivers, and other land features) or artificial (e.g., fences, stones, stakes, or the like placed by human hands).

Moot: An issue presenting no real controversy.

Moot court: A method of teaching law and legal skills that requires students to analyze and argue both sides of a hypothetical legal issue using procedures modeled after those employed in state and federal appellate courts.

Moral law: The rules of behavior an individual or a group may follow out of personal conscience and that are not necessarily part of legislated law in the United States.

Moral relativism: The philosophized notion that right and wrong are not absolute values, but are personalized according to the individual and his or her circumstances or cultural orientation. It can be used positively to effect change in the law (e.g., promoting tolerance for other customs or lifestyles) or negatively as a means to attempt justification for wrongdoing or lawbreaking. The opposite of moral relativism is moral absolutism, which espouses a fundamental, NATURAL LAW of constant values and rules, and which judges all persons equally, irrespective of individual circumstances or cultural differences.

Moral turpitude: A phrase used in CRIMINAL LAW to describe conduct that is considered contrary to community standards of justice, honesty, or good morals.

Moratorium: A suspension of activity or an authorized period of delay or waiting. A moratorium is sometimes agreed upon by the interested parties, or it may be authorized or imposed by operation of law. The term also is used to denote a period of time during which the law authorizes a delay in payment of debts or performance of some other legal obligation. This type of moratorium is most often invoked during times of distress, such as war or natural disaster.

Mortality tables: A means of ascertaining the probable number of years any man or woman of a given age and of ordinary health will live. A mortality table expresses on the basis of the group studied the probability that, of a number of persons of equal expectations of life who are living at the beginning of any year, a certain number of deaths will occur within that year.

Such tables are used by insurance companies to determine the premium to be charged for those in the respective age groups.

Mortgage: A legal document by which the owner (i.e., the buyer) transfers to the lender an interest in real estate to secure the repayment of a debt, evidenced by a mortgage note. When the debt is repaid, the mortgage is discharged, and a satisfaction of mortgage is recorded with the register or recorder of deeds in the county where the mortgage was recorded. Because most people cannot afford to buy real estate with cash, nearly every real estate transaction involves a mortgage.

Mortmain: [French, Dead hand.] A term to denote the conveyance of ownership of land or tenements to any corporation, religious or secular.

Mortmain acts: Statutes designed to prevent lands from being perpetually possessed or controlled by religious corporations.

Most-favored-nation status: A method of establishing equality of trading opportunity among states by guaranteeing that if one country is given better trade terms by another, then all other states must get the same terms.

Motion: A written or oral application made to a court or judge to obtain a ruling or order directing that some act be done in favor of the applicant. The applicant is known as the moving party, or the MOVANT.

Motive: An idea, belief, or emotion that impels a person to act in accordance with that state of mind.

Movant: One who makes a motion before a court. The applicant for a judicial rule or order.

Move: To make an application to a court for a rule or order, or to take action in any matter. The term comprehends all things necessary to be done by a litigant to obtain an order of the court directing the relief sought. To propose a resolution, or recommend action in a deliberative body. To pass over; to be transferred, as when the consideration of a contract is said to move from one party to the other. To occasion; to contribute to; to tend or lead to.

Movie rating: A classification given to a commercially released motion picture that indicates to consumers whether the film contains sex, profanity, violence, or other subject matter that may be inappropriate for persons in certain age groups.

Multidistrict litigation: A procedure provided by federal statute (28 U.S.C.A. § 1407) that permits civil lawsuits with at least one common (and often intricate) QUESTION OF FACT that have been pending in different federal district courts to be transferred and consolidated for pretrial proceedings before one judge.

Multilevel distributorship: A type of referral sales scheme by which an individual who purchases a particular item from a company agrees to solicit and provide additional buyers for the product in exchange for a commission or rebate from the company.

Multiplicity of actions: Several unnecessary attempts to litigate the same claim or issue.

Municipal: In its narrower and more common sense, pertaining to a local governmental unit, commonly a city or town. In its broader sense, pertaining to the public or governmental affairs of a state, nation, or of a people. Relating to a state or nation, particularly when considered as an entity independent of other states or nations.

Municipal corporation: An incorporated political subdivision of a state that is composed of the citizens of a designated geographic area and which performs certain state functions on a local level and possesses such powers as are conferred upon it by the state.

Muniments of title: Documents that serve as evidence of ownership of real or PERSONAL PROPERTY. Written instruments, such as stock certificates or deeds to land, by which an owner is enabled to defend his or her ownership rights.

Murder: The unlawful killing of another human being without justification or excuse.

Music publishing: The contractual relationship between a songwriter or music composer and a music publisher, whereby the writer assigns part or all of his or her music copyrights to the publisher in exchange for the publisher's commercial exploitation of the music.

Mutilation: Cutting, tearing, erasing, or otherwise changing a document in a way that changes or destroys its legal effect. It is a federal crime to mutilate public records, coins, or passports.

In CRIMINAL LAW, the crime of violently, maliciously, and intentionally giving someone a serious permanent wound.

Mutiny: A rising against lawful or constituted authority, particularly in the naval or ARMED SERVICES.

Mutual company: A corporation in which members are the exclusive shareholders and the recipients of profits distributed as dividends in proportion to the business that such members did with the company.

Mutual fund: A fund, in the form of an investment company, in which shareholders combine their money to invest in a variety of stocks, bonds, and money-market investments such as U.S. Treasury bills and bank certificates of deposit.

Mutual mistake: An error of both parties to a contract, whereby each operates under the identical misconception concerning a past or existing material fact.

Mutuality of obligation: The legal principle that provides that unless both parties to a contract are bound to perform, neither party is bound.

Naked contract: From the Latin term nudum pactum, or “bare promise” An agreement between two parties that is without any legal effect because no consideration has been exchanged between the parties. A naked contract is unenforceable.

Name: The designation of an individual person or of a firm or corporation. A word or combination of words used to distinguish a person, thing, or class from others.

Napoleonic Code: The first modern organized body of law governing France, also known as the Code Napoleon or Code Civil, enacted by Napoléon I in 1804.

National mediation board: A three-person board created by federal statute to resolve disputes in the railroad and airline industries that could disrupt travel or imperil the economy. The board also handles railroad and airline employee representation disputes and provides administrative and financial support in adjusting minor grievances in the railroad industry.

Natural and probable consequences: Those ramifications of a particular course of conduct that are reasonably foreseeable by a person of average intelligence and generally occur in the normal course of events.

Natural law: The unwritten body of universal moral principles that underlie the ethical and legal norms by which human conduct is sometimes evaluated and governed. Natural law is often contrasted with positive law, which consists of the written rules and regulations enacted by government. The term natural law is derived from the Roman term jus naturale. Adherents to natural law philosophy are known as naturalists.

Naturalization: The process under federal law whereby a foreign-born person may be granted citizenship. In order to qualify for naturalization, an applicant must meet a number of statutory requirements, including those related to residency, literacy, and education, as well as an exhibition of “good moral character” and a demonstration of an attachment to constitutional principles upon which the United States is based.

Navigable waters: Waters that provide a channel for commerce and transportation of people and goods.

Necessaries: Things indispensable, or things proper and useful, for the sustenance of human life.

Necessity: A defense asserted by a criminal or civil defendant that he or she had no choice but to break the law.

Negative covenant: A provision found in an employment agreement or a contract of sale of a business that prohibits an employee or seller from competing in the same area or market.

Neglect: An omission to do or perform some work, duty, or act.

Negligence: Conduct that falls below the standards of behavior established by law for the protection of others against unreasonable risk of harm. A person has acted negligently if he or she has departed from the conduct expected of a reasonably prudent person acting under similar circumstances.

In order to establish negligence as a CAUSE OF ACTION under the law of TORTS, a plaintiff must prove that the defendant had a duty to the plaintiff, the defendant breached that duty by failing to conform to the required standard of conduct, the defendant's negligent conduct was the cause of the harm to the plaintiff, and the plaintiff was, in fact, harmed or damaged.

Negligent entrustment: The act of leaving an object, such as an automobile or firearm, with another whom the lender knows or should know could use the object to harm others due to such factors as youth or inexperience.

Negotiable instrument: A COMMERCIAL PAPER, such as a check or promissory note, that contains the signature of the maker or drawer; an unconditional promise or order to pay a certain sum in cash that is payable either upon demand or at a specifically designated time to the order of a designated person or to its bearer.

Negotiate: To conduct business transactions; to deal with another individual in regard to a purchase and sale; to bargain or trade. To conclude by way of agreement, bargain, or compact. To transfer a negotiable instrument, such as a promissory note, or other COMMERCIAL PAPER.

Net: The sum that remains following all permissible deductions, including charges, expenses, discounts, commissions, or taxes.

Net worth: The difference between total assets and liabilities; the sum total of the assets of an individual or business minus the total amount owed to creditors.

Neutrality: The state of a nation that takes no part in a war between two or more other powers.

Next friend: An individual who acts on behalf of another individual who does not have the legal capacity to act on his or her own behalf.

The individual in whose name a minor's lawsuit is brought, or who appears in court to represent such minor's interest. The French term prochein ami has been used to designate such an individual, but the term GUARDIAN AD LITEM is more commonly used.

Next of kin: The blood relatives entitled by law to inherit the property of a person who dies without leaving a valid will, although the term is sometimes interpreted to include a relationship existing by reason of marriage.

Nihil: [Latin, Nothing.] The abbreviated designation of a statement filed by a sheriff or constable with a court describing his or her unsuccessful attempts to serve a writ, notice, or process upon the designated person.

Ninety-day letter: The name given to a written notice sent to a taxpayer by the INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE regarding a deficiency in the payment of tax (26 U.S.C.A. § 6212 et seq.).

Nisi prius: [Latin, Unless before.]

No bill: A term that the foreman of the GRAND JURY writes across the face of a bill of indictment (a document drawn up by a prosecutor that states formal criminal charges against a designated individual) to indicate that the criminal charges alleged therein against a suspect have not been sufficiently supported by the evidence presented before it to warrant his or her criminal prosecution.

No contest: The English translation of a nolo contendere plea used in criminal cases. Generally the terms nolo contendere and no contest are used interchangeably in the legal community. The operation of a no contest plea is similar to a plea of guilty. A defendant who enters a no contest plea concedes the charges alleged without disputing or admitting guilt and without offering a defense. No contest has a different meaning in the context of a will.

No fault: A kind of automobile insurance that provides that each driver must collect the allowable amount of money from his or her own insurance carrier subsequent to an accident regardless of who was at fault.

No-load fund: A type of MUTUAL FUND that does not impose extra charges for administrative and selling expenses incurred in offering its shares for sale to the public.

Nolle prosecute: [Latin, Will not prosecute.]

Nolo contendere: [Latin, I will not contest it.] A plea in a criminal case by which the defendant answers the charges made in the indictment by declining to dispute or admit the fact of his or her guilt.

Nominal: Trifling, token, or slight; not real or substantial; in name only.

Nominal damages: Minimal money damages awarded to an individual in an action where the person has not suffered any substantial injury or loss for which he or she must be compensated.

Non: [Latin, Not.] A common prefix used to indicate negation.

Non prosequitur: [Latin, He does not pursue, or follow up.] The name of a judgment rendered by a court against a plaintiff because he or she fails to take any necessary steps, in legal proceedings, within the period prescribed for such proceedings by the practice of court.

Non sui juris: [Latin, Not his own master.] A term applied to an individual who lacks the legal capacity to act on his or her own behalf, such as an infant or an insane person.

Non vult contendere: [Latin, He does not wish to contest it.] A type of plea that can be entered by a defendant who is unwilling to admit guilt but is willing to submit to the court for sentencing.

Nonage: Infancy or minority; lack of requisite legal age.

Noncompete agreement: A contract limiting a party from competing with a business after termination of employment or completion of a business sale.

Nonconforming use: Continuing use of real property, permitted by ZONING ordinances, in a manner in which other similar plots of land in the same area cannot ordinarily be used.

Nonfeasance: The intentional failure to perform a required duty or obligation.

Nonprofit: A corporation or an association that conducts business for the benefit of the general public without shareholders and without a profit motive.

Nonsuit: A broad term for any of several ways to terminate a legal action without an actual determination of the controversy on the merits.

Nonsupport: The failure of one individual to provide financial maintenance for another individual in spite of a legal obligation to do so.

Norris-laguardia act: One of the initial federal LABOR LAWS in favor of organized labor. It was enacted in 1932.

North American Free Trade Agreement: A trade agreement between the United States, Canada, and Mexico, which took effect January 1, 1994. Its purpose is to increase the efficiency and fairness of trade among the three nations.

Northwest Ordinance: An agreement adopted in 1787 by the Congress of the Confederation of States that created the Northwest Territory, organized its governing structure, and established the procedures by which territories were admitted as states to the Union.

Notary public: A public official whose main powers include administering oaths and attesting to signatures, both important and effective ways to minimize FRAUD in legal documents.

Note: To take notice of. A COMMERCIAL PAPER that contains an express and absolute promise by the maker to pay to a specific individual, to order, or to bearer a definite sum of money on demand or at a specifically designated time.

Notes of decisions: Annotations; concise summaries and references to the printed decisions of cases that are designed to explain particular RULES OF LAW or applicable sections of statutes.

Notice: Information; knowledge of certain facts or of a particular state of affairs. The formal receipt of papers that provide specific information.

Novation: The substitution of a new contract for an old one. The new agreement extinguishes the rights and obligations that were in effect under the old agreement.

Nuclear power: A form of energy produced by an atomic reaction, capable of producing an alternative source of electrical power to that supplied by coal, gas, or oil.

Nuclear regulatory commission: An independent regulatory agency that oversees the civilian use of NUCLEAR POWER in the United States.

Nuclear weapons: Weapons of mass destruction that are powered by nuclear reaction. Types of nuclear weapons include atom bombs, hydrogen bombs, fission bombs, and fusion bombs.

Nugatory: Invalid; lacking legal force.

Nuisance: A legal action to redress harm arising from the use of one's property.

Null: Of no legal validity, force, or effect; nothing.

Nunc pro tunc: [Latin, Now for then.] When courts take some action nunc pro tunc, that action has retroactive legal effect, as though it had been performed at a particular, earlier date.

Nuncupative will: The oral expression of a person's wishes as to the disposition of his or her property to be performed or to take effect after the person's death, dictated by the person in his or her final illness before a sufficient number of witnesses and afterward reduced to writing.

Oath: Any type of attestation by which an individual signifies that he or she is bound in conscience to perform a particular act truthfully and faithfully; a solemn declaration of truth or obligation.

An individual's appeal to God to witness the truth of what he or she is saying or a pledge to do something enforced by the individual's responsibility to answer to God.

Obiter dictum: [Latin, By the way.] Words of an opinion entirely unnecessary for the decision of the case. A remark made or opinion expressed by a judge in a decision upon a cause, "by the way," that is, incidentally or collaterally, and not directly upon the question before the court or upon a point not necessarily involved in the determination of the cause, or introduced by way of illustration, or analogy or argument. Such are not binding as precedent.

Object: As a verb, to take exception to something; to declare or express the belief that something is improper or illegal.

As a noun, the thing sought to be accomplished or attained; aim; purpose; intention.

Objection: A formal attestation or declaration of disapproval concerning a specific point of law or procedure during the course of a trial; a statement indicating disagreement with a judge's ruling.

Objective theory of contract: A principle in U.S. law that the existence of a contract is determined by the legal significance of the external acts of a party to a purported agreement, rather than by the actual intent of the parties.

Obligation: A generic term for any type of legal duty or liability.

Obligee: The individual to whom a particular duty or obligation is owed.

Obligor: The individual who owes another person a certain debt or duty.

Obliteration: A destruction; an eradication of written words.

Obscene: Offensive to recognized standards of decency.

Obscenity: The character or quality of being obscene; an act, utterance, or item tending to corrupt the public morals by its indecency or lewdness.

Obstruction of justice: A criminal offense that involves interference, through words or actions, with the proper operations of a court or officers of the court.

Occupancy: Gaining or having physical possession of real property subject to, or in the absence of, legal right or title.

Occupational disease: A disease resulting from exposure during employment to conditions or substances that are detrimental to health (such as black lung disease contracted by miners).

Of counsel: A term commonly applied in the PRACTICE OF LAW to an attorney who has been employed to aid in the preparation and management of a particular case but who is not the principal attorney in the action.

Of course: Any action or step that an individual might take during judicial proceedings without being required to ask the judge's permission or that will receive the judge's automatic approval if the individual does ask permission; that which is a matter of right.

Of record: Entered on the appropriate official documents maintained by a governmental body and that are usually available for inspection by the public.

Offense: A breach of law; a crime.

Offer: A promise that, according to its terms, is contingent upon a particular act, forbearance, or promise given in exchange for the original promise or the performance thereof; a demonstration of the willingness of a party to enter into a bargain, made in such a way that another individual is justified in understanding that his or her assent to the bargain is invited and that such assent will conclude the bargain.

Office audit: A thorough examination and verification of the tax returns and financial records of an individual or firm by the INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE in the office of the agent who is conducting the review.

Officer: An individual with the responsibility of performing the duties and functions of an office, that is a duty or charge, a position of trust, or a right to exercise a public or private employment.

Officers of the court: An all-inclusive term for any type of court employee including judges, clerks, sheriffs, marshals, bailiffs, and constables.

Official gazette: A compilation published weekly by the PATENT AND TRADEMARK OFFICE listing all the PATENTS and TRADEMARKS issued and registered, thereby providing notice to all interested parties.

Offset: A contrary claim or demand that may cancel or reduce a given claim; a counterclaim. A kind of bookkeeping entry that counters the effect of a previous entry.

Ombudsperson: A public official who acts as an impartial intermediary between the public and government or bureaucracy, or an employee of an organization who mediates disputes between employees and management.

Omnibus: [Latin, For all; containing two or more independent matters.] A term frequently used in reference to a legislative bill comprised of two or more general subjects that is designed to compel the executive to approve provisions that he or she would otherwise reject but that he or she signs into law to prevent the defeat of the entire bill.

On demand: Payable immediately on request.

On or about: Near; approximately; without significant variance from an agreed date.

On point: Directly applicable or dispositive of the matter under consideration.

One person, one vote: The principle that all citizens, regardless of where they reside in a state, are entitled to equal legislative representation.

Onus probandi: [Latin, The burden of proof.] In the strict sense, a term used to indicate that if no evidence is set forth by the party who has the BURDEN OF PROOF to establish the existence of facts in support of an issue, then the issue must be found against that party.

Open: To make accessible, visible, or available; to submit to review, examination, or inquiry through the elimination of restrictions or impediments.

Open account: An unpaid or unsettled account; an account with a balance that has not been ascertained, that is kept open in anticipation of future transactions. A type of credit extended by a seller to a buyer that permits the buyer to make purchases without a note or security and is based on an evaluation of the buyer's credit. A contractual obligation that may be modified by subsequent agreement of the parties, either by expressed consent or by consent implied from the conduct of the parties, provided the agreement changing the contractual obligation is based upon independent consideration.

Open bid: An offer to perform a contract, generally of a construction nature, in which the bidder reserves the right to reduce his or her bid to compete with a lower bid.

Open court: Common law requires a trial in open court; "open court" means a court to which the public has a right to be admitted. This term may mean either a court that has been formally convened and declared open for the transaction of its proper judicial business or a court that is freely open to spectators.

Open-end contract: An agreement that allows a buyer to make purchases over a period of time without a change in the price or terms by the seller.

Open-end credit: A type of revolving account that permits an individual to pay, on a monthly basis, only a portion of the total amount due.

Open-end mortgage: A mortgage that allows the borrowing of additional sums, often on the condition that a stated ratio of collateral value to the debt be maintained. A mortgage that provides for future advances on the mortgage and which so increases the amount of the mortgage.

Open listing: A type of real estate listing contract whereby any agent who has a right to participate in the open listing is entitled to a commission if he or she produces the sale.

Open shop: A business in which union and nonunion workers are employed. A business in which union membership is not a condition of securing or maintaining employment.

Opening statement: An introductory statement made by the attorneys for each side at the start of a trial. The opening statement, although not mandatory, is seldom waived because it offers a valuable opportunity to provide an overview of the case to the jury and to explain the anticipated proof that will be presented during the course of the trial.

Operation of law: The manner in which an individual acquires certain rights or liabilities through no act or cooperation of his or her own, but merely by the application of the established legal rules to the particular transaction.

Opinion evidence: Evidence of what the witness thinks, believes, or infers in regard to facts in dispute, as distinguished from personal knowledge of the facts themselves. The RULES OF EVIDENCE ordinarily do not permit witnesses to testify as to opinions or conclusions.

Oppression: The offense, committed by a public official, of wrongfully inflicting injury, such as bodily harm or imprisonment, upon another individual under color of office.

Option: A privilege, for which a person has paid money, that grants that person the right to purchase or sell certain commodities or certain specified SECURITIES at any time within an agreed period for a fixed price.

A right, which operates as a continuing offer, given in exchange for consideration—something of value—to purchase or lease property at an agreed price and terms within a specified time.

Oral contract: An agreement between parties that is either partly in writing and partly dependent on spoken words or that is entirely dependent on spoken words.

Ordeal: One of the most ancient forms of trial in England that required the accused person to submit to a dangerous or painful test on the theory that God would intervene and disclose his or her guilt or innocence.

Order: Direction of a court or judge normally made or entered in writing, and not included in a judgment, which determines some point or directs some step in the proceedings.

Order of the coif: An unincorporated national scholastic honor society in law. Its purpose is to foster excellence in legal scholarship and to recognize those who have attained high grades in law school or who have distinguished themselves in the teaching of law. There are more than sixty chapters located in law schools throughout the country.

Ordinance: A law, statute, or regulation enacted by a MUNICIPAL CORPORATION.

Organ transplantation: The transfer of organs such as the kidneys, heart, or liver from one body to another.

Organic law: The fundamental law or constitution of a particular state or nation, either written or unwritten, that defines and establishes the manner in which its government will be organized.

Organization: A generic term for any type of group or association of individuals who are joined together either formally or legally.

Organized crime: Criminal activity carried out by an organized enterprise.

Original intent: The theory of interpretation by which judges attempt to ascertain the meaning of a particular provision of a state or federal constitution by determining how the provision was understood at the time it was drafted and ratified.

Original jurisdiction: The authority of a tribunal to entertain a lawsuit, try it, and set forth a judgment on the law and facts.

Original writ: A document formerly used to commence a lawsuit in English courts.

Origination fee: A charge imposed by a lending institution or a bank for the service of processing a loan.

Orphan's court: The designation of tribunals in a number of New England states that have probate or surrogate jurisdiction.

Ostensible: Apparent; visible; exhibited.

Out-of-court settlement: An agreement reached between the parties in a pending lawsuit that resolves the dispute to their mutual satisfaction and occurs without judicial intervention, supervision, or approval.

Outlawry: A declaration under Old ENGLISH LAW by which a person found in CONTEMPT on a civil or criminal process was considered an outlaw—that is, someone who is beyond the protection or assistance of the law.

Output contract: In the law of sales, an agreement in which one party assents to sell his or her total production to another party, who agrees to purchase it.

Outstanding warrant: An order that has not yet been carried out; an order for which the action commanded has not been taken.

Overbreadth doctrine: A principle of JUDICIAL REVIEW that holds that a law is invalid if it punishes constitutionally protected speech or conduct along with speech or conduct that the government may limit to further a compelling government interest.

Overdraft: A check that is drawn on an account containing less money than the amount stated on the check.

Overhead: A sum total of the administrative or executive costs that relate to the management, conduct, or supervision of a business that are not attributable to any one particular product or department.

Overreaching: Exploiting a situation through FRAUD or UNCONSCIONABLE conduct.

Override: An arrangement whereby commissions are made by sales managers based upon the sales made by their subordinate sales representatives. A term found in an agreement between a real estate agent and a property owner whereby the agent keeps the right to receive a commission for the sale of the property for a reasonable time after the agreement expires if the sale is made to a purchaser with whom the agent negotiated prior to the expiration of the agreement.

Overrule: The refusal by a judge to sustain an objection set forth by an attorney during a trial, such as an objection to a particular question posed to a witness. To make void, annul, supersede, or reject through a subsequent decision or action.

Overt: Public; open; manifest.

Overt act: An open, manifest act from which criminality may be implied. An outward act done in pursuance and manifestation of an intent or design.

Owner: The person recognized by the law as having the ultimate control over, and right to use, property as long as the law permits and no agreement or COVENANT limits his or her rights.

Oyer and terminer: [French, To hear and decide.] The designation “court of oyer and terminer” is frequently used as the actual title, or a portion of the title, of a state court that has criminal jurisdiction over felonious offenses.

Oyez: [French, Hear ye.] A word used in some courts by the public crier to indicate that a proclamation is about to be made and to command attention to it.

Pacifism: A belief or policy in opposition to war or violence as a means of settling disputes. Pacifists maintain that unswerving nonviolence can bestow upon people a power greater than that achieved through the use of violent aggression.

Packing: The process of exercising unlawful, improper, or deceitful means to obtain a jury composed of individuals who are favorably disposed to the verdict sought.

Pact: A bargain, compact, or agreement. An agreement between two or more nations or states that is similar to, but less complex than, a treaty.

Pacta sunt servanda: [Latin, Promises must be kept.] An expression signifying that the agreements and stipulations of the parties to a contract must be observed.

Pactum: [Latin, Pact.] A compact, bargain, or agreement.

Pairing-off: In the practice of legislative bodies, a system by which two members, who belong to opposing political parties or are on opposite sides with respect to a certain question, mutually agree that they will both be absent from voting, either for a specified period or when a vote is to be taken on the particular question.

Pais: [French, The country; the neighborhood.] A trial per pais denotes a trial by the country; that is, trial by jury.

Palm off: To misrepresent inferior goods of one producer as superior goods made by a reputable, well-regarded competitor in order to gain commercial advantage and promote sales.

Palpable: Easily perceptible, plain, obvious, readily visible, noticeable, patent, distinct, manifest.

Pander: To pimp; to cater to the gratification of the lust of another. To entice or procure a person, by promises, threats, FRAUD, or deception to enter any place in which prostitution is practiced for the purpose of prostitution.

Panel: A list of jurors to serve in a particular court or for the trial of a designated action. A group of judges of a lesser number than the entire court convened to decide a case, such as when a nine-member appellate court divides into three, three-member groups, and each group hears and decides cases. A plan in reference to prepaid legal services.

Paper: A document that is filed or introduced in evidence in a lawsuit, as in the phrases papers in the case and papers on appeal.

Any written or printed statement, including letters, memoranda, legal or business documents, and books of account, in the context of the FOURTH AMENDMENT to the U.S. Constitution, which protects the people from unreasonable SEARCHES AND SEIZURES with respect to their “papers” as well as their persons and houses.

In the context of accommodation paper and COMMERCIAL PAPER, a written or printed evidence of debt.

Par: In COMMERCIAL LAW, equal; equality.

Parallel citation: A reference to the same case or statute published in two or more sources.

Paramount title: In the law of real property, ownership that is superior to the ownership with which it is compared, in the sense that the former is the source or the origin of the latter.

Parcener: A joint heir.

Pardon: The action of an executive official of the government that mitigates or sets aside the punishment for a crime.

Parens patriae: [Latin, Parent of the country.] A doctrine that grants the inherent power and authority of the state to protect persons who are legally unable to act on their own behalf.

Parent and child: The legal relationship between a father or mother and his or her offspring.

Parent company: An enterprise, which is also known as a parent corporation, that owns more than 50 percent of the voting shares of its subsidiary.

Pari causa: [Latin, With equal right.] Upon an equal footing; having the same rights or claims.

Pari delicto: [Latin, In equal fault.] The doctrine, also known as in pari delicto, that provides that courts will not enforce an invalid contract and that no party can recover in an action where it is necessary to prove the existence of an illegal contract in order to make his or her case.

Pari materia: [Latin, Of the same matter; on the same subject.] The phrase used in connection with two laws relating to the same subject matter that must be analyzed with each other.

Pari passu: [Latin, By an equal progress; equably; ratably; without preference.] Used especially to describe creditors who, in marshalling assets, are entitled to receive out of the same fund without any precedence over each other.

Parity: Equality in amount or value. Equivalence of prices of farm products to the prices existing at some former date (the base period) or to the general cost of living; equivalence of prices of goods or services in two different markets. The relationship between two currencies such that they are exchangeable for each other at the par or official rate of exchange.

Parliamentary law: The general body of enacted rules and recognized usages governing the procedure of legislative assemblies and other deliberative sessions such as meetings of stockholders and directors of corporations, town meetings, and board meetings. Roberts Rules of Order are an example of such rules.

Parol evidence: Parol refers to verbal expressions or words. Verbal evidence, such as the testimony of a witness at trial.

Parole: The conditional release of a person convicted of a crime prior to the expiration of that person's term of imprisonment, subject to both the supervision of the correctional authorities during the remainder of the term and a resumption of the imprisonment upon violation of the conditions imposed.

Particular average loss: In maritime law, damage sustained by a ship, cargo, or freight that is not recompensed by contribution from all interests in the venture but must be borne by the owner of the damaged property.

Particulars: The details of a claim, or the separate items of an account.

Parties: The persons who are directly involved or interested in any act, affair, contract, transaction, or legal proceeding; opposing litigants.

Partition: Any division of real property or PERSONAL PROPERTY between co-owners, resulting in individual ownership of the interests of each.

Partnership: An association of two or more persons engaged in a business enterprise in which the profits and losses are shared proportionally. The legal definition of a partnership is generally stated as "an association of two or more persons to carry on as co-owners a business for profit" (Revised Uniform Partnership Act § 101 [1994]).

Party: Any person involved in a transaction or proceeding. A group of voters organized for the purpose of influencing governmental policy, particularly through the nomination and election of candidates for public office.

Party of the first part: A phrase used in a document to avoid repeating the name of the persons first mentioned in it.

Party wall: A partition erected on a property boundary, partly on the land of one owner and partly on the land of another, to provide common support to the structures on both sides of the boundary.

Pass: As a verb, to utter or pronounce, as when the court passes sentence upon a prisoner. Also to proceed; to be rendered or given, as when judgment is said to pass for the plaintiff in a suit.

In legislative parlance, a bill or resolution is said to pass when it is agreed to or enacted by the house, or when the body has sanctioned its adoption by the requisite majority of votes; in the same circumstances, the body is said to pass the bill or motion.

When an auditor appointed to examine any accounts certifies to their correctness, she is said to pass them; i.e., they pass through the examination without being detained or sent back for inaccuracy or imperfection.

The term also means to examine anything and then authoritatively determine the disputed questions that it involves. In this sense a jury is said to pass upon the rights or issues in litigation before them.

In the language of conveyancing, the term means to move from one person to another; i.e. to be transferred or conveyed from one owner to another.

To publish; utter; transfer; circulate; impose fraudulently. This is the meaning of the word when referring to the offense of passing counterfeit money or a forged paper.

As a noun, permission to pass; a license to go or come; a certificate, emanating from authority, wherein it is declared that a designated person is permitted to go beyond certain boundaries that, without such authority, he could not lawfully pass. Also a ticket issued by a railroad or other transportation company, authorizing a designated person to travel free on its lines, between certain points or for a limited time.

Passim: [Latin, Everywhere.] A term frequently used to indicate a general reference to a book or legal authority.

Passport: A document that indicates permission granted by a sovereign to its citizen to travel to foreign countries and return and requests foreign governments to allow that citizen to pass freely and safely.

With respect to INTERNATIONAL LAW, a passport is a license of safe conduct, issued during a war, that authorizes an individual to leave a warring nation or to remove his or her effects from that nation to another country; it also authorizes a person to travel from country to country without being subject to arrest or detention because of the war.

In maritime law, a passport is a document issued to a neutral vessel by its own government during a war that is carried on the voyage as evidence of the nationality of the vessel and as protection against the vessels of the warring nations. This paper is also labeled a pass, sea-pass, sea-letter, or sea-brief. It usually contains the captain's or master's name and residence; the name, property, description, tonnage, and destination of the ship; the nature and quantity of the cargo; and the government under which it sails.

Pat. pend.: An abbreviation displayed prominently on an invention for which an application for a patent has been made but has not yet been issued.

Patent: Open; manifest; evident.

Patent writ: An open court order in earlier times; a writ that was not folded and sealed up as a close writ would be.

Patents: Rights, granted to inventors by the federal government, pursuant to its power under Article I, Section 8, Clause 8, of the U.S. Constitution, that permit them to exclude others from making, using, or selling an invention for a definite, or restricted, period of time.

Paternity: The state or condition of a father; the relationship of a father.

Paternity suit: A civil action brought against an unwed father by an unmarried mother to obtain support for an illegitimate child and for payment of bills incident to the pregnancy and the birth.

Patients' rights: The legal interests of persons who submit to medical treatment.

Patronage: The practice or custom observed by a political official of filling government positions with qualified employees of his or her own choosing.

Pauper: An impoverished person who is supported at public expense; an indigent litigant who is permitted to sue or defend without paying costs; an impoverished criminal defendant who has a right to receive legal services without charge.

Pawn: To deliver PERSONAL PROPERTY to another as a pledge or as security for a debt. A deposit of goods with a creditor as security for a sum of money borrowed.

Pawnbroker: A person who engages in the business of lending money, usually in small sums, in exchange for PERSONAL PROPERTY deposited with him or her that can be kept or sold if the borrower fails or refuses to repay the loan.

Payable: Justly due; legally enforceable.

Payee: The person who is to receive the stated amount of money on a check, bill, or note.

Payment: The fulfillment of a promise; the performance of an agreement. A delivery of money, or its equivalent in either specific property or services, by a debtor to a creditor.

P.C.: An abbreviation for professional corporation, which is a special corporation established by professionals, such as physicians, accountants, or, in some states, attorneys, who practice together.

Peace bond: The posting of money in court, as required by a judge or magistrate, by a person who has threatened to commit a breach of the peace.

Peace officers: Sheriffs, constables, marshals, city police officers, and other public officials whose duty it is to enforce and preserve the public order.

Peculation: The unlawful appropriation, by a depository of public funds, of the government property entrusted to the care of the depository; the fraudulent diversion to an individual's personal use of money or goods entrusted to that person's care.

Pecuniary: Monetary; relating to money; financial; consisting of money or that which can be valued in money.

Pederasty: The criminal offense of unnatural copulation between men.

Peers: Equals; those who are an individual's equals in rank and station.

Pen register: A device that decodes or records electronic impulses, allowing outgoing numbers from a telephone to be identified.

Penal: Punishable; inflicting a punishment.

Penalty: A punitive measure that the law imposes for the performance of an act that is proscribed, or for the failure to perform a required act.

Pendent jurisdiction: The discretionary power of a federal court to permit the assertion of a related state law claim, along with a federal claim between the same parties, properly before the court, provided that the federal claim and the state law claim derive from the same set of facts.

Pendente lite: [Latin, Pending the litigation.] During the actual progress of a lawsuit.

Pending: Begun, but not yet completed; during; before the conclusion of; prior to the completion of; unsettled; in the process of adjustment.

Penitentiary: A prison or place of confinement where persons convicted of felonies serve their term of imprisonment.

Penny stocks: Inexpensive issues of stock, typically selling at less than $1 a share, in companies that often are newly formed or involved in highly speculative ventures.

Penology: The science of prison administration and rehabilitation of criminals.

Pension: A benefit, usually money, paid regularly to retired employees or their survivors by private businesses and federal, state, and local governments. Employers are not required to establish pension benefits but do so to attract qualified employees.

Pent road: A street that is closed at its terminal points.

Penumbra: The rights guaranteed by implication in a constitution or the implied powers of a rule.

Peonage: A condition of enforced servitude by which a person is restrained of his or her liberty and compelled to labor in payment of some debt or obligation.

People: The aggregate of the individuals who comprise a state or a nation.

Per: [Latin, By, through, or by means of.]

Per capita: [Latin, By the heads or polls.] A term used in the DESCENT AND DISTRIBUTION of the estate of one who dies without a will. It means to share and share alike according to the number of individuals.

Per curiam: [Latin, By the court.] A phrase used to distinguish an opinion of the whole court from an opinion written by any one judge.

Per quod: [Latin, Whereby.] With respect to a complaint in a civil action, a phrase that prefaces the recital of the consequences of certain acts as a ground of special harm to the plaintiff.

Per se: [Latin, In itself.] Simply as such; in its own nature without reference to its relation.

Per stirpes: [Latin, By roots or stocks; by representation.] A term used to denote a method used in dividing the estate of a person. A person who takes per stirpes, sometimes called by right of representation, does not inherit in an individual capacity but as a member of a group.

Percentage lease: A rental agreement, usually with respect to a retail business property, whereby a portion of the gross sales or net sales of the tenant is used to determine the rent.

Peremptory challenge: The right to challenge a juror without assigning, or being required to assign, a reason for the challenge.

Peremptory ruling: An immediate and absolute decision by the court on some point of law that is rendered without consideration of alternatives.

Perfect: Complete; finished; executed; enforceable; without defect; merchantable; marketable.

Performance: The fulfillment or accomplishment of a promise, contract, or other obligation according to its terms.

Peril: The designated contingency, risk, or hazard against which an insured seeks to protect himself or herself when purchasing a policy of insurance.

Perjury: A crime that occurs when an individual willfully makes a false statement during a judicial proceeding, after he or she has taken an oath to speak the truth.

Permissive counterclaim: A claim by a defendant opposing the claim of the plaintiff and seeking some relief from the plaintiff for the defendant.

Perpetrator: A term commonly used by law enforcement officers to designate a person who actually commits a crime.

Perpetuating testimony: The procedure permitted by federal and state discovery rules for preserving the attestation of a witness that might otherwise be lost prior to the trial in which it is intended to be used.

Perpetuation of evidence: The procedure employed to assure that proof will be available for possible use at a later trial.

Perquisites: Fringe benefits or other incidental profits or benefits accompanying an office or position.

Person: In general usage, a human being; by statute, however, the term can include firms, labor organizations, partnerships, associations, corporations, legal representatives, trustees, trustees in BANKRUPTCY, or receivers.

Personal actions: Lawsuits initiated in order, among other things, to recover damages for some injury to a plaintiff's personal right or property, for breach of contract, for money owed on a debt, or for the recovery of a specific item of PERSONAL PROPERTY.

Personal injury: Any violation of an individual's right, other than his or her rights in property.

Personal jurisdiction: The power of a court to hear and determine a lawsuit involving a defendant by virtue of the defendant's having some contact with the place where the court is located.

Personal property: Everything that is the subject of ownership that does not come under the denomination of real property; any right or interest that an individual has in movable things.

Personal representative: A person who manages the financial affairs of another person who is unable to do so.

Personal service: The actual delivery of process to the individual to whom it is directed or to someone authorized to receive it on his or her behalf.

Personalty: Goods; chattels; articles; movable property, whether animate or inanimate.

Persuasive authority: Sources of law, such as related cases or legal encyclopedias, that the court consults in deciding a case, but which, unlike binding authority, the court need not apply in reaching its conclusion.

Petit jury: The ordinary panel of twelve persons called to issue a verdict in a civil action or a criminal prosecution.

Petit larceny: A form of larceny—the stealing of another's personal property—in which the value of the property taken is generally less than $50.

Petition: A written application from a person or persons to some governing body or public official asking that some authority be exercised to grant relief, favors, or privileges.

A formal application made to a court in writing that requests action on a certain matter.

Petition in bankruptcy: A document filed in a specialized federal court to commence a proceeding to provide a means by which a debtor who is unwilling or financially unable to pay personal debts will satisfy the claims of his or her creditors as they come due.

Petitioner: One who presents a formal, written application to a court, officer, or legislative body that requests action on a certain matter.

Petitory action: A legal proceeding by which the plaintiff seeks to establish and enforce his or her title to property, as distinguished from a possessory proceeding, where the plaintiff's right to possession is the issue. Such petitory actions must be based on a claim of legal title to the property, as opposed to a mere equitable interest in it.

In ADMIRALTY, suits to try title to property independent of questions concerning possession.

In the civil-law jurisdiction of Louisiana, a proceeding instituted by an alleged owner who does not have possession to determine ownership against one in possession.

Petty offense: A minor crime, the maximum punishment for which is generally a fine or a short term in a prison or a house of correction.

Philadelphia lawyer: A colloquial term that was initially a compliment to the legal expertise and competence of an attorney due to the outstanding reputation of the Philadelphia bar during colonial times. More recently the term has become a disparaging label for an attorney who is skillful in the manipulation of the technicalities and intricacies of the law to the advantage of his or her client, although the spirit of the law might be violated.

Photo lineup: A presentation of photographs to a victim or witness of a crime.

Physical fact: In the law of evidence, an event having a corporeal existence, as distinguished from a mere conception of the mind; one that is visible, audible, or tangible, such as the sound of footsteps or impressions made by human feet on the ground.

Picketing: The presence at an employer's business of one or more employees and/or other persons who are publicizing a labor dispute, influencing employees or customers to withhold their work or business, respectively, or showing a union's desire to represent employees; picketing is usually accompanied by patrolling with signs.

Pilot: In maritime law, a person who assumes responsibility for a vessel at a particular place for the purpose of navigating it through a river or channel, or from or into a port.

Pimp: In feudal England, a type of tenure by which a tenant was permitted to use real property that belonged to a lord in exchange for the performance of some service, such as providing young women for the use and pleasure of the lord.

An individual who, for a fee, supplies another individual with a prostitute for sexual purposes. To pander, or cater to the sexual desires of others in exchange for money.

Piracy: The act of violence or depredation on the high seas; also, the theft of INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY, especially in electronic media.

P.J.: An abbreviation for presiding judge, the individual who directs, controls, or governs a particular tribunal as its chief officer.

Plagiarism: The act of appropriating the literary composition of another author, or excerpts, ideas, or passages therefrom, and passing the material off as one's own creation.

Plain-error rule: The principle that an appeals court can reverse a judgment and order a new trial because of a serious mistake in the proceedings, even though no objection was made at the time the mistake occurred.

Plain-meaning rule: A principle used by courts in interpreting contracts that provides that the objective definitions of contractual terms are controlling, irrespective of whether the language comports with the actual intention of either party.

Plain view doctrine: In the context of searches and seizures, the principle that provides that objects perceptible by an officer who is rightfully in a position to observe them can be seized without a SEARCH WARRANT and are admissible as evidence.

Plaintiff: The party who sues in a civil action; a complainant; the prosecution—that is, a state or the United States representing the people—in a criminal case.

Plaintiff in error: The unsuccessful party in a lawsuit who commences proceedings for appellate review of the action because a mistake or “error” has been made resulting in a judgment against him or her; an appellant.

Plat: A map of a town or a section of land that has been subdivided into lots showing the location and boundaries of individual parcels with the streets, alleys, EASEMENTS, and rights of use over the land of another.

Plea: A formal response by the defendant to the affirmative assertions of the plaintiff in a civil case or to the charges of the prosecutor in a criminal case.

Plea bargaining: The process whereby a criminal defendant and prosecutor reach a mutually satisfactory disposition of a criminal case, subject to court approval.

Plea in abatement: In COMMON-LAW PLEADING, a response by the defendant that does not dispute the plaintiff's claim but objects to its form or the time or place where it is asserted.

Plea in bar: An answer to a plaintiff's claim that absolutely and entirely defeats it.

Pleading: Asking a court to grant relief. The formal presentation of claims and defenses by parties to a lawsuit. The specific papers by which the allegations of parties to a lawsuit are presented in proper form; specifically the complaint of a plaintiff and the answer of a defendant plus any additional responses to those papers that are authorized by law.

Pledge: A BAILMENT or delivery of PERSONAL PROPERTY to a creditor as security for a debt or for the performance of an act.

Plurality: The opinion of an appellate court in which more justices join than in any concurring opinion.

The excess of votes cast for one candidate over those votes cast for any other candidate.

Poaching: The illegal shooting, trapping, or taking of game or fish from private or public property.

Pocket part: An addition to many lawbooks that updates them until a new edition is published.

Point: A distinct proposition or QUESTION OF LAW arising or propounded in a case. In the case of shares of stock, a point means $1. In the case of bonds a point means $10, since a bond is quoted as a percentage of $1,000. In the case of market averages, the word point means merely that and no more. If, for example, the Dow-Jones Industrial Average rises from 8,349.25 to 8,350.25, it has risen a point. A point in this average, however, is not equivalent to $1.

With respect to the home mortgage finance industry, a fee or charge of one percent of the principal of the loan that is collected by the lender at the time the loan is made and is in addition to the constant long-term stated interest rate on the face of the loan.

Poison: Any substance dangerous to living organisms that if applied internally or externally, destroy the action of vital functions or prevent the CONTINUANCE of life.

Economic poisons are those substances that are used to control insects, weeds, fungi, bacteria, rodents, predatory animals, or other pests. Economic poisons are useful to society but are still dangerous.

Poison pill: A defensive strategy based on issuing special stock that is used to deter aggressors in corporate takeover attempts.

Police: A body sanctioned by local, state, or national government to enforce laws and apprehend those who break them.

Police corruption and misconduct: The violation of state and federal laws or the violation of individuals' constitutional rights by police officers; also the commission by officers of crimes for personal gain.

Police power: The authority conferred upon the states by the TENTH AMENDMENT to the U.S. Constitution and which the states delegate to their political subdivisions to enact measures to preserve and protect the safety, health, WELFARE, and morals of the community.

Policy: The general principles by which a government is guided in its management of public affairs, or the legislature in its measures. A general term used to describe all contracts of insurance.

As applied to a law, ordinance, or RULE OF LAW, the general purpose or tendency considered as directed to the welfare or prosperity of the state or community.

Political action committee: A group not endorsed by a candidate or political party but organized to engage in political election activities, especially the raising and spending of money for "campaigning." Some political action committees (PACs) are organized solely to help defeat a candidate deemed undesirable by the group.

Political campaign law: Statutes and court rulings that govern candidates running for public office.

Political crime: A serious violation of law that threatens the security or existence of the government, such as TREASON or SEDITION.

Political question: An issue that the federal courts refuse to decide because it properly belongs to the decision-making authority of elected officials.

Political trial: A trial that addresses POLITICAL QUESTIONS, involves political officials, or serves political agendas. In certain circumstances the term is used in a pejorative sense to criticize a particular trial or proceeding as unfair or unjust.

Poll tax: A specified sum of money levied upon each person who votes.

Polling the jury: A practice whereby the jurors are asked individually whether they assented, and still assent, to the verdict; it consists of calling the name of each juror and requiring a declaration of his or her verdict before it is recorded.

Polls: The place where voters cast their ballots. Heads; individuals; persons singly considered.

Pollution: The contamination of the air, water, or earth by harmful or potentially harmful substances.

Polygamy: The offense of willfully and knowingly having more than one wife or husband at the same time. The offense of willfully and knowingly entering into a second marriage while validly married to another individual is bigamy.

Polygraph: An instrument used to measure physiological responses in humans when they are questioned in order to determine if their answers are truthful.

Ponzi scheme: A fraudulent investment plan in which the investments of later investors are used to pay earlier investors, giving the appearance that the investments of the initial participants dramatically increase in value in a short amount of time.

Popular name tables: Reference charts that aid in locating statutes, if the names by which they are commonly referred to are known.

Pornography: The representation in books, magazines, photographs, films, and other media of scenes of sexual behavior that are erotic or lewd and are designed to arouse sexual interest.

Positive evidence: Direct proof of the fact or point in issue, as distinguished from circumstantial proof; proof that if believed, establishes the truth or falsity of a fact in issue and does not arise from a presumption.

Positive law: Those laws that have been duly enacted by a properly instituted and popularly recognized branch of government.

Positivism: A school of JURISPRUDENCE whose advocates believe that the only legitimate sources of law are those written rules, regulations, and principles that have been expressly enacted, adopted, or recognized by a government body, including administrative, executive, legislative, and judicial bodies.

Posse comitatus: [Latin, Power of the county.] Referred at COMMON LAW to all males over the age of fifteen on whom a sheriff could call for assistance in preventing any type of civil disorder.

Possession: The ownership, control, or occupancy of a thing, most frequently land or PERSONAL PROPERTY, by a person.

Possessory action: A proceeding instituted to obtain or recover the actual possession of property, as distinguished from a proceeding that merely seeks to establish the plaintiff's title or ownership of property.

In ADMIRALTY LAW, a possessory action is one that is brought to recover the possession of a vessel that is had under a claim of title.

Possessory warrant: A rare statutory remedy for the recovery of PERSONAL PROPERTY that has been taken by FRAUD, violence, enticement, or seduction, or that has disappeared and is believed to be in the detention and control of the party complained against.

Post mortem: [Latin, After death.] Pertaining to matters occurring after death. A term generally applied to an autopsy or examination of a corpse in order to ascertain the cause of death or to the inquisition for that purpose by the CORONER.

Postconviction remedies: A variety of relief sought by a convicted criminal to have his or her sentence vacated, set aside, or corrected because such a sentence was based upon some violation of the U.S. Constitution.

Postdate: To designate a written instrument, such as a check, with a time or date later than that at which it is really made.

Posthumous child: An infant who is born subsequent to the death of the father or, in certain cases, the mother.

Posting: In accounting, the act of transferring an original entry to a ledger. The act of mailing a document. A form of substituted SERVICE OF PROCESS consisting of displaying the process in a prominent place when other forms of service are unavailing.

In connection with TRESPASS statutes, the act of placing or affixing signs on private property in a manner to give notice of the trespass.

Postmarital agreement: An agreement made between spouses after marriage concerning the rights and responsibilities of the parties upon DIVORCE or the death of one of the spouses.

Pour-over: A clause in a will or trust that provides that, upon the death of the creator of the trust, his or her money or property will be transferred into some other existing trust.

Power: The right, ability, or authority to perform an act. An ability to generate a change in a particular legal relationship by doing or not doing a certain act.

In a restricted sense, a liberty or authority that is reserved by, or limited to, a person to dispose of real or PERSONAL PROPERTY, for his or her own benefit or for the benefit of others, or that enables one person to dispose of an interest that is vested in another.

Power of attorney: A written document in which one person (the principal) appoints another person to act as an agent on his or her behalf, thus conferring authority on the agent to perform certain acts or functions on behalf of the principal.

Power of sale: A clause commonly inserted in a mortgage and deed of trust that grants the creditor or trustee the right and authority, upon default in the payment of the debt, to advertise and sell the property at public auction, without resorting to a court for authorization to do so.

Power of termination: A future interest in real property whereby the grantor conveys an estate to another, called the grantee, subject to a particular condition, the breach of which forfeits the grantee's interest in the property.

Practice: Repeated or customary action; habitual performance; a succession of acts of similar kind; custom; usage. The exercise of any profession.

The form or mode or proceeding in courts of justice for the enforcement of rights or the redress of wrongs, as distinguished from the SUBSTANTIVE LAW that gives the right or denounces the wrong. The form, manner, or order of instituting and conducting an action or other judicial proceeding, through its successive stages to its end, in accordance with the rules and principles laid down by law or by the regulations and precedents of the courts.

Practice of law: The professional tasks performed by lawyers in their offices or in court on a day-to-day basis. With the growth of specialization, it has become difficult to generalize about the practice of law. Nevertheless, common elements can be identified in the disparate typical workday of, for example, a criminal defense attorney and a probate attorney.

Praecipe: [Latin, Give an order.] An original writ, one of the forms of legal process used to commence an action. A praecipe was drawn up in the alternative and commanded the defendant to do what was ordered or to appear and show why he or she had not done it. An order that commands the clerk of a court to issue a formal writ of execution directing the enforcement of a judgment already rendered and commanding a public officer to seize the defendant's property in order to satisfy the debt.

Prayer: The request contained in a bill in EQUITY that the court will grant the process, aid, or relief that the complainant desires.

Preamble: A clause at the beginning of a constitution or statute explaining the reasons for its enactment and the objectives it seeks to attain.

Precatory language: Words in a will or a trust used by the testator (the person making the will) or settlor (the person making a trust) to express a wish or desire to have his or her property disposed of in a certain way or to have some other task undertaken, which do not necessarily impose a mandatory obligation upon anyone to carry out the wish.

Precedent: A court decision that is cited as an example or analogy to resolve similar QUESTIONS OF LAW in later cases.

Precept: An order, writ, warrant, or process. An order or direction, emanating from authority, to an officer or body of officers, commanding that officer or those officers to do some act within the scope of their powers. Rule imposing a standard of conduct or action.

In ENGLISH LAW, the direction issued by a sheriff to the proper returning officers of cities and boroughs within his jurisdiction for the election of members to serve in parliament.

In old French law, a kind of letters issued by the king in subversion of the laws, being orders to the judges to do or tolerate things contrary to law.

Precinct: A constable's or police district. A small geographical unit of government. An election district created for convenient localization of polling places. A county or municipal subdivision for casting and counting votes in elections.

Preclusion order: A court sanction that prevents a party who has not complied with a direction to supply information in the discovery stage of a lawsuit from later supporting or challenging designated claims or defenses related to the facts that he or she withheld.

Preemption: A doctrine based on the SUPREMACY CLAUSE of the U.S. Constitution that holds that certain matters are of such a national, as opposed to local, character that federal laws preempt or take precedence over state laws. As such, a state may not pass a law inconsistent with the federal law.

A doctrine of state law that holds that a state law displaces a local law or regulation that is in the same field and is in conflict or inconsistent with the state law.

Preemptive right: The privilege of a stockholder to maintain a proportionate share of the ownership of a corporation by purchasing a proportionate share of any new stock issues.

Preference: The act of an insolvent debtor who pays one or more creditors the full amount of their claims or a larger amount than they would be entitled to receive on a pro rata distribution.

Preferred stock: Stock shares that have preferential rights to dividends or to amounts distributable on liquidation, or to both, ahead of common shareholders.

Prejudice: A forejudgment; bias; partiality; preconceived opinion. A leaning toward one side of a cause for some reason other than a conviction of its justice.

Prelaw education: A preparatory curriculum comprising introductory law courses and interdisciplinary subjects, offered to undergraduate students to instruct them in and acquaint them with the subject MATTER OF LAW, thereby assisting them in deciding whether to seek admission to law school and facilitating the process of law study in law school.

Preliminary hearing: A proceeding before a judicial officer in which the officer must decide whether a crime was committed, whether the crime occurred within the territorial jurisdiction of the court, and whether there is PROBABLE CAUSE to believe that the defendant committed the crime.

Preliminary injunction: A temporary order made by a court at the request of one party that prevents the other party from pursuing a particular course of conduct until the conclusion of a trial on the merits.

Premarital agreement: A contract made in anticipation of marriage that specifies the rights and obligations of the parties. Such an agreement typically includes terms for property distribution in the event the marriage terminates.

Premeditate: To think of an act beforehand; to contrive and design; to plot or lay plans for the execution of a purpose.

Premium: A reward for an act done.

Preponderance of evidence: A standard of proof that must be met by a plaintiff if he or she is to win a civil action.

Prerogative: An exclusive privilege. The special power or peculiar right possessed by an official by virtue of his or her office. In ENGLISH LAW, a discretionary power that exceeds and is unaffected by any other power; the special preeminence that the monarch has over and above all others, as a consequence of his or her sovereignty.

Prerogative writ: Formerly a court order issued under certain circumstances on the authority of the extraordinary powers of the monarch.

Prescription: A method of acquiring a nonpossessory interest in land through the long, continuous use of the land.

Present: To submit for consideration or action. Immediate, not in the future.

Presentence investigation: Research that is conducted by court services or a PROBATION officer relating to the prior criminal record, education, employment, and other information about a person convicted of a crime, for the purpose of assisting the court in passing sentence.

Presentment: A GRAND JURY statement that a crime was committed; a written notice, initiated by a grand jury, that states that a crime occurred and that an indictment should be drawn.

In relation to COMMERCIAL PAPER, presentment is a demand for the payment or acceptance of a negotiable instrument, such as a check. The holder of a negotiable instrument generally makes a presentment to the maker, acceptor, drawer, or drawee.

Presents: The present instrument. The phrase these presents is used in any legal document to designate the instrument in which the phrase itself occurs.

President of the United States: The head of the EXECUTIVE BRANCH, one of the three branches of the federal government.

Presidential powers: The executive authority given to the president of the United States by Article II of the Constitution to carry out the duties of the office.

Presumption: A conclusion made as to the existence or nonexistence of a fact that must be drawn from other evidence that is admitted and proven to be true. A RULE OF LAW.

Presumption of innocence: A principle that requires the government to prove the guilt of a criminal defendant and relieves the defendant of any burden to prove his or her innocence.

Pretermitted heir: A child or other descendent omitted from the will of a testator.

Pretrial conference: A meeting of the parties to an action and their attorneys held before the court prior to the commencement of actual courtroom proceedings.

Prevailing party: The litigant who successfully brings or defends an action and, as a result, receives a favorable judgment or verdict.

Preventive detention: The confinement in a secure facility of a person who has not been found guilty of a crime.

Price-fixing: The organized setting of what the public will be charged for certain products or services agreed to by competitors in the marketplace in violation of the SHERMAN ANTI-TRUST ACT (15 U.S.C.A. § 1 et seq.).

Prima facie: [Latin, On the first appearance.] A fact presumed to be true unless it is disproved.

Primary authority: Law, in various forms, that a court must follow in deciding a case.

Primary evidence: An authentic document or item that is offered as proof in a lawsuit, as contrasted with a copy of, or substitute for, the original.

Prime lending rate: The lowest rate of interest that a financial institution, such as a bank, charges its best customers, usually large corporations, for short-term unsecured loans.

Primogeniture: The status of being the firstborn child among several children of the same parents. A rule of inheritance at COMMON LAW through which the oldest male child has the right to succeed to the estate of an ancestor to the exclusion of younger siblings, both male and female, as well as other relatives.

Principal: A source of authority; a sum of a debt or obligation producing interest; the head of a school. In an agency relationship, the principal is the person who gives authority to another, called an agent, to act on his or her behalf. In CRIMINAL LAW, the principal is the chief actor or perpetrator of a crime; those who aid, abet, counsel, command, or induce the commission of a crime may also be principals. In investments and banking, the principal refers to the person for whom a BROKER executes an order; it may also mean the capital invested or the face amount of a loan.

Principal and surety: A contractual relationship whereby one party—the surety—agrees to pay the principal's debt or perform his or her obligation in case of the principal's default.

Principle: A fundamental, well-settled RULE OF LAW. A basic truth or undisputed legal doctrine; a given legal proposition that is clear and does not need to be proved.

Printers ink statute: Statutes enacted in a number of states making it a misdemeanor to use representations that are untrue, deceptive, or misleading in advertisements.

Prior inconsistent statements: Communications made by a witness before the time he or she takes the stand to testify in an action that contradict subsequent testimony given on the same exact facts.

Prior restraint: Government prohibition of speech in advance of publication.

Prison: A public building used for the confinement of people convicted of serious crimes.

Prisoners' rights: The nature and extent of the privileges afforded to individuals kept in custody or confinement against their will because they have been convicted of performing an unlawful act.

Privacy: In CONSTITUTIONAL LAW, the right of people to make personal decisions regarding intimate matters; under the COMMON LAW, the right of people to lead their lives in a manner that is reasonably secluded from public scrutiny, whether such scrutiny comes from a neighbor's prying eyes, an investigator's eavesdropping ears, or a news photographer's intrusive camera; and in statutory law, the right of people to be free from unwarranted drug testing and ELECTRONIC SURVEILLANCE.

Private: That which affects, characterizes, or belongs to an individual person, as opposed to the general public.

Private attorney general: A private citizen who commences a lawsuit to enforce a legal right that benefits the community as a whole.

Private bill: Legislation that benefits an individual or a locality. Also called special legislation or a private act.

Private international law: A branch of JURISPRUDENCE arising from the diverse laws of various nations that applies when private citizens of different countries interact or transact business with one another.

Private law: That portion of the law that defines, regulates, enforces, and administers relationships among individuals, associations, and corporations. As used in distinction to public law, the term means that part of the law that is administered between citizen and citizen, or that is concerned with the definition, regulation, and enforcement of rights in cases where both the person in whom the right inheres and the person upon whom the obligation rests are private individuals.

Private roads: A street or route that is designated by a public authority to accommodate a person or a group of people.

Privateer: A privately owned vessel that is commissioned by one power to attack merchant ships from a hostile power. The term also refers to the commander or a crew member of such a vessel.

Privilege: A particular benefit, advantage, or IMMUNITY enjoyed by a person or class of people that is not shared with others. A power of exemption against or beyond the law. It is not a right but, rather, exempts one from the performance of a duty, obligation, or liability.

Privileged communication: An exchange of information between two individuals in a confidential relationship.

Privileges and immunities: Concepts contained in the U.S. Constitution that place the citizens of each state on an equal basis with citizens of other states in respect to advantages resulting from citizenship in those states and citizenship in the United States.

Privity: A close, direct, or successive relationship; having a mutual interest or right.

Privy: One who has a direct, successive relationship to another individual; a coparticipant; one who has an interest in a matter; private.

Prize: Anything offered as a reward for a contest. It is distinguished from a bet or wager in that it is known before the event who is to give either the premium or the prize, and there is but one operation until the accomplishment of the act, thing, or purpose for which it is offered. In time of war, an enemy vessel or a ship captured at sea by a belligerent power.

Prize courts: Tribunals with jurisdiction to decide disputes involving captures made upon the high seas during times of war and to declare the captured property as a prize if it is lawfully subject to that sentence.

Prize law: During times of war, belligerent states may attempt to interfere with maritime commerce to prevent ships from carrying goods that will aid the war effort of an opponent. After ships are captured and brought to a friendly port, a local tribunal called a PRIZE COURT will determine the legality of the seizure, or the destruction of the vessel and cargo if the vessel cannot be sailed to a friendly port. The body of customary INTERNATIONAL LAW and treaties that determines the appropriateness of such actions is referred to as prize law.

Pro: [Latin, For; in respect of; on account of; in behalf of.]

Pro bono: Short for pro bono publico [Latin, For the public good]. The designation given to the free legal work done by an attorney for indigent clients and religious, charitable, and other non-profit entities.

Pro forma: As a matter of form or for the sake of form. Used to describe accounting, financial, and other statements or conclusions based upon assumed or anticipated facts.

Pro hac vice: For this turn; for this one particular occasion. For example, an out-of-state lawyer may be admitted to practice in a local jurisdiction for a particular case only.

Pro rata: [Latin, Proportionately.] A phrase that describes a division made according to a certain rate, percentage, or share.

Pro se: For one's own behalf; in person. Appearing for oneself, as in the case of one who does not retain a lawyer and appears for himself or herself in court.

Pro tanto: [Latin, For so much; for as much as one is able; as far as it can go.] A term that refers to a partial payment made on a claim.

Pro tem: [Latin, For the time being.] An abbreviation used for pro tempore, Latin for "temporary or provisional."

Probable cause: Apparent facts discovered through logical inquiry that would lead a reasonably intelligent and prudent person to believe that an accused person has committed a crime, thereby warranting his or her prosecution, or that a CAUSE OF ACTION has accrued, justifying a civil lawsuit.

Probate: The court process by which a will is proved valid or invalid. The legal process wherein the estate of a decedent is administered.

Probation: A sentence whereby a convict is released from confinement but is still under court supervision; a testing or a trial period. Probation can be given in lieu of a prison term or can suspend a prison sentence if the convict has consistently demonstrated good behavior.

The status of a convicted person who is given some freedom on the condition that for a specified period he or she act in a manner approved by a special officer to whom the person must report.

An initial period of employment during which a new, transferred, or promoted employee must show the ability to perform the required duties.

Probationer: A convict who is released from prison provided he maintains good behavior. One who is on PROBATION whereby she is given some freedom to reenter society subject to the condition that for a specified period the individual conduct herself in a manner approved by a special officer to whom the probationer must report.

Probative: Having the effect of proof, tending to prove, or actually proving.

Procedural law: The body of law that prescribes formal steps to be taken in enforcing legal rights.

Procedure: The methods by which legal rights are enforced; the specific machinery for carrying on a lawsuit, including process, the pleadings, RULES OF EVIDENCE, and rules of CIVIL PROCEDURE or CRIMINAL PROCEDURE.

Proceeding: A lawsuit; all or some part of a cause heard and determined by a court, an ADMINISTRATIVE AGENCY, or other judicial authority. Any legal step or action taken at the direction of, or by the authority of, a court or agency; any measures necessary to prosecute or defend an action.

Proceeds: The yield, income, money, or anything of value produced from a sale of property or a particular transaction.

Process: A series of actions, motions, or occurrences; a method, mode, or operation, whereby a result or effect is produced; normal or actual course of procedure; regular proceeding, as, the process of vegetation or decomposition; a chemical process; processes of nature.

In patent law, an art or method by which any particular result is produced. A definite combination of new or old elements, ingredients, operations, ways, or means to produce a new, improved, or old result, and any substantial change therein by omission, to the same or better result, or by modification or substitution, with different function, to the same or better result, is a new and patentable process.

In civil and criminal proceedings, any means used by a court to acquire or exercise its jurisdiction over a person or over specific property. A summons or summons and complaint; sometimes, a writ.

Process server: A person authorized by law to deliver papers, typically the complaint, to the defendant.

Proclamation: An act that formally declares to the general public that the government has acted in a particular way. A written or printed document issued by a superior government executive, such as the president or governor, which sets out such a declaration by the government.

Proctor: A person appointed to manage the affairs of another or to represent another in a judgment.

In ENGLISH LAW, the name formerly given to practitioners in ecclesiastical and ADMIRALTY courts who performed duties similar to those of solicitors in ordinary courts.

Procure: To cause something to happen; to find and obtain something or someone.

Produce: As a noun, the product of natural growth, labor, or capital. Articles produced or grown from or on the soil, or found in the soil.

As a verb, to bring forward; to show or exhibit; to bring into view or notice; as, to present a play, including its presentation in motion pictures. To produce witnesses or documents at trial in obedience to a subpoena or to be compelled to produce materials subject to discovery rules.

To make, originate, or yield, as gasoline. To bring to the surface, as oil. To yield, as revenue. Thus, funds are produced by taxation, not when the tax is levied, but when the sums are collected.

Product liability: The responsibility of a manufacturer or vendor of goods to compensate for injury caused by defective merchandise that it has provided for sale.

Profanity: Irreverence towards sacred things; particularly, an irreverent or blasphemous use of the name of God. Vulgar, irreverent, or coarse language.

Professio juris: The right of contracting parties to stipulate in the document the law that will govern their agreement.

Professional responsibility: The obligation of lawyers to adhere to rules of professional conduct.

Proffer: To offer or tender, as, the production of a document and offer of the same in evidence.

Profit: Most commonly, the gross proceeds of a business transaction less the costs of the transaction; i.e., net proceeds. Excess of revenues over expenses for a transaction; sometimes used synonymously with net income for the period. Gain realized from business or investment over and above expenditures.

Accession of good, valuable results, useful consequences, avail, or gain. The benefit, advantage, or pecuniary gain accruing to the owner or occupant of land from its actual use; as in the familiar phrase rents, issues and profits, or in the expression mesne profits.

Profit a prendre: [French, Right of taking.] The right of persons to share in the land owned by another.

Progressive tax: A type of graduated tax that applies higher tax rates as the income of the taxpayer increases.

Prohibition: The popular name for the period in U.S. history from 1920 to 1933 when the manufacture and sale of alcoholic beverages were illegal.

Prohibition, writ of: An order from a superior court to a lower court or tribunal directing the judge and the parties to cease the litigation because the lower court does not have proper jurisdiction to hear or determine the matters before it.

Promise: A written or oral declaration given in exchange for something of value that binds the maker to do, or forbear from, a certain specific act and gives to the person to whom the declaration is made the right to expect and enforce performance or forbearance. An undertaking that something will or will not occur. It is a manifestation of intent to act, or refrain from acting, in a certain manner.

In the law of COMMERCIAL PAPER, an undertaking to pay. It must be more than an acknowledgment of an obligation.

Promissory estoppel: In the law of contracts, the doctrine that provides that if a party changes his or her position substantially either by acting or forbearing from acting in reliance upon a gratuitous promise, then that party can enforce the promise although the essential elements of a contract are not present.

Promissory note: A written, signed, unconditional promise to pay a certain amount of money on demand at a specified time. A written promise to pay money that is often used as a means to borrow funds or take out a loan.

Promoter: A person who devises a plan for a business venture; one who takes the preliminary steps necessary for the formation of a corporation.

Promulgate: To officially announce, to publish, to make known to the public; to formally announce a statute or a decision by a court.

Proof: The establishment of a fact by the use of evidence. Anything that can make a person believe that a fact or proposition is true or false. It is distinguishable from evidence in that proof is a broad term comprehending everything that may be adduced at a trial, whereas evidence is a narrow term describing certain types of proof that can be admitted at trial.

Proper: Fit; correct; reasonably sufficient. That which is well adapted or appropriate.

Property right: A generic term that refers to any type of right to specific property whether it is personal or real property, tangible or intangible; e.g., a professional athlete has a valuable property right in his or her name, photograph, and image, and such right may be saleable by the athlete.

Property settlement: An agreement entered into by a HUSBAND AND WIFE in connection with a DIVORCE that provides for the division of their assets between them.

Proponent: One who offers or proposes.

Propound: To offer or propose. To form or put forward an item, plan, or idea for discussion and ultimate acceptance or rejection.

Proprietary: As a noun, a proprietor or owner; one who has the exclusive title to a thing; one who possesses or holds the title to a thing in his or her own right; one who possesses the dominion or ownership of a thing in his or her own right.

As an adjective, belonging to ownership; owned by a particular person; belonging or pertaining to a proprietor; relating to a certain owner or proprietor.

Prorate: To divide proportionately. To adjust, share, or distribute something or some amount on a pro rata basis.

Prorogation: Prolonging or putting off to another day. The discontinuation or termination of a session of the legislature, parliament, or the like. In ENGLISH LAW, a prorogation is the CONTINUANCE of the parliament from one session to another, as an adjournment is a continuation of the session from day to day. In CIVIL LAW, giving time to do a thing beyond the term previously fixed.

Prosecute: To follow through; to commence and continue an action or judicial proceeding to its ultimate conclusion. To proceed against a defendant by charging that person with a crime and bringing him or her to trial.

Prosecutor: One who prosecutes another for a crime in the name of the government.

Prospectus: A document, notice, circular, advertisement, letter, or communication in written form or by radio or television that offers any security for sale, or confirms the sale of any security.

Prostitution: The act of offering one's self for hire to engage in sexual relations.

Protective custody: An arrangement whereby a person is safeguarded by law enforcement authorities in a location other than the person's home because his or her safety is seriously threatened.

Protective order: A court order, direction, decree, or command to protect a person from further harassment, SERVICE OF PROCESS, or discovery.

Protectorate: A form of international guardianship that arises under INTERNATIONAL LAW when a weaker state surrenders by treaty the management of some or all of its international affairs to a stronger state.

Protest: A formal declaration whereby a person expresses a personal objection or disapproval of an act. A written statement, made by a notary, at the request of a holder of a bill or a note that describes the bill or note and declares that on a certain day the instrument was presented for, and refused, payment.

Prothonotary: A title given to the principal clerk of a court.

Protocol: A brief summary; the minutes of a meeting; the etiquette of diplomacy.

Province: The district into which a country has been divided; as, the province of Ontario in Canada. More loosely, a sphere of activity or a profession such as medicine or law.

Provisional: Temporary; not permanent. Tentative, contingent, preliminary.

Proviso: A condition, stipulation, or limitation inserted in a document.

Provocation: Conduct by which one induces another to do a particular deed; the act of inducing rage, anger, or resentment in another person that may cause that person to engage in an illegal act.

Proximate cause: An act from which an injury results as a natural, direct, uninterrupted consequence and without which the injury would not have occurred.

Proxy: A representative; an agent; a document appointing a representative.

Prudent person rule: A standard that requires that a fiduciary entrusted with funds for investment may invest such funds only in SECURITIES that any reasonable individual interested in receiving a good return of income while preserving his or her capital would purchase.

Public: As a noun, the whole body politic, or the aggregate of the citizens of a state, nation, or municipality. The community at large, without reference to the geographical limits of any corporation like a city, town, or county; the people.

As an adjective, open to all; notorious. Open to common use. Belonging to the people at large; relating to or affecting the whole people of a state, nation, or community; not limited or restricted to any particular class of the community.

Public administrative bodies: Agencies endowed with governmental functions.

Public contract: An agreement to perform a particular task to benefit the community at large that is financed by government funds.

Public defender: An attorney appointed by a court or employed by the government to represent indigent defendants in criminal actions.

Public domain: Land that is owned by the United States. In COPYRIGHT law, literary or creative works over which the creator no longer has an exclusive right to restrict, or receive a royalty for, their reproduction or use but which can be freely copied by the public.

Public figure: A description applied in LIBEL AND SLANDER actions, as well as in those alleging invasion of privacy, to anyone who has gained prominence in the community as a result of his or her name or exploits, whether willingly or unwillingly.

Public interest: Anything affecting the rights, health, or finances of the public at large.

Public lands: Land that is owned by the United States government.

Public law: A general classification of law concerned with the political and sovereign capacity of a state.

Public offering: An issue of SECURITIES offered for sale to the public.

Public policy: A principle that no person or government official can legally perform an act that tends to injure the public.

Public utilities: Businesses that provide the public with necessities, such as water, electricity, natural gas, and telephone and telegraph communication.

Publication: Making something known to the community at large, exhibiting, displaying, disclosing, or revealing.

Publish: To circulate, distribute, or print information for the public at large.

In LIBEL AND SLANDER law, to utter to a third person or to make public a defamatory statement; in COMMERCIAL PAPER law, to present an instrument for payment or declare or assert that a forged instrument is genuine.

Publishing law: The body of law relating to the publication of books, magazines, newspapers, electronic materials, and other artistic works.

Puffing: An opinion or judgment that is not made as a representation of fact.

Punishment: The imposition of hardship in response to misconduct.

Punitive damages: Monetary compensation awarded to an injured party that goes beyond that which is necessary to compensate the individual for losses and that is intended to punish the wrongdoer.

Purchase: To buy; the transfer of property from one person to another by an agreement. Under the UNIFORM COMMERCIAL CODE (UCC), taking by sale, discount, negotiation, mortgage, pledge, lien, issue, reissue, gift, or any voluntary transaction.

Purchase money mortgage: A security device entered into when the seller of property, as opposed to a bank or financial institution, advances a sum of money or credit to the purchaser in return for holding the mortgage on the property.

Purchase order: A document authorizing a seller to deliver goods, with payment to be made at a later date.

Pure speech: Written and spoken words that fall within the scope of protection provided by the FIRST AMENDMENT to the Constitution.

Purge: To exonerate someone; to clear someone of guilt, charges, or accusations.

Purport: To convey, imply, or profess; to have an appearance or effect.

Pursuant: According to a prescribed method or some authority. To follow after or follow out; to execute or carry out by reason of something.

Purview: The part of a statute or a law that delineates its purpose and scope.

Put: An option—a right that operates as a continuing proposal—given in exchange for consideration—something of value—permitting its holder to sell a particular stock or commodity at a fixed price for a stated quantity and within a limited time period.

Putative: Alleged; supposed; reputed.

Qua: [Latin, Considered as; in the character or capacity of.] For example, “the trustee qua trustee [that is, in his or her role as trustee] is not liable.”

Qualification: A particular attribute, quality, property, or possession that an individual must have in order to be eligible to fill an office or perform a public duty or function.

Qualified acceptance: In contract law, an assent to an offer that is either conditional or partial and alters the offer by changing the time, amount, mode, or place of payment.

Quantum meruit: [Latin, As much as is deserved.] In the law of contracts, a doctrine by which the law infers a promise to pay a reasonable amount for labor and materials furnished, even in the absence of a specific legally enforceable agreement between the parties.

Quantum valebant: [Latin, As much as they were worth.] An archaic form of PLEADING a lawsuit to recover payment for goods that have been sold and delivered.

Quare: [Latin, Wherefore; for what reason; on what account.] The introductory term used in the Latin form of a number of common-law writs at the beginning of the statement of the reason for the dispute.

Quash: To overthrow; to annul; to make void or declare invalid; e.g., “quash a subpoena.”

Quasi: [Latin, Almost as it were; as if; analogous to.] In the legal sense, the term denotes that one subject has certain characteristics in common with another subject but that intrinsic and material differences exist between them.

Quasi contract: An obligation that the law creates in the absence of an agreement between the parties. It is invoked by the courts where UNJUST ENRICHMENT, which occurs when a person retains money or benefits that in all fairness belong to another, would exist without judicial relief.

Quasi in rem jurisdiction: The power of a court to hear a case and enforce a judgment against a party, even if the party is not personally before the court, solely because the party has an interest in real property or PERSONAL PROPERTY within the geographical limits of the court.

Quasi-judicial: The action taken and discretion exercised by public administrative agencies or bodies that are obliged to investigate or ascertain facts and draw conclusions from them as the foundation for official actions.

Quasi-legislative: The capacity in which a public administrative agency or body acts when it makes rules and regulations.

Question of fact: An issue that involves the resolution of a factual dispute or controversy and is within the sphere of the decisions to be made by a jury.

Question of law: An issue that is within the province of the judge, as opposed to the jury, because it involves the application or interpretation of legal principles or statutes.

Qui tam actions: Civil actions maintained by private persons on behalf of both themselves and the government to recover damages or to enforce penalties available under a statute prohibiting specified conduct. The term qui tam is short for the Latin qui tam pro domino rege quam pro se ipso in hac parte sequitur, which means “who brings the action for the king as well as for himself.”

Quick assets: Personal property that is readily marketable.

Quid pro quo: [Latin, What for what or Something for something.] The mutual consideration that passes between two parties to a contractual agreement, thereby rendering the agreement valid and binding.

Quiet enjoyment: A COVENANT that promises that the grantee or tenant of an estate in real property will be able to possess the premises in peace, without disturbance by hostile claimants.

Quiet title action: A proceeding to establish an individual's right to ownership of real property against one or more adverse claimants.

Quit: To vacate; remove from; surrender possession.

Quitclaim deed: An instrument of conveyance of real property that passes any title, claim, or interest that the grantor has in the premises but does not make any representations as to the validity of such title.

Quo animo: [Latin, With what intention or motive.] A term sometimes used instead of the word animus, which means design or motive.

Quo warranto: A legal proceeding during which an individual's right to hold an office or governmental privilege is challenged.

Quorum: A majority of an entire body; e.g., a quorum of a legislative assembly.

Racial and ethnic discrimination: Acts of bias based on the race or ethnicity of the victim.

Racial profiling: The consideration of race, ethnicity, or national origin by a law enforcement officer in deciding when and how to intervene in an enforcement capacity.

Racketeering: Traditionally, obtaining or extorting money illegally or carrying on illegal business activities, usually by ORGANIZED CRIME. A pattern of illegal activity carried out as part of an enterprise that is owned or controlled by those who are engaged in the illegal activity. The latter definition derives from the federal Racketeer Influenced and Corruption Organizations Act (RICO), a set of laws (18 U.S.C.A. § 1961 et seq. [1970]) specifically designed to punish racketeering by business enterprises.

Rape: A criminal offense defined in most states as forcible sexual relations with a person against that person's will.

Ratable: That which can be appraised, assessed, or adjusted through the application of a formula or percentage.

Rate: Value, measure, or degree; a charge, payment, or price determined through the application of a mathematical formula or based upon a scale or standard.

Ratification: The confirmation or adoption of an act that has already been performed.

Ratio decidendi: [Latin, The ground or reason of decision.] The legal principle upon which the decision in a specific case is founded.

Rational basis test: A judicial standard of review that examines whether a legislature had a reasonable and not an ARBITRARY basis for enacting a particular statute.

Ravishment: Unlawful carnal knowledge of a female by a male by force, against her will and without her consent.

Re: [Latin, In the matter of; in the case of.]

Real: In CIVIL LAW, relating to a thing (whether movable or immovable), as distinguished from a person. Relating to land, as distinguished from PERSONAL PROPERTY. This term is applied to lands, tenements, and hereditaments.

Real actions: Lawsuits concerning real property, or land. Under the COMMON LAW, one of three categories of forms of actions, the procedures by which a lawsuit was begun.

Real estate: Land, buildings, and things permanently attached to land and buildings. Also called realty and real property.

Real evidence: Probative matter furnished by items that are actually on view, as opposed to a verbal description of them by a witness.

Realized: Actual; converted into cash.

Reasonable: Suitable; just; proper; ordinary; fair; usual.

Reasonable doubt: A standard of proof that must be surpassed to convict an accused in a criminal proceeding.

Reasonable force: The amount of force necessary to protect oneself or one's property. Reasonable force is a term associated with defending one's person or property from a violent attack, theft, or other type of unlawful aggression. It may be used as a defense in a criminal trial or to defend oneself in a suit alleging tortious conduct. If one uses excessive force, or more than the force necessary for such protection, he or she may be considered to have forfeited the right to defense. Reasonable force is also known as legal force.

Reasonable person: A phrase frequently used in TORT and CRIMINAL LAW to denote a hypothetical person in society who exercises average care, skill, and judgment in conduct and who serves as a comparative standard for determining liability.

Reasonable time: In the absence of an express or fixed time established by the parties to an agreement or contract (especially one that falls under the purview of the UNIFORM COMMERCIAL CODE [UCC]), any time which is not manifestly unreasonable under the circumstances. For example, if a contract does not fix a specific time for performance, the law will infer (and impose) a reasonable time for such performance. This is defined as that amount of time which is fairly necessary, conveniently, to do what the contract requires to be done, as soon as circumstances permit. The term "reasonable time" has other (related) applications: UCC 2-206(2) requires that acceptance of an offer be made within a "reasonable time" if no time is specified.

The reasonableness or unreasonableness of time used or taken by a party may be the subject of JUDICIAL REVIEW in light of the nature, purpose, and circumstances of each case. In considering whether there has been unreasonable delay in performance, a court may also consider other factors such as prior dealings between the parties, business routine or custom within the trade, and whether there were any objective manifestations of expectation expressed between the parties.

Reasonable woman: A standard used by fact finders in SEXUAL HARASSMENT litigation to determine whether sexual harassment has occurred.

Rebate: Discount; diminution of interest on capital lent in consideration of prompt repayment thereof; reduction of a stipulated charge that is not credited in advance but is returned subsequent to payment in full.

Rebus sic stantibus: [Latin, At this point of affairs; in these circumstances.] A tacit condition attached to all treaties to the effect that they will no longer be binding as soon as the state of facts and conditions upon which they were based changes to a substantial degree.

Rebut: To defeat, dispute, or remove the effect of the other side's facts or arguments in a particular case or controversy.

Rebuttable presumption: A conclusion as to the existence or nonexistence of a fact that a judge or jury must draw when certain evidence has been introduced and admitted as true in a lawsuit but that can be contradicted by evidence to the contrary.

Rebutter: In COMMON-LAW PLEADING, the response made by a defendant to a plaintiff's surrejoinder, which rebuts earlier denials made by the defendant.

Recall: The right or procedure by which a public official may be removed from a position by a vote of the people prior to the end of the term of office.

Recaption: Regaining possession of; taking back.

Receipt: Acknowledgment in writing that something of value, or cash, has been placed into an individual's possession; written confirmation of payment rendered. Receipt of goods refers to the act of taking physical possession of them.

Receiver: An archaic term, used in common law and CIVIL LAW countries, to designate an individual who holds and conceals stolen goods for thieves. Currently an independent individual appointed by a court to handle money or property during a lawsuit.

Receivership: A court order whereby all the property subject to dispute in a legal action is placed under the dominion and control of an independent person known as a receiver.

Receiving stolen property: The offense of acquiring goods with the knowledge that they have been stolen, extorted, embezzled, or unlawfully taken in any manner.

Recess: In the practice of courts, a brief interval during which all business is suspended without an adjournment.

Recidivism: The behavior of a repeat or habitual criminal. A measurement of the rate at which offenders commit other crimes, either by arrest or conviction baselines, after being released from incarceration.

Reciprocal: Bilateral; two-sided; mutual; interchanged.

Recital: A formal statement appearing in a legal document such as a deed that is preliminary in nature and provides an explanation of the reasons for the transaction.

Recklessness: Rashness; heedlessness; wanton conduct. The state of mind accompanying an act that either pays no regard to its probably or possibly injurious consequences, or which, though foreseeing such consequences, persists in spite of such knowledge.

Recognition: The confirmation or ACKNOWLEDGMENT of the existence of an act performed, of an event that transpired, or of a person who is authorized by another to act in a particular manner.

Recognizance: A recorded obligation, entered into before a tribunal, in which an individual pledges to perform a specific act or to subscribe to a certain course of conduct.

Reconciliation: The restoration of peaceful or amicable relations between two individuals who were previously in conflict with one another.

Reconveyance: The transfer of real property that takes place when a mortgage is fully paid off and the land is returned to the owner free from the former debt.

Recording of land titles: A process by which proof of ownership of real property is filed in the appropriate county office or court to allow purchasers, creditors, and other interested parties to determine the status of the property interests therein.

Records: Written accounts of acts, transactions, or instruments that are drawn up pursuant to legal authority by an appropriate officer and appointed to be retained as memorials or permanent evidence of matters to which they are related.

Recoupment: To recover a loss by a subsequent gain. In PLEADING, to set forth a claim against the plaintiff when an action is brought against one as a defendant. Keeping back of something that is due, because there is an equitable reason to withhold it. A right of the defendant to have a deduction from the amount of the plaintiff's damages, for the reason that the plaintiff has not complied with the cross-obligations or independent covenants arising under the same contract.

Recourse: The right of an individual who is holding a COMMERCIAL PAPER, such as a check or promissory note, to receive payment on it from anyone who has signed it if the individual who originally made it is unable, or refuses, to tender payment.

Recovered memory: The remembrance of traumatic childhood events, usually involving SEXUAL ABUSE, many years after the events occurred.

Recovery: The acquisition of something of value through the judgment of a court, as the result of a lawsuit initiated for that purpose.

Recrimination: A charge made by an individual who is being accused of some act against the accuser.

Recuse: To disqualify or remove oneself as a judge over a particular proceeding because of one's conflict of interest. Recusal, or the judge's act of disqualifying himself or herself from presiding over a proceeding, is based on the MAXIM that judges are charged with a duty of impartiality in administering justice.

Redemption: The liberation of an estate in real property from a mortgage.

Redlining: A discriminatory practice whereby lending institutions refuse to make mortgage loans, regardless of an applicant's credit history, on properties in particular areas in which conditions are allegedly deteriorating.

Redress: Compensation for injuries sustained; recovery or restitution for harm or injury; damages or equitable relief. Access to the courts to gain REPARATION for a wrong.

Reductio ad absurdum: [Latin, Reduction to absurdity.] In logic, a method employed to disprove an argument by illustrating how it leads to an absurd consequence.

Referee: A judicial officer who presides over civil hearings but usually does not have the authority or power to render judgment.

Reference: The process by which a tribunal sends a civil action, or a particular issue in the action, to an individual who has been appointed by the tribunal to hear and decide upon it, or to obtain evidence, and make a report to the court.

Referendum: The right reserved to the people to approve or reject an act of the legislature, or the right of the people to approve or reject legislation that has been referred to them by the legislature.

Reformation: A remedy utilized by the courts to correct a written instrument so that it conforms to the ORIGINAL INTENT of the parties to such an instrument.

Reformatories: State institutions for the confinement of juvenile delinquents.

Refreshing memory: The process of aiding a witness's recollection of certain details during a trial by allowing him or her to consult documents, memoranda, or books in order to better remember past transactions or events about which he or she is testifying.

Refugees: Individuals who leave their native country for social, political, or religious reasons, or who are forced to leave as a result of any type of disaster, including war, political upheaval, and famine.

Refunding: Reimbursing funds in restitution or repayment. The process of refinancing or borrowing money, ordinarily through the sale of bonds, to pay off an existing debt with the proceeds derived therefrom.

Register: To record, or enter precisely in a designated place, certain information in the public records as is mandated by statute. A book of public records.

Register of deeds: The designation, in certain jurisdictions, of the public officers who record documents that establish ownership of property, mortgages, and other instruments that relate to real property in official record books provided and maintained for such purpose.

- Registrar: The public official charged with the duty of making and maintaining public records.
- Registration: Enrollment; the process of recording entries in an official book.
- Registration of land titles: A system by which ownership of real property is established through the issuance of an official certificate indicating the name of the individual in whom such ownership is vested.
- Regressive tax: A tax with a rate that decreases as the taxpayer's income increases.
- Regular: Customary; usual; with no unexpected or unusual variations; in conformity with ordinary practice.
- Regulation: A rule of order having the force of law, prescribed by a superior or competent authority, relating to the actions of those under the authority's control.
- Rehabilitation: The restoration of former rights, authority, or abilities.
- Reinstate: To restore to a condition that has terminated or been lost; to reestablish.
- Reinsurance: The contract made between an insurance company and a third party to protect the insurance company from losses. The contract provides for the third party to pay for the loss sustained by the insurance company when the company makes a payment on the original contract.
- Rejoinder: The answer made by a defendant in the second stage of COMMON-LAW PLEADING that rebuts or denies the assertions made in the plaintiff's replication.
- Relation: Kin; relative. The connection of two individuals, or their situation with respect to each other, who are associated, either by law, agreement, or kinship in a social status or union for purposes of domestic life, such as PARENT AND CHILD OR HUSBAND AND WIFE.
- Relator: The individual in whose name a legal action is brought by a state; the individual who relates the facts on which an action is based.
- Release: A contractual agreement by which one individual assents to relinquish a claim or right under the law to another individual against whom such claim or right is enforceable.
- Release time program: The name of the arrangement by which local public school boards permit students to be dismissed from classes prior to the completion of the regular school day for purposes of religious instruction.
- Relevancy: The tendency of a fact offered as evidence in a lawsuit to prove or disprove the truth of a point in issue.
- Relief: Financial assistance provided to the indigent by the government. The redress, or benefit, given by a court to an individual who brings a legal action.
- Remainder: A future interest held by one person in the real property of another that will take effect upon the expiration of the other property interests created at the same time as the future interest.
- Remand: To send back.
- Remedial statute: A law enacted for the purpose of correcting a defect in a prior law, or in order to provide a remedy where none previously existed.
- Remedy: The manner in which a right is enforced or satisfied by a court when some harm or injury, recognized by society as a wrongful act, is inflicted upon an individual.
- Remission: Extinguishment or release of a debt.
- Remit: To transmit or send. To relinquish or surrender, such as in the case of a fine, punishment, or sentence.

Remittance: Money sent from one individual to another in the form of cash, check, or some other manner.

Remittitur: The procedural process by which an excessive verdict of the jury is reduced. If money damages awarded by a jury are grossly excessive as a MATTER OF LAW, the judge may order the plaintiff to remit a portion of the award.

Removal: The transfer of a person or thing from one place to another. The transfer of a case from one court to another. In this sense, removal generally refers to a transfer from a court in one jurisdiction to a court in another, whereas a change of venue may be granted simply to move a case to another location within the same jurisdiction.

Render: Return; yield; pay or perform, as in charges or services.

Renewal: Rehabilitation; reestablishment; substitution of a new right or obligation for another of the same or similar nature.

Rent strike: An organized protest on the part of tenants in which they withhold the payment of consideration for the use or occupation of property from their landlord until their grievances are settled.

Renunciation: The ABANDONMENT of a right; repudiation; rejection.

Renvoi: The process by which a court adopts the rules of a foreign jurisdiction with respect to any conflict of laws that arises.

Reorganization: The process of carrying out, through agreements and legal proceedings, a business plan for winding up the affairs of, or foreclosing a mortgage upon, the property of a corporation that has become insolvent.

Reorganization plan: A scheme authorized by federal law and promulgated by the president whereby he or she alters the structure of federal agencies to promote government efficiency and economy through a transfer, consolidation, coordination, authorization, or ABOLITION of functions.

Reparable injury: A TORT, or civil wrong, that can be compensated through the payment of pecuniary damages, as distinguished from irreparable injury or harm that is not compensable through the payment of money.

Reparation: Compensation for an injury; redress for a wrong inflicted.

Repeal: The ANNULMENT or abrogation of a previously existing statute by the enactment of a later law that revokes the former law.

Replevin: A legal action to recover the possession of items of PERSONAL PROPERTY.

Replication: In COMMON-LAW PLEADING, the response of a plaintiff to the defendant's plea in an action at law, or to the defendant's answer in a suit in EQUITY.

Reply: The PLEADING in which a plaintiff responds to the defendant's demand for relief asserted in a set-off or counterclaim.

Report: An official or formal statement of facts or proceedings. To give an account of; to relate; to tell or convey information; the written statement of such an account.

Reporter: One who prepares a summary or gives an account. A court reporter is a person who records court proceedings as they take place and then later transcribes the account. A published volume of the decisions of a court or a group of courts.

Repossession: The taking back of an item that has been sold on credit and delivered to the purchaser because the payments have not been made on it.

Represent: To exhibit or expose; to appear in the character of.

Representation: Any action or conduct that can be turned into a statement of fact.

Representative: An individual who stands in the place of another.

Representative action: A legal action in which one or a few members of a class sue on behalf of themselves and other members of the same class; a lawsuit brought by the stockholders of a corporation, on its behalf, for the enforcement of a corporate right.

Reprieve: The suspension of the execution of the death penalty for a period of time.

Reprisal: The act of punishing another for some injury the latter caused. In terms of INTERNATIONAL LAW, a reprisal is the forcible taking, in time of peace, by the government of one country of the property or territory belonging to another country or belonging to the citizens of the other country, as redress intended to satisfy a claim.

Republic: That form of government in which the administration of affairs is open to all the citizens. A political unit or "state," independent of its form of government.

Republication: The reexecution or reestablishment by a testator of a will that he or she had once revoked.

Repudiation: The rejection or refusal of a duty, relation, right, or privilege.

Repugnancy: An inconsistency or opposition between two or more clauses of the same deed, contract, or statute, between two or more material allegations of the same PLEADING or between any two writings.

Requirements contract: A written agreement whereby a buyer assents to purchase for a sufficient consideration (the inducement to enter into an agreement) all the merchandise of a designated type that he or she might require for use in his or her own established business.

Requisition: A written demand; a formal request or requirement. The formal demand by one government upon another, or by the governor of one state upon the governor of another state, of the surrender of a fugitive from justice. The taking or seizure of property by government.

Res: [Latin, A thing.] An object, a subject matter, or a status against which legal proceedings have been instituted.

Res gestae: [Latin, Things done.] Secondhand statements considered trustworthy for the purpose of admission as evidence in a lawsuit when repeated by a witness because they were made spontaneously and concurrently with an event.

Res ipsa loquitur: [Latin, The thing speaks for itself.] A rebuttable presumption or inference that the defendant was negligent, which arises upon proof that the instrumentality or condition causing the injury was in the defendant's exclusive control and that the accident was one that ordinarily does not occur in the absence of NEGLIGENCE.

Res judicata: [Latin, A thing adjudged.] A rule that a final judgment on the merits by a court having jurisdiction is conclusive between the parties to a suit as to all matters that were litigated or that could have been litigated in that suit.

Rescind: To declare a contract void—of no legal force or binding effect—from its inception and thereby restore the parties to the positions they would have occupied had no contract ever been made.

Rescission: The abrogation of a contract, effective from its inception, thereby restoring the parties to the positions they would have occupied if no contract had ever been formed.

Rescue: The crime of forcibly and knowingly freeing another from arrest, imprisonment, or legal custody.

In ADMIRALTY AND MARITIME LAW, the taking back of property seized as prize from the possession of the captors by the party who originally lost it.

Rescue doctrine: The principle that one who has, through her NEGLIGENCE, endangered the safety of another can be held liable for injuries sustained by a third person who attempts to save the imperiled person from injury.

Reservation: A clause in a deed of real property whereby the grantor, one who transfers property, creates and retains for the grantor some right or interest in the estate granted, such as rent or an EASEMENT, a right of use over the land of another. A large tract of land that is withdrawn by public authority from sale or settlement and appropriated to specific public uses, such as parks or military posts. A tract of land under the control of the Bureau of Indian Affairs to which an American Indian tribe retains its original title to ownership, or that has been set aside from the public domain for use by a tribe.

Reserve: Funds set aside to cover future expenses, losses, or claims. To retain; to keep in store for future or special use; to postpone to a future time.

Residence: Personal presence at some place of abode.

Residency: A duration of stay required by state and local laws that entitles a person to the legal protection and benefits provided by applicable statutes.

Residuary clause: A provision in a will that disposes of property not expressly disposed of by other provisions of the will.

Residuum: That which remains after any process of separation or deduction; a balance; that which remains of a decedent's estate after debts have been paid and gifts deducted.

Resolution: The official expression of the opinion or will of a legislative body.

Respondeat superior: [Latin, Let the master answer.] A common-law doctrine that makes an employer liable for the actions of an employee when the actions take place within the scope of employment.

Respondent: In EQUITY practice, the party who answers a bill or other proceeding in equity. The party against whom an appeal or motion, an application for a court order, is instituted and who is required to answer in order to protect his or her interests.

Responsive pleading: A formal declaration by a party in reply to a prior declaration by an opponent.

Rest: To cease motion, exertion, or labor.

Restatement of law: A series of volumes regarded as an authoritative work of legal scholarship prepared by the authors, scholars, and members of the judiciary who comprise the American Law Institute (ALI), which presents a survey of a general area of the law and the changes that have occurred therein.

Restitution: In the context of CRIMINAL LAW, state programs under which an offender is required, as a condition of his or her sentence, to repay money or donate services to the victim or society; with respect to maritime law, the restoration of articles lost by jettison, done when the remainder of the cargo has been saved, at the general charge of the owners of the cargo; in the law of TORTS, or civil wrongs, a measure of damages; in regard to contract law, the restoration of a party injured by a breach of contract to the position that party occupied before she or he entered the contract.

Restorative justice: A philosophical framework and a series of programs for the criminal justice system that emphasize the need to repair the harm done to crime victims through a process of negotiation, mediation, victim empowerment, and REPARATION.

Restraining order: A command of the court issued upon the filing of an application for an INJUNCTION, prohibiting the defendant from performing a threatened act until a hearing on the application can be held.

Restraint of trade: Contracts or combinations that tend, or are designed, to eliminate or stifle competition, create a MONOPOLY, artificially maintain prices, or otherwise hamper or obstruct the course of trade as it would be carried on if it were left to the control of natural economic forces.

Restrictive covenant: A provision in a deed limiting the use of the property and prohibiting certain uses. A clause in contracts of partnership and employment prohibiting a contracting party from engaging in similar employment for a specified period of time within a certain geographical area.

Restrictive indorsement: The act of a payee or other holder of an instrument, such as a check, that consists of signing his or her name upon the back of the instrument in order to transfer it to another and wording the signature in such a manner as to bar the further negotiability of the instrument.

Resulting trust: An arrangement whereby one person holds property for the benefit of another, which is implied by a court in certain cases where a person transfers property to another and gives him or her legal title to it but does not intend him or her to have an equitable or beneficial interest in the property.

Retainer: A contract between attorney and client specifying the nature of the services to be rendered and the cost of the services.

Retaliatory eviction: The act of a landlord in ejecting or attempting to eject a tenant from the rented premises, or in refusing to renew a lease, because of the tenant's complaints or participation in a tenant's union or in similar activities with which the landlord is not in accord.

Retorsion: A phrase used in INTERNATIONAL LAW to describe retaliatory action taken by one foreign government against another for the stringent or harsh regulation or treatment of its citizens who are within the geographical boundaries of the foreign country.

Retraction: In the law of DEFAMATION, a formal recanting of the libelous or slanderous material.

Retro: [Latin, Back; backward; behind.] A prefix used to designate a prior condition or time.

Retroactive: Having reference to things that happened in the past, prior to the occurrence of the act in question.

Return: To bring, carry, or send back; to restore, redeliver, or replace in the custody of someone. Merchandise brought back to a seller for credit or a refund. The profit made on a sale; the income from an investment. A schedule of information required by some governmental agencies, such as the tax return that must be submitted to the INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE.

The official report made by a court, body of magistrates, or other official board charged with counting votes cast in an election. The redelivery of a writ, notice, or other form of legal process to the court after its proper service on the defendant or after it cannot be served.

Return day: The day on which votes are counted and the election results announced. The day named in a writ or other form of legal process as the date when the response to that paper must be made.

The day on which an officer, such as a U.S. marshal, must file proof with the court that he or she has served legal process on a defendant or that he or she cannot serve the papers. The statement is made under oath and is called the return or return of process.

Revenue: Return or profit such as the annual or periodic rents, profits, interest, or income from any type of real or PERSONAL PROPERTY, received by an individual, a corporation, or a government.

Reverse: To overthrow, invalidate, repeal, or revoke.

Reversion: Any future interest kept by a person who transfers property to another.

Reverter, possibility of: A contingent future interest in real property that a grantor of a determinable fee possesses after he or she has conveyed property.

Review: To reexamine judicially or administratively; a judicial reconsideration for purposes of correction, for example, the examination of a case by an appellate court.

Revised statutes: A body of statutes that have been revised, collected, arranged in order, and reenacted as a whole. The legal title of the collection of compiled laws of the United States, as well as some of the individual states.

Revival of an action: A mechanism of legal procedure that operates at the PLEADING stage of litigation to subsequently renew an action that has been abated, terminated, or suspended for reasons other than the merits of the claim.

Revive: To renew.

Revocation: The recall of some power or authority that has been granted.

Revoke: To annul or make void by recalling or taking back; to cancel, rescind, repeal, or reverse.

Revolution: A sudden, tumultuous, and radical transformation of an entire system of government, including its legal and political components.

Revolving charge: A type of credit arrangement that permits a buyer or a borrower to purchase merchandise or obtain loans on a continuing basis as long as the outstanding balance of the account does not exceed a certain limit.

Reward: A sum of money or other compensation offered to the public in general, or to a class of persons, for the performance of a special service.

Rex: [Latin, The king.] The phrase used to designate the king as the party prosecuting an accused in a criminal action, such as an action entitled Rex v. Doe.

Rider: A schedule or writing annexed to a document such as a legislative bill or insurance policy.

Right: In an abstract sense, justice, ethical correctness, or harmony with the RULES OF LAW or the principles of morals. In a concrete legal sense, a power, privilege, demand, or claim possessed by a particular person by virtue of law.

Right of action: The privilege of instituting a lawsuit arising from a particular transaction or state of facts, such as a suit that is based on a contract or a TORT, a civil wrong.

Right of election: The prerogative of a surviving spouse to accept the provision the dead spouse made in the will or to disregard the will and claim the share specified by statute.

Right of reentry: A right, retained by the grantor at the time land is conveyed, to reenter and take possession of the land if a certain condition occurs or fails to occur.

Right of survivorship: The power of the successor or successors of a deceased individual to acquire the property of that individual upon his or her death; a distinguishing feature of JOINT TENANCY.

Right of way: An EASEMENT, a privilege to pass over the land of another, whereby the holder of the easement acquires only a reasonable and usual enjoyment of the property, and the owner of the land retains the benefits and privileges of ownership consistent with the easement.

Right to counsel: The legal responsibility for the government to provide every defendant in a criminal action with LEGAL REPRESENTATION that also must be deemed effective.

Right-to-work laws: State laws permitted by section 14(b) of the TAFT-HARTLEY ACT that provide in general that employees are not required to join a union as a condition of getting or retaining a job.

Riot: A disturbance of the peace by several persons, assembled and acting with a common intent in executing a lawful or unlawful enterprise in a violent and turbulent manner.

Riparian rights: The rights, which belong to landowners through whose property a natural water-course runs, to the benefit of such stream for all purposes to which it can be applied.

Ripeness: The mandate contained in Article III of the Constitution that requires an appellate court to consider whether a case has matured into a controversy worthy of adjudication before it can hear the case.

Risk: The potential danger that threatens to harm or destroy an object, event, or person.

Risk arbitrage: The purchase of stock in a corporation that appears to be the target of an imminent takeover in the hope of making large profits if the takeover occurs.

Robbery: The taking of money or goods in the possession of another, from his or her person or immediate presence, by force or intimidation.

Roe: A fictitious surname used for an unknown or anonymous person or for a hypothetical person in an illustration.

Rogatory letters: A commission from one judge to another judge requesting the latter to examine a witness in his or her court, with the testimony to be provided to the first judge.

Roll: To commit a ROBBERY by force. A record of the proceedings of a court or public office.

Royalty: Compensation for the use of property, usually copyrighted works, patented inventions, or natural resources, expressed as a percentage of receipts from using the property or as a payment for each unit produced.

Rubric of a statute: The title of a statute indicating the objective of the legislation and providing a means of interpreting the body of the act.

Rule: To command or require pursuant to a principle of the court, as to rule the sheriff to serve the summons.

To settle or decide a point of law at a trial or hearing.

An established standard, guide, or regulation governing conduct, procedure, or action.

Rule against accumulations: A principle that prohibits adding income or interest earned by a trust back into the principal of the fund beyond the time allowed by the RULE AGAINST PERPETUITIES.

Rule against perpetuities: Under the COMMON LAW, the principle that no interest in property is valid unless it vests not later than twenty-one years, plus the period of gestation, after some life or lives in being which exist at the time of the creation of the interest.

Rule in Shelley's case: An English common-law doctrine that provided that a conveyance that attempts to give a person a life estate, with a remainder to that person's heirs, will instead give both the life estate and the remainder to the person, thus giving that person the land in fee simple absolute (full ownership without restriction).

Rule of law: Rule according to law; rule under law; or rule according to a higher law.

Rule of 78: A method of computing refunds of unearned finance charges on early payment of a loan so that the refund is proportional to the monthly unpaid balance.

Rules of war: A body of customs, practices, usages, conventions, protocols, treaties, laws, and other norms that govern the commencement, conduct, and termination of hostilities between belligerent states or parties.

Ruling: A judicial or administrative interpretation of a provision of a statute, order, regulation, or ordinance. The judicial determination of matters before the court such as the admissibility of evidence or the granting of a motion, which is an application for an order.

Run: To have legal validity in a prescribed territory; as in, the writ (a court order) runs throughout the county. To have applicability or legal effect during a prescribed period of time; as in, the STATUTE OF LIMITATIONS has run against the claim. To follow or accompany; to be attached to another thing in pursuing a prescribed course or direction; as in, the COVENANT (a written promise or restriction) runs with the land.

Running with the land: Passing with a transfer of the property. A provision in a deed by which the person to whom the land is transferred agrees to maintain a fence is an example of a COVENANT that runs with the land.

S corporation: A type of corporation that is taxed under subchapter S of the INTERNAL REVENUE CODE (26 U.S.C.A. § 1 et seq.).

Sabotage: The willful destruction or impairment of, or defective production of, war material or national defense material, or harm to war premises or war utilities. During a labor dispute, the willful and malicious destruction of an employer's property or interference with his normal operations.

Said: Mentioned earlier. Frequently used in contracts and other legal documents, with the same force as aforesaid.

Sailor: Person who navigates ships or assists in the conduct, maintenance, or service of ships.

Sales law: The law relating to the transfer of ownership of property from one person to another for value, which is codified in Article 2 of the UNIFORM COMMERCIAL CODE (UCC), a body of law governing mercantile transactions adopted in whole or in part by the states.

Sales tax: A state or local-level tax on the retail sale of specified property or services. It is a percentage of the cost of such. Generally, the purchaser pays the tax but the seller collects it as an agent for the government. Various taxing jurisdictions allow exemptions for purchases of specified items, including certain foods, services, and manufacturing equipment. If the purchaser and seller are in different states, a use tax usually applies.

Salvage: The portion of goods or property that has been saved or remains after some type of casualty, such as a fire.

Same evidence test: A method used by courts to assess whether a criminal prosecution is barred by the DOUBLE JEOPARDY CLAUSE of the FIFTH AMENDMENT to the U.S. Constitution, which guarantees that no individual shall "be subject for the same offense to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb." Under this test, if the evidence required to support a conviction in one crime also would have supported a conviction in another, then double jeopardy exists.

San Francisco Vigilance Committees of 1851 and 1856: Self-appointed law enforcement committees that were organized to maintain order in San Francisco, California, during the mid-nineteenth century.

Sanction: To assent, concur, confirm, approve, or ratify. The part of a law that is designed to secure enforcement by imposing a penalty for violation of the law or offering a reward for its observance. A punitive act taken by one nation against another nation that has violated a treaty or INTERNATIONAL LAW.

Sanity: Reasonable understanding; sound mind; possessing mental faculties that are capable of distinguishing right from wrong so as to bear legal responsibility for one's actions.

Satisfaction: The discharge of an obligation by paying a party what is due—as on a mortgage, lien, or contract—or by paying what is awarded to a person by the judgment of a court or otherwise.

An entry made on the record, by which a party in whose favor a judgment was rendered declares that she has been satisfied and paid.

The fulfillment of a gift by will, whereby the testator—one who dies leaving a will— makes an inter vivos gift, one which is made while the testator is alive to take effect while the testator is living, to the beneficiary with the intent that it be in lieu of the gift by will. In EQUITY, something given either in whole or in part as a substitute or equivalent for something else.

Save: To except, reserve, or exempt; as where a statute saves vested—fixed—rights. To toll, or suspend the running or operation of; as, to save the STATUTE OF LIMITATIONS.

Saving clause: In a statute, an exception of a special item out of the general things mentioned in the statute. A restriction in a repealing act, which is intended to save rights, while proceedings are pending, from the obliteration that would result from an unrestricted repeal. The provision in a statute, sometimes referred to as the severability clause, that rescues the balance of the statute from a declaration of unconstitutionality if one or more parts are invalidated.

With respect to existing rights, a saving clause enables the repealed law to continue in force.

Savings and loan association: A financial institution owned by and operated for the benefit of those using its services. The savings and loan association's primary purpose is making loans to its members, usually for the purchase of real estate or homes.

Scab: A pejorative term used colloquially in reference to a nonunion worker who takes the place of a union employee on strike or who works for wages and other conditions that are inferior to those guaranteed to a union member by virtue of the union contract.

School desegregation: The attempt to end the practice of separating children of different races into distinct public schools.

Scienter: [Latin, Knowingly.] Guilty knowledge that is sufficient to charge a person with the consequences of his or her acts.

Scientific evidence: Evidence presented in court that is produced from scientific tests or studies.

Scintilla: A glimmer; a spark; the slightest particle or trace.

Scire facias: [Latin, Made known.] A judicial writ requiring a defendant to appear in court and prove why an existing judgment should not be executed against him or her.

Scope of employment: Activities of an employee that are in furtherance of duties that are owed to an employer and where the employer is, or could be, exercising some control, directly or indirectly, over the activities of the employee.

Scorched-earth plan: A slang expression for a defensive tactic used by an unwilling corporate takeover target to make itself less attractive to a buyer.

Seal: To close records by any type of fastening that must be broken before access can be obtained. An impression upon wax, wafer, or some other substance capable of being impressed.

Seal of the United States: The official die or signet, which has a raised emblem and is used by federal officials on documents of importance.

Sealed verdict: A decision reached by the jury when the court is not in session, which is placed in a closed envelope by the jurors, who then separate.

Search and seizure: A hunt by law enforcement officials for property or communications believed to be evidence of crime, and the act of taking possession of this property.

In INTERNATIONAL LAW, the right of ships of war, as regulated by treaties, to examine a merchant vessel during war in order to determine whether the ship or its cargo is liable to seizure.

Search warrant: A court order authorizing the examination of a place for the purpose of discovering contraband, stolen property, or evidence of guilt to be used in the prosecution of a criminal action.

Seasonable: Within a reasonable time; timely.

Seat belts: A restraining device used to secure passengers in motorized vehicles.

SEC: An abbreviation for the SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION.

Secession: The act of withdrawing from membership in a group.

Second look doctrine: In the law of future interests, a rule that provides that even though the validity of interests created by the exercise of a power of appointment is ordinarily measured from the date the power is created, not from its exercise, the facts existing on the date of its exercise can be considered in order to determine if the RULE AGAINST PERPETUITIES has been violated.

Secondary authority: Sources of information that describe or interpret the law, such as legal treatises, law review articles, and other scholarly legal writings, cited by lawyers to persuade a court to reach a particular decision in a case, but which the court is not obligated to follow.

Secondary boycott: A group's refusal to work for, purchase from, or handle the products of a business with which the group has no dispute.

Secondary evidence: A reproduction of, or substitute for, an original document or item of proof that is offered to establish a particular issue in a legal action.

Secondary meaning: A doctrine of TRADEMARK law that provides that protection is afforded to the user of an otherwise unprotectable mark when the mark, through advertising or other exposure, has come to signify that an item is produced or sponsored by that user.

Section: The distinct and numbered subdivisions in legal codes, statutes, and textbooks. In the law of real property, a parcel of land equal in area to one square mile, or 640 acres.

Secure: To assure the payment of a debt or the performance of an obligation; to provide security.

Secured creditor: One who holds some special monetary assurance of payment of a debt owed to him or her, such as a mortgage, collateral, or lien.

Secured transactions: Business dealings that grant a creditor a right in property owned or held by a debtor to assure the payment of a debt or the performance of some obligation.

Securities: Evidence of a corporation's debts or property.

Security: Protection; assurance; indemnification.

Security deposit: Money aside from the payment of rent that a landlord requires a tenant to pay to be kept separately in a fund for use should the tenant cause damage to the premises or otherwise violate terms of the lease.

Sedition: A revolt or an incitement to revolt against established authority, usually in the form of TREASON or DEFAMATION against government.

Seditious libel: Written or spoken words, pictures, signs, or other forms of communication that tend to defame, discredit, criticize, impugn, embarrass, challenge, or question the government, its policies, or its officials; speech that advocates the overthrow of the government by force or violence or that incites people to change the government by unlawful means.

Seduction: The act by which a man entices a woman to have unlawful sexual relations with him by means of persuasions, solicitations, promises, or bribes without the use of physical force or violence.

Segregation: The act or process of separating a race, class, or ethnic group from a society's general population.

Seizure: Forcible possession; a grasping, snatching, or putting in possession.

Selective prosecution: Criminal prosecution based on an unjustifiable standard such as race, religion, or other ARBITRARY classification.

Selectman or selectwoman: A municipal officer elected by a town in the New England states.

Self-incrimination: Giving testimony in a trial or other legal proceeding that could subject one to criminal prosecution.

Self-dealing: The conduct of a trustee, an attorney, or other fiduciary that consists of taking advantage of his or her position in a transaction and acting for his or her own interests rather than for the interests of the beneficiaries of the trust or the interests of his or her clients.

Self-defense: The protection of one's person or property against some injury attempted by another.

Self-determination: The political right of the majority to the exercise of power within the boundaries of a generally accepted political unit, area, or territory.

Self-executing: Anything (e.g., a document or legislation) that is effective immediately without the need of intervening court action, ancillary legislation, or other type of implementing action.

Self-executing treaty: A compact between two nations that is effective immediately without the need for ancillary legislation.

Self-help: Redressing or preventing wrongs by one's own action WITHOUT RECOURSE to legal proceedings.

Senate: The upper chamber, or smaller branch, of the U.S. Congress. The upper chamber of the legislature of most of the states.

Senior citizens: Elderly persons, usually more than sixty or sixty-five years of age.

Senior interest: A right that takes effect prior to others or has preference over others.

Seniority: Precedence or preference in position over others similarly situated. As used, for example, with reference to job seniority, the worker with the most years of service is first promoted within a range of jobs subject to seniority, and is the last laid off, proceeding so on down the line to the youngest in point of service. The term may also refer to the priority of a lien or encumbrance.

Sentencing: The post-conviction stage of the criminal justice process, in which the defendant is brought before the court for the imposition of a penalty.

Separate but equal: The doctrine first enunciated by the U.S. Supreme Court in PLESSY V. FERGUSON, 163 U.S. 537, 16 S. Ct. 1138, 41 L. Ed. 256 (1896), to the effect that establishing different facilities for blacks and whites was valid under the EQUAL PROTECTION CLAUSE of the FOURTEENTH AMENDMENT as long as they were equal.

Separate maintenance: Money paid by one married person to the other for support if they are no longer living as HUSBAND AND WIFE. Commonly it is referred to as separate support and follows from a court order.

Separation: A termination of COHABITATION of HUSBAND AND WIFE either by mutual agreement or, in the case of judicial separation, under the decree of a court.

Separation of powers: The division of state and federal government into three independent branches.

Sequestration: In the context of trials, the isolation of a jury from the public, or the separation of witnesses to ensure the integrity of testimony. In other legal contexts the seizure of property or the freezing of assets by court order.

Seriatim: [Latin, Severally; separately; individually; one by one.]

Serjeant at law: In English LEGAL HISTORY, an elite order of attorneys who had the exclusive privilege of arguing before the Court of Common Pleas and also supplied the judges for both Common Pleas and the Court of the King's Bench.

Service: Any duty or labor performed for another person.

The delivery of a legal document that notifies the recipient of the commencement of a legal action or proceeding in which he or she is involved.

Service mark: A TRADEMARK that is used in connection with services.

Service of process: Delivery of a writ, summons, or other legal papers to the person required to respond to them.

Servitude: The state of a person who is subjected, voluntarily or involuntarily, to another person as a servant. A charge or burden resting upon one estate for the benefit or advantage of another.

Session: The sitting of a court, legislature, council, or commission for the transaction of its proper business.

Set aside: To cancel, annul, or revoke a judgment or order.

Set down: To list a case in a court calendar or docket for trial or hearing during a particular term.

Set-off: A demand made by the defendant against the plaintiff that is based on some transaction or occurrence other than the one that gave the plaintiff grounds to sue.

Setback: A distance from a curb, property line, or structure within which building is prohibited.

Settle: To agree, to approve, to arrange, to ascertain, to liquidate, or to reach an agreement.

Settlement: The act of adjusting or determining the dealings or disputes between persons without pursuing the matter through a trial.

Settlement statement: A breakdown of costs involved in a real estate sale.

Settlor: One who establishes a trust—a right of property, real or personal—held and administered by a trustee for the benefit of another.

Severable: That which is capable of being separated from other things to which it is joined and maintaining nonetheless a complete and independent existence.

Several: Separate; individual; independent.

Severalty ownership: Sole proprietorship of property; individual dominion.

Severance: The act of dividing, or the state of being divided.

Sex discrimination: Discrimination on the basis of gender.

Sex offenses: A class of sexual conduct prohibited by the law.

Sexual abuse: Illegal sex acts performed against a minor by a parent, guardian, relative, or acquaintance.

Sexual harassment: Unwelcome sexual advances, requests for sexual favors, and other verbal or physical conduct of a sexual nature that tends to create a hostile or offensive work environment.

Sham: False; without substance.

Share: A portion or part of something that may be divided into components, such as a sum of money. A unit of stock that represents ownership in a corporation.

Shelter: A general term used in statutes that relates to the provision of food, clothing, and housing for specified individuals; a home with a proper environment that affords protection from the weather.

Shepardizing: A term used in the legal profession to describe the process of using a citator to discover the history of a case or statute to determine whether it is still good law.

Shepard's® Citations: A set of volumes published primarily for use by judges when they are in the process of writing judicial decisions and by lawyers when they are preparing briefs, or memoranda of law, that contain a record of the status of cases or statutes.

Sheriff: Usually the chief peace officer of a county.

Sheriff's deed: A document giving ownership rights in property to a buyer at a sheriff's sale (a sale held by a sheriff to pay a court judgment against the owner of the property). A deed given at a sheriff's sale in foreclosure of a mortgage. The giving of said deed begins a STATUTORY REDEMPTION period.

Shifting the burden of proof: The process of transferring the obligation to affirmatively prove a fact in controversy or an issue brought during a lawsuit from one party in a legal controversy to the other party.

Shipping law: The area of maritime law that is concerned with ships and the individuals employed in or around them, as well as the shipment of goods by merchant vessels.

Shock-the-conscience test: A determination of whether a state agent's actions fall outside the standards of civilized decency.

Shop-book rule: A doctrine that allows the admission into evidence of books that consist of original entries made in the normal course of a business, which are introduced to the court from proper custody upon general authentication.

Shop steward: A LABOR UNION official elected to represent members in a plant or particular department. The shop steward's duties include collection of dues, recruitment of new members, and initial negotiations for settlement of grievances.

Shoptlifting: Theft of merchandise from a store or business establishment.

Short cause: A legal matter that will not take up a significant amount of the time of the court and may be entered on the list of short causes upon application of one of the parties, where it will be dealt with more expediently than it would be in its regular order.

Short sale: A method of gaining profit from an anticipated decline in the price of a stock.

Show cause: An order by a court that requires a party to appear and to provide reasons why a particular thing should not be performed or allowed and mandates such party to meet the PRIMA FACIE case set forth in the complaint or AFFIDAVIT of the applicant.

Show cause order: A court order, made upon the motion of an applicant, that requires a party to appear and provide reasons why the court should not perform or not allow a particular action and mandates this party to meet the PRIMA FACIE case set forth in the complaint or AFFIDAVIT of the applicant.

Show-up: The live presentation of a criminal suspect to a victim or witness of a crime.

Sic: Latin, In such manner; so; thus.

Sight draft: A COMMERCIAL PAPER that is payable upon presentment.

Signature: A mark or sign made by an individual on an instrument or document to signify knowledge, approval, acceptance, or obligation.

Simple: Unmixed; not aggravated or compounded.

Simultaneous death: Loss of life by two or more individuals concurrently or pursuant to circumstances that render it impossible to ascertain who predeceased whom.

Sine die: [Latin, Without day.] Without day; without assigning a day for a further meeting or hearing.

Sine qua non: [Latin, Without which not.] A description of a requisite or condition that is indispensable.

Single name paper: A type of COMMERCIAL PAPER, such as a check or promissory note that has only one original signer or more than one maker signing for the exact same purpose.

Single name partnership: A business arrangement whereby two or more individuals, the partners, unite their skill, capital, and work in exchange for a proportional allocation of the profits and losses incurred but who engage in business under one name rather than the names of all the partners.

Sit: To hold court or perform an act that is judicial in nature; to hold a session, such as of a court, GRAND JURY, or legislative body.

Situs: [Latin, Situation; location.] The place where a particular event occurs.

S.J.D.: An abbreviation for doctor of judicial science, a degree awarded to highly qualified individuals who have successfully completed a prescribed course of legal doctorate study after having earned J.D. and LL.M. degrees.

Slating: The procedure by which law enforcement officials record on the blotter information about an individual's arrest and charges, together with identification and facts about his or her background.

Slavery: A civil relationship in which one person has absolute power over the life, fortune, and liberty of another.

Slip decision: A copy of a judgment by the U.S. Supreme Court or other tribunal that is printed and distributed almost immediately subsequent to the time that it is handed down by the court.

Slip law: A copy of a bill that is passed by a state legislature and endorsed by the governor, or passed by Congress and signed by the president, and is printed and distributed almost immediately.

Small business: A type of enterprise that is independently owned and operated, has few employees, does a small amount of business, and is not predominant in its area of operation.

Small claims court: A special court, sometimes called conciliation court, that provides expeditious, informal, and inexpensive adjudication of small claims.

Smart money: Vindictive, punitive, or exemplary damages given by way of punishment and example, in cases of gross misconduct of a defendant.

Smuggling: The criminal offense of bringing into, or removing from, a country those items that are prohibited or upon which customs or excise duties have not been paid.

Social security: A federal program designed to provide benefits to employees and their dependants through income for retirement, disability, and other purposes. The social security program is funded through a federal tax levied on employers and employees equally.

Socialism: An economic and social theory that seeks to maximize wealth and opportunity for all people through public ownership and control of industries and social services.

Sodomy: Anal or oral intercourse between human beings, or any sexual relations between a human being and an animal, the act of which may be punishable as a criminal offense.

Software: Intangible PERSONAL PROPERTY consisting of mathematical codes, programs, routines, and other functions that controls the functioning and operation of a computer's hardware.

Sole proprietorship: A form of business in which one person owns all the assets of the business, in contrast to a partnership or a corporation.

Solicitation: Urgent request, plea, or entreaty; enticing, asking. The criminal offense of urging someone to commit an unlawful act.

Solicitor: A type of practicing lawyer in England who handles primarily office work.

The title of the chief law officer of a government body or department, such as a city, town, or MUNICIPAL CORPORATION.

Solicitor general: An officer of the U.S. DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE who represents the U.S. government in cases before the U.S. Supreme Court.

Solvency: The ability of an individual to pay his or her debts as they mature in the normal and ordinary course of business, or the financial condition of owning property of sufficient value to discharge all of one's debts.

Son of Sam laws: Laws that enable a state to use the proceeds a criminal earns from recounting his or her crime in a book, movie, television show, or other depiction. The laws are named after David Berkowitz, a New York serial killer who left a note signed "Son of Sam" at the scene of one of his crimes.

Sovereign immunity: The legal protection that prevents a sovereign state or person from being sued without consent.

Sovereignty: The supreme, absolute, and uncontrollable power by which an independent state is governed and from which all specific political powers are derived; the intentional independence of a state, combined with the right and power of regulating its internal affairs without foreign interference.

Special appearance: The act of presenting oneself in a court and thereby submitting to the court's jurisdiction, but only for a specific purpose and not for all the purposes for which a lawsuit is brought.

Special assessment: A real property tax proportionately levied on homeowners and landowners to cover the costs of improvements that will be for the benefit of all upon whom it is imposed.

Special courts: Bodies within the judicial branch of government that generally address only one area of law or have specifically defined powers.

Special damages: Pecuniary compensation for injuries that follow the initial injury for which compensation is sought.

Special master: A representative of the court appointed to hear a case involving difficult or specialized issues.

Special term: In court practice in some jurisdictions, a branch of the court system held by a single judge for hearing and deciding motions and equitable actions in the first instance.

Special warranty deed: A written instrument that conveys real property in which the grantor (original owner) only covenants to warrant and defend the title against claims and demands by him or her and all persons claiming by, through, and under him or her.

Specialization: A career option pursued by some attorneys that entails the acquisition of detailed knowledge of, and proficiency in, a particular area of law.

Specialty: A contract under seal.

Specific intent: The mental purpose, aim, or design to accomplish a specific harm or result by acting in a manner prohibited by law.

Specific legacy: A gift by will of designated PERSONAL PROPERTY.

Specific performance: An extraordinary equitable remedy that compels a party to execute a contract according to the precise terms agreed upon or to execute it substantially so that, under the circumstances, justice will be done between the parties.

Speculative damages: Alleged injuries or losses that are uncertain or contingent and cannot be used as a basis of recovery for TORT or contract actions.

Speech plus: A form of expression in which behavior is used by itself or in coordination with written or spoken words to convey an idea or message.

Spending power: The power of legislatures to tax and spend.

Spendthrift: One who spends money profusely and improvidently, thereby wasting his or her estate.

Spendthrift trust: An arrangement whereby one person sets aside property for the benefit of another in which, either because of a direction of the settlor (one who creates a trust) or because of statute, the beneficiary (one who profits from the act of another) is unable to transfer his or her right to future payments of income or capital, and his or her creditors are unable to subject the beneficiary's interest to the payment of his or her debts.

Spin-off: The situation that arises when a parent corporation organizes a subsidiary corporation, to which it transfers a portion of its assets in exchange for all of the subsidiary's capital stock, which is subsequently transferred to the parent corporation's shareholders.

Split decision: A decision by an appellate court that is not unanimous.

Split-off: The process whereby a parent corporation organizes a subsidiary corporation to which it transfers part of its assets in exchange for all of the subsidiary's capital stock, which is subsequently transferred to the shareholders of the parent corporation in exchange for a portion of their parent stock.

Split-up: An arrangement whereby a parent corporation transfers all of its assets to two or more corporations and then winds up its affairs.

Spoliation: Any erasure, interlineation, or other alteration made to COMMERCIAL PAPER, such as a check or promissory note, by an individual who is not acting pursuant to the consent of the parties who have an interest in such instrument.

Sports law: The laws, regulations, and judicial decisions that govern sports and athletes.

Spot zoning: The granting to a particular parcel of land a classification concerning its use that differs from the classification of other land in the immediate area.

Squatter: An individual who settles on the land of another person without any legal authority to do so, or without acquiring a legal title.

SS: An abbreviation used in the portion of an AFFIDAVIT, PLEADING, or record known as the statement of venue.

Stale check: A document that is a promise to pay money that is held for too long a period of time before being presented for payment.

Stalking: Criminal activity consisting of the repeated following and harassing of another person.

Stamp tax: A pecuniary charge imposed upon certain transactions.

Stand: The location in a courtroom where the parties and witnesses offer their testimony. To appear in court; to submit to the jurisdiction of the court.

Stand mute: The state of affairs that arises when a defendant in a criminal action refuses to plead either guilty or not guilty.

Standard deduction: The name given to a fixed amount of money that may be subtracted from the adjusted gross income of a taxpayer who does not itemize certain living expenses for INCOME TAX purposes.

Standing: The legally protectible stake or interest that an individual has in a dispute that entitles him to bring the controversy before the court to obtain judicial relief.

Star chamber: An ancient high court of England, controlled by the monarch, which was abolished in 1641 by Parliament for abuses of power.

Stare decisis: [Latin, Let the decision stand.] The policy of courts to abide by or adhere to principles established by decisions in earlier cases.

State: As a noun, a people permanently occupying a fixed territory bound together by common habits and custom into one body politic exercising, through the medium of an organized government, independent sovereignty and control over all persons and things within its boundaries, capable of making war and peace and of entering into international relations with other states. The section of territory occupied by one of the United States. The people of a state, in their collective capacity, considered as the party wronged by a criminal deed; the public; as in the title of a case, “The State v. A. B.” The circumstances or condition of a being or thing at a given time.

As a verb, to express the particulars of a thing in writing or in words; to set down or set forth in detail; to aver, allege, or declare. To set down in gross; to mention in general terms, or by way of reference; to refer.

State action: A requirement for claims that arise under the DUE PROCESS CLAUSE of the FOURTEENTH AMENDMENT and CIVIL RIGHTS legislation, for which a private citizen seeks relief in the form of damages or redress based on an improper intrusion by the government into his or her private life.

State courts: Judicial tribunals established by each of the fifty states.

State interest: A broad term for any matter of public concern that is addressed by a government in law or policy.

State lottery: A game of chance operated by a state government.

Statement of affairs: A document that must be filed in BANKRUPTCY, which sets forth answers to questions concerning the debtor’s past and present financial situation.

State’s evidence: A colloquial term for testimony given by an ACCOMPLICE or joint participant in the commission of a crime, subject to an agreement that the person will be granted IMMUNITY from prosecution if she voluntarily, completely, and fairly discloses her own guilt as well as that of the other participants.

States’ rights: A doctrine and strategy in which the rights of the individual states are protected by the U.S. Constitution from interference by the federal government.

Status: The standing, state, or condition of an individual; the rights, obligations, capacities, and incapacities that assign an individual to a given class.

Status offense: A type of crime that is not based upon prohibited action or inaction but rests on the fact that the offender has a certain personal condition or is of a specified character.

Status quo: [Latin, The existing state of things at any given date.] Status quo ante bellum means the state of things before the war. The status quo to be preserved by a preliminary injunction is the last actual, peaceable, uncontested status which preceded the pending controversy.

Statute: An act of a legislature that declares, proscribes, or commands something; a specific law, expressed in writing.

Statute of frauds: A type of state law, modeled after an old ENGLISH LAW, that requires certain types of contracts to be in writing.

Statute of limitations: A type of federal or state law that restricts the time within which legal proceedings may be brought.

Statute of uses: An ENGLISH LAW enacted in 1535 to end the practice of creating uses in real property by changing the purely equitable title of those entitled to a use into absolute ownership with the right of possession.

Statute of wills: An early ENGLISH LAW that provided that all individuals who owned land were permitted to leave or devise two-thirds of their property to anyone by written will and testament, effective upon their death.

Statute of York: An ENGLISH LAW enacted in 1318 that required the consent of Parliament in all legislative matters.

Statutes at large: An official compilation of the acts and resolutions of each session of Congress published by the Office of the Federal Register in the National Archives and Record Service.

Statutory: Created, defined, or relating to a statute; required by statute; conforming to a statute.

Statutory rape: Sexual intercourse by an adult with a person below a statutorily designated age.

Statutory redemption: The right granted by legislation to a mortgagor, one who pledges property as security for a debt, as well as to certain others, to recover the mortgaged property after a foreclosure sale.

Stay: The act of temporarily stopping a judicial proceeding through the order of a court.

Steering: The process whereby builders, brokers, and rental property managers induce purchasers or lessees of real property to buy land or rent premises in neighborhoods composed of persons of the same race.

Stenographer: An individual who records court proceedings either in shorthand or through the use of a paper-punching device.

Sterilization: A medical procedure where the reproductive organs are removed or rendered ineffective.

Stipulation: An agreement between attorneys that concerns business before a court and is designed to simplify or shorten litigation and save costs.

Stock: A security issued by a corporation that represents an ownership right in the assets of the corporation and a right to a proportionate share of profits after payment of corporate liabilities and obligations.

Stock dividend: A corporate distribution to shareholders declared out of profits, at the discretion of the directors of the corporation, which is paid in the form of shares of stock, as opposed to money, and increases the number of shares.

Stock market: The various organized stock exchanges and over-the-counter markets.

Stock warrant: A certificate issued by a corporation that entitles the person holding it to buy a certain amount of stock in the corporation, usually at a specified time and price.

Stockholder's derivative suit: A legal action in which a shareholder of a corporation sues in the name of the corporation to enforce or defend a legal right because the corporation itself refuses to sue.

Stop and frisk: The situation in which a police officer who is suspicious of an individual detains the person and runs his hands lightly over the suspect's outer garments to determine if the person is carrying a concealed weapon.

Stop order: A direction by a customer to a stock BROKER, directing the broker to wait until a stock reaches a particular price and then to complete the transaction by purchasing or selling shares of that stock.

Stop payment order: Revocation of a check; a notice made by a depositor to his or her bank directing the bank to refuse payment on a specific check drawn by the depositor.

Stoppage in transit: The right of a seller to prevent the delivery of goods to a buyer after such goods have been delivered to a common carrier for shipment.

Straddle: In the stock and commodity markets, a strategy in options contracts consisting of an equal number of put options and call options on the same underlying share, index, or commodity future.

Straight-line depreciation: A method employed to calculate the decline in the value of income-producing property for the purposes of federal taxation.

Stranger: A third person; anyone who is not a party to a particular legal action or agreement.

Strategic lawsuits against public participation: Retaliatory lawsuits intended to silence, intimidate, or punish those who have used public forums to speak, petition, or otherwise move for government action on an issue.

Straw man: An individual who acts as a front for others who actually incur the expense and obtain the profit of a transaction.

Street railroad: A railway that is constructed upon a thoroughfare or highway to aid in the transportation of people or property along the roadway.

Strict construction: A close or narrow reading and interpretation of a statute or written document.

Strict foreclosure: A decree that orders the payment of a mortgage of real property.

Strict liability: Absolute legal responsibility for an injury that can be imposed on the wrongdoer without proof of carelessness or fault.

Strict scrutiny: A standard of JUDICIAL REVIEW for a challenged policy in which the court presumes the policy to be invalid unless the government can demonstrate a compelling interest to justify the policy.

Strike: A work stoppage; the concerted refusal of employees to perform work that their employer has assigned to them in order to force the employer to grant certain demanded concessions, such as increased wages or improved employment conditions.

String citation: A series of references to cases that establish legal precedents and to other authorities that appear one after another and are printed following a legal assertion or conclusion as supportive authority.

Strong-arm provision: The segment of the federal BANKRUPTCY law that grants the trustee the rights of the most secured creditor, so that he or she is able to seize all of the debtor's property for proper distribution.

Struck jury: A special jury chosen in a manner whereby an appropriate official prepares a panel containing the names of forty-eight potential jurors and the parties strike off names until the number of jurors is reduced to twelve.

Sua sponte: [Latin, Of his or her or its own will; voluntarily.]

Sub nomine: [Latin, Under the name; in the name of; under the title of.]

Sub silentio: [Latin, Under silence; without any notice being taken.]

Subcontractor: One who takes a portion of a contract from the principal contractor or from another subcontractor.

Subject matter jurisdiction: The power of a court to hear and determine cases of the general class to which the proceedings in question belong.

Subletting: The leasing of part or all of the property held by a tenant, as opposed to a landlord, during a portion of his or her unexpired balance of the term of occupancy.

Submerged lands: Soil lying beneath water or on the oceanside of the tideland.

Submission of controversy: A procedure by which the parties to a particular dispute place any matter of real controversy existing between them before a court for a final determination.

Submit: To offer for determination; commit to the judgment or discretion of another individual or authority.

Subordination: To put in an inferior class or order; to make subject to, or subservient. A legal status that refers to the establishment of priority between various existing liens or encumbrances on the same parcel of property.

Subornation of perjury: The criminal offense of procuring another to commit perjury, which is the crime of lying, in a material matter, while under oath.

Subpoena: [Latin, Under penalty.] A formal document that orders a named individual to appear before a duly authorized body at a fixed time to give testimony.

Subpoena duces tecum: The judicial process used to command the production before a court of papers, documents, or other tangible items of evidence.

Subrogation: The substitution of one person in the place of another with reference to a lawful claim, demand, or right, so that he or she who is substituted succeeds to the rights of the other in relation to the debt or claim, and its rights, remedies, or SECURITIES.

Subscribe: To write underneath; to put a signature at the end of a printed or written instrument.

Subscription: The act of writing one's name under a written instrument; the affixing of one's signature to any document, whether for the purpose of authenticating or attesting it, of adopting its terms as one's own expressions, or of binding one's self by an engagement which it contains. A written contract by which one engages to take and pay for capital stock of a corporation, or to contribute a sum of money for a designated purpose, either gratuitously, as in the case of subscribing to a charity, or in consideration of an equivalent to be rendered, as a subscription to a periodical, a forthcoming book, a series of entertainments, or the like.

Subsidiary: Auxiliary; aiding or supporting in an inferior capacity or position. In the law of corporations, a corporation or company owned by another corporation that controls at least a majority of the shares.

Substance: Essence; the material or necessary component of something.

Substantial: Of real worth and importance; of considerable value; valuable. Belonging to substance; actually existing; real; not seeming or imaginary; not illusive; solid; true; veritable.

Substantiate: To establish the existence or truth of a particular fact through the use of competent evidence; to verify.

Substantive due process: The substantive limitations placed on the content or subject matter of state and federal laws by the DUE PROCESS Clauses of the Fifth and Fourteenth Amendments to the U.S. Constitution.

Substantive law: The part of the law that creates, defines, and regulates rights, including, for example, the law of contracts, TORTS, wills, and real property; the essential substance of rights under law.

Substituted service: Service of process upon a defendant in any manner, authorized by statute or rule, other than PERSONAL SERVICE within the jurisdiction; as by publication, by mailing a copy to his or her last known address, or by personal service in another state.

Succession: The transfer of title to property under the law of DESCENT AND DISTRIBUTION. The transfer of legal or official powers from an individual who formerly held them to another who undertakes current responsibilities to execute those powers.

Sue: To initiate a lawsuit or continue a legal proceeding for the recovery of a right; to prosecute, assert a legal claim, or bring action against a particular party.

Suffer: To admit, allow, or permit.

Suffrage: The right to vote at public elections.

Sui generis: [Latin, Of its own kind or class.] That which is the only one of its kind.

Sui juris: [Latin, Of his or her own right.]

Possessing full social and CIVIL RIGHTS; not under any legal disability, or the power of another, or guardianship. Having the capacity to manage one's own affairs; not under legal disability to act for one's self.

Suicide: The deliberate taking of one's own life.

Suit: A generic term, of comprehensive signification, referring to any proceeding by one person or persons against another or others in a court of law in which the plaintiff pursues the remedy that the law affords for the redress of an injury or the enforcement of a right, whether at law or in EQUITY.

Summary: As a noun, an abridgment; brief; compendium; digest; also a short application to a court or judge, without the formality of a full proceeding.

As an adjective, short; concise; immediate; peremptory; off-hand; without a jury; provisional; statutory. The term as used in connection with legal proceedings means a short, concise, and immediate proceeding.

Summary judgment: A procedural device used during civil litigation to promptly and expeditiously dispose of a case without a trial. It is used when there is no dispute as to the material facts of the case and a party is entitled to judgment as a MATTER OF LAW.

Summary proceedings: An alternative form of litigation for the prompt disposition of legal actions.

Summary process: A legal procedure used for enforcing a right that takes effect faster and more efficiently than ordinary methods. The legal papers—a court order, for example—used to achieve an expeditious resolution of the controversy.

Summons: The paper that tells a defendant that he or she is being sued and asserts the power of the court to hear and determine the case. A form of legal process that commands the defendant to appear before the court on a specific day and to answer the complaint made by the plaintiff.

Sumptuary laws: Rules made for the purpose of restraining luxury or extravagance.

Sunset provision: A statutory provision providing that a particular agency, benefit, or law will expire on a particular date, unless it is reauthorized by the legislature.

Sunshine laws: Statutes that mandate that meetings of governmental agencies and departments be open to the public at large.

Superior: One who has a right to give orders; belonging to a higher grade.

Supersede: To obliterate, replace, make void, or useless.

Supersedeas: The name given to a writ, a court order, from a higher court commanding a lower court to suspend a particular proceeding.

Supervening: Unforeseen, intervening, an additional event or cause.

Supplementary proceedings: A proceeding in which a JUDGMENT DEBTOR is summoned into court for questioning by a JUDGMENT CREDITOR who has not received payment.

Support: As a verb, furnishing funds or means for maintenance; to maintain; to provide for; to enable to continue; to carry on. To provide a means of livelihood. To vindicate, to maintain, to defend, to uphold with aid or countenance.

As a noun, that which furnishes a livelihood; a source or means of living; subsistence, sustenance, maintenance, or living.

Suppress: To stop something or someone; to prevent, prohibit, or subdue.

Supra: [Latin, Above; beyond.] A term used in legal research to indicate that the matter under current consideration has appeared in the preceding pages of the text in which the reference is made.

Supreme court: An appellate tribunal with high powers and broad authority within its jurisdiction.

Surcharge: An overcharge or additional cost.

Surety: An individual who undertakes an obligation to pay a sum of money or to perform some duty or promise for another in the event that person fails to act.

Surplusage: Extraneous matter; impertinent, superfluous, or unnecessary.

Surprise: An unexpected action, sudden confusion, or an unanticipated event.

Surrebutter: In COMMON-LAW PLEADING, the plaintiff's factual reply to the defendant's rebutter or answer.

Surrejoinder: In the second stage of COMMON-LAW PLEADING, the plaintiff's answer to the defendant's rejoinder.

Surrender: To give up, return, or yield.

Surrogate court: A tribunal in some states with SUBJECT MATTER JURISDICTION over actions and proceedings involving, among other things, the probate of wills, affairs of decedents, and the guardianship of the property of INFANTS.

Surrogate motherhood: A relationship in which one woman bears and gives birth to a child for a person or a couple who then adopts or takes legal custody of the child; also called mothering by proxy.

Surtax: An additional charge on an item that is already taxed.

Suspect classification: A presumptively unconstitutional distinction made between individuals on the basis of race, national origin, alienage, or religious affiliation, in a statute, ordinance, regulation, or policy.

Suspended sentence: A sentence given after the formal conviction of a crime that the convicted person is not required to serve.

Suspicion: The apprehension of something without proof to verify the belief.

Sustain: To carry on; to maintain. To affirm, uphold or approve, as when an appellate court sustains the decision of a lower court. To grant, as when a judge sustains an objection to testimony or evidence, he or she agrees with the objection and gives it effect.

Syllabus: A headnote; a short note preceding the text of a reported case that briefly summarizes the rulings of the court on the points decided in the case.

Symbolic delivery: The constructive conveyance of the subject matter of a gift or sale, when it is either inaccessible or cumbersome, through the offering of some substitute article that indicates the donative intent of the donor or seller and is accepted as the representative of the original item.

Symbolic speech: Nonverbal gestures and actions that are meant to communicate a message.

Syndicate: An association of individuals formed for the purpose of conducting a particular business; a JOINT VENTURE.

Synopsis: A summary; a brief statement, less than the whole.

Table of cases: An alphabetized list of the judicial decisions that are cited, referred to, or explained in a book with references to the sections, pages, or paragraphs where they are cited.

Tacit: Implied, inferred, understood without being expressly stated.

Tacking: The process whereby an individual who is in ADVERSE POSSESSION of real property adds his or her period of possession to that of a prior adverse possessor.

Tail: Limited, abridged, reduced, or curtailed.

Takeover: To assume control or management of a corporation without necessarily obtaining actual title to it.

Talesman: An individual called to act as a juror from among the bystanders in a court.

Tamper: To meddle, alter, or improperly interfere with something; to make changes or corrupt, as in tampering with the evidence.

Tangible: Possessing a physical form that can be touched or felt.

Tariff: The list of items upon which a duty is imposed when they are imported into the United States, together with the rates at which such articles are taxed.

Tax avoidance: The process whereby an individual plans his or her finances so as to apply all exemptions and deductions provided by tax laws to reduce taxable income.

Tax court: A specialized federal or state court that decides cases involving tax-related controversies.

Tax deed: A written instrument that provides proof of ownership of real property purchased from the government at a TAX SALE, conducted after the property has been taken from its owner by the government and sold for delinquent taxes.

Tax evasion: The process whereby a person, through commission of FRAUD, unlawfully pays less tax than the law mandates.

Tax rate: The amount of charges imposed by the government upon personal or corporate income, capital gains, gifts, estates, and sales that are within its statutory authority to regulate.

Tax return: The form that the government requires a taxpayer to file with the appropriate official by a designated date to disclose and detail income subject to taxation and eligibility for deductions and exemptions, along with a remittance of the tax due or a claim for a refund of taxes that were overpaid.

Tax sale: A transfer of real property in exchange for money to satisfy charges imposed thereupon by the government that have remained unpaid after the legal period for their payment has expired.

Taxable income: Under the federal tax law, gross income reduced by adjustments and allowable deductions. It is the income against which tax rates are applied to compute an individual or entity's tax liability. The essence of taxable income is the accrual of some gain, profit, or benefit to a taxpayer.

Taxable situs: The location where charges may be levied upon PERSONAL PROPERTY by a government, pursuant to provisions of its tax laws.

Taxation: The process whereby charges are imposed on individuals or property by the legislative branch of the federal government and by many state governments to raise funds for public purposes.

Taxing costs: The designation given to the process of determining and charging to the losing party in a legal action the expenses involved in initiating or defending the action, to which the successful side is lawfully entitled.

Taxpayer bill of rights: A federal or state law that gives taxpayers procedural and substantive protection when dealing with a revenue department concerning a tax collection dispute.

Taxpayer's suit: An action brought by an individual whose income is subjected to charges imposed by the state or federal government, for the benefit of that individual and others in order to prevent the unlawful diversion of public funds.

Telecommunications: The transmission of words, sounds, images, or data in the form of electronic or electromagnetic signals or impulses.

Temperance movement: A movement in the United States to moderate or eliminate the consumption of alcoholic beverages.

Temporary restraining order: A court order that lasts only until the court can hear further evidence.

Tenancy: A situation that arises when one individual conveys real property to another individual by way of a lease. The relation of an individual to the land he or she holds that designates the extent of that person's estate in real property.

Tenancy by the entirety: A type of concurrent estate in real property held by a HUSBAND AND WIFE whereby each owns the undivided whole of the property, coupled with the RIGHT OF SURVIVORSHIP, so that upon the death of one, the survivor is entitled to the decedent's share.

Tenancy in common: A form of concurrent ownership of real property in which two or more persons possess the property simultaneously; it can be created by deed, will, or operation of law.

Tenancy in coparcenary: A type of concurrent estate in real property by which property rights were acquired only through intestacy by the female heirs when there were no surviving male heirs.

Tenant: An individual who occupies or possesses land or premises by way of a grant of an estate of some type, such as in fee, for life, for years, or at will. A person who has the right to temporary use and possession of particular real property, which has been conveyed to that person by a landlord.

Tender: An offer of money; the act by which one individual offers someone who is holding a claim or demand against him or her the amount of money that the offeror regards and admits is due, in order to satisfy the claim or demand, in the absence of any contingency or stipulation attached to the offer.

Tender offer: A proposal to buy shares of stock from the stockholders of a corporation, made by a group or company that desires to obtain control of the corporation.

Tender years doctrine: A doctrine rarely employed in CHILD CUSTODY disputes that provides that, when all other factors are equal, custody of a child of tender years—generally under the age of thirteen years—should be awarded to the mother.

Tenement: A comprehensive legal term for any type of property of a permanent nature—including land, houses, and other buildings as well as rights attaching thereto, such as the right to collect rent.

Tenor: An exact replica of a legal document in words and figures.

Tenure: A right, term, or mode of holding or occupying something of value for a period of time.

In feudal law, the principal mode or system by which a person held land from a superior in exchange for the rendition of service and loyalty to the grantor.

The status given to an educator who has satisfactorily completed teaching for a trial period and is, therefore, protected against summary dismissal by the employer.

A length of time during which an individual has a right to occupy a public or private office.

Term: An expression, word, or phrase that has a fixed and known meaning in a particular art, science, or profession. A specified period of time.

Term of art: A word or phrase that has special meaning in a particular context.

Termination: Cessation; conclusion; end in time or existence.

Territorial courts: Federal tribunals that serve as both federal and state courts in possessions of the United States—such as Guam and the Virgin Islands—that are not within the limits of any state but are organized with separate legislatures and executive and judicial officers appointed by the president.

Territorial waters: The part of the ocean adjacent to the coast of a state that is considered to be part of the territory of that state and subject to its sovereignty.

Territoriality: A term that signifies a connection or limitation with reference to a particular geographic area or country.

Territories of the United States: Portions of the United States that are not within the limits of any state and have not been admitted as states.

Territory: A part of a country separated from the rest and subject to a particular jurisdiction.

Terrorism: The unlawful use of force or violence against persons or property in order to coerce or intimidate a government or the civilian population in furtherance of political or social objectives.

Test case: A suit brought specifically for the establishment of an important legal right or principle.

Testacy: The condition or state of leaving a valid will at one's death to direct the distribution of one's estate.

Testament: Another name for a will.

Testamentary: Relating to wills.

Testate: One who dies leaving a valid will, or the description of this status.

Testator: One who makes or has made a will; one who dies leaving a will.

Testify: To provide evidence as a witness, subject to an oath or affirmation, in order to establish a particular fact or set of facts.

Testimony: Oral evidence offered by a competent witness under oath, which is used to establish some fact or set of facts.

Theaters and shows: Comprehensive terms for places where all types of entertainment events can be viewed, including films, plays, and exhibitions.

Theft: A criminal act in which property belonging to another is taken without that person's consent.

Theodosian Code: The legal code of the Roman Empire promulgated in A.D. 438 by the emperor Theodosius II of the East and accepted by the emperor Valentinian III of the West.

Third degree: A colloquial term used to describe unlawful methods of coercing an individual to confess to a criminal offense by overcoming his or her free will through the use of psychological or physical violence.

The least serious grade of a specific crime— the grades being classified by the law according to the circumstances under which the crime is committed—for which the least punishment specified by statute will be imposed.

Third party: A generic legal term for any individual who does not have a direct connection with a legal transaction but who might be affected by it.

Threats: Spoken or written words tending to intimidate or menace others.

Three strikes laws: Criminal statutes that mandate increased sentences for repeat offenders, usually after three serious crimes.

Time draft: A written order to pay a certain sum in money that is payable at a particular future date.

Time is of the essence: A phrase in a contract that means that performance by one party at or within the period specified in the contract is necessary to enable that party to require performance by the other party.

Time, place, and manner restrictions: Limits that government can impose on the occasion, location, and type of individual expression in some circumstances.

Time-price differential: A method whereby a seller charges one amount for the immediate cash payment of merchandise and another amount for the same item or items when payment is rendered at a future date or in installments.

Timely: Existing or taking place within the designated period; seasonable.

Timeshare: A form of shared property ownership, commonly in vacation or recreation condominium property, in which rights vest in several owners to use property for a specified period each year.

Tithing: In Western ecclesiastical law, the act of paying a percentage of one's income to further religious purposes. One of the political subdivisions of England that was composed of ten families who held freehold estates.

Title: In PROPERTY LAW, a comprehensive term referring to the legal basis of the ownership of property, encompassing real and PERSONAL PROPERTY and intangible and tangible interests therein; also a document serving as evidence of ownership of property, such as the certificate of title to a motor vehicle.

In regard to legislation, the heading or preliminary part of a particular statute that designates the name by which that act is known.

In the law of TRADEMARKS, the name of an item that may be used exclusively by an individual for identification purposes to indicate the quality and origin of the item.

Title insurance: A contractual arrangement entered into to indemnify loss or damage resulting from defects or problems relating to the ownership of real property, or from the enforcement of liens that exist against it.

Title search: The process of examining official county records to determine whether an owner's rights in real property are good.

To wit: That is to say; namely.

Toll: A sum of money paid for the right to use a road, highway, or bridge. To postpone or suspend. For example, to toll a STATUTE OF LIMITATIONS means to postpone the running of the time period it specifies.

Tontine: An organization of individuals who enter into an agreement to pool sums of money or something of value other than money, permitting the last survivor of the group to take everything.

Torrens title system: A system for recording land titles under which a court may direct the issuance of a certificate of title upon application by the landowner.

Tort law: A body of rights, obligations, and remedies that is applied by courts in civil proceedings to provide relief for persons who have suffered harm from the wrongful acts of others. The person who sustains injury or suffers pecuniary damage as the result of tortious conduct is known as the plaintiff, and the person who is responsible for inflicting the injury and incurs liability for the damage is known as the defendant or tortfeasor.

Tortfeasor: A wrongdoer; an individual who commits a wrongful act that injures another and for which the law provides a legal right to seek relief; a defendant in a civil tort action.

Tortious: Wrongful; conduct of such character as to subject the actor to civil liability under TORT LAW.

Totten trust: An arrangement created by a person depositing his or her own money in his or her own name in a bank account for the benefit of another.

Towage service: An act by which one vessel, known as the tug, supplies power in order to draw another vessel, called the tow.

Town: A civil and political subdivision of a state, which varies in size and significance according to location but is ordinarily a division of a county.

Township: In a government survey, a square tract of land six miles on each side, constituting thirty-six square miles. In some states, the name given to the political subdivision of a county.

Tracing: An equitable remedy that allows persons to track their assets after they have been taken by FRAUD, misappropriation, or mistake. The remedy is also used in BANKRUPTCY, commercial transactions, and property disputes in marital dissolution cases.

Trade dress: A product's physical appearance, including its size, shape, color, design, and texture.

Trade name: Names or designations used by companies to identify themselves and distinguish their businesses from others in the same field.

Trade secret: Any valuable commercial information that provides a business with an advantage over competitors who do not have that information.

Trade union: An organization of workers in the same skilled occupation or related skilled occupations who act together to secure for all members favorable wages, hours, and other working conditions.

Trade usage: Any system, custom, or practice of doing business used so commonly in a vocation, field, or place that an expectation arises that it will be observed in a particular transaction.

Trademarks: Distinctive symbols of authenticity through which the products of particular manufacturers or the salable commodities of particular merchants can be distinguished from those of others.

Trading stamps and coupons: A comprehensive term for any type of tickets, certificates, or order blanks that can be offered in exchange for money or something of value, or for a reduction in price when a particular item is purchased.

Transcript: A generic term for any kind of copy, particularly an official or certified representation of the record of what took place in a court during a trial or other legal proceeding.

Transfer: To remove or convey from one place or person to another. The removal of a case from one court to another court within the same system where it might have been instituted. An act of the parties, or of the law, by which the title to property is conveyed from one person to another.

Transfer of assets: The conveyance of something of value from one person, place, or situation to another.

Transfer tax: The charge levied by the government on the sale of shares of stock. A charge imposed by the federal and state governments upon the passing of title to real property or a valuable interest in such property, or on the transfer of a decedent's estate by inheritance, devise, or bequest.

Transitory action: A lawsuit that can be commenced in any place where personal SERVICE OF PROCESS can be made on the defendant.

Transnational corporation: Any corporation that is registered and operates in more than one country at a time; also called a multinational corporation.

Transnational law: All the law— national, international, or mixed—that applies to all persons, businesses, and governments that perform or have influence across state lines.

Traverse: In COMMON-LAW PLEADING, a denial of the plaintiff's assertions.

Treason: The betrayal of one's own country by waging war against it or by consciously or purposely acting to aid its enemies.

Treasury stock: Corporate stock that is issued, completely paid for, and reacquired by the corporation at a later point in time.

Treaties in force: A publication compiled by the Treaty Affairs Staff, Office of the Legal Adviser, DEPARTMENT OF STATE, which lists treaties and other international agreements of the United States that are on record with the Department of State.

Treatise: A scholarly legal publication containing all the law relating to a particular area, such as CRIMINAL LAW or LAND-USE CONTROL.

Treaty: A compact made between two or more independent nations with a view to the public WELFARE.

Treble damages: A recovery of three times the amount of actual financial losses suffered which is provided by statute for certain kinds of cases.

Trespass: An unlawful intrusion that interferes with one's person or property.

Trespass to try title: Another name for an EJECTMENT action to recover possession of land wrongfully occupied by a defendant.

Trial: A judicial examination and determination of facts and legal issues arising between parties to a civil or criminal action.

Tribunal: A general term for a court, or the seat of a judge.

Trover: One of the old common-law FORMS OF ACTION; a legal remedy for conversion, or the wrongful appropriation of the plaintiff's PERSONAL PROPERTY.

True bill: A term endorsed on an indictment to indicate that a majority of GRAND JURY members found that the evidence presented to them was adequate to justify a prosecution.

Trust: A relationship created at the direction of an individual, in which one or more persons hold the individual's property subject to certain duties to use and protect it for the benefit of others.

Trust company: A corporation formed for the purpose of managing property set aside to be used for the benefit of individuals or organizations.

Trust deed: A legal document that evidences an agreement of a borrower to transfer legal title to real property to an impartial third party, a trustee, for the benefit of a lender, as security for the borrower's debt.

Trust receipt: A document by which one individual lends money to purchase something and the borrower promises to hold the item for the benefit of the lender until such time as the debt is paid.

Trustee: An individual or corporation named by an individual, who sets aside property to be used for the benefit of another person, to manage the property as provided by the terms of the document that created the arrangement.

Trusties: Prison inmates who through their good conduct earn a certain measure of freedom in and around the prison in exchange for assuming certain responsibilities.

Try: To litigate a legal controversy; to argue a lawsuit in court as an attorney; to sit in the role of a judge or jury to investigate and decide upon QUESTIONS OF LAW and fact presented in such an action.

Turpitude: Conduct that is unjust, depraved, or shameful; that which is contrary to justice, modesty, or good morals.

Tying arrangement: An agreement in which a vendor conditions the sale of a particular product on a vendee's promise to purchase an additional, unrelated product.

UCC: An abbreviation for the UNIFORM COMMERCIAL CODE.

UCCC: An abbreviation for the Uniform Consumer Credit Code.

UCMJ: An abbreviation for the Uniform Code of Military Justice (10 U.S.C.A. § 801 et seq.).

Ultimate facts: Information essential to a plaintiff's right of action or a defendant's assertion of a defense.

Ultra vires: [Latin, Beyond the powers.] The doctrine in the law of corporations that holds that if a corporation enters into a contract that is beyond the scope of its corporate powers, the contract is illegal.

Umpire: A person chosen to decide a question in a controversy that has been submitted to ARBITRATION but has not been resolved because the arbitrators cannot reach agreement, or one who has been chosen to be a permanent arbitrator for the duration of a collective bargaining agreement.

Unauthorized practice: The performance of professional services, such as the rendering of medical treatment or legal assistance, by a person who is not licensed by the state to do so.

Unconscionable: Unusually harsh and shocking to the conscience; that which is so grossly unfair that a court will proscribe it.

Underinclusiveness: A characteristic of a statute or administrative rule dealing with FIRST AMENDMENT rights and other fundamental liberty interests, whereby the statute prohibits some conduct but fails to prohibit other, similar conduct.

Understanding: A general term referring to an agreement, either express or implied, written or oral.

Undertaking: A written promise offered as security for the performance of a particular act required in a legal action.

Underwrite: To insure; to sell an issue of stocks and bonds or to guarantee the purchase of unsold stocks and bonds after a public issue.

Undue influence: A judicially created defense to transactions that have been imposed upon weak and vulnerable persons that allows the transactions to be set aside.

Unemployment compensation: Insurance benefits paid by the state or federal government to individuals who are involuntarily out of work in order to provide them with necessities, such as food, clothing, and shelter.

Unenumerated rights: Rights that are not expressly mentioned in the written text of a constitution but instead are inferred from the language, history, and structure of the constitution, or cases interpreting it.

Unethical conduct: Behavior that falls below or violates the professional standards in a particular field. In law, this can include ATTORNEY MISCONDUCT or ethics violations. The standards for conduct to be observed by attorneys can be found in the Code of Professional Responsibility; members of the judiciary adhere to those found in the Canons of Judicial Ethics.

Unfair competition: Any fraudulent, deceptive, or dishonest trade practice that is prohibited by statute, regulation, or the COMMON LAW.

Unfair labor practice: Conduct prohibited by federal law regulating relations between employers, employees, and labor organizations.

Uniform acts: Laws that are designed to be adopted generally by all the states so that the law in one jurisdiction is the same as in another jurisdiction.

Uniform commercial code: A general and inclusive group of laws adopted, at least partially, by all the states to further uniformity and fair dealing in business and commercial transactions.

Uniform crime reports: Annual publications containing criminological data compiled by the FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION (FBI) and intended to assist in identifying law enforcement problems, especially with regard to: murder and non-negligent MANSLAUGHTER, forcible rape, ROBBERY, aggravated assault, BURGLARY, larceny-theft, motor vehicle theft, and ARSON. These studies provide a nationwide view of crime because they are based on statistics submitted by law enforcement agencies across the United States.

Unilateral contract: A contract in which only one party makes an express promise, or undertakes a performance without first securing a reciprocal agreement from the other party.

Union shop: A type of business in which an employer is allowed to hire a nonunion worker, who, however, must subsequently join the union in order to be permitted to continue work.

United States Government Manual: A comprehensive directory, published annually, that contains general information about the federal government with emphasis on the EXECUTIVE BRANCH and regulatory agencies, and also information about Congress and the Judicial Branch.

Unities: In real property law, the four characteristics that are peculiar to property owned by several individuals as joint tenants.

Unitrust: A right of property, real or personal, held by one person, the trustee, for the benefit of another, the beneficiary, from which a fixed percentage of the net fair market value of the assets, valued annually, is paid each year to the beneficiary.

Unjust enrichment: A general equitable principle that no person should be allowed to profit at another's expense without making restitution for the reasonable value of any property, services, or other benefits that have been unfairly received and retained.

Unlawful: Contrary to or unauthorized by law; illegal.

Unlawful assembly: A meeting of three or more individuals to commit a crime or carry out a lawful or unlawful purpose in a manner likely to imperil the peace and tranquillity of the neighborhood.

Unlawful communications: Spoken or written words tending to intimidate, menace, or harm others.

Unlawful detainer: The act of retaining possession of property without legal right.

Unliquidated: Unassessed or settled; not ascertained in amount.

Unwritten law: Unwritten rules, principles, and norms that have the effect and force of law though they have not been formally enacted by the government.

Upset price: The dollar amount below which property, either real or personal, that is scheduled for sale at an auction is not to be sold.

U.S. Code: A multivolume publication of the text of statutes enacted by Congress.

U.S. Code Annotated®: A multivolume work published by West Group that contains the complete text of federal laws enacted by Congress that are included in the U.S. Code, together with case notes (known as annotations) of state and federal decisions that interpret and apply specific sections of federal statutes, plus the text of presidential proclamations and executive orders.

U.S. commissioners: The former designation for U.S. magistrates.

Usage: A reasonable and legal practice in a particular location, or among persons in a specific business or trade, that is either known to the individuals involved or is well established, general, and uniform to such an extent that a presumption may properly be made that the parties acted with reference to it in their transactions.

USC: An abbreviation for U.S. Code.

USCA®: An abbreviation for U.S. Code Annotated.

USCCAN®: An abbreviation for United States Code Congressional and Administrative News, a source of new federal public laws that is published by West Group every two weeks when Congress is in session and once a month when Congress is not in session.

USDC: An abbreviation for U.S. District Court.

Use: The fact of being habitually employed in a certain manner. In real property law, a right held by an individual (called a cestui que use) to take the profits arising from a particular parcel of land that was owned and possessed by another individual.

Use and occupation: A kind of action brought by a landlord against an individual who had occupancy of the landlord's land or premises under an express or implied agreement requiring payment, but not under a leasehold contract that would allow the landlord to initiate an action for rent.

Use tax: A charge imposed on the use or possession of PERSONAL PROPERTY.

Usufruct: A CIVIL LAW term referring to the right of one individual to use and enjoy the property of another, provided its substance is neither impaired nor altered.

Usurpation: The illegal encroachment or assumption of the use of authority, power, or property properly belonging to another; the interruption or disturbance of an individual in his or her right or possession.

Usury: The crime of charging higher interest on a loan than the law permits.

Uti possidetis: A term used in INTERNATIONAL LAW to indicate that the parties to a particular treaty are to retain possession of that which they forcibly seized during a war.

Utilitarianism: In JURISPRUDENCE, a philosophy whose adherents believe that law must be made to conform to its most socially useful purpose. Although utilitarians differ as to the meaning of the word useful, most agree that a law's utility may be defined as its ability to increase happiness, wealth, or justice. Conversely, some utilitarians measure a law's usefulness by its ability to decrease unhappiness, poverty, or injustice.

Utter: To publish or offer; to send into circulation.

Uxor: [Latin, Wife.] A woman who is legally married.

Vacate: To annul, set aside, or render void; to surrender possession or occupancy.

Vagrancy: The condition of an individual who is idle, has no visible means of support, and travels from place to place without working.

Vague: Imprecise; uncertain; indefinite.

Valid: Binding; possessing legal force or strength; legally sufficient.

Valuable consideration: In the formation of a valid and binding contract, something of worth or value that is either a detriment incurred by the person making the promise or a benefit received by the other person.

Valuation: The process of determining the value or worth of an asset. There are several methods professionals use to perform a valuation, often including both objective and subjective criteria. Valuation is often used as a synonym for appraisal.

Value: The estimated or appraised worth of any object or property, calculated in money.

Vandalism: The intentional and malicious destruction of or damage to the property of another.

Variance: The discrepancy between what a party to a lawsuit alleges will be proved in pleadings and what the party actually proves at trial.

In ZONING law, an official permit to use property in a manner that departs from the way in which other property in the same locality can be used.

Vel non: [Latin, Or not.] A term used by the courts in reference to the existence or nonexistence of an issue for determination; for example: "We come to the merits vel non of this appeal," means "we come to the merits, or not, of this appeal," and refers to the possibility that the appeal backs merit.

Vendee: Buyer or purchaser; an individual to whom anything is transferred by a sale.

Vendor: Seller; an individual who transfers property for sale; merchant; retail dealer; supplier.

Vendor and purchaser: The legal relationship between the buyer and the seller of land during the interim period between the execution of the contract and the date of its consummation.

Venire facias: [Latin, Cause to come.] A judicial order or writ addressed to the sheriff of a county where a legal action is to take place, commanding the sheriff to assemble a jury.

Venireman: A member of a jury which has been summoned by a writ of venire facias.

Venue: A place, such as the territory from which residents are selected to serve as jurors.

A proper place, such as the correct court to hear a case because it has authority over events that have occurred within a certain geographical area.

Verba: [Latin, Words.] A term used in many legal maxims, including verba sunt indices animi, which means "words are the indicators of the mind or thought"; and verba accipienda ut sortiantur effectum, or "words are to be taken so that they may have some effect."

Verdict: The formal decision or finding made by a jury concerning the questions submitted to it during a trial. The jury reports the verdict to the court, which generally accepts it.

Verify: To make certain, to substantiate, or to confirm by formal oath, affirmation, or AFFIDAVIT.

Versus: [Latin, Against.] A designation used in the caption of a lawsuit to indicate the opposite positions taken by the parties.

Vertical merger: A merger between two business firms that have a buyer-seller relationship.

Vest: To give an immediate, fixed right of present or future enjoyment.

Veterans' rights: Legal rights and benefits extended to those who served on active duty in and have been honorably discharged from one of the ARMED SERVICES of the United States.

Veto: The refusal of an executive officer to assent to a bill that has been created and approved by the legislature, thereby depriving the bill of any legally binding effect.

Vexatious litigation: A legal action or proceeding initiated maliciously and without PROBABLE CAUSE by an individual who is not acting in GOOD FAITH for the purpose of annoying or embarrassing an opponent.

Vicarious liability: The TORT doctrine that imposes responsibility upon one person for the failure of another, with whom the person has a special relationship (such as PARENT AND CHILD, employer and employee, or owner of vehicle and driver), to exercise such care as a reasonably prudent person would use under similar circumstances.

Vice: A fault, flaw, defect, or imperfection. Immoral conduct, practice, or habit.

Vice crimes: A generic legal term for offenses involving immorality, including prostitution, lewdness, lasciviousness, and OBSCENITY.

Victim assistance program: Government program that provides information and aid to persons who have suffered direct physical, emotional, or pecuniary harm as a result of the commission of a crime.

Victimless crimes: Crime where there is no apparent victim and no apparent pain or injury. This class of crime usually involves only consenting adults in activities such as prostitution, SODOMY, and gambling where the acts are not public, no one is harmed, and no one complains of the activities. Some groups advocate legalizing victimless crimes by removing these acts from the law books. Other critics complain that there is no such thing as a victimless crime; whenever one of these crimes is committed but goes unpunished, individual mores, societal values, and the RULE OF LAW are undermined or compromised, rendering society itself the victim.

Victims' rights: Generally, the rights of the victims of a criminal act, whether at trial or after conviction of the perpetrator.

Vigilantism: Taking the law into one's own hands and attempting to effect justice according to one's own understanding of right and wrong; action taken by a voluntary association of persons who organize themselves for the purpose of protecting a common interest, such as liberty, property, or personal security; action taken by an individual or group to protest existing law; action taken by an individual or group to enforce a higher law than that enacted by society's designated law-making institutions; private enforcement of legal norms in the absence of an established, reliable, and effective law enforcement body.

Vill: In old ENGLISH LAW, a division of a hundred or wapentake; a town or a city.

Virginia and Kentucky Resolves: Resolutions passed by the Virginia and Kentucky legislatures in 1798 and 1799 protesting the federal ALIEN AND SEDITION ACTS of 1798.

Virginia Declaration of Rights: Statement of rights adopted by the colony of Virginia in 1776, which served as the model for the U.S. Constitution's BILL OF RIGHTS.

Vis: [Latin, Force or violence.] A term employed in many legal phrases and maxims, such as vis injuriosa, “wrongful force.”

Visa: An official endorsement on a passport or other document required to secure an alien’s admission to a country.

Visible means of support: A term employed in VAGRANCY statutes to test whether an individual has any apparent ability to provide for himself or herself financially.

Visitation rights: In a DIVORCE or custody action, permission granted by the court to a noncustodial parent to visit his or her child or children. Custody may also refer to visitation rights extended to grandparents.

Vitiate: To impair or make void; to destroy or annul, either completely or partially, the force and effect of an act or instrument.

Viva voce: [Latin, With the living voice; by word of mouth.] Verbally; orally.

Viz.: [Latin, A contraction of the term videlicet, to wit, namely, or that is to say.] A term used to highlight or make more specific something previously indicated only in general terms.

Void: That which is null and completely without legal force or binding effect.

Void for vagueness doctrine: A doctrine derived from the DUE PROCESS Clauses of the Fifth and Fourteenth Amendments to the U.S. Constitution that requires criminal laws to be drafted in language that is clear enough for the average person to comprehend.

Voidable: That which is not absolutely void, but may be avoided.

Voir dire: [Old French, To speak the truth.] The preliminary examination of prospective jurors to determine their qualifications and suitability to serve on a jury, in order to ensure the selection of fair and impartial jury.

Volenti non fit injuria: [Latin, To the consenting, no injury is done.] In the law of NEGLIGENCE, the precept that denotes that a person who knows and comprehends the peril and voluntarily exposes himself or herself to it, although not negligent in doing so, is regarded as engaging in an ASSUMPTION OF THE RISK and is precluded from a recovery for an injury ensuing therefrom.

Voluntary act: A crime that is the product of conscious choice and independent will.

Voting trust: A type of agreement by which two or more individuals who own corporate stock that carries VOTING RIGHTS transfer their shares to another party for voting purposes, so as to control corporate affairs.

Vouchee: Under a procedure in common law, a person from whom a defendant will seek indemnity if a plaintiff is successful in his or her action against the defendant.

Voucher: A receipt or release which provides evidence of payment or other discharge of a debt, often for purposes of reimbursement, or attests to the accuracy of the accounts.

Vouching-in: A procedural device used in common law by which a defendant notifies another, not presently a party to a lawsuit, that if a plaintiff is successful, the defendant will seek indemnity from that individual.

Wadset: In Scotland, the ancient term for a mortgage. A right by which lands or other property are pledged by their owner to a creditor in security for a debt, usually in the form of a mutual contract, in which one party sells the land and the other grants the right of reversion.

Wage assignment: The voluntary transfer in advance of a debtor's pay, generally in connection with a particular debt or judgment.

Wage earner's plan: A form of BANKRUPTCY under a former federal law whereby an individual retained her property and paid off a debt over a period of time, as determined by a court and subject to supervision by the court.

Wager of battel: A type of trial by combat between accuser and accused that was introduced into England by William the Conqueror (King William I) and his Norman followers after the Norman Conquest of 1066.

Wager of law: A procedure for defending oneself that could be used in a trial before one of the ancient courts of England.

Wait-and-see doctrine: A rule that permits consideration of events occurring subsequent to the inception of an instrument that pertains to the vesting of a future interest. If the specified contingency on which the creation of the interest depends actually occurs within the period of the RULE AGAINST PERPETUITIES, the interest is legally enforceable.

Waive: To intentionally or voluntarily relinquish a known right or engage in conduct warranting an inference that a right has been surrendered.

Waiver: The voluntary surrender of a known right; conduct supporting an inference that a particular right has been relinquished.

Waiving time: The process whereby an individual permits a court to take longer than usual in trying him or her on a criminal charge.

Want: The absence or deficiency of what is needed or desired.

Want of consideration: A comprehensive term for all transactions or situations where no inducement to a contract was intended to pass between the parties thereto and, therefore, no legally enforceable contract is created.

Wanton: Grossly careless or negligent; reckless; malicious.

Wapentake: A local division of a shire or county in old ENGLISH LAW; the term used north of the Trent River for the territory called a hundred in other parts of England.

War: Open and declared conflict between the armed forces of two or more states or nations.

War crimes: Acts that violate the international laws, treaties, customs, and practices governing military conflict between belligerent states or parties.

Ward: A person, especially an infant or incompetent, placed by the court in the care of a guardian.

Warehouse receipt: A written document given by a warehouseman for items received for storage in his or her warehouse, which serves as evidence of title to the stored goods.

Warehouseman: An individual who is regularly engaged in the business of receiving and storing goods of others in exchange for compensation or profit.

Warrant: A written order issued by a judicial officer or other authorized person commanding a law enforcement officer to perform some act incident to the administration of justice.

Warrant of attorney: A written authorization that allows an attorney named in it to appear in court and admit the liability of the person giving the warrant in an action to collect a debt.

Warranty: An assurance, promise, or guaranty by one party that a particular statement of fact is true and may be relied upon by the other party.

Warranty deed: An instrument that transfers real property from one person to another and in which the grantor promises that title is good and clear of any claims.

Wash sale: The buying and selling of the same or a similar asset within a short period of time.

A fictitious type of arrangement whereby a BROKER, upon receiving an order from one individual to purchase and an order from another individual to sell a certain amount of a particular stock or commodity, transfers it from one principal to the other and retains the difference in value.

Waste: Harmful or destructive use of real property by one in rightful possession of the property.

Water rights: A group of rights designed to protect the use and enjoyment of water that travels in streams, rivers, lakes, and ponds, gathers on the surface of the earth, or collects underground.

Weapons: A comprehensive term for all instruments of offensive or defensive combat, including items used in injuring a person.

Weight of evidence: Measure of credible proof on one side of a dispute as compared with the credible proof on the other, particularly the PROBATIVE evidence considered by a judge or jury during a trial.

Weights and measures: A comprehensive legal term for uniform standards ascribed to the quantity, capacity, volume, or dimensions of anything.

Welfare: Government benefits distributed to impoverished persons to enable them to maintain a minimum standard of well-being.

West saxon lage: The laws of the West Saxons, who lived in the southern and western counties of England, from Kent to Devonshire, during the Anglo-Saxon period.

Westminster, First Statute of: A law enacted in 1275 to enforce some of the provisions of MAGNA CHARTA and to liberalize the law of England.

Westminster, Second Statute of: An ENGLISH LAW enacted in 1285 that converted estates in fee simple conditional into estates in fee entail and rendered them inalienable, thereby strengthening the power of the nobility.

Whaling: The hunting of whales for food, oil, or both.

Wharves: Structures erected on the margin of NAVIGABLE WATERS where vessels can stop to load and unload cargo.

Whereas: On the contrary, although, when in fact. An introductory statement of a formal document.

Whereby: By or through which; by the help of which; in accordance with which.

Wherefore: For which reason.

Whig party: An influential and sometimes dominant American political party that began rising to prominence following the 1832 presidential election, the Whig Party would eventually disband over the issue of SLAVERY, as bitterly divided sectional factions within the party materialized across the North and South.

Whistleblowing: The disclosure by a person, usually an employee in a government agency or private enterprise, to the public or to those in authority, of mismanagement, corruption, illegality, or some other wrongdoing.

White-collar crime: Financial, economic, or corporate crime, usually involving FRAUD and theft, that is often carried out by sophisticated means. The result is usually economic loss for businesses, investors, and those affected by the actions of the perpetrator.

White primary: A legal device once employed by some Southern states to prevent African Americans from exercising their right to vote in a meaningful way.

White supremacy groups: Organizations that believe the Caucasian race is superior to all other races and therefore seek either to separate the races in the United States or to remove all non-Caucasians from the nation.

Whiteacre: A fictitious designation used by legal writers to describe a parcel of land.

Wildcat strike: An employee work stoppage that is not authorized by the LABOR UNION to which the employees belong.

Will: A document in which a person specifies the method to be applied in the management and distribution of his estate after his death.

Willful: Intentional; not accidental; voluntary; designed.

Wilmot Proviso: An unsuccessful 1846 congressional amendment that sought to ban SLAVERY in territories newly acquired from Mexico.

Wind up: The last phase in the dissolution of a partnership or corporation, in which accounts are settled and assets are liquidated so that they may be distributed and the business may be terminated.

Wiretapping: A form of electronic eavesdropping accomplished by seizing or overhearing communications by means of a concealed recording or listening device connected to the transmission line.

Witan: An Anglo-Saxon term that meant wise men, persons learned in the law; in particular, the king's advisers or members of his council.

Withholding tax: The amount legally deducted from an employee's wages or salary by the employer, who uses it to prepay the charges imposed by the government on the employee's yearly earnings.

Within the statute: Encompassed by, or included under, the provisions and scope of a particular law.

Without day: A term used to describe a final ending or adjournment of a session of a legislature or a court; the English translation of the Latin phrase sine die.

Without prejudice: Without any loss or waiver of rights or privileges.

Without recourse: A phrase used by an endorser (a signer other than the original maker) of a negotiable instrument (for example, a check or promissory note) to mean that if payment of the instrument is refused, the endorser will not be responsible.

Witnesses: Individuals who provide evidence in legal proceedings before a tribunal. Persons who give testimony under oath in court, concerning what they have seen, heard, or otherwise observed.

Women's rights: The effort to secure equal rights for women and to remove gender discrimination from laws, institutions, and behavioral patterns.

Woods and forests: A comprehensive term for a large collection of trees in their natural setting and the property on which they stand.

Words and Phrases®: A multivolume set of law books published by West Group containing thousands of judicial definitions of words and phrases, arranged alphabetically, from 1658 to the present.

Words of art: The vocabulary or terminology of a particular art, science, or profession, particularly those expressions that are peculiar to it.

Words of limitation: The words in a deed or will that indicate what type of estate or rights the person being given land receives.

Words of purchase: Language used in connection with a transfer of real property that identifies the grantees or designees who take the interest being conveyed by deed or will.

Work product rule: A legal doctrine that provides that certain materials prepared by an attorney who is acting on behalf of his or her client during preparation for litigation are privileged from discovery by the attorney for the opposition party.

Workers' compensation: A system whereby an employer must pay, or provide insurance to pay, the lost wages and medical expenses of an employee who is injured on the job.

Worthier title doctrine: A COMMON LAW rule that provides that a conveyance of real property by a grantor to another person for life with a limitation to the grantor's heirs creates a reversion in the grantor by which his or her heirs acquire the property only upon the death of the grantor, not upon the death of the person who has been granted the property for life.

Writ: An order issued by a court requiring that something be done or giving authority to do a specified act.

Wrong: A violation, by one individual, of another individual's legal rights.

Wrongful birth: A MEDICAL MALPRACTICE claim brought by the parents of a child born with birth defects, alleging that negligent treatment or advice deprived them of the opportunity to avoid conception or terminate the pregnancy.

Wrongful death: The taking of the life of an individual resulting from the willful or negligent act of another person or persons.

Wrongful discharge: An at-will employee's CAUSE OF ACTION against his former employer, alleging that his discharge was in violation of state or federal antidiscrimination statutes, public policy, an implied contract, or an implied COVENANT of GOOD FAITH and fair dealing.

Wrongful life: A type of MEDICAL MALPRACTICE claim brought on behalf of a child born with birth defects, alleging that the child would not have been born but for negligent advice to, or treatment of, the parents.

Wrongful pregnancy: A claim by parents for damages arising from the negligent performance of a sterilization procedure or ABORTION, and the subsequent birth of a child.

X rating: A classification devised by the Motion Picture Association of America (MPAA) and the National Association of Theater Owners (NATO) in 1968 to designate certain films containing excessive violence or explicit sexuality. It was replaced in 1990 by the NC-17 rating (no one 17 and under admitted).

XXX chromosomal abnormality defense: A legal theory that holds that a defendant's XXX chromosomal abnormality is a condition that should relieve him or her of legal responsibility for his or her criminal act.

XYZ affair: A diplomatic scandal involving France and the United States in 1797– 1798.

Yalta agreement: A WORLD WAR II accord made in 1945 between Great Britain, the United States, and the Soviet Union.

Year books: Books of legal cases, or reporters, published annually in England from the thirteenth to the sixteenth century.

Yellow dog contract: An employment agreement whereby a worker promises not to join a LABOR UNION or promises to resign from a union if he or she is already a member.

Yield: Current return from an investment or expenditure as a percentage of the price of investment or expenditure.

York-Antwerp rules: A group of directives relating to uniform bills of lading and governing the settlement of maritime losses among the several interests, including ship and cargo owners.

Zero bracket amount: A lump-sum allowance of income that a taxpayer could receive without imposition of any federal INCOME TAX because it was considered equivalent to the standard amount of deductions usually taken by an average taxpayer. It was replaced by the standard deduction in the TAX REFORM ACT OF 1986. 100 Stat. 2085, 26 U.S.C.A. §§ 47, 1042.

Zero tolerance: The policy of applying laws or penalties to even minor infringements of a code in order to reinforce its overall importance and enhance deterrence.

Zoning: The separation or division of a municipality into districts, the regulation of buildings and structures in such districts in accordance with their construction and the nature and extent of their use, and the dedication of such districts to particular uses designed to serve the GENERAL WELFARE.

CASES INDEX

The page references in this index include a volume number, followed by a colon, followed by a page number or numbers. Boldface page references refer to an encyclopedic entry on the topic. Italic page references refer to a photograph or illustration. The note “(document)” refers to the full text of a primary source. The letter “n” refers to information found in footnotes. The letter “t” refers to a table.

A

- A. & G. Stevedores v. Ellerman Lines* (1962), 11:401, 431
- A. B. Leach & Co. v. Peirson*, 11:458–459
- Abbott Laboratories v. Gardner* (1967), 8:365–366
- Abele v. Markle* (1972), 11:535, 536, 537–538, 539, 548, 549, 557n, 559, 565
- Abelman v. Booth* (1859), 2:445
- Abercrombie v. Dupuis et al.*, 12:215
- Abercrombie v. Martin and Hoyt Co.*, 11:369
- Abernathy v. Patterson*, 11:426, 451, 467, 471–472, 472
- Abington School District v. Schempp* (1963), 1:8–10
Bible reading ban, 6:418
Clark, Tom Campbell, 2:417
constitutionality test, 8:286–287
Engel v. Vitale (1962), follow-up to, 4:150 Establishment Clause, 6:227
liberty, 6:308
- Abkco Music, Inc. v. Harrisongs Music, Ltd.* (1983), 7:455
- Able v. United States* (1995), 1:337
- Ableman v. Booth*, 12:322
- Abood v. Detroit Board of Education* (1977), 4:494
- Abrams v. Foshee* (1856), 11:539, 552n
- Abrams v. Johnson* (1997), 10:252–253
- Abrams v. United States* (1919), 1:26–29
Chaffee, Zechariah, Jr., 2:313, 314
Clarke, John Hessin, 2:420, 422
clear and present danger, 1:212, 2:431
- Espionage Act, 4:215
- New York Times Co. v. Sullivan* (1964), 11:393, 453, 484
- Acevedo v. Nassau County* (1974), 4:275
- Acme Die Casting v. NLRB* (1994), 2:493
- Adair v. United States* (1908), 10:447
- Adams v. Clinton* (2000), 3:467–468
- Adams v. Florida Power Corp.* (2002), 1:162
- Adams v. State* (1905), 11:194n
- Adams v. Storey* (1817), 6:351
- Adams v. Tanner* (1917), 1:453
- Adamson v. California* (1947), 4:469, 5:372, 8:263, 379
- Adarand Constructors, Inc. v. Peña* (1995), 1:153, 7:303, 9:277, 11:205
- Adderley v. Florida* (1966), 4:499, 10:168, 11:525
- Addington v. Texas* (1979), 2:165, 8:80
- Addyston Pipe & Steel Company v. United States* (1899), 7:413
- Adickes v. S. H. Kress & Co.* (1970), 9:60–61
- Adkins v. Children’s Hospital* (1923), 6:361, 7:78, 9:389, 418, 10:344
- Adler v. Board of Education of City of New York* (1952), 1:45, 7:82
- Advertiser Co. v. Jones*, 11:373, 374
- Aetna Insurance Co. v. Earnest* (1927), 11:403, 435n
- Aetna Life Insurance Company v. Hayworth* (1937), 11:520
- Affolder v. New York, Chicago & St. L. R. Co.* (1950), 11:401
- Affrunti v. Village Ford Sales* (1992), 4:310
- AFSCME (1985), 3:51
- Age-Herald Pub. Co. v. Huddleston* (1921), 11:365, 375, 406
- Agins v. City of Tiburon* (1980), 4:403, 6:199
- Agostini v. Felton* (1997), 8:286, 9:30, 11:204–205
- Aguilar v. Felton* (1985), 8:286, 9:30
- Aguilar v. Texas* (1964), 4:474
- Ahmad v. Wigen* (1990), 2:419
- Ake v. Oklahoma* (1985), 5:408

- Akenbrandt v. Richards* (1992), 1:35–36
- Akins v. Texas*, 11:461
- Akron v. Akron Center for Reproductive Health* (1983), 8:312
- Al Odah v. U.S.* (2003), 8:423
- A.L.A. Schechter Poultry Corp. v. United States* (1935). See Schechter Poultry Corp. v. United States (1935)
- Alabama Gas Company v. Jones*, 11:368, 468n
- Alabama Power Company v. Ickes* (1938), 4:479, 11:520
- Alabama Ride Company v. Vance* (1938), 11:390, 425n, 480
- Alabama v. Rogers*, 11:462n
- Alabama v. United States*, 11:461, 462
- Alabama v. White* (1990), 9:359
- Albert Miller & Co. v. Corte* (1939), 11:433n
- Alberts v. California* (1957), 8:409–410, 11:393
- Albertson v. Subversive Activities Control Board* (1965), 2:110, 11:318
- Alden v. Maine* (1999), 9:256
- Alder v. Board of Education of City of New York* (1952), 4:11
- Aldridge v. United States* (1931), 2:199
- Alexander v. Choate* (1985), 3:434
- Alexander v. Gardner-Denver Co.* (1974), 2:489
- Alexander v. Holmes County Board of Education* (1969), 9:19
- Alexander v. United States* (1993), 4:458, 459
- All States Life Ins. Co. v. Jaudon*, 11:431
- Allegheny v. ACLU* (1989). See County of Allegheny v. American Civil Liberties Union (1989)
- Allen v. Wright* (1984), 11:228–229
- Allgeyer v. Louisiana* (1897), 4:38, 6:308, 360, 7:413
- Allied Chemical & Alkali Workers of America v. Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co.* (1971), 2:491
- Allstate Ins. Co. v. Wade* (2003), 7:228
- Alpo Pet Foods v. Ralston Purina Co.* (1990), 4:308, 309
- Alston v. School Board* (1940), 11:44
- Altron R. R. Co. v. Railroad Retirement Board* (1936), 8:225
- Altshuler v. Pennsylvania Liquor Control Bd.* (1999), 11:168n
- Amalgamated Food Employees Union v. Logan Valley Plaza* (1968), 6:444
- Amant v. Thompson* (1968), 6:299
- Amaya v. Potter* (2002), 7:228
- Ambach v. Norwick* (1979), 1:224
- AmBrit v. Kraft* (1986), 10:67
- Amchem Products, Inc. v. Windsor* (1997), 2:425–426
- American Booksellers Association, Inc. v. Hudnut* (1985), 4:51, 6:384
- American Civil Liberties Union v. Ashcroft* (2003), 5:454
- American Civil Liberties Union v. Reno* (1996), 4:336, 6:458
- American Civil Liberties Union v. Reno* (2000), 5:454
- American Communications Ass'n v. Douds* (1950), 5:494
- American Federation of Labor v. Swing*, 11:451, 480
- American General Insurance Co. v. FTC* (1979), 4:153
- American Home Products Corp. v. Johnson & Johnson* (1987), 4:307–308
- American Hospital Supply Corp. v. Hospital Products Limited* (1986), 8:39
- American Insurance Co. v. Canter*, 12:173, 175, 198, 292, 293
- American Library Ass'n v. United States Department of Justice* (1996), 4:336
- American Ry. Express Co. v. Levee*, 11:463
- American Ship Building Co. v. NLRB* (1965), 6:173
- American Tobacco Co. v. United States* (1911), 6:380
- Americans United for Separation of Church and State v. Kent County* (1980), 8:288
- Amistad case*. See United States v. Libellants of Schooner Amistad (1841)
- Amy v. Smith*, 12:170, 173
- Anders v. California* (1967), 9:201
- Anderson v. Creighton* (1987), 9:44
- Anderson v. State of Maryland* (1964), 11:265
- Anderson v. United States* (1943), 11:319n, 344
- Andrews v. Florida* (1988), 3:486, 9:144
- Angichiodo v. Cerami*, 11:459
- Animal Legal Defense Fund v. Espy* (1994), 1:276
- Animal Legal Defense Fund v. Secretary of Agriculture* (1993), 1:275–276
- Apodaca v. Oregon* (1972), 9:198
- Apple Computer v. Microsoft Corporation* (1994), 9:235
- Application of Gault* (1967), 8:360
- Apprendi v. New Jersey* (2000), 5:206
- Apter v. Ross* (2003), 1:42
- Aptheker v. Secretary of State* (1964), 11:560, 565
- Argersinger v. Hamlin* (1972), 5:78, 8:360, 9:201
- Arizona Copper Co. v. Gillespie*, 11:142
- Arizona Governing Committee v. Norris* (1983), 10:412
- Arizona v. California* (1963), 7:201
- Arizona v. Evans* (1995), 4:265
- Arizona v. Fulminante* (1991), 3:82, 5:192
- Arizona v. Hicks* (1987), 7:456
- Arizona v. Rumsey* (1984), 11:225
- Arizonans for Official English v. Arizona* (1997), 4:160
- Arkansas v. Sanders* (1979), 1:410–411, 413, 414
- Arlington Heights v. Metropolitan Housing Development Corp.* (1977), 8:213
- Arnold v. IBM Corp.* (1981), 9:62
- Arnold v. Sendak* (1970), 11:513n
- Arnstein v. McCarthy* (1920), 11:318
- AROK Construction Co. v. Indian Construction Services* (1993), 2:236
- Aronson v. Lynch* (1984), 2:192
- Asbury Hospital v. Cass County*, 11:9
- Ascher v. Commissioner of Public Safety* (1993), 4:469

Ashcraft v. State of Tennessee (1944), 11:313n, 320n, 337, 340, 347, 348
Ashcroft v. American Civil Liberties Union (2002), 2:290–291, 5:454, 7:298, 8:35
Ashcroft v. Free Speech Coalition (2002), 2:359, 4:415, 8:36
Ashe v. Swenson (1970), 4:5
Ashwander v. Tennessee Valley Authority (1936), 1:144, 11:566
Aspen Skiing Co. v. Aspen Highlands Skiing Corp. (1985), 1:302
Assembly of California v. United States Department of Commerce (1992), 2:296
Associated Press v. N. L. R. B., 11:425, 438
Associated Press v. United States (1945), 11:397, 480
Associated Press v. Walker (1967), 6:300
Association of Data Processing Service Organizations v. Camp (1970), 1:110–111, 11:549
Atascadero State Hospital v. Scanlon (1985), 4:109–110
Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Ry. v. Wells (1924), 11:408
Atchison v. District of Columbia (1991), 5:278
Atherton Mills v. Johnston (1922), 11:521
Atkins v. Virginia (2002), 1:387–388
 cruel and unusual punishment, 2:240, 3:289–290, 305, 4:79, 5:405
 Lawrence v. Texas (2003), 11:202, 221, 225
 Stevens, John Paul, 9:343–344
Atlanta Journal-Constitution v. Jewell (2001), 6:302–303
Atlantic Coast Line R. Co. v. Engineers (1970), 11:523
The Atlantic Insurance Company v. Canter, 12:253
AT&T Corp. v. Iowa Utilities Board (1999), 9:449
Attorney Gen. of New York v. Soto-Lopez (1986), 11:180
Attorney Grievance Committee v. McCloskey (1986), 1:402
Atwater v. City of Lago Vista (2001), 5:356–357, 9:251, 11:203
Auciello Iron Works v. NLRB (1996), 6:174–175
Austin v. United States (1993), 4:33
Avery v. Georgia, 11:44, 450
Avery v. Midland County (1968), 1:319, 320

B

Babbitz v. McCann (1970), 11:501, 525, 559
Baby Doe case (1982), 6:155
Baby Jane Doe case (1983), 6:155
Baehr v. Lewin (1993)
 Defense of Marriage Act (1996), 3:387
 equal protection, 4:319
 Full Faith and Credit Clause, 5:15
 Hawaii constitutional amendment, 5:52
 strict scrutiny, 5:48, 50, 321–322, 6:435
Baehr v. Miike (1996), 6:435
Baggett v. Bullitt (1964), 6:377, 11:513
Bailey v. Alabama, 11:449n, 487
Bailey v. Anderson, 11:470, 472
Bailey v. Charleston Mail Assn., 11:486n
Bailey v. Dozier, 12:170, 241
Bailey v. Drexel Furniture Co. (1922), 2:356
Bain Peanut Co. v. Pinson, 11:9
Baird v. Eisenstadt (1970), 11:510n
Baker v. Carr (1962), 1:450–452
 Brennan, William Joseph, Jr., 2:110 citizens' suits against malapportionment, 1:320, 8:349
 gerrymandering, 5:72
 Harlan, John Marshall, II, 5:191
 New York Times Co. v. Sullivan (1964), 11:450, 462
 political questions, 8:15, 10:296
 Roe v. Wade (1973), 11:520, 547
Baker v. Nelson (1971), 4:319, 6:435
Baker v. Vermont (1999), 3:322, 388, 5:53
Baker v. Wade (1985), 11:176, 185, 193–194, 195, 211, 227n, 231n, 232
Baker v. Warner, 11:429
Baldwin v. G. A. F. Seelig, Inc. (1935), 11:408
Baldwin v. Morgan, 11:463n
Baldwin v. New York (1970), 9:197
Ball v. Evening American Pub. Co., 11:367
Ballew v. Georgia (1978), 6:82, 9:198
Baltimore Orioles v. Major League Baseball Players Ass'n (1986), 1:496
Bank of Augusta v. Earle (1839), 7:18, 19, 11:359
Bank of United States v. Deveaux (1809), 3:470
Bank of U.S. v. Smith, 12:177, 267
Bank v. Earle, 12:172
Bantam Books, Inc. v. Sullivan (1963), 11:394, 397, 401, 433n, 455, 480, 485
Barasch v. Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission (1990), 7:415
Barber v. Colorado Independent School Dist. (1995), 11:170, 188n
Barbier v. Connolly (1884), 11:52, 166, 231
Barenblatt v. United States (1959), 3:156
Barksy v. Board of Regents (1954), 11:527
Barnes v. Glen Theatre (1991), 4:503, 9:249, 11:231–232, 248
Barnes v. Gorman (2002), 3:440
Barr v. Matteo (1959), 11:396, 423, 425n, 427n, 429, 452, 486, 487, 494, 495
Barron ex rel. Tiernan v. Mayor of Baltimore (1833).
 See Barron v. Baltimore (1833)
Barron v. Baltimore (1833), 1:493–494, 2:34, 3:135, 4:39, 468–469, 5:371
Barrows v. Jackson (1953), 11:43, 390, 397, 450, 451, 454, 512n
Barry v. McCollum (1908), 11:396n
Bartnicki v. Vopper (2001), 4:417
Bas v. Tingy (1800), 7:112, 113
Basic Books v. Kinko's Graphics Corp. (1991), 3:192
Basista v. Weir (1965), 9:62
Baskin v. Brown (1949), 11:44
Bates v. City of Little Rock (1960)
 Bates, Daisy Lee Gatson, 1:500

- New York Times Co. v. Sullivan* (1964), 11:394, 401, 455, 457, 459, 502n
- Bates v. State Bar of Arizona* (1977), 6:232, 8:136, 9:265
- Batfilm Productions, Inc. v. Warner Bros.* (1994), 4:166
- Batson v. Kentucky* (1986), 2:473, 4:192, 6:80–81, 7:426, 8:49, 11:181
- Battle v. United States*, 11:461
- Baughman v. State of California* (1995), 8:5
- Baumgartner v. First Church of Christ, Scientist* (1986), 2:437
- Baxter v. Ford Motor Co.* (1932), 8:128
- Baxter v. Noce* (1988), 1:205
- Bayard v. Singleton* (1787), 7:113
- BE & K Constr. Co. v. NLRB* (2002), 11:203
- Beal v. Missouri Pacific Railroad Corporation* (1961), 11:524
- Bean v. State* (1965), 11:266, 342n
- Bearden v. Georgia* (1983), 4:410
- Beatty v. Snow* (1984), 2:419
- Beauharnais v. Illinois* (1952)
libelous speech, 6:299
New York Times Co. v. Sullivan (1964), 11:366, 386, 390, 391, 393, 423, 424, 426, 427, 428, 429, 430, 433, 434, 447, 450, 453, 454, 455–456, 471, 474n, 481, 484
- Beck v. Prupis* (2000), 8:219
- Beck v. Spindler*, 11:438n
- Beecham v. Leahy* (1972), 11:536–537
- Belcher Lumber Co. v. York*, 11:471, 474n
- Bell Atlantic Maryland, Inc. v. MCI WorldCom, Inc.* (1999), 9:449
- Bell v. Cone* (2002), 8:361
- Bell v. Harrison* (1982), 9:199
- Bell v. Maryland* (1964), 11:520
- Bell v. Riley Bus Lines*, 11:466n
- Bell v. Wolfish* (1979), 5:496, 8:92
- Bella Lewitsky Dance Foundation v. Frohnmayer* (1991), 2:288
- Bellotti v. Baird* (1979), 1:20
- Bell's Gap R. R. Co. v. Pennsylvania*, 11:52
- Beltran v. Cohen* (1969), 10:21
- Ben-Shalom v. Marsh* (1989), 11:168n, 227n
- Bendix Autolite Corp. v. Midwesco Enterprises* (1988), 1:453–454
- Bennett v. Plenert* (1995), 4:139
- Bennis v. Michigan* (1996), 4:458–459, 7:335
- Benson v. Johnson* (1970), 11:513n
- Benton v. Maryland* (1969), 4:2
- Benton v. State* (1995), 7:206
- Berea College v. Kentucky* (1908), 2:113, 11:53, 134n
- Berman v. Parker* (1954), 4:124, 11:176, 231
- Bernal v. Fainter* (1984), 7:271
- Bertoloni Trucking Co. v. Commissioner of Internal Revenue* (1984), 6:136
- Bertonneau v. Directors of City Schools*, 12:340
- Bessard v. California Community College* (1994), 6:378
- Best v. District of Columbia* (1934), 7:319
- Betamax case. See Sony Corp. of America v. Universal City Studios* (1984)
- Bethel School District 403 v. Fraser* (1986), 4:67, 68
- Betts v. Brady* (1942)
Miranda v. Arizona (1966), 11:276, 279, 280–283, 322n
right to counsel, 4:464, 5:77, 78
- Betty v. Horton*, 12:172, 262
- Bevan v. Krieger* (1933), 7:271
- Beveridge v. Lewis* (1991), 1:118
- Bingham v. Cabot et al.*, 12:176, 215
- Birmingham News Co. v. Birmingham Printing Co.*, 11:471, 474n
- Birmingham Ry. Light and Power Co. v. Friedman*, 11:370
- Birmingham Ry. Light and Power Co. v. Jackson*, 11:370
- Bishop v. Aronov* (1991), 2:505
- Bivens v. Six Unknown Named Agents of the Federal Bureau of Narcotics* (1971), 2:400, 4:358, 6:72
- Black & White Taxicab & Transfer Co. v. Brown & Yellow Taxicab and Transfer Co.* (1928), 9:424
- Blackburn v. State of Alabama* (1960), 11:313, 320n, 327n, 463
- Blackledge v. Perry* (1974), 8:153
- The Blackwall* (1869), 8:451
- Blankenship v. Blankenship*, 11:363, 403, 435n
- Blau v. United States* (1950), 8:111
- Blessing v. Freestone* (1997), 9:61
- Block v. Rutherford* (1984), 5:496, 8:94
- Blockburger v. United States* (1932), 4:5
- Blount v. Peerless Chemicals (P.R.) Inc.* (1963), 11:405
- Blyew v. United States* (1872), 9:375
- BMW of North America, Inc. v. Gore* (1996), 8:132, 190, 9:343
- Board of County Commissioners of Bryan County, Okla. v. Brown* (1997), 2:400
- Board of Directors of Rotary Int'l v. Rotary Club of Duarte* (1987), 2:460, 11:197
- Board of Ed., Island Trees Union Free School Dist. No. 26 v. Pico* (1982), 1:46
- Board of Education, Pottawatomie County v. Earls* (2002), 5:353, 9:28
- Board of Education of Westside Community Schools (Dist. 66) v. Mergens* (1990), 1:48, 4:68
- Board of Education v. Dowell* (1991), 2:146, 9:24
- Board of Education v. Pico* (1982), 2:288, 4:68
- Board of Education v. Tinnon* (1881), 11:23, 24
- Board of Regents v. Roth* (1972), 11:196–197
- Board of Regents v. Tomanio* (1980), 9:63
- Board of Trustees of the Univ. of Ala. v. Garrett* (2001), 11:207, 209
- Bob Jones University v. United States* (1983), 8:285
- Bob-Lo Excursion Co. v. Michigan*, 11:9, 44
- Boddie v. Connecticut* (1971), 11:213
- Boehner v. Anderson* (1992), 10:135
- Bogan v. Scott-Harris* (1998), 5:330, 9:61
- Bolger v. Youngs Drug Products Co.* (1983), 3:69

- Bolling v. Sharpe* (1954), 2:143, 145, 4:192, 11:144–145, 565
- Boman v. Birmingham Transit Co.*, 11:463n
- Bond v. Floyd* (1966), 2:76
- Bond v. United States* (2000), 2:117, 4:473
- Bondy v. Brophy* (1989), 10:418
- A Book Named “John Cleland’s Memoirs of a Woman of Pleasure” v. Attorney General of Massachusetts* (1966), 7:72, 8:31, 33
- Boos v. Barry* (1988), 3:430
- Booth v. Maryland* (1987), 10:221
- Bordenkircher v. Hayes* (1978), 8:153
- Borel v. Fibreboard Products Corp.* (1973), 10:401
- Bornmann v. Star Co.*, 11:424, 434n
- Borse v. Piece Goods Shop* (1992), 4:128
- Bottoms v. Bottoms* (1995), 2:353, 4:235, 5:49
- Boucher v. Clark Pub. Co.* (1900), 11:395n
- Boulding v. State* (1986), 11:171n
- Boundary Backpackers v. Boundary County* (1996), 6:191
- Boutlier v. INS* (1967), 11:212
- Boutwell v. State* (1985), 11:171n
- Bowen v. Roy* (1986), 8:291
- Bowers v. Hardwick* (1986)
- cohabitation, 2:474
 - critical legal studies, 6:76, 245
 - due process, 6:217, 218, 9:391
 - gay and lesbian rights, 5:46, 51, 9:140–141, 234
 - Johnson, Frank Minis, Jr., 6:20
 - Lawrence v. Texas* (2003), 11:168, 169, 172, 173, 176–177, 181n, 185, 191–214, 215–234, 235–254
 - natural law, 7:206
 - privacy rights, 9:144
 - White, Byron Raymond, 10:358
- Boy Scouts of America v. Dale* (2000), 2:92–93
- Christian Legal Society, 2:381
 - civil rights, 2:400
 - clubs and public accomodation law, 2:461
 - discrimination against homosexuals, 3:453, 5:54
 - freedom of association and assembly, 4:495, 5:53
 - Lawrence v. Texas* (2003), 11:253
 - Rehnquist, William H., 8:275–276
- Boyd v. United States* (1886), 11:318, 345, 558
- Boyd v. Warren Paint and Color Co.* (1950), 11:360, 362, 403
- Boyle v. Landry* (1971), 8:383, 11:523, 549
- Boynton v. Virginia* (1960), 1:449, 2:44, 406
- Bradford v. Clark* (1897), 11:395n
- Bradley v. Fisher* (1871), 5:330, 6:53
- Bradley v. Millikin* (1974), 7:156
- Bradwell v. Illinois* (1872), 2:98, 99, 9:133–134, 10:409–410, 12:392
- Bradwell v. Illinois* (1872) (document), 12:398–403
- Brady v. Maryland* (1963), 3:465, 7:460
- Bram v. United States* (1897)
- Miranda v. Arizona* (1966), 11:318–319, 320n, 321n, 334n, 336n, 345
 - voluntary confessions, 3:80
- Brandenburg v. Ohio* (1969)
- clear and present danger, 1:29, 2:433, 3:132, 9:14
 - incitement to action, 3:44–45, 4:414, 502, 5:97, 10:89
 - overrules Whitney v. California (1927), 3:42
 - role of ACLU, 1:29
- Brandon v. Board of Education of Guilderland Central School District* (1980), 6:108
- Branzburg v. Hayes* (1972), 4:254–255, 504, 7:86, 87, 9:173
- Braschi v. Stahl Associates* (1989), 2:476
- Brass v. North Dakota* (1894), 9:178–179
- Braunfield v. Brown* (1961), 8:290–291
- Brause v. Bureau of Vital Statistics*, 5:48, 52
- Bray v. Alexandria Women’s Health Clinic* (1993), 1:24, 6:163
- Breard v. Alexandria* (1951), 11:397, 423, 426
- Breedlove v. Suttles* (1937), 2:200, 10:133, 251
- Brentwood Academy v. Tennessee Secondary School Athletic Association* (2001), 4:470
- Brewster v. Boston Herald-Traveler Corp.* (1956), 11:405
- Bridges v. California* (1941)
- criticism of judge, 2:432
 - New York Times Co. v. Sullivan* (1964), 11:387, 391, 392, 393, 397, 398, 428n, 432n, 451, 453, 455n, 481, 481n, 483, 484, 493
- Bridwell v. Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen*, 11:361
- Briggs v. Elliott* (1951), 2:264–265, 11:27, 37, 46, 110, 131n
- Bright Tunes Music Corp. v. Harrisongs Music* (1976), 3:194
- Brinegar v. United States* (1879), 11:351
- Briscoe v. LaHue* (1983), 9:62
- Brock v. State* (1989), 1:75
- Brockett v. Spokane Arcades, Inc.* (1985), 7:339, 340
- Brogan v. San Mateo County* (1990), 10:21
- Broin v. Philip Morris* (1994), 10:49
- Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen v. Virginia ex rel. Virginia State Bar* (1964), 5:154–155
- Browder v. Gayle* (1956), 6:18, 19, 7:110, 367, 11:462n
- Brown et al. v. State of Maryland*, 12:421
- Brown Shoe Co. v. United States* (1962), 1:301, 7:46, 10:205–2306
- Brown v. Board of Education* (1955, Brown II), 2:145, 9:17–18, 20–21
- Brown v. Board of Education of Topeka, Kansas* (1954), 2:142–147
- ACLU, 1:249
 - affirmative action, 1:152
 - amicus curiae, 1:262
 - Baker, Ella Josephine, 1:447–448
 - balancing, 1:453
 - Bates, Daisy Lee Gatson, 1:499
 - Bickel, Alexander Mordecai, 2:25
 - Burton, Harold Hitz, 2:179
 - busing, 9:20
 - Carter, Robert Lee, 2:264

- civil rights, 2:398, 403, 434
 Civil War Amendments, 10:20
 class action, 2:424
 colleges and universities, implication for, 2:499–500
 Douglas, William Orville, 4:11–12
 education law, 4:70–71, 76
 equal protection, 3:136, 4:191, 470, 9:17–18
 Greenberg, Jack, 5:141
 Harlan, John Marshall, 5:189
 Hayes, George E.C., 5:208–209
 Hill, Oliver White, Sr., 5:259
 integration of Richmond (VA) city schools, 8:49 integration of universities, 7:42
 Jim Crow laws, 6:14–15
 Johnson, Frank Minis, application of, 6:18, 19
 judicial review, 6:58
 Justice Department, 7:14–15
Lawrence v. Texas (2003), 11:205
 leading case, 6:220
 legal ethics, 4:231
 Marshall, Thurgood, 6:443–444
Miranda v. Arizona (1966), 11:297n
 Motley, Constance Baker, 7:132
 NAACP, 7:155, 156, 158
New York Times Co. v. Sullivan (1964), 11:443n, 448, 449, 450, 460, 463n parallel citations, 7:354–355
Plessy v. Ferguson (1896), 5:191, 7:465, 9:85, 109
 Reed, Stanley Forman, 8:263
 reversal of precedent, 8:58
 Robinson, Spottswood William, III, 8:376 role of federal government, 3:124 school vouchers, 9:26–27
 separate but equal doctrine, 8:212
 Southern Manifesto (1956), 5:13, 6:23
stare decisis, 9:308
 states' rights, 9:326
 stigmatic injury, 5:421–422
Swann v. Charlotte-Mecklenburg Board of Education (1971), 9:419, 420
 Terrell, Mary Eliza Church, 10:2
 transportation segregation, 7:111
 Warren, Earl, 10:295
 Warren Court, 10:292–293
 Wilkins, Roy Ottoway, 10:375–376
 Williams, Franklin Hall, 10:386
 Wright, James Skelly, 10:428
Brown v. Board of Education of Topeka, Kansas (1954) (documents), 11:1–162
Brown v. Legal Foundation of Washington (2003), 5:431
Brown v. Mayle (2002), 3:305–306
Brown v. Mississippi (1936) coerced confessions, 3:80
 Miranda v. Arizona (1966), 11:276, 280, 313n, 337, 345, 463
Brown v. Publishers: George Knapp & Co., 11:373, 374
Brown v. Texas (1979), 1:415–416
Brown v. Walker (1896), 11:312, 318n, 349, 462n
Browne v. State, 11:342n
Browning-Ferris Industries of Vermont v. Kelco Disposal (1989), 3:333
Browning v. Clerk, U.S. House of Representatives (1986), 9:272
Bruce Church, Inc. v. United Farm Workers of America (1991), 2:334
Bruce v. Bruce, 12:284
Brune v. Brown-Forman Corp. (1988), 1:206
Bruner v. People (1945), 11:313n
Brunswick Corp. v. Pueblo Bowl-O-Mat (1977), 1:301
Bruton v. United States (1968), 3:82
Bryan v. Austin (1957), 11:521
Bryan v. Best Western/Coachman's Inn (1994), 10:421
Brzonkala v. Morrison (2000), 10:413
Buchanan v. Angelone (1998), 2:241
Buchanan v. Batchelor (1970), 11:230, 501n, 502
Buchanan v. Warley (1917)
 Brown v. Board of Education (1954), 11:9, 41, 43, 52, 53, 110, 145–146, 153–154 housing segregation, 7:155
 New York Times Co. v. Sullivan (1964), 11:450
Buchwald v. Paramount Pictures Corp. (1990), 4:165–166
Buck v. Bell (1927), 2:159–161
 Butler, Pierce, 2:199
 Eighth Amendment, 4:79
 Holmes, Oliver Wendell, Jr., 5:275–276
Roe v. Wade (1973), 11:559
 sterilization, 9:340
Buckley v. American Constitutional Law Foundation, Inc. (1999), 4:96
Buckley v. Fitzsimmons (1993), 6:408
Buckley v. New York Times Co. (1963), 11:405
Buckley v. Valeo (1976), 4:87, 88, 92, 344
Budd v. People of New York (1892), 2:63, 64
Buel v. Van Ness, 12:421
Bunting v. Oregon (1917), 2:422
Burbank v. Lockheed Air Terminal (1973), 8:58
Burch v. Louisiana (1979), 9:198
Burdeau v. McDowell, 11:336, 345
Burdine v. Johnson (1999), 11:211
Burford v. United States (2001), 3:290
Burlington Industries, Inc. v. Ellerth (1998), 9:155
Burnet v. Coronado Oil & Gas Co. (1932), 8:57
Burnet v. Guggenheim, 12:546, 549
Burr v. Duryee (1864), 5:186
Burroughs v. Lyles (1944), 11:166
Burrows v. Jackson (1953), 11:522, 524
Burt v. Advertiser Company, 11:423, 428
Burton ex rel. Hawkeye Bank of Des Moines v. Des Moines Metropolitan Transit (1995), 2:255
Burton v. Wilmington Parking Authority (1961), 9:314, 11:460
Bush v. Com., 12:341, 346

Bush v. Gore (2000), 2:185–189

Breyer, Stephen G., 2:117
 Bush, George Walker, 2:184
 Electoral College, 4:99
 Equal Protection Clause, 8:320
 Ginsburg, Ruth Bader, 5:96
 Gore, Albert Arnold, Jr., 5:118
 Kennedy, Anthoony McLeod, 6:118 partisanship, accusations of, 6:61
 Posner, Richard Allen, 8:39
 Stevens, John Paul, 9:344

Bush v. Kentucky, 11:48

Bush v. Orleans Parish School Bd. (1956), 10:428, 11:449

Bush v. White, 12:265

Butler, Plaintiff in Error, v. The State of Georgia, 12:450

Butler v. Butler (1995), 5:104

Butler v. The Queen (1992), 4:49

Bykofsky v. Borough of Middletown (1975), 3:314

Byrn v. New York City Health & Hospitals Corp. (1972), 11:539, 540, 561

Byrne v. Karalexis (1971), 11:523, 524, 549

C

Caban v. Mohammed (1979), 1:126, 5:328

Cabell v. Chavez-Salido (1982), 1:224

Calagaz v. Calhoon (1962), 11:405

Calder v. Bull (1798), 2:329, 4:259, 5:481

Caldero v. Tribune Publishing Co. (1977), 4:255

Caldwell v. U.S. (1965), 11:328

California Department of Corrections v. Morales (1995), 4:260

California Federal Savings and Loan Ass'n v. Guerra (1987), 5:3

California v. Acevedo (1982), 1:411, 412, 414, 416

California v. Acevedo (1991), 4:474

California v. American Stores Co. (1990), 1:302

California v. Belous (1969), 11:507n, 509n, 511, 512

California v. Byers (1971), 8:112

California v. Cabazon Band of Mission Indians (1987), 7:203

California v. Carney (1985), 1:413–414

California v. Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (1990), 8:60

California v. Stewart, 11:317, 327, 332–333, 335, 341n, 344

Callagaz v. Calhoun (1962), 11:437

Camden County Board of Chosen Freeholders v. Beretta U.S.A. Corp. (2001), 5:166–167

Cameron v. Johnson (1968), 11:500n, 523, 525

Caminetti v. United States (1917), 6:416–417

Caminito v. Murphy (1955), 11:316n

Cammermeyer v. Aspin (1994), 1:336, 337

Campbell v. Acuff-Rose Music (1994), 3:198, 7:369

Campbell v. McGruder (1975), 2:155

Campbell v. Sundquist (1996), 11:201–202n, 202, 223n, 240, 242

Canadian Pacific Ry. Co. v. Sullivan (1942), 11:404

Cannon v. Time, Inc. (1940), 11:405

Cantwell v. Connecticut (1940) binding to states, 8:282

due process, 4:39

New York Times Co. v. Sullivan (1964), 11:387, 391, 392, 400–401, 428n, 453, 459, 482, 495

Roe v. Wade (1973), 11:560

Canty v. State of Alabama (1940), 11:313n

Capen v. Foster, 12:343

Capital Broadcasting Co. v. Mitchell (1971), 10:46

Capron v. Van Noorden, 12:173, 177, 192, 215, 241, 267

Car-Ron Asphalt Paving Co. v. Commissioner of Internal Revenue (1985), 6:136

Cardwell v. Lewis (1974), 1:410, 412

Carey v. Phipps (1978), 9:62

Carey v. Population Services International (1977) contraception distribution, 2:40, 42

Lawrence v. Texas (2003), 11:196, 238

privacy, 4:495

Carlson v. Landon (192), 8:80

Carmell v. Texas (2000), 4:260

Carnley v. Cochran (1962), 11:265, 272, 276, 285, 286, 301, 323, 324

Carpenter v. Pennsylvania (1854), 4:259

Carpenter v. Providence Washington Ins. Co. (1842), 12:171, 288

Carr v. Corning (1950), 11:27, 37

Carrington v. Rash, 11:565

Carroll v. Carroll, 12:280

Carroll v. President of Princess Anne (1968), 7:268, 11:548

Carroll v. United States (1925), 1:204, 410, 4:474

Carter v. Carter Coal Co. (1936), 2:246, 7:235, 11:390, 12:540

Carter v. Florida (1964), 11:512n

Carter v. Jury Comm'n of Greene County (1970), 11:506, 547

Carter v. Rafferty (1985), 5:170

Carton v. Jasper (1946), 11:396n

Cartwright v. Board of Education (1906), 11:7, 23

Casarez v. State (1994), 11:167

Casino Restaurant v. McWhorter, 11:370

Cassell v. Texas, 11:9, 44, 450, 461

Castano v. American Tobacco (1996), 10:49

Castorina v. Madison County School Board (2001), 4:431

Catching v. State (1962), 11:508n

Catlin v. United States (1945), 1:311

Cato v. United States (1995), 9:207

C.A.U. v. R.L. (1989), 1:74

Cedric Kushner Promotions v. Don King (2001), 8:220

Celso v. United States, 11:328

Central Hudson Gas & Electric Co. v. Public Service Commission (1980), 4:503, 6:333–335

Century Communications Corp. v. FCC (1987), 2:209

Cepulonis v. Secretary of the Commonwealth (1983), 1:32

- Cerretti v. Flint Hills Rural Electric Cooperative Ass'n* (1992), 7:95
- Chagnon v. Union Leader Corp.* (1961), 11:424, 434, 486n
- Chalk v. United States District Court* (1988), 1:71
- Chalmers v. H.M. Advocate* (1954), 11:325n, 330n
- Chamber of Commerce of the United States v. Reich* (1996), 10:153
- Chambers v. Florida* (1940)
Black, Hugo Lafayette, 2:44
Miranda v. Arizona (1966), 11:276, 280, 287, 313, 313n, 318, 326, 337
- Chambers v. Maroney* (1970), 1:410, 411
- Champion v. Ames* (1903), 5:181
- Chance v. Lambeth* (1951), 11:53
- Chandler v. Florida* (1981), 2:214–215
- Chandler v. Fretag* (1954), 11:283
- Chandler v. Miller* (1997), 9:41
- Chandris, Inc. v. Latsis* (1995), 6:37, 8:438
- Chapa v. Abernethy*, 11:424, 434n
- Chaplinsky v. New Hampshire* (1942)
fighting words, 4:414
New York Times Co. v. Sullivan (1966), 11:366, 390, 423, 426n, 471, 474n, 481n, 492 unprotected classes of speech, 4:500, 501, 6:299
- Chapman v. California* (1967), 5:192
- Chapron v. Van Noorden*, 12:176
- Chardon v. Fernandez* (1981), 9:63
- Charles Parker Co. v. Silver City Crystal Co.* (1955), 11:395–396n, 489
- Charles River Bridge v. Proprietors of Warren Bridge* (1837), 2:320–321, 9:436–437
- Charles v. Baesler* (1990), 11:248n
- Chas. C. Steward Machine Co. v. Davis* (1937), 4:361
- Chateau v. Marguerita*, 12:304
- Chauffeurs, Teamsters and Helpers, Local No. 391 v. Terry* (1990), 9:129, 130
- Chavez v. Martinez* (2003), 7:85
- Cheaney v. Indiana* (1972), 11:540, 559, 561
- Chelentis v. Luckenbach Steamship Co.* (1918), 6:37
- Cherokee Cases*, 2:335–337
See also Cherokee Nation v. Georgia (1831);
Worcester v. Georgia (1832) (document)
- Cherokee Nation v. Georgia* (1831), 2:335–337, 12:421, 449
federalism, 4:362
tribal sovereignty, 7:196, 198, 8:406
Worcester v. Georgia (1832), citation in case of, 12:173
Worcester v. Georgia (1832), modification by, 12:409
- Chesapeake, Ohio & Southwestern Railroad Co. v. Wells* (1887), 10:340
- Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. v. United States* (1994), 2:211
- Chevron U.S.A., Inc. v. National Resources Defense Council, Inc.* (1984), 1:114
- Chiarella v. United States* (1980), 8:367, 9:72–73
- Chicago, B. & Q. Railroad v. Chicago* (1897), 11:401, 424, 430, 432, 488n
- Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad Co. v. Minnesota* (1890), 2:63, 64, 6:57, 183
- Chicago and N. W. Ry. v. Nye Schneider Fowler Company* (1922), 11:401, 430n
- Chicago Council of Lawyers v. Bauer* (1975), 4:233
- Chickasaw Nation v. United States* (2001), 7:204
- Childers v. Dallas Police Dep't* (1981), 11:211
- Children v. Shinn*, 11:367, 424, 434n
- Chiles v. Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad Company*, 11:51, 53
- Chimel v. California* (1969), 1:411, 9:44
- Chirac v. Chirac*, 12:174, 249
- Chisholm v. Georgia* (1793), 2:375–376
Blair, John, Jr., 2:61–62
Eleventh Amendment, 4:110–111
federalism, 4:362
Iredell, James, 5:481
Jay, John, 6:10
sovereign immunity, 9:255, 256, 325
Wilson, James, 10:391
- Choctaw Coal and Mining Co. v. Dodd*, 11:369
- Chudleigh's Case* (1594), 1:434
- Chudoff v. McGranery* (1949), 7:14
- Church of the Lukumi Babalu Aye, Inc. v. City of Hialeah* (1993), 8:292, 10:143
- Cicenia v. LaGay* (1958), 11:265, 276, 282–283, 284, 300, 301, 326n, 335, 337, 346
- Cinciarelli v. Carter* (1981), 7:57
- Cipollone v. Liggett Group, Inc.* (1992), 9:343, 10:42, 46
- Cirillo v. Arco Chemical Co.* (1988), 1:161
- Cities Service Co. v. State* (1975), 10:309
- Cities Service Gas Co. v. Peerless Oil & Gas Co.*, 11:53
- Citizens Publishing Co. v. United States* (1969), 6:32
- Citizens' Savings and Loan Ass'n v. Topeka* (1875), 2:446
- City of Albany v. Meyer* (1929), 11:394
- City of Atlanta v. McKinney* (1995), 2:476
- City of Beaumont v. Bouillion* (1995), 11:188
- City of Boerne v. P. F. Flores* (1997), 6:378, 8:290
- City of Chicago v. Atchison, T. & S. F. R. Co.* (1958), 11:500
- City of Chicago v. Morales* (1999), 4:40, 5:30, 34, 11:220
- City of Chicago v. Tribune Co.* (1923), 11:394, 396–397, 484, 490, 493, 494–495
- City of Cleburne v. Cleburne Living Center* (1985), 11:167, 178, 181, 186–187, 196, 207, 208, 209, 226, 227, 228, 233–234, 244, 253
- City of Columbia v. Omni Outdoor Advertising Inc.* (1991), 9:368
- City of Dallas v. England* (1993), 11:195
- City of Dallas v. Stanglin* (1989), 4:493, 11:226, 232
- City of Erie v. Pap's A. M.* (2000), 4:416, 503, 7:298
- City of Greenwood v. Peacock* (1966), 11:523
- City of Los Angeles Department of Water and Power v. Manhart* (1978), 4:187, 10:411–412

- City of Memphis v. Green* (1981), 11:166
City of New Haven v. United States (1986), 5:349
City of New York v. Miln (1837), 1:489
City of New York v. United States Department of Commerce (1989), 2:294, 295
City of Philadelphia v. Beretta U.S.A. Corp. (2002), 5:167
City of Richmond v. J. A. Croson Co. (1989), 1:153, 2:501, 4:193, 7:302–303, 8:168
City of Riverside v. Rivera (1986), 9:63
City of Sherman v. Henry (1996), 11:172, 173, 177, 223, 248
City of West Covina v. Perkins (1999), 4:39
 Civil Rights cases (1875), 6:13–14
 Civil Rights cases (1883), 2:401–402
 Bradley, Joseph P., 2:97
 equal protection, 4:189
 invalidation of the Civil Rights Act of 1875, 8:254–255
 New York Times Co. v. Sullivan (1964), 11:448n
 Plessy v. Ferguson (1896), citation in, 12:339, 341 public accommodations discrimination, 5:189, 7:71, 9:461 state actions, 9:314
 Thirteenth Amendment, 10:19
 Woods, William Burnham, 10:416
 Civil Rights cases (1883) (document), 12:309–336
Clark Distilling Co. v. Western Maryland Railway Co. (1917), 5:181–182
Clark v. Community for Creative Non-Violence (1984), 10:37
Clark v. Jeter (1988), 11:178n
Clark v. School Directors (1868), 11:105
Clark v. State (1898), 11:539
Cliffs Notes v. Bantam Doubleday Dell Publishing Group (1989), 4:308
Clinton v. City of New York (1998), 6:259, 8:70, 72, 10:215
Clinton v. Goldsmith (1999), 7:61
Clinton v. Jones (1997), 5:332, 340, 8:71, 9:153, 342
 See also Jones v. Clinton (1999)
C.M. v. State (1984), 11:194n
Coalition for Economic Equity v. Wilson (1997), 11:171, 228 Coalition of Clergy, Lawyers & Professors v. Bush (2002), 8:423
Coates v. Cincinnati (1971), 5:34, 10:244
Cobb v. Montgomery Library Board, 11:463n
Cobell v. Babbitt (1999), 7:199
Cobell v. Norton (2002), 5:434, 7:199
Coffer v. Standard Brands (1976), 5:345
Coger v. N. W. Union Packet Co. (1873), 11:105
Cohen v. California (1971), 4:414, 7:244
Cohen v. Commonwealth of Virginia (1821), 11:311
Cohen v. Cowles Media Co. (1991), 4:504
Cohen v. De La Cruz (2003), 1:473
Cohen v. Illinois Institute of Technology (1976), 4:275
Cohen v. Petty (1993), 5:470
Cohens v. Virginia (1821)
 Barbour, Philip Pendleton, 1:488
 Dred Scott v. Sandford (1856) (document), 12:295
 sovereign immunity, 4:357, 6:439, 9:255, 256
 Worcester v. Georgia (1832) (document), 12:420, 434
Coit Indep. Joint Venture v. FSLIC (1989), 8:200
Coker v. Georgia (1977), 3:289, 305, 4:79
Coker v. Georgia (2002), 2:240
Colbert v. Journal Pub. Co., 11:367
Cole v. Richardson (1972), 6:378
Colegrove v. Green (1946), 1:320, 451
Coleman v. MacLennan (1908), 11:395n, 486, 487n
Coleman v. Miller (1939), 10:135
Coleman v. Thompson (1991), 4:365
Coleman v. United States Bureau of Indian Affairs (1983), 6:428
Colgrove v. Battin (1973), 9:131
Collier v. Menzel (1985), 5:279
Collin v. Smith (1978), 5:32
Collins v. America, 12:174
Collins v. Beto (1965), 11:277, 285, 310n, 340n
Collins v. Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, 11:362
Collins v. Collins (1994), 2:242
Collins v. Hardyman, 11:366
Collins v. Harker Heights (1992), 11:217, 219, 225
Collins v. Loisel (1922), 4:293
Collins v. State, 11:461
Colonial at Lynnfield v. Sloan (1989), 6:333
Colorado Republican Federal Campaign Committee v. Federal Election Commission (1996), 4:87–88
Colorado v. Bertine (1987), 1:414
Colorado v. Connelly (1986), 3:81
Commerce Dept. v. U.S. House of Representatives (1999), 1:321, 2:297 Committee for Public Education v. Nyquist (1973), 9:27
Commonwealth Edison Co. v. Montana (1981), 3:7
Commonwealth ex rel. Linde v. Maroney, 11:342n
Commonwealth of Massachusetts v. Louise Woodward (1998), 6:441
Commonwealth of Massachusetts v. Secretary of Health and Human Services (1990), 2:116
Commonwealth of Massachusetts v. Watt (1983), 2:116
Commonwealth (Pa.) v. Coyle, 11:265
Commonwealth (Pa.) v. Patrick, 11:266
Commonwealth v. Aves (1836), 9:158, 12:172, 174, 271, 281
Commonwealth v. Bangs (1812), 11:552n
Commonwealth v. Berrigan (1987), 2:419
Commonwealth v. Bonadio (1980), 11:202
Commonwealth v. Caton (1782), 2:61
Commonwealth v. Graham (1962), 11:265
Commonwealth v. Holloway, 12:171
Commonwealth v. Hunt (1842), 6:178, 8:233–234, 9:158
Commonwealth v. Jenison (1781), 6:326–327
Commonwealth v. LaCava (2003), 7:140

- Commonwealth v. Negri* (1965), 11:277, 285–286
Commonwealth v. Nixon (2000), 11:168n
Commonwealth v. Page (1970), 11:513n
Commonwealth v. Parker (1845), 11:552n
Commonwealth v. Pleasant, 12:262
Commonwealth v. Poindexter (1909), 11:169
Commonwealth v. Pullis (1806), 6:177
Commonwealth v. Rekasie (2001), 8:104
Commonwealth v. Sacco and Vanzetti (1926), 8:437
Commonwealth v. Stowell (1983), 1:134
Commonwealth v. Wasson (1992), 11:201–202n, 206, 207, 223n, 240, 242
Communications Assn. v. Douds (1950), 11:394
Communist Party of the United States v. Subversive Activities Control Board (1961), 4:494 Communist Party v. Whitcomb (1974), 3:42
Compassion in Dying v. Washington (1996), 4:239–240, 7:208, 9:391, 10:302–303
Complete Auto Transit, Inc. v. Brady (1977), 8:450
Conard v. Atlantic Ins. Co., 12:170
Concerned Citizens of Nebraska v. U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission (1992), 7:249
Conn v. Gabbert (1999), 5:330–331
Connally v. General Construction Co. (1926), 10:244, 11:502, 525
Connecticut Dept. of Public Safety v. Doe (2003), 7:37, 9:141, 11:242
Consolidated Cosmetics v. D. A. Publishing (1951), 11:422, 425, 436–437
Constantine v. Constantine (1954), 11:403, 435
Continental T.V. v. GTE Sylvania (1977), 1:301, 2:341
Contra Mills v. Commonwealth (1850), 11:552n
Conway v. Robinson, 11:370
Cooley v. Board of Wardens (1851), 2:275, 3:316–317, 12:295
Coolidge v. Long (1931), 2:198
Coolidge v. New Hampshire (1971), 1:411–412, 4:473, 474, 7:456
Cooper Industries, Inc. v. Leatherman Tool Group, Inc. (2001), 3:334
Cooper v. Aaron (1958), 1:138, 11:443n, 448, 449, 461
Coppage v. Kansas (1915), 6:178, 7:454, 10:447
Corfield v. Coryell, 12:170, 330
Corfu Channel case (1949), 5:449
Corkey v. Edwards (1970), 11:513n, 559
Corning Glass Works Co. v. Brennan (1974), 4:187
Correctional Services Corp. v. Malesko (2001), 2:400
Cory v. Carter (1874), 11:102, 12:340
Cosentino v. Kelly (1996), 9:196
Cosgrove Studio, Inc. v. Pane, 11:424, 433n
Costello v. United States (1956), 5:123
Coughlin v. People (1893), 5:212
Counselman v. Hitchcock (1892), 2:64, 11:318, 345
County Court of Ulster County v. Allen (1979), 11:218
County of Allegheny v. American Civil Liberties Union (1989), 4:418, 8:285
County of Riverside v. McLaughlin (1991), 8:63
County of Sacramento v. Lewis (1998), 4:39, 11:200, 220, 222, 236, 240
Cox v. Stanton (1975), 9:63
Coy v. Iowa (1988), 9:11, 142
Craft v. Koonce, 11:471, 473n
Craig v. Boren (1976)
 Brennan, William Joseph, Jr., 2:110
 critical legal studies, 6:245
 equal protection, 4:194 gender classification, 5:9, 9:136, 371
 jurisprudence, 6:76
 Lawrence v. Texas (2003), 11:170n, 228
 women's rights, 10:411
Craig v. Harney (1947), 11:392, 397, 428n, 432n, 453, 456, 460, 483
Craig v. Missouri (1830), 6:27, 12:420
Cramer v. United States, 11:487
Cramp v. Board of Public Instruction (1961), 11:520
Cramp v. Orange County, Florida (1961), 6:377–378
Crandall v. The State, 12:183
Crawford-El v. Britton (1998), 2:400
The Creole in the House of Lords, 12:249
Crooker v. State of California (1958), 11:265, 276, 277, 282, 283, 284, 299–300, 301, 322, 326n, 335, 337, 338, 346
Cross v. Harrison, 12:173, 243
Crossen v. Attorney General (1972), 11:559
Crossen v. Breckenridge (1971), 11:548, 549
Crowder v. First Federal Savings & Loan Ass'n of Dallas (1978), 2:235
Crowell-Collier Pub. Co. v. Caldwell (1948), 11:400
Crowell v. Benson, 11:53
Cruikshank v. United States (1876), 11:448n
Cruse v. Coldwell Banker (1995), 8:201
Cruz v. Beto (1972), 8:292
Cruzan v. Director of Missouri Department of Health (1990)
 Lawrence v. Texas (2003), 11:196, 197, 203, 214, 219, 224
 privacy, 8:98
 right to refuse treatment, 7:208, 407
 state interests, 3:359
 substantive due process, 9:391
 Washington v. Glucksberg (1997), 10:303–305
Cubby, Inc. v. CompuServe (1991), 6:304
Culombe v. Connecticut (1961), 11:277, 283, 286, 337, 338, 346
Cumming v. Board of Education of Richmond County (1899), 2:499, 11:53, 132
Cummings v. Missouri (1867)
 Bradwell v. Illinois (1872), citation in case of, 12:400
 Chase, Salmon Portland, 2:323
 Clifford, Nathan, 2:445
 Field, David Dudley, 4:396
 loyalty oaths, 6:377
Cunningham v. Macon and Brunswick Railroad Co. (1883), 9:257
Cunningham v. Neagle (1890), 4:274
Curcio v. United States (1952), 8:111

Curlender v. Bio-Science Laboratory (1980), 5:393, 7:442
Curran v. Bosze (1990), 7:331
Curran v. Mount Diablo Council of Boy Scouts of America (1998), 4:494–495, 5:53
Curtis Publishing Co. v. Butts (1967), 6:300
Cutler v. Rae, 12:268

D

Daggett v. Hudson, 12:343
Dagnello v. Long Island Rail Road Company (1961), 11:401
Dailey Motor Co. v. Reaves (1922), 11:363, 403
Daily News of Los Angeles v. NLRB (1992), 2:493
Dalehite v. United States (1953), 4:357–358, 9:256
Dalrymple v. Brown (1997), 8:258
Dalton v. Spencer (1994), 1:340
Dambrot v. Central Michigan University (1993), 2:505
Dames v. Regan (1981), 4:274
Danbury Hatters case. See Loewe v. Lawlor (1908)
Dandridge v. Williams (1970), 10:338, 11:227
Danforth v. Groton Water Co. (1901), 7:422
Daniels v. United States (2001), 3:290
Dare v. Montana Petroleum Marketing (1984), 4:128
Darr v. Burford (1950), 4:281
Dartmouth College v. Woodward (1819), 6:351, 10:300
Daubert v. Merrell Dow Pharmaceuticals (1993), 3:342–343, 488, 8:29, 9:33
David v. Porter, 12:172
Davis v. County School Board, 11:27, 46, 109–110, 131–132n
Davis v. Davis (1992), 1:364, 11:436
Davis v. Farmers Co-operative Co. (1923), 11:389, 404, 408
Davis v. Michigan Department of Treasury (1989), 5:432
Davis v. O'Hara (1924), 11:403, 436
Davis v. Pringle, 12:548
Davis v. State of North Carolina, 11:342n
Davis v. Tingle, 12:281
Davis v. United States (1994), 3:322–323
Davis v. University of Kansas City (1955), 10:369
Davis v. Wechsler (1923), 11:404, 436n, 462n, 463
Dawson v. Lee, 12:340
Dawson v. State of Georgia (2001), 3:306
Dawson v. Wilheit (1987), 4:300
Day-Brite Lighting v. Missouri (1952), 7:334
Day v. Owen, 12:342
Day v. Savadge (1614), 4:153
De Hoyos v. Thornton, 11:365
De Jonge v. Oregon (1937)
 Brown v. Board of Education (1954), 11:83
 Miranda v. Arizona (1966), 11:391
 New York Times Co. v. Sullivan (1964), 11:428n, 453, 459, 481n, 482, 494
De Lima v. Bidwell (1901), 7:21
De Wolf v. Rabaud, 12:170, 280

Dean Milk Co. v. City of Madison (1951), 11:395, 408
DeBoer by Darrow v. DeBoer (1993), 2:353, 7:360
Debs v. United States (1919), 1:27, 3:365, 4:214, 9:82, 231
Delaware, Lackawanna, & Western Railroad Co. v. United States (1913), 8:223
Delaware State College v. Ricks (1980), 9:63
Delaware v. Prouse (1979), 4:474
Delgado v. Yandell (1971), 11:539
Dell Publishing v. Whedon (1984), 8:177
Delta Air Lines, Inc. v. August (1981), 3:234
Dennis v. United States (1951)
 Black, Hugo Lafayette, 2:45
 clear and present danger, 2:432–433
 Cold War, 2:487
 Douglas, William Orville, 4:11
 New York Times Co. v. Sullivan (1964), 11:393, 395, 396, 426n, 484 right to insurrection, 9:50
 Smith Act (1940), 3:43, 5:264, 9:82, 232, 293
 speech, freedom of, 4:502
 Vinson, Frederick Moore, 10:232
Denno v. School Board of Volusia County, Fla. (2000), 4:431
Denson v. Kirkpatrick Drilling Co., 11:473n
Denver & R. G. W. R. Co. v. Terte (1932), 11:389, 404, 408
Denver Area Consortium v. Federal Communications Commission (1996), 2:117
Department of Housing and Urban Development v. Rucker (2002), 4:29–30, 6:197 Department of Public Health & Welfare v. Department of Public Health & Welfare (1973), 4:111
DeSanto v. Youngstown State University (2002), 8:5
DeShaney v. Winnebago County Department of Social Services (1989), 5:394
Detroit Edison Co. v. NLRB (1979), 2:492
Devlin v. Scardelletti (2002), 2:426
Diamond v. Chakrabarty (1980), 5:64
Diamond v. Diehr (2001), 7:391
Dickerson v. United States (2000)
 Lawrence v. Texas (2003), 11:205
 Miranda v. Arizona (1966), 2:418, 3:82, 324, 4:401, 8:111–112, 9:41, 94
Digby v. Alexander, 12:270
DiGianni v. Stern's (1994), 4:302
Dillon v. Gloss (1921), 10:135
Dimeo v. Griffin (1991), 8:39
Dimick v. Schiedt (1935), 11:401, 431
Dinis v. Volpe (1968), 11:506
DiSanto v. Pennsylvania (1927), 1:453
District 27 Community School Board v. Board of Education (1986), 1:73
District of Columbia v. John R. Thompson Co. (1953), 5:216, 11:109
Dixon v. Alabama State Board of Education (1961), 5:352
Dodge v. Woolsey (1855), 2:224

- Dodson v. Arkansas Activities Association* (1979), 9:287
- Doe and Smith v. Mutual of Omaha Insurance Co.* (1999), 5:231–232
- Doe v. Bolton* (1973), 1:16–17, 8:381, 385, 11:512, 544–545, 547, 550, 559, 563
- Doe v. Centinela Hospital* (1988), 1:72
- Doe v. Commonwealth's Attorney* (1976), 11:195
- Doe v. Doe* (1994), 4:386
- Doe v. Dunbar* (1970), 11:513n
- Doe v. Karadzic* (1994), 2:419
- Doe v. Lefowitz* (1969), 11:507n
- Doe v. Rampton* (1970), 11:513n, 559
- Doe v. Randall* (1970), 11:507n
- Doe v. Scott* (1970), 11:507n, 559
- Doe v. Sundquist* (1999), 1:132
- Doe v. United States* (1988), 8:111, 9:93
- Doe v. University of Michigan* (1989), 2:289, 504
- Doe v. Ventura* (2001), 11:202n
- Doe v. Wiggington* (1994), 11:248n
- Dolan v. City of Tigard* (1994), 6:189, 10:456
- Dombrowski v. Pfister* (1965)
- Roe v. Wade* (1973), 11:503, 509, 513–514, 515, 523, 524, 549, 564
- Wisdom, John Minor, 10:401
- Dominion Hotel v. Arizona*, 11:9
- Donnelly v. Lynch* (1981). See Lynch v. Donnelly (1984)
- Doremus v. Board of Education* (1952), 6:93
- Doughty v. Maxwell* (1964), 11:285
- Douglas v. California* (1963), 1:313, 8:359, 11:323, 339
- Douglas v. City of Jeannette* (1943), 11:344, 524
- Dove v. Independent School Dist.* (1875), 11:105
- Downes v. Bidwell* (1901), 7:21
- Dozier Lumber Co. v. Smith-Isburg Lumber Co.* (1905), 11:402, 436n
- Dr. Bonham's Case* (1610), 4:152–154
- Dred Scott v. Emerson*
- basis of decision, 12:171–172, 287
- emancipation, 12:174
- manumission, 12:227
- reversal of precedent, 12:264
- ruling, 12:259, 261–262
- Dred Scott v. Sandford* (1857), 4:19–21
- Brown v. Board of Education* (1954), 11:50–51, 64, 65, 67, 72–73, 80
- Campbell, John Archibald, 2:224
- Catron, John, 2:273, 275
- Chase, Salmon Portland, 2:324
- Civil Rights cases (1883), citation in the, 12:322, 333
- civil rights of African Americans, 2:396
- Curtis, Benjamin R., 2:444
- dissent, 3:316, 7:23, 206
- Due Process Clause, 3:135
- federal government power, 4:363
- Fourteenth Amendment, 4:468
- Grier, Robert Cooper, 5:146–147
- involuntary servitude, 5:475
- Johnson, Reverdy, 6:24–25
- judicial review, 6:57
- Lincoln, Abraham, 9:210
- majority opinion, 3:336, 337, 7:230, 9:436, 437–438
- Missouri Compromise of 1820, 7:89
- Plessy v. Ferguson* (1896), citation in, 12:347
- publicity of verdict, 5:302–303
- slaves as property, 4:188
- substantive due process, 9:389
- Watts, Thomas Hill, 10:317
- Dred Scott v. Sandford* (1857) (document), 12:165–304
- Dronenburg v. Zech* (1984), 11:232
- Druker v. Commissioner of Internal Revenue* (1982), 10:12
- Dubois v. Gentry* (1945), 6:85
- Dudgeon v. United Kingdom* (1981), 11:241, 242
- Duldulao v. Saint Mary of Nazareth Hospital Center* (1987), 4:127
- Duncan v. Kahanamoku* (1946), 6:444
- Duncan v. Louisiana* (1968), 6:79
- Dunn v. Blumstein* (1972), 11:206n
- Dunphy v. Gregor* (1992), 2:476
- Durham v. United States* (1954), 4:45–46, 5:406
- Durland v. United States* (1896), 6:397
- Dyer v. State*, 11:366
- Dyson v. Stein* (1971), 11:523, 524

E

- E. F. Drew & Co. v. Federal Trade Commission* (1956), 11:426n
- E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co.* (1993), 6:177
- Eain v. Wilkes* (1981), 2:419
- Easley v. Cromartie* (2001), 5:74
- Eastern Associated Coal Corporation v. United Mine Workers of American, District 17* (2000), 1:328
- Eastern Railroad Presidents' Conference v. Noerr Motor Freight, Inc.* (1961), 9:367
- Eastman Kodak Co. v. Image Technical Services* (1992), 1:302
- Eastman Kodak v. Southern Photo Materials*, 11:430
- Eberheart v. Georgia* (1977), 4:79
- Edelman v. California*, 11:470, 472
- Edmonson v. Leesville Concrete Co.* (1991), 7:426
- Edward J. DeBartolo Corp. v. Florida Gulf Coast Building and Construction Trades Council* (1988), 9:55
- Edward J. DeBartolo Corp. v. National Labor Relations Board* (1983), 9:55
- Edwards v. Aguillard* (1987), 1:46, 7:206, 8:288, 9:37
- Edwards v. Arizona* (1981), 3:322–323
- Edwards v. California* (1941), 2:206, 11:9, 43, 408
- Edwards v. Holman*, 11:342n
- Edwards v. South Carolina* (1963)
- New York Times Co. v. Sullivan* (1964), 11:386–387, 391, 393, 397, 428n, 432n, 481n, 484, 488
- right of assembly, 10:168
- Edwards v. State* (1907), 11:552n

- EEOC v. Madison Community Unit School District No. 12* (1987), 4:187
- Eggart v. State* (1898), 11:552n
- Eichman v. United States* (1990), 9:343
- Eisenstadt v. Baird* (1972)
- birth control, 2:40, 7:360, 9:390
 - Brennan, William Joseph, Jr., 2:110
 - Lawrence v. Texas* (2003), 11:195, 197, 210, 218, 224, 230, 237–238, 244, 250
 - privacy, 8:98, 311
 - Roe v. Wade* (1973), 11:535–536, 537, 550, 558, 560, 565
 - women's rights, 10:412, 12:393
- Eisner v. Macomber*, 12:542
- El Morocco Club, Inc. v. Richardson* (2000), 11:168n
- Electric Bond & Share Co. v. Securities & Exchange Commission* (1938), 1:144
- Electromation* (1992), 6:174, 177
- Elfbrandt v. Russell* (1966), 6:378
- Ellison v. Brady* (1991), 9:154
- Ellsberg v. Mitchell* (1973), 7:93–94
- Elvis Presley Enterprises, Inc. v. Capece* (1996), 10:72
- Employment Division, Department of Human Resources v. Smith* (1990), 1:454, 2:380, 8:290
- Emporium Capwell Co. v. Western Addition Community Organization* (1975), 2:490–491, 10:373
- Engblom v. Carey* (1982), 3:134, 10:18
- Engel v. Vitale* (1962), 4:148–151
- Abington School District v. Schempp* (1963), 1:8, 9
 - Black, Hugo Lafayette, 2:45–46
 - Clark, Tom Campbell, 2:417
 - role of ACLU, 1:249, 250–251
 - school prayer, 6:227, 418, 8:286
- Engle v. R. J. Reynolds* (1996), 10:49–50
- Enmund v. Florida* (1982), 1:56, 3:305, 4:373
- Ennis v. Smith*, 12:284
- Epperson v. Arkansas* (1968), 8:287, 9:37, 11:549
- Equal Employment Opportunity Commission v. Waffle House, Inc.* (2002), 1:328
- Equality Foundation of Greater Cincinnati v. City of Cincinnati* (1997), 5:51–52, 11:227n
- Erie & N. E. R. Co. v. Casey*, 12:326
- Erie Railroad Co. v. Tompkins* (1938), 4:202–203, 5:5, 8:421, 9:362, 424
- Erlanger Mills v. Cohoes Fibre Mills, Inc.* (1956), 11:405, 408
- Ernst and Ernst v. Hochfelder* (1976), 9:31
- Erznoznik v. City of Jacksonville* (1975), 8:98, 100
- Escobedo v. Illinois* (1964), 4:208–209
- Goldberg, Arthur Joseph, 5:105, 473
 - Miranda v. Arizona* (1966), 7:83, 11:263, 264, 265, 266, 269, 270, 271, 272, 276, 284–286, 287, 288, 296, 299–300, 301, 302, 309, 310, 311, 312, 316, 320–321, 322, 324, 325, 326n, 330, 333, 334, 335, 337, 339, 349
 - right to counsel, 3:81, 8:360, 361
- Escola v. Coca Cola Bottling Co. of Fresno* (1944), 8:129, 10:87
- Estelle v. Gamble* (1976), 8:95
- Estelle v. Smith* (1981), 8:360
- Estep v. United States*, 11:53
- Estes v. Texas* (1965), 2:214–215, 219
- Estes v. United States*, 5:126
- Eubanks v. Louisiana*, 11:450, 461
- Evans v. Cornman* (1970), 11:506
- Evans v. Gee*, 12:170
- Evans v. People* (1872), 11:552n
- Everet v. Williams*, 6:467
- Everson v. Board of Education* (1947), 8:282, 9:26
- Evitts v. Lucey* (1985), 1:314
- Ewing v. California* (2003), 4:81, 8:251, 9:108
- Ex parte Ayers* (1887), 4:109
- Ex parte Cullinan* (1931), 11:388, 402, 435n
- Ex parte Devine* (1981), 9:458
- Ex Parte D.W.W.* (1998), 11:210n
- Ex parte Emerson*, 11:362
- Ex Parte Endo* (1944), 6:4, 11:9, 44, 140–141, 145–146
- Ex parte Garland* (1866)
- Bradwell v. Illinois* (1872), citation in case of, 12:400
 - Chase, Salmon Portland, 2:323
 - Clifford, Nathan, 2:445
 - Garland, Augustus Hill, 5:38
 - loyalty oaths, 6:377
 - pardon power, 7:355
- Ex parte Grace*, 12:172
- Ex parte Haisten* (1933), 11:402, 403, 435n
- Ex parte H.H.* (2002), 2:353, 5:49, 11:210n
- Ex parte Kearney*, 12:420
- Ex parte Levitt* (1937), 11:520
- Ex Parte Margart*, 11:467n
- Ex parte Merryman* (1861), 6:445, 9:438
- Ex parte Milligan* (1866), 7:56–57
- Black, Jeremiah Sullivan, 2:48
 - Chase, Salmon Portland, 2:323
 - Civil War, U.S., 10:173
 - Field, David Dudley, 4:396
 - majority opinion, 3:349
 - martial law, 6:445
 - presidential powers, 8:74
- Ex Parte Nugent* (1848), 9:172–173
- Ex parte Plessy*, 12:338
- Ex parte Quirin* (1942), 7:62
- Ex parte Rivera Watch Corp.* (1955), 9:57
- Ex parte Rodriguez* (1873), 11:190
- Ex parte Secombe*, 12:400
- Ex parte Spence* (1960), 11:404n
- Ex parte Textile Workers Union of America* (1947), 11:402, 404n, 436n
- Ex parte Tucker* (1998), 2:241
- Ex parte Union Planters National Bank and Trust Co.* (1947), 11:404n
- Ex parte Virginia*, 11:48, 133n, 12:313, 315, 328, 330, 334, 346
- Ex Parte Yarbrough* (1884), 10:250
- Ex parte Young* (1908), 4:110, 9:257, 450

Examining Board of Engineers, Architects and Surveyors v. Flores de Otero (1976), 8:181

F

Fair v. Meredith, 11:443n
Fairchild v. Hughes (1922), 11:520
Fairmount Glass Works v. Cub Fork Coal Co. (1933), 11:401, 424, 430, 431, 432
Falbo v. United States (1944), 7:145
Fall River Dyeing & Finishing Corp. v. NLRB (1987), 2:491
Faretta v. California (1975), 9:202
Farmers Union v. WDAY (1959), 11:396, 423, 427–428, 454n, 484n, 494
Farr v. Superior Court of Los Angeles County (1971), 4:255
Farwell v. Boston and Worcester Rail Road (1842), 4:371, 9:157–158
Faulk v. Aware, Inc., 11:424, 430
Faulk v. Buena Vista Burial Park Ass'n (1941), 11:188
Faulkner v. Jones (1995), 2:501
Fay v. Noia (1963), 11:316n, 320n, 404n, 463
Faya v. Almaraz (1993), 1:72
Fayerweather v. Moran (1990), 9:196–197
Fazekas v. University of Houston (1978), 11:185
FCC v. Beach Communications, Inc. (1993), 8:240, 11:226, 231
FCC v. National Citizens Committee for Broadcasting (1978), 2:128
FCC v. Pacifica Foundation (1978), 2:126, 287, 6:458, 9:450, 452
FDA v. Brown & Williamson Tobacco Corp. (2000), 10:48
Federal Election Commission v. Christian Action Network (1997), 2:124
Federal Election Commission v. Colorado Republican Federal Campaign Committee (2001), 4:345
Federal Maritime Commission v. South Carolina State Ports Authority (2002), 9:257
Felder v. Casey (1988), 9:60
Felker v. Turpin (1996), 5:171, 173
Fennell v. State (1869), 11:230
Ferdon v. Dickens (1909), 11:390, 425n
Feres v. United States (1950), 4:358, 380–381
Ferguson v. City of Charleston (2001), 3:283, 4:389
Ferguson v. Skrupa (1963), 11:564
Ferguson v. State (1982), 7:92
Fernandez v. Chardon (1982), 8:181
Fernandez v. Fernandez (1988), 3:432
Festo Corp. v. Shoketsu Kinzohu Kogyo Kabushiki Co., Ltd. (2002), 7:397
Fiallo v. Bell (1977), 1:215
Fibreboard Paper Products v. NLRB (1964), 2:491–492
Fidelity & Casualty Co. v. Beeland Co., 11:473n
Filartiga v. Pena-Irala (1980), 2:298
Finley v. NEA (1992), 2:288
Firefighters Local Union No. 1784 v. Stotts (1984), 9:102–103

Firestone Textile Co. Division, Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. v. Meadows (1983), 4:128
First English Evangelical Lutheran Church v. Los Angeles County (1987), 4:124, 7:116
First National Bank of Boston v. Bellotti (1978), 4:504
First National Bank of Utah v. Kinner (1873), 7:119
First National Maintenance Corp. v. NLRB (1981), 2:491–492
Fischer v. United States (2000), 7:33
Fisher v. Cockerell, 12:420
Fisher v. Hamden, 12:421
Fisher v. Hurst, 11:11
Fisher's Blend Station v. Tax Commission (1936), 11:408
Fiske v. Kansas (1927), 8:456, 11:397, 398, 432n, 488n, 493n
Fitzgerald v. Racing Assn. of Central Iowa, 11:244
Fitzpatrick v. Bitzer (1976), 4:109
Flag Salute cases, 4:434–435, 483
Flast v. Cohen (1968)
Roe v. Wade (1973), 11:500, 520, 521, 547, 548 standing, 6:92, 9:301
Fleming v. McCurtain, 12:544
Fletcher v. Peck (1810), 4:435–436
ex post facto, 4:259
Livingston, Henry Brockholst, 6:351
Martin, Luther, 6:447
Fletcher v. State (1962), 11:508n
Flood v. Kuhn (1972), 1:496
Flores v. Flores (1993), 3:33–34
Florida Bar v. Went For It, Inc. (1995), 7:117
Florida House of Representatives v. United States Department of Commerce (1992), 2:296
Florida Lime and Avocado Growers v. Jacobson (1960), 11:525, 547
Florida Prepaid Postsecondary Education Expense Board v. College Savings Bank (1999), 9:256
Florida v. J.L. (2000), 4:266, 9:359
Florida v. White (1999), 1:415, 3:283, 4:266
Foerster v. Ridder, 11:373
Foister v. Board of Supervisors (1952), 11:54
Foltz v. Hoge (1879), 4:438
Fondren v. State (1914), 11:558n
Fong v. United States (1893), 2:113, 377
Fong Yue Ting v. United States (1893), 5:133
Ford Motor Co. v. Hall Auto Co. (1933), 11:404n
Ford Motor Co. v. United States (1972), 10:206
Ford v. Israel (1983), 9:201
Ford v. Surget (1878), 2:445
Ford v. Wainwright (1986), 3:289, 305
Forrester v. New Jersey Democratic Party, Inc. (2002), 4:364
Forrester v. White (1988), 6:54
Forsyth County, Ga. v. Nationalist Movement (1992), 1:373
Foster v. Florida (2002), 11:252
Foster v. Foster, 12:227
Foster v. Neilson, 12:302
Foucha v. Louisiana (1992), 5:408, 8:80

Fowler v. Cross (1981), 9:62
Fowler v. Curtis Publishing Co. (1950), 11:398n
Fox Film Corporation v. Muller, 11:424, 435
Fox River Paper Company v. Railroad Commission, 11:424, 435n
Foxcroft v. Mallett, 12:171, 288
Foxhunt case. See Pierson v. Post (1805)
Franco v. The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints (2001), 2:438, 6:411
Franklin v. Gwinnett County Public Schools (1992), 2:502, 4:74
Franklin v. Massachusetts (1992), 1:320
Franks v. Delaware (1978), 4:474
Freedom Republicans, Inc. v. Federal Election Commission (1994), 4:96
Freeman v. Pitts (1992), 2:146, 9:24
Friedell v. Blakeley Printing Co. (1925), 11:395n, 486n
Frisby v. Schultz (1988), 1:23, 4:500, 10:36, 11:198
Frohwert v. United States (1919), 4:214
Frontiero v. Richardson (1973), 5:7–9
 Brennan, William Joseph, Jr., 2:110
 fundamental rights, 6:362
 Ginsburg, Ruth Bader, 5:95–96
 Lawrence v. Texas (2003), 11:233
 sex discrimination, 4:198–199
Frothingham v. Mellon (1923), 9:301, 11:499, 520
Frye v. Specialty Envelope (1993), 2:491
Frye v. United States (1923), 3:342, 487–488, 8:28–29
FTC v. Audiotex Connection, Inc. (1997), 5:324, 458
FTC v. Ruberoid Co. (1952), 8:372
FTC v. Superior Court Trial Lawyers Ass'n (1990), 4:493
Fullerton v. Thompson, 11:424, 434n
Fullilove v. Klutznick (1980), 8:168
The Fulton Steamboat Company, 12:215
Fulton v. Illinois (1968), 11:512n
Furman v. Georgia (1972), 5:18–20
 capital punishment, 2:237, 238, 239
 cruel and unusual punishment, 8:185
 Eighth Amendment, 4:81
 Gregg v. Georgia (1976), 5:143, 144
 Jones, Elaine Ruth, 6:38
 Marshall dissent, 3:463
FW/PBS v. City of Dallas (1990), 6:314

G

G. Heileman Brewing Co. v. Joseph Oat Corp. (1989), 8:77
Gagnon v. Scarpelli (1973), 8:361
Gallegos v. State of Colorado, 11:337
Gallick v. B. & O. R. Co., 11:424, 432
Galloway v. United States, 11:432n
Garcia v. Garcia (2002), 2:476–477
Garcia v. Lee, 12:302
Garcia v. Miera (1987), 5:353
Garcia v. San Antonio Metropolitan Transit Authority (1985), 9:327, 462
Garden State Bar Ass'n v. Middlesex County Ethics Committee (1981), 10:329–330
Gardinier v. Robins (1984), 2:420
Garner v. Jones (2000), 7:372
Garner v. Louisiana (1961), 2:406, 11:432, 443n, 458, 472
Garrison v. Heublein, Inc. (1982), 1:206
Garvey v. United States (1925), 9:4
Gassies v. Ballon, 12:270
Gates v. Collier (1974), 5:356
Gayle v. Browder (1956), 1:448, 2:403, 405, 9:252
Gayle v. Magazine Management Co. (1957), 11:405
Gebhart v. Belton, 11:46, 109–110, 132n
Gee Wah Lee v. United States (1928), 9:130
Geier v. American Honda Motor, Inc. (2000), 8:133
General Building Contractors v. Pennsylvania (1982), 8:275, 11:166
General Electric Co. v. Gilbert (1976), 9:134
General Trading Co. v. State Tax Comm'n. (1944), 11:407
Georgia v. McCollum (1992), 7:426
Georgia v. Tennessee Copper Co., 11:142
Gerstein v. Pugh (1975), 8:63, 9:201
Gertz v. Robert Welch, Inc. (1974), 3:380, 4:503, 6:300–301, 305
Gessner v. United States (1965), 11:351–352
Giaccio v. Pennsylvania (1966), 11:502
Gianfala v. Texas Co. (1955), 6:37
Gibbons v. Ogden (1824), 5:77
 commerce regulation, 3:129, 7:211
 federalism, 4:362–363
 Johnson, William, 6:28
 judicial review, 6:57
 Webster, Daniel, 10:320
 Wirt, William, 10:399
 Worcester v. Georgia (1832), citation in case of, 12:421
Gibson v. Florida Legislative Comm. (1963), 11:395, 409, 455, 459, 460
Gibson v. Mississippi, 11:460, 12:341
Gideon v. Wainwright (1963), 5:77–79, 78
 balancing, 1:453
 Black, Hugo Lafayette, 2:45
 court-appointed attorneys, 8:359
 Douglas, William Orville, 4:12
 equal protection, 4:196
 Fortas, Abe, 4:463–464
 Miranda v. Arizona (1966), 11:264, 276, 279, 281, 283–284, 285, 286, 300, 323, 339, 342, 347 procedural due process, 4:41
 right to counsel, 3:134, 9:201
 Warren, Earl, 10:296
 Warren Court, 10:293
Giles v. Harris (1903), 2:113
Gillespie v. City of Indianapolis (1999), 5:165
Gilmer v. Interstate/Johnson Lane Corp. (1991), 1:163, 327–328
Gilmore v. City of Montgomery, 11:463n
Ginsberg v. New York (1968), 2:286

- Ginsberg v. United States* (1968), 11:232
- Ginzburg v. United States* (1966), 7:297
- Giozza v. Tiernan*, 11:52
- Gitlow v. New York* (1925), 5:97–98
- Chaffee, Zechariah, Jr., 2:313
- clear and present danger, 2:432, 5:275
- Communist Party cases, 3:44
- Lawrence v. Texas* (2003), 11:206
- New York Criminal Anarchy Act, 9:215–216
- New York Times Co. v. Sullivan* (1964), 11:484, 493n
- Pollak, Walter Heilprin, 8:22–23
- role of ACLU, 1:249
- Sanford, Edward Terry, 8:456
- selective incorporation, 5:371
- Glasser v. United States* (1942), 6:394, 11:324
- Glassroth v. Moore* (2003), 8:288
- Gleitman v. Cosgrove* (1967), 5:393, 11:526
- Glisten v. Ullman* (1943), 11:524
- Glover v. United States* (2001), 1:314, 9:201
- Gober v. City of Birmingham*, 11:443n
- Godebe v. Salt Lake City* (1870), 7:119
- Goldberg v. Kelly* (1970), 1:107, 2:424, 4:41, 11:506
- Golden v. Zwickler* (1969), 11:500, 520, 521, 522, 524, 548n, 549
- Goldfield v. Brewbaker Motors*, 11:471, 474n
- Goldsby v. Harpole*, 11:462
- Gomez v. Toledo* (1980), 9:62
- Gomillion v. Lightfoot* (1960), 5:72, 9:159–160, 11:450
- Gompers v. Buck's Stove & Range Co.* (1911), 6:178
- Gong Lum v. Rice* (1927), 11:5, 9, 10–11, 25–26, 53, 132
- Good News Club v. Milford Central School* (2001), 4:502
- Goodridge v. Dept. of Health* (2002), 5:48
- Gorman v. Hunt* (2000), 1:42
- Goss v. Lopez* (1975), 1:107, 5:352
- Gott v. Berea College* (1913), 5:352
- Gough v. Tribune-Journal Company* (1954), 11:395n, 487n
- Gould v. Kramer*, 11:473
- Grady v. Corbin* (1990), 4:5–6
- Graham v. Board of Education* (1941), 11:25
- Graham v. John Deere Co.* (1966), 7:391
- Graham v. Richardson* (1971), 1:224
- Graham v. Strader*, 12:174
- Grant v. Reader's Digest* (1945), 11:423, 429, 433n
- Graphic Communications International Union Local 508 v. NLRB* (1992), 2:492
- Gratz v. Bollinger* (2003)
- affirmative action, 1:157, 8:213
- boards of regents, 2:70
- civil rights, 2:399
- education law, 4:71–72
- reaffirmation of Bakke decision, 8:270
- Gray Panthers v. Schweiker* (1980), 5:135
- Gray v. American Radiator Corporation*, 11:438n
- Gray v. Board of Trustee of University of Tennessee*, 11:54
- Gray v. Maryland* (1998), 3:83, 287
- Gray v. Rankin* (1989), 8:198
- Gray v. Romeo* (1988), 3:358, 7:207–208
- Gray v. Serruto Builders* (1970), 5:136
- Gray v. State* (1915), 11:521, 552n, 558n
- Green v. Chicago Burlington and Quincy Ry.*, 11:359
- Green v. County School Board* (1968), 1:152, 5:422, 9:18, 20, 420
- Green v. Indiana* (1995), 1:412
- Green v. Mansour* (1985), 4:110
- Green v. State*, 11:265, 446n
- Greene v. Lindsey* (1982), 7:436
- Greene v. Louisville and Interurban Railroad Co.* (1917), 9:257
- Greenman v. Yuba Power Products, Inc.* (1963), 8:129, 9:370, 10:87
- Greenwell v. United States* (1964), 11:270
- Gregg v. Georgia* (1976), 3:289, 307, 5:20, 143–144, 8:185
- Gregoire v. Biddle* (1949), 11:396, 495
- Gregory v. Ashcroft* (1991), 4:366
- Gregory v. Missouri Pacific Railroad* (1994), 9:130
- Griffeth v. Fanny*, 12:281
- Griffin v. Breckenridge* (1971), 6:163
- Griffin v. Illinois* (1956), 1:313, 8:359
- Griffin v. State of California* (1965), 11:319–320, 321n, 339
- Griffin v. Warden* (1982), 9:144
- Griffis v. Luban* (2002), 6:70
- Griffith v. Fanny*, 12:174, 265
- Griggs v. Duke Power* (1971), 1:162, 3:459, 460
- Grigsby v. Reib* (1913), 11:168, 553n
- Grimshaw v. Ford Motor Co.* (1981), 1:422
- Griswold v. Connecticut* (1965), 5:150, 7:422
- balancing, 1:453
- Black, Hugo, dissent of, 2:46
- Bork, Robert Heron, 2:82
- Douglas, William Orville, 4:12
- inductive reasoning, 6:74
- Lawrence v. Texas* (2003), 11:172, 195, 196, 197, 200, 219, 223, 224, 230, 237–238, 250, 254
- marital relationship, 5:320
- Ninth Amendment, 3:132, 7:248–249
- original intent, 7:335
- penumbra doctrine, 7:421
- privacy, 2:40, 4:470, 495, 7:208, 8:98, 311, 9:390, 10:18
- right to birth control information, 7:360
- Roe v. Wade* (1973), 1:16, 8:384, 11:500n, 501, 502n, 508n, 509, 510, 512, 513–514n, 515, 526, 537, 539, 550, 558, 560, 564, 565
- role of ACLU, 1:16
- Stewart, Potter, 9:347
- substantive due process, 4:39
- Warren, Earl, 10:296
- Warren Court, 10:294
- women's rights, 10:412, 12:393
- Groppi v. Leslie* (1971), 9:341
- Grosjean v. American Press Co.* (1936), 11:401, 453, 454

Gross v. Cantor, 11:364–365, 424, 434n
Grove City College v. Bell (500), 2:500
Groves v. Slaughter (1841), 1:456
Grovey v. Townsend (1935), 8:370, 9:314, 10:343, 362, 11:449
Grummett v. Rushen (1985), 8:90
Grusendorf v. Oklahoma City (1987), 9:409, 10:45
Grutter v. Bollinger (2003), 1:155–156, 4:71, 6:237, 7:159
Gryczan v. State (1997), 11:201–202n, 202, 223n, 240, 242
Guaranty Trust Company v. Blodgett, 11:424, 435n
Guinn v. United States (1915), 3:454, 5:127, 7:155, 10:250, 11:44, 57
Gulf, Colorado & Santa Fe Railway Co. v. Ellis (1897), 8:239
Gunn v. University Committee (1971), 11:525, 547
Gwynne v. Hicks (1970), 11:513n

H

H. J. Heinz Co. v. NLRB, 11:462n
H. P. Hood & Sons v. DuMond (1949), 11:408
Haddle v. Garrison (1998), 4:133–134
Hague v. Committee of Industrial Organizations (1939), 2:199
Hale v. Bimco Trading Co. (1939), 11:506, 514
Haley v. Blue Ridge Transfer Co. (1986), 9:130–131
Haley v. Boles (1992), 1:401
Haley v. Ohio (1948), 11:276, 281, 331
Hall v. Beals (1969), 11:522
Hall v. Binghampton, 11:452n
Hall v. De Cuir, 12:341
Hall v. Geiger-Jones Co. (1917), 2:67, 9:74
Hall v. Lefkowitz (1969), 11:513n
Hall v. Tawney (1980), 3:210, 5:352–353
Hall v. University of Minnesota (1982), 9:286
Halpern v. Toronto (2003), 11:254
Halter v. Nebraska (1907), 4:432
Hamdi v. Rumsfeld (2003), 4:142, 5:359, 8:74
Hamer v. Sunflower County School District (1970), 5:177
Hamilton v. Alabama (1961), 1:349, 11:276, 283, 284, 286
Hamilton v. Eaton, 12:421
Hamilton v. State, 11:461
Hamm v. Mississippi (2000), 1:462
Hammer v. Dagenhart (1918), 3:352, 5:181–182, 9:461
Hammett v. State (1919), 11:558n
Hanes v. Shuttlesworth, 11:463n
Hans v. Louisiana (1890), 9:256
Hansen v. State Dept. of Transportation (1998), 2:121
Hanson v. Denckla (1958)
 New York Times Co. v. Sullivan (1964), 11:389, 404, 405, 406, 407, 438, 439, 470, 472
 personal jurisdiction, 7:432
Harcourt Brace Jovanovich v. Goldwater (1982), 8:177
Harcourt v. Gaillard, 12:232
Harden v. Gordon (1823), 8:438
Hardingham v. United Counseling Service of Bennington County (1995), 5:115
Hardwick v. Bowers (1985), 6:20
Hardy v. Williamson, 11:365
Harisiades v. Shaughnessy (1952), 1:225
Harmelin v. Michigan (1991), 6:394, 8:186
Harmon v. Tyler, 11:450
Harny v. Decker, 12:227
Harper & Row v. Nation Enterprises (1985), 3:197–198
Harper v. Virginia State Board of Elections (1966), 10:133, 251
Harris v. Forklift Systems (1992), 4:73, 9:154
Harris v. McRae (1980), 1:18, 8:312
Harris v. Oaks Shopping Center (1999), 4:121
Harris v. State (1889), 11:461, 538
Harris v. Stephens (1966), 1:411
Harrub v. Hy-Trous Corporation (1947), 11:402, 436
Harry et al. v. Decker and Hopkins, 12:173, 265
Hartford Accident & Indemnity Company v. Southern Pacific Company (1927), 11:525
Hartford-Empire Co. v. United States, 11:142
Hartmann v. Time, Inc. (1947), 11:405n
Hastings v. United States Senate (1989), 5:337
Hawaii Housing Authority v. Midkiff (1984), 4:124
Hayburn's Case (1792), 2:62
Hayden v. County of Nassau (1999), 11:171
Haymon v. Wilkerson (1987), 5:67–68
Haynes v. State of Washington (1963), 11:264, 283–284, 316, 320, 327, 331, 334, 335, 337, 338, 347, 348, 488n Hazelwood School District v. Kuhlmeier (1988)
 academic freedom, 1:48
 Brennan, William Joseph, Jr., 2:111
 censorship, 2:289
 children's rights, 2:369
 education law, 4:68
 prior restraint, 8:86
Hazen Paper v. Biggins (1993), 1:164
Head v. Newton (1980), 11:211n, 245
Healy v. James (1972), 1:48
Heard v. Railroad Co., 12:342
Heart of Atlanta Motel v. United States (1964), 3:6, 7:256, 12:362
Heath v. Alabama (1985), 4:6
Hebert v. Louisiana (1926), 11:280
Heckler v. Mathews (1984), 11:182, 183
Heckmann v. Ahmanson (1985), 5:142–143
Heffron v. International Society for Krishna Consciousness (1981), 4:499, 8:291–292
Heim v. Longview Fibre Co. (1985), 10:421
Heitman v. State (1991), 11:181–182
Heller v. Doe by Doe (1993), 11:187, 226–227
Helms v. Franciscus (1830), 9:458
Helms v. United States (1962), 9:198
Helvering v. Davis (1937), 2:200, 246
Helvering v. Hallock (1940), 11:243
Henderson v. Texas (1995), 7:143

- Henderson v. United States* (1950), 2:179, 7:16, 11:43, 51, 53
- Hendler v. United States* (1991), 4:403
- Hendrich v. Board of Regents of University of Wisconsin System* (2001), 2:506–507
- Henne v. Wright* (1990), 11:248n
- Henningsen v. Bloomfield Motors, Inc.* (1960), 8:129
- Henrie v. Blankenship* (1970), 11:513n
- Henry L. Doherty and Co. v. Goodman*, 11:359
- Henry v. Ball*, 12:174
- Henry v. State of Mississippi*, 11:339
- Hensley v. Eckerhart* (1983), 9:63
- Hepburn v. Griswold* (1870), 2:97, 324, 445, 9:375
- Herb v. Picairn*, 11:424, 435
- Herbert v. State of Louisiana* (1926), 8:52
- Herencia v. Guzman*, 11:430
- Hernandez v. Commissioner of Internal Revenue* (1989), 8:291
- Hernandez v. New York* (1991), 11:229
- Hernandez v. State of Texas* (1954), 6:222
- Herndon v. Georgia*, 11:470, 472
- Herndon v. Lowry* (1937), 11:397, 432n, 481n
- Herrera v. Collins* (1993), 5:171
- Herron v. Southern P. Co.*, 11:462n
- Hertel v. Sullivan* (1994), 2:438
- Hess v. Indiana* (1973), 4:414, 5:97
- Hess v. Pawloski* (1927), 11:359
- Hester v. United States* (1924), 4:473
- Hewllette v. George* (1891), 5:332
- Heydon's Case* (1584), 2:235, 12:548
- Hicklin v. Orbeck* (1978), 8:114
- Hickman v. Taylor* (1947), 10:418
- Higbee v. Commissioner* (2001), 5:441
- High Tech Gays v. Defense Industrial Security Clearance Office* (1990), 11:168n, 248n
- The Highwayman case*, 6:467
- Hill v. Colorado* (2000), 8:86, 310
- Hill v. Garner* (1977), 5:162
- Hill v. Martin* (1935), 11:515n
- Hill v. Ross* (1999), 4:194
- Hill v. Texas*, 11:9, 44
- Hill v. Colorado* (2000), 1:25
- Hilton v. Guyot* (1895), 5:133
- Hipolite Egg Co. v. United States* (1911), 5:181, 7:18
- Hirabayashi v. United States* (1943)
- Brown v. Board of Education* (1954), 11:9, 43–44
- Japanese American evacuation, 6:3–4, 5–6, 158–159
- martial law, 6:445–446
- Hiram v. United States* (1965), 11:328
- Hitaffer v. Argonne Co.* (1950), 3:106–107
- H.L. v. Matheson* (1981), 1:20
- Hobbie v. Unemployment Appeals Commission of Florida* (1987), 8:292
- Hobson v. Hansen* (1967), 10:428
- Hocutt v. Wilson* (1933), 5:200
- Hodges v. Gibson Products Co.* (1991), 6:407–408
- Hodges v. Humkin* (1615), 4:81
- Hodges v. United States* (1906), 2:113
- Hodgson v. Minnesota* (1990), 1:20, 11:509n
- Hodgson v. Randall* (1970), 11:509n, 514n
- Hodgson v. United Mine Workers of America* (1972), 2:154
- Hoffman-LaRoche v. Sperling* (1989), 1:161
- Hoffman v. United States* (1951), 11:318
- Hogan v. Hallman* (1994), 11:166
- Hogan v. New York Times* (1963), 11:423, 429, 432
- Hogg v. Zanesville Canal Co.*, 12:173
- Hoke v. United States* (1913), 5:181, 6:416
- Holland v. Illinois* (1990), 6:81
- Holland v. Pack*, 12:421
- Holland v. United States* (1954), 2:382
- Holmes Group, Inc. v. Vornado Air Circulation Systems, Inc.* (2002), 6:72
- Holmes v. California Army National Guard* (1997), 11:227n, 248
- Holmes v. City of Atlanta*, 11:443n
- Home Building and Loan Association v. Blaisdell* (1934), 7:117, 8:370
- Homer v. Brown*, 12:288
- Hon v. Stroh Brewery* (1987), 1:206
- Honda Motor Co. v. Oberg* (1994), 3:333
- Hooper v. Bernalillo County Assessor* (1985), 11:180, 182n
- Hope v. Hearst Consolidated Publications, Inc.* (1961), 11:367, 398, 424, 434, 434n
- Hope v. Pelzer* (2002), 3:304, 4:81, 5:331, 9:343
- Hopewood v. Texas* (1996), 2:398, 4:194
- Hopt v. Utah* (1884), 3:80, 11:330, 334–335, 336, 345, 349
- Hopwood v. Texas* (1996), 1:154–155, 157
- Hormel Foods Corp. v. Jim Henson Productions* (1996), 4:308–309
- Hotchkiss v. National City Bank* (1911), 7:294
- Houck v. Railway Co.*, 12:342
- Housing Authority of City of Decatur v. Decatur Land Co.*, 11:375
- Houston, East & West Texas Railway Co. v. United States* (1914), 5:304
- Houston v. Moore*, 12:174
- Howland v. Flood* (1894), 11:396n
- Hudnut v. American Booksellers Association, Inc.*, 8:33, 35
- Hudson v. McMillian* (1992), 3:304, 4:79, 7:334–335
- Hudson v. Palmer* (1984), 8:93
- Hudson v. United States* (1997), 3:288
- Huff v. White Motor Corporation* (1979), 4:355
- Hughes Aircraft Co. v. United States ex rel. Schumer* (1997), 8:203
- Hughes v. Bizzell* (1941), 11:396n
- Hughes v. Edwards*, 12:421
- Hulbert v. California* (1911), 4:172
- Hulseman v. Gems*, 12:343
- Humphrey's Executor v. United States* (1935), 1:101, 8:394
- Hunt v. Cromartie* (1991), 3:74, 9:160
- Hunt-Wesson, Inc. v. Franchise Tax Bd. of Cal.* (2000), 3:6
- Hunter v. Fulcher*, 12:227, 264, 281

Hunter v. Hulsher, 12:301
Hunter v. Underwood (1985), 11:179
Huprich v. Bitto (1995), 5:345
Hurley v. Irish-American Gay, Lesbian, and Bisexual Group of Boston (1995), 2:461, 4:495, 5:53
Hurtado v. California (1884), 5:318, 6:465
Hurtado v. United States (1973), 10:21
Hustler Magazine, Inc. v. Falwell (1988), 7:368–369
Hutchins v. District of Columbia (1999), 3:313
Hutchinson v. Chase and Gilbert (1930), 11:359, 406
Hutchinson v. Proxmire (1979), 3:380, 6:303
Hutto v. Finney (1978), 9:63
Hyde v. Hyde (1866), 8:27–28
Hylton v. United States (1796), 2:329

I

Idlewild Bon Voyage Corp. v. Epstein (1962), 11:513
Igartua De La Rosa v. United States (2000), 8:181
Illinois Central R.R. v. Cox (1858), 4:371
Illinois ex rel. McCollum v. Board of Education (1948), 8:281–282, 287, 11:83, 110
Illinois v. Allen (1970), 5:23, 9:198–199
Illinois v. Gates (1983), 4:474, 8:275
Illinois v. Krull (1987), 4:472
Illinois v. McArthur (2001), 3:282
Illinois v. Perkins (1990), 5:495–496, 7:85
Illinois v. Wardlow (2001), 3:283
Imbler v. Pachtman (1976), 9:61, 62
Immigration and Naturalization Service v. Chadha (1983). See INS v. Chadha (1983)
In re A. C. (1990), 4:386
In re Adoption of S. S. & R. S. (1995), 5:384
In re “Agent Orange” Product Liability Litigation (1980), 6:108
In re A.H. Robins Co. (1989), 1:469
In re All Matters Submitted to the Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Court (2002), 4:452
In re Asbestos Products Liability Litigation (1991), 10:328
In re Baby M (1988), 1:128, 431–433, 4:320, 8:314, 9:410–411
In re Bradwell (1870), 2:99
In re Cady, Roberts & Co. (1961), 9:72
In re Claussen (1993), 1:126–127
In re Complaints of Judicial Misconduct (1993), 2:469
In re Concrete Pipe (1969), 7:138
In re Cooper, 12:400
In re Coplan (1993), 1:467
In re County of Orange (1995), 2:79
In re Debs (1895), 3:364, 7:313, 9:230
In re Detention of Gonzales (2003), 3:26
In re Drexel (1992), 8:20
In re Dupre (1891), 2:260
In re E. I. duPont de Nemours & Co. (1973), 5:428
In re Gault (1967), 5:44–45
 children’s rights, 2:369
 Fortas, Abe, 4:464
 kangaroo court, 6:103
 minors’ rights, 10:396, 397
In re Globe Newspaper (1984), 9:196
In re Grand Jury Subpoenas Duces Tecum (1996), 10:367
In re Griffiths (1973), 1:137
In re Groban’s Petition (1957), 11:276, 281–282, 284, 286, 321n
In re Hallows (1987), 1:400
In re Himmel (1989), 1:402
In re Hiss (1975), 5:262
In re Jackson, 4:260
In re J.M. (2003), 11:202
In re Juan C. (1994), 3:314
In re Kemmler (1890), 3:304, 307, 4:79
In re Kingsley (1992), 2:368
In re Kowalski (1986), 2:475
In re Levine (1992), 1:467
In re Lewis (1974), 4:255
In re Longstaff (1982), 11:203–204
In re McLean (1987), 11:166–167, 178, 187, 188–189
In re Michaelson (1975), 1:393
In re Miles Lord (1984), 2:420
In re Morrissey (1999), 1:392, 4:233
In re Mosier (1978), 3:313
In re Murchison, 11:461
In re Myerson (1992), 1:401
In re Nevitt (1902), 3:155
In re Osman (1996), 3:313
In re Pizza Time Theatre (1986), 1:282
In re Quinlan (1976), 3:358, 7:407, 8:205–207
In re R. M. J. (1982), 6:231
In re R-A-, RESPONDENT (2001), 1:384
In re Ridgeway (1990), 1:400
In re Roche (1980), 4:255
In re S. E. G. (1994), 5:384
In re Sealed Case (1997), 1:394
In re Sealed Case (2002), 4:452
In re Sealed Case No. 99-3091, 10:368
In re Welfare of D.L. (1992), 1:124
In re Winship (1970), 7:209, 10:395–397
 Brennan, William Joseph, Jr., 2:110
 reasonable doubt, 8:246
 unenumerated rights, 10:148
In the Matter of Samuel W. v. Family Court (1969), 10:396
Independent Meat Packers Ass’n v. Butz (1975), 4:275
Indianapolis Colts v. Mayor of Baltimore (1985), 9:283
Indianapolis v. Edmond (2000), 3:283, 9:42
Ingebreetsen v. Jackson Public School District (1996), 4:418
Inglis v. Sailors’ Snug Harbor, 12:273
Ingraham v. Wright (1977), 3:210, 5:352
Inhabitants of Worcester v. Western R. Corp., 12:345
Inmates of D.C. Jail v. Jackson (1976), 2:155
Inmates of Suffolk County Jail v. Eisenstadt (1973), 5:356
Inmates of Suffolk County Jail v. Rouse (1997), 8:96

INS v. Chadha (1983), 1:107, 2:169, 5:349, 10:215
Insular cases (1901), 7:21
Insull v. New York World-Telegram Corp. (1959), 11:405n, 438n
International Brotherhood of Teamsters v. United States (1977), 9:103
International Harvester Co. v. Kentucky, 12:541–542
International Milling Co. v. Columbia Transportation Co. (1934), 11:408
International Shoe Co. v. FTC (1930), 6:32
International Shoe Co. v. Washington (1945) long-arm statutes, 6:369–370
New York Times Co. v. Sullivan (1964), 11:359, 389, 404, 405, 408, 422, 424–425, 436, 439
 personal jurisdiction, 7:431
International Society for Krishna Consciousness v. Lee (1992), 4:500
International Stevedoring Co. v. Haverty, 12:546
Investment Co. Institute v. Camp (1971), 11:549
Iota Xi Chapter v. George Mason University (1993), 2:289, 504
Iowa Utilities Board v. FCC (1997, 2000), 9:449
Iron Age Pub. Co. v. Crudup, 11:365
Irvin v. Dowd (1961), 8:778, 11:366, 460n, 461

J

J. B. v. M. B. (2001), 8:314
J. I. Case Co. v. NLRB (1944), 2:490
Jackson v. Ashton, 12:176, 192, 215
Jackson v. Benson (1998), 3:116, 9:27
Jackson v. Denno (1964), 11:262, 263, 269n, 320n, 333n
Jackson v. Indiana (1972), 5:368, 8:80
Jackson v. National Grain Mutual Liability Company, 11:436n
Jackson v. State (1908), 11:546n
Jackson v. United States (1964), 11:265, 286, 328
Jacob v. City of New York, 11:431
Jacob v. Sharp, 12:248
Jacobellis v. State of Ohio (1964), 7:72, 296, 9:347
Jacobs v. Seminole County Canvassing Board (2000), 1:33
Jacobs v. Theimer (1975), 10:432
Jacobson v. Massachusetts (1905), 3:121, 7:208, 11:527n, 559
James v. Powell (1969), 8:47
Jane Doe A v. Special School District of St. Louis County (1990), 4:74
Janus v. Tarasewicz (1985), 9:189
Japanese Immigrant case (1903), 2:113
Jarrot v. Jarrot, 12:258
Jarvins v. First National Realty Corp. (1970), 10:428
J.B.K., Inc. v. Caron (1979), 11:174n
J.E.B. v. Alabama (1994), 7:426, 11:181, 182n, 228
Jefferson v. Griffin Spalding County Hospital Authority (1981), 4:386
Jeffries v. Harleston (1995), 1:47, 48, 2:504–505
Jegley v. Picado (2002), 11:201, 202n, 207, 208n, 211, 223n, 240, 242
J.E.M. AG Supply, Inc. v. Pinoer Hi-Bred Intern., Inc. (2001), 7:391
Jenison v. Caldwell (1781), 6:326–327
Jenkins v. Talladega City Board of Education (1997), 4:69–70
Jenkins v. United States (1962), 4:455
Jewell v. Cox Enterprises, Inc. (1997), 6:302
Jimmy Swaggart Ministries v. Board of Equalization (1990), 8:291
Joel v. Grubman (1992), 4:164
Johns-Manville Sales Corp. v. International Ass'n of Machinists (1980), 10:45
Johnson Publishing Co. v. Davis (1960), 11:361, 365, 367, 373, 375, 390, 399n, 400, 402, 431n, 436n, 439, 480, 481, 487n
Johnson v. Avery (1969), 5:497, 8:94
Johnson v. Calvert (1993), 9:411, 415
Johnson v. Duncan (1815), 7:117
Johnson v. McIntosh (1823), 7:196, 206, 12:421
Johnson v. State (1965), 11:351
Johnson v. State (1991), 4:387–388
Johnson v. Transportation Agency of Santa Clara County (1987), 1:153, 2:111
Johnson v. United States (1948), 1:411–412
Johnson v. Virginia, 11:442n, 460, 460n
Johnson v. Wells (1978), 9:61
Johnson v. Zerbst (1938) Miranda v. Arizona (1966), 11:276, 278, 281, 283, 284, 286, 324, 339, 342
 right to counsel, 8:358–359
Joint Tribal Council v. Morton (1975), 5:83
Jones v. Alfred H. Mayer Co. (1968), 9:85, 347, 10:20
Jones v. Better Business Bureau (1941), 11:46
Jones v. Clinton (1999), 3:157
 See also Clinton v. Jones (1997)
Jones v. Com., 12:344
Jones v. Credit Bureau of Huntington, Inc. (1990), 4:302
Jones v. Hallahan (1973), 5:50–51
Jones v. Jones (1955), 11:527
Jones v. United States (1983), 3:25–26
Jones v. Van Zandt (1847), 2:322
Jones v. Wolf (1979), 8:293
Jordan v. DeGeorge (1951), 11:526
Jordan v. Gardner (1993), 8:90
Joseph Burstyn, Inc. v. Wilson (1952), 10:245
Josephine v. Poultney, 12:174, 265, 281
Juilliard v. Greenman (1884), 5:133
Julia v. McKinney, 12:259, 287
Julian v. American Business Consultants, Inc. (1956), 11:398n
Just v. Chambers (1941), 11:525
Justices v. U.S. ex rel. Murray, 11:430

K

Kadic v. Karadzic (1994), 6:385
Kadrmars v. Dickinson Public Schools (1988), 11:167, 176
Kaiser Aetna v. United States (1979), 7:212

- Kaiser Aluminum & Chemical Corp. v. United States* (1958), 4:277
- Kalina v. Fletcher* (1997), 5:330, 9:61–62
- Kansas City v. Kindle* (1969), 1:263
- Kansas v. Crane* (2002), 2:117
- Kansas v. Hendricks* (1997), 2:118, 3:, 6:117–118, 9:146
- Kansas v. United States* (1906), 9:255
- Karpiak v. Russo* (1996), 6:188
- Kass v. Kass* (1998), 8:313
- Katko v. Briney* (1971), 9:91
- Katz v. United States* (1967)
- Brandeis, Louis Dembitz, 2:104–105
 - privacy, 3:134, 9:39
 - Roe v. Wade* (1973), 11:527, 534, 558, 564n, 566
 - search warrants, 1:409–410, 4:472
 - warrantless searches, 4:106
- Kaufman v. Hurwitz*, 11:339
- Kawananakoa v. Polyblank* (1907), 4:357
- Kaycee Land & Livestock v. Flahive* (2002), 1:236
- Keeler v. Superior Court* (1970), 11:539, 561
- Keeney v. Tamayo-Reyes* (1992), 5:171
- Keevan v. Smith* (1996), 11:171
- Keller v. United States* (1909), 9:461
- Kelley v. Board of Trustees* (1994), 2:503
- Kellogg v. Village of Viola* (1975), 4:172
- Kelly v. Gregory* (1953), 11:528
- Kelly v. Gwinnell* (1984), 1:205
- Kendall v. United States ex rel. Stokes* (1838), 10:23
- Kendrick v. American Amusement Machine Association* (2001), 4:501
- Kent v. Dulles*, 11:565
- Kent v. United States* (1966), 2:369
- Kentucky Association of Health Plans, Inc. v. Miller* (2003), 5:228, 6:413, 8:61
- Kerr v. Gibson's Products Co.* (1987), 4:128
- Kerr v. United States District Courts* (1976), 6:414
- Keyes v. Denver School District* (1973), 9:21
- Keyishian v. Board of Regents of the University of New York* (1967), 1:46, 4:67, 6:378, 11:513
- Khanna v. Microdata Corp.* (1985), 4:128
- Khawar v. Globe International, Inc.* (1998), 6:303–304
- Kientzy v. McDonnell Douglas Corp.* (1991), 7:315
- Kier v. State* (1957), 11:313n
- Kilbourn v. Thompson* (1880), 9:271
- Kilpatrick v. Texas & P. Ry. Co.* (1948), 11:405n, 407, 438
- Kim v. Sportswear* (1990), 8:335
- Kimel v. Florida Board of Regents* (2000), 1:164, 9:256–257
- King v. New Rochelle Municipal Housing Authority* (1971), 8:332
- King v. Smith* (1968), 6:411
- King v. Vancil* (1975), 9:458
- King v. Wiseman* (1718), 11:239
- Kingsley Pictures Corp. v. Regents* (1959), 11:395, 397
- Kingsley v. Kingsley* (1993), 2:368, 7:359
- Kirby v. Illinois* (1972), 8:361, 9:200
- Kirkpatrick v. Journal Publishing Company* (1923), 11:390, 425n
- Klinghoffer v. SNC Achille Lauro* (1993), 2:419
- Klinkel v. Saddler* (1930), 3:356
- Knapp v. Schweitzer*, 11:430
- Knight v. Alabama* (1994), 2:500
- Knight v. Avon Products* (2003), 2:123
- Knight v. Knight* (1993), 10:21
- Knight v. Louisiana Bd. of Medical Examiners* (1969), 11:511–510n
- Knowles v. Iowa* (1998), 1:413, 3:282
- Knox v. Board of Education* (1891), 11:7, 23
- Knox v. Greenleaf*, 12:173
- Knox v. Lee* (1871), 2:97, 324, 445
- See also Legal Tender Cases* (1870)
- Knussman v. Ste of Maryland* (1995), 9:135
- Koback v. Crook* (1985), 1:205
- Kolender v. Lawson* (1983), 5:34
- Konigsberg v. State Bar of California* (1961), 11:366, 390, 395, 423, 426, 471, 474n, 481n
- Korematsu v. United States* (1944), 6:158–159
- Black, Hugo Lafayette, 2:46
 - Brown v. Board of Education* (1954), 11:9, 43–44
 - Frankfurter, Felix, 4:483
 - Japanese American evacuation, 6:3, 4, 5–6
 - justification, 10:275
 - martial law, 6:446
 - presidential powers, 8:74
 - racial profiling, 8:216–217
 - reparations, 8:304
 - Roberts, Owen Josephus, 8:370–371
 - Stone, Harlan Fiske, 9:356
 - suspect classification, 4:193, 5:261, 9:416
 - Warren, Earl, 10:294–295
 - World War II, 10:426
- Kotteakos v. United States* (1946), 5:192
- Kovacs v. Cooper* (1949), 11:534
- Kramer v. Union Free School District* (1969), 11:502n, 560
- Krause v. Rhodes* (1975), 6:129
- Kudish v. Bd. of Registration*, 11:546n
- Kuhlmann v. Wilson* (1986), 6:460
- Kumho Tire Co., Ltd. v. Carmichael* (1999), 3:343, 4:249, 283, 9:33
- Kunz v. New York* (1951), 8:290
- Kuromiya v. United States* (1999), 11:174n
- Kyllo v. United States* (2001)
- Lawrence v. Texas* (2003), 11:198, 222
 - unreasonable searches, 3:283, 4:106–107, 266, 473, 9:344
- Kyser v. American Surety Co.* (1925), 11:403, 435n

L

- L. & N. v. Holloway*, 11:430
- L. D. Reeder Contractors of Ariz. v. Higgins Industries, Inc.* (1959), 11:405
- L. W. K. v. E. R. C.* (2000), 2:363
- La Buy v. Howes Leather Company* (1957), 9:263
- Lackey v. Texas* (1995), 2:239

- Lagrange v. Chouteau*, 12:259
- Laird v. Nelms* (1972), 4:358
- Lake Carriers' Ass'n v. MacMullan* (1972), 8:365
- Lamb v. State* (1887), 11:552n
- Lambert v. Wicklund* (1997), 1:26
- Lambertini v. Lambertini* (1995), 4:227
- Lamb's Chapel v. Center Moriches Union Free School District* (1993), 2:380, 8:287
- Lamplay v. Beavers* (1854), 11:402
- Lancaster v. Buerkle Buick Honda Co.* (1987), 1:161
- Lane v. Vick*, 12:171
- Lane v. Wilson* (1939), 2:200, 5:127–128, 11:44, 394
- Lanzetta v. State of New Jersey* (1939), 11:349, 502, 525
- Lapides v. Board of Regents of the University System of Georgia* (2002), 4:112, 9:257
- Larsen v. General Motors Corp.* (1968), 1:422
- Latham v. Crouse* (1964), 11:286
- Lawrence v. Fox* (1959), 11:395n, 485–486n
- Lawrence v. State* (2001), 11:216
- Lawrence v. Texas* (2003), 6:217–219
 Bowers v. Hardwick (1986), overturning of, 6:245
 cohabitation, 2:474
 critical legal studies, 6:76
 desuetude, 3:420
 gay and lesbian rights, 5:46, 51
 natural law, 7:206
 sex offenses, 9:141, 234
 substantive due process, 9:391
- Lawrence v. Texas* (2003) (documents), 11:163–254
- Le Grange v. Chouteau*, 12:287
- Le Guen v. Gouveneur*, 5:180
- Leach & Co. v. Pierson*, 11:473n
- League of United Latin American Citizens v. Wilson* (1995), 1:219
- Leal v. C.C. Pitts Sand and Gravel, Inc.* (1967), 11:539
- Lebow v. American Trans Air* (1996), 9:130
- Lee v. Kemna* (2002), 4:40
- Lee v. Kiku Restaurant* (1992), 1:205
- Lee v. Weisman* (1992), 1:10, 231–232, 6:227–228, 8:287, 9:250
- Leeke v. Timmerman* (1981), 8:153
- Lefkowitz v. Turley* (1973), 8:111, 9:93
- Legal Services Corporation v. Velazquez* (2001), 10:339
- Legal Tender Cases* (1870), 2:324, 445, 9:374, 375
- Legrand v. Darnall*, 12:188, 286
- Lehew v. Brummell*, 12:340
- Lehman v. Nakshian* (1981), 9:130
- Lehr v. Robinson* (1983), 7:361
- Lekas & Drivas, Inc. v. Goulandris* (1962), 1:118
- Lemon v. Kurtzman* (1971), 2:505–506, 3:134, 4:418, 6:227, 8:284
- Lens Express, Inc. v. Ewald* (1995), 11:189
- Lerand v. Darnall*, 12:280
- Levan v. Capitol Cities/ABC* (1999), 6:300
- Levin v. Harleston* (1992), 2:505
- Levine v. Bayne, Snell & Krause, Ltd.* (2001), 4:233
- Lewis v. Fullerton*, 12:174, 223
- Lewis v. Henley* (1850), 11:101
- Lewis v. State* (1896), 11:194n
- Lewis v. The Greyhound Corp.*, 11:463n
- Lewis v. United States* (1966), 11:527
- Leyra v. Denno* (1954), 11:313n, 314n
- Liberty National Life Insurance Co. v. Weldon*, 11:373
- Licence Tax Cases* (1868), 2:325
- Life & Casualty Co. v. McCray* (1934), 11:401, 430n
- Lilly v. City of Minneapolis* (1995), 2:476
- Lilly v. Commonwealth* (1998), 3:87
- Lilly v. Virginia* (1999), 3:86–87
- Lindsley v. Natural Carbonic Gas Co.*, 11:9
- Liquormart v. Rhode Island* (1996), 6:333–335
- Lisenba v. California* (1941), 11:280n, 320n, 347
- Little Six, Inc. v. United States* (2000), 7:204
- Little v. Sugg*, 11:431
- Liverpool, New York & Philadelphia S.S. Co. v. Commissioners of Emigration* (1885), 11:566
- Livingston Pipe & Tube v. NLRB* (1993), 2:492
- Livingston v. Story*, 12:280
- Local 189, United Papermakers and Paperworkers v. United States* (1969), 10:401
- Local 702, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers v. NLRB* (2000), 6:173–174
- Local 28 of the Sheet Metal Workers' Int'l Assoc. v. EEOC* (1986), 1:152, 153
- Local No. 93, Int'l Ass'n of Firefighters v. City of Cleveland* (1986), 3:104
- Local No. 8-6 v. Missouri* (1960), 11:521
- Lochner v. New York* (1905), 6:359–362
 balancing, 1:453
 Brewer, David Josiah, 2:112
 Brown, Henry Billings, 2:136
 Day, William Rufus, 3:353
 employment law, 4:131
 Footnote 4, 4:444
 Holmes, Oliver Wendell, Jr., 3:462, 5:275, 6:244, 246
 judicial review, 6:57
 Peckham, Rufus Wheeler, 7:412
 Roe v. Wade (1973), 11:545, 567
 substantive due process, 4:38, 9:389
 West Coast Hotel v. Parrish decision, 8:370
- Lockett v. Ohio* (1978), 3:289, 305, 9:93
- Lockhart v. Hoenstine* (1969), 9:61
- Lockport Corporation v. Protect Our Mountain Environment* (1981), 9:366
- Lockeyer v. Andrade* (2003)
 determinate sentences, 3:421, 4:81, 8:251, 9:108, 10:27–31
 proportionality, 3:306, 9:251
- Loeb v. Jennings* (1911), 10:21
- Loewe v. Lawlor* (1908), 6:178
- Lofton v. Kearney* (2001), 5:49, 11:199
- Logwood v. Railroad Co.*, 12:342
- Lombard v. Louisiana*, 11:443n, 451, 460
- Lone Wolf v. Hitchcock* (1903), 7:198
- Lopez v. Davis* (2001), 3:290

Lorain Journal Company v. United States, 11:425, 438
Lorillard Tobacco Corp. v. Reilly (2001), 4:415, 503, 10:48
Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum Commission v. NFL (1984), 9:282, 290
Losee v. Buchanan (1873), 6:244
Lotus Development Corp. v. Borland International (1995), 9:235
Loughborough v. Blake, 12:298
Louis K. Liggett Co. v. Baldridge (1928), 11:172, 231
Louisiana Dock Co. v. NLRB (1990), 2:492
Louisiana ex rel. Francis v. Resweber (1947), 2:179, 3:307
Louisiana ex rel. Gremillion v. N.A.A.C.P. (1961), 11:394, 443n
Louisiana v. Mississippi (1995), 2:88
Louisville, N. O. & T. Ry Co. v. State, 12:341, 342
Louisville & N. R. Co. v. Kentucky, 12:343
Louisville Joint Stock Land Bank v. Radford (1935), 8:394
Lovell v. Griffin (1938), 11:397, 407, 480
Loving v. Virginia (1967) interracial marriages, 5:50, 6:435, 9:416
 Lawrence v. Texas (2003), 11:170–171, 176, 179–180, 200, 202, 224, 230, 252
 Roe v. Wade (1973), 11:501n, 512n, 558, 565
 role of ACLU, 1:249
Lovisi v. Slayton (1977), 11:218n
Lovisi v. Zahradnick (1976), 5:320
Lucas v. South Carolina Coastal Council (1992), 6:189, 199, 10:456
Lujan v. G&G Firesprinklers, Inc. (2000), 4:41
Lujan v. National Wildlife Federation (1990), 10:456
Lunda v. Matthews (1980), 4:171–172
Lunding v. New York Tax Appeals Tribunal (1998), 8:114–115
Lunsford v. Coquillon, 12:174, 281
Luria v. United States (1913), 9:130
Luther v. Borden (1849), 2:444, 3:508, 8:14
Lynch v. Donnelly (1984), 1:231–232, 4:418, 8:284–285, 288
Lyng v. Northwest Indian Cemetery Protection Association (1988), 1:257
Lynum v. State of Illinois (1963), 11:316, 320n, 327n, 337, 347–348
Lyon's Case (1798), 9:81
Lyons v. State of Oklahoma, 11:337

M

Mabee v. White Plains Publishing Co., 11:425, 438
MacPherson v. Buick Motor Co. (1916), 2:244, 6:385, 8:128
Madison v. Ducktown Sulfur, Copper, & Iron Co. (1904), 4:172
Madsen v. Women's Health Centers (1994), 1:22, 23
Maggio, Inc. v. United Farm Workers of America (1991), 2:334
Maguire v. Sandy Mac (1991), 4:309
Maher v. Roe (1977), 8:312, 11:204

Mahoney v. Ashton, 12:172, 174
Mahony v. Township of Hampton (1994), 8:10
Maine v. Moulton (1985), 9:200
Maine v. Thiboutot (1980), 9:61
Mainstream Loudon v. Board of Trustees of the London County Library (1998), 5:454
Maio v. Aetna Inc. (2000), 5:232
Major League Baseball Players Ass'n v. Garvey (2001), 1:241
Malan v. Lewis (1984), 5:162
Malinski v. People of State of New York (1945), 11:313n, 315n, 320n, 327
Mallinckrodt Chemical Works v. Missouri ex rel. Jones, 11:30
Mallory v. United States (1957)
 Bryant, William Benson, 2:154
 McNabb-Mallory rule, 7:23–24
Miranda v. Arizona (1966), 11:276, 279, 280, 288, 289, 290, 319
Malloy v. Hogan (1964)
 Lawrence v. Texas (2003), 11:206
Miranda v. Arizona (1966), 11:276, 284n, 286, 318, 319, 320, 321n, 338, 339n, 345
 self-incrimination, privilege against, 3:80, 7:112, 8:379
Malnychenko v. 84 Lumber Company (1997), 9:151
Mandel v. Hodges (1976), 8:288
Manhattan-Bronx Postal Union v. Gronouski (1965), 4:275
Mann v. Meachem (1996), 7:249
Mannie Joseph, Inc. v. Stewart (1972), 6:195
Mannington Mills v. Congoleum Corp. (1979), 10:329
Manson v. Brathwaite (1977), 6:332, 7:438
Manzaro v. McCann (1988), 8:204
Mapp v. Ohio (1961), 6:424
 Clark, Tom Campbell, 2:417
 Douglas, William Orville, 4:12
 Exclusionary Rule, 4:264, 8:377, 9:42
Miranda v. Arizona (1966), 11:302, 321, 342, 343n, 347
 role of ACLU, 1:249
 self-incrimination, privilege against, 8:379
 Wolf v. Colorado (1949), 7:145
Marbury v. Madison (1803), 6:424–428
 adversary system, 1:138
 cause, 2:275
 Chase, Salmon Portland, 2:324
 English law, 4:152, 154
 federalism, 4:365
Hylton v. United States (1796), influence of, 2:329
 Jefferson, Thomas, reservations of, 6:12
 judicial review, 2:61, 3:122, 132, 4:367, 5:481, 6:57, 389–390, 7:334
 Lee, Charles, representation by, 6:229–230
 Marshall, John, 6:439 power of the judiciary, 7:54, 113 show-cause order, 6:426
Marchant v. Pennsylvania R. Co., 11:52

- Marcum v. McWhorter* (2002), 11:222, 223, 248n
Marcus Brown Holding Co. v. Feldman (1921), 7:117
Marek v. Chesny (1985), 9:63
Maria Louise v. Marot (1835), 12:264, 281
Maria v. Kirby, 12:174
Markman v. Westview Instruments (1996), 9:129
Marley v. Wright (1991), 6:55
Marr v. Putnam Oil Co., 11:367
Marsh v. Chambers (1983), 4:418, 6:228, 8:287
Marshall v. United States, 11:460
Martin County Bank v. Day, 11:367
Martin v. Hunter's Lessee (1816), 6:448–449
 Dred Scott v. Sandford (1857), 12:295
 Story, Joseph, 9:361
 Supremacy Clause, 6:57
 Worcester v. Georgia (1832), 12:420, 421, 435
Martin v. Voinovich (1993), 4:110
Martinez v. Chavez (2001), 4:402
Martinez v. City of Oxnard (2001), 3:83, 7:85
Martinez v. Court of Appeals of California, Fourth Appellate Dist. (2000), 3:287, 9:202
Marvin v. Marvin (1976), 2:474–475, 3:34
Maryland v. Craig (1990), 3:86, 9:142
Massachusetts Board of Retirement v. Murgia (1976), 4:87
Massachusetts v. Leno (1993), 7:219
Masser v. Connolly (1981), 7:347
Masses Publishing Co. v. Patten (1917), 5:183
Massiah v. United States (1964), 6:460
 Miranda v. Arizona (1966), 11:263, 266, 271, 284n, 287, 299, 301, 311n
 right to counsel, 3:80–81, 4:208, 8:359–360
Masson v. New Yorker Magazine, Inc. (1991), 6:304, 8:176
Mathews v. Eldridge (1976), 6:462–463
Mathias v. Worldcom Technologies, Inc. (2002), 9:449
Matsushita Electrical Industrial Co. v. Zenith Radio Corp. (1986), 1:302 Matter of Welfare of D. L. (1992), 2:353
Mattox v. News Syndicate Co. (1949), 11:405n
Maxwell v. Dow, 11:430, 432
Mayflower Farms v. Ten Eyck, 11:41, 53
Mayo v. Lakeland Highlands Canning Co., Inc. (1940), 11:524
Maytag Co. v. Meadows Mfg. Co., 11:373
Mazurek v. Armstrong (1997), 1:26
McBoyle v. United States (1931), 3:278, 12:545
McBride v. Crowell-Collier Pub. Co. (1952), 11:398n
McCabe v. A. T. & S. F. Ry. Co., 11:29–30
McCann v. Babbitz (1970), 11:509n, 511–512
McCardle v. Indianapolis Water Co., 11:83
McCleskey v. Kemp (1987), 2:240–241, 3:294, 4:193, 6:245
McCollum v. Board of Education (1948), 4:148–149
McConnell v. FEC (2003), 4:89–90
McCormick v. Talcott (1858), 5:186
McCoy v. Goldston (1981), 9:130
McCoy v. International Life Insurance Co., 11:360
McCulloch v. Maryland (1819), 7:10–11
 Bank of the United States, 1:464
 Civil Rights cases (1883), citation in, 12:331
 Dred Scott v. Sandford, references to in, 12:172, 173, 254 intergovernmental immunity, 5:431
 judicial review, 6:57
 Martin, Luther, 6:447–448
 Necessary and Proper Clause, 3:94, 128, 7:218
 Pinkney, William, 7:451
 Supremacy Clause, 9:401
 Webster, Daniel, 10:320
 Wirt, William, 10:399
 Worcester v. Georgia (1832), citation in case of, 12:421, 435
McDonald v. Board of Election Commissioners of Chicago (1969), 11:231
McDonald v. Santa Fe Trail Transportation Co. (1976), 4:132
McGann v. H&H Music Co. (1991), 1:71
McGarvey v. Magee-Womens Hospital (1972), 11:540, 561
McGee v. International Life Insurance Company (1957), 11:389, 407, 425, 437, 438n, 439
McGlothlin v. State (1992), 11:171n
McGowan v. Maryland (1961), 1:18, 2:66–67, 11:534
McGrain v. Daugherty (1927), 7:11–13, 10:196
McGuinn v. Forbes, 12:342
McGuire v. Russel Miller, Inc. (1993), 9:130
McGuire v. United States (1927), 11:299
McIlvaine v. Coxe's Lessee (1805), 7:206, 12:273
McIntyre v. Ohio Elections Commission (1995), 7:209
McKane v. Durston (1894), 1:313
McKart v. United States (1969), 4:282
McKeiver v. Pennsylvania (1971), 9:197, 10:397
McKissick v. Carmichael (1951), 11:54
McKnett v. St. Louis & San Francisco Ry. (1934), 11:403n
McKune v. Lile (2002), 6:118
McLaughlin v. Florida (1964), 11:206, 207
McLaurin v. Oklahoma State Regents (1950)
 Brown v. Board of Education (1954), 2:143, 11:5, 9, 10–11, 26–27, 37, 41, 43, 45, 47, 51, 53, 54, 108, 133, 134, 155 college discrimination, 2:499
 equal protection, 4:190–191
McLean v. Merriman (1920), 11:486n
McMartin v. Children's Institute Intern. (1989), 2:349–350
McMicken v. Amos, 12:172
McNabb v. O. S. Bowfin (1983), 8:451
McNabb v. United States (1943)
 McNabb-Mallory rule, 7:23–24
 Miranda v. Arizona (1966), 11:278–279, 283, 286, 319, 319n, 346
McNeal v. Culver (1961), 11:283
McNeilab, Inc. v. American Home Products Corp. (1988), 4:309

- McPherson v. Blacker*, 11:52
Mechling Barge Lines, Inc. v. United States (1961), 11:521
Meech v. Hillhaven West (1989), 4:129
Mefford and Blackburn v. State (1964), 11:265
Mefford v. States (1964), 11:286
Meinhold v. United States Department of Defense (1994), 1:333, 5:47, 11:167n Memoir v. Massachusetts (1966), 7:296–297
Memorial Hospital v. Maricopa County (1974), 8:332
Memphis Community School District v. Stachura (1986), 9:62
Menard v. Aspasia, 12:173
Menominee Tribe v. United States (1968), 4:426
Mercer v. Gilman, 12:174
Meredith v. Fair (1962), 10:401
Meritor Savings Bank v. Vinson (1986), 4:73, 8:275, 9:153–154
Merrick v. Board of Higher Education (1992), 5:49
Merrill v. Navegar, Inc. (1999), 2:100
Merrill v. Navegar, Inc. (2001), 5:166
Merrill v. State (1933), 8:330
Metalclad Corp. v. Mexico (2001), 7:264–265
Metge v. Baehler (1985), 9:31–32
Metro Broadcasting v. F.C.C. (1990), 2:111, 130
Metropolitan Casualty Insurance Co. v. Brownell, 11:9
Metropolitan Sports Facilities Commission v. Minnesota Twins Partnership (2002), 1:497
Metzl v. Leininger (1995), 8:39
Meyer v. Nebraska (1923)
 Lawrence v. Texas (2003), 11:196, 200, 204, 224, 237, 249 parents' rights, 2:368
 Roe v. Wade (1973), 11:501n, 508n, 558, 559, 565
Meyerhofer v. Empire Fire & Marine Insurance Co. (1974), 1:393
Miami Herald v. Brautigam, 11:428
Michael H. v. Gerald D. (1989), 11:200, 201n, 219, 232, 249
Michael M. v. Superior Court (1981), 9:144, 10:412
Michel v. Anderson (1994), 7:269
Michel v. Louisiana, 11:470, 472
Michigan Central R. R. Co. v. Mix (1929), 11:389, 404, 408
Michigan Department of State Police v. Sitz (1990), 1:415–416
Michigan Org for Human Rights v. Kelley (1990), 11:202n
Michigan v. Boomer (2002), 7:299
Michigan v. Hite (1993), 5:497
Michigan v. Sitz (1990), 4:469
Michigan v. Tucker (1974), 7:52–53
Mickens v. Taylor (2002), 1:314, 9:201–202
Middlesex County Ethics Committee v. Garden State Bar Ass'n (1982), 10:330
Miller Bros. Co. v. Maryland (1954), 11:407
Miller v. Albright (1998), 11:228
Miller v. Austin, 12:288
Miller v. Bennett (1949), 11:552n
Miller v. California (1973), 7:72–73
 Burger, Warren Earl, 2:168
 censorship, 2:286, 290
 Comstock Law, 3:69
 freedom of the press, 3:133
 legal standard for pornography, 8:33–36 obscenity, 2:359, 4:415, 7:296, 297, 298, 9:142
 speech, freedom of, 4:501
Miller v. Hennen (1989), 8:255
Miller v. Johnson (1995), 3:462, 5:73–74
Miller v. Nicholls, 12:420
Miller v. Schoene, 11:83
Miller v. United States (1939), 7:176
Miller v. Warden, Maryland Penitentiary (1964), 11:285
Milley v. Smith, 12:287
Milliken v. Bradley (1974), 5:422, 9:22–23
Mills v. Board of Education (1972), 4:72
Mills v. Denny (1954), 11:396n
Milly v. Smith, 12:174
Milner v. Apfel (1998), 11:248
Milwaukee County v. M.E. White Co., 5:15
Milwaukee Publishing Co. v. Burleson, 12:546
Mima Queen and Child v. Hepburn (1813), 4:47
Mincey v. Arizona (1978), 4:473
Mindel v. United States Civil Service Comm'n (1970), 11:510n Minersville School District v. Gobitis (1940)
 flag saluting, 4:431, 434
 Frankfurter, Felix, 4:482–483
 Lawrence v. Texas (2003), 11:205
 Maris, Albert Branson, 6:430
 Stone, Harlan Fiske, 9:356
Minneapolis & St. Louis Railroad v. Bombolis (1916), 9:129
Minneapolis & St. Louis Ry. Co. v. Beckwith, 11:52
Minnesota v. Barber (1890), 11:408
Minnesota v. Carter (1998), 3:286, 4:473, 9:39
Minnesota v. Dickerson (1993), 4:32
Minnesota v. Mille Lacs Band of Chippewa Indians (1999), 7:201
Minnesota v. National Tea Company, 11:424, 435
Minnesota v. Olson (1990), 11:198
Minor v. Happersett (1874), 10:265, 409
Miranda v. Arizona (1966), 7:83, 83–85
 Clark, William Ramsey, 2:418
 custodial interrogation, 3:321, 9:200
 Douglas, William Orville, 4:12
 Fifth Amendment, 4:209, 401
 Friendly, Henry Jacob, 5:5
 Goldberg, Arthur Joseph, 5:105
 interrogations, 3:81–83
 involuntary confessions, 5:474–475
 Lawrence v. Texas (2003), 11:205
 Michigan v. Tucker (1974), 7:52
 Miranda rights, 3:134
 role of ACLU, 1:249

- self-incrimination, 8:111–112, 9:93–94
- waiver of rights, 10:265
- Warren, Earl, 10:296
- Warren Court, 10:293
- White, Byron Raymond, 10:357–358
- Miranda v. Arizona* (1966) (documents), 11:255–352
- Mississippi Band of Choctaw Indians v. Holyfield* (1989), 5:384
- Mississippi Power and Light Company v. Mississippi ex rel. Moore* (1988), 8:60
- Mississippi University for Women v. Hogan* (1982), 9:137, 11:170n, 178, 182, 183, 209
- Mississippi v. Johnson* (1867), 2:324
- Missouri ex rel. Gaines v. Canada* (1938)
 - Brown v. Board of Education* (1954), 11:11, 43, 53, 132–133
 - Butler, Pierce, 2:200
 - college discrimination, 2:499, 4:190, 7:132
 - Houston, Charles Hamilton, 5:301
 - Roberts, Owen Josephus, 8:370
- Missouri Pacific Ry. Co. v. Tucker* (1913), 11:401, 430n
- Missouri v. Holland* (1920), 7:55, 10:95, 12:545
- Missouri v. Jenkins* (1995), 5:422, 9:24
- Missouri v. Walsh* (1986), 11:221
- Mistretta v. United States* (1989), 9:105, 10:181
- Mitchell v. Board of Regents of University of Maryland* (1950), 11:54
- Mitchell v. Commonwealth* (1879), 11:552n
- Mitchell v. Donovan* (1970), 11:509n, 525, 547
- Mitchell v. United States* (1999), 3:287, 9:94, 11:206
- M’Naghten’s Case* (1843), 5:406
- Modinos v. Cyprus* (1993), 11:242
- Molinaro v. New Jersey* (1979), 11:511n
- Mollan v. Torrance*, 12:215, 267, 270
- Molzof v. United States* (1992), 10:1–2
- Monell v. Department of Social Services* (1978), 9:60
- Monitor Patriot Co. v. Roy* (1971), 6:300
- Monk v. City of Birmingham* (1950), 11:52, 146
- Monongahela Navigation Co. v. United States* (1893), 4:124
- Monroe v. Collins*, 12:343, 344
- Monroe v. Douglas*, 12:284
- Monroe v. Pape* (1961), 9:60
- Montalet v. Murray*, 12:177
- Montana v. Kentucky* (1961), 11:561
- Montana v. Rogers* (1960), 11:561
- Montes v. Naismith and Trevino Construction Co.* (1970), 8:196
- Montgomery v. Bevens* (1871), 7:421–422
- Montgomery v. Philadelphia* (1958), 11:396n
- Mooney v. Holohan* (1935), 8:23
- Moore v. American Tobacco* (1994), 10:50
- Moore v. City of East Cleveland* (1977), 9:390, 11:196, 219, 249
- Moore v. Davis* (1929), 11:395n
- Moore v. Illinois* (1852), 2:322
- Moore v. Missouri*, 11:52
- Moore v. Ogilvie* (1969), 11:506, 516, 548
- Moore v. Regents of the University of California* (1990), 7:406
- Moore v. State* (1897), 11:558n
- Moore v. United States* (1964), 9:198
- Moose Lodge v. Irvis* (1972), 9:314, 11:566
- Moran v. Burbine* (1986), 3:81, 7:85
- Moran v. Household International, Inc.* (1985), 8:3
- Moran v. Rush Prudential HMO, Inc.* (2002), 6:413, 7:405–406, 8:60–61
- Morehead v. New York ex rel. Tipaldo* (1936), 2:200, 7:78
- Moretti v. New Jersey* (1968), 11:512n
- Morford v. State*, 11:266
- Morgan, Connor & Waggoner v. CBS, Inc.*, 11:451
- Morgan v. Virginia* (1946)
 - Brown v. Board of Education* (1954), 11:9, 44, 52, 53
 - bus segregation, 5:200, 6:14
 - New York Times Co. v. Sullivan* (1964), 11:443n
- Morin v. Garra* (1969), 11:512n
- Morrison v. Ohio* (2000), 9:359
- Morrison v. Olson* (1988), 4:230, 5:379, 478
- Mount Vernon Woodbury Mills v. Judges*, 11:467n
- Moville v. Merchants & Farmers Bank of Greene County*, 11:370
- Mt. Healthy City Bd. of Ed. v. Doyle* (1977), 1:46
- Mucie v. Missouri* (1970), 11:511n
- Mugler v. Kansas* (1887), 2:377
- Muller v. Oregon* (1908)
 - Brandeis, Louis Dembitz, 2:104, 9:134
 - Brewer, David Josiah, 2:112
 - Brief for the Defendant in Error (Brandeis) (document), 12:494, 518–520
 - Lochner v. New York* (1905), 6:361
- Mullins v. Oregon* (1995), 11:248n
- Mu’Min v. Virginia* (1991), 8:78
- Munn v. Illinois* (1876)
 - Breese, Sidney, 2:109
 - Civil Rights* cases (1883), citation in, 12:325, 327
 - government regulation of monopolies, 4:143, 5:128
 - natural law, 7:208
 - substantive due process, 4:398
 - Waite, Morrison Remick, 10:265
- Munoz v. State* (1926), 11:194n
- Murdock v. City of Memphis* (1875), 7:337, 338, 11:424, 435
- Murphy v. Carter* (1868), 7:119
- Murphy v. Waterfront Comm. of New York Harbor* (1964), 11:318, 319, 320n
- Murray v. Carrier* (1986), 6:394
- Murray v. Curlett* (1962), 1:8
- Murray v. Laborers Union Local No. 324* (1995), 9:131
- Muskopf v. Corning Hospital District* (1961), 10:88
- Muskrat v. United States* (1911), 1:143

N

- NAACP v. Alabama ex rel. Patterson* (1958) freedom of association, 4:493, 494
New York Times Co. v. Sullivan (1964), 11:390, 401, 402, 404, 436n, 443n, 455, 459, 460, 479n
NAACP v. American Arms Inc. (2003), 10:328
NAACP v. Button (1963)
 group legal services, 5:154
New York Times Co. v. Sullivan (1964), 11:386, 387, 391, 394, 397, 400, 409, 435n, 442n, 453, 455, 456, 459, 462n, 480, 481, 482, 493
Roe v. Wade (1973), 11:520
NAACP v. Claiborne Hardware Co. (1982), 4:493
Nally v. Grace Community Church of the Valley (1988), 2:437, 6:411
Nardone v. United States (1939), 5:10, 9:42
Nasco, Inc. v. Calcasieu Television & Radio (1989), 1:402
Nash v. United States, 12:541
Nat v. Ruddell, 12:174, 287
National Cancer Hospital v. Confidential, Inc., 11:424, 434n
National Endowment for the Arts v. Findley (1998), 1:357
National Family Planning & Reproductive Health Ass'n v. Sullivan (1992), 10:315
National Labor Relations Board v. Retail Store Employees, Local 1001 [Safeco] (1980), 9:55
National Labor Relations Board v. Waterman Steamship Corp. (1940), 2:44
National Law Center v. United States Department of Veterans Affairs (1992), 5:278
National League of Cities v. Usery (1976), 8:275, 9:326–327, 461–462
National League of Professional Baseball Clubs v. Federal Baseball Club of Baltimore (1922), 1:495
National Mutual Insurance Co. v. Darden (1992), 5:375
National Mutual Insurance Co. v. Tidewater Transfer Co., 11:565
National Organization for Women v. Scheidler (1994), 1:22
National Safe Deposit Co. v. Stead (1914), 8:41
National Treasury Employees Union v. Von Raab (1989), 8:105
National Union Fire Insurance Co. of Pittsburgh v. Aetna Casualty & Surety Co. (1967), 1:392–393
Naulilaa Case (1928), 8:308
Neal ex rel. Neal v. Fulton County Board of Education (2000), 3:211, 5:353
Neal v. Delaware, 11:48, 12:330, 341, 346
Near v. Minnesota (1931), 7:215–217
 Chaffee, Zechariah, Jr., 2:313–314
 due process, 4:39
 First Amendment, 4:417
 incorporation doctrine, 5:371–372
New York Times Co. v. Sullivan (1964), 11:366, 390, 423, 426–427, 453, 471, 474n, 481n
 prior restraint, 3:133, 4:504, 7:239, 8:85
Nebbia v. New York (1934), 2:198, 6:308
Nebraska Press Association v. Stuart (1976), 2:168–169, 4:505, 5:24, 8:78, 85
Neese v. Southern Ry., 11:424, 430, 431
Neiman-Marcus v. Lait (1952), 11:398n
Neubauer v. Disneyland (1995), 2:255
Nevada v. Hall (1979), 9:257–258
Nevada v. Hicks (2001), 7:199
New Hampshire v. Maine (1976), 2:89
New Hampshire v. Maine (2001), 2:89
New Jersey Steam Nav. Co. v. Merchants' Bank, 12:325, 344
New Jersey v. New York (1994), 2:89
New Jersey v. New York (1998), 7:336
New Jersey v. T.L.O. (1985), 4:69, 9:43
New Mexico ex rel. Ortiz v. Reed (1998), 4:293
New Orleans v. Dukes (1976), 11:169n, 176
New Orleans v. De armas et al., 12:304
New School v. Frohnmayer (1990), 2:288
New State Ice Co. v. Liebmann (1932), 11:225
New York Central Railroad Co. v. White (1917), 7:454
New York ex rel. Bryant v. Zimmerman (1928), 4:494
New York Football Giants, Inc. v. Los Angeles Chargers Football Club, Inc. (1961), 9:269
New York Indians v. United States (1898), 2:377
New York State Club Ass'n v. City of New York (1988), 2:460–461
New York Times Co. v. Sullivan (1964), 7:238–239
 actual malice, 3:133, 10:152
 Brennan, William Joseph, Jr., 2:110
 First Amendment, 4:417, 6:299, 302, 304
 free speech, 4:503
 privacy, 8:101
 public figures, 3:379, 380, 8:169
 public officials, 9:83
 Zenger trial, citing of the, 7:209, 10:454
New York Times Co. v. Sullivan (1964)
 (documents), 11:353–495
New York Times Co. v. United States (1971), 7:239–241
 First Amendment, 2:46, 4:417
 freedom of the press, 4:504–505
 judicial restraint, 2:25
 Pentagon Papers, 10:229–230
 prior restraint, 3:133, 8:85
New York Times Company v. Conner (1961), 11:375, 403n, 410n
New York Times v. Tasini (2001), 3:197, 5:96
New York v. Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (2002), 4:103
New York v. Ferber (1982), 1:452, 2:359, 8:33
New York v. Quarles (1984), 7:53
New York v. United States (1992), 4:363
Newberry v. United States (1921), 10:362
Newdow v. U.S. Congress (2003), 1:232, 2:381, 8:289
Newman v. Alabama (1972), 6:20
Neyens v. Gehl et al. (1944), 5:162
Nichols v. United States (1994), 8:360
Nieman-Marcus v. Lait (1952), 11:424, 434n

Nimis v. St. Paul Turners (1994), 2:236
Nishimura Ekiu v. United States (1892), 5:133
Nixon v. Condon (1932), 2:245, 5:301, 11:9, 449
Nixon v. Fitzgerald (1982), 5:331
Nixon v. Herndon (1927), 6:21, 10:343, 362, 11:53, 449
Nixon v. Shrink Missouri Government PAC (2000), 4:93–94
NLRB v. American National Insurance Co. (1952), 2:492
NLRB v. Beverly Enter.-Mass., Inc. (1999), 2:493
NLRB v. Billion Motors (1983), 2:492
NLRB v. Burns Security Service (1972), 2:491
NLRB v. Curtin Matheson Scientific (1990), 2:491
NLRB v. Emsing's Supermarket (1989), 2:493
NLRB v. Insurance Agents' International Union (1960), 2:492
NLRB v. Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. (1937), 7:255–256
 Hughes, Charles Evans, 5:304
 Roosevelt, Franklin Delano, 7:235, 8:394–395, 396
 Tenth Amendment, 9:461
 Wagner Act (1935), 6:58, 10:262
 yellow dog contracts, 10:447
NLRB v. Katz (1962), 2:493
NLRB v. Parents & Friends of the Specialized Living Center (1989), 2:492–493
NLRB v. Pepsi-Cola Bottling Co. (2001), 2:493
NLRB v. Plainville Ready Mix Concrete Co. (1995), 2:493
NLRB v. Truitt Manufacturing Co. (1956), 2:492
NLRB v. Wooster Division of Borg-Warner Corp. (1958), 2:491, 492
Noah v. State, 11:366
Nold v. Binyon (2001), 5:393
Nollan v. California Coastal Commission (1987), 4:124
Noral v. Hearst Publications, Inc. (1940), 11:398n
Nordlinger v. Hahn (1992), 11:226, 244
Nordyke v. King (2003), 9:52
Norman-Bloodsaw v. Lawrence Berkeley Laboratory (1998), 8:106
Norris v. Alabama (1935)
 African American jurors, 8:52
 Houston, Charles Hamilton, 5:301
 Miranda v. Arizona (1966), 11:388, 397, 398, 432n, 450, 453, 461, 462
Norris v. Ireland (1988), 11:242
North Carolina State Board of Education v. Swann.
 See Swann v. Charlotte-Mecklenburg Board of Education (1971)
North Carolina v. Butler (1979), 3:81
North Carolina v. Rice (1971), 11:218
North Haven Board of Education v. Bell (1982), 6:262
North v. Russell (1976), 9:261
Northeast Bancorp v. Board of Governors (1985), 5:469

Northern Pipeline Construction Co. v. Marathon Pipe Line Co. (1982), 6:261
Northern Securities Co. v. United States (1904), 6:152, 7:45, 12:541
Norton v. Macy (1969), 11:212
Norwest Bank Nebraska v. Tveten (1988), 1:467
Noto v. United States (1961), 4:494, 6:308
Novosel v. Nationwide Insurance Co. (1983), 4:128
NOW v. Operation Rescue (1989), 1:24, 6:163
N.Y. Trans. Auth. v. Beazer (1979), 11:210

O

Oberg v. Allied Van Lines, Inc. (1993), 1:162
O'Brien v. City of Grand Rapids (1994), 5:294
O'Brien v. United States (1968), 4:500
O'Callahan v. Parker (1969), 3:247
O'Connor v. Donaldson (1975), 3:25, 9:62, 11:208
Office of Communication of the United Church of Christ v. FCC (1988), 2:209
Ogden v. Saunders (1827), 10:23, 112, 300
O'Hara v. Davis (1923), 11:403
Ohio Adult Parole Authority v. Woodard (1998), 2:436
Ohio Life Insurance & Trust Co. v. Debolt (1853), 2:275
Ohio v. Robinette (1996), 2:123
Ohler v. United States (2000), 4:257
Ohralik v. Ohio Bar Ass'n (1978), 6:232
Oil, Chemical, & Atomic Workers International Union v. American Cyanamid Co. (1984), 4:388
Oklahoma Packing Co. v. Oklahoma & Elec. Co. (1940), 11:523
Olcese v. Justice's Court (1909), 11:363, 403
Olcott v. Supervisors, 12:325, 344
Old Wayne Mutual Life Ass'n. of Indianapolis v. McDonough, 11:359
Oliveri v. Thompson (1986), 2:420
Oliverson v. West Valley City (1995), 11:223
Olmstead v. United States (1928), 7:312
 Brandeis, Louis Dembitz, 2:104
 Butler, Pierce, 2:198
 Douglas, William Orville, 4:11
 Fourth Amendment, 4:106
 Holmes, Oliver Wendell, Jr., 5:275
 privacy, 8:97
 reading of statutes, 12:546
 Roe v. Wade (1973), 11:326, 558
 wiretapping, 10:397
Oncale v. Sundowner Offshore Services, Inc. et al (1998), 9:151
One, Inc. v. Olesen (1958), 11:212, 488
One Eleven Wines & Liquors, Inc. v. Division of Alcohol Beverage Control (1967), 11:212
Oneida Tribe of Indians v. Wisconsin (1981), 7:203
Oregon v. Ashcroft (2002), 2:381
Oregon v. Elstad (1985), 7:53, 85
Oregon v. Mitchell (1970), 10:135
O'Reilly v. Morse (1854), 5:185
Orloff v. Willoughby, 11:339

O'Rourke v. City of Norman (1989), 4:471
O'Rourke v. RKO Radio Pictures (1942), 7:455
Orr v. Orr (1979), 1:228, 10:411
Osborn v. Bank of the United States (1824), 6:245, 9:256
Osborne v. Ohio (1990), 2:359, 8:33, 11:173–174n, 222
The Osceola (1903), 6:36–37
Osman v. Riley, 12:343
Otis & Co. v. Pennsylvania R. Co. (1945), 2:190–191
Oubre v. Entergy Operations, Inc. (1998), 1:162
Overseas Education Ass'n v. Federal Labor Relations Authority (1989), 2:234
Overstreet v. Canadian Pacific Airlines (1957), 11:408
Owasso Independent School District No. I-011 v. Falvo (2002), 9:28–29
Owen v. Browder (1956), 6:142
Owens v. Okure (1989), 9:63
Owens v. State (1999), 11:248
Oyama v. California, 11:9, 43, 44
Oyler v. Boles (1962), 8:153, 9:88

P

Pacific Gas and Electric Co. v. State Energy Resources Conservation & Development Commission (1983), 8:366
Pacific Mutual Life Insurance v. Haslip (1991), 3:333, 8:190
Pacific States Telephone and Telegraph Co. v. Oregon (1912), 8:316
Pacifica Foundation v. FCC (1977), 9:434, 435
Padilla ex rel. Newman v. Bush (2002), 4:142–143, 5:359–360
Padula v. Webster (1987), 11:168n, 205
Palazzolo v. Rhode Island (2001), 4:403
Palila v. Hawaii Department of Land & Natural Resources (1981), 4:139
Palko v. Connecticut (1937)
 Cardozo, Benjamin N., 2:246, 4:195, 6:78
 Equal Protection Clause, 4:469
 Lawrence v. Texas (2003), 11:217
 Roe v. Wade (1973), 11:558
 unenumerated rights, 1:494, 3:135, 5:372, 9:180
Palmer v. Liggett Group (1987), 10:46
Palmer v. Mulligan (1805), 6:244
Palmore v. Sidoti (1984), 2:353, 11:208–209, 233
Palsgraf v. Long Island Railroad Company (1928), 2:245, 7:353–354
Pan American Petroleum Co. v. Byars, 11:370
Panama Refining Co. v. Ryan (1935), 1:106, 12:545
Pantswowe Zakłady Gradowe v. Automobile Ins. Co. (1928), 11:404
Panuska v. Johnson (1989), 1:467
Papachristou v. City of Jacksonville (1972)
 curfews, 3:314
 vagueness, 5:34, 280, 8:419, 10:192, 244, 404
The Paquete Habana (1900), 7:62
Parham v. J. R. (1979), 2:369
Paris Adult Theatre I v. Slaton (1973), 2:286, 7:72, 73, 11:197
Parker v. Davis (1871), 2:97, 324, 445
 See also Legal Tender Cases (1870)
Parker v. Ellis (1960), 11:521
Parker v. Warden, 11:342n
Parks v. New York Times Company, 11:451, 457, 457n, 471, 472, 474
Parsons v. Age-Herald Pub. Co. (1913), 11:390, 480
Parsons v. Bedford (1830), 9:130
Partin v. Michaels Art Bronze Co. (1953), 11:405
Passamaquoddy Tribe v. Maine (1996), 5:28
Passenger Cases (1849), 10:317, 414
Passley v. State (1942), 11:539
Patsy v. Board of Regents (1982), 4:281–282
Patterson v. Alabama, 11:463
Patterson v. McLean Credit Union (1989), 2:399
Paul Revere Life Insurance Co. v. Haas (1994), 5:370
Paul v. Virginia (1868), 5:414, 12:330
Paulos v. Best Securities, Inc., 11:438n
Paulus v. South Dakota (1924), 9:257
Pavlovich v. Superior Court (2002), 6:70
Paxton's Case (1761). See Writs of Assistance case (1761)
Payne v. Board of Supervisors, 11:54
Payne v. Cave, 6:202, 203
Payne v. State of Arkansas, 11:337
Payne v. Tennessee (1991), 10:221, 11:205–206, 236, 243
Pease v. Peck, 12:288
Peck v. Ryan, 11:471, 473n
Peck v. Tribune Co., 11:433n, 474n
Peik v. Chicago & N. W. Ry. Co., 12:327
Peltier v. Henman (1993), 2:420
Penn Advertising v. City of Baltimore (1994), 10:48
Penn Central Transportation Co. v. New York City (1978), 1:358, 6:199
Penn v. United States (1998), 1:463
Pennekamp v. Florida (1946), 11:387, 390, 392, 397, 398, 400, 423, 428, 432n, 435n, 453, 458, 481, 483, 488
Pennhurst State School & Hospital v. Halderman (1984), 4:110
Pennington v. Pennington (1985), 9:458
Pennington v. Vistron Corp. (1989), 10:46
Pennoyer v. Neff (1877), 6:369, 11:359, 360
Pennsylvania Association of Retarded Children v. Commonwealth of Pennsylvania (1972), 4:72
Pennsylvania Co. for Insurance on Lives & Granting Annuities v. Sun Co. (1927), 4:172
Pennsylvania Coal Co. v. Mahon (1922), 4:124, 403
Pennsylvania v. Finley (1987), 8:361
Pennsylvania v. Nelson (1956), 9:401
Pennsylvania v. Union Gas Co. (1989), 4:110
Pennsylvania v. Wheeling & Belmont Bridge Co. (1852), 5:185
Penry v. Dozier, 11:365
Penry v. Lynaugh (1989)
 cruel and unusual punishment, 1:388, 3:134, 290, 305

- Lawrence v. Texas* (2003), 11:221
 mitigating circumstances, 7:95
 standards of decency, 2:239, 240, 9:343–344
Pentagon Papers case. See New York Times Co. v. United States (1971)
People, ex rel., Cisco v. School Board, 11:24
People by Koppell v. Alamo Rent A Car, Inc. (1994), 1:165
People ex rel. Gallo v. Acuna (1997), 5:34
People ex rel. King v. Gallagher (1883), 11:101
People ex rel. Pratt v. Wheaton College (1866), 5:352
People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals v. Giuliani (2001), 1:280
People v. Agar, 11:266
People v. Anast (1970), 11:513n
People v. Anderson (1972), 3:348
People v. Barksdale (1970), 11:513n
People v. Belous (1969), 11:501, 525, 559
People v. Bonino (1956), 11:316n
People v. Braun (1991), 3:314
People v. Byrne (1917), 2:40
People v. Cahan (1955), 10:88, 11:271–272
People v. Couch (1990), 3:356
People v. Dean, 12:344
People v. Dellinger (1989), 7:141
People v. Dempsey (1993), 9:145–146
People v. Donovan (1963), 11:284, 320n
People v. Dorado (1965), 11:268, 269, 270, 272, 276–277, 285, 300, 310n, 322, 325n, 342n
People v. Du Bont (1965), 11:348n
People v. Farrara (1956), 11:271
People v. Fisher (1957), 11:270
People v. Gallagher, 12:340, 343
People v. Garner (1961), 11:270n, 285
People v. Ghimenti (1965), 11:271
People v. Griffin (1873), 11:174
People v. Gunner (1965), 11:286, 342n
People v. Gwynne (1970), 11:513n
People v. Hartgraves (1964), 11:266, 310n, 342n
People v. Heirens (1995), 4:228
People v. Huntley (1965), 5:318
People v. Kevorkian (1994), 2:470, 4:237, 7:208
People v. King, 12:342
People v. Kriho (1999), 6:84
People v. Levy (1965), 6:138
People v. Lombardi (1967), 6:138
People v. Matlock (1959), 11:313n
People v. Modesto (1965), 11:351
People v. Moroni Green (1856), 7:118
People v. Morris (1971), 7:95
People v. Morse (1964), 11:333n
People v. Nixon (1972), 11:538
People v. Onofre (1980), 11:186n
People v. Owens (1983), 9:267
People v. Portelli (1965), 11:313
People v. Robb (1970), 11:513n
People v. Russell (1994), 9:146
People v. Sanger (1917), 2:40, 8:458
People v. Superior Court (1995), 3:423
People v. Sztuk (1987), 3:314
People v. Vander Heide (1920), 8:42
People v. Wakat (1953), 11:313n
People v. Watson (1956), 11:272, 273
People v. White, 11:286
People v. Witek (1965), 11:323n
Perez v. Ledesma (1971), 11:523, 549
Perkins v. Benguet Mining Co. (1952), 11:389, 404
Perkins v. Lukens Steel Co. (1940), 11:520
Permoli v. New Orleans (1845), 1:494, 12:225, 304
Perpich v. Department of Defense (1990), 7:57, 179
Perrin v. Blake (1770), 8:418
Perry Education Ass'n v. Perry Local Educators' Ass'n (1983), 4:498–499, 6:308, 10:36–37
Perry v. Johnston, 11:471, 473n
Personal Finance Co. of Braddock v. United States (1949), 4:287
Personnel Administrator of Massachusetts v. Feeney (1979), 11:229
Peterson v. City of Greenville (1963), 2:406, 11:443n
Peterson v. Steenerson (1910), 11:396n
Petite v. United States (1960), 4:6
Pettibone v. Nichols (1906), 5:217
Petty v. United States (1984), 5:334
PGA Tour, Inc. v. Martin (2001), 3:439
Phi Delta Theta Fraternity v. Commissioner of Internal Revenue (1989), 6:274
Philadelphia, Wilmington, and Baltimore Railroad Co. v. Philadelphia and Havre de Grace Steam Towboat Co. (1859), 2:66
Philadelphia Cordwainers' case. See Commonwealth v. Pullis (1806)
Philips v. Marietta Corp. (1971), 11:176
Phillips Petroleum Co. v. Shutts (1985), 2:424
Phoebe v. Jay, 12:173
Phoenix Newspapers v. Choisser (1957), 11:395n, 486n, 489
Pickering v. Board Ed. of Township High School Dist. 205, Will Cty. (1968), 1:46
Pierce v. Society of the Sisters of the Holy Names of Jesus and Mary (1925)
Lawrence v. Texas (2003), 11:196, 198, 200, 204, 224, 237
 parents' rights, 9:390
Roe v. Wade (1973), 11:499, 501n, 508n, 559, 565
Pierce v. United States, 11:336, 346
Pierre v. Louisiana, 11:9, 44
Pierson v. Post (1805), 6:350
Pierson v. Ray (1967), 9:61, 62
Pine Hill Co. v. United States, 12:548
Pineda v. Bailey (1965), 9:201
Pinkney v. Pinkney (1967), 5:67
Piquignot v. The Pennsylvania R. R. Co., 12:268
Planned Parenthood Ass'n of Phoenix v. Nelson (1970), 11:512n, 513n Planned Parenthood of Central Missouri v. Danforth (1976), 8:312
Planned Parenthood of Massachusetts v. Bellotti (1983), 2:116

- Planned Parenthood of Southeastern Pennsylvania v. Casey* (1992) abortion rights, 1:20–21
 feminist jurisprudence, 4:374
 Kennedy, Anthony McLeod, 6:117
Lawrence v. Texas (2003), 11:195, 196, 197, 200, 201n, 203, 204, 205, 219, 224, 235–236, 240, 241, 242, 243, 246, 247, 249, 250
 liberty, 6:309
 O'Connor, Sandra Day, 7:303
 reproductive rights, 8:313
 Scalia, Antonin, 9:11
 Souter, David Hackett, 9:250
 Stevens, John Paul, 9:342
 undue burden analysis, 10:322 wife's rights, 5:320
 women's rights, 10:412
- Planned Parenthood of the Columbia/Willamette Inc. v. American Coalition of Life Activists* (2002), 4:500
- Planned Parenthood v. Clark County School District* (1991), 2:289
- Planned Parenthood v. Danforth* (1976), 1:19–20
- Playboy Entertainment Group v. United States* (1996), 4:336–337
- Plessy v. Ferguson* (1896), 7:464–465
 Brown, Henry Billings, role of, 2:136
Brown v. Board of Education, overturning by, 2:142–143, 10:292–293, 295, 386
Brown v. Board of Education (1954), 11:4, 9, 10–11, 22, 24, 25, 26, 37, 40, 41, 47, 48–49, 50–51, 52, 53, 59, 81, 106, 131–135
 equal protection, 4:189
 federalism, 4:363
 Fuller, Melville Weston, 5:16, 18
 Harlan, John Marshall, 5:188, 191
 Jim Crow laws, 2:397, 6:14
Lawrence v. Texas (2003), 11:205, 246
 NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, 5:140
New York Times Co. v. Sullivan (1964), 11:448
 precedent, 8:58
 Rehnquist, William H., 8:274
 separate-but-equal doctrine, 4:70, 76, 6:443, 7:193, 8:212, 9:85, 109, 308
 Shaw, Lemuel, citation, 9:158
 Thirteenth Amendment, 10:19–20
- Plessy v. Ferguson* (1896) (document), 12:337–349
- Plessy v. West Virginia*, 11:50
- Plumley v. Landmark Chevrolet, Inc.*, 11:245
- Plyler v. Doe* (1982), 1:224, 4:194–195, 11:213, 244, 246
- Pocket Veto* case (1929), 7:95
- Pocock v. Hendricks*, 12:174
- Podberesky v. Kirwan* (1994), 2:501
- Poe v. Menghini* (1972), 11:536, 548, 559
- Poe v. Ullman* (1961)
 Harlan, John Marshall, 6:309, 10:305
Lawrence v. Texas (2003), 11:198, 198n, 204, 224
 natural law, 7:208
- Roe v. Wade* (1973), 11:520, 564n, 565
- Pointer v. State of Texas* (1965), 2:45, 11:321
- Polaroid Corp. v. Polara Electronics Corp.* (1961), 4:308
- Poletown Neighborhood Council v. City of Detroit* (1981), 4:125
- Polizzi v. Cowles Magazines, Inc.* (1953), 11:407, 425, 437, 438
- Polk County v. Dodson* (1981), 9:62
- Pollack v. Williams*, 11:449n
- Pollak v. Public Utilities Commission*, 11:426n
- Pollard's Lessee v. Hagan*, 12:173, 225, 235
- Pollock v. Farmers' Loan & Trust Co.* (1895), 8:24–25
 Brown, Henry Billings, 2:136
 Carter, James Coolidge, 2:260
 Choate, Joseph Hodges, 2:378
 Field, Stephen Johnson, 4:398
 Fuller, Melville Weston, 5:17
 Harlan, John Marshall, 5:189
 income tax, 5:362, 9:194
 Jackson, Howell Edmunds, 5:489, 490
 judicial review, 6:57
 Shiras, George, Jr., 9:179
 White, Edward Douglass, 10:361
- Pomer v. Schoolman* (1989), 4:372
- Ponder v. Cobb* (1962), 11:395n, 485n, 491n
- Pope v. Illinois* (1987), 7:297
- Port Authority v. Harstad* (1995), 4:229
- Portugal v. German* (1928), 8:308
- Portuondo v. Agard* (2000), 3:287
- Posadas de Puerto Rico Associates v. Tourism Co. of Puerto Rico* (1986), 6:334–335
- Post Publishing Company v. Hallam* (1893), 11:423, 428, 485
- Post v. State* (1986), 11:194n, 240
- Postal Telegraph Cable Co. v. City of Newport, Ky.*, 11:458
- Potter v. Murray City* (1985), 11:174n
- Pottinger v. City of Miami* (1991), 5:280
- Powell v. Alabama* (1932), 8:49–8:52
 Butler, Pierce, 2:199
 incorporation doctrine, 5:372
Miranda v. Arizona (1966), 11:276, 277, 278, 279–280, 282, 283, 286–287, 287, 291
 Pollak, Walter Heilprin, 8:22, 23
 right to counsel, 8:358
Roe v. Wade (1973), 11:501n
 Sutherland, George, 9:419
- Powell v. McCormack* (1969), 8:15, 48, 11:524
- Powell v. Pennsylvania* (1888), 7:206, 207
- Powell v. State* (1998), 11:202, 223n, 242
- Powell v. Texas* (1968), 8:377
- Power v. State*, 11:260
- Powers v. Ohio* (1991), 6:82, 7:426
- Powers v. United States*, 11:338, 345, 346
- Prescoe v. State* (1963), 11:286n
- Presser v. Illinois* (1886), 3:134, 9:49–50, 51
- Priestly v. Fowler* (1837), 4:371, 10:419

Prigg v. Pennsylvania (1842), 8:81–8:82
 Civil Rights cases (1883), 12:331
Dred Scott v. Sandford (1857), 12:249, 295, 299
 states' rights, 9:326
 Story, Joseph, 9:362
Prince v. Commonwealth of Massachusetts (1944), 11:501n, 508n, 526n, 558–559, 565
Prindle v. State (1893), 11:169, 194n, 230
Printz v. United States (1997), 4:363, 5:165
 Prize cases (1862 & 1863), 2:445, 5:148, 8:74,
 10:172
Procunier v. Martinez (1974), 2:285, 8:93
Procunier v. Navarette (1978), 9:62
Prosser v. Callis et al., 11:367
Provenzano v. Moore (1999), 2:240
Providence Bank v. Billings (1830), 10:124
Providence Construction Company v. Bauer (1997), 9:367
Provident Life and Accident Insurance v. Williams
 (1994), 9:130
Pruett v. State (1970), 11:183, 230
Prune Yard Shopping Center v. Robins (1980), 3:136
Public Citizen v. Department of Transportation
 (2003), 1:326
Public Citizen v. United States Trade Representative (1993), 7:264
Public Employees Retirement System of Ohio v. Betts (1989), 1:161
Public Service Commission of Utah v. Wycoff
Company (1952), 11:520, 525
Pugh v. Locke (1976), 6:20
Pulliam v. Allen (1984), 3:78, 6:54–55
Purvis v. State (1979), 1:134
Putnam v. Triangle Publications, Inc. (1957), 11:405
Puyallup I (1968), 7:200
Puyallup II (1973), 7:200
Puyallup II (1976), 7:200

Q

Quaker City Cab Co. v. Pennsylvania, 11:41, 53
Quarles v. Philip Morris (1968), 5:259–260
Quern v. Jordan (1979), 4:110
Quill Corp. v. North Dakota (1992), 8:450, 9:444
Quill v. Vacco (1996), 7:208, 407
Quilloin v. Walcott (1978), 2:354
Quincy Cable TV v. FCC (1985), 2:128, 209
Quinn v. United States (1955), 11:318n

R

Rachel v. Walker, 12:173, 174, 259, 282, 287
Raffles v. Wichelhaus (1864), 1:243
Railroad Co. v. Benson, 12:342
Railroad Co. v. Brown, 11:49, 50, 12:341
Railroad Co. v. Husen, 12:343
Railroad Co. v. Wells, 12:342
Railroad Co. v. Williams, 12:342
Railroad Commission of Texas v. Pullman Co.
 (1941), 1:34–35

Railroad Retirement Board v. Alton R.R. Co. (1935), 8:225
Railroad v. Miles, 12:342
Railway Express Agency v. New York (1949), 11:214, 246
Railway Mail Association v. Corsi, 11:9, 45, 101
Raines v. Byrd (1997), 10:214–215
Raines v. Byrd (2002), 8:72
Rains v. Becton, Dickinson & Co. (1994), 2:235
Rakas v. Illinois (1978), 9:40
Raleigh Fitkin-Paul Morgan Memorial Hospital v.
Anderson (1964), 11:527
Ralph v. Duncan, 12:287
Ramey v. United States (1964), 11:265
Randall v. Brigham (1868), 6:53
Random House v. Gold (1979), 8:177
Rankin v. Lydia, 12:174, 227, 250, 265, 281
Rappaport v. Nichols (1959), 1:205
R.A.V. v. City of St. Paul (1992), 4:500–501, 5:204,
 10:143
Ray v. Atlantic Richfield Co., 4:178
Ray v. Fairfax County Trust Company, 11:436n
Read v. Bertrand, 12:173
Rearick v. Pennsylvania (1906), 11:406
Reck v. Pate, 11:337
Red Lion Broadcasting Co. v. Federal Communications Commission (1969), 2:126, 210,
 4:306
Red River Valley Pub. Co., Inc. v. Bridges, 11:367
Reed v. Reed (1971), 2:352, 5:8, 9:135, 10:441, 11:176
Reetz v. Bozanich (1970), 11:500
Reeves v. Alabama, 11:468n
Reeves v. State, 11:370
Reg v. Ramasamy (1965), 11:343
Regents of the University of California v. Bakke (1978), 8:269–270
 affirmative action, 1:152–153, 156–157, 2:500– 501 civil rights, 2:399
 education law, 4:71
 equal protection, 4:193
 legal ethics, 4:231
 Marshall, Thurgood, 6:444
 NAACP, 7:156
 Powell, Lewis Franklin, Jr., 8:49
 split decision, 9:279
Regina v. 3 L.R.-Q.B. (1868), 7:72
Regina v. Hicklin (1868), 8:410
Regina v. Hicklin (1957), 7:72, 296
Regina v. Scott, Dears. & Bell (1940), 11:345
Reich v. A. Reich & Sons Gardens, Inc. (1972), 10:420
Reid v. Covert (1957), 5:306
Reilly v. Curtiss, 11:424, 434n
Reiser v. Stone (1992), 7:346
Reno v. American Civil Liberties Union (1997)
 obscenity or pornography, 2:130, 290, 5:453, 454, 6:458, 7:297–298, 8:33–34, 9:142 political email, 10:37

- telecommunications industry, 9:451
- Reno v. Arab Anti-discrimination Committee* (1999), 1:214
- Reno v. Bossier Parish School Board* (2000), 10:253
- Reno v. Condon* (2000), 8:107
- Reno v. Flores* (1993), 11:217, 219, 249
- Republican Party of Minnesota v. White* (2002), 2:468, 4:413–414
- Republican Party of Texas v. Dietz* (1997), 11:188
- Reves v. Ernst & Young* (1993), 8:219
- Revlon v. MacAndrews & Forbes Holdings* (1985), 2:191
- Rex v. Bourne* (1939), 11:552–553
- Rex v. Ivens*, 12:326–327
- Reyes v. Wyeth Laboratories* (1974), 5:333
- Reynolds v. Board of Education*, 11:24, 25
- Reynolds v. Pegler*, 11:423–424, 430, 433n
- Reynolds v. Sims* (1964), 8:349–351
 equal protection, 4:196, 10:252 state legislature apportionment, 1:319, 320, 5:72–73, 7:316
 Warren court, 10:293
- Reynolds v. United States* (1878), 3:133, 7:119, 8:27, 289, 11:526n
- Rhodes v. Bell*, 12:265
- Ribnik v. McBride* (1928), 2:198
- Rice v. Elmore* (1947), 11:44
- Rich v. Secretary of the Army* (1984), 11:227n
- Richards v. Wisconsin* (1997), 4:475, 9:43
- Richardson v. Belcher* (1971), 11:177
- Richardson v. McKnight* (1997), 9:62
- Richenberg v. Cohen* (1997), 11:227n
- Richenberg v. Perry* (1996), 11:227n
- Richmond Newspapers v. Virginia* (1980), 8:78
- Richmond Tenants Organization v. Kemp* (1992), 6:197
- Richmond v. J. A. Croson Co.* (1989). See City of Richmond v. J. A. Croson Co. (1989)
- Riggins v. Nevada* (1992), 5:408
- Riggs v. Palmer* (1889), 6:246
- Rinaldi v. Yeager* (1966), 11:207
- Ring v. Arizona* (2002), 3:289
- Ripps v. Herrington*, 11:439
- Ritchburg v. Winchendon*, 12:284
- Rivas v. Brattesani* (1996), 9:130
- Rivera v. Minnich* (1987), 8:68
- Rizzo v. Goode* (1976), 8:275
- Robbins v. California* (1981), 1:414
- Roberts v. City of Boston* (1849), 9:158, 11:24, 62–63, 133n, 12:340
- Roberts v. Galen of Virginia, Inc.* (1999), 5:225
- Roberts v. Superior Court* (1916), 11:363, 403
- Roberts v. United States* (1980), 7:87
- Roberts v. United States Jaycees* (1984), 2:460, 4:494, 8:371–372, 11:197, 222
- Robinson and Wife v. Memphis & Charleston R. Co.* (1883). See Civil Rights cases (1883)
- Robinson v. California* (1962), 3:306–307, 5:18, 8:376–378, 11:401, 430n
- Robinson v. Jacksonville Shipyards* (1991), 9:154
- Robinson v. Shell Oil Co.* (1997), 4:133
- Robinson v. United States*, 11:526
- Rochen v. Ward*, 12:542
- Rochin v. California* (1952), 8:378–379
 due process, 4:156, 7:209
 Lawrence v. Texas (2003), 11:197, 200, 224
 shock-the-conscience test, 9:179, 10:143
- Rock-Tenn Co. v. NLRB* (1995), 2:491
- Rock v. Pate* (1961), 11:283n
- Rockeller v. Catholic Medical Center* (1970), 11:509n
- Roe v. Flores-Ortega* (2000), 1:314, 3:287, 9:201
- Roe v. Wade* (1973), 8:381–385
 ACLU involvement, 1:249–250
 balancing, 1:453
 Blackmun, Harry Andrew, 2:57, 58
 Bork, Robert Heron, 2:82
 Burger, Warren Earl, 2:168
 call to overturn, 9:402
 Douglas, William Orville, 4:12
 Equal Rights Amendment, effect on ratification of, 10:409
 feminism, 4:374
 fetal rights, 4:385
 fetal tissue research, 4:390
 Ginsburg, Ruth Bader, 5:96 impact of, 1:15–17, 19
 judicial review, 6:58
 justiciability, 6:93
 Kennedy, Anthony McLeod, 6:117
 Lawrence v. Texas, as applicable to, 6:218
 Lawrence v. Texas (2003), 11:196, 230, 238, 246, 247, 248, 250
 legal ethics, 4:231
 liberty, 6:308–309
 moral law, 7:115
 narrowing of, 10:321, 322
 natural law, 7:208
 Ninth Amendment, 7:249–250
 O'Connor, Sandra Day, 7:303
 other abortion cases, 1:21–23
 privacy, 4:470, 495, 8:98, 311–313
 pro-choice groups, 7:163
 pro-life groups, 7:188–189
 Rehnquist, William Hubbs, 8:274, 276
 Scalia, Antonin, 9:9
 Souter, David Hackett, 9:250
 split decision, 9:279
 stare decisis, 9:308
 state interests, 9:320
 Stevens, John Paul, 9:342
 Stewart, Potter, 9:347
 strict scrutiny, 9:371
 substantive due process, 3:135, 4:39, 9:390 views of opposing sides, 1:14
 Warren Court's influence on, 10:294, 296
 Wattleton, Alyce Faye, concerns of, 10:315
 Weddington, Sarah Ragle, 10:323–324 welfare of fetus, 7:360
 White, Byron Raymond, 10:358

- women's rights, 10:412, 12:393
 wrongful birth, 10:432
Roe v. Wade (1973) (documents), 11:497–568
Roemer v. Retail Credit Co. (1975), 7:95
Rogers v. Alabama, 11:463
Rogers v. Bradley (1995), 11:175
Rogers v. Richmond (1961), 9:94, 11:320n, 327, 327n
Rogers v. Tennessee (2001), 4:260
Rogers v. United States (1951), 11:324n
Roland v. State, 11:461
Romer v. Evans (1996), 8:389–390
 Breyer, Stephen G., 2:116
 civil rights, 2:400
 equal protection, 3:136, 4:195, 470, 5:49
 Kennedy, Anthony McLeod, 6:117
 Lawrence v. Texas (2003), 11:168–169, 180, 183n, 184–185, 193, 198, 205, 206, 207, 208, 209, 210, 211, 212, 213, 226n, 227, 232–233, 232–234, 236, 241, 242, 244, 245, 246, 247, 253
 Scalia, Antonin, 9:11
 Souter, David Hackett, 9:250
Rose v. Locke (1975), 9:144
Rosen v. Louisiana State Board of Medical Examiners (1970), 11:526, 559
Rosenberg v. United States (1953), 4:11
Rosenberger v. Rector and Visitors of the University of Virginia (1995), 2:380–381, 506, 8:287
Rosenblatt v. Baer (1966), 6:299
Ross v. Creighton University (1992), 9:286
Ross v. Moffitt (1974), 1:314
Ross v. Texas, 11:450
Rostker v. Goldberg (1981), 3:103, 8:408–409, 9:136–137, 342, 10:412
Roth v. United States (1957), 8:409–410
 Black, Hugo Lafayette, 2:45
 community standards of decency, 7:72, 296, 8:31
 New York Times Co. v. Sullivan (1964), 11:387, 390, 391, 423, 426, 452, 471, 474n, 481, 492n
Rothner v. City of Chicago (1989), 7:249
Roviaro v. United States (1957), 9:200
Rovinsky v. McKaskle (1984), 9:197
Rowan v. Runnels, 12:288
Rowe v. Burton (1994), 4:261
Rowe v. Commonwealth, 11:342
Rowles v. Board of Education (1907), 11:7, 23
Roysdon v. R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. (1988), 10:46
Rubin v. Coors Brewing Co. (1995), 1:208
Ruckelshaus v. Monsanto (1984), 8:366
Ruiz v. Hull (1998), 4:160
Runyan v. National Cash Register Corp. (1986), 1:161–162
Ruotolo v. Madison Inland Wetlands Agency (1993), 1:175
Rust v. Sullivan (1991), 1:19, 2:285, 8:313, 9:249, 342
Ryan v. Specter (1970), 11:513n
Rylands v. Fletcher (1868), 8:432–433
- S
Sable Communications of California, Inc. v. Federal Communications Commission (1989), 7:297
Sabre v. Rutland Railroad Co. (1912), 9:3
Saenz v. Roe (1999), 8:115, 10:338–339
Sail'er Inn, Inc. v. Kirby (1971), 11:176
Salinger v. Cowles (1923), 11:395n, 486n
Salinger v. Random House (1987), 3:198, 6:337–339
Saltany v. Regan (1989), 2:419
Salvatore v. State of Florida (1979), 7:92
Samuels v. Mackell (1971), 8:383, 11:523–524, 524, 544, 548–549
San Antonio Independent School District v. Rodriguez (1973), 4:75–76, 6:444, 11:213
San Mateo County v. Southern Pacific (1885), 3:100
Sanders Associates, Inc. v. Galion Iron Works, 11:438n
Sandoval v. Alexander (2001), 4:161
Sansone v. United States (1965), 9:440
Santa Clara County v. Southern Pacific Railroad Company (1886), 3:100, 8:459–450
Santa Fe Independent School District v. Doe (2000), 1:9–10, 4:150, 8:287
Santosky v. Kramer (1982), 2:354, 8:68
Sarwan Singh v. State of Punjab (1957), 11:331n
Saucier v. Katz (2001), 5:331, 8:7
Savage v. Sun Life Assurance Co. (1944), 7:62
Sawyer v. City of Mobile, Alabama, 11:463n
Sayles v. Piccadilly Cafeterias, Inc. (1991), 8:335
Scales v. United States (1961), 4:494, 6:308
Schall v. Martin (1984), 8:80
Schechter Poultry Corp. v. United States (1935), 9:12–13
 McReynolds, James Clark, 7:25
 minimum wage, 7:78
 National Industrial Recovery Act (1933), 1:106, 300, 5:304, 7:183–184, 187, 234, 10:263
 Reed, Stanley Forman, 8:262
 separation of powers, 1:102, 8:394, 396
 Sutherland, George, 9:419
 Van Devanter, Willis, 10:196
Scheidler v. Nat'l Organization for Women, Inc. (2003), 1:15
Scheidler v. NOW & Operation Rescue v. NOW (2003), 1:25, 8:220–221
Schenck v. Pro-Choice Network of Western New York (1997), 1:25, 8:310
Schenck v. United States (1919), 9:13–14
 Abrams v. United States (1919), 1:27–29
 Chaffee, Zechariah, Jr., 2:313
 clear and present danger, 2:431
 Communist Party cases, 3:44
 education law, 4:67
 Espionage Act (1917), 4:214
 Footnote 4, 4:444
 free speech, 4:498
 New York Times Co. v. Sullivan (1964), 11:395
 sedition, 9:81, 82
 treason, 10:89
Schenectady Union Pub. Co. v. Sweeney, 11:481

- Scheuer v. Rhodes* (1974), 6:128–129, 446, 9:62, 257
Schick v. Reed (1974), 7:355
Schine Chain Theaters v. United States, 11:142
Schleifer v. City of Charlottesville (1998), 3:313
Schlesinger v. Ballard (1975), 11:228
Schlinkert v. Henderson (1951), 11:396n
Schmerber v. California (1966), 5:67, 6:331, 9:146, 11:527n
Schmidt v. Espy (1993), 1:174
Schmidt v. Esquire (1954), 11:405
Schmuck v. United States (1989), 6:397
Schneck v. United States (1919), 5:275
Schneider v. State (1939), 11:397, 453, 455n, 480, 484
School Board v. Arline (1987), 3:435
School Board v. Beckett (1958), 5:271
School District of the City of Grand Rapids v. Ball (1985), 9:30
The Schooner Exchange v. M'Faddon (1812), 5:329, 9:258
Schowengerdt v. United States (1991), 11:248n
Schultz v. United States (1965), 11:328
Schware v. Board of Bar Examiners (1957), 4:494, 11:565
Scopes v. State (1927), 1:249, 249, 459, 3:341, 9:36–37
 See also State v. Scopes (1925)
Scott v. Illinois (1979), 3:286, 5:78–79, 9:201
Scott v. Sandford. See Dred Scott v. Sandford (1857)
Screven County v. Brier Creek Hunting & Fishing Club (1953), 7:210
Screws v. United States, 11:446n
Scripto Inc. v. Carson, Sheriff, et al. (1960), 11:362, 389, 407, 422, 425, 437, 438, 439
Seaboard Air Line Ry. v. Hubbard (1904), 11:402, 436n
Searl v. School District No. 2 of Lake County (1890), 4:125
Searle v. Wyndham International, Inc. (2002), 5:132
Seattle-First National Bank v. Rankin (1962), 11:527
SEC v. Medical Committee for Human Rights (1972), 11:548
SEC v. Texas Gulf Sulphur (1968), 9:72
Securities & Exchange Commission v. Milken (1990), 2:79
Securities & Exchange Commission v. National Securities, 7:4
Securities Exch. Comm. v. U. S. R. and Imp. Co., 11:129
Sedima S.P.R.L. v. Imrex Co. (1985), 8:220
Seepe v. Department of Navy (1975), 7:58
Seidenberg v. McSorleys' Old Ale House, Inc. (1970), 11:176
Selective Draft cases (1918), 3:102–103, 10:21
Selective Service System v. Minnesota Public Interest Research Group (1984), 9:244
Seling v. Young (2001), 9:146
Sell v. United States (2003), 5:368
Seminole Tribe of Florida v. Butterworth (1981), 7:203
Seminole Tribe of Florida v. Florida (1996), 2:116, 4:110, 112, 364, 9:256, 11:204–205
Sere v. Pito, 12:292
Service Parking Corp. v. Washington Times Co. (1937), 11:398n
Sessoms Grocery Co. v. International Sugar Feed Company (1914), 11:402, 436n Settlemeyer v. Wilmington Veterans Post No. 49 (1984), 1:205
Seven Dirty Words case. See Pacifica Foundation v. FCC (1977)
Shabazz v. Scurr (1987), 7:315
Shafer v. South Carolina (2001), 3:289
Shaffer v. Heitner (1977), 8:198
Shaffer v. Schlesinger (1976), 7:346
Shahar v. Bowers (1997), 11:210n
Shanks v. Dupont, 12:273
Shapero v. Kentucky Bar Ass'n (1988), 6:232–233
Shapiro v. Grinspoon (1989), 6:333
Shapiro v. Thompson (1969), 4:195, 8:331–332, 10:339, 11:560, 565
Sharif v. New York State Education Department (1989), 2:502
Shaw v. Garrison (1968), 11:523
Shaw v. Hunt (1996), 3:74, 9:158–160, 10:252, 255, 12:384
Shaw v. Murphy (1969), 5:497
Shaw v. Murphy (2001), 8:94
Shaw v. Reno (1993), 5:73–74, 9:159, 11:166
Shaw v. State (1914), 11:521, 558n
Sheffield v. Ratcliff (1615), 4:153, 154
Shelley v. Clark, 11:470
Shelley v. Kraemer (1948)
 Bork, Robert Heron, 2:82
 Brown v. Board of Education (1954), 11:9, 41, 43, 51, 64
 Miller, Samuel Freeman, 7:70
 New York Times Co. v. Sullivan (1964), 11:390, 450, 451, 462 racially discriminating covenants, 3:256, 5:301, 6:14, 8:341, 9:314
 Vaughn, George L., 10:200
Shelley's Case (1581), 8:417–418
Shelton v. Tucker (1960), 3:25, 6:226, 11:395, 401, 409, 455
Shepherd v. Florida, 11:9, 44, 450, 460
Shepherd v. Graves (1852), 12:170, 241, 268, 280
Sheppard v. Maxwell (1965, 1966), 1:442, 5:24, 8:78, 9:162–163
Sherbert v. Verner (1963), 8:292, 11:560
Sherman v. Community Consol. School District (1992), 1:231
Shimp v. New Jersey Bell Telephone (1976), 9:408
Shively v. Board of Medical Examiners (1968), 11:512n
Shotwell Mfg. Co. v. United States, 11:336, 345
Shuttlesworth v. City of Birmingham, 11:443n
Shuttlesworth v. Gaylord, 11:463n
Sick Chicken case (1935). See Schechter Poultry Corp. v. United States (1935)

- Siegel v. Lepore* (2000), 5:399
- Sierra Club v. Kenney* (1981), 2:235
- Sierra Club v. Morton* (1972), 9:301, 11:547, 566
- Sierra Club v. Yeutter* (1991), 4:139
- Sillars v. Collier*, 11:453
- Silver v. New York Central Railroad* (1952), 5:234
- Silver v. Silver* (1929), 5:162
- Silverman v. Roth* (1959), 10:421
- Silverthorne Lumber Co. v. United States* (1920), 5:9–10, 11:312
- Simon and Schuster, Inc. v. New York Victims Crime Board* (1991), 9:244–245, 10:221
- Simpson v. Shepard* (1913), 5:304
- Sims v. Hundley*, 12:170
- Singer v. General Motors Corp.* (1943), 8:20
- Singer v. United States* (1965), 6:80
- Sioux Nation v. United States* (1979), 9:246
- Sioux Remedy Co. v. Cope* (1914), 11:408
- Sipuel v. Board of Education*, 11:9, 11, 53, 108, 132–133, 140, 155
- Skinner v. Oklahoma* (1942)
- Brown v. Board of Education* (1954), 11:9, 41, 53
- Lawrence v. Texas* (2003), 11:224
- Roe v. Wade* (1973), 11:501n, 509n, 512n, 534n, 558, 565
- sterilization, 2:161, 4:79, 9:340
- Skywalker Records v. Navarro* (1990), 2:287
- Slaughter-House Cases* (1873)
- Bradwell v. Illinois* (1872), 12:402
- Brown v. Board of Education* (1954), 11:42, 47–48, 50, 87, 88, 90, 133n
- Chase, Salmon Portland, 2:325
- Civil Rights cases (1883), 12:328, 330
- Clifford, Nathan, 2:446
- due process, 2:98, 3:100
- Field, Stephen Johnson, 4:398
- incorporation doctrine, 5:371
- Miller, Samuel Freeman, 7:70–71
- monopolies, 2:225
- New York Times Co. v. Sullivan* (1964), 9:448n
- Plessy v. Ferguson* (1896), 12:339, 340
- Privileges and Immunities Clause, 4:188, 470, 8:114
- Reconstruction, 8:254
- The Slave Grace*, 12:174, 212, 213, 281
- Sloss-Sheffield Co. v. Sharp*, 11:471, 473n
- Smith v. Allwright* (1944)
- Brown v. Board of Education* (1954), 11:9, 44, 51, 155
- Hastie, William Henry, 5:200
- New York Times Co. v. Sullivan* (1964), 11:449, 450
- primary election discrimination, 6:14, 9:314, 356, 10:251, 343, 362
- Reed, Stanley Forman, 8:263
- Smith v. Cahoon*, 11:41, 53
- Smith v. California* (1959)
- libel law, 5:455
- New York Times Co. v. Sullivan* (1964), 11:396, 397, 401, 408, 480, 485, 492n
- Smith v. Directors of Independent Schools Dist.* (1875), 11:105
- Smith v. Doe* (2003), 7:38, 9:141, 11:242
- Smith v. Gaffard* (1856), 11:552n
- Smith v. Goguen* (1974), 10:14
- Smith v. Kernochen*, 12:170
- Smith v. Lockyer* (1991), 9:200
- Smith v. Maryland* (1979), 6:396, 7:413–414
- Smith v. Robbins* (2000), 9:201
- Smith v. Smith*, 12:265, 281
- Smith v. Smith* (1989), 2:353
- Smith v. State* (1829), 2:274
- Smith v. State* (1851), 11:552n
- Smith v. State* (1949), 11:558n
- Smith v. State* (1999), 11:168n
- Smith v. Texas*, 11:450
- Smith v. University of Washington, Law School* (2000), 4:194
- Smith v. Van Gorkom* (1985), 2:191
- Smith v. Wade* (1983), 9:62
- Smyth v. Ames* (1898), 2:260
- Smyth v. Twin State Improvement Corporation*, 11:438n
- Sniadatch v. Family Finances Corp. of Bay View* (1969), 5:39
- Snider v. Consolidation Coal Co.* (1992), 9:130
- Snively v. Record Publishing Co.* (1921), 11:486n
- Snyder v. Massachusetts* (1934), 11:219, 341n, 501n, 567
- Sojourner v. Edwards* (1992), 1:21
- Solem v. Helm* (1983), 3:305, 421, 7:209, 10:30
- Soliman v. Digital Equipment Corp.* (1994), 1:162
- Solorio v. United States* (1987), 3:247, 7:61
- Somerset's Case* (1772), 6:421
- Sony Corp. of America v. Universal City Studios* (1984), 9:246–248
- Soon Hing v. Crowley* (1885), 2:66
- Sosna v. Iowa* (1975), 8:333
- South Carolina v. Baker* (1988), 2:378
- South Carolina v. Katzenbach* (1966), 10:251, 254, 12:384
- South Chicago Coal & Dock Co. v. Bassett* (1940), 6:37
- South Dakota v. Dole* (1987), 5:62, 9:276
- South Dakota v. Opperman* (1976), 1:414
- South v. Peters*, 11:43
- Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph Co. v. Hamm* (1991), 7:415
- Southern Pac. Co. v. Guthrie* (1951), 11:401
- Southern Pacific Co. v. Arizona* (1945), 3:3, 11:408
- Southern Pacific Co. v. Board of Railroad Commissioners* (1896), 7:18
- Southern Pacific Terminal Co. v. ICC* (1911), 11:548
- Southern Ry. Co. v. Blackwell*, 11:467n
- Southern Ry. v. Bennett*, 11:430
- Southwest Forest Industry v. NLRB* (1988), 2:493
- Sovereign Camp, W. O. W. v. Sirten*, 11:370
- Spakes v. States* (1996), 7:219
- Spalding v. Vilas* (1896), 5:330
- Spallone v. United States* (1990), 9:84

- Spanel v. Pegler* (1949), 11:433n
- Spano v. New York* (1959), 11:264, 277, 283n, 301, 315n, 320n, 337n
- Sparf and Hansen v. United States* (1895), 6:84, 11:345
- Spears v. State* (1972), 11:559
- Speiser v. Randall* (1958)
loyalty oaths, 6:378
New York Times Co. v. Sullivan (1964), 11:391, 395, 396, 401, 408, 433n, 482, 485, 488, 492n
- Spence v. Washington* (1974), 4:416, 9:425, 10:14
- Spencer v. Dennis*, 12:172, 264
- Spencer v. Kemna* (1998), 7:372
- Spielman Motor Sales Co. Inc., v. Dodge*, 11:524
- Spies v. People* (1887), 5:212
- Spies v. United States* (1943), 9:439–440
- Spigarolo v. Meachum* (1991), 9:199
- Spinally Motor Sales Co., Inc. v. Dodge* (1935), 11:523
- Spivey v. State of Georgia* (2001), 3:306
- Spooner v. McConnell*, 12:173
- Spotts v. Gillaspie*, 12:171
- Spragg v. Mary*, 12:174
- Sprague v. State* (1979), 2:235
- Springer v. United States* (1881), 9:423
- Spry v. Pruitt*, 11:431
- St. Louis, etc., Ry. Co. v. Craft*, 11:430
- St. Louis, I. Mt. & So. Ry. Co. v. Williams* (1919), 11:401, 430n
- St. Louis-San Francisco Ry. v. Middlekamp*, 12:544
- St. Mary's Oil Engine Co. v. Jackson Ice and Fuel Co.* (1931), 11:402, 403, 436n
- Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey v. United States* (1911)
Brown v. Board of Education (1954), 11:142
Lurton, Horace Harmon, 6:380
Sherman Anti-Trust Act (1890), 1:299, 7:45, 9:167
White, Edward Douglass, 10:361
Wickersham, Geroge Woodward, 10:371
- Standard Oil v. United States* (1910), 9:231
- Standing Committee on Discipline v. Yagman* (1994), 2:420
- Stanford v. Kentucky* (1989), 2:240, 3:134, 290, 305, 4:79
- Stanley v. Georgia* (1969)
Lawrence v. Texas (2003), 11:198, 222
obscenity, 2:286, 4:470, 7:297
Roe v. Wade (1973), 11:501n, 509n, 558
- Stanley v. Illinois* (1972), 2:352
- Stansbury v. California* (1994), 3:321
- Stark v. St. Cloud State University* (1986), 2:506
- State Bank v. Knoop*, 12:288
- State ex rel. Garnes v. McCann* (1872), 11:101
- State ex rel. Humphrey v. Philip Morris Inc.* (2000), 10:50–51
- State ex rel. Neelen v. Lucas* (1964), 2:235
- State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. v. Campbell* (2003), 8:190
- State of California v. Dorado*, 11:266
- State of Maryland v. Soper*, 11:339
- State of Missouri v. National Organization for Women* (1980), 5:316
- State of New Jersey v. Hodgson*, 11:342n
- The State of R. I. v. The State of Mass.*, 12:216
- State of Texas v. Hallford*, 11:548
- State Oil Co. v. Khan* (1997), 1:301
- State v. Alcorn* (1901), 11:552n
- State v. Baker*, 12:343
- State v. Barquet* (1972), 11:540, 559
- State v. Baxley* (1995), 11:229
- State v. Board of Education* (1887), 11:101
- State v. Brandon* (1862), 5:485
- State v. Carson* (1980), 7:87
- State v. Celia, a Slave*, 2:281–282
- State v. Chavers*, 12:344
- State v. Ciuffini* (1978), 11:202
- State v. Claiborne*, 12:173
- State v. Cogshell* (1999), 11:194n
- State v. Cooper* (1849), 11:552n
- State v. Cuzick*, 11:265
- State v. Dickinson* (1971), 11:539, 561
- State v. Dowthard*, 11:260
- State v. Duffy* (1872), 11:105
- State v. Dufour*, 11:342n
- State v. Ferguson*, 11:470, 470n
- State v. Foreman* (1833), 2:274274
- State v. Fox*, 11:266, 342n
- State v. Garner*, 11:192
- State v. Gedicke* (1881), 11:557n
- State v. Gibson*, 12:340
- State v. Goff* (1965), 11:300
- State v. Grubbs* (1883), 11:102
- State v. Haines* (1989), 1:75, 9:145
- State v. Hallford*, 11:508n
- State v. Harness* (1955), 11:539
- State v. Hernandez*, 11:260
- State v. Hodge* (1999), 6:82, 7:426
- State v. Howard*, 11:342n
- State v. Jacobs*, 11:259
- State v. Jones* (2000), 2:240
- State v. Judge*, 12:342
- State v. Kelley* (1974), 9:144
- State v. Ketchum* (1970), 11:513n
- State v. Lawrence*, 11:192
- State v. Lee* (1993), 7:134
- State v. Logan* (1979), 6:138
- State v. Lorenze* (1979), 9:144
- State v. Manuel*, 12:170, 271
- State v. Marley* (1973), 7:219
- State v. Maxwell*, 11:260
- State v. McLain*, 11:260
- State v. Miller* (1990), 6:162
- State v. Miranda* (1965), 11:275, 292
- State v. Mitchell* (1993), 1:295, 5:205–206
- State v. Mooney* (1991), 5:280
- State v. Morales* (1992), 11:195, 203, 206, 211, 241, 244, 245
- State v. Munson* (1970), 11:501, 513n, 559

- State v. Murphy* (1858), 11:558n
State v. Neely, 11:342n
The State v. Newcomb, 12:271
State v. Outlaw (1982), 4:356
State v. Owen, 11:262, 263
State v. Rivera (1980), 9:144
State v. Russell (1991), 4:31
State v. Scopes (1925), 2:153
 See also Scopes v. State (1927)
State v. Slagle (1880), 11:552n
State v. Smith (2000), 11:221
State v. Sterndale (1995), 3:282
State v. Stevenson (2003), 1:63
State v. Stewart (1993), 4:97
State v. Taylor, 11:259
State v. Thomas, 11:260
State v. Wagner (1995), 6:138–139
State v. Walsh (1986), 1:74–75, 11:232
State v. Wilson (1999), 11:168n
State v. Worley, 11:266
Staub v. City of Baxley, 11:436n
Steel Seizure case. See Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. v. Sawyer (1952)
Steele v. Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company (1944), 5:301, 11:41, 44
Steele v. United States (1925), 4:474
Stefanelli v. Minard (1951), 11:523
Steffan v. Aspin (1993), 1:333
Steffan v. Cheney (1991), 1:335
Steffan v. Perry (1994), 1:335, 11:227n
Stein v. People of State of New York, 11:336n, 345, 457–458, 474
Steinberg v. Brown (1970), 11:559
Steiner v. Simmons (1954), 11:146
Steirer v. Bethlehem Area School District (1992), 10:20, 21
Stembridge v. Georgia, 11:470, 472
Stenberg v. Carhart (2000), 1:26, 2:117
Stencel Aero Engineering Corp. v. United States (1977), 4:381
Step-Saver Data Systems v. Wyse Technology (1991), 9:236
Stephen v. American Brands (1987), 10:46
Sterling v. Constantin (1932), 6:446, 11:525
Stevens v. Department of the Treasury (1991), 1:164
Steward Machine Co. v. Davis (1937), 2:246, 7:25–26
Stewart v. Corbin (1988), 9:199
Stewart v. Ingle et al., 12:435
Stewart v. KHD Deutz of America (1996), 9:129–130
Stewart v. Oakes, 12:281, 301
Stice v. Beacon Newspaper Corp. (1959), 11:486n
Stieber v. Journal Publishing Co. (1995), 7:129–130
Stirone v. United States (1960), 9:198
Stone v. Graham (1980), 8:287
Stovall v. Denno (1967), 9:183
Strader et al. v. Graham, 12:173–174, 204–205, 210–212, 225, 264
Stratton Oakmont v. Prodigy Services Co. (1995), 6:304
Stratton v. Commissioner of Internal Revenue (1970), 10:384
Strauder v. West Virginia (1880)
 Brown v. Board of Education (1954), 11:48, 50, 81, 90, 133n
 Civil Rights cases (1883), 12:323–324, 328, 330, 331
 New York Times Co. v. Sullivan (1964), 11:461
 Plessy v. Ferguson (1896), 12:346
 Strong, William, 9:375
Street & Smith Publications, Inc. v. Spikes (1941), 11:405
Street v. New York (1969), 9:425, 11:568
Stretton v. Disciplinary Board (1991), 10:330
Strickland v. Washington (1984), 1:314, 8:361
Stroble v. State of California, 11:337, 470, 472
Stromberg v. California (1931)
 Butler, Pierce, 2:199
 New York Times Co. v. Sullivan (1964), 11:391, 400, 428n, 481, 487, 493n symbolic speech, 9:425
Strother v. Missouri, 12:400
Stuart v. Laird, 12:295
Stump v. Sparkman (1978), 6:53, 55, 9:61
Sturges v. Crowninshield (1819), 7:117
Sturgis v. Attorney General (1970), 11:510n
Subafilms, Inc. v. MGM-Pathe Communications Co. (1994), 3:204
The Sue, 12:342
Sullivan v. Fulton Steamboat Co., 12:173
Sullivan v. University Interscholastic League (1981), 9:285, 11:167
Sun Oil Co. v. Whitaker (1972), 11:175
Sunshine Book Co. v. Summerfield, 11:488
Superintendent v. Bankers Life (1971), 9:72
Sutton v. United Airlines (1999), 3:439
Swann v. Charlotte-Mecklenburg Board of Education (1971), 5:422, 9:19–20, 85, 419–421
Swanson v. University of Virginia, 11:54
Sweatt v. Painter (1950)
 Brown v. Board of Education (1954), 11:4, 5–6, 9, 10–11, 26, 37, 41, 45, 47, 51, 53, 54, 83, 108, 132–134, 140, 154, 155 law school discrimination, 2:143, 499, 4:190–191, 6:14
 Motley, Constance Baker, 7:132
Sweeney v. Patterson (1942), 11:395, 454, 456, 482, 494
Sweeney v. Schenectady Union Pub. Co. (1941), 11:395, 429, 456–457
Sweet Home Chapter of Communities for a Great Oregon v. Babbitt (1994), 4:139
Sweezy v. New Hampshire (1957), 1:45–46
Swidler v. Berlin (1998), 1:393–394
Swift & Co. v. United States (1905), 7:112
Swift v. Tyson (1842), 4:203, 8:421, 9:362, 423–424, 12:171, 287
Sylvia Development Corp. v. Calvert County, Md. (1995), 11:171
Sylvia v. Gobeille (1966), 11:527

Sylvia v. Kirby, 12:171, 174, 261

T

Tahoe-Sierra Preservation Council v. Tahoe Regional Planning Agency (2002), 4:124

Takahashi v. Fish and Game Commission, 11:9, 44

Talbot v. Jansen (1795), 8:431

Talley v. California (1960), 11:397, 407, 409, 459

Tate v. Short (1971), 4:410

Taxman v. Piscataway Township Bd. of Educ. (1996), 1:154

Taylor et. al. v. Morton, 12:302

Taylor v. Curry (1994), 9:130

Taylor v. Georgia (1942), 2:206–207, 11:449n

Taylor v. Kentucky (1978), 8:75

Taylor v. Louisiana (1975), 6:80

Taylor v. Martin County Canvassing Board (2000), 1:33

Taylor v. Mississippi (1943), 4:432

Taylor v. State, 11:461

Taylor v. Taintor (1872), 2:90, 91

T.B. v. L.R.M. (2001), 11:200

Teahan v. United States ex rel. Shott (1966), 11:318

Tennessee Electric Power Co. v. Tennessee Valley Authority (1937), 11:520

Tennessee v. Deuter (1992), 9:199

Tennessee v. Garner (1985), 1:452–453, 3:356

Tennessee Valley Authority v. Hill (1978), 4:139, 181

Terminal Oil Mill Co. v. Planters W. & G. Co. (1916), 11:402, 436n

Terminello v. Chicago (1949), 11:391, 427n, 428n, 453, 463, 482

Terry v. Adams (1953), 10:362, 11:44, 57, 450

Terry v. Ohio (1968), 10:9–11

racial profiling, 8:214

Roe v. Wade (1973), 11:527n, 558

searching pedestrians, 1:352–353, 4:474, 9:358–359

Test Oath cases (1867), 2:323–324, 445

Texas Beef Group v. Winfrey (2000), 6:305

Texas Department of Community Affairs v. Burdine (1981), 8:83

Texas v. Johnson (1989), 10:13–15

Brennan, William Joseph, Jr., 2:111

First Amendment, 4:416

liberty, 6:309

symbolic speech, 3:132, 4:432–433, 502, 9:425–426, 10:37

unenumerated rights, 10:147

Texas v. White (1868), 2:324, 445, 4:361–362, 10:15–16

Thatcher Manufacturing Co. v. Federal Trade Commission (1926), 7:46

Thomas Cusack Co. v. Chicago, 11:30

Thomas v. Atascadero Unified School District (1986), 1:73

Thomas v. Bynum (2002), 11:211n

Thomas v. Chicago Park Dist. (2002), 4:499

Thomas v. Collins, 11:453

Thomas v. Generis, 12:265, 281

Thomason v. Silvey, 11:368, 468n

Thomasson v. Perry (1996), 11:227n

Thompson v. Burke (1977), 9:62

Thompson v. Louisville, 11:432, 458

Thompson v. Oklahoma (1988), 7:143

Thompson v. State (1971), 11:535, 540, 541, 546n, 558n

Thompson v. Thompson (1998), 2:354

Thompson v. Western States Medical Center (2002), 4:415, 503

Thompson v. Wilson (1932), 11:363, 403, 435n, 479n

Thornbergh v. American College of Obstetricians & Gynecologists (1986), 1:20

Thorne v. City of El Segundo (1986), 1:234

Thornhill v. Alabama (1940), 2:432, 7:145, 11:453, 454, 502

Three Boys Music Corporation v. Bolton (2000), 7:147

Thurlow v. Commonwealth of Massachusetts (1847), 2:274–275

Thurman-Watts v. Board of Education (1924), 11:7, 23–24

Tidmore v. Mills, 11:367

Tierce v. Ellis (1993), 7:398

Time, Inc. v. Firestone (1976), 3:380, 6:303

Time v. Hill (1967), 11:526

Times Film Corporation v. City of Chicago (1961), 11:366, 390, 481n

Timmons v. Twin Cities Area New Party (1997), 4:96, 7:236

Tinker v. Des Moines Independent Community School District (1969), 10:38–40

editorship, 2:289

education law, 4:67–68

Fortas, Abe, 4:464

speech, freedom of, 4:416, 502, 5:352, 395, 9:300–301, 425

Vietnam War, 10:229

Toilet Goods Ass'n v. Gardener (1967), 11:516n

Tompkins v. Ashby, 12:241

Toolson v. New York Yankees (1953), 1:495

Toombs v. Fortson (1962), 10:128

Torasco v. Watkins (1961), 4:419, 7:271, 8:293

Torres v. Commonwealth of Puerto Rico (1979), 10:5

Tot v. United States, 11:348, 458

Totemoff v. Alaska (1995), 5:316

Town of Newton v. Rumery (1987), 9:64

Town of Queensbury v. Culver, 12:325

Towne v. Eisner, 12:542

Townsend v. Sain (1963), 9:94, 11:316, 320n

Township of Pine Grove v. Talcott, 12:325, 345

Toyota Motor Manufacturing v. Williams (2002), 3:440

Train v. City of New York (1975), 4:329, 8:73

Trammel v. United States (1980), 4:256, 5:321

Trans World Airlines v. Thurston (1985), 1:161

Transatlantic Financing Corp. v. United States (1966), 5:347

Travelers Health Assn. v. Virginia (1950), 11:389, 407, 425, 437, 439
Travelers' Ins. Co. v. Marshall (1934), 11:186, 188
Trimble v. Gordon (1977), 2:475, 3:414, 5:326, 327
Trinity River Authority v. UR Consultants, Inc. (1993), 11:170
Trippe Manufacturing Co. v. Spencer Gifts, Inc. (1959), 11:405
Trop v. Dulles (1958), 3:304, 307, 4:79, 11:221
Troxel v. Granville (2000)
 grandparents' visitation rights, 4:317–318, 7:362, 9:11, 10:242
 Lawrence v. Texas (2003), 11:196, 200, 203, 204, 218, 220
Truax v. Corrigan (1921), 1:453
 Brown v. Board of Education (1954), 11:27
 Lawrence v. Texas (2003), 11:165
Truax v. Raich (1915), 11:41, 44, 53, 548, 549, 565
Trustees of Dartmouth College v. Woodward (1819), 4:436, 6:439, 7:451, 9:361, 10:122–124, 319
Tulee v. Washington (1942), 7:200
Tull v. United States (1987), 9:129
Tunstall v. Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen (1944), 5:301, 11:41, 44
Turner Broadcasting System v. Federal Communications Commission (1994), 2:210
Turner Broadcasting System v. Federal Communications Commission (1997), 2:210, 6:455
Turner Broadcasting v. FCC (1993), 9:281
Turner v. Enrille, 12:173, 215
Turner v. Safley (1987), 11:200
Turner v. State (2001), 7:141
Turpin v. Lemon, 11:30
Turpin v. Sortini (1982), 10:437
Twigg v. Mays (1993), 2:353–354, 368
Twining v. New Jersey (1908), 7:112, 9:179–180
TXO Productions Corp. v. Alliance Resources Corp. (1993), 3:333, 8:190
Tyars v. Finner (1983), 3:86
Tyler v. Registration Court Judges, 11:30
Tyson & Brothers United Theatre Ticket Offices v. Banton (1927), 5:275

U

U-Haul International v. Jartran, Inc. (1986), 4:309
UAW v. Johnson Controls (1991), 4:388–389, 9:138
Udy v. Udy (1995), 7:134
Ullman v. United States (1956), 11:318n
Union County Jail Inmates v. DiBuono (1983), 8:89
Union Labor Life Insurance Co. v. Pireno (1982), 7:4
Union Pacific R. Co. v. Botsford (1891), 11:558
United Auto Workers v. Johnson Controls (1991), 8:314
United Bldg. and Const. Trades Council of Camden County and Vicinity v. Mayor and Council of City of Camden (1984), 11:179
United Brotherhood of Carpenters & Joiners v. Scott (1983), 6:163
United Gas Pipeline Company v. Ideal Cement Company, 11:424, 435n

United Gas Public Service Company v. Texas, 11:425n, 432
United Mine Workers District 12 v. Illinois State Bar Ass'n (1967), 5:155
United Mine Workers v. Pennington (1965), 9:367–368
United Paperworkers International Union v. NLRB (1992), 2:493
United Public Workers of America v. Mitchell (1947), 2:44–45, 5:202, 11:524
United States Civil Service Commission v. National Ass'n of Letter Carriers (1973), 5:202
United States Department of Agriculture v. Moreno (1973), 11:196, 208, 209, 233, 244, 245, 253
United States Department of Commerce v. Montana (1992), 1:321
United States Department of Justice v. Landano (1993), 4:496
United States Department of Treasury v. Faber (1993), 7:4
United States ex. rel. Roberson v. Keating (1949), 7:57
United States ex rel. Angelet v. Fay (1964), 11:332n
United States ex rel. Brown v. Fay (1965), 11:323n United States ex rel. Caminito v. Murphy (1955), 4:479
United States ex rel. Crane Co. v. Progressive Enterprises, Inc. (1976), 7:99
United States ex rel. Goldsby v. Harpole, 11:463
United States ex rel. Milwaukee Social Democratic Publishing Co. v. Burleson (1921), 2:422
United States ex rel. Russo v. New Jersey (1965), 11:277, 285, 342n United States ex rel. Toth v. Quarles (1955), 3:247
United States ex rel. Townsend v. Ogilvie, 11:342n United States ex rel. Williams v. Follette (1970), 11:512n, 513n
United States ex rel. Seals v. Wiman, 11:460n, 461, 462, 468n
United States Paperworkers International Union v. Misco (1987), 1:327
United States Railroad Retirement Bd. v. Fritz (1980), 8:240
United States Term Limits v. Thornton (1995), 4:94
United States v. Addyston Pipe & Steel Co. (1897), 5:193
United States v. Aguon (1987), 9:197
United States v. Alabama, 11:443n
United States v. Aluminum Co. of America (1945), 1:300, 12:548
United States v. Alvarez-Machain (1992), 4:294
United States v. American Oil (1969), 8:451
United States v. American Telephone & Telegraph Co. (1982), 1:302
United States v. American Tobacco Co., 11:142
United States v. Amistad. See United States v. Libellants of Schooner Amistad (1841)
United States v. Arch Trading Co. (1993), 1:183
United States v. Armstrong (1996), 4:31, 9:88
United States v. Arnold, Schwinn & Co. (1967), 1:301

- United States v. Arredondo* (1832), 1:456
United States v. Arvizu (2002), 3:283
United States v. Ash (1973), 7:439
United States v. Associated Press (1943), 11:391, 392, 481–482
United States v. Averette (1970), 3:247
United States v. Ballard (1944), 8:283, 11:493n
United States v. Barnett (1964), 5:105, 11:443n
United States v. Benchimol (1985), 7:460
United States v. Benjamin (1954), 5:5
United States v. Bertoli (1994), 9:197–198
United States v. Bevans, 12:291
United States v. Bishop Processing Co. (1968), 3:4
United States v. Bolden (1965), 11:348n
United States v. Bollman & Swartwout (1807), 3:261
United States v. Boyd, 12:170
United States v. Brawner (1972), 4:45, 46
United States v. Brooks (1993), 1:412
United States v. Brown (1954), 4:380
United States v. Burr (1807), 2:176–177, 4:276, 6:230, 9:219
United States v. Butler (1936), 5:62, 7:25, 9:276, 356, 419
United States v. Calandra (1974), 4:265
United States v. Caldwell (1993), 3:111
United States v. Callender (1800), 2:329–330
United States v. Carignan (1951), 11:265–266, 290, 320n, 336n, 345, 346
United States v. Cariola (1963), 9:201
United States v. Carolene Products Co. (1938), 4:190, 444–445, 6:361–362, 9:356
United States v. Causby (1946), 4:403, 10:100
United States v. Ceccolini (1978), 3:11–12
United States v. Chadwick (1977), 1:413
United States v. Childress (1965), 11:310n
United States v. City of Yonkers (1996), 9:63
United States v. Clapox (1888), 11:173
United States v. Classic (1941), 9:60, 356, 10:362, 11:391
United States v. County Board (1979), 4:172
United States v. Crescent Amusement Co., 11:142
United States v. Cronin (1984), 9:200
United States v. Cruikshank (1875)
Brown v. Board of Education (1954), 11:48
Civil Rights cases (1883), 12:313, 330
Clifford, Nathan, 2:446
Hunt, Ward, 5:314
natural law, 7:207
Second Amendment, 9:49
Waite, Morrison Remick, 10:265
United States v. D'Amore (1995), 9:202
United States v. Darby (1941), 5:182, 7:78
United States v. Datcher (1993), 10:454
United States v. Derosé (1996), 8:42
United States v. Detroit Timber & Lumber Co., 11:543n
United States v. Dickerson (1999), 3:82, 324, 7:84, 9:40–41
United States v. Dillon (1965), 9:115
United States v. Dionisio (1973), 4:473
United States v. Dougherty (1972), 6:84
United States v. Drayton (2002), 4:475, 9:251
United States v. Drummond (1965), 11:351
United States v. E. C. Knight Co. (1895), 1:299, 5:17, 6:57, 9:166
United States v. E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. (1957), 10:205
United States v. E.C. Investments, Inc. (1996), 8:419
United States v. Edwards (1981), 8:79
United States v. Eichman (1990), 2:111, 4:433, 502, 9:426–427, 10:15
United States v. Emerson (2001), 2:100, 9:52
United States v. Fearful (1961), 11:520
United States v. Fior D'Italia (2002), 5:364
United States v. Fisher, 12:331
United States v. Flanagan (1994), 9:94
United States v. Fogarty (1982), 11:174n
United States v. Ford (1996), 9:198
United States v. Fordice (1992), 2:500, 10:357
United States v. Foster (1949), 3:301
United States v. Fry (1986), 7:249
United States v. General Dynamics (1974), 7:46
United States v. Gonzalez de Modesti (2001), 8:181
United States v. Granderson (1994), 8:124–125
United States v. Gratiot, 12:175
United States v. Grimaud (1911), 6:182
United States v. Grimley (1890), 7:57
United States v. Grunewald (1957), 11:318
United States v. Guest, 11:565
United States v. Gunnels (1957), 11:331n
United States v. Gutierrez (1995), 9:196
United States v. Halper (1989), 4:2, 3, 33, 400
United States v. Harris (1883), 6:163, 10:416, 12:316
United States v. Harriss (1954), 6:357
United States v. Haupt (1942), 2:226
United States v. Hays (1995), 11:228
United States v. Hearst (1980), 1:443
United States v. Henry (1980), 6:460
United States v. Hidalgo (1993), 9:200
United States v. Hiss (1950), 5:262
United States v. Howe (1966), 7:58
United States v. Hyppolite (1995), 4:78
United States v. Jackson (1996), 9:199
United States v. Jakobetz (1992), 3:485
United States v. Jefferson County Board of Education (1967), 9:18, 10:401
United States v. Johnson, 12:542
United States v. Johnson (1956), 4:480
United States v. Johnson (1987), 4:381
United States v. Johnson (2000), 7:372
United States v. Joint-Traffic Association (1898), 7:413
United States v. Jorn (1971), 7:92
United States v. Ju Toy (1905), 2:113
United States v. Kendrick (1964), 1:393
United States v. Knights (2002), 4:476
United States v. Kokinda (1990), 4:499
United States v. Konigsberg (1964), 11:264, 266, 270–271, 328

- United States v. Koon* (1993), 4:6
United States v. Kozminski (1988), 10:20
United States v. Kyles (1994), 9:197
United States v. LaMacchia, 3:200
United States v. Lanier (1997), 3:278–279
United States v. Larkin (1992), 9:200
United States v. Larouche (1993), 2:419–420
United States v. Lee (1982), 4:419, 8:291
United States v. Lehigh Valley R. R. (1920), 2:422
United States v. Lemon (1983), 11:218
United States v. Leon (1984), 4:265, 475, 8:275, 9:42
United States v. Leventhal (1992), 1:393
United States v. Lewis (1986), 10:20
United States v. Libellants of Schooner Amistad (1841), 1:86, 263–265, 456, 9:204
United States v. Lindh (2002), 2:386
United States v. Lindsey (1995), 9:195–196
United States v. Locke (2000), 4:179
United States v. Lopez (1989), 8:330
United States v. Lopez (1995), 2:116, 3:4, 129, 4:363, 5:166, 294
United States v. Louisiana (1963), 10:401
United States v. Louisiana (1985), 2:88
United States v. Louisiana (1993), 2:500
United States v. Madkour (1991), 9:107
United States v. Maine (1975), 6:430
United States v. Maine Lobstermen's Ass'n (1957), 5:82
United States v. Marigold, 12:298
United States v. Martinez (1976), 1:415
United States v. Maryland Bank & Trust Co. (1986), 4:181
United States v. Maze (1974), 6:397
United States v. Microsoft (1997–2002), 1:304, 9:236
United States v. Microsoft Corp. (1995), 9:281
United States v. Miller (1939), 3:134, 5:163, 165, 9:51
United States v. Miller (1985), 11:174n
United States v. Mitchell (1944), 11:265, 279, 346
United States v. Mohamed (2000), 3:113–114, 114
United States v. Moor (1988), 1:75
United States v. Morgan, 11:128
United States v. Morris (1991), 3:63
United States v. Morrison (2000), 3:270, 505, 4:376
United States v. Munsingwear, Inc. (1950), 11:548
United States v. National Lead Co., 11:142
United States v. Nenadich (1988), 8:41
United States v. Nichols (1883). See Civil Rights cases (1883)
United States v. Nixon (1974), 7:254–255
 Burger, Warren Earl, 2:169
 equal protection, 4:197
 executive privilege, 4:278, 10:313, 452
 political questions, 8:15
 rule of law, 8:419–420
 St. Clair, James Draper, 8:439–440
 subpoena, 9:384
 tape recordings released to investigators, 3:260, 7:253
United States v. Noriega (1990), 4:294
United States v. North (1989), 5:478
United States v. North (1990), 5:478
United States v. Nururdin (1993), 9:197
United States v. Nye County (1996), 6:191
United States v. Oakland Cannabis Buyers' Cooperative (2001), 4:33
United States v. Oates (1977), 3:134
United States v. O'Brien (1968), 4:416, 7:57, 298, 9:425, 10:229
United States v. Ogilvie (1964), 11:286
United States v. One Book Called "Ulysses" (1934), 7:296
United States v. One Package (1936), 2:40, 8:459
United States v. Palmer (1818), 7:452
United States v. Paradise (1987), 2:111
United States v. Peltier (1978), 2:420
United States v. Petrillo (1947), 11:526
United States v. Philip Morris Inc. (2001), 10:50
United States v. Pink (1942), 6:344
United States v. Playboy Entertainment Group, Inc. (2000), 2:130, 211
United States v. PLO (1988), 2:418–419
United States v. Poindexter (1988), 5:478
United States v. Progressive, Inc. (1979), 8:85
United States v. Ragen (1942), 11:526
United States v. Raines, 11:450
United States v. Ramirez (1998), 3:284, 4:475, 9:43
United States v. Rauscher (1886), 4:293
United States v. Reading R. R. (1920), 2:421
United States v. Reese (1875), 2:446, 5:313, 10:250, 11:448n, 12:323, 331
United States v. Resko (1993), 9:198
United States v. Restrepo (1999), 9:275
United States v. Reynolds (1953), 4:277
United States v. Richardson (1974), 9:301
United States v. Richmond (1960), 11:277, 291
United States v. Ritchie (1994), 1:393
United States v. Riverside Bayview Homes (1985), 4:178
United States v. Robel (1967), 4:494
United States v. Robinson, 11:342n
United States v. Rodgers (1893), 5:450
United States v. Rodriguez-Moreno (1999), 3:277
United States v. Romano, 11:348
United States v. Rose (1957), 11:331n
United States v. Ross (1982), 1:410, 413, 414, 9:342
United States v. Rostenkowski (1995), 9:271
United States v. Roth (1956), 4:479
United States v. Rowley (1992), 9:197
United States v. Ruiz (2001), 7:460
United States v. Ryan (1883). See Civil Rights cases (1883)
United States v. Sacher (1949), 3:301
United States v. Salerno (1987), 1:440, 8:80, 275, 11:219, 249
United States v. Santana (1976), 5:293–294
United States v. Scheffer (1998), 4:253, 8:29
United States v. Schwarz (2002), 8:9
United States v. Schwimmer (1929), 2:199

- United States v. Scott* (1978), 4:4
United States v. Scully, 11:339
United States v. Seeger (1965), 7:346
United States v. Sewell (1991), 5:294
United States v. Shearer (1985), 4:380
United States v. Shell (1992), 9:196
United States v. Short (1993), 9:196
United States v. Sing Tuck (1904), 2:113
United States v. Singleton (1883). See Civil Rights cases (1883)
United States v. Singleton (1994), 2:248
United States v. Singleton (1999), 7:459
United States v. Smith (1806), 9:219, 11:406
United States v. Sokolow (1989), 9:359
United States v. South-Eastern Underwriters Ass'n (1944), 5:414, 7:4
United States v. Southwestern Cable Co. (1994), 2:127
United States v. Stanley (1883). See Civil Rights cases (1883)
United States v. Stanley (1987), 4:381
United States v. Stuckey, 7:58
United States v. Sun Diamond Growers (1999), 2:119
United States v. Sunflower County School District (1970), 5:177
United States v. Taborda (1980), 6:108
United States v. Texas (1896), 5:193
United States v. The Brig Union et al., 12:215
United States v. Thevis (1979), 4:252
United States v. Thomas (1994), 2:290
United States v. Thomas (1995), 9:196
United States v. Thomas (1997), 6:84
United States v. Trans-Missouri Freight Ass'n (1897), 5:193, 7:413
United States v. $292,888.04 in U.S. Currency (1995), 9:201
United States v. Uhl (1970), 7:249
United States v. United Foods (2001), 4:415
United States v. United Shoe Machinery Corp. (1950), 1:392
United States v. United States District Court for Eastern District of Michigan, Southern Division (1972), 4:107, 451
United States v. United States Steel Corp. (1920), 1:300, 2:421
United States v. Ventresca (1965), 11:302–303
United States v. Villato, 12:174
United States v. Virginia (1994), 2:501–502
United States v. Virginia (1996), 10:238–240
 Ginsburg, Ruth Bader, 5:96
 Lawrence v. Texas (2003), 11:181, 228
 sex discrimination, 9:137, 10:412
 Souter, David Hackett, 9:250
United States v. Vital Health Products (1992), 7:249
United States v. Vuitich (1969), 11:501, 509n, 513n, 519, 526, 533n, 540, 546n, 561, 563
United States v. Wade (1967), 6:331, 8:360, 9:201
United States v. Walker (1986), 4:211
United States v. Warin (1976), 7:249
United States v. Washington (1974), 7:200
United States v. Watson (1976), 4:473–474
United States v. Weber Aircraft Corp. (1984), 2:111
United States v. Webster (1984), 9:199
United States v. Wheeler (1978), 7:196
United States v. Whitridge, 12:546
United States v. Whitworth (1988), 4:211
United States v. Williams (1992), 5:125
United States v. Wilson (1975), 4:2
United States v. Winans (1905), 4:426, 7:198, 199, 200
United States v. W.T. Grant Co. (1953), 11:516, 548
United States v. Wulff (1985), 9:32
United States v. Wurzbach (1930), 11:526
United States v. Yonkers Board of Education (1985, 1995, 1997), 9:84
United States v. Zuideveld (1963), 3:68
United Steelworkers of America v. NLRB (1993), 2:492
United Steelworkers v. Weber (1979), 1:153
Universal City Studios, Inc. v. Sony Corp. of America (1979), 9:247
Universal City Studios, Inc. v. Sony Corp. of America (1981), 9:247
University of Alabama v. Garrett (2001), 3:440, 9:257
Unocoal Corp. v. Mesa Petroleum Co. (1985), 2:191
Upjohn Co. v. United States (1981), 1:393
Upshaw v. United States (1948), 7:24, 11:279
Urban v. Industrial Commission (1966), 10:421
Utah Pie Co. v. Continental Baking Co. (1967), 8:374
Utah v. Evans (2002), 1:321, 2:297
U.W.M. Post, Inc. v. Board of Regents of University of Wisconsin (1991), 2:70, 289
- V
Vacco v. Quill (1997), 4:237, 240, 9:394, 10:303–304, 11:226
Valentine v. Christensen (1942), 11:397, 423, 426, 480
Van Bergen v. Minnesota (1995), 10:37
Van Camp v. Board of Education, 11:101
Vance v. Bradley (1979), 11:169n, 209, 212
Vasquez v. Hillery (1986), 11:205
Vaughan v. Vaughan (1957), 11:403, 435n
Veevers v. State (1962), 11:546n
Vegelahn v. Guntner (1896), 6:178
Verizon Communications v. FCC (2002), 9:449
Verizon Maryland v. Public Service Commission of Maryland (2002), 9:449
Vermont Agency of Natural Resources v. United States ex rel. Stevens (2000), 6:109
Vernon v. State (1992), 11:171n
Vernon v. State of Alabama (1941), 11:313n
Vernonia School District 47J v. Acton (1995), 1:454, 4:69, 5:353, 9:285
Vidal v. Giarard's Executors (1844), 10:224–225
Vignera v. New York, 11:316–317, 331–332, 335, 341n, 344

Village of Arlington Heights v. Metropolitan Housing Dev. Corp. (1977), 11:167, 182n Village of Willowbrook v. Olech (2000), 4:192
Villareal v. State (1996), 11:188
Virginia Ry. Co. v. System Federation No. 40, 11:128
Virginia State Board of Pharmacy v. Virginia Citizens Consumer Council (1976), 4:415
Virginia v. Black (2003), 4:501, 5:206
Virginia v. Rives (1879), 11:48, 133n, 12:313, 341, 346
Vreeken v. Davis (1983), 6:396
Vuitch v. Hardy (1972), 11:537, 540, 541

W

W. P. Brown and Sons Lumber Co. v. Rattray, 11:370
Wabash, St. Louis, & Pacific Railway Co. v. Illinois (1886), 5:463
Wakat v. Harlith (1958), 11:313n
Walker v. Halliburton Services (1995), 6:56
Walker v. Jenison (1781), 6:326–327
Walker v. Southern Ry. (1966), 4:282
Wallace v. Jaffree (1985), 1:9, 4:150, 6:308, 9:343, 10:271–272
Wallace v. State (1880), 11:538–539
Waller v. Georgia (1984), 9:197
Walls v. City of Petersburg (1990), 11:210n, 248n
Walnut & Quince Streets Corp. v. Mills (1931), 1:357–358
Walsingham v. State (1971), 11:557n
Ward v. Flood (1874), 11:106
Ward v. Love County (1920), 11:404, 463
Ward v. Maryland, 12:330
Ward v. Rock against Racism (1989), 4:499, 6:308
Ward v. State of Texas (1942), 11:313n, 337
Warden v. Hayden (1967), 1:352, 5:294
Wards Cove Packing v. Atonio (1989), 3:460
Ware v. Hylton (1796), 2:329, 12:421
Warth v. Seldin (1975), 6:93
Washington Times Company v. Bonner (1936), 11:423, 429n
Washington v. Davis (1976), 11:252
Washington v. Glucksberg (1997), 10:302–304
 assisted suicide, 4:237, 240, 9:394
 Lawrence v. Texas (2003), 11:173n, 197, 200, 203, 219–220, 222, 223, 224–225, 234, 247, 249
 patients' rights, 7:407
 privacy, 8:98
 substantive due process, 9:391
 unenumerated rights, 10:147
Washington v. Harper (1990), 7:208
Washington v. Heritage (2002), 8:6
Washington v. Texas (1967), 9:200
Washington v. Washington State Commercial Passenger Fishing Vessel Ass'n (1979), 7:200
Wasmuth v. Allen (1964), 11:527
Waters-Pierce Oil Co. v. Texas (1909), 4:78, 5:145
Waters v. Churchill (1994), 1:47–48
Watkins v. Sowders (1981), 7:439

Watkins v. United States (1957), 3:39, 156
Watkins v. United States Army (1989), 11:167n, 168n, 187
Watson v. City of Memphis, 11:449
Watson v. Jones (1871), 8:292
Watson v. State (1880), 11:538, 558n
Watts v. Indiana (1949), 11:287, 288, 337, 340n, 397, 432n Watts v. United States (1969), 4:414
Webb v. Gray, 11:373–374, 439
Webb v. School District (1949), 11:7, 24
Webb v. Texas (1972), 9:200
Weber v. Aetna Casualty & Surety Co. (1972), 11:567
Webster v. Reproductive Health Services (1989), 10:321–323 abortion restrictions, 1:18, 8:312–313, 9:390
 Wattleton, Alyce Faye, 10:315
 women's rights, 10:412
Weeks v. United States (1914), 3:353, 4:264, 9:42
Weems v. United States (1910), 4:365, 8:186, 11:312
Weidenfeller v. Kidulis (1974), 10:20
Weinberger v. Wiesenfeld (1975), 10:411
Weir v. Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, 11:361
Weiss v. United States (1994), 1:332–333
Welsh v. United States (1970), 4:419, 10:229, 342–343
Welson v. Melvin, 12:259
Wertheimer v. Federal Election Comm'n (2001), 3:260
Wesberry v. Sanders (1964), 1:320, 321, 4:196, 5:72–73
Wesberry v. Vandiver (1962), 10:128
West Chester & Phila. R. Co. v. Miles (1867), 11:98
West Coast Hotel Co. v. Parrish (1937), 5:304, 6:361, 8:369–370, 9:389, 10:344
West River Bridge v. Dix (1848), 10:124
West v. Randall (1820), 2:423
West Virginia State Board of Education v. Barnette (1943)
 Brown v. Board of Education (1954), 11:46
 Chaffee, Zechariah, Jr., 2:315
 education law, 4:67
 First Amendment, 4:432, 434–435, 502, 10:14
 Frankfurter, Felix, 4:483
 Free Exercise Clause, 8:289
 Lawrence v. Texas (2003), 11:198, 204, 205, 206
 liberty, 6:309
 Minersville School District v. Gobitis (1939), similarity to, 6:430
 New York Times Co. v. Sullivan (1964), 11:455, 459 students compelled to flag salute, 1:231, 4:419, 7:145, 9:356
Western & S. Life Ins. Co. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1981), 11:207
Western Air Lines v. Criswell (1985), 1:160–161
Western Loan & Savings Company v. Butte, etc. Mining Company, 11:436

- Western Telcon, Inc. v. California State Lottery* (1996), 9:322
- Westfall v. Erwin* (1988), 4:358
- Westmoreland v. Columbia Broadcasting System, Inc.* (1985), 10:226–227
- Weston v. Commercial Advertiser Assn.* (1906), 11:398n, 424, 434n
- Westover v. United States* (1964), 11:260, 319, 331n, 332, 334n, 335, 341n, 344
- Weyl v. Comm. of Int. Rev.* (1931), 11:46
- Wheaton v. Peters* (1834), 7:23, 10:350–351
- Whitaker v. MacFadden Publications, Inc.* (1939), 11:405
- Whitcomb v. Hearst Corp.*, 11:373
- White v. Birmingham Post Co.*, 11:364, 365
- White v. Maryland* (1963), 11:284
- White v. State of Texas* (1940), 11:313n
- Whitehouse v. Lange* (1996), 5:346
- Whitner v. State* (1997), 2:347
- Whitney v. California* (1927)
- Brandeis, Louis Dembitz, 6:309, 9:82
 - clear and present danger, 2:432
 - communism in U.S., 3:41–42
 - Lawrence v. Texas* (2003), 11:208
 - New York Times Co. v. Sullivan* (1964), 11:387, 388, 396, 400, 428n, 454, 482, 487, 493n, 494
- Whitten v. Georgia* (1872), 4:79
- Wickard v. Filburn* (1942), 1:172, 3:129, 4:363, 9:461
- Wickliffe v. Owings* (1858), 12:268, 280
- Widmar v. Vincent* (1981), 8:287
- Wieman v. Updegraff* (1952), 6:378, 11:396
- Wilkerson v. Utah* (1878), 3:307
- Wilko v. Swan* (1953), 1:327
- Will v. Michigan Department of State Police* (1989), 9:60
- Willard v. The People*, 12:174
- Williams v. Florida* (1970), 4:151, 6:82, 9:198
- Williams v. Georgia*, 11:463
- Williams v. Illinois* (1970), 4:410
- Williams v. North Carolina*, 11:487
- Williams v. Parsons* (1908), 11:25
- Williams v. Pryor* (2000), 11:169n, 248
- Williams v. Rhodes* (1968), 11:506
- Williams v. State* (1998), 11:202n
- Williams v. Tooke*, 11:458n
- Williams v. United States* (1951), 6:103, 11:313n
- Williams v. Walker-Thomas Furniture Co.* (1965), 10:429
- Williams v. Wisconsin* (2000), 9:359
- Williamson v. Lee Optical of Okla.* (1955), 11:177, 244, 566
- Williamson v. United States* (1908), 4:97
- Willingham v. State* (1894), 11:510n
- Willis & Ponton v. CBS, Inc.*, 11:451
- Wilson v. Arkansas* (1995), 9:43
- Wilson v. Board of Supervisors* (1950), 11:54
- Wilson v. Garcia* (1985), 9:63
- Wilson v. Isabel*, 12:281, 301
- Wilson v. Melvin*, 12:287
- Wilson v. State* (1974), 9:144
- Wilson v. United States* (1896), 11:320n, 338, 346
- Winberry v. Salisbury* (1950), 10:198
- Winny v. Whitesides*, 12:174, 258, 261, 287
- Winters v. United States* (1908), 7:201, 202, 11:401
- Wirtz v. Fowler* (1966), 1:393
- Wisconsin Department of Health and Family Service v. Blumer* (2002), 7:28
- Wisconsin v. City of New York* (1996), 2:295
- Wisconsin v. Illinois*, 11:142, 147
- Wisconsin v. Illinois* (1967), 6:430
- Wisconsin v. Mitchell* (1993), 5:204, 205
- Wisconsin v. Yoder* (1972), 3:133, 4:419, 8:290
- Wise v. Commonwealth* (1923), 11:169
- Witherspoon v. Illinois* (1968), 10:402–403
- Withrow v. Williams* (1993), 7:85
- Witters v. Washington Department of Services for the Blind* (1986), 2:506, 8:286
- Wofford v. Meeks*, 11:365
- Wolf v. Colorado* (1949), 7:145, 8:263, 11:343n
- Wolfe v. Shelley* (1581), 8:417–418
- Wolff Packing Co. v. Court of Industrial Relations* (1923), 2:198
- Wolff v. McDonnell* (1974), 5:496
- Wolfle v. United States* (1934), 6:431
- Wong Sun v. United States* (1963), 3:10–11
- Wong Wing v. United States* (1896), 8:80, 9:179
- Wood v. Duff-Gordon* (1917), 2:245
- Wood v. Georgia* (1962), 11:387, 392, 397, 428n, 432n, 451, 453, 454, 458, 483, 495
- Wood v. Strickland* (1975), 9:62
- Wood v. Wagnon*, 12:215
- Woodmen of the World Ins. Co. v. Bolin*, 11:471, 474n
- Woodrick v. Hungerford* (1986), 7:57, 58
- Woodward Iron Co. v. Earley*, 11:368
- Woodward v. United States* (1989), 11:168n, 227n
- Wooley v. Maynard* (1977), 4:494
- Woolridge, et al. v. Board of Education* (1916), 11:7, 23
- Worcester v. Georgia* (1832), 2:335, 336, 6:428, 7:196, 198, 8:406
- Worcester v. Georgia* (1832) (document), 12:409–450
- Worcester v. Western R. Corp.*, 12:325
- Wright v. Dickson* (1964), 11:277, 285, 342n
- Wright v. Georgia* (1963), 11:403–404, 436n
- Writers Guild of America, West, Inc. v. F.C.C.* (1976), 2:286
- Writs of Assistance case* (1761), 2:485, 4:153–154, 10:430–432
- WSAZ, Inc. v. Lyons*, 11:362, 407, 438n
- Wyatt v. Stickney* (1971), 6:20
- Wyatt v. Stickney* (1972), 9:63
- Wygant v. Jackson Board of Education* (1986), 10:438–439
- Wyoming v. Houghton* (1999), 1:413, 3:282

Y

Yagman v. Republic Insurance (1993), 2:420

Yasui v. United States (1943), 6:3, 5
Yates v. U.S. (1957), 3:44, 11:487
Yesler v. Board of Harbor Line Commissioners, 11:52
Yick Wo v. Hopkins (1886), 10:447–448
Brown v. Board of Education (1954), 11:9, 43, 48
 Equal Protection Clause, 1:224, 4:193, 8:212
Lawrence v. Texas (2003), 11:246
 Matthews, Stanley, 6:464, 465
Plessy v. Ferguson, citation in, 12:343
Roe v. Wade (1973), 11:568
 selective prosecution, 8:153, 9:88
Yniguez v. Arizonans for Official English (1995), 4:160
York v. Texas, 11:435n, 436
Yorko v. State (1985), 11:168n
Young v. American Mini Theatres, Inc. (1976), 9:342
Young v. U.S. (2003), 1:473
Younger v. Harris (1971)
Ankenbrandt v. Richards (1992), 1:36
 Black, Hugo Lafayette, 4:361
Lawrence v. Texas (2003), 11:230
Roe v. Wade (1973), 8:383, 11:519, 521, 523, 524, 549, 564
Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. v. Sawyer (1952), 10:450–452
 Black, Hugo Lafayette, 2:45
Brown v. Board of Education (1954), 11:109, 140 executive power, 3:130
 expropriation, 4:288

Korean War, 6:158
 Minton, Sherman, 7:82
 Truman, Harry S., 10:115
 Vinson, Frederick Moore, 10:232
Yusuf v. Vassar College (1994), 2:502
YWCA v. Kugler (1972), 11:513n, 536, 537, 540, 557n, 559

Z

Zadvydas v. Davis (1999), 1:214, 3:403
Zant v. Prevatte (1982), 5:359
Zayka v. Giambro (1992), 4:228
Zelman v. Simmons (2002), 9:27
Zemel v. Rusk (1965), 3:314
Zepeda v. Zepeda (1963), 5:67
Ziang Sung Wan v. United States (1924), 11:319, 320n, 336, 346
Ziffrin, Inc. v. United States (1943), 11:332
Zinerman v. Burch (1990), 3:25
Zippo Manufacturing v. Zippo Dot Com (1997), 6:70, 370
Zobel v. Williams (1982), 11:179, 180, 187
Zobrest v. Catalina Foothills School District (1993), 2:380, 8:286, 288
Zorach v. Clauson (1952), 8:282, 287
Zuber v. Pennsylvania R. Co. (1949), 11:404
Zuck v. Interstate Publishing Corp. (1963), 11:406
Zule v. State (1990), 9:145
Zwickler v. Koota (1967), 11:500, 508n, 524, 564

GENERAL INDEX

The page references in this index include a volume number, followed by a colon, followed by a page number or numbers. Boldface page references refer to an encyclopedic entry on the topic. Italic page references refer to a photograph or illustration. The note “(document)” refers to the full text of a primary source. The letter “t” refers to a table.

A

- A fortiori*, 1:1
- A mensa et thoro*, 1:1
- A posteriori*, 1:1
- A priori*, 1:1
- Ab initio*, 1:1
- Abandonment, 1:2–3
 - adoption cases, 1:126
 - cemeteries, 2:284
 - citizenship, 2:386
 - descent and distribution, 3:416
 - desertion, 3:418–419
 - highways, 5:253
 - patents, 7:395
 - property, 4:407, 8:146
- Abatement, 1:3, 10:382
- Abatement of an action, 1:3–4
- Abbott, Benjamin Vaughn, 1:4
- Abbreviations in case titles, 3:249–251
- Abdication, 1:4–5
- Abduction, 1:6
- Abene, Mark, 3:64
- Abernathy, Ralph David, 1:6, 6–7, 9:253
- Abet, 1:7
- Abettor, 1:7–8
- Abeyance, 1:8
- Abiding conviction, 1:8
- Abington School District (PA), 1:8
- Abjuration, 1:10
- Abodes, 1:10, 3:137–138
- Abolition, 1:11–13
 - Adams, John Quincy, 1:85–86
 - Anthony, Susan Brownell, 1:289
 - Brown, John, 2:137, 137–139
 - Douglass, Frederick, 4:13–15
 - Dred Scott v. Sandford* (1857), 4:20–21
 - Emancipation Proclamation (1863), 4:116–117
 - Franklin, Benjamin, 4:486
 - Garrison, William Lloyd, 5:40–41
 - Stowe, Harriet Beecher, 9:364
 - Truth, Sojourner, 10:124–125, 125
 - women’s movement, 9:306
- Abortion, 1:13–26
 - American Medical Association opposition to, 8:309–310
 - Blackmun, Harry, 2:58
 - Breyer, Stephen G., 2:116, 117–118
 - Burger, Warren Earl, 2:168
 - censorship, 2:285
 - Chisholm, Shirley, 2:373
 - clinics, 1:19
 - Constitution Party views, 3:125
 - court challenges, 8:311–313
 - documents about, 3:67–69
 - fetal rights, 4:385
 - fetal tissue research, 4:389–391
 - Freedom of Access to Clinic Entrances Act (1994), 2:451, 4:500
 - genetic screening, 5:67–68
 - history, 10:410
 - husbands and wives, 5:320
 - Kennedy, Anthony McLeod, 6:117
 - moral law, 7:115
 - National Right to Life Committee, 7:188–189
 - O’Connor, Sandra Day, opinions of, 7:303
 - patient statistics, 8:384
 - privacy, 8:98
 - pro-choice groups, 7:163
 - protests, 1:17, 21–22, 24–25, 8:86, 310
 - quickening rule, 8:309
 - Roe v. Wade* (1973), 1:453, 5:96, 8:381–385, 9:250, 371
 - Roe v. Wade* (1973) (documents), 11:497–568
 - Sanger, Margaret Higgins, 8:456–459
 - trimester system, 8:383, 384
 - Webster v. Reproductive Health Services* (1989), 10:321–323
 - White, Byron Raymond, 10:358
 - women’s rights, 10:412
 - wrongful pregnancy, 10:437
- Abrams, Floyd, 2:218–219
- Abrams, Jacob, 1:27, 27
- Abrogation, 1:29
- Abscond, 1:29
- Absconding debtors, 1:29–30
- Absence military offenses, 10:155
- Absentee, 1:30
- Absentee voting, 1:30–34, 31

- Absolute, 1:34
 Absolute deeds, 1:34
 Absolute immunity, 6:54–55, 9:61
 Abstention doctrine, 1:34–36
 Abstinence
 alcohol use, 1:201
 sex education, 1:68–69
 Abstract of title, 1:36–40, 38–39, 2:316, 8:255
 Abstraction, 1:40
 Abuse, 1:40, 502–503
 See also Child abuse; Domestic violence
 Abuse excuse, 1:40–41
 Abuse of discretion, 1:41–42
 Abuse of power, 1:42, 5:440–441
 Abuse of process, 1:42–43
 Abusive, 1:43
 Abut, 1:43
 Abzug, Bella Savitsky, 1:43, 43–44
 Academic freedom, 1:44–48
 Academic year, 1:48
 Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences (ACIS), 1:48
 Accede, 1:48
 Accelerated Cost Recovery System (1981), 3:406
 Accelerated depreciation, 3:406
 Acceleration, 1:48–49
 Acceleration clauses, 1:49, 49–50
 Acceptance, 1:50
 bailment, 1:445
 contracts, 3:171–172
 course of performance, 3:240–241
 deeds, transfer of, 3:373
 gifts, 5:80
 inheritance rights, 3:417
 marriage contracts, 2:105
 Access, 1:50–51
 Accessibility
 Americans with Disabilities Act (1990), 2:399
 common carriers, 2:256
 Fair Housing Amendments Act (1988), 4:303 to legal representation, 1:137
 Accession (property), 7:434, 8:146
 Accessories, 1:51–52
 Accidental death benefits, 1:53–54
 Accidental killings, 1:54
 Accidental veins, 1:54
 Accidents and crashes, 1:52, 52–53, 53 accident reconstruction experts, 4:284 accident scene photographs, 1:42 admiralty and maritime law, 1:116, 117, 117
 air travel, 1:191–193
 alcohol-related, 1:204, 7:127–128 automobile, 1:417, 418, 419–420, 422–423, 5:162, 7:225–226
 Challenger explosion (1986), 8:386
 Chernobyl nuclear accident (1986), 7:278
 collisions, 2:508
 commercial aviation, 4:326
 frolic, 5:7
 Good Samaritan doctrine, 5:115
 insurance, 1:52–53
 National Transportation Safety Board, 7:191–192
 shipping law, 9:177
 Three Mile Island accident (1979), 7:278, 280
 workers' compensation, 10:420
 Accidents of navigation, 1:54
 Accommodation endorsements, 1:55, 3:1
 Accommodation papers, 1:55, 55
 Accommodation parties, 1:55–56
 Accompany, 1:56
 Accomplice witnesses, 1:56–57
 Accomplices, 1:52, 56, 3:87, 7:141
 Accord, 1:57
 See also Treaties
 Accord and satisfaction, 1:57–58, 3:179
 Accouchement, 1:58, 58
 See also Births and birthrates
 Accountants, 1:59
 Accounting, 1:59–61
 accrual basis, 1:62
 amortization, 1:269
 audit, 1:407
 balance sheets, 1:452
 capitalization of capital assets, 2:243 cash basis, 2:272
 charge-off, 2:318
 corporate fraud, 3:213, 214–215, 226, 9:1–2, 31, 78, 353
 debits, 3:363
 depletion allowances, 3:402–403
 depreciation, 3:406–407
 double entry, 4:1
 entries, 4:170
 federal budget process, 4:330
 FIFO, 4:399
 financial statements, 4:407 fixed assets, 4:428
 fixed charges, 4:428 floating capital, 4:436
 forensic, 4:453
 General Accounting Office, 5:56
 generally accepted accounting principles, 5:62–63, 9:6
 ledgers, 6:226–227
 LIFO, 6:316
 net, 7:230
 partnerships, 7:381–382 profit and loss statement, 8:138
 Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 9:2
 shareholder review, 3:219
 See also Bookkeeping Accounting Industry Reform Act.
 See Sarbanes-Oxley Act (2002)
 Accounts, 1:58
 Accounts, action on, 1:58–59
 Accounts payable, 1:59
 Accounts receivable, 1:59
 Accounts rendered, 1:59
 Accounts stated, 1:59
 Accredit, 1:61
 Accredited law schools, 1:61–62
 Accretion, 1:62
 Accrual basis, 1:62
 Accrue, 1:62–63
 Accumulated earnings tax, 1:63
 Accumulation trust, 1:63
 Accumulative judgments, 1:63
 Accumulative sentences, 1:63
 Accusations, 1:63–64
 Accusatory bodies, 1:64
 Accused, 1:64
Achille Lauro hijacking (1985), 5:257
 Acid rain, 1:186
 Acknowledgment, 1:64, 65–66
 admissions, 1:119
 wills, 10:380
 Acquiescence, 1:64, 66
 Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome (AIDS), 1:66–76, 70, 75
 AIDS education, 1:68–69, 73–74
 Constitution Party views, 3:125
 drug approval, 4:441–443 human immunodeficiency virus (HIV), 1:66–76
 insurance, 5:231–232
 Koop, Charles Everett, 6:156

- Public Health Service, 8:170–171
 quilt, 1:73
 sex offenses, 9:145–146
 Acquisition charges, 1:76
 Acquit, 1:76–77
 Acquittals, 1:76, 77, 77
 Act, 1:77
 Act for the Suppression of Trade in, and Circulation of Obscene Literature and Articles of Immoral Use (1873). See Comstock Law (1873)
 Act Preserving the Privileges of Ambassadors (Great Britain, 1708), 4:295
 Act to Promote the Welfare of American Seamen in the Merchant Marine of the United States (1915), 6:37
 Action, 1:77–79
 Action, right of, 8:355
 Action on the case, 1:79
 Actionable, 1:79
 Actionable per se, 1:79
 Active euthanasia. See Euthanasia
 Activists
 Abernathy, Ralph David, 1:6, 6–7, 9:253
 Abrams, Jacob, 1:27
 Addams, Jane, 1:88–90, 89
 Allred, Gloria, 1:233–236
 animal rights, 1:275–280
 Anthony, Susan Brownell, 1:289–291
 Augustus, John, 1:407–408
 Baker, Ella Josephine, 1:446–450, 447
 Baldwin, Roger Nash, 1:457–460
 Bates, Daisy Lee Gatson, 1:498–501, 499
 Berkman, Alexander, 1:273, 273, 5:108
 Bond, Horace Julian, 2:75–77, 76
 Borinsky, Mark, 2:99–100
 Brown, John (abolitionist), 1:12–13, 2:137, 137–138
 Carmichael, Stokely, 2:48, 50, 53, 249, 249–252, 9:378, 378
 Carter, James Earl, Jr., 2:261, 263–264
 Carter, Robert Lee, 2:264–265
 Chávez, César Estrada, 2:332–335, 333, 10:161–162
 Cleaver, Leroy Eldridge, 2:50–51, 433–436, 435
 Comstock, Anthony, 3:68
 Crockett, George William, Jr., 3:300–301
 Darrow, Clarence, 3:338
 Davis, Angela Yvonne, 3:345–348, 346
 Debs, Eugene, 3:363–365, 364, 9:230–231, 233, 233
 Dix, Dorothea Lynde, 3:481, 481–483
 Douglass, Frederick, 4:13, 13–15
 Du Bois, William Edward Burghardt, 4:34–36, 5:421
 Dworkin, Andrea, 4:48–51
 Eastman, Crystal, 4:56–58
 Edelman, Marian Wright, 4:59–61, 61
 Ettelbrick, Paula Louise, 4:234–236
 Evers, Medgar Wiley, 4:243–245, 244
 Farrakhan, Louis, 7:166
 Foltz, Clara Shortridge, 4:437–439
 Friedan, Betty, 5:1–4, 2
 Gandhi, Mohandas, 5:28–30, 29, 7:344, 345
 Garrison, William Lloyd, 5:40–41, 41
 Garvey, Marcus Moziiah, 5:41–43
 gay and lesbian rights, 5:45–46
 Gitlow, Benjamin, 5:97
 Goldman, Emma, 1:273, 273, 5:107, 107–109
 Gompers, Samuel, 5:112–113, 113
 Hamer, Fannie Lou Townsend, 5:175–177, 176
 Hampton, Fred, 2:51–52
 Hanford, Ben, 9:233
 Hayes, George E.C., 5:208–209, 209
 Haywood, William Dudley, 5:217–218, 218
 Ireland, Patricia, 5:481–483, 482
 Jackson, Jesse Louis, Sr., 5:490–493, 491
 Johnson, James Weldon, 6:20–22, 21
 Jones, Elaine Ruth, 6:38–39, 39
 Jordan, Vernon E., Jr., 7:193
 Kimbrow, Warren, 2:51, 52
 Lachowsky, Hyman, 1:27
 Lightner, Candy, 7:127
 Lipman, Samuel, 1:27
 Little-Collins, Ella Lee, 6:340–343
 Liuzzo, Viola Fauver Gregg, 6:344–346, 345
 Lockwood, Belva Ann, 6:364–365, 365
 MacKinnon, Catharine Alice, 4:48, 50, 6:383–385, 384
 Malcolm X, 6:401–404, 401–404, 402, 7:166
 Marshall, Thurgood, 6:443–444
 Meredith, James Howard, 7:40–43, 41
 Mott, Lucretia, 9:98–100
 Nader, Ralph, 1:418, 419, 419, 5:139, 139–140, 7:159–162, 160
 Nation, Carry, 9:454
 Newkirk, Ingrid, 7:423
 Newton, Huey, 2:49–53, 7:241–243, 242
 Norton, Eleanor Holmes, 7:268–270, 269
 Parks, Rosa, 7:110, 110–111, 365–368, 366
 Paul, Alice Stokes, 7:410, 410–411
 Perkins, Frances, 7:428–429, 429
 Powell, Adam Clayton, Jr., 8:46–47
 Quakers, 7:344–345, 346
 Randolph, Asa Philip, 8:228, 228–229
 Rankin, Jeannette, 8:231–232
 Robinson, Spottswood William, III, 8:375, 375–376
 Roosevelt, Anna Eleanor, 8:390–392, 391
 Rubenstein, William Bruce, 8:413–414
 Rush, Benjamin, 8:427–428
 Sanger, Margaret Higgins, 2:39–40, 8:456–459, 457
 Scheidler, Joseph, 1:15
 Schlafly, Phyllis Stewart, 9:14–16, 15
 Seale, Bobby, 2:49–53, 339–340
 Shields, Nelson “Pete,” 2:99–100
 Shuttlesworth, Fred, 9:253
 Smith, Mary Louise, 9:217–218
 Sonosky, Marvin J., 9:245–246
 Stanton, Elizabeth Cady, 9:98–100, 99, 305, 305–307
 Steimer, Molly, 1:27
 Steinem, Gloria, 9:338–339, 339
 Stone, Lucy, 9:357, 357–358
 strategic lawsuits against public participation (SLAPP), 9:366–368
 Strossen, Nadine, 9:375–377
 Terrell, Mary Eliza Church, 10:2, 2–3

- Terry, Randall, 1:15
 Thoreau, Henry David, 10:23–25, 24
 Trask, Mililani B., 10:86–87
 Truth, Sojourner, 10:124–125, 125
 Wald, Patricia McGowan, 10:266–267
 Washington, Booker Taliaferro, 10:297, 297–298
 Wattleton, Alyce Faye, 10:314–316, 315
 Wells-Barnett, Ida Bell, 10:339–342, 340
 Wilkins, Roy Ottoway, 10:375, 375–376
 Williams, Franklin Hall, 10:386
 Young, Whitney M., Jr., 7:193
See also Advocacy organizations; King, Martin Luther, Jr.; Native American leaders
- Acts of God, 1:52–53, 77, 77
 Actual authority, 1:168
 Actual cash value, 1:79–80
 Actual cause, 2:277
 Actual-evidence test for double jeopardy, 4:5
 Actual malice. See Malice
 Actual notice, 1:80, 7:436
 Actual possession, 1:140, 8:41
 Actuaries, 1:80
Actus reus, 1:80
Ad damnum, 1:80
Ad hoc, 1:81
Ad hominem, 1:81
Ad interim, 1:81
Ad litem, 1:81
Ad valorem, 1:81
 Adams, John, 1:81–83, 82
 appointments, constitutionality of, 6:425 Chase, Samuel, support of, 2:326, 330
 closing arguments, 2:457
 judicial appointments, 7:54
 Marshall, John, appointment of, 6:439
 Paxton's Case of the Writ of Assistance, 4:154
 Adams, John Quincy, 1:83–86, 84
 Amistad case (1839–1841), 1:264
 election of 1824, 4:99
 Adams, Samuel, 2:85
 Adaptations, 1:86–88
 Add-on, 1:88
 Addams, Jane, 1:88–90, 89
 Addicts and addiction, 1:90–91, 91 criminal drug addiction, 8:376–377
 cruel and unusual punishment, 3:307
 gambling, 9:323
 Office of National Drug Control Policy, 7:308
 Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services, 5:222
 tobacco, 10:47–48
 treatment, 5:258–259
 Additional extended coverage, 1:91
 Additional instructions, 1:91
 Additur, 1:91–92
 Address to Congress, September 20, 2001 (Bush) (document), 12:488–492
 Adduce, 1:92
 Ademption, 1:92, 10:382
 Adequate, 1:92
 Adequate remedy at law, 1:92–93
 Adhesion contracts, 1:93, 3:168–169
 Adjacent, 1:93
 Adjective law, 1:93
 Adjoining landowners, 1:93–95
 Adjourned terms, 1:95
 Adjournments, 1:95
 Adjudge, 1:95
 Adjudication, 1:96–97, 100, 109–110, 114
 Adjudicative facts, 1:97
 Adjunction, 1:97–98
 Adjuration, 1:98
 Adjust, 1:98
 Adjustable-rate mortgages, 7:120
 Adjusted gross income, 1:98
 Adjusters, 1:98
 Adjustment securities, 1:98
 Adkins, Janet, 6:131–132
 Administer, 1:98
 Administration, 1:98
 Administration, Office of, 1:98–100, 99*f*
 Administrative acts, 1:100
 Administrative adjudication, 1:100
 Administrative agencies, 1:100–104
 accounting systems, 5:56 ad hoc committees, 1:81
 adjudication, 1:100
 Administrative Conference of the United States, 1:104 administrative law and procedures, 1:105–111
 air traffic control, 1:146–147
 alternative dispute resolution, 1:241, 6:64 arbitrary actions, 1:325–326 audits, 5:55–56
 codes, 2:472
 Constitution, 3:131
 Constitution Party views, 3:125
 delegation, 3:391–392
 disaster relief, 3:444
 discretion, 3:450–451
 employee political activities, 5:201 environmental impact statements, 7:174
 executive orders, 4:274–275
 exhaustion of remedies, 4:281 farm programs, 1:173–174, 177–179
 hierarchy of law, 6:211
 independent, 4:272 insurance regulation, 5:414 legislative vetoes, 10:215
 licenses, 6:313–314
 Privacy Act (1974), 8:107–108
 public administrative bodies, 8:164–166
 publishing, 8:174–175
 quasi-judicial actions, 8:199–200
 quasi-legislative actions, 8:200 regulations, 8:272–273
 rules, 8:273, 416
 sanctions, 8:454
 state vs. federal agencies, 8:165 sunset provisions, 9:399–400
 See also Executive branch
 Administrative boards, 1:104
 Administrative Conference of the United States (ACUS), 1:104
 Administrative discretion, 1:104–105
 Administrative law and procedures, 1:105–111
 adjudication, 1:100
 alternative dispute resolution, 6:64
 arbitrary actions, 1:325
 Fair Housing Act violations, 4:304
 Federal Trade Commission actions, 4:360
 Four Horsemen, 8:394
 Freund, Ernst, 4:506–507
 judicial oversight, 1:101–102
 Mathews v. Eldridge test, 6:462–463
 Administrative law judges. See Hearing examiners

- Administrative Office of the United States Courts, 1:111–113
- Administrative Office of the U.S. Courts, 2:344
- Administrative Procedure Act (1946), 1:113–115
 census counts, 2:295
 judicial review, 1:110–111
 quasi-judicial actions, 8:199
 rule-making, 8:273
- Administrators. See Executors and administrators
- Admiralty and maritime law, 1:115–119
 barratry, 1:492
 bottomry, 2:86
 boundaries, 2:87–88
 clause paramount, 2:426
 Dana, Richard Henry, 3:335
 demurrage, 3:400
 Federal Maritime Commission, 4:348–349
 fire statutes, 4:412
 first salvor rule, 8:452
 flotsam, 4:437
 Hamilton, Alexander, 5:180
 jetsam, 6:13
 Jones Act (1920), 6:36–37
 law of the sea as distinct from, 6:214
 libelants, 6:305 maintenance and cure, 8:438
 maritime liens, 6:431–432
 marque and reprisal, 6:433
 naval warfare, 8:426
 peril, 8:451
 pilots, 7:447–448
 piracy, 7:452–453
 possessory actions, 8:42
 privateering, 8:110
 prize law, 8:116
 proctors, 8:127
 rescue, 8:329–330
 restitution, 8:337
 sailors, 8:438
 salvage, 8:450–451
 Wayne, James Moore, 10:317
 York-Antwerp Rules, 10:448–449
See also Shipping law
- Admissible, 1:119
 connecting up doctrine, 3:100
 Frye rule, 8:29
 rape shield laws, 9:145
 reasonable doubt, 8:246
 testimony, 4:248
- Admission (of facts), 1:119
- Admission to the bar, 1:120–122, 121
Bradwell v. Illinois (1872) (document), 12:398–403
 Hale, Matt, application of, 10:364 oath of prior loyalty, 6:377
 women, 2:98, 99
- Admissions (college). See Colleges and universities
- Admonition, 1:122
- Adopt, 1:122
- Adoption, 1:122–132
 abandoned children, 1:3
 adoption of adults, 1:123 adoption petitions, 1:130–131 child custody disputes, 2:353–354 consent of fathers, 5:328, 7:360
 equitable, 4:201
 Native American children, 5:384
 by same-sex couples, 5:49
 surrogate motherhood, 9:410–411, 415
 unemployment compensation, 10:147
- Adult education. See Educational outreach programs
- Adult entertainment establishments, 6:314–315
- Adulteration, 1:133
- Adultery, 1:133–135
 Clinton, Bill, 3:130
 connivance, 3:100
 DNA evidence, 3:487
- Adults, 1:133
 age of majority, 1:166, 6:401
 contributing to delinquency of minors, 3:182 grown-up adoptees, 1:132 guardian ad litem, 5:157–158 infants tried as, 5:394
 legal age, 6:233
 support for adult child, 7:363
- Advance medical directives, 3:360, 4:84–85, 7:406–407
- Advance sheets, 1:135
- Advanced Automotive Technologies, Office of, 4:147
- Advanced Research Projects Agency (ARPA), 5:451
- Advancements, 1:135–136, 3:416–417
- Advances, 1:135, 4:166
- Adversary system, 1:136–139
 family law, 4:320
 inquisitorial system, 5:403
 juvenile cases, 5:45
- lawyers as advocates, 8:135–136 parties, 7:374
 prosecutors' responsibility, 8:135–136
See also Jurisprudence
- Adverse interest, 1:139
- Adverse possession, 1:139–142
- Advertising
 alcoholic beverages, 6:333–335 campaign, 4:89, 5:111, 6:150, 8:12–13
 contracts, 3:170
 Fair Housing Act (1968), 4:303
 false, 3:149, 4:307–310, 10:151–152
 First Amendment protection, 4:415–416, 503
 gambling, 6:334
 Granger Movement, 5:128
 newspapers, 7:133–134
 obscenity, 3:69
 offers, 7:305
 printers ink statutes, 8:84
 product liability, 8:130–131
 South Carolina state lottery, 9:324
 tobacco, 10:43–46, 46–47
See also Legal advertising
- Advice and consent, 1:142
- Advise, 1:142
- Advisement, 1:142–143
- Advisory Committee on Trade Policy and Negotiations, 10:182–183
- Advisory juries, 1:143, 10:102
- Advisory opinions, 1:143–144
 International Court of Justice, 5:443
 justiciability, 6:93
 Randolph, Edmund Jennings, 1:396
 state attorneys general, 1:398
- Advisory warning system (terrorism), 5:277, 277
- Advocacy, 1:144, 8:135–136
- Advocacy organizations
 American Association of Retired Persons, 1:244–246, 4:317, 318
 American Indian Movement, 1:254–257
 American Israel Public Affairs Committee, 1:258
 American Legion, 1:258–259
 American Union against Militarism, 4:58
 Amnesty International, 1:267–269

- Anti-Defamation League, 1:294–296
- Brady Center to Prevent Gun Violence, 2:99–101
- Center for Constitutional Rights, 2:297–298, 6:165
- Center for Law and Education, 2:298–299
- Center for Law and Social Policy, 2:299
- Center for Oceans Law and Policy, 2:299–300
- Center on Social Welfare Policy and Law, 2:300
- Children's Defense Fund, 4:60–61
- Christian Coalition, 2:379–380
- Citizens for Decency Through Law, 2:387–388
- Community Service Organization, 2:333
- Compassion in Dying, 4:239–240
- Congress of Racial Equality, 2:250, 407
- Electronic Frontier Foundation, 4:104–105
- End-of-Life Choices, 4:238–239
- False Memory Syndrome Foundation, 8:258
- Granger Movement, 5:128
- Gray Panthers, 5:134–135
- Human Rights Watch, 5:307–308
- Lambda Legal Defense Fund, 4:234–235
- League of United Latin American Citizens, 6:222–223
- Legal Action Project, 2:100
- Medgar Evers Institute, 4:247
- Mothers Against Drunk Drivers, 1:205–206, 7:127–128
- Movement Support Network, 2:298
- NARAL Pro-Choice America, 7:163
- National Center for Lesbian Rights, 4:235
- National Center for Missing and Exploited Children, 6:139
- National Council of La Raza, 7:170–171
- National Council of Women's Organizations, 2:461
- National Federation of Independent Businesses, 7:175
- National Gay and Lesbian Task Force, 7:176–177
- National Guard Association, 7:66
- National Organization for the Reform of Marijuana Laws, 7:185
- National Organization for Women, 4:374, 5:2–3, 481–483, 7:186, 8:220–221
- National Rifle Association, 7:187–188
- National Right to Life Committee, 4:240, 7:188–189
- National Urban League, 7:192–194
- National Woman Suffrage Association, 10:408–410
- New Black Panther Party for Self-Defense, 2:52–53
- New York Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, 2:344
- Niagara movement, 4:35–36
- Operation People United to Serve Humanity, 5:491–492
- Organization of Afro-American Unity, 6:342–343, 403–404
- Parents' Music Resource Center, 2:287
- People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals, 1:276–280, 7:423–424
- Planned Parenthood Federation of America, 2:40, 8:458–459
- Rainbow/PUSH Coalition, 5:492
- Sierra Club, 9:184
- Sons of Liberty, 9:298
- Southern Christian Leadership Conference, 1:6–7, 448, 5:491, 9:252–253
- Southern Poverty Law Center, 9:253–255
- U.S. English, 4:159
- Veterans of Foreign Wars, 10:210–211
- Victims of Child Abuse Laws, 2:346
- See also* American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU); NAACP (National Association for the Advancement of Colored People); Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC)
- Advocate-witness rule, 6:219
- Advocates, 1:144, 10:221
- Aerial warfare, 8:425
- Aeronautics, 1:144–148
- Aesthetic nuisances, 4:172
- Aetna Inc., 5:232
- Affidavits, 1:148–151, 149, 150 information and belief, 5:396
search warrants, 9:44, 45
verification, 10:204–205
- Affiliation proceedings, 1:151
- Affinity, 1:151
- Affirm, 1:151
- Affirmance, 1:152, 307–308
- Affirmations, 1:152, 7:293
- Affirmative action, 1:152–158
Brennan, William Joseph, Jr., 2:110–111
burden of proof, 10:439
civil rights, 2:398–399
colleges and universities, 2:500–501, 4:71–72
equal protection, 4:193–194
Gratz v. Bollinger (2003), 8:270 highway construction projects, 9:277
Marshall, Thurgood, 6:444
NAACP Legal Defense and Education Fund, 7:159
O'Connor, Sandra Day, 7:303
Powell, Lewis Franklin, Jr., 8:49
public contracts, 8:168
Regents of the University of California v. Bakke (1978), 8:269–270
Rehnquist, William Hubbs, 8:275
Title VII, Civil Rights Act, 8:212–213
United Steelworkers v. Weber (1979), 10:165–166
Wygant v. Jackson Board of Education (1986), 10:438–439
See also Civil Rights Movement; Integration and desegregation
- Affirmative asylum, 1:383
- Affirmative defense, 1:159
assumption of risk, 1:379 sexual harassment cases, 9:155
- Affirmative easements, 4:56
- Affray, 1:159
- Afghanistan, war on terrorism, 9:113, 10:283
- AFL-CIO. See American Federation of Labor-Congress of Industrial Organizations (AFL-CIO)
- Aforesaid, 1:159
- Aforethought, 1:159

- Africa
 AIDS, 1:76
Amistad case (1839-1841), 9:204
 Ellis, George Washington, 4:112-113
 slave trade (1600s), 9:205
- African American history abolition movement, 1:11-13
 Baker, Ella Josephine, 1:446-450
 Bates, Daisy Lee Gatson, 1:498-500
 Black Panther Party, 2:48-53
 Black Power movement, 2:53-54
 cultural heritage, 2:54
Dred Scott v. Sandford (1857), 3:316, 337, 7:23
 Du Bois, William Edward Burghardt, 4:34-36
 Ellis, George Washington, 4:112-113
 Ford, James W., 3:45
 Garvey, Marcus Moziah, 5:41-43
 gerrymandering, 5:72-74
 Greenberg, Jack, 5:140-141
 Hamer, Fannie Lou Townsend, 5:175-177
 Hastie, William Henry, 5:200
 Hooks, Benjamin Lawson, 5:285-287
 integration, 5:420-424, 9:17-25
 Jackson, Jesse Louis, Sr., 5:491-492
 Jeffries, Leonard, 1:47-48
 lynchings, 6:380-382, 381
 Montgomery bus boycotts (1955-1956), 7:110-111
 NAACP, 7:155-156
 Nation of Islam, 7:166
 National Urban League, 7:193-194
 Parks, Rosa, 7:365-368
 Pullman porters, 1:34-35
 Reconstruction, post-Civil War, 1:194-195, 8:253-255
 Truth, Sojourner, 10:124-125, 125
 Tuskegee Syphilis Study, 10:126-127
 Washington, Booker Taliaferro, 10:297-298
 Wells-Barnett, Ida Bell, 10:339-342
See also Black Codes; Civil Rights Movement; Jim Crow laws; Slavery and slaves
- African American studies, 1:47
- African Americans
 adopted children, 1:124
 disfranchisement, 3:454*t*, 10:249-251
 Earl Warren Legal Training Program, 4:55 opposition to affirmative action, 1:155-156 selective prosecution and punishment, 8:187
 voting rights, 2:250, 10:249-253
 Voting Rights Act (1965), 10:254-255
See also Discrimination, racial and ethnic
- After-acquired property clauses, 1:159, 1:160
- After-acquired title, 1:160
- After-born children, 1:160
- Age of consent, 1:166 criminal capacity, 3:276 hunting licenses, 5:316 infancy, 5:391
 legal, 6:233
 legal drinking, 1:201, 9:276 of majority, 1:166, 6:401 mandatory retirement, 5:135
 marriage, 6:436
 misrepresentation of, 3:173 negligence liability, 7:223 of reason, 1:166 requirement for holding office, 1:166-167 retirement, 9:100, 223
 sexual abuse, 9:147
 statutory rape, 9:139, 336
 Supreme Court justices, 3:312
 voting, 10:135
See also Discrimination, age
- Age Discrimination in Employment Act (1967), 1:160-165, 161, 3:453
 employment law, 4:132
- Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, 4:185
 equal protection, 4:197
 federal employees, 4:185
 retirement, 9:101
 suits against states, 9:256-257
- Age Discrimination in Employment Act (1996), 4:86
- The Age of Reason* (Paine), 7:351
- Age requirement for holding office, 1:166-167
- Agency, 1:167-169
- Agency for Health Care Policy and Research, 8:170
- Agency for Healthcare Research and Quality (AHRQ), 8:170
- Agency for Toxic Substances and Disease Registry (ATSDR), 8:170
- Agent Orange, 10:327
- Agents, 1:169
 agency, 1:167-169
 auctioneers, 1:403-404
 brokers distinction, 2:131-132 entertainment, 4:166
 fiscal, 4:420
 limited liability companies, 6:319 merchant vessels, 9:175 power of attorney, 8:54
 proctors, 8:127
 professional sports, 9:290
 real estate, 4:303-304
respondeat superior, 8:334-336
- Aggravated assault, 1:169, 169, 370
- Aggravated robbery, 8:369
- Aggravation, 1:170
 battery, 1:504
 murder cases, 5:144
- Aggression, 1:170
- Aggressive collection, 1:170
- Aggrieved parties, 1:170
- Aging, Administration on, 5:220-221
- Aging Aircraft Safety Act (1991), 1:191
- Agnew, Spiro T., 4:448, 6:135, 135-136
- Agrarian republicanism, 3:119, 336-337, 396-397
- Agreements, 1:170
ab initio, 1:1
 to agree, 3:172
 conspiracies, 3:107-110
 covenants, 3:254-256
 credit cards, 3:263-265
 disaffirm, 3:441
 gentlemen's, 5:71
 hold harmless agreements, 5:272
 illegal trade, 9:167-168
 illusory promises, 5:328-329
 integrated agreements, 5:420
 marital, 6:430
 meeting of minds, 7:35
 naked contracts, 7:162
 negative covenants, 7:220 not to contest a will, 8:122 operating, 6:318
 partnerships, 7:379-380
 rescission, 8:327

- secured transactions, 9:65–67
 security (debt guarantee), 9:80 separation, 9:110–111
 subordination, 9:382
 surrogate motherhood, 9:412–414
 understanding, 10:143
 voting trusts, 10:255, 256–257
See also Contracts
- Agricultural Adjustment Act (1933), 1:171–172, 179, 7:233
- Agricultural Labor Relations Act (1975), 2:333–334
- Agricultural law, 1:170–175
- Agriculture, Department of (USDA), 1:173, 175–179, 176, 275
- Agriculture subsidies, 1:172–173, 178, 179–182, 3:27–28, 7:233
- A.H. Robins Co., 1:469
- Aid and abet, 1:182
- Aid and comfort, 1:182
- Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC), 10:336–337
 child support, 2:365
 man-in-the-house rule, 6:411–412
- Aiding escape, 4:206
- Aiding the enemy acts, 1:182–183
- AIDS. See Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome (AIDS)
- “Ain’t I a Woman” (Truth) (document), 12:396–397
- Air bags, safety standards, 1:419
- Air Carrier Access Act (1986), 2:256
- Air commerce, 1:145
- Air Force
 cost issues, 5:331
Frontiero v. Richardson (1973), 5:7–8, 95–96 military court jurisdiction, 7:61–62
 National Guard, 7:177
 origins, 1:334–335
- Air marshals, 4:326
- Air pollution, 1:185, 186, 186–187
 commerce regulation, 3:4
 emissions standards, 1:420–422
 Environmental Protection Agency controls, 4:183 statutory law, 4:174–176
See also Indoor air quality
- Air Pollution Control Act (1955), 1:184, 4:175–176, 184, 8:26
- Air traffic control
 federal responsibility, 1:146–147, 147
- strike (1981), 1:189, 4:325
- Air Transportation Safety and System Stabilization Act (2001), 1:193
- Air travel
 impact of deregulation, 1:189–191
 National Transportation Safety Board, 7:191–192 passenger rates, 1:188
- Aircraft
 certification, 1:145 engines, 3:50
 hijackings, 5:255–257
 national character of aircraft, 7:169
 ownership, 1:146
 safety issues, 1:191–192
- Aircraft Piracy Act (1961), 5:256
- Airline Deregulation Act (1978), 2:255–256
- Airlines, 1:147, 187–194
 age discrimination, 1:160–161
 eminent domain, 4:123, 124
 Federal Aviation Administration, 4:324–326, 10:81–82
 frequent-flier miles, 10:78
 labor-management relations, 6:176–177
 National Mediation Board, 7:184–185
 passenger rates, 1:188
 security, 5:256–257
 smoking bans, 9:408–409
See also September 11 terrorist attacks (2001)
- Airports
 air traffic control, 1:147 operation regulations, 1:145–146
- Airspace rights, 1:144
- Akerman, Amos Tappan, 1:194–195, 195
- al-Qaeda
 Address to Congress, September 20, 2001 (Bush) (document), 12:488–492
 enemy combatants, 4:142–143
 international terrorism incidents, 10:9
 September 11 terrorist attacks, 9:112–113
United States v. Mohamed (2000), 3:113–114
 war on terrorism, 10:283
- Alabama
 alimony law, 1:228–229
 Brickell, Robert Coman, 2:120–121
 English-only law, 4:161
- gaming laws, 5:27
- gerrymandering, 5:72
- integration of State Troopers, 9:254
- Johnson, Frank Minis, Jr., 6:19–20
- judicial sale, 6:59
- libel law, 7:238
- Limestone Correctional facility, 3:305
- martial law, 6:446
- Reynolds v. Sims* (1964), 8:349–351
- Ten Commandments, posting of the, 8:288
- University of Alabama v. Garrett* (2001), 3:440
- voting rights, 4:196
- Wallace, George Corley, 10:268–270
- Watts, Thomas Hill, 3:76–77
- Alabama (warship) claims, 3:350–351, 5:266, 10:264
- Alaska
 independent counsel, 5:380 marriage laws, 5:48
 Megan’s Law, 7:37–38
 Pierrepont, Edwards, travels to, 7:447
- Alaska Boundary Dispute, 1:195–196
- Albania, 8:31
- Albany Law School Journal*, 6:215
- Albright, Madeleine Korbel, 1:196–198, 198
- Albuquerque (NM), anti-gang laws, 5:33
- Alcatraz
 closing, 8:88, 90
 Native American occupation (1969–1971), 1:255–256, 482
- Alcohol, 1:198–207
 advertising, 6:333–335
 bootlegging, 8:140, 140
 consumer spending, 1:203
 dramshop acts, 4:18–19
 drunkards, 4:34
 drunkenness, 4:34
 DWI, 4:47–49
 Eighteenth Amendment, 4:77–78
 employee testing, 8:105
 intemperance, 5:429
 intoxication, 5:471–472
 legal drinking age, 9:276
 Prohibition, 8:139–141
 Prohibition Party, 8:141–142
 regulation, 1:207–209
 repeal of Prohibition, 10:132–133

- sale of, 9:136
 school policies, 5:353
 Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration, 9:387–388 treatment over incarceration, 5:358
 Whiskey Rebellion (1794), 10:353–355
See also Temperance Movement
- Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms, and Explosives, Bureau of (ATF), 1:207–209, 208
 Branch Davidian raid (1993), 2:101–103
 responsibilities of, 10:90
- Alcohol manufacturers free speech issues, 1:208 liability issues, 1:206
- Alcoholics Anonymous, 1:199
- Aldermen or alderwomen, 1:209
- Aleatory contracts, 1:209, 3:169
- Alexander, Ferris, 4:458
- Alexander, James, 1:209–210
- ALI. See American Law Institute (ALI)
- Alias, 1:210
- Alias writ, 1:210
- Alien and Sedition Acts (1798), 1:210–212
 Chase, Samuel, 2:330
 Jefferson, Thomas, opposition, 9:81
 Kentucky Resolutions, 6:129
 Virginia and Kentucky Resolves, 10:236–237
 Virginia and Kentucky Resolves (document), 12:133–135
 XYZ Affair (1796), 10:443
- Alien enemies, 1:212–213
- Alien Registration Act (1940). See Smith Act (1940)
- Alien Registration Receipt Cards. See Green cards
- Alienable, 1:213
- Alienate, 1:213
- Alienation clauses, 1:213
- Alienation of affection, 1:213
- Aliens, 1:213–227, 227
 Calvo Clause, 2:214
 Calvo doctrine, 2:214
 citizenship declarations, 3:368 constitutional protection, 2:383 custody, 3:325
 deportation, 1:107, 3:403, 451
 equal protection, 4:194–195
 green cards, 5:139
- Smith Act (1940), 5:264
- Supplemental Security Income, 10:335
- temporary allegiance, 2:384
- USA PATRIOT Act (2001), 10:184
- See also* Immigration and emigration
- Alimony, 1:227–230
 adultery, 1:135
 cohabitation, 2:476–477
 diplomatic immunity, 3:431–432 divorce settlements, 3:479
 family law, 4:316
 husbands and wives, 5:319
 lump-sum, 6:379
 sex discrimination, 9:136
See also Maintenance
- All-African People's Revolutionary Party (AAPRP), 2:252
- All fours, 1:230
- Allegations, 1:230
- Allege, 1:230
- Allegiance, 1:231–232, 2:384–386
- Allergic reaction and product liability, 8:131
- Allocation, 1:232–233, 9:168
- Allocutions, 1:233
- Allodial, 1:233
- Allographs, 1:233
- Allonges, 1:233
- Allotments, 1:233
- Allred, Gloria, 1:233–236, 235
- Alter ego, 1:236, 3:222, 5:411–412
- Alteration of instruments, 1:236–237
- Alterations, 1:236
 cancellation of an instrument, 2:232
 commercial paper, 3:22
 highways, 5:253
- Alternative corrections recidivism prevention, 8:251 state initiatives, 8:187
- Alternative dispute resolution, 1:237–241, 239
 administrative agencies, 6:64
 civil procedure, 2:394–395
 consumer protection, 3:151
 labor disputes, 4:349–350
 minitrials, 7:80–81
 vs. litigation, 1:136
- Alternative relief, 1:241
- Alternative writs, 1:241–242
- Altgeld, John P., 3:338
- Altman, Robert, 2:442–443
- Aluminum Co. of America (ALCOA), 1:300
- Alvarez-Machain, Humberto, 4:294
- Alzheimer's Disease, 8:244
- AM radio, 2:125
- Amateur athletes, 9:282–285
- Amazon.com, 3:12
- Ambassadors and consuls, 1:242–243
 State Department, 9:320 to the United Nations, 5:105–106
See also Diplomatic agents and diplomacy
- Amber Alert laws, 2:357, 357–358, 6:139
- Ambiguity, 1:243–244
 bright line rules, 2:123–124
 construction, 2:235–236, 3:137
 contracts, 3:181–182
 custodial interrogations, 3:323
 possession, 8:41
 within the statute, 10:404
- Ambit, 1:244
- Ambrose, Stephen, 7:455
- Ambulance chasers, 1:244
- Ambulatory, 1:244
- Ameliorating waste, 10:306
- Amendments, 1:244
 corporate bylaws, 3:222–223
 patents, 7:394
See also Constitutional amendments
- America 2000: An Educational Strategy (Department of Education), 4:62–63
- American Airlines, 6:176–177
- American Anti-Slavery Society (AAS), 1:12
- American Association of Retired Persons (AARP), 1:244–246, 4:317, 318
- American Association of University Professors (AAUP), 1:44–45
- American Bankers Association, 1:246
- American Bar Association (ABA), 1:246–248
 attorney misconduct, 1:399, 400
 Barr, William Pelham, 1:491
 Bill of Rights Committee, 2:314–315
 cameras in court, 2:214–215, 218–219
 Canons of Judicial Ethics, 2:466–467 client security funds, 2:440

- Code of Judicial Conduct, 2:466–467, 8:259 criminal law task force, 3:277
 divorce attorneys report, 3:480
Jurimetrics Journal of Law, Science, and Technology, 6:68
 legal advertising, 6:230–232
 legal education, 6:236–237
 legal specialization, 6:252
 Lindbergh kidnapping trial (1932), 6:329
 Model Rules of Professional Conduct, 4:232–233, 8:133, 134 organization goals, 1:485
 pro bono services, 8:117
 Ramo, Roberta Cooper, 8:226–228, 227
 Special Committee on Lay Assistants for Lawyers, 6:234
 specialization, 9:265–266
 standards of conduct, 6:219
 Uniform Commercial Code, 10:157
 zero tolerance policies, 10:455
 American Birth Control League. See Planned Parenthood Federation of America American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU), 1:248–252
 anti-gang laws, 5:32–33
 Baldwin, Roger Nash, 1:458–460
 Eastman, Crystal, 4:58
 Internet speech, 5:454
 Lesbian and Gay Rights Project, 8:413 prosecution of drug-addicted mothers, 4:387
 school prayer, 4:149
 Strossen, Nadine, 9:375–377
 USA PATRIOT Act (2001), 4:452–453, 8:105
The American Crisis (Paine), 7:350
 American Digest System, 3:367
 American Farm Bureau Federation, 1:252–253
 American Federation of Labor-Congress of Industrial Organizations (AFL-CIO), 1:253–254 formation, 10:70
 Goldberg, Arthur Joseph, 5:104
 Gompers, Samuel, 5:112–113
 history, 6:178–179
 political action committees, 8:11–12
 Randolph, Asa Philip, 8:229
 American Federation of State, County, and Municipal Employees (AFSCME), 3:51
 American Folklife Center, 6:311
 American Honda Motor Co., 3:111–113
 American Indian Movement (AIM), 1:254–257, 481–483
 American Indian Religious Freedom Act (1996), 1:257
 American Israel Public Affairs Committee (AIPAC), 1:258
 American Japanese Evacuation Claims Act (1948), 6:5
 American Judicature Society (AJS), 5:314, 315
American Jurisprudence, 2:412
 American Law Institute (ALI)
 codification, 2:472
 criminal responsibility and mental capacity, 4:46
 Model Acts, 7:98
 Restatement of Contracts, 3:207 restatements of law, 4:233, 8:134, 336–337
 sales law, 8:449
 Uniform Commercial Code, 10:157
American Law Register, 6:215
American Law Reports, 6:242, 332
American Law Review, 6:215
 American Legion, 1:258–259
 American Medical Association (AMA), 1:259–260 abortion, opposition to, 8:309–310 code of ethics, 4:232 expert witnesses, 4:249
 forced cesarean sections, 4:386
 prosecution of drug-addicted mothers, 4:387 recovered memories policy, 8:258
 American Railway Union (ARU), 3:339, 363–364, 8:182
 American Red Cross, 3:443–444, 444
 American Revolution. See War of Independence
 American Society of Criminology, 3:292
 American Telephone & Telegraph Co. (AT&T)
 Bell holding company mergers, 7:48 monopoly, 9:448
United States v. American Telephone & Telegraph Co. (1982), 1:302
 American Temperance Society, 1:201–202
 American Union Against Militarism (AUAM), 4:58
 Americans with Disabilities Act (1990)
 AIDS patients, 1:71–72
 caps on insurance, 5:231–232
 civil rights, 2:399
 common carriers, 2:256
 discrimination, 3:436–440, 453
 employment issues, 1:328, 4:132, 185
 equal protection, 4:197
 state employees, 9:257
 Ames, Aldrich Hazen, 2:304–305, 305, 4:212
 Ames, James Barr, 1:260–261, 261
 Ames, Samuel, 1:261–262, 262
 Amicable actions, 1:262
 Amicus curiae, 1:262–263
 friend of the court, 5:4
 Solicitor General, U.S., 9:240
 Amish religious beliefs
 Social Security withholding, 8:291
 Wisconsin v. Yoder (1972), 8:290
Amistad case (1839–1841), 1:86, 263–265, 264, 9:204
Amistad (movie), 1:264–265
 Ammunition customs restrictions, 3:327
 Amnesty, 1:265–266, 4:448–449
 Amnesty International, 1:267–269
 Amniocentesis, 5:67–68
 Amortization, 1:269–270, 270–271, 3:266
 Amotion, 1:269
 Amount in controversy, 1:269, 272, 6:235
 Amtrak, 8:225
 Amtrak Reform and Accountability Act (1997), 8:225
 Analogy, 1:272
 Analytical jurisprudence, 1:408–409
 Anarchism, 1:272–274
 Gitlow v. New York (1925), 5:97–98
 Goldman, Emma, 5:108
 Haymarket Square riot (1886), 5:211
 socialism, 9:230
 Ancient law
 double jeopardy, 4:2
 Draconian laws, 4:16
 engrossment, 4:161
 legal ethics, 8:133

- punishment, 8:183
rule of law, 8:420–421
See also Greece, ancient;
Roman law
- Ancient lights, 1:274
Ancient writing, 1:274
Ancillary, 1:274–275
Ancillary administration, 1:275
Anderson, Marian, 8:392
Andrade, Leandro, 3:421–422,
10:27–31
Andrew, Daniel, 8:443
Anencephaly, 7:326–327, 331
Animal Enterprise Protection Act
(1994), 1:277–278
Animal rights, 1:275–280
cruelty against, 3:308
People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals,
7:423–424
Animal Welfare Act (1994),
1:275, 279
Animals cloning research, 5:64–65
Endangered Species Act (1973), 4:135, 139–141
ferae naturae, 4:380
game, 5:25, 25–26, 26
hunting, 5:316–318
personal property, 7:433
pets, honorary trusts, 5:285
poaching, 8:1
religious ritual animal slaughter, 8:292, 10:143 swine flu, 5:334
tort law, 9:370
Animus, 1:280
Anishinabe Ojibwa, 1:481
Ankenbrandt, Carol, 1:35–36
Annexation, 1:280–281
Hawaii, 3:502
Texas, 8:18–19
Annotations, 1:281
Annual exclusion, 4:222
Annual percentage rate, 1:281
Annual reports, 1:281–282,
3:213–215, 9:2, 70, 77
Annuities, 1:282–283
Annulment, 1:283–285
alimony, 1:230
canon law, 2:233, 234
revival of an action, 8:345
Anon. (Anonymous), 1:285
John Doe or Jane Doe, 6:15
Roe, 8:381
tips, 4:266
Answers, 1:285–288, 286–288
Antarctic Treaty (1959), 1:288
Ante, 1:288
Antecedent debts, 1:288–289
Anthony, Susan Brownell, 1:289–
291, 290
Anti-abortion movement. See
Pro-life movement
Anti-Ballistic-Missile Treaty
(1972), 1:291–293, 344–345,
347, 348
Anti-Biased Violence Project
(ABVP), 2:298
Anti-Car Theft Act (1992),
2:247–248
Anti-Chinese sentiment, 2:370
Anti-communist investigations,
3:41–42
academic freedom, 1:45–46
blacklists, 2:55–56
Clark, Tom Campbell, 2:416– 417
clear and present danger doctrine, 4:502
Cohn, Roy Marcus, 2:478–479
COINTELPRO, 2:481
Cold War, 2:485–487
Communist Party cases, 3:43
Douglas, William Orville, 4:11
Dulles, John Foster, 4:44
Eisenhower, Dwight David,
4:83
FBI, 5:291
Hayes, George E.C., 5:209
Hiss, Alger, 5:261–263
House Un-American Activities
Committee, 3:38–39, 156
Kennedy, Robert Francis,
6:124
loyalty oaths, 6:377, 378
McCarran Internal Security
Act (1950), 7:4–5
McCarthy, Joseph, 7:8–9
McClellan, John Little, 7:9–10
Palmer raids (1919–1920),
6:269, 7:353
Reagan, Ronald Wilson, 8:242
Rosenbergs trial (1951), 8:403– 404 socialists, 9:232
U.S. Information Agency,
10:177
Welch, Joseph Nye, 10:331–
332
World War I, 10:425
See also Red scare (1917–1920)
Anti-Defamation League, 1:294– 296
Anti-Drug Abuse Act (1986),
4:29
Anti-Drug Abuse Act (1988),
4:29
Anti-Drug Abuse Act (1996),
3:270
Anti-Federalists. See Federalism and federalists
Anti-fusion laws, 4:96
Anti-mask laws, 6:161, 162
Anti-Peonage Act (1994), 10:21
Anti-Racketeering Act (2000), 3:8
Anti-Saloon League, 1:203, 8:140
Anti-semitism
Anti-Defamation League,
1:294–296
Jackson, Jesse Louis, Sr., 5:492
McReynolds, James Clark, 7:26
Anti-Terrorism and Effective
Death Penalty Act (1996)
aliens, 1:214, 3:325
explosives penalties, 10:318
habeas corpus, 5:171–173, 8:91
ineffective counsel, 8:361
Anticipation, 1:293–294, 7:394–
395 Anticipatory breach of sales contract, 8:446
Anticipatory repudiation, 1:48–
49, 294, 8:320
Anticrime legislation, 2:451,
9:220
Antihijacking Act (1974), 5:256
Antilawyer movement, 1:296–297
Antinomy, 1:297
Antismoking campaigns, 6:154–
155
Antisocial personality disorder,
5:409
Antiterrorism. See Anti-Terrorism and Effective Death Penalty Act (1996); USA
PATRIOT Act (2001); War on terrorism
Antitrust law, 1:297–305
Chicago school, 2:341
Clarke, John Hessin, 2:421–
422
Clayton Act (1914), 2:428–429
coercion, 2:473
collateral estoppel, 2:488
fair-trade laws, 4:305
Harmon, Judson, 5:193
Harrison, Benjamin, 5:196
hospitals, 5:225
insurance industry, 7:4
jobbers, 6:15
joint operating agreements, 6:32
joint ventures, 6:35
labor unions, 6:178
mergers and acquisitions,
7:45–47
Microsoft case, 1:303, 303–
304, 7:104, 9:236, 281,
10:267

- Posner, Richard Allen, 8:39
 price-fixing, 8:81
 restraint of trade, 8:340
 Robinson-Patman Act (1936), 8:372–375
 Roosevelt, Theodore, 8:398
 Smith, William French, 9:220
 sports, 9:287–288, 290
 Standard Oil Company, 4:143
 vertical mergers, 10:205–206
 White, Edward Douglass, 10:361
See also Sherman Anti-Trust Act (1890)
- Antitrust Procedures and Penalties Act, 3:104
- Apartheid, 6:441
- Apartments, 3:72, 190
- Apparent, 1:305
- Apparent authority, 1:168
- Appeals, 1:305, 305–308
 amicus curiae, 1:262
 appellate briefs, 2:122 capital punishment cases, 2:238, 239, 241
 civil procedure, 2:393
 civil vs. common law systems, 2:390
 class actions, 2:426
 courts-martial, 3:245, 246–247, 7:61–62
 criminal procedure, 3:285, 286–287, 290 deportation cases, 1:226–227
 detention of defendants, 8:80
 Federal Rules of Appellate Procedure, 2:390–391
 flag salute cases, 1:232 jeopardy and reversal of convictions, 4:4–5 juvenile justice system, 6:100
 matters of law, 6:464
 military courts, 10:156
 patent rejections, 7:396
 plain-error rule, 7:456
 quasi-judicial actions, 8:199–200 questions of fact and questions of law, 8:201, 202
 trials, 10:109
 veterans, 10:213
 writ de odio et atia, 4:155 writs of certiorari, 2:309–311, 310
 zoning, 10:458
- Appear, 1:308
 compulsory process, 3:60
 subpoenas, 9:382–384
- Appearances, 1:308–310
 citations, 2:382–383
 general appearances, 5:58
 personal jurisdiction, 7:432
 special appearances, 9:260
 witnesses, 10:405–406
- Appellants, 1:310
- Appellate, 1:311
- Appellate advocacy, 1:311–315
See also Appeals
- Appellate courts, 1:315–316
 balancing, 1:454–455
 Court of Appeals for the Armed Forces, 10:156 courts of appeals, 3:246–248
 created by Congress, 3:131
 error, 4:204
 Excessive Fines and Excessive Bail Clauses, 4:78
 federal, 3:242, 4:337–339, 6:63
Federal Appendix, 4:323
 interlocutory orders, 5:435–436
 judges, 6:42
 law of the case, 6:213–214
 litigation, 6:340
 matters of record, 6:464
 military, 7:61–62
 National Reporter System, 8:307 plurality opinions, 7:465
 polygraph evidence, 8:29 precedent creation, 8:58
 probate, 8:123
 review of damages awards, 3:334
 right to counsel, 8:359
 ripeness, 8:365–366
 split decisions, 9:279
 state, 3:242, 9:315
 Supreme Court of the United States, 9:405–406
 supreme courts (general), 9:402–403
 U.S. Court of Appeals for Veterans Claims, 10:174–175
 U.S. Courts of Appeals, 10:175–177, 176
- Appellees, 1:316
- Appleton, John, 1:316–317
- Application procedures
 alternative dispute resolution, 1:239
 habeas corpus, 5:172
 immigration, 1:223
 naturalization, 1:224
 patents, 7:388, 392
 service marks, 9:117
 small claims, 9:214
 trademarks, 10:75
- Appoint, 1:317
- Appointment, power of, 1:317–318, 4:223, 8:72–73, 9:53–54, 10:118
- Appointments
 ambassadors, 3:429, 5:105–106
 architect of the Capitol, 1:330
 Commission on Civil Rights, 3:24
 District of Columbia judges, 7:269–270
 Federal Trade Commission, 1:101
 guardians, 5:159
 hearing examiners, 5:233
 independent counsel, 5:378
 patronage, 7:409–410
 presidential, 1:107–108, 142, 5:37
 Senate Judiciary Committee, 9:97–98
 Tenure of Office Act (1867), 9:304–305
- Appomattox Court House, 10:173
- Apportionment, 1:318–321, 10:252–253
Baker v. Carr (1962), 1:450–452, 451
 Campbell, William Joseph, 2:226
 Chaffee, Zechariah, Jr., 2:314
 Congress, U.S., 3:94, 121
 equal protection, 4:196 fishing, 7:200–201
 gerrymandering, 5:72–74
 income taxes, 2:260
Miller v. Johnson (1995), 3:462
 one person, one vote, 7:316
Pollock v. Farmers' Loan & Trust Co. (1895), 5:17
Reynolds v. Sims (1964), 8:349–351, 350–352
Shaw v. Hunt (1996), 9:158–160
 statistical sampling, 2:296–297
 Voting Rights Act (1965), 10:255
 Warren, Earl, 10:296
- Appraisals, 1:322
- Appraisers, 1:322
- Appreciation, 1:322
- Apprehension, 1:322
- Apprendi, Charles C., Jr., 5:206
- Apprentices, 1:322–323, 6:236
- Appropriations, 1:323
 abortion activities, 1:18, 19, 2:285, 8:313 administrative law and procedure, 1:107
 AIDS activities, 1:69, 70, 76

- animal research, 1:275
 census data and allocation, 2:293
 Central Intelligence Agency, 2:305
 child care, 2:349–350
 child protective services, 5:393–394
 Community Services block grants, 3:49
 conditional, 9:276
 Congressional Budget Office, 3:96
 Contract with America, 3:166
 disaster relief, 3:443, 445–446
 education, 9:25, 84
 embryonic stem cell research, 4:390–391 federal debt, 3:365
 federal judiciary, 2:226
 foreign aid and human rights, 5:307 General Accounting Office audits, 5:56
 general welfare, 5:62
 Great Society (social programs), 5:138–139
 highways, 5:254
 homeless, 5:278–279
 housing assistance, 5:119, 297–299
 impoundment, 5:149, 348–350, 8:73
 Iran-Contra Affair, 3:111
 Israel, aid to, 1:258
 Medicare and Medicaid, 7:26–29, 31–33 mental hospitals, 3:483
 military, 9:218–219
 National Endowment for the Arts, 2:287–288 poor children, programs for, 2:367 public broadcasting, 2:129
 public education, 4:63–64 school busing, 9:21 support of the arts, 1:355–357 unemployment aid, 5:289
 United Nations, payment to, 10:164
See also Federal budget
- Approval, 1:323
 Appurtenance, 1:323
 Arbiters, 1:323–324
 Arbitrage, 1:324–325
 Arbitrary, 1:325–326
 bankruptcy cases, 1:467
 power, 2:172–173
 rule according to law, 8:419
- substantive due process, 4:39–40
 Arbitration, 1:326–328, 327
 age discrimination cases, 1:163
 civil procedure, 2:395
 collective bargaining agreements, 6:176 copyright royalties, 3:201–202
 lemon laws, 6:266–267
 procedure, 1:239–240
 umpires, 10:141
 vs. conciliation, 3:69
 Arch Trading Company, Inc., 1:183
 Archaeology, 7:194–195
 Architect of the Capitol, 1:330
 Architects, 1:329–330, 5:83–86, 85
 Architectural Barriers Act (1968), 3:436
 Arctic, legal status of, 1:330
 Area variances, 10:199
 Arenas and stadiums, 9:283
 Arguendo, 1:330–331
 Argumentative, 1:331
 Arguments, 1:331
 Aristotle, 1:331–332, 332, 3:115, 9:210
 Arizona
 copper mine, 3:402
 English-only law, 4:160
 fraud, 4:488
 Goldwater, Barry Morris, 5:109–112
 McCain, John Sidney, 7:2–3
 O'Connor, Sandra Day, 7:302
 Arkansas
 Fulbright, James William, 5:13–15
 Garland, Augustus Hill, 5:38–39
 McClellan, John Little, 7:9–10
 State Press (newspaper), 1:498, 500 term limits for U.S. senators, 4:94
 Armed Forces Reserve Act (1952), 7:178–179
 Armed services, 1:332–342, 333
 African American Civil War soldiers, 4:14 anti-communist investigations, 5:209
 articles of war, 1:363
 conscientious objectors, 3:101–102
 conscription, 3:102, 102–103
 Constitution Party views, 3:125
- Defense, Department of, 3:383–387
 discrimination, 5:200
 domicile vs. residence, 8:331
 “don’t ask, don’t tell” homosexuality policy, 2:450
Ex Parte Milligan (1866), 10:173–10:174
 Federal Tort Claims Act exceptions, 4:358
Feres doctrine, 4:380–381
 Free Exercise Clause, 8:292
 gays and lesbians, 5:47
 history, 7:64–65
 Japanese American evacuation, 6:1–6
 martial law, 6:444–446
 mutiny, 7:150
 North, Oliver, 5:478, 479
 presidential power, 3:129–130, 8:69–70
 quartering troops, 10:18
 reparations, 8:303
Rostker v. Goldberg (1981), 8:408–409 rules of engagement, 6:43–44
 Soldiers’ and Sailors’ Civil Relief Act (1918), 9:237 soldiers’ and sailors’ wills, 10:381
 State, Department of, 9:319
 SWAT team partnerships, 9:422
 target planning, 6:43
 wartime habeas corpus suspension, 8:74
See also Military law; Militias; National Guard; Selective Service System; Uniform Code of Military Justice; Veterans
- Armed services personnel
 Cammeyer, Margarethe, 1:336, 337
 Coughlin, Paula A., 1:338–339
 Jones, James, 3:385
 Jumper, John, 3:385
 Kelso, Frank B., 1:338–339
 MacArthur, Douglas, 1:342, 6:157, 7:56
 Medina, Ernest, 7:152–153
 Shinseki, Eric, 3:385
 Simmons, Darlene, 1:339
 Steffan, Joseph, 1:335–336
 Armistice, 1:342
 Armistice Day, 1:342
 Arms control and disarmament, 1:342–348
 Anti-Ballistic-Missile Treaty (1972), 1:291–293

- Conventional Forces in Europe Treaty (1990), 3:184–185
- Intermediate-Range Nuclear Forces Treaty (1987), 5:436–437
- Nuclear Nonproliferation Treaty, 7:274, 276, 281–282
- Seabed Arms Control Treaty (1971), 9:37
- START (Strategic Arms Reduction Talks) Treaties, 9:311–313
- UN inspections, 5:446
- Army, 1:341
- conscientious objectors, 7:346–347
- McCarthy hearings, 10:331–332
- My Lai Massacre (1968), 7:152–153
- National Guard, 7:177–178
- origins, 1:334
- sexual assault and rape, 1:339
- Arraignment, 1:348–349
- Array, 1:349
- Arrears, 1:349
- Arrest of judgment, 1:353
- Arrest warrants, 1:350–352, 351–352, 353, 7:12, 9:251, 10:285
- Arrests, 1:350, 350–353
- arraignment, 1:349
- bench warrant, 2:13, 14
- blotter, 2:65
- body execution, 2:70
- booking, 2:80
- burglary, 2:170
- civil, 1:438
- concurrent writs, 3:71
- coroners, 3:209
- criminal procedure, 3:284, 286
- custodial interrogations, 9:40–41
- deadly force, 3:355
- DNA samples, 8:103
- Drug Enforcement Administration, 4:25
- embezzlement, 4:120
- false arrest, 4:310
- fruit of the poisonous tree, 5:10–11
- juvenile, 6:100
- logging in, 6:369
- McNabb-Mallory Rule, 7:23–24
- probable cause, 8:118–119
- prostitution, 8:155
- rewards, 8:348–349
- white-collar crime, 10:360
- Arrogation, 1:353
- Arson, 1:354, 354–355, 4:412, 5:203, 204–205, 206–207
- See also* Fires
- Art law, 1:355–358
- Arthur, Chester Alan, 1:358–359, 359
- Arthur Andersen, L.L.P., 1:61, 3:214, 5:63
- Articles, 1:359
- Articles of Confederation, 1:359–360
- Hamilton, Alexander, 5:179
- shortcomings, 3:118–120, 158–159
- War of Independence, 10:281
- weaknesses, 6:388–389
- Articles of Confederation (document), 12:95–101
- Articles of impeachment, 1:360–361
- Articles of incorporation, 1:361–363, 362, 3:217
- Articles of organization, 1:363, 6:318
- Articles of partnership, 1:363
- Articles of war, 1:363, 3:246–247
- Artificial insemination, 1:363–365
- embryo custody, 8:313–314
- family law, 4:319–320
- illegitimacy, 5:328
- inheritance rights, 6:441–442
- Artificial persons, 1:365
- Artificial respiration, 8:205–208
- Artists
- copyright protection, 5:426
- Gauguin, Paul, 1:405
- Lloyd, Lucile, 1:356
- Arts
- art law, 1:355–358
- auctions, 1:405
- censorship, 2:287–288
- CowParade display, 1:280
- Aryan National Alliance, 10:363
- As is, 1:365
- As per, 1:365
- Asbestos exposure cases
- class actions, 2:425–426
- Weinstein, Jack Bertrand, 10:327
- Ashcroft, John David, 1:365–367, 366, 8:72, 9:113, 394
- Asia, Southeast Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO), 9:251–252
- Asportation, 1:367
- Assassinations, 1:367–369
- Gandhi, Mohandas, 5:29
- Garfield, James Abram, 5:37
- Kennedy, John Fitzgerald, 6:122, 8:415, 10:291–292, 296
- Kennedy, Robert F., 6:125
- King, Martin Luther, Jr., 6:143
- Lincoln, Abraham, 1:52, 6:324–325, 326
- Liuzzo, Viola Fauver Gregg, 6:344, 345
- Malcolm X, 6:404
- McKinley, William, 1:368, 7:21
- M’Naghten rule, 7:97
- Reagan, Ronald (attempt), 5:407, 9:34
- Wallace, George Corley (attempt), 10:269
- Assault, 1:369–370
- ice hockey, 9:291
- mitigation of damages, 7:96
- transmission of AIDS, 9:145
- Assault and battery, 1:370–372, 371
- Assault weapons ban, 10:317
- Assembly, 1:372–373
- Assembly, freedom of. See Association and assembly, freedom of
- Assent, 1:373
- contracts, 3:173–174
- rescission, 8:328
- Assess, 1:373
- Assessed valuation, 1:373
- Assessment, 1:373, 4:18
- Asset forfeiture. See Forfeiture
- Assets, 1:373–374
- bankruptcy cases, 1:465–467
- commingling, 3:23
- divorce, 3:479
- net worth, 7:230
- partnerships, 7:382–383
- tracing, 10:66
- transfer of, 10:79
- valuation, 10:193
- Assign, 1:374
- Assigned accounts, 1:374
- Assigned risk, 1:374
- Assigned risk plan, 1:374
- Assignment, 1:374
- contracts, 3:176
- leases, 6:225
- patents, 7:396
- public contracts, 8:168
- Assignment for benefit of creditors, 1:374–376, 375, 3:57
- Assignment of errors, 1:307
- Assigns, 1:376
- Assistance, writ of, 1:376, 7:336
- Assisted suicide, 4:236–241, 6:131–134
- Assize, or assise, 1:376–377

- Assize of Clarendon, 4:155
 Associate justices, 1:377
 Association and assembly, freedom of, 1:372–373, 4:493–495
 aliens, 1:214
 anti-gang laws, 5:32–33
 Boy Scouts of America v. Dale (2000), 2:92, 400
 clubs, 2:459–461
 contempt, 3:156
 fusion voting method, 7:236
 loyalty oaths, 6:378
 restrictions, 6:308
 Roberts v. United States Jaycees
 (1984), 8:371–372
 Smith Act (1940), 9:216
 unlawful assembly, 10:168–169
 Association of American Law
 Schools (AALS), 2:257, 6:236 Association of Southern Women for the Prevention of Lynching, 6:381
 Association of Trial Lawyers of America (ATLA), 1:377
 Assumpsit, 1:378, 4:462
 Assumption, 1:378
 Assumption of risk, 1:379–382,
 7:227
 Assured, 1:382
 Asylum, 1:226, 383–384
 Asylums, 1:384–387, 385, 3:483
 Asymmetrical warfare, 6:87
 At issue, 1:387
 At large, 1:387
 At law, 1:387
 At-will employment, 4:127–129 law regarding, 4:132
 wrongful discharge, 10:436
 Atchison, Topeka, and Santa Fe
 Railroad, 5:194
 ATF. See Alcohol, Tobacco,
 Firearms, and Explosives,
 Bureau of (ATF)
 Atheism, 4:419
 Atkins, Daryl Renard, 1:387–388
 Atmosphere, National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA), 3:10
 Atomic bombs. See Nuclear weapons
 Atomic Energy Act (1946), 4:102
 Atomic Energy Commission
 (AEC), 1:107, 7:276–277
 AT&T. See American Telephone & Telegraph Co. (AT&T)
 Attachment, 1:388–390, 389
 garnishment, 5:40
 jeopardy, 4:3
 judgment debtors, 6:47
 writs, 9:165, 10:429–430
 Attainder, 1:390–391
 Attempt, 1:391
 criminal law, 3:280, 7:340–341
 impossibility, 5:348
 Attenuate, 1:391
 Attest, 1:391
 Attestation, 1:391
 Attestation of wills, 10:380
 Attica Prison Riot (1971), 8:87,
 88, 364
 Attorn, 1:391
 Attorney-client privilege, 1:392–394, 2:440, 8:112
 attorney misconduct, 1:400, 401–402
 e-mail, 4:115
 evidence, 4:256–257
 Attorney-client relationship
 appeals, 1:313–314
 conflict of interest, 6:247–248
 legal malpractice, 6:239–240, 409–410
 misconduct, 1:399–402, 4:233, 6:219, 250 obligations, 6:247–248
 practice of law, 8:55
 professional responsibility, 8:135
 sanctions, 8:454
 work product rule, 10:417–418
 Attorney General, Confederate,
 3:75–77
 Attorney General, England, 1:434
 Attorney General, U.S., 1:394–398, 395*t*–396*t*
 advisory opinions, 1:144
 Akerman, Amos Tappan,
 1:194–195, 195
 Ashcroft, John David, 1:365–
 367, 366, 8:72, 9:113, 394
 Barr, William Pelham, 1:490–
 492, 491
 Bates, Edward, 1:501, 501
 Bell, Griffin Boyette, 2:10–12,
 11
 Benjamin, Judah Philip, 2:17,
 17–19
 Berrien, John MacPherson,
 2:23
 Black, Jeremiah Sullivan, 2:46– 48
 Bonaparte, Charles Joseph,
 2:74–75, 75
 Bradford, William, 2:96
 Breckenridge, John, 2:107–108
 Brewster, Benjamin Harris,
 2:114–115
 Brownell, Herbert, Jr., 2:147–
 148, 148
 Butler, Benjamin Franklin,
 2:194–195
 cabinet position, 6:87
 chronology, 12:560*t*–12:561*t*
 Civiletti, Benjamin Richard,
 2:409–411
 Clark, Tom Campbell, 2:415–
 417, 416
 Clark, William Ramsey, 2:417–
 418, 418
 Crittenden, John Jordan,
 3:299, 299–300
 Cummings, Homer Stille,
 3:311–312, 312
 Cushing, Caleb, 3:318, 318–
 319
 Daugherty, Harry Micajah,
 3:344, 344–345, 7:12
 duties and responsibilities,
 10:399
 Edmund Randolph, 1:396–397
 Evarts, William Maxwell,
 4:242, 242–243
 Frizzell, Kent (assistant), 1:257
 Garland, Augustus Hill, 5:39
 Gilpin, Henry Dilworth, 5:87–
 89, 88
 Gregory, Thomas Watt, 5:145,
 146
 Griggs, John William, 5:149,
 149
 Grundy, Felix, 5:155–156, 156
 Harmon, Judson, 5:193, 193– 194
 history, 6:89–90
 Hoar, Ebenezer Rockwood,
 5:266
 independent counsel investigations, 5:378
 Johnson, Reverdy, 6:24–25
 Katzenbach, Nicholas deBelleville, 6:106–108
 Kennedy, Robert Francis,
 6:123, 123–125
 Kleindienst, Richard Gordon,
 6:147–148
 Knox, Philander Chase, 6:152,
 152
 Lee, Charles, 6:228–230
 Legare, Hugh Swinton, 6:253–
 255, 254
 Levi, Edward Hirsch, 6:293,
 293–294
 Lincoln, Levi, 6:326–327
 MacVeagh, Isaac Wayne,
 6:386, 386–387
 Mason, John Young, 6:452–
 453, 453
 McGranery, James Patrick,
 7:13, 14–15

- McGrath, James Howard, 7:14, 15–17
- Meese, Edwin, III, 7:34, 34–35
- Miller, William Henry
Harrison, 7:74, 74
- Mitchell, John Newton, 7:93, 93–94
- Mitchell, William De Witt, 7:95
- Moody, William Henry, 7:112
- Nelson, John, 7:228–229
- Olney, Richard, 7:312–313, 313
- Olson, Theodore B. (assistant), 5:379
- Palmer, Alexander Mitchell, 1:248, 7:352, 352–353
- Pierrepoint, Edwards, 7:445–447
- Pinkney, William, 7:451, 451
- Randolph, Edmund Jennings, 8:229–231, 230
- redistricting review, 5:73
- Reno, Janet, 1:398, 8:296–298, 297
- Richardson, Elliot Lee, 8:351, 351–352
- Rodney, Caesar Augustus, 8:379–381, 380
- Rogers, William Pierce, 8:385–386
- Rush, Richard, 8:429
- Sargent, John Garibaldi, 9:2–4, 3
- Saxbe, William Bart, 9:7, 7–9
- Smith, William French, 9:219–220
- Speed, James, 9:273, 273
- Stanbery, Henry, 9:299–300
- Taft, Alphonso, 9:430–431
- Thornburgh, Richard Lewis, 10:25–26, 26
- Toucey, Isaac, 10:63–64
- Wickersham, George
Woodward, 10:371–372
- Williams, George Henry, 10:387
- Wirt, William, 1:397, 10:398–400, 399
- Attorney General's Manual on the Administrative Procedure Act*, 1:114
- Attorney misconduct, 1:398–403
- Bailey, F. Lee, 1:444
- Clinton, Bill, 3:158
- communication with opposing parties, 3:78
- conflict of interest, 6:247–248
- disbar, 3:446
- district and prosecuting attorneys, 3:465
- ethics, 4:233, 10:148
- incompetent representation, 6:250
- lawyer-witness rule, 6:219
- opening statements, 7:320
- Attorneys, 1:391–392
- admission to the bar, 1:120–122
- ambulance chasers, 1:244
- American Bar Association, 1:246–248
- antilawyer movement, 1:296–297
- Association of Trial Lawyers of America, 1:377
- bar associations, 1:485
- bar examinations, 1:486–487
- barristers, 1:493
- cameras in court, 2:219
- canon lawyers, 2:233
- class action, 2:424–425
- client security funds, 2:440–441
- closing arguments, 2:456–457, 10:108
- compensation and income, 1:392, 3:160, 161–162
- conflict of interest, 6:247–248
- continuing legal education, 3:164–165
- counsel, 3:234–235, 7:304
- counsellors, 3:235
- court-ordered representation, 8:136
- courtroom conduct, 2:420, 10:104–105
- criticism of, 1:136–137
- e-mail correspondence, 4:115
- Earl Warren Legal Training Program, 4:55
- entertainment law, 4:164, 166
- ethics, 4:232–234, 10:148
- ex parte contact, 4:258
- family law education, 4:320
- guardian ad litem, 5:157–158
- hiring, 6:248–249
- ineffective counsel, 9:201–202
- initial consultations, 6:248–249
- integrated bar, 5:420
- jailhouse lawyers, 5:497–498, 8:94
- judge advocates, 6:43–44
- “Lawyers and Judges” (Toqueville) (document), 12:495–499
- legal advertising, 6:230–233, 247
- legal aid, 6:234
- legal assistants, 6:234–235
- legal malpractice, 6:239–240, 409–410
- lobbying, 6:60–61
- Martindale-Hubbell Law Directory*, 6:449–450
- officers of the court, 3:243
- opening statements, 10:106
- Philadelphia lawyers, 7:438
- practice of law, 8:55–56
- pro bono services, 6:249–250, 8:117, 136
- proctors, 8:127
- professional responsibility, 6:249, 250, 8:133–137
- public defenders, 8:169
- referral services, 6:248
- retainers, 8:342
- right to practice law, 5:38
- serjeants at law, 9:115
- solicitors, 9:239
- specialization, 6:248, 252–253, 9:264–266
- stipulations, 9:348–350
- stockholder's derivative suits, 9:354
- third-party communication, 8:136
- trials, 10:104–105
- Uniform Probate Code, opposition to the, 10:160
- warrants of attorney, 10:287
- See also* Counsel, right to; Fees, legal
- Attorney's lien, 1:403
- Attractive nuisance liability, 10:101
- Auburn System, 8:86–87, 10:273
- Auction market principle, 4:262–263
- Auctions, 1:403–406, 405, 3:12, 147, 5:460
- Audi alteram partem, 1:406
- Audit, 1:407
- accounting standards, 5:63
- correspondence audits, 3:231
- desk audits, 3:419
- field audits, 4:394
- General Accounting Office, 5:55–56
- internal, 5:437
- office audits, 7:306
- tax, 5:367, 441
- Taxpayer Bill of Rights, 9:445
- Augusta National Golf Club, 2:459, 461
- Augustus, John, 1:407–408
- Austin, John, 1:408–409
- Authentication, 1:409, 4:253
- Authorities, 1:409

Authority
 administrative bodies, 8:164 express, 4:287
 power as distinct from, 4:471
 prosecutors, 8:155
 Authorize, 1:409
 Authors
 copyright protection, 3:191, 193–194, 203, 5:96, 426
 plagiarism, 7:454–455
 publishing contracts, 8:176–
 177, 179
 Auto and motorcycle insurance,
 5:415–417, 417
 Automated teller machines
 (ATM), 1:479
 Automatic stay (bankruptcy),
 1:472
 Automatism, 1:409
 Automobile industry
 American Honda conspiracies, 3:111–113 factory injuries, 3:440
 history, 1:416–417
 rebates, 8:248
 safety issues, 1:418, 7:160–161
 sales, 1:423
 Automobile searches, 1:409–416, 415 fruit of the poisonous tree, 5:9
 warrantless, 3:282
 Automobiles, 1:416–428
 accidents, 1:53, 204
 Advanced Automotive Technologies, Office of,
 4:147
 customs duties, 3:326
 Dyer Act (1919), 4:53
 emissions regulation, 1:184– 186 family car doctrine, 10:216
 guest statutes, 5:162
 insurance, 1:53, 420–421, 426– 427, 3:372, 7:257
 lemon laws, 6:266–267
 registration, 7:348
 seat belts, 9:46–47
 use taxes, 10:187
 vicarious liability, 10:216
See also Carjacking
 Autopsies, 1:428
 coroners, 3:208–209, 209
 disinterment, 3:229
 Auxiliary, 1:428
 Aver, 1:428
 Averment, 1:428
 Aviation Disaster Family
 Assistance Act (1996), 1:193
 Avoidable consequences, 1:428–
429

Avoidance, 1:429
 Avowal, 1:429–430
 Avulsion, 1:430
 Award, 1:430, 8:166–168
 Ayraut, Pierre, 4:295
 AZT (azidothymidine), 4:443
B Babies
 abandonment, 1:2–3 airplane safety, 1:192 birth defects, 1:14
 organ donation, 7:326–327, 331 pediatricians, 7:442
 playpen recall, 3:150
 surrogate mothers, 1:431–433, 9:410–411, 415 switched at birth, 7:359–360 withholding medical treatment, 7:403
See also Children
 Baby Doe Amendment (1984),
 6:155
 Bachelor of laws degree, 6:353
 Back pay awards, 1:433
 Back to work agreements, 1:433
 Backdating, 1:433
 Background checks, gun
 ownership, 5:164–165
 Backup withholding, 10:403–404
 Bacon, Sir Francis, 1:433–436,
 434
 Bad debt, 2:318
 Bad faith, 1:436
 Badger, George Edmund, 1:436–
437
 Baer, George Frederick, 1:437–
438
 Bail, 1:438–440
 criminal procedure, 3:284
 Excessive Bail Clause, 4:78
 skipping, 2:90–91
 Bail bonds, 1:438, 441
 Bail Reform Act (1984), 1:438,
 440, 5:496
 Bailees, 1:441
 Bailey, Francis Lee, 1:441–444,
 442
 Bailey, Nanette Sexton, 3:487
 Bailiffs, 1:444
 Bailments, 1:444–446, 7:434,
 8:146
 Bailors, 1:445, 446
 Bait and switch, 1:446
 Bakaly, Charles, III, 10:368
 Baker, Ella Josephine, 1:446–450,
 447
 Baker, Howard, 3:429
 Baker, Jake, 5:452–453

Bakeries, 7:413
 Bakke, Allan, 2:399, 500–501,
 8:269
 Balance sheets, 1:452
 Balanced Budget Amendment
 (proposed), 4:330–331
 Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act (1985),
 4:329
 Balancing, 1:452–455
 Chafee, Zechariah, Jr., 2:312– 313 commerce regulation, 3:3
 due process, 6:462–463
 exclusion of relevant evidence, 8:125
 nuisance, 4:171
 political trials, 8:16
 right-to-die cases, competing interests in, 10:305
 Baldus, David C., 2:240
 Baldwin, Henry, 1:455, 455–457
 Baldwin, Joseph Glover, 1:457
 Baldwin, Roger Nash, 1:457–460
 Baldwin, Roger Sherman, 1:263–
 264
 Baldwin, Simeon Eben, 1:460
 Ballinger, William Pitt, 1:460–
461 Balloon payments, 1:461–462
 Baltimore (MD)
 Colts football team, 9:283
 Terrapins baseball team, 1:495 wharf silting case, 1:493
 Banc, 1:462, 5:61
 Banca Nazionale del Lavarò,
 1:491–492
 Banishment, 1:462
 Bank for International Settlement, 1:464
 Bank of Credit and Commerce
 International (BCCI) scandal
 (1991), 1:491, 2:441–443
 Bank of the United States, 1:464
 Gilpin, Henry Dilworth, 5:88–
 89
 Jackson, Andrew, 5:488–489
McCulloch v. Maryland (1819),
 7:11, 218
 Taney, Roger Brooke, 9:436
 Banker's lien, 1:464
 Banking Act (1933), 4:342
 Banking Act (1935), 4:353
 Bankruptcy, 1:464–474, 468,
 470–471
 airlines, 1:190–191
 annual reports, 1:282
 antecedent debts, 1:289
 assignment for benefit of
 creditors, 1:376

- Bankruptcy Reform Act (1994), 4:340
 class actions, 2:425
 courts, 1:112, 4:340, 6:261
 Drexel Burnham Lambert, 8:20–22
 Enron Corp., 1:61
 fraudulent conveyance, 4:491
 going concern value, 5:104
 liquidation, 6:333
 meeting of creditors, 7:35
 petitions in bankruptcy, 7:437
 preferences, 8:61
pro rata, 8:117
 reorganization, 8:299
 secured transactions, 9:66–67 statement of affairs, 9:324
 tracing, 10:66
 trustees, 10:122
 vs. composition with creditors, 3:57 wage earner's plans, 10:260
 Will, Hubert Louis, 10:384
 Bankruptcy Act (1898), 1:465
 Bankruptcy Amendments and Federal Judgeship Act (1984), 1:112, 6:261
 Bankruptcy Code, 1:465, 466, 472
 Bankruptcy Reform Act (1978), 6:261
 Bankruptcy Reform Act (1994), 1:472
 Banks, Dennis J., 1:257, 257, 1:481–484, 482
 Banks and banking, 1:474–481, 475
 acquisitions and mergers, 5:469
 American Bankers Association, 1:246
 banker's lien, 1:464
 BCCI scandal (1991), 2:441–443
 certificates of deposit, 2:307, 307 certified checks, 2:308–309, 309
 checks, 2:335
 commercial paper, 3:16–17
 Comptroller of the Currency, Office of the, 3:60, 10:90–92
 correspondents, 3:231 credit card application, 3:263–265 drawees, 4:19
 drawers, 4:19
 Export-Import Bank of the United States, 4:286–287 failed and problem institutions, 1:474, 4:343 Farm Credit Administration, 4:322
 federal bank acts, 4:327
 Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, 4:342–343
 Federal Open Market Committee, 4:354
 Federal Reserve Board, 4:353–354
 fiat, 4:393
 kiting, 6:147
 legal reserve, 6:251
 line of credit, 6:331
 McCulloch v. Maryland (1819), 10:320
 money laundering, 7:101
 National Bank Act (1864), 4:327
 national banks, 6:390
 National Cooperative Bank, 7:169–170 reform, 5:100–101, 101–102
 Right to Financial Privacy Act (1978), 8:103
 thrifts, 7:308–309, 9:6
 warehouse banks, 3:111
 World Bank, 10:422–423
 See also Savings and loan associations
 Bar associations, 1:484–486
 integrated bar, 5:420
 legal advertising, 6:230–233
 legal malpractice, 6:240
 Bar examinations, 1:121, 121–122, 391, 486–487
 Barbour, Philip Pendleton, 1:487–489, 488
 Bardo, John, 2:414
 Bargaining agents, 1:489
 Bargains, 1:489
 Barlow, Francis Channing, 1:489–490
 Barnburners, 4:492
 Barnett, Ross, 7:42
 Baronial courts, 6:392–393
 Barr, William Pelham, 1:490–492, 491
 Barratry, 1:492–493
 Barristers, 1:493, 9:239
 Barry, Marion, 6:114, 115
 Bars and taverns, 1:204–205
 Barter, 1:494
 Bartering, 4:263
 Bartlett Act (1964), 4:424, 425
 Base fees, 1:494
 Base line, 1:494
 Baseball, 1:494–497
 assumption of risk, 1:381
 Black Sox scandal (1919), 2:467, 6:192, 193, 9:284
 collective bargaining, 9:288–289
 Landis, Kenesaw Mountain, 6:192, 193 reserve clause, 9:287–288
 strikes, 1:496
 support of American Legion, 1:259 Texas Rangers, 2:183
 tickets, 3:237
 Bases, armed forces closures, 1:340–341
 schools, 5:421
 Basis, 1:497
 Bastardy actions, 1:497–498
 Basu, Pamela, 2:248
 Bates, Daisy Lee Gatson, 1:498–501, 499
 Bates, Edward, 1:501, 501
 Battel, 1:501
 Battered child/spouse syndrome, 1:502–503, 3:504–505, 5:321
 Battery, 1:503–504
 accidental killings, 1:54
 cause of action, 2:278
 hate crimes, 5:205–206
 Battle of Lexington (1775), 10:280
 Battle of New Orleans (1815), 10:278
 Battle of Tippecanoe (1811), 5:198
 Battle of Yorktown (1781), 10:281
 Baumgartner, James, 4:97
 Bay of Pigs invasion (1961), 6:121
 Baylor, Robert Emmett Bledsoe, 1:504–505
 Baylor University, 1:505
 Bazelon, David L., 4:45
 BCCI scandal (1991), 2:441–443
 Bean, Roy, 2:1
 Beard, Charles Austin, 2:1–3, 2
 Bearer paper, 3:18–19
 Bearers, 2:3
 Beasley, Mercer, 2:3
 Beatrice Companies Inc., 3:6–7
 Beccaria, Cesare Bonesano, 2:3–4
 Becket, Thomas, Saint, 2:4–6, 5:246
 Beecher, Henry Ward, 2:6, 6
 Belief, 2:6–7, 8:283
 See also Good faith
 Bell, Derrick Albert, Jr., 2:7, 7–10
 Bell, Griffin Boyette, 2:10–11, 11
 Bell, John, 2:12, 12–13

- Bell Telephone. See American Telephone & Telegraph Co. (AT&T)
- Belligerents, 2:409
- Below, 2:13
- Bench, 2:13
- Bench trials, 2:13
 advisory juries, 10:102
 questions of fact, 8:201
- Bench warrants, 2:13, 14, 10:287
- Beneficial associations, 2:13, 15–16, 320
- Beneficial interest, 2:16
- Beneficial use, 2:16
- Beneficiaries, 2:16
 annuities, 1:283
 charitable trusts, 2:318–319, 10:119
 constructive trusts, 3:139
 creditors and interest of beneficiaries, 10:118–119 discretionary trusts, 3:452
 estate taxes, 4:223
 life insurance, 4:223
 third-party, 3:177–178
 trusts, 10:117
- Benefit of clergy, 2:16–17
- Benefits
 beneficial associations, 2:15 domestic partners, 3:34, 503
 Frontiero v. Richardson (1973), 5:7–8, 96
 GI Bill, 5:75–77
 independent contractors, 5:374 medical, 5:227, 482
 pensions, 7:419
 Social Security, 5:234, 385, 7:310–311, 311, 9:100, 222–227, 222–229
 tax issues, 5:364
 veterans, 5:289, 10:174–175, 208–210, 211–213
 welfare, 1:107
 workers' compensation, 10:421–422
 See also Welfare
- Benham, Philip, 8:382
- Benjamin, Judah Philip, 2:17, 17–19, 3:75
- Benjamin, Park, 2:19
- Bennett, John G., Jr., 8:31
- Bentham, Jeremy, 2:19–21, 21
 Blackstone, Sir William, criticism of, 2:60–61
 common law, 4:395–396
 sociological jurisprudence, 6:76
 utilitarianism, 6:245, 10:189
- Bentley, Elizabeth, 8:402–403
- Bequeath, 2:21–22
- Bequests, 2:22, 10:382
 accretion, 1:62
 ademption, 1:92
 advancements, 1:135–136
 power of appointment, 1:318
 See also Wills and inheritance rights
- Bergman, Bernard, 3:409
- Bering Sea Dispute, 2:22–23
- Berkman, Alexander, 1:273, 273, 5:108
- Berle, Adolph Augustus, Jr., 2:23
- Berman, Harold, 6:78
- Berne Convention for the Protection of Literary and Artistic Works, 3:192–193, 202
- Berrien, John MacPherson, 2:23
- Best evidence, 2:23–24
 certified copies, 2:309
 primary evidence, 8:83
 rule, 4:253–254
 secondary evidence, 9:56
- Best interests of the child
 child custody, 2:352
 surrogate babies, 1:431–433
- Bestiality, 2:24
- Betamax videocassette recorders, 9:246–248
- Beyond a reasonable doubt, 2:24
 burden of persuasion, 2:165
 definition, 4:7–8
 juvenile justice system, 6:99
 presumption of innocence, 8:75
 In re Winship (1970), 10:395–397
 unenumerated rights, 10:148
 See also Burden of proof
- BFC Financial Corporation, 6:300–301
- Bias. See Prejudice and bias
- Bible
 divine natural law, 7:205 reading in public schools, 1:8–10, 8:286–287
- Bicameralism, 2:24 legislative procedure, 6:258–259
 strengths, 6:263
- Bickel, Alexander Mordecai, 2:24–26
- Bicycles, 3:47
- Biddle, Francis Beverly, 2:26, 26–27
- Bids
 contracts, 3:170
 open bids, 7:318
 public contracts, 8:166–167
- Bidwell, John, 8:141
- Bifurcated trials, 2:27
- Bigamy
 descent and distribution, 3:416
 Enoch Arden doctrine, 4:162–163
 See also Polygamy
- Bigelow, Melville Madison, 2:27
- Biggins, Walter, 1:164
- Bilateral contracts, 2:27–28, 3:168
 acceptance, 3:171
 consideration, 3:105–106
- Bilingual education, 4:65, 76
- Bilingual Education and Minority Languages Affairs, Office of, 4:65
- Bill Emerson Good Samaritan Food Donation Act (1996), 5:103
- Bill of Rights, England, 2:33, 4:157
- Bill of Rights, England (document), 12:11–15
- Bill of Rights, United States, 2:31, 33–35, 9:461 Constitution, 3:132–135
 creation, 2:34
 federalism, 7:247, 248, 335
 and Fourteenth Amendment, 3:127
 incorporation doctrine, 2:34, 45, 5:371–372, 9:390
 liberty, 6:308
 Mason, George, 6:452
 privacy rights, 5:150
 procedural due process, 4:40–41
 Sanford, Edward Terry, 8:455–456
 state vs. federal jurisdiction, 1:493–494 students, applicability to, 4:68
 substantive due process, 4:39
 Virginia Declaration of Rights as model for, 10:238
 See also Civil liberties; Civil rights
- Bill of Rights, United States (document), 12:124–125
- Billmyer, John, 3:112–113
- Bills, legislative, 2:28–29
 amendments, 6:255
 Congressional procedure, 3:90–91, 9:96
 enactment, 6:257–258
 joint resolutions as distinct from, 6:33
 omnibus, 7:315
 private, 8:108–109
 riders, 8:353
- Bills and notes, 2:35
- Bills of attainder, 2:29

- Bills of credit, 2:35
 Bills of exchange, 2:29
 Bills of indictment, 2:29
 Bills of lading, 2:28, 29–31
 admiralty and maritime law, 1:118
 drafts, 3:16–17
 shipping law, 9:176
 Bills of particulars, 2:31, 32–33
 Bills of review, 2:31, 8:344
 Bills of sale, 2:35, 35
 bin Laden, Osama
 international terrorism incidents, 10:9
 September 11 terrorist attacks, 9:112–113
 United States v. Mohamed (2000), 3:113–114
 war on terrorism, 10:282–283
 Binders, 2:36
 Binding authority, 2:36
 Binding over, 2:36
 Binge drinking, 1:200–202
 Bingham, John Armor, 2:36, 36–37, 4:469
 Binney, Horace, 2:37
 Bioenergy, 3:28
 Biographers, literary property, 6:337–339
 Biological and chemical weapons
 Homeland Security, Department of, 5:277
 rules of war, 8:426
 smallpox, 5:335
 Biological determinacy, 4:375
 Biotechnology, 7:390–391
 Bipartisan Campaign Reform Act (2002), 4:89, 8:12
 Bird, Rose Elizabeth, 2:37–39, 38
 Birds
 game, 5:25–26, 26
 hunting, 5:317
 Migratory Bird Treaty (1918), 7:55, 55, 9:32
 Birmingham, Alabama
 King, Martin Luther, Jr., 6:142
 Letter from Birmingham City Jail (King) (document), 12:350–358
 Birth and Adoption
 Unemployment Compensation (BAA-UC), 10:147
 Birth certificates, 1:132, 2:306
 Birth control, 2:39, 39–42
 documents about, 3:67–69
 Griswold v. Connecticut (1965), 5:150, 320, 7:248–249, 335, 360, 422–423, 8:98 legal challenges, 8:309, 310–311
 Sanger, Margaret Higgins, 8:456–459
 substantive due process, 9:390
 Birth defects
 abortion laws, 1:14
 wrongful birth, 10:432
 wrongful life, 10:436–437
The Birth of a Nation (movie), 6:161
 Births and birthrates, 1:58
 adoption cases, 1:126, 132
 concealment of birth or death, 3:69 hospital stays, 7:405
 illegitimacy, 5:328
 Bishop, Bridget, 8:442
 Bissell, Wilson Shannon, 2:42–43
 Biting, AIDS transmission, 1:75
 Bituminous Coal Conservation Act (1935), 2:246
 BJA. See Bureau of Justice Assistance (BJA)
 Black, Hugo Lafayette, 2:44–46, 45
 Adamson v. People of the State of California (1947), 5:372
 Due Process Clause, 8:377
 Engel v. Vitale (1962), 4:149–150
 federalism, 4:361
 Gideon v. Wainwright (1963), 5:78
 Griswold v. Connecticut (1965), 7:249
 Illinois v. Allen (1970), 5:23
 Korematsu v. United States (1944), 6:4, 9:416
 Ku Klux Klan, 6:160
 New York Times Co. v. United States (1971), 7:240
 Rochin v. California (1952), 8:379
 Rosenberg, Julius and Ethel, stay of execution for, 8:404
 Tinker v. Des Moines Independent Community School District (1969), 10:40
 Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. v. Sawyer (1952), 10:451–452
 Black, Jeremiah Sullivan, 2:46–48, 47
 Black Bass Act (1926), 4:422
 Black Codes, 2:43
 Civil Rights cases (1883) (document), 12:311–336
 Civil Rights Movement, 2:402
 equal protection, 4:189
 Fourteenth Amendment, 4:468
 vagrancy, 10:192
 See also Jim Crow laws; Segregation
 Black Elk, Wallace, 1:257
 Black Hawk, Surrender Speech (document), 12:451
 Black Hills (SD), 9:246
 Black letter law, 2:48, 411–412
 Black Panther Party, 2:48–53
 Carmichael, Stokely, 2:251–252
 Cleaver, Leroy Eldridge, 2:433–434, 435
 COINTELPRO, 2:481
 Newton, Huey Percy, 7:241, 242
 Black Power movement, 2:53–54
 Carmichael, Stokely, 2:250–252
 Davis, Angela Yvonne, 3:346–347
 Garvey, Marcus, influence, 5:42–43
 Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee, 9:378
 Black Sox scandal (1919), 2:467, 6:192, 193, 9:284
 Blackacres, 2:54, 4:218–219
 Blackford, Isaac Newton, 2:54–55
 Blacklists, 2:55–56, 3:39
 Blackmail, 2:57
 Blackmun, Harry Andrew, 2:57–59, 58
 capital punishment, 2:242
 Eastman Kodak Co. v. Image Technical Services (1992), 1:303
 New York Times Co. v. United States (1971), 7:241
 Roe v. Wade (1973), 1:16–17, 8:312, 381, 383–384
 Rust v. Sullivan (1991), 1:19
 Sony Corp. of America v. Universal City Studios (1984), 9:248
 Thornburgh v. American College of Obstetricians & Gynecologists (1986), 1:20–21
 Webster v. Reproductive Health Services (1989), 10:322–323
 Blackstone, Sir William, 2:59–60, 60
 Commentaries on the Laws of England, 2:60–61 ex post facto law, 4:259 power of Parliament, 4:157
 Blair, John, Jr., 2:61–62, 62
 Blank checks, 2:335
 Blank endorsements, 2:62, 3:19
 Blanks, 2:62
 Blasphemy, 2:62–63
 Blatchford, Samuel, 2:63–64, 64

- Bloch, Emanuel, 8:403
 Blockbusting, 2:64, 4:303
 Blocks, 2:64
 Blood-alcohol concentration (BAC) limits, 1:205–206, 4:47–48, 5:254
 Blood feuds, 2:64–65, 8:406
 Blood testing, 6:436, 7:399
 Blood transfusions and religious beliefs, 8:292
 Bloomers (women's clothes), 1:291
 Blotters, 2:65
 Blue Cross/Blue Shield, 5:228
 Blue laws, 2:65–67, 8:290–291
 Blue ribbon juries, 2:67
 Blue sky laws, 2:67–68, 8:173, 9:74–75
The Bluebook: A Uniform System of Citation, 2:65, 382
 B'nai B'rith, 1:294
 Board of Contract Appeals, 10:208
 Board of Veterans' Appeals, 10:208
 Boards, town, 10:65
 Boards of directors, 2:68–69
 asylums, 1:385, 386
 corporate bylaws, 2:202–203
 corporations, 3:219–220
 cumulative voting, 3:313
 interlocking directorates, 5:435
 See also Directors
 Boards of pardons, 2:69
 Boards of regents, 2:69–70
 Boards of zoning appeals, 10:458
 Boats. See Ships and boats
 Bobbitt, Lorena, 1:41
 BOCA (Building Officials and Code Administrators International), 2:162, 163–164
 Bodies, 2:70
 Body executions, 2:70, 4:268
The Body of Liberties (Ward), 10:284–285
 Boeing Company, 1:191–192
 Boesky, Ivan F., 1:324, 8:21
 Boggs, Corinne Claiborne, 2:70–72
 Boggs, Hale, 2:71
 Boilerplate, 2:72
 Bolin, Jane Matilda, 2:72–74, 73
 Bolling, Spottswood, 2:145
 Bolsheviks and Bolshevism
 Russian revolution (1917), 3:37
 socialism, 9:230
 Stalin, Joseph, 9:292
 Bomb shelters, 2:486
 Bombings
 American embassies (1998), 10:282
 Haymarket Square riot (1886), 5:212
 Haywood-Moyer-Pettibone case (1905), 5:217
 Hiroshima and Nagasaki (1945), 10:114, 427
 Jewish Defense League case (1972), 3:408
 Oklahoma City (1995), 2:101, 4:333, 10:6–7, 203
 Olympic Park (1996), 6:302–303, 10:8
 U.S. embassies (1998), 3:113–114
 World Trade Center (1993), 10:7
 Bombs, atomic. See Nuclear weapons Bona fide, 2:74 purchasers, 7:434, 8:146–147
 residency, 8:331
 Bona fide occupational qualification (BFOQ), 1:160–161
 Bonaparte, Charles Joseph, 2:74–75, 75
 Bonaparte, Napoleon, 6:375
 Bond, Horace Julian, 2:75–77, 76
 Bonds, 2:77–79
 appeal, 1:306
 bail bonds, 1:438, 441
 brokers, 2:133
 contractors, 9:212 corporation, 3:16
 debentures, 3:363
 indenture, 5:373
 junk bonds, 6:67, 8:21 largest securities market, 9:68 savings, 3:16
 Texas v. White (1869), 10:15–16
 yield, 10:448
 See also Bail bonds
 Bonham, Dr. Thomas, 4:152–154
 Bonus Army March (1932), 5:289
 Book value, 2:79, 10:193–194
 Booking, 2:80
 Bookkeeping, 2:80
 double-entry, 4:1
 entries, 4:170
 FIFO, 4:399
 ledgers, 6:226–227
 limited liability companies, 6:319
 See also Accounting Books adult books, 7:72–73, 296–297 banned, 1:46
 censorship, 2:288–289
 Center for the Book, 6:311–312
 publishing contracts, 8:176–177, 179
 Bookstores, 3:12
 Boolean searches, legal research, 3:61–62
 Boot camps (incarceration), 5:358, 497, 8:187
 Booth, John Wilkes, 1:52, 6:324–325
 Bootlegging, 8:140, 140
 Capone, Al, 1:203
 organized crime, 7:332
 Prohibition, 9:454
 Bootstrap doctrine, 2:80
 Borden, Lizzie, 2:80–81, 81
 Border Patrol, 7:50
 Borders and ports
 Coast Guard security, 1:335
 U.S.-Canada relations, 2:230
 U.S.-Mexico relations, 7:50–51
 Borinsky, Mark, 2:98
 Bork, Robert Heron, 2:81–83, 82
 Chicago school, 2:341
 Supreme Court confirmation hearings, 3:94, 5:94, 9:97
 Bosnia-Herzegovina, war crimes in, 10:277
 Bosone, Reva Beck, 2:83–85
 Boston (MA)
 Catholic church abuse cases, 9:149–150
 Charles Street Jail, 5:356
 Fugitive Slave Act (1850), 5:13
 Gray Panthers rally, 5:135
 parades, 5:53
 Stamp Act protest, (1765), 9:297
 Boston Massacre (1770), 2:85–86, 86, 457, 7:349, 10:279
 Boston Tea Party (1773), 10:279
 Botany, 2:135
 Bottomry, 2:86
 Bottoms, Sharon Lynne, 4:235
 Boudinot, Elias, 2:86–87
 Boundaries, 2:87–89
 Alaska dispute, 1:195–196
 census data and district boundaries, 2:292
 Chamizal Tract dispute, 2:316–317 counties, 3:239
 fences, 4:376–377
 low-tide elevations, 6:376–377
 margins, 6:428

- metes and bounds, 7:49
 Mexico-United States, 8:18–19
 monuments, 7:111
 party walls, 7:384–385
 real estate, 1:37
 setbacks, 9:122
 U.S.-Canada, 5:450, 8:429
 U.S.-Mexico, 7:51
 Venezuela-British Guiana dispute (1895), 7:313
 Boundary Waters Treaty (1909), 2:228
 Bounty hunters, 2:90–91
 Boy Scouts of America
Boy Scouts of America v. Dale (2000), 2:92–93, 381, 461
 freedom of association and assembly, 4:494–495 gender equality cases, 1:235 homosexual troop leaders, 3:453 homosexual troop members, 5:53–54
 Boycotts, 2:93
 anticompetitive practices, 9:168
 California grapes, 2:333, 10:161
FTC v. Superior Court Trial Lawyers Ass'n (1990), 4:493 labor, 6:173
 Montgomery buses (1955–1956), 1:448, 2:403, 405, 6:142, 7:110–111, 366–367, 9:252
NAACP v. Claiborne Hardware Co., 4:493
 secondary boycotts, 9:54–55
 Boyle, John, 2:94
 Boyle, W. A., 2:154
 Brackenridge, Henry Marie, 2:94
 Brackets, 2:94
 Bracton, Henry de, 2:94–95
 Bradford, William (1729–1808), 2:95–96
 Bradford, William (1755–1795), 2:96
 Bradley, Joseph P., 2:96–98, 97
 Bradwell, Myra Colby, 2:98–99, 99, 12:398–403
 Brady, Jim, 2:100
 Brady, Sarah, 2:100
 Brady Center to Prevent Gun Violence, 2:99–101
 Brady Handgun Violence Prevention Act (1993), 2:101, 4:363, 5:164, 10:317
 Bragg, Thomas, 3:76
 Brain death, 3:358, 359, 7:327, 329–330, 331
 Brainwashing defense, 5:238
The Bramble Bush (Llewellyn), 6:354–355
 Branch, Elmer, 5:19
 Branch Davidian raid (1993), 2:101, 101–103
 advisory juries, 1:143
 Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms, and Explosives, 1:209
 Federal Bureau of Investigation, 4:333
 Reno, Janet, 8:297–298
 wrongful death lawsuits, 10:433, 435
 Brandeis, Louis Dembitz, 2:103–105, 104
 Brief for the Defendant in Error, Muller v. Oregon (document), 12:494, 518–520 Frankfurter, Felix and, 4:481
 liberty, 6:309 proponent of balancing, 1:453
stare decisis, 8:57
Whitney v. California (1927), 3:42, 9:82
 Brazil, human rights report, 9:316
 Breach of condition, 3:179 of confidentiality, 8:177–178 of trust, 3:139–140 of warranty, 4:264, 8:126, 128–130
 Breach of contract, 3:180–181, 229–230
 anticipatory, 8:446
 damages, 3:332–333, 7:204–205, 9:263
 impossibility, 5:347
 installment contracts, 8:449
 public contracts, 8:169
 rescission, 8:328, 329
 wrongful discharge, 4:127
 Breach of marriage promise, 2:105–106
 Breach of the peace. See Disturbance or breach of the peace
 Breaking, 2:107, 169–170
 Breast implants lawsuits, 1:469, 10:58–59
 Breckenridge, John, 2:107–108
 Breese, Sidney, 2:108–109
 Brehm, Marie C., 8:142
 Brennan, William Joseph, Jr., 2:109–112, 110
Abington School District v. Schempp (1963), 1:9
Baker v. Carr (1962), 1:451
 dissents, 3:462–463
Eisenstadt v. Baird (1972), 8:311
 Eleventh Amendment, 4:111
 Exclusionary Rule, 4:265
Frontiero v. Richardson (1973), 5:8
Furman v. Georgia (1972), 5:19
New York Times Co. v. Sullivan (1964), 7:238–239
Roberts v. United States Jaycees (1984), 8:371–372
Roth v. United States (1957), 7:296, 8:410
Texas v. Johnson (1989), 9:426, 10:15
United Steelworkers v. Weber (1979), 10:165–166
 Brewer, David Josiah, 2:112–114, 113
 Brewster, Benjamin Harris, 2:114–115
 Breyer, Stephen Gerald, 2:115–118, 116
Chickasaw Nation v. United States (2001), 7:204
Hunt-Wesson, Inc. v. Franchise Tax Bd. of Cal. (2000), 3:7
 physician-assisted suicide, 10:304
Utah v. Evans (2002), 1:321
 Brezhnev, Leonid
 Anti-Ballistic-Missile Treaty (1972), 1:292
 Salt II Treaty (1979), 1:345
 Bribery, 2:118–120
 American Honda case, 3:112
 Black Sox scandal (1919), 9:284
 greenmail, 5:142–143
 Hastings, Alcee, impeachment, 5:337
 plea bargaining, 7:459
 Teapot Dome scandal (1924), 3:344, 5:188, 9:447–448
 Brickell, Robert Coman, 2:120–121
 Bridges, 2:121–122, 320–321, 9:436–437
 Bridgestone (Firestone) Corporation, 1:423
 Brief for the Defendant in Error, Muller v. Oregon (Brandeis) (document), 12:518–520
 Briefs, 2:122
 amicus curiae, 1:262
 appellate, 1:307, 312, 316
 Brandeis brief, 2:103–104
 Brandeis brief (document), 12:518–520 citing, 2:383

- Briggs, Herbert Whittaker, 2:122–123
- Bright line rules, 2:123–124, 6:338
- Brill, Steven, 3:252–253
- Bringing suit, 2:124
- Brinkmanship, 4:44
- British Foreign Service, 2:269
- British Guiana border dispute (1895), 7:313
- Broadcasting, 2:124–131, 127
 cable television, 2:209–212
 censorship, 2:286–287
 fairness doctrine, 4:305–307
 U.S. Information Agency, 10:177–178
 See also Federal Communications Commission (FCC)
- Broadhead, James Overton, 2:131
- “Broken window” theory, 10:391–392
- Brokers, 2:131–134
 churning, 2:381
 exchanges, 4:262–263
 margin calls, 6:429
 real estate, 4:303–304
 Robinson-Patman Act (1936), 8:374
 stock trading, 9:352
- Brookings Institution, 2:134
- Brooks, John A., 1:204
- Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, 8:228–229
- Brougham, Henry Peter, 2:134–135, 135
- Broward County, Florida, 2:187–188
- Brown, Addison, 2:135
- Brown, H. Rap, 6:165
- Brown, Henry Billings, 2:135–136, 136
- Brown, John (abolitionist), 1:12–13, 2:137, 137–139, 10:24–25
- Brown, Joseph Emerson, 2:139, 139
- Brown, Oliver, Brown v. Board of Education (1954), 2:144
- Brown, Ronald Harmon, 2:139–142, 140
- Brown, Walter Folger, 2:147
- Brown and Williamson Tobacco Corp., 10:47–48
- Browne, Harry, 6:305
- Brownell, Herbert, Jr., 2:147–148, 148
- Browning, James Robert, 2:148–150
- Browning, Orville Hickman, 2:150–151, 151
- Brownlow Committee, 4:270
- Bryan, William Jennings, 2:151–154, 152
 farmers’ support of, 8:318
 Scopes trial (1925), 3:341, 9:36
- Bryan treaties, 2:151
- Bryant, William Benson, 2:154–155
- Bryce, James, 2:155–156
- Bryne, Ethel, 8:458
- BST hormones, 1:174
- Buchanan, James, 2:47, 156, 156–157, 5:147
- Buchanan, Patrick Joseph, 2:157, 157–159, 5:382, 8:265, 265
- Buckley, James L., 4:87, 88
- Buckley, Peggy and Raymond, 9:148
- Buddhism, 7:343
- Budget, federal. See Federal budget
- Budget and Accounting Act (1921), 4:328, 5:54
- Budget Enforcement Act (1990), 4:329
- Buggery, 2:161
- Building and loan associations, 2:161
- Building codes, 2:161–163
 setbacks, 9:122
 zoning, 10:456
- Building inspectors, 2:164
- Building lines, 2:163
- Building Officials and Code Administrators International (BOCA), 2:162, 163–164
- Building projects
 adjoining landowners, 1:93–95
 building codes, 2:161–164
 certificates of occupancy, 2:307–308
 Civilian Conservation Corps, 7:233 competitive bidding, 8:167
 contracts, 3:180
 Crédit Mobilier scandal (1864–1873), 3:267
 environmental impact statements, 7:174
 highway, 5:254
 home repair scams, 9:103
 homeowner’s warranties, 5:280
 mechanic’s lien, 7:26
 mitigation of damages, 7:96
 National Recovery Administration, 7:183
 party walls, 7:385
 specific performance, 9:270
 subcontractors, 9:379
 Tennessee Valley Authority, 9:459, 460
- transcontinental railroad, 7:343, 9:303
- Works Progress Administration, 7:234, 234
- Buildings
 architects, 1:329–330
 Architectural Barriers Act (1968), 3:436
 arson, 1:354–355
 disorderly houses, 3:458
 See also Public buildings
- Bulk Sales Acts, 2:164
- Bulk transfers, 2:164
- Bull Moose Party, 8:399–400
 See also Progressive Party
- Bulletins, 2:164
- Bundy, Ted, 2:238
- Buono, Angelo, 7:100
- Burbine, Brian, 7:85
- Burden of allegation. See Burden of pleading
- Burden of going forward, 2:165, 8:144
- Burden of persuasion, 2:165–166, 3:460, 8:144
- Burden of pleading, 2:166
- Burden of proof, 2:166–167
 burden of persuasion, 2:165 civil forfeiture proceedings, 4:457 clear and convincing proof, 2:430–431
 disparate impact, 3:460
 judicial restraint, 6:58
 preponderance of evidence, 8:67–68
 race and ethnicity classifications, 8:213
 Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations Act, 8:220
 reasonable doubt, 8:246
 res ipsa loquitur, 8:323, 326
 shifting the burden of proof, 9:175
 two concepts inherent in, 8:144
 See also Beyond a reasonable doubt; Proof; Weight of evidence
- Bureau of International Labor Affairs, 6:171
- Bureau of Justice Assistance (BJA), 4:23
- Bureau of Justice Statistics, 6:89
- Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS), 6:170
- Bureau of Land Management (BLM), 6:190–191
- Bureaucracy, 1:108, 2:167

- Burger, Warren Earl, 2:167–169, 168
 alternative dispute resolution, 1:136
 Blackmun, Harry, relationship with, 2:58
 capital punishment, 2:242
 Chicago Eight case (1973), 5:83
 freedom of the press, 4:504
Miller v. California (1973), 7:72–73, 297
 obscenity standard, 8:33
Paris Adult Theatre I v. Slaton (1973), 7:73
Swann v. Charlotte-Mecklenburg Board of Education (1971), 9:420–421
United States v. Nixon (1974), 7:255
 Burglary, 2:169–171
 arrest statistics, 2:170
 breaking, 2:107
 entry, 4:170
 larceny distinction, 6:206
 Burials and funerals
 burial rights, 2:284
 corpses, 3:227–231
 Burke, Edmund, 2:171–173, 172
 Burlamaqui, Jean Jacques, 2:173–174
 Burnet, David Gouverneur, 2:174
 Burr, Aaron, 2:174–178, 175
 Hamilton, Alexander and, 4:42, 42, 5:180
 Lee, Charles, representation of, 6:230
 Martin, Luther and, 6:447
 Randolph, Edmund Jennings, defense by, 8:230–231 trial as traitor (1807), 5:126
 Burroughs, George, 8:443
 Burton, Harold Hitz, 2:178–179
 Buses and busing
 disabilities, 3:437
 Freedom Rides (1960s), 1:449
 Montgomery bus boycotts (1955–1956), 1:448, 7:110–111, 366–367, 9:252 passenger searches, 9:251 school integration, 9:20–24, 23, 421
 segregation, 4:191, 5:200
 Bush, George Herbert Walker, 2:179–182, 180
 AIDS policy, 1:70
 and American Civil Liberties Union, 1:251–252
 arms control and disarmament, 1:346–347, 3:185, 185
 Barr, William, Attorney General, 1:490–492
 energy policy, 4:144
 Bush, George Walker, 1:347, 2:182–185, 183, 4:390, 7:293, 8:72
 Address to Congress, September 20, 2001 (document), 12:488–492
 Anti-Ballistic-Missile Treaty (1972), 1:293
 arms control and disarmament, 1:347–348 budget deficit, 4:327, 328
 Bush doctrine, 10:283–284
 cabinet, 4:271
 Children's Defense Fund's criticism of, 2:367
 civil liberties, 1:251
 diplomatic appointments, 3:429
 environmental policy, 4:184
 executive privilege, 4:278 faith-based organizations, 3:49
 fetal tissue research, 4:390–391
 Freedom of Information Act (1966), 4:498 immigration policy, 1:227
 malpractice reform, 7:30
 National Security Council, 7:190
 pardons, 5:480
 punitive damages limitations, 8:191
 Republican Party, 8:319–320
 September 11 terrorist attacks (2001), 9:112
 smallpox immunization, 5:335–336
 Social Security policy, 9:228
 START (Strategic Arms Reduction Talks) Treaties, 9:312
 war on terrorism, 1:341, 7:63, 9:113, 10:283–284
 welfare reform, 10:333
See also Presidential election of 2000
 Business
 Blatchford, Samuel, 2:64
 escalator clauses, 4:205–206
 ethics, 4:231–232
 false advertising, 4:307–310
 footnote 4, 4:444–445
 franchises, 4:476–479
 freedom of association and assembly, 4:493
 joint operating agreements, 6:32
 joint stock companies, 6:33–34
 joint ventures, 6:35–36
 leases, 6:223, 225
 licenses, 6:314–315
 limited liability companies, 6:317–320 limited liability partnerships, 6:321
 liquidation, 6:332, 333
 Mansfield, William Murray, 6:420–421
 manufactures, 6:424
 margins, 6:429
 profit, 8:137–138
 promoters, 8:144
 public contracts, 8:166–169
 racial profiling, 8:217
 regular, 8:272
 Republican Party, 8:318
 Robinson-Patman Act (1936), 8:372–375
 shopper's cards, 8:99
 substantive due process, 4:38 theft of trade secrets, 8:101
 trade dress, 10:66–67
 trade names, 10:68–69
 trade secrets, 10:69–70
 trade usage, 10:71
 trading stamps and coupons, 10:77–78
 tying arrangements, 10:136–137
 U.S. Chamber of Commerce, 10:171–172
 use taxes, 10:186
 valuation, 2:79
 value, 10:193–194
 vertical mergers, 10:205–206
 white-collar crime, 10:358–360, 360
 wind up, 10:395, 395
See also Commercial law; Corporations; Management, business; Unfair competition; Uniform Commercial Code (UCC)
 Business affected with a public interest, 2:189, 198
 Business closings, 2:189–190
 Business codes and regulation. See Regulations Business competition
 cable television, 2:210–211
 electricity, 4:102–103
 fair-trade laws, 4:305
 Federal Trade Commission, 4:358–360
 franchises, 4:477
 mergers and acquisitions, 7:43–44, 45
 National Industrial Recovery Act (1933), 1:106, 7:182

noncompete agreements, 7:259
 physicians and hospitals,
 5:225–226
 Robinson-Patman Act (1936),
 8:372–375
See also Antitrust law;
 Monopolies
 Business interests abroad, 3:6–7,
 429 Business judgment rule, 2:190–
192, 3:220
 Business record exception, 2:192
 Business Roundtable, 2:192–193
 Business trusts, 2:193, 3:35, 6:460
 Businessmen and women
 Billmyer, John, 3:112–113
 Boesky, Ivan F., 1:324, 8:21
 Brill, Steven, 3:252–253
 Caldwell, Patricia, 3:111
 Cameron, Sherry, 3:113
 Cardiges, Stanley, 3:112–113
 Daugherty, Mally S., 7:11–13
 Fanning, Shawn, 5:425, 427
 Fastow, Andrew, 3:215
 Gates, Bill, 1:303
 Gould, Jay, 8:223
 Harriman, Edward Henry,
 8:223
 Joselyn, Dennis, 3:112–113
 Keating, Charles, 7:3
 Lafley, A.G., 3:218
 McDougal, James, 10:365
 McDougal, Susan, 10:367–368
 Milken, Michael, 2:78, 79, 8:21
 Morton, Paul, 5:194
 Perot, H. Ross, 5:381–382
 Ponzi, Charles, 8:30
 Posner, Victor, 8:21
 Powers, J.D., 3:113
 Pullman, George M., 8:182–
 183
 Schleiff, Henry, 3:253
 Sinclair, Harry F., 9:448
 Stanford, Amasa Leland,
 9:301–303, 302
 Steinberg, Saul P., 5:142–143
 Twomey, Paul, 3:112–113
 Valenti, Jack, 7:134
 Waskal, Samuel, 3:226
 Wigand, Jeffrey, 10:47
 Young, Owen D., 10:449–450,
 450
 “But for” rule, 2:193–194
 Butler, Benjamin Franklin (1795– 1858), 2:194–195
 Butler, Benjamin Franklin (1818–
 1893), 2:195, 195
 Butler, Charles Henry, 2:195–196
 Butler, Pierce, 2:197, 197–200, 7:217

Buyers and sellers
 bona fide purchasers, 7:434
 early American colonies, 7:336
 good faith, 5:114
 good will, 5:116
 hawkers and peddlers, 5:207– 208 implied warranty, 5:345–346
 innocent purchasers, 5:402
 liability, 1:405
 mercantiles, 7:40
 offers, 7:306
 severable contracts, 9:131
 tying arrangements, 9:168
See also Sales law
 Bylaws, 2:200, 201–206
 amendments, 3:222–223
 beneficial associations, 2:15
 clubs, 2:458
 condominium associations, 3:74
 corporations, 3:217–218
 Byrd, James, Jr., 5:203
 Byrnes, James Francis, 2:200,
 206–208, 207

C

C-SPAN (Cable-Satellite Public Affairs Network), 3:308–309
 Cabinet members and executive advisers
 Donaldson, William, 9:79
 Ehrlichman, John D., 10:313
 Gardner, John, 5:138
 Mueller, Robert Swann, III,
 7:136–137
 Myers, Richard, 1:347
 Poindexter, John, 5:478–479
 Rice, Condoleezza, 1:347
 Stimson, Henry Lewis, 9:347–
 348, 348
 Cabinets, 2:209
 cabinet-level agencies, 1:100– 101, 4:270–271
 Jackson, Andrew, 5:488
 Privy Council, 8:115–116
 Cable Communications Policy
 Act (1984), 2:128, 210
 Cable Landing License Act, 4:334
 Cable Services Bureau. See Media
 Bureau, FCC
 Cable television, 2:209–212
 broadcasting law, 2:127–128, 130, 6:458–459, 9:450, 452
 C-SPAN (Cable-Satellite Public Affairs Network),
 3:308–309
 Courtroom Television
 Network (Court TV),
 3:252–254

and free television, 7:167
 Media Bureau, FCC, 4:334
 must carry rules, 6:455
 Telecommunications Act
 (1996), 4:335–337
Turner Broadcasting System v.
FCC (1997), 6:455
 Cable Television Consumer Protection and Competition
 Act (1992)
 FCC regulation, 2:209–210, 6:459
 must-carry rules, 6:455
 Cahn, Edmond Nathaniel, 2:212
 Cairns, Lord, 8:433
 Calculations, time, 10:34
 Caldwell, Patricia, 3:111
 Calendars, 2:212
 Calhoun, John Caldwell, 2:213–
214, 9:326
 California abandonment laws, 1:2–3
 anti-gang laws, 5:30
 Banks, Dennis, refuge for, 1:484
 bilingual education, 4:76
 Bird, Rose Elizabeth, 2:37–39, 38
 Black Panther Party demonstration (1967), 2:49, 49–50
 census data, suit for release of,
 2:296
 Chessman, Caryl, execution of,
 2:337–338
 Compromise of 1850, 3:59–60
 criminal drug addiction,
 8:376–378
 Criminal Syndicalism Act, 3:41–42
 divorce laws, 3:471–472
 domestic partnership laws, 3:503
 electricity shortage, 4:103
 English language amendment, 4:158
 fair-trade laws, 4:305
 Family Temporary Disability Pay Law (2002), 4:321
 gay and lesbian rights, 5:53
 grand juries, 5:318
 Highway Patrol, 1:415 law school accreditation, 1:62 medical malpractice laws, 3:53 medical use of marijuana, 4:33
 Mothers Against Drunk
 Drivers, 7:127
 murder laws, 7:140
 notaries public, 7:270
 Orange County bankruptcy,
 1:468–469

- prisons, 10:29–30
 Proposition 21, 6:96
 Proposition 187, 1:219
 Proposition 209, 1:157–158
 Proposition 227, 4:76
 Reagan, Ronald Wilson, 8:243
 Sierra Club, 9:184
 Stanford, Amasa Leland, 9:302–303
Stansbury v. California (1994), 3:321–322
 State Building, Los Angeles, 1:356 tax code, 3:7
 three strikes laws, 3:305–306, 421–422, 8:251, 10:27–31
 Traynor, Roger John, 10:87–88
 trying juveniles as adults, 6:96
 underground water rights, 10:311
 Unruh Civil Rights Act, 2:460 welfare limits, 10:338–339
 Woman Lawyer's Bill, 4:437
Call, 2:214
 Caller ID, 7:414–415
 Calloway County, Missouri, 2:280–281
 Calvert, Crispina and Mark, 9:411, 415, 415
 Calvo Clause, 2:214
 Calvo doctrine, 2:214
 Cambodia, during Vietnam War, 10:228–229
 Camera, 2:214
 Cameras in court, 2:214–219
 Judicial Conference of the United States, 6:52
 Lindbergh kidnapping trial (1932), 6:329
 Cameron, Sherry, 3:113
 Cammermeyer, Margarethe, 1:336, 337
 Camp X-Ray, 4:142
 “Campaign America,” 8:11
 Campaign finance reform. See Election campaign financing Campaigns. See Election campaigns
 Campbell, Ben Nighthorse, 2:219–223, 221
 Campbell, John, 2:223
 Campbell, John Archibald, 2:223–225, 224
 Campbell, William Joseph, 2:225–228
 Campus police, 8:5
 Canada
 Alaska boundary dispute, 1:195–196
 Bering Sea Dispute, 2:22–23 forty-ninth parallel boundary, 8:429
 ice hockey, 9:291
 marine boundary dispute, 2:88
 Migratory Bird Treaty (1918), 7:55
 national health care, 7:180
 North American Free Trade Agreement (1994), 7:263–265
 pornography, 4:49
 restorative justice, 8:338
 St. Lawrence Seaway, 5:450–451
 Canada–United States relations, 2:228–230
 Canals, 2:230, 5:449–450
 Cancellation of an instrument, 2:231–232
 See also Rescission
 Candid interchange doctrine, 4:277
 Canon law, 2:232–234
 Becket, Thomas, Saint, 2:4–5
 Clarendon, Constitutions of, 2:412
 Lanfranc, 6:201–202
 Canon Law Society of America, 2:234
 Canons of construction, 2:234
 “Some Reflections on the Reading of Statutes” (Frankfurter) (document), 12:539–550
 Canons of ethics, 2:236, 466–467
 Canons of Professional Ethics (ABA), 6:230, 8:134
 Capacity and incapacity, 2:236, 3:275–278, 4:45–46, 5:355
 See also Competency and incompetency
Capias, 2:236–237
 Capital assets, 2:237
 bank management, 1:477
 depletion allowances, 3:402–403
 depreciation, 3:406–407
 limited liability companies, 6:319
 undercapitalization, 3:222–223
 Capital gains and losses, 2:243, 5:365
 Capital punishment, 2:237–242
 accomplices, 1:56
 appeals, 1:313, 314
 Ashcroft, John David, 1:367
 attainder, 1:390
 Bird, Rose Elizabeth, 2:38–39
 Blackmun, Harry Andrew, 2:58
 Brennan, William Joseph, Jr., 2:111
 clemency, 2:436–437
 courts-martial, 3:247
 cruel and unusual punishment, 3:289–290, 305, 306–307 death warrants, 3:360
 dissents, 3:462–463
 Furman v. Georgia (1972), 5:18–20, 19
 Gregg v. Georgia (1976), 5:143–144
 habeas corpus, 5:173
 history, 8:185
 juveniles, 4:79
 Marshall, Thurgood, 6:444
 mentally disabled persons, 1:387–388, 4:79–80, 5:405, 9:343–344
 NAACP Legal Defense and Education Fund, 7:159 prisoners executed (1977–2001), 2:237
 racial discrimination, 3:294, 6:38, 39
 Rehnquist, William Hubbs, 8:275
 reprieve, 8:308
 Rosenberg, Julius and Ethel, 8:404–405
 stays of execution, 9:337
 Stevens, John Paul, 9:343
 victim impact statements, 10:221
 Witherspoon v. Illinois (1968), 10:402–403
 Capital stock, 2:243
 Capital Transit Co., 5:301
 Capitalism
 Marx, Karl Heinrich, 6:451
 vs. communism, 3:37
 vs. socialism, 9:229
 Weber, Max, 10:318–319
 Capitalization, 2:243
 Capitation taxes, 2:243
 Capitol Building, Washington, D.C. abortion protests, 1:17
 Architect of the Capitol, 1:330 presidential addresses, 3:95
 Capone, Alphonse, 1:203, 2:226, 243–244, 244
 Captions, 2:244
 Car-jacking, 6:137–138
 Cardiges, Stanley, 3:112–113
 Cardozo, Benjamin Nathan, 2:244–246, 247
 dissents, 3:462
 law and literature, 6:212

- legal philosophy, 6:77–78
 legal realism, 6:245–246
Palsgraf v. Long Island Railroad Company (1928), 7:353–354
 penumbra doctrine, 7:422
 Care, 2:246–247
 Cargo shipping. See Shipping law
 Carjacking, 2:247, 247–249
 Carmichael, Stokely, 2:249, 249–252
 Black Panther Party, 2:48, 50, 53
 Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee, 9:378, 378
 Carnal knowledge, 2:252
 Caroline of Brunswick, 2:134–135
 Carpal tunnel syndrome, 3:440
 Carpenter, Matthew Hale, 2:253
 Carpetbag judges, 2:253
 Carriage of Goods by Sea Act (1936), 2:426 Carriers, 2:253–256
 explosives, 4:285
 Federal High Administration, 10:82 trucking/railroad competition, 8:224
 Carrier's liens, 2:256
 Carrington, Edward Codrington, 2:256–257
 Carrington Report, 2:257
 Carry-back, 2:257
 Carry-over, 2:257
 Carrying charges, 2:257
 Cars. See Automobiles
 Carson, Isaac E., 7:87
 Carswell, George Harrold, 2:257–259
 Cartels, 2:259
 Carter, James Coolidge, 2:259–261
 Carter, James Earl, Jr., 2:261, 261–264
 election of 1980, 8:243
 Panama Canal, 5:450
 post-Vietnam War amnesty, 1:266 railroad deregulation, 8:224–225
 Salt II Treaty (1979), 1:345
 Turning Point: A Candidate, a State, and a Nation Come of Age, 1:451–452
 Carter, Robert Lee, 2:264–265
 Carter, Rubin "Hurricane," 5:170
 Carter, Thomas Henry, 2:266, 266
 Case law, 2:267
 Lexis® (Reed Elsevier), 6:297–298
 Note-Book (Bracton), 2:95
 overview, 6:209–211
 vs. statutes, 9:329
 See also Common law
 Case method, 2:267–268
 Ames, James Barr, 1:261
 "Contracts" (Langdell) (document), 12:503–504
 Langdell, Christopher Columbus, 6:202–203
 Case of first impression, 3:31
 Case or controversy, 2:268–269
 Case records, 8:257
 Case reporters. See Reporters (publications)
 Case titles
 abbreviations, 3:249–251
 ex parte, 4:258
 in re, 5:354
 Casebooks, 2:269, 6:242
 Caseload. See Judicial administration
 Casement, Sir Roger David, 2:269, 269–270
 Cases, 2:266
 Cases agreed on, 2:266–267
 Cases in chief, 2:267, 10:106–107
 Cases stated, 2:269
 Casey, James P., 8:453
 Casey, William Joseph, 2:270–271, 271, 304
 Cash basis, 2:272
 Cash method budget accounting, 4:330
 Cash price, 10:38
 Cash surrender value, 2:272
 Cash tender offers, 10:385
 Cashier's checks, 2:335
 Casinos, 5:27, 27–28, 7:202
 Castro, Fidel, 3:309–310, 6:368
 Casual, 2:272
 Casual ejectors, 2:272
 Casual employment, 2:272
 Casualties, 2:272
 Casualty insurance, 2:272
 Casualty loss, 2:272
Casus belli, 2:272
 Categorical, 2:272
 Catholic Church. See Roman Catholic Church
 Caton, John Dean, 2:273
 Catron, John, 2:273–276, 274
 Caucuses, political, 4:95
Causa mortis, 2:276, 5:80–81
 Cause, 2:276–277
 "but for" rule, 2:193–194
 inference of negligence, 8:324
 product liability, 8:131
 tort law, 10:60–61
 wrongful death lawsuits, 10:435
 Cause célèbre, 2:277
 Cause of action, 2:278
 accrual, 1:62–63
 complaints, 3:54
 counterclaims, 3:235
 multiplicity of actions, 7:138
 "The Causes of Popular Dissatisfaction with the Administration of Justice" (Pound) (document), 12:529–538
Caveat, 2:278
Caveat emptor, 2:278–279
 CBS television network, 10:226–227
 Cease and desist orders, 2:279
 See also Injunctions
 Ceccolini, Ralph, 5:11–12
 Cede, 2:279
 Celebration of marriage, 2:279
 Celebrity and celebrities
 Bailey, F. Lee, 1:442–444
 cause célèbre, 2:277
 Cochran, Johnnie L., 9:187–188
 Darrow, Clarence, 3:339–342
 defamation, 3:379–380
 Dershowitz, Alan, 3:409–410
 libel and slander, 6:299–303
 Shapiro, Robert Leslie, 9:155–157
 stalking of, 9:294–295
 Celia, a slave, 2:279–282
 Celler-Kefauver Antimerger Act (1950), 1:301 Cemeteries and graves, 2:282–285
 disinterment, 3:228–231
 National Cemetery System, 10:210
 Native American Graves Protection and Repatriation Act (1990), 1:257, 7:194–195
 Censorship, 2:285–291
 anti-pornography ordinances, 8:34–35
 arts, 1:357
 bright line rules, 2:124
 Child Pornography Prevention Act (1996), 8:36
 Communications Decency Act (1996), 4:336–337
 Comstock Law (1873), 3:67–69
 Dershowitz, Alan, 3:408
 freedom of the press, 3:133
 movie ratings, 7:135

- prior restraint, 4:416, 417, 8:85–86
 prisoners' mail, 8:93
 Production Code (movie industry), 5:214–215 radio broadcasting, 9:434–435, 450
 Strossen, Nadine, 9:376 student expression, 4:68 theaters and shows, 10:17
 wartime, 10:275
See also Obscenity; Pornography
- Censure, 2:291–292
 McCarthy, Joseph, 7:9
 presidents, 5:338
- Census, 2:292–297
 Census Act (1954), 1:321
 Census Bureau, U.S., 2:292–297, 296
 apportionment issues, 1:318, 320–321, 450
 Economic and Statistics Administration, 3:9–10
 Center for Biologics Evaluation and Research, 4:442
 Center for Constitutional Rights, 2:297–298, 6:165
 Center for Indoor Air Research, 10:45
 Center for Law and Education (CLE), 2:298–299
 Center for Law and Social Policy (CLASP), 2:299
 Center for Oceans Law and Policy, 2:299–300
 Center for the Book, 6:311–312
 Center for the Study of the Presidency (CSP), 2:300–301
 Center on Social Welfare Policy and Law (CSWPL), 2:300
 Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), 8:170–171
 Centers for Law and Legal Studies, 2:298–302
 Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services, 2:301–302
 Central Intelligence Agency (CIA), 2:302–306
 assassinations, 1:369
 Casey, William Joseph, 2:270–271
 espionage, 4:211, 212
 Federal Bureau of Investigation, cooperation with, 2:305–306
 Freedom of Information Act (1966), 4:496
 Central Pacific Railroad, 7:343, 9:303
- Central Park jogger case (1989), 3:488
Century Digest®, 2:306
 Ceremonies
 livery of seisin, 6:346–347 wedding, 6:436
 Certificates, 2:306–307
 Certificates for shares, 2:204–205
 Certificates of acknowledgment, 1:64, 2:307
 Certificates of deposit, 2:307, 307, 3:17
 Certificates of occupancy, 2:307–308
 Certification
 legal specialization, 6:252–253, 9:265–266
 pilots, 1:48
 Certification marks, 10:73–74
 Certification proceedings, 2:308
 Certified checks, 1:478, 2:308–309, 309
 Certified copies, 2:309
 Certified public accountants, 1:59, 3:260
 Certiorari, 2:309–311, 310
Gideon v. Wainwright (1963), 5:78, 78
 Supreme Court, 3:131, 9:405–406
 writs of, 10:429
 Cesarean sections, forced, 4:386
 Cession, 2:311
Cestui que, 2:311
 CF., 2:311
 CFCs (chlorofluorocarbons), 4:176
 C.F.&I. (cost, freight, and insurance), 2:312
 Chaffee, Zechariah, Jr., 2:312–315
 Chain of command, U.S. marshals, 6:437
 Chain of custody, 2:315–316
 Chain of title, 2:316
See also Abstract of title
 Chain referral, 2:316
Challenger explosion (1986), 8:386
 Chambers, 2:316
 Chambers, Whittaker, 5:262
 Chamizal Tract, 2:316–317
 Champerty and maintenance, 2:317, 6:399
 Chance verdicts, 10:204
 Chancellor of the Exchequer, 2:317
 Chancellors, 2:317
 Chanceries, 2:317
 Change orders, 8:168–169
- Chapter 9 (bankruptcy), 1:468–469
 Chapter 11 (bankruptcy), 1:468–469, 472–473
 Chapter 12 (bankruptcy), 1:469
 Chapter 13 (bankruptcy), 1:468–469, 472–473, 10:260
 Character evaluation, 6:456
 Character evidence, 2:317–318, 3:60
 Charge, 1:63–64, 2:318, 9:198
 Charge-off, 2:318
 Charitable remainder trusts. See Unitrusts
 Charitable trusts, 2:318–319, 10:119–121
 cy pres, 3:327–328
 honorary, 5:284–285
Vidal v. Girard's Executors (1844), 10:224–225
 Charities, 2:319–320, 320 al-Qaeda connections, 9:113
 bequests, 2:37, 10:382 tax deductions, 4:226
 unitrusts, 10:166
 Charles I, King of Great Britain and Ireland, 4:157
 Charles Street Jail, Boston, 5:356
 Charlotte (NC), Swann v. Charlotte-Mecklenburg Board of Education (1971), 9:419–420
 Charter parties, admiralty and maritime law, 1:118, 9:175–176
 Charter schools, 7:173, 9:29
 Chartered partnerships. See Closed corporations
 Charters, 2:321–322
 beneficial associations, 2:15
Trustees of Dartmouth College v. Woodward (1819), 10:122–124, 319
 Chase, Salmon Portland, 2:322–325, 323
 Chase, Samuel, 2:325–2:330, 328
 Breckenridge, John and, 2:108
 Federalist party, 4:369
 Fries's Rebellion (1798), 5:6
 Martin, Luther and, 6:447
 Chase-Riboud, Barbara, 1:265
 Chattel, 2:330, 9:269
 Chattel mortgages, 2:331–332, 332, 9:64
 Chattel paper, 2:332
 Chautauqua lecture circuit, 2:152, 153
 Chávez, César Estrada, 2:332–335, 333, 10:161–162
 Checkoff, 2:335

- Checks and balances
 administrative law and procedures, 1:105
 advice and consent, 1:142
 federalism, 4:361–362
 statutes, 9:329
See also Separation of powers
- Checks (finance), 2:335
 banks, 1:477–478
 commercial paper, 3:16, 17
 imposter rule, 5:348
 indorsements, 5:390
 liability, 3:19–20
 overdraft (checks), 7:340
 restrictive indorsements, 8:341–342
 stale checks, 9:292
 stop payment orders, 9:360, 360
- Cheese, shipping by sea, 1:118
- Chemical manufacturing
 regulation, 4:179
- Chemical weapons. See Biological and chemical weapons
- Cheney, Dick, 5:57, 10:218
- Chernobyl nuclear accident (1986), 7:278
- Cherokee Nation
 Brewster, Benjamin Harris, 2:114
 Cherokee cases, 2:335–337
 Ross, John, 8:405, 405–407
 Trail of Tears (1838–1839), 2:274, 7:197
Worcester v. Georgia (1832) (document), 12:409–450
- Chessman, Caryl, 2:337–338, 338
- Chicago Eight, 2:338–340, 339
 Black Panther Party, 2:50–51
 Gignoux, Edward Thaxter, 5:83
 Kunstler, William Moses, 6:165
- Chicago (IL)
 Addams, Jane, 1:88–89
 anti-gang ordinance, 4:40
 Black Sox scandal (1919), 2:467, 6:192, 193, 9:284
 bootlegging, 1:203
 Campbell, William Joseph, 2:225–227
 Capone, Alphonse, 2:226, 243–244
 Darrow, Clarence, 3:338
 Democratic Party, 2:225–226
 Democratic Presidential Convention demonstration (1968), 2:50–51, 338–340 federal defender program, 2:226
 gun control lawsuits, 5:166
 Haymarket Square riot (1886), 5:108, 211–212, 212
 Leopold and Loeb Trial (1924), 6:269–271
 loitering laws, 5:34
 street railroads, 9:369
 Chicago Jury Project, 2:340–341
Chicago Legal News, 2:98–99
 Chicago Northwestern Railway (CNR), 3:339
 Chicago school, 2:341–342, 8:39
 Chief Joseph
 “My Son, Stop Your Ears” (document), 12:456–458
 Chief justices, 2:342–344, 12:559*t*
 Chief Justices, Conference of, 3:78–79
 Child abuse, 2:344–348
 Catholic Church scandal, 2:358, 438 child molestation, 2:347–348, 356–359, 356–359, 438 drug use by pregnant women, 4:387–388 history of, 7:358
 juvenile courts, 6:100 parental rights, termination of, 2:354 protection, 5:393–394
 recovered memories, 8:257–259
 sexual assault, 9:142–143, 147–150, 332 statistics, 2:345, 347
 unborn children, 2:347
 Child care, 2:348–351
 day care centers, 9:147, 148–149
 statistics, 2:350
 Child Care and Development Block Grant (1990), 2:350
 Child custody, 2:351–355
 administer, 1:98
 adoption cases, 1:126
 authority of parents, 7:360–362
Bottoms v. Bottoms (1994), 4:235
 divorce cases, 3:473
 electronic surveillance, 4:108
 family law, 4:316–318
 Full Faith and Credit Clause, 5:15–16 guardians ad litem, 2:368–369
 jurisdiction, 3:325
 legal history, 4:316
 premarital agreements, 8:67
 preponderance of evidence, 8:68 reproductive technologies, 8:313–314 same-sex couples, 5:49
 surrogate motherhood, 8:314
 tender years doctrine, 9:457–458
 women, 10:410
 Child Labor Deterrence Act (pending), 2:356
 Child labor laws, 2:355–356
 Child Labor Tax Law (1919), 2:356
 Fair Labor Standards Act (1938), 4:304
Hammer v. Dagenhart (1918), 3:352–353, 5:181–182
 infants’ rights, 5:394
 Child molestation, 2:356–359
See also Child abuse
 Child Nutrition Act (1966), 5:103
 Child Obscenity and Pornography Prevention Act (2003), 2:359, 8:36
 Child Online Protection Act (1998), 5:454, 7:298
 American Civil Liberties Union, 1:252
 censorship, 2:290–291
 Internet pornography, 8:34–36
 Child pornography, 2:359–360
 Internet, 8:33–35
 Mann Act (1910), 6:416–417
New York v. Ferber (1982), 8:33
 privacy, 8:98
 Child Pornography Prevention Act (1996), 2:359, 4:415, 8:36
 Child-protective services, 2:344–347, 5:393–394
 Child support, 2:360–366
 Center for Law and Social Policy, 2:299
 diplomatic immunity, 3:431–432
 divorce cases, 3:473
 family law, 4:318–319
 husbands and wives, 5:319
 illegitimacy, 5:327
 parents’ obligations, 7:362–363
 Reciprocal Enforcement of Support Act, 8:252 wage assignments, 10:259
 Children
 abandonment, 1:2–3 adopted, 1:122–132, 127
 after-born children, 1:160
 age of reason, 1:166
 Aid to Families with Dependent Children, 10:336–337

- automobile restraints, 9:46–47 battered child syndrome, 1:502
 birth defects, 1:14
 Chisholm, Shirley, advocacy of, 2:372 confrontation in court, 3:85, 86, 9:199
 criminal capacity, 3:276
 custody, 2:351–355
 descent and distribution, 3:411–418
 emancipation, 4:115
 enticement, 4:168
 family immunity, 5:332
 guardian ad litem, 5:158
 guardians and wards, 5:158–161, 8:122
 homeless, 5:279
 hunting, 5:316–317, 317
 illegitimacy, 5:326–328
 immunization, 5:333, 334, 335
 Indian Child Welfare Act (1978), 5:383–385
in loco parentis, 5:352–353, 6:365
 Internet obscenity protection, 5:454
 kidnapping, 6:139
 labor laws, 2:355–356
 loss of services, 6:371
 low-income families, 2:299
 Medicaid, 7:28–29
 Megan's Laws, 7:36–38
 molestation, 2:356–359
 negligence, 7:223
 organ donation, 7:330–331
parens patriae, 7:357
 parties to lawsuits, 7:375
 patients' rights, 7:402–403 poisoning prevention, 8:2
 posthumous, 8:43
 poverty, 2:367*t*
 premarital agreements, 8:67
 statutory rape, 8:236, 9:336
 television, 2:129–130
 Temporary Assistance to Needy Families, 10:336–337
 UNICEF, 10:164
 visitation rights, 10:241–242
 wills, 10:382
 wrongful death, 10:433
See also Babies; Infants and minors; Parents
 Children and Families, Administration for, 5:221
 Children's Defense Fund (CDF), 2:366–367, 4:60–61
 Children's Internet Protection Act. See Child Online Protection Act (1998)
 Children's rights, 2:367–370
 artificial insemination cases, 1:364
 Brennan, William Joseph, Jr., 2:111
 Clinton, Hillary Rodham, 2:447
 Edelman, Marian Wright, 4:61
 Children's Television Act (1990), 2:129–130, 286
 Child's Anti-Slavery Book, 1:12
 Chile, expropriation, 4:288
 Chilling effect doctrine, 2:370
 China
 communism, 3:40–41
 counterfeiting, 3:238
 most-favored-nation status, 7:127
 U.S. diplomacy to, 3:318, 7:252
 Chinese Americans
 Wong Wing v. United States (1896), 9:179
 Yick Wo v. Hopkins (1886), 8:212, 9:88, 10:447–448
 Chinese Exclusion Act (1882), 2:371–372
 Chipman, Daniel, 2:371
 Chisholm, Shirley Anita St. Hill, 2:371–375, 372
 Chlorofluorocarbons (CFCs), 4:176
 Choate, 2:376
 Choate, Joseph Hodges, 2:377, 377–378
 Choate, Rufus, 2:379
 Chose, 2:379
 Chose in action, 2:379
 Christian Coalition, 2:379–380
 Christian Legal Society (CLS), 2:380–381
 Christian Science, 2:437–438
 Christianity and Christians
 Evangelical Christians, 1:11–12
 Letter from Birmingham City Jail (King) (document), 12:350–358
 pacifism, 7:343–344
 suicide, 4:239
 Christie's (auction company), 1:405
 Christmas displays, 8:284–285
 Chromosome abnormalities, 10:442–443
 Chronology
 British regnal years, 12:564*t*
 chief justices, 12:559*t*
 Congressional timeline, 12:562–563
 Democratic National Conventions, 3:393*t* presidential Supreme Court nominations, 12:554–555 Presidents and Vice-Presidents of the United States, 12:553*t* U.S. Attorneys General, 1:395*t*–1:396*t*, 12:560*t*–561*t*
 U.S. Congress, 3:92*t*–3:93*t* U.S. Supreme Court time chart, 12:556*t*–558*t* women in Congress, 7:246
 Chrysler Building, 6:198, 198
 Church, Bruce, 2:334
 Church, Frank, 2:303–304
 Church and state
 benefit of clergy, 2:16–17
 covenant marriages, 6:436–437
 education law, 4:70
 Engel v. Vitale (1962), 4:148–151
 England, 2:4–6
 holiday closings of government offices, 8:288
 Lanfranc, 6:201–202
 Lincoln, Levi, 6:327
 Madison, James, 6:388
 Magna Charta, 4:156
 posting of the Ten Commandments, 8:287, 288
 release time programs, 8:281–282, 287
 religious vs. secular displays, 8:284–285
 school vouchers, 9:26–27
 Scopes trial (1925), 9:37
 See also Establishment and Free Exercise Clauses; Religion
 Church arson, 5:203
 Church committee hearings, 2:303–304
 Church of England, 9:124, 127
 Church of Scientology, 8:291
 Churchill, Winston, 10:445–446, 446
 Churning, 2:381
 The Cigarette Papers, 10:47
 Cigarettes. See Tobacco
 Cincinnati (OH)
 Coates v. Cincinnati (1971), 10:244
 gay and lesbian rights, 5:50–52
 Red Stockings baseball team, 1:495
 Taft, Alphonso, 9:430
 Cinque, Joseph, 1:264
 CIO (Congress of Industrial Organizations). See American Federation of Labor-Congress of Industrial Organizations (AFL-CIO)
 Circuit, 2:381

- Circuit courts, 2:381, 4:338
- Circumstantial evidence, 2:382
- embezzlement, 4:120
 - indicia, 5:385
 - negligence cases, 7:224
 - res ipsa loquitur*, 8:323–326
- Citadel (military school), 2:501
- Citations, 2:382–383
- The Bluebook: A Uniform System of Citation*, 2:65
 - Federal Appendix*, 4:323
 - Federal Reporter*®, 4:352–353
 - Federal Supplement*®, 4:356
 - Key Numbers®, 6:134–135
 - public law, 8:172
 - Shepard's*® Citations, 9:162
 - string citations, 9:374
- Citators, 2:383
- Cite, 2:383
- Citizens and citizenship, 2:383–387
- admission to the bar, 1:121
 - African Americans, 3:316, 337, 5:147, 7:23, 9:437
 - applications, 1:224–225
 - broadcasting licenses, 6:456
 - citizen/alien distinction, 1:213
 - Civil Rights* cases (1883) (document), 12:311–336
 - customs duties, 3:326
 - declarations, 3:368
 - denationalization, 3:304–305
 - Dred Scott v. Sandford* (1857), 4:21
 - Dred Scott v. Sandford* (1857) (document), 12:165–304
 - dual nationality, 4:36–37
 - education, 2:300–301
 - enemy combatants, 5:359–360
 - expatriation, 4:282
 - naturalization, 7:211
 - notaries public, 7:271
 - oaths, 1:225, 231
 - passports, 7:386
 - patents, 7:394
 - prisoners' rights, 8:92–93
 - private law, 8:109
 - Puerto Rico, 8:181
 - slaves, 2:275–276
 - state and federal, 9:203
 - U.S. citizens in foreign countries, 1:242, 3:141, 212
 - wartime rights and status, 10:274–275
- Citizen's arrests, 1:353
- Citizens for Decency Through Law (CDL), 2:387–388
- Citizenship and Immigration Services, Bureau of, 1:217, 227, 383
- City College of New York, 2:504–505
- City University of New York, 1:47–48
- Civil actions, 2:388
- body executions, 4:268
 - claim for relief, 2:412
 - clergy malpractice, 2:437–438
 - collateral estoppel, 2:488–489
 - diversity cases, 6:72–73
 - duress, 4:45
 - dying declarations, 4:53
 - explosives, 4:284–286
 - Federal Trade Commission actions, 4:360
 - fires, 4:412
 - fraud, 4:488–489
 - joint and several liability, 6:30
 - judicial sale, 6:59
 - jurisdiction, 2:391
 - Legal Services Corporation, 6:251–252
 - limitations of actions, 6:317
 - matters of law, 6:464
 - number of suits filed, 1:136–137
 - parties, 10:104
 - private roads, 8:110
 - punishment, 8:183
 - qui tam actions, 8:202–203
 - reference, 8:264
 - summary judgment, 8:200–202
 - venue, 2:391–392
- Civil Asset Forfeiture Reform Act (2000), 4:459
- Civil commitment for sex offenders, 2:118
- Civil courts
- federal jurisdiction, 6:71–73
 - jurisdiction, 6:70–71
 - litigation procedure, 6:339–340
- Civil death, 2:386, 388
- Civil disobedience, 2:388–389
- Civil Rights Movement, 2:405
 - Clark, William Ramsey, clients of, 2:419
 - Letter from Birmingham City Jail (King) (document), 12:350–358
 - necessity defense, 7:219
 - pro-life movement, 1:15
 - Thoreau, Henry David, 10:24–25
- Civil Justice Reform Act (1990), 2:394
- Civil law, 2:389–390
- adjunction, 1:97–98
 - burden of persuasion, 2:165
 - cancellation of an instrument, 2:231–232
 - civil-common law distinction, 3:30
 - codification, 2:471
 - common law, similarities to, 8:388
 - controversies, 3:184
 - diplomatic agents, 1:242–243
 - dominion, 3:506
 - double jeopardy, 4:3
 - equity, 4:200
 - ex post facto, 4:259–260
 - failure to state a claim, 4:300–301
 - Fair Housing Act violations, 4:304
 - misrepresentation, 4:314
 - Napoleonic code, 7:162
 - preponderance of the evidence, 2:165, 8:67–68, 246
 - prima facie*, 8:82–83
 - probable cause, 8:118
 - procedural due process, 4:41
 - Racketeer Influenced and Corruption Organizations Act, 8:219–221
 - Roman law, 8:387
 - sanctions, 8:453–454
 - seizure, 9:86
 - sequester, 9:114–115
 - Seventh Amendment, 9:129
 - statute of limitations, 9:332–333
 - usufruct, 10:187
 - vice, 10:216–217
 - willful, 10:385
- Civil liability acts. See Dramshop acts
- Civil liberties
- abortion rights, 1:21
 - American Civil Liberties Union, 1:248–252, 458–459
 - anti-terrorism policy, 2:11–12
 - Bill of Rights, 3:127, 132–135
 - Butler, Pierce, 2:198–199
 - Chaffee, Zechariah, Jr., 2:314–315
 - Clark, Tom Campbell, 2:417
 - Clarke, John Hessin, 2:422
 - commitment, 3:24–26
 - Declaration of Independence, 3:369–370
 - Douglas, William Orville, 4:11
 - Electronic Frontier Foundation, 4:104–105
 - English Bill of Rights (document), 12:11–15
 - Fifth Amendment protection, 4:399–400
 - health care, 7:181

- juveniles, 5:45
- least restrictive means test, 6:226
- Magna Charta (document), 12:3–10
- marriage, 3:32
- Mill, John Stuart, theories, 7:68–69
- Montesquieu, philosophy of, 7:108
- natural law, 7:206, 207
- Ninth Amendment, 7:247–250
- Palmer raids (1919–1920), 7:353
- Pennsylvania Constitution of 1776, 7:418
- Reed, Stanley Forman, 8:263
- right to die, 3:358–360
- Rutledge, Wiley Blount, Jr., 8:432
- Sanford, Edward Terry, 8:454–456
- sex offenders, 9:140
- substantive due process, 4:39, 9:390, 391
- United States v. Carolene Products Co.*, 6:361–362
- Virginia Declaration of Rights, 10:238
- Virginia Declaration of Rights (document), 12:85–86
- war on terrorism, 7:63
- wartime curtailment, 10:275
- Civil Liberties Act (1988), 8:304
- Civil Liberties Bureau, 1:248
- Civil procedure, 2:390–395
 - adjective law, 1:93
 - affidavits, 1:151
 - answers, 1:285
 - arrest of judgment, 1:353
 - arrests, 1:438
 - assumption of risk, 1:379
 - awarding costs, 3:234
 - Bill of Rights, 3:134–135
 - bills of particulars, 2:31
 - bills of review, 2:31
 - class actions, 2:423–424
 - codification, 2:472
 - complaints, 3:54–55
 - consent decree, 3:103–104
 - contempt, 3:154–155
 - coram nobis*, 3:205
 - coroner's inquests, 3:209
 - counterclaims, 3:235–236
 - counts, 3:235
 - default judgments, 3:380, 381
 - demurrer, 3:400–401
 - depositions, 3:404–405
 - discovery of facts, 3:447–449
 - dismissals, 3:455–456
 - duress, 4:45
 - Field Code of New York, 4:394–395
 - forfeiture, 4:457
 - formal parties, 4:461
 - guardian ad litem, 5:157–158
 - impleader, 5:343
 - impracticability, 5:350
 - inadvertence, 5:354–355
 - interpleader, 5:460–461
 - interrogatories, 5:463
 - intervention, 5:471
 - legal certainty, 6:235
 - letters rogatory, 6:284
 - litigation, 6:339–340
 - Louisiana, 2:390
 - Magna Charta, 6:394
 - multidistrict litigation, 7:137
 - notice, 7:274
 - permissive counterclaims, 7:430
 - personal jurisdiction, 7:432
 - personal property recovery, 8:306
 - preclusion orders, 8:58
 - pretrial conferences, 8:76–77
 - procedural law, 8:125
 - return of service, 8:343
 - rules, 8:416
 - set-off, 9:122
 - settlements, 9:123–124
 - severance, 9:131
 - show cause orders, 9:183
 - small claims, 9:214–215
 - special appearances, 9:260
 - summary judgments, 9:395–396
 - temporary restraining orders, 9:455
 - ultimate facts, 10:139–140
 - vacate, 10:191
 - See also* Federal Rules of Civil Procedure; Procedure
- Civil recovery, 9:181
- Civil rights, 2:395–401
 - abortion laws, 1:24
 - affirmative action, 1:152
 - AIDS patients, 1:67, 71
 - Akerman, Amos Tappan, 1:194–195
 - aliens, 1:214–215, 224
 - Allred, Gloria, 1:233–236
 - Black, Hugo, decisions of, 2:44
 - bounty hunters, 2:90–91
 - Cardozo, Benjamin Nathan, 2:245–246
 - Center for Constitutional Rights, 2:297–298
 - Chase, Salmon Portland, 2:325
 - Chisholm, Shirley, 2:373
 - Civil Rights Act (1964) (document), 12:362–383
 - Civil Rights* cases (1883) (document), 12:311–336
 - Civil Rights Office, Department of Education, 4:65
 - clubs, 2:459–461
 - Commission on Civil Rights, 3:23–24
 - defined, 8:355
 - Democratic National Convention (1948), 9:328
 - discrimination, 3:452
 - Douglass, Frederick, 4:14
 - employment issues, 1:328
 - enforcement, 2:148
 - English Bill of Rights (document), 12:11–15
 - Equal Protection Clause, 3:136, 9:313–314
 - exhaustion of remedies, 4:281–282
 - Fair Housing Act (1968), 4:302–304
 - footnote 4, 4:444–445
 - gay and lesbian rights, 5:49, 50–52
 - Hastie, William Henry, 5:200
 - Higginbotham, Aloysius Leon, Jr., 5:250
 - Houston, Charles Hamilton, 5:301
 - individual responsibilities, 2:173
 - Johnson, Lyndon Baines, 6:23
 - Jones, Elaine Ruth, 6:38–39
 - Jordan, Barbara Charline, 6:40–41
 - judicial review, 6:57, 58
 - Katzenbach, Nicholas deBelleville, 6:107
 - Kennedy, John Fitzgerald, 6:122
 - King, Martin Luther, Jr., 6:142–143
 - King, Rodney G., 6:144–145
 - Magna Charta (document), 12:3–10
 - Murphy, Francis William, 7:144–145
 - NAACP Legal Defense and Education Fund, 7:158–159
 - Native Americans, 1:254–257, 482–484
 - prisoners, 8:89–91, 92–97
 - Rogers, William Pierce, 8:386
 - Section 1983, 9:59–64
 - Tuttle, Elbert Parr, 10:127–128
 - Vaughn, George L., 10:200

- Violence Against Women Act (1994), 10:233–234
- Virginia Declaration of Rights (document), 12:85–86
- Voting Rights Act Address (Johnson) (document), 12:482–483
- Wisdom, John Minor, 10:401
- witness discrimination, 9:375
- Yick Wo v. Hopkins* (1896), 10:447–448
- See also Bill of Rights, United States; Civil liberties
- Civil Rights, Office of, 5:219
- Civil Rights Act (1866), 2:396
- Black Codes, 2:43
- enactment, 8:211
- freed slaves, 2:401
- racial harassment, 2:399
- Thirteenth Amendment, 10:20
- Civil Rights Act (1871), 6:162–163
- abortion clinic protests, 1:24
- Akerman, Amos Tappan, 1:195
- color of law, 2:508
- enactment, 2:396, 8:211
- equal protection, 4:196
- Ku Klux Klan, 6:160
- Section 1983, 9:59
- Civil Rights Act (1875)
- backlash, 6:13
- Bradley, Joseph P., 2:97
- Civil Rights* cases (1883) (document), 12:311–336
- equal protection, 4:189
- Thirteenth Amendment, 10:19–20
- unconstitutionality of, 2:401–402
- Civil Rights Act (1960), 2:397
- Civil Rights Act (1964), 2:397–398
- affirmative action, 1:153
- arbitration, 1:328
- Civil Rights Movement, 1:449
- discrimination, 3:452
- discriminatory policing, 8:6–7
- employment discrimination, 4:132
- employment issues, 3:50, 459, 5:205
- enactment, 2:406
- Equal Employment Opportunity Commission establishment, 4:184
- equal protection, 4:197
- integration, 5:422, 7:256, 9:18, 85
- Johnson, Lyndon Baines, 6:23
- Katzenbach, Nicholas deBelleville, 6:107
- King, Martin Luther, Jr., 6:142–143
- reproductive hazards and employment, 8:314
- scope of, 8:212
- sex discrimination, 9:133, 134
- See also Title VI, Civil Rights Act (1964); Title VII, Civil Rights Act (1964)
- Civil Rights Act (1968), 2:398, 418
- See also Fair Housing Act (1968)
- Civil Rights Act (1991), 2:399, 401, 3:460, 4:185
- Civil Rights Act (1964) (document), 12:362–383
- Civil rights acts, 2:401
- Civil Rights Acts (1870)
- employment law, 4:132
- enactment, 8:211
- Civil Rights Acts (1957), 2:401
- Brownell, Herbert, Jr., 2:148
- Commission on Civil Rights, establishment of, 2:397
- Civil Rights Attorney's Fee Awards Act (1976), 9:63
- Civil Rights Movement, 2:402–408
- Abernathy, Ralph David, 1:6–7
- Baker, Ella Josephine, 1:447–449
- Bates, Daisy Lee Gatson, 1:498–500
- Bell, Derrick Albert, Jr., 2:7–10
- Black Panther Party, 2:48–53
- Black Power movement, 2:53–54
- Bond, Horace Julian, 2:75–77, 76
- Brown v. Board of Education* (1954), 2:142–146, 10:293, 295–296
- Carmichael, Stokely, 2:250
- Carter, Robert Lee, 2:264–265
- COINTELPRO, 2:481–482
- Crockett, George William, Jr., 3:301–302
- Du Bois, William Edward Burghardt, 4:36
- Edelman, Marian Wright, 4:60
- Eisenhower, Dwight David, 4:83
- Evers, Medgar Wiley, 4:243–245
- Evers-Williams, Myrlie, 4:245–247
- FBI investigations, 5:291
- federal response to, 8:212
- Freedom Rides, 2:250
- Greenberg, Jack, 5:140–141
- Hamer, Fannie Lou Townsend, 5:175–177
- Hayes, George E.C., 5:208–209
- Hill, Oliver White, Sr., 5:259–260
- Hooks, Benjamin Lawson, 5:285–287
- "I Have a Dream" speech (King) (document), 12:359–361
- integration, 5:420–422
- Jackson, Jesse Louis, Sr., 5:491–492
- Jim Crow laws, 6:15
- Johnson, Frank Minis, Jr., 6:19–20
- Kennedy, Robert F., 6:124
- King, Martin Luther, Jr., 6:141–143
- Ku Klux Klan, 6:161–162, 10:363
- Kunstler, William Moses, 6:163–165
- Letter from Birmingham City Jail (King) (document), 12:350–358
- Lewis, John Robert, 6:295–297
- Little-Collins, Ella Lee, 6:340–343
- Liuzzo, Viola Fauver Gregg, 6:344–346
- lynchings, 6:382
- Malcolm X, 6:403–404
- Marshall, Thurgood, 6:442–444
- Meredith, James Howard, 7:42–43
- Miller, Loren, 7:70
- NAACP, 7:156–157
- New York Times* advertisement, 7:238
- nonviolent protests, 7:345–346
- Parks, Rosa, 7:365–368
- Powell, Adam Clayton, Jr., 8:46–47
- Randolph, Asa Philip, 8:229
- Robinson, Spottswood William, III, 8:375–376
- Southern Christian Leadership Conference, 9:252–253
- Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee, 9:377–378
- Terrell, Mary Eliza Church, 10:3
- Voting Rights Act (1965), 10:254–255
- Wallace, George Corley, 10:269

- Wilkins, Roy Ottoway, 10:375–376
- Williams, Franklin Hall, 10:386
- See also* Affirmative action; Discrimination, racial and ethnic; Integration and desegregation
- Civil Rights Office, Department of Education, 4:65
- Civil service, 2:408
- collective bargaining, 2:490
- discrimination complaints, 4:185–186
- Eaton, Dorman Bridgman, 4:59
- ethics statutes, 4:230
- loyalty oaths, 6:377–378
- patronage, 7:409–410, 417
- provisional appointment, 8:160
- Civil Service Commission, U.S.
- Eaton, Dorman Bridgman, 4:59
- establishment, 2:408
- Civil Service Reform Act (1978), 2:408, 7:410
- Civil unions. See Domestic partners
- Civil War, U.S., 10:172–174
- attorney general, U.S., 6:90
- attorneys general, Confederate, 3:75–77
- Barlow, Francis Channing, 1:490
- Benjamin, Judah Philip, 2:18–19
- Butler, Benjamin Franklin, 2:195
- Campbell, John Archibald, 2:225
- Catron, John, 2:276
- Cherokee Nation, 8:407
- Clifford, Nathan, 2:445
- conscription, 3:102
- Crittenden, John Jordan, 3:300
- Douglass, Frederick, 4:14
- Emancipation Proclamation (1863), 4:115–117
- Fourteenth Amendment, 4:468
- Garfield, James Abram, 5:35
- Gettysburg Address (1863), 6:325–326
- Gettysburg Address (1863) (document), 12:470
- Grant, Ulysses Simpson, 5:129–130
- habeas corpus suspension, 8:74
- Hayes, Rutherford Birchard, 5:210–211
- Lincoln, Abraham, 6:324–325
- martial law, 6:445
- military government, 7:55
- Mississippi Secession Convention, 6:183
- oaths of prior loyalty, 6:377
- pardon for Confederate participants, 1:266
- Prize cases (1863), 3:350–351, 5:148, 266
- Republican Party, 8:317
- secession, 9:48
- Second Inaugural Address (Lincoln) (document), 12:471–472
- slavery issue, 9:210
- Speed, James, 9:273
- taxation, 5:439
- Texas v. White* (1869), 10:15–16
- transcontinental rail service, 8:222
- Trent* affair (1861), 10:97–98, 98
- Woods, William Burnham, 10:415
- See also* Confederate States of America
- Civil wars, 2:408–409, 10:277
- Civil Works Administration (CWA), 1:355
- Civil wrongs, 10:432
- Civiletti, Benjamin Richard, 2:409–411, 410
- Civilian Conservation Corps, 7:233
- Civilian Radioactive Waste Management, Office of, 4:146
- Civilian review boards, 2:411
- Civilians
- aerial warfare, 8:425
- Ex Parte Milligan* (1866), 10:173–174
- Geneva Conventions (1949), 5:68–69
- soldier/civilian distinction, 8:424
- Civility, 6:219
- C.J. (chief justice), 2:411
- CJS (Corpus Juris Secundum)®*, 2:411–412
- Claimants, two-fund doctrine, 6:438
- Claims, 2:412
- cognizable, 2:473
- insurance, 5:418–419
- Medicare, 7:32
- patent specifications, 7:392–394
- salvage, 8:451–452
- Claims Court, U.S. See U.S. Court of Federal Claims
- Claims for relief, 2:412
- Claims of right, 4:120
- Clarendon, Constitutions of, 2:412
- Clark, Marcia Rachel, 2:412–415, 413
- Clark, Nikki Ann, 6:61
- Clark, Tom Campbell, 2:415–417, 416
- Abington School District v. Schempp* (1963), 1:9
- competing liberty interests, 6:308
- Miranda v. Arizona* (1966), 7:84
- Robinson v. California* (1962), 8:377
- Clark, William Ramsey, 2:417–420, 418
- Clarke, John Hessin, 1:28, 2:420–423, 422, 431–432
- CLASP (Center for Law and Social Policy), 2:299
- Class actions, 2:423–426
- breast implants, 10:58–59
- consumer protection cases, 3:151
- false advertising, 4:309
- parties to lawsuits, 7:375
- settlements, 9:123–124
- standing, 9:301
- tobacco industry, 10:49–51
- U.S. Information Agency sex discrimination, 10:178
- Weinstein, Jack Bertrand, 10:326–328
- Classification systems
- Dewey Decimal System, 3:425
- drugs and FDA, 4:28–29
- Key Numbers®, 6:134
- private bills, 8:109
- Classified boards of directors, 2:68
- Classified information, 5:478
- Clause paramount, 2:426
- Clausen, Cara, 1:126–127
- Clauses, 2:426
- Clay, Henry, 2:426–428, 427
- Compromise of 1850, 3:59–60
- Crittenden, John Jordan, 3:299–300
- dueling, 4:43
- election of 1824, 1:84–85
- Missouri Compromise (1820), 7:88–89
- Whig Party, 10:353
- Clayton, Henry DeLamar, 2:429
- Clayton, John Middleton, 2:429–430, 430

- Clayton Act (1914), 1:299–300, 2:428–429, 7:103
 health care law, 5:226
 labor law, 6:178
 mergers and acquisitions, 7:45–46
 Robinson-Patman Act (1936) and, 8:372–373 unfair competition, 10:149–150
 vertical mergers, 10:205
 Clayton-Bulwer Treaty, 2:430
 CLE (Center for Law and Education), 2:298–299
 Clean Air Act. See Air Pollution Control Act (1955)
 Clean Air Act Amendments, 1:184–186, 421–422
 Clean hands doctrine, 6:466–467, 9:268–269
 Clean Water Acts
 environmental law, 4:177
 water pollution control, 8:26, 10:307–308
 Clear, 2:430
 Clear and convincing proof, 2:430–431
 burden of proof, 2:165
 reasonable doubt, 8:246
 Clear and present danger, 2:431–433
 Abrams v. United States (1919), 1:26–29
 Communist Party cases, 3:44
 Douglas, William Orville, 4:11
 free speech, 4:215, 501–502
 Holmes, Oliver Wendell, Jr., 5:275, 9:14
 Clear title, 2:433
 Cleaver, Leroy Eldridge, 2:50–51, 51, 433–436, 435
 Clemency, 2:436–437
 Clergy
 communication privileges, 8:112–113
 malpractice, 6:410–411
 Clerical errors, 2:438–439, 4:265
 Clerks, 2:439, 8:160
 Clermont, 6:353
 Cleveland, Stephen Grover, 2:439, 439–440
 Bissell, Wilson Shannon and, 2:42, 43
 election of 1888, 4:101
 Cleveland (OH), 9:162
 Client security funds, 2:440–441
 Clients, 2:440
 Clifford, Clark McAdams, 2:441, 441–443
 Clifford, Nathan, 2:443–446, 444
 Clinical drug trials, 4:440–441
 Clinton, Hillary Rodham, 2:446–449, 447
 Children's Defense Fund, 2:367
 children's rights, 7:358
 Whitewater investigation (1996), 5:124, 9:310, 10:365–368
 Clinton, William Jefferson, 2:449, 449–453, 7:264
 abortion laws, 1:19
 accelerated drug approval, 4:442
 AIDS policy, 1:70
 antiterrorism policy, 10:282–283
 arms control and disarmament, 1:347 balanced budget efforts, 5:92 budget surplus, 4:327, 328 censure motion, 2:292
 Clinton, Hillary Rodham and, 2:447–448
 death sentence appeals process, 2:239
 Democratic Party, 3:395
 diplomatic appointments, 3:429
 energy policy, 4:144
 English-only laws, criticism of, 4:159–160
 environmental policy, 4:182, 184
 Gore, Albert, vice president, 5:117–118 homosexuals in the military, 1:336 impeachment, 1:361, 3:130, 5:252, 338–339, 340–341, 8:276
 independent counsel investigations, 5:379–380, 9:310–311
 Jones v. Clinton (1999), 3:157, 5:332, 9:153
 Korematsu, Fred and, 6:159
 land-use control, 6:190–191
 line-item vetoes, 10:215
 national health care, 7:181
 Pollard spy case, 4:212 presidential election campaign, 2:181 presidential immunity, 8:71 recommendation to disbar, 3:446
 Rich, Marc and Denise, pardons, 7:356–357
 Telecommunications Act (1996), 4:335
 Violent Crime Control and Law Enforcement Act (1994), 10:234–235
 welfare reform, 10:333
 Wen Ho Lee, bail denial, 4:212–213
 Whitewater, 10:365–368
 Cloning
 Christian Legal Society, 2:381 introduced legislation, 8:105
 research, 5:64–65
 Close, 2:453
 Close writs, 2:453
 Closed accounts, 2:453
 Closed-circuit television confrontation of accusers, 3:86 court appearances, 1:308 news conferences, 1:303
 Closed corporations, 2:453
 Closed primaries, 4:95
 Closed shops, 2:453–454
 Closed trials, 10:103
 Closely held (corporations), 2:454, 3:216
 Closing, 2:454–456
 Closing arguments, 2:456–457, 10:108
 Closing costs, 2:456
 Cloture, 2:457
 Clouds on titles, 2:457–458, 6:432
 Clubs, 2:458–461
 Co, 2:461
 Co-maker, 3:1
 Co-ownership
 embezzlement, 4:119
 right of survivorship, 8:357
 Coal mine strikes, 7:448
 tax issues, 3:7
 Coast Guard, U.S., 1:335, 8:451
 Cobb, Thomas Reade Rootes, 2:461–462
 COBRA (1994), 4:126
 Cocaine
 abuse, 3:283
 punishment for possession, 8:186 sentences for drug charges, 3:423, 9:106
 Cochran, Johnnie L., Jr., 2:462–465, 463, 9:187–188
 Cockburn, Sir Alexander James Edmund, 2:465
 Code Duello of Ireland, 4:41–43
 Code Napoléon, 8:388
 Code of Canon Law. See Canon law

- Code of Federal Regulations, 2:465–466
 administrative law and procedures, 1:105, 2:472
 executive orders, 4:275
- Code of Hammurabi, 2:466, 466, 471
- Code of Judicial Conduct, 2:466–469, 4:233–234, 8:259
- Code of Justinian, 2:471, 6:94, 8:387
- Code of Professional Responsibility (ABA), 2:236, 4:466
- Code pleading, 2:469–470
 Field Code, 4:395
 ultimate facts, 10:139–140
- Codes, 2:465
The Body of Liberties (Ward), 10:284–285
 criminal law, 6:349
 draconian law, 4:16
 Field Code of New York, 4:394–395
 legal responsibility, 8:133–137
 Theodosian Code, 10:17
 West Saxon Lage, 10:345
- Codes of ethics, 4:232–234
- Codicils, 2:470, 8:120
- Codification, 2:470–472
 Carter, James Coolidge, 2:260
 criminal law, 6:349
 Lieber code, 8:422
 Maris, Albert Branson, 6:430
 Rantoul, Robert, Jr., 8:233
 Roman law, 8:387, 10:17
 rules of war, 8:422
- Coe, Thomas E. and Sheryl, 2:346–347
- Coercion, 2:472–473
 confessions, 3:80, 5:192, 9:94
 contracts, 3:176
- Coercive remedies, 8:294
- Cognizable, 2:473
- Cognizance, 1:380–381, 2:473
- Cognovit actionem*, 2:473
- Cognovit notes, 2:474, 3:83–84
- Cohabitation, 2:474–477
 common-law marriage, 3:32–34 constructive desertion, 3:137–138
 statistics, 2:475
- Cohen, Felix Solomon, 2:477
- Cohen, Jeanette, 5:470–471
- Cohen, Morris Raphael, 2:477–478
- Cohn, Roy Marcus, 2:478–480, 479
- Coinsurance, 2:480
- COINTELPRO, 2:251, 463, 480–482
- Coke, Richard, 2:482
- Coke, Sir Edward, 2:482–485, 483
 Bacon, Sir Francis, 1:434
 canons of construction, 2:235
Dr. Bonham's Case (1610), 4:152–154
 formalism, 6:74
- Cold War, 2:485–487
 arms control and disarmament, 1:343
 Central Intelligence Agency, 2:304–305
 communism, 3:39–40, 43
 Eisenhower, Dwight David, 4:82–83
 Hiss, Alger, 5:261–262
 Hot Line Agreement (1963), 5:293
 Kissinger, Henry Alfred, 6:145–147
 Limited Test Ban Treaty (1963), 6:321–322
 Red scare, 8:261
 Truman, Harry S., 10:114
See also Cuban Missile Crisis (1962)
- Coleman, James S., 9:22
- Collateral, 2:487, 9:64–67
- Collateral attacks, 2:488
- Collateral estoppel, 2:488–489
 double jeopardy, 4:5
 equitable estoppel, 4:228
 issue preclusion, 5:486
res judicata, 8:327
- Collateral heirs, 2:489, 3:414
- Collateral warranties, 2:489
- Collective bargaining, 2:489–493
Auciello Iron Works v. NLRB, 6:174–175
 certification proceedings, 2:308
Commonwealth v. Hunt (1842), 8:233–234
 National Labor Relations Act (1935), 4:131, 6:172–173
 sports law, 9:288–289
 U.S. labor history, 9:371–372
 wildcat strikes, 10:373
- Collective bargaining agreements, 2:494, 495–498, 6:176
- Colleges and universities, 2:494, 498–507
 academic freedom, 1:44–48
 affirmative action, 1:152–153, 154–158, 4:71–72, 7:159
 alcohol use, 1:200–202
 boards of regents, 2:69–70
 campus police, 8:5
 charters, 10:122–124, 319
 course packets, 3:192
 endowments, 4:141
 enrollment (1960–2000), 2:499
 GI Bill, 5:74–77
 Graduate School, Department of Agriculture, 1:178–179
 Harvard Law School, 6:236
 integration, 6:106–107, 7:40–42 interstate commerce case, 3:5–6 land grant, 6:185
 Law School Admission Test, 6:216–217
 music trading, 5:425
 Post-secondary Education Office, 4:65
 prelaw education, 8:62
Regents of the University of California v. Bakke (1978), 8:269–270 religious groups' use of facilities, 8:287 residency requirements, 8:333
Rosenberger v. Rector and Visitors of the University of Virginia (1995), 8:287
 sex discrimination, 9:137
 speech codes, 2:289
 student athletes, 9:269, 285–286
United States v. Virginia (1996), 10:238–240 women graduates, 1:158
See also Law schools
- Collier, William Miller, 2:507, 507–508
- Collisions, 1:117, 2:508
See also Accidents and crashes
- Collusion, 2:508, 9:289
- Colombia, drug control policy, 4:32
- Colonial America
 alcohol use, 1:198–199
 Articles of Confederation, 1:359–360, 3:126–127
 codification of law, 2:471
 Constitutional Convention (1787), 3:117–121
 Continental Congress, 3:158–159
 Cranch, William, 3:260–261
 divorce, 3:471
Dr. Bonham's Case, influence of, 4:153–154
 education, 4:66–67
 Eighth Amendment, concerns over the, 4:81
 eminent domain, 4:403
 equity, 4:200

- First House of Representatives (1789-1791), 5:296
 forms of action, 4:462
 Frame of Government (document), 12:50-51 general warrants, 4:471-472
 indenture, 5:373-374
 Jay's Treaty (1795), 3:396-397
 jury nullification, 6:83-84
 jury trials, 10:102
 justices of the peace, 6:91
 law of the land, 6:393-394
 Laws and Liberties of Massachusetts (document), 12:48-49
 legal education, 6:236
 legal ethics, 8:134
 lotteries, 9:321
 Mayflower Compact (document), 12:46-47
 midnight judges, 7:53-54
 militias, 7:64-65
 Monroe Doctrine, 7:104-105
 New York Constitution of 1777, 7:236-237
 Pennsylvania Constitution, 7:418 popular will, 8:412
 punishment, 8:184
 quartering troops, 10:18
 Salem witch trials (1692), 8:440-444
 self-incrimination, 4:401
 separation of powers, 4:157
 Shays's Rebellion (1786), 1:297, 297, 3:119, 9:161
 slavery, 1:11, 4:188, 9:204-208
 South Carolina Slave Code (document), 12:52-55
 Stamp Act (1765), 9:297-298
 Stamp Act (document), 12:57-68
 taxation, 3:426, 5:439
 Townshend Acts (1767), 10:65-66
 Townshend Acts (1767) (document), 12:69-78
 Virginia Conventions (1774-1776), 10:237
 Virginia Declaration of Rights, 10:238
 War of Independence, 10:279-281
 writs of assistance, 4:471-472, 7:336-337
Writs of Assistance case (1761), 10:430-431
 Zenger seditious libel case, 10:453-454
 Colonial leaders
 Adams, John, 1:81-83
 Adams, Samuel, 2:85
 Constitutional Convention (1787), 3:122
 Dickinson, John, 3:426-427, 427
 Franklin, Benjamin, 4:484-485
 Hamilton, Alexander, 3:396, 5:178-180, 179, 7:108, 247
 Hancock, John, 3:159
 Henry, Patrick, 5:246-247, 247
 Jay, John, 3:396-397, 7:108
 Jefferson, Thomas, 6:10-13
 Mason, George, 6:451-452, 452
 Otis, James, Jr., 7:336-337, 337
 Paine, Robert Treat, 7:349, 349-350
 Paine, Thomas, 7:350-351, 351
 Sherman, Roger, 9:171-172, 172
 Washington, George, 10:300-302, 301
 Colonialism
 Puerto Rico, 8:179
 Spanish, 10:242-243
 U.S., 9:260
 Color, 2:508
 Color of law, 2:508
 Color of office, 2:508
 Color of title, 2:509
 Colorable, 2:509
 Colorado
 abortion clinic protest buffer zones, 1:25, 8:310 Amendment 2, 4:195, 8:389-390
 gay and lesbian rights, 5:49
 Gregory Diggings Code, 7:77 initiatives process, 4:96
 Columbine High School (CO), 7:144 Combination, 3:1
 Combination in restraint of trade, 3:1
 Comity, 3:1-2
 Command theory of law, 6:241
 Commemorative legislation, 6:33
Commentaries (Kent), 6:126-127
Commentaries on the Laws of England (Blackstone), 2:59-60, 60-61
 Commerce, 3:2, 6:213
 See also Commerce Clause
 Commerce, Department of, 1:320-321, 3:8-11, 9
 Commerce, electronic, 3:11-14, 13
 Commerce Clause, 3:2-8
 carriers, 2:254
 child labor, 3:352-353, 5:181-182
 Congress, U.S., 3:122, 129, 5:463, 467, 7:184, 256
 Gibbons v. Ogden, 4:362-363
 gun control, 5:163, 166
 state regulation, 3:316-317, 5:77
 states' rights, 2:275
 Violence Against Women Act (1994), 10:233-234, 413
 Commercial banks, 1:476, 5:101-102
 Commercial brokers, 2:132
 Commercial code, 3:14
 See also Uniform Commercial Code (UCC)
 Commercial law, 3:14-15
 custom, 10:185
 Mentschikoff, Soia, 7:39-40
 price-fixing, 8:81
 Shaw, Lemuel, 9:157-158
 state vs. federal laws, 8:370 unwritten law, 10:171
 usage, 10:185
 Commercial Law League of America (CLLA), 3:15
 Commercial paper, 3:15-22, 20
 accommodation papers, 1:55
 bank procedures, 1:479
 in blank, 5:351
 cosigners, 3:233
 draw, 4:19
 endorsement, 4:141
 good faith, 5:114
 holders, 5:273
 present, 8:68
 presentment, 8:68
 promise, 8:142
 publish, 8:175
 recourse, 8:257
 single name papers, 9:191
 spoliation, 9:280
 utter, 10:190
 without recourse, 10:405
 Commercial properties, 5:20, 8:245
 Commercial speech
 First Amendment protection, 4:415-416, 503
 Liquormart v. Rhode Island (1996), 6:333-335
 Commercial vehicles, 5:255-257
 Commingling, 3:23, 8:150
 Commission on Civil Rights, 2:397, 3:23-24
 Commission on Opportunity in Athletics, 9:287
 Commission on Pornography, 4:51

- Commission on Wartime Relocation and Internment of Civilians, 6:5
- Commissioners, 3:24
 - Humphrey, William E., 1:101
 - Internal Revenue Service, 5:438
- Commissioners on Uniform State Laws. See National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws
- Commissions, regulatory, 4:272
- Commissions (fees), 2:133–134, 4:299
 - See also* Compensation and income
- Commitment, 3:24–27, 5:368, 408
- Commitment fee, 3:27
- Committee for Industrial Organization (CIO), 6:179
- Committee of Inquiry on Coal and Civil Liberties, 2:314
- Committees, 3:27
 - Congress, 3:90–91, 95, 5:295–297, 9:95
 - legislative, 6:257–258
- Commodities, 3:27
 - futures trading, 3:207, 4:262–263, 5:21
 - options, 7:320–321
 - Robinson-Patman Act (1936), 8:372–375
- Commodities Futures Trading Commission (CFTC), 4:262
- Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC), 1:173, 3:27–28
- Commodity Exchange Act, 3:207
- Commodity Futures Modernization Act (2000), 3:28
- Commodity Futures Trading Commissions (CFTC), 3:28–29
- Common, 3:29
- Common carriers, 2:254–255, 3:29
 - Federal Maritime Commission, 4:348
 - railroads, 8:223–224
 - trucking industry, 8:224
- Common council, 3:30
- Common count, 3:30
- Common disasters, 3:30
- Common lands, 3:30
- Common law, 3:30–31
 - accidental killings, 1:54
 - age of majority, 6:401
 - antitrust law, 1:298
 - armed conflict, 7:62
 - assignment for benefit of creditors, 1:374–376
 - assumpsit, 1:378
 - attainder, 1:390
 - authority over the monarchy, 2:483–484
 - blue ribbon juries, 2:67
 - breach of marriage promise, 2:105–106
 - burglary, 2:169–171
 - certiorari, 2:309–311
 - champerty and maintenance, 6:399
 - civil law, comparisons, 2:389–390, 8:388
 - codification, 2:260, 470–472
 - common count, 3:30
 - consideration, 10:193
 - contributions, 3:183
 - copyright, 3:191
 - corporeal, 3:227
 - courts, 6:210
 - courts of equity, 7:120
 - coverture, 3:258
 - criminal conversation, 3:273
 - De legibus et consuetudinibus Angliae* (Bracton), 2:94, 95
 - dedications, 3:371–372
 - defeasance clauses, 3:380–381
 - disturbance of public meetings, 3:468
 - Doe, Charles, innovations of, 3:498
 - dower or curtesy, 3:315–316, 4:16, 8:356, 10:381
 - Dr. Bonham's Case* (1610), 4:152–154
 - due process, 4:38
 - ejectment, 2:272
 - electronic surveillance, 4:108
 - employers' liability, 4:127
 - employment at will, 4:127–129
 - endowments, 4:142
 - English law, 2:232–233, 4:155
 - environmental law, 4:170–174
 - equal protection, 4:197–198
 - equity, 4:199–200
 - extortion, 4:289–290
 - federal common law, 9:362, 423
 - Federal Rules of Evidence, 4:355
 - fee simple subject to executory limitation, 4:217
 - fellatio, 4:370
 - fellow-servant rule, 4:370–372
 - felonies, 4:372
 - filius nullius*, 4:404
 - forms of action, 4:461–462
 - fornication, 4:462
 - Glanvil, Ranulf, 5:98–99
 - heart balm acts, 5:239
 - homicide, 5:282
 - husbands and wives, 5:318–319
 - illegitimacy, 5:326–327
 - impleader, 5:342–343
 - joinder of issue, 6:30
 - Kent, James, 6:125–127
 - landfills, 9:243
 - at law, 1:387
 - legal realism, 6:243–246
 - manslaughter, 6:422
 - maxims, 6:466–468
 - "Mechanical Jurisprudence" (Pound) (document), 12:521–528
 - mens rea*, 7:39
 - merger, law of, 3:280
 - merger doctrine, 6:272
 - Mormon Church, 7:119
 - necessity defense, 7:218–219
 - overview, 6:210
 - paternity, 7:397–398
 - pleas, 7:456–457
 - pleas in abatement, 1:3, 7:461
 - precedent, 8:57–58
 - privacy, 8:100–101
 - Rantoul, Robert, denunciation by, 8:232–233
 - real actions, 8:245
 - rebutter, 8:248
 - recaption, 8:248–249
 - replevin, 8:306
 - rescue, 8:329–330
 - respondeat superior*, 8:334–336
 - rule against perpetuities, 8:416–417
 - Seventh Amendment, 9:129
 - spouses' testimony, 10:406
 - traverse, 10:87
 - Traynor, Roger John, reforms of, 10:87–88
 - treasure trove, 4:408
 - trespass, 10:99
 - trover, 10:112–113
 - unlawful assembly, 10:168–169
 - unwritten law, 10:171
 - vagrancy, 10:192
 - vouches, 10:255
 - vouching-in, 10:257
 - wait-and-see doctrine, 10:263–264
 - water pollution, 10:308–309
 - water rights, 10:309–311
 - "What Shall Be Done with the Practice of the Courts?" (Field) (document), 12:500–502
 - worthier title doctrine, 10:427
 - wrongful discharge, 10:436

- See also* Case law; Forms of action
- Common-law action, 3:31
- Common-law courts, 3:31–32
- The Common Law* (Holmes), 5:274, 12:494
- Common-law marriage, 3:32–34
- cohabitation, 2:476
- state laws, 6:433, 435
- Common-law pleading, 3:35, 7:461–462
- code pleading, 2:469–470
- confession and avoidance, 3:83
- confession of judgment, 3:83
- declarations, 3:367–368
- dilatory pleas, 3:428
- Common-law trusts, 2:193, 3:35, 6:460
- Common pleas, 3:35–36
- Common scolds, 3:36
- Common Sense* (Paine), 7:350, 8:315, 315
- Common Sense* (Paine) (document), 12:83–84
- Common stocks, 3:36, 9:350
- Commonwealth of Puerto Rico. See Puerto Rico
- Commonwealths, 10:5
- Communes, 9:229
- Communications, unlawful, 10:169
- Communications Act (1934), 2:125, 4:334
- Communications Decency Act (1996)
- broadcasting content, 2:130, 6:458
- censorship, 2:290
- Federal Communications Commission, 4:336–337
- Internet pornography and obscenity, 5:453–454, 7:297–298, 8:33–34, 9:451
- Communications law. See Broadcasting; Mass communications law
- Communis error facit jus*, 3:36
- Communism, 3:36–42
- Du Bois, William Edward Burghardt, 4:36
- Marx, Karl Heinrich, 6:450–451
- most-favored-nation status, 7:127
- socialism, 9:230
- Stalin, Joseph, 9:292–293
- Yalta Agreement (1945), 10:445–446
- See also* Anti-communist investigations; House Un-American Activities Committee (HUAC)
- Communist Control Act (1954), 2:481
- The Communist Manifesto* (Marx and Engels), 3:37, 9:229
- Communist Party, U.S., 3:45–46
- Bentley, Elizabeth, 8:402–403
- Davis, Angela Yvonne, 3:347
- FBI investigations, 5:291
- freedom of association and assembly, 4:494
- Indiana, 3:42
- McCarran Internal Security Act (1950), 7:5
- Communist Party cases, 3:42–45
- Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) Program, 5:298
- Community Facilities Act (1946). See Lanham Act (1946)
- Community-oriented policing, 3:46–47, 10:235
- Community Oriented Policing Services (COPS), 3:47
- Community property, 3:48
- condominiums and cooperatives, 3:72–73, 190
- divorce, 3:479
- husbands and wives, 5:319, 8:150, 10:382
- Community service, 3:48, 8:339
- Community Service Organization (CSO), 2:333
- Community Services, Office of (OCS), 3:48–49
- Community standards
- AIDS education, 1:69
- capital punishment, 1:388, 2:239–240, 4:79–80
- decency and the arts, 1:357, 2:288
- Internet pornography, 2:290–291, 8:34–36
- moral law, 7:115
- movie ratings, 7:134–135
- obscenity, 2:168, 3:69, 271, 7:72–73, 297, 299
- sexual harassment, 9:154
- shock-the-conscience test, 9:179–180
- Commutation, 3:49, 7:355
- Commuter airlines, 1:192
- Commuter rail system, Los Angeles, 3:484
- Compact Clause, 3:49, 5:468
- Compacts, 3:49
- Companies, 3:49
- business expenses, 5:366
- going concern value, 5:103–104
- good will, 5:116
- parties to lawsuits, 7:375
- trademarks, 5:428–429
- See also* Partnerships
- Comparable worth, 3:49–52
- Comparative law, 9:17
- Comparative negligence, 7:227
- Comparative rectitude, 3:53
- Comparative studies, 6:212
- Compassion in Dying (advocacy group), 4:239–240
- Compassionate Use Act (1996), 4:33
- Compensation and income, 3:53, 5:361
- accrual basis accounting, 1:62
- alimony cases, 1:228
- annuities, 1:283
- architects, 1:330
- athletes, 9:282–284
- attorneys, 1:392, 3:160, 161–162
- auctioneers, 1:405
- back pay awards, 1:433
- brokers, 2:133–134
- child's wages, 7:363
- collective bargaining, 2:492–493, 496–497
- comparable worth, 3:49–52, 52*t*, 453
- compensatory damages, 3:332
- Congress, U.S., 10:134–135
- crime victims, 10:218–222
- disposable earnings, 3:461
- divisible contracts, 3:179
- earned income, 4:55
- eminent domain, 4:123, 125
- emolument, 4:126
- Employment Standards Administration, 6:170
- Equal Pay Act (1963), 4:185, 186–188
- executors and administrators, 4:281
- factors, 4:299
- Fair Labor Standards Act (1938), 4:133, 304
- farmers, 1:179–181
- future earnings, 5:20
- garnishment, 5:39–40
- gratuities, 5:131–132
- Japanese American evacuees, 6:5
- just compensation, 6:86
- legislators, 6:265
- masters and servants, 6:461–462
- music publishing, 7:146
- override arrangements, 7:340
- passive and active, 9:440–441
- prisoners, 8:94

- professional athletes, 1:496,
9:288–289, 289
- punitive damages, 8:188
- receivers, 8:250
- reparable injury, 8:303
- senior citizens, 9:226
- September 11 Victim
Compensation Fund of 2001, 9:264
- Son of Sam laws, 9:244–245
- subcontractors, 9:379
- taxable income, 9:442
- weekly earnings, by union affiliation, 6:180
- withholding, 2:362
- witnesses, 10:406
- See also* Minimum wage
- Compensation and Pension
Service, 10:209
- Compensatory damages, 3:53,
331–333
- assault and battery cases, 1:372
- loss of services, 6:371
- speculative damages, 9:271
- wrongful death lawsuits,
10:435
- Competency and incompetency,
3:53, 5:367–369
- children, 7:358
- commitment, 3:24–26
- contracts, 3:172–173
- deeds, transfer of, 3:375
- detention, 8:80
- guardians and wards, 5:158–
159
- liability in commercial paper,
3:21–22
- medical consent, 7:401–402
- next friends, 7:243
- parens patriae*, 7:357
- parties to lawsuits, 7:375
- right to die, 3:360
- self-representation, 5:405
- testators, 10:378
- witnesses, 10:105, 406
- See also* Capacity and incapacity
- Competent evidence, 3:53–54
- Competing interests. See
Balancing
- Competition. See Business competition
- Competitive bidding, 8:166–167
- Complainants, 3:54, 55
- Complaints, 3:54, 55
- Complete transfers, 4:222
- Compliance, 3:56
- Composers, music. See Musicians
- Composition with creditors, 3:56, 56–57
- Compound interest, 3:57
- Compounding a felony, 3:57
- Compounding offenses, 3:57–58
See also Bribery
- Comprehensive Child Development Act (1972),
2:349
- Comprehensive Crime Control
Act (1984), 4:410
- Comprehensive Drug Abuse
Prevention and Control Act
(1970), 4:28–29, 456–457, 7:165
- Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation, and Liability Act (1980), 4:110, 180–181, 9:243
- Comprehensive Smokeless
Tobacco Health Education Act
(1986), 6:154–155, 10:44–45
- Comprise, 3:58
- Compromise and settlement,
3:58–59
- Constitutional Convention
(1787), 3:117, 4:113–114, 7:400
- mediation, 1:238
- Roe v. Wade*, 8:385
- Sherman Compromise, 9:169–
170, 172
- Three-fifths Compromise,
3:121, 9:208–209
- See also* Missouri Compromise
of 1820
- Compromise of 1850, 3:59, 59–60
- Douglas, Stephen Arnold, 4:8
- Fillmore, Millard, 4:405–406
- Free Soil Party, 4:493
- Fugitive Slave Act (1850), 5:12
- slavery conciliation, 6:103–104
- Webster, Daniel and, 10:321
- Whig Party, 10:353
- Compromise of 1850
(document), 12:147–157
- Compromise Tariff (1833), 2:428
- Comptroller of the Currency,
Office of the, 10:90–92
- Comptrollers, 3:60, 5:54–57, 349
- Compulsory
- automobile insurance, 1:427
- continuing legal education,
3:164
- joinder, 6:29
- licenses, music, 7:146
- militia service, 7:64, 65–66
- process for witnesses, 9:199– 200
- Compulsory process, 3:60
- Compurgators, 3:60, 4:151
- Computer-assisted legal research, 3:60–62
- Congressional Research Service, 3:97
- Key Numbers®, 6:134
- KeyCite™, 6:134–135
- WESTLAW®, 10:344, 345–346
- See also* Legal publishing
- Computer crimes, 3:62–66, 5:452, 454–456
- See also* Internet, fraud
- Computer Law Association,
3:66–67
- Computer Security Act (1987),
4:497–498
- Computers
- airline ticketing and reservations, 1:189–190
- banking, 1:246
- demonstrative evidence, 3:399
- Electronic Frontier
Foundation, 4:104–105
- hardware industry antitrust
cases, 1:303
- judgments, recording of, 6:44
- judicial administration, 6:50
- jurimetrics, 6:68
- Uniform Computer
Information Transactions
Act, 10:158–159
- See also* Internet; Software
industry
- Comstock, Anthony, 3:68
- Comstock, George Franklin, 3:67
- Comstock Law (1873), 3:67–69
- contraception, 2:39–40, 8:309, 311
- Sanger, Margaret Higgins,
8:456, 457–459
- women's reproductive rights,
10:410
- Con, 3:69
- Concealed weapons, 10:318
- Concealment of birth or death,
3:69
- Conceptualism, legal, 6:74–75
- Conciliation, 3:69–70
- Conciliation, international, 3:70
- Conclusion of law, 3:70, 474–478
- Conclusive, 3:70
- Conclusive presumption, 8:75
- Concordance of Discordant
Canons* (Gratian), 8:387–388
- Concur, 3:70
- Concurrent, 3:70, 178
- Concurrent causes, 2:277
- Concurrent estates, 3:70, 4:219
- Concurrent jurisdiction, 3:70, 6:69, 72
- Concurrent resolutions, 3:71

- Concurrent writs, 3:71, 71
- Condemn, 3:71
- Condemnation, 3:71
 eminent domain, 4:124–125
 proceedings, 6:189
 requisition distinction, 8:322
- Conditional, 3:72
 acceptance, 1:50
 appropriations, 9:276
 dependents, 3:401
 pardons, 7:355
 sale, 9:65
 suspended sentences, 9:417
- Conditional bonds, 2:77
- Conditions, 3:71–72, 178–179
- Condominium, international, 3:72
- Condominiums and cooperatives, 3:72–74, 73, 189–190, 8:149
- Condoms, AIDS education, 1:69
- Condonation, 3:74–75
- Conduct
 military, 10:155, 156
 unconscionable, 10:142–143
- Confederacy, 3:75
- Confederate flag, 4:430
- Confederate States of America
 attorneys general, 3:75–77
 Ballinger, William Pitt, 1:460–461
 Benjamin, Judah Philip, 2:18–19, 3:75
 Bragg, Thomas, 3:76
 Brown, Joseph Emerson, 2:139
 Campbell, John Archibald, 2:225
 Cherokee nation, 8:407
 Davis, George, 3:77
 Ex parte Garland (1866), 7:355
 former officers, 1:266, 9:273
 Keyes, Wade, Jr., 3:75–76
 secession, 9:48
 symbols of, 7:126
 warships, 3:350–351, 5:266, 10:264
 Watts, Thomas Hill, 3:76–77
 See also Civil War, U.S.
- Confederation, 3:78
- Conference of Chief Justices, 3:78–79
- Conference of Senior Circuit Judges. See Judicial Conference of the United States
- Conference of State Court Administrators, 3:79
- Conference on Personal Finance Law, 3:79–80
- Conference on Security and Cooperation in Europe (CSCE), 1:347
- Confession and avoidance, 3:83
- Confession of judgment, 3:83–84
- Confessions, 3:80–83
 cognovit actionem, 2:473
 Gold, Harry, 8:404
 harmless error, 5:192
 involuntary confessions, 5:473–474
 Madeiros, Celestine, 8:436
 McNabb-Mallory Rule, 7:23–24
 self-incrimination, privilege against, 8:111–112, 9:94
 voluntariness, 4:401–402
 See also Custodial interrogations
- Confidential communications, 3:84
 attorney-client privilege, 2:440, 4:115, 256–257 doctor-patient relationship, 7:408
 executive privilege, 4:276–278
 freedom of the press, 4:504, 9:172–174
 ombudspersons, 7:315
 publishing law, 8:177–178
 trade secrets, 10:69
 witnesses, 10:406–407
 See also Privileged communications
- Confidential relations, 3:84
- Confirmation hearings, U.S. Supreme Court
 Badger, George Edmund, 1:437
 Bork, Robert Heron, 2:82, 3:94, 5:94
 Carswell, George Harrold, 2:257–258
 Ginsburg, Douglas Howard, 5:94
 Haynesworth, Clement Furman, Jr., 5:213–214
 Hoar, Ebenezer Rockwood, 5:265–66
 Hornblower, William Butler, 5:292
 King, Edward, 6:140
 Thomas, Clarence, 5:258, 9:152–153, 10:21–22
 Wolcott, Alexander, 10:407–408
- Confiscate, 3:84, 289
- Conflict of interest, 3:84–85
 attorneys, 1:401, 4:166, 6:247–248
- Ethics in Government Act (1978), 4:229–230
 judges, 2:467, 468
 professional responsibility, 8:135
 self-dealing transactions, 9:89
- Conflict pre-emption, 8:133
- Conflict school of criminology, 3:292
- Conformed copies, 3:85
- Conforming use, 3:85
- Confrontations, 3:85–87
- Confusion, 3:87, 8:146
- Confusion of goods, 3:87
- Conglomerates, 3:87, 7:44, 45
- Congress, U.S., 3:87–96, 92–93, 95
 age requirements for office holders, 1:167
 alternative dispute resolution, 1:241
 apportionment, 1:318–321
 appropriations, 1:107, 4:327–331, 5:62, 348–350
 Articles of Confederation, 1:359–360
 attorney generals, 1:396–397 citizens' right to appeal, 1:313
 commerce regulation, 3:2–5, 5:77, 182, 463, 467, 7:256 compensation, 6:265, 10:134–135
 concurrent resolutions, 3:71
 Constitution, Article I, 3:128, 7:333, 400
 Contract with America, 3:165–167 creation of administrative agencies, 1:100, 106
 criminal law, 3:273
 delegation, 3:391–392
 Department of Defense liaison, 3:385, 385
 District of Columbia, 3:466–468
 election of 2000, 3:395–396
 federalism, 4:362–365
 General Accounting Office, 5:54–55
 gun control, 5:163
 health insurance, 5:227–228
 high crimes and misdemeanors, 5:252 immigration law, 1:213–216
 impeachment, 5:336
 independent counsel investigations, 5:380
 Interior, Department of the, 5:434
 interstate compacts, 5:469
 investigational power, 10:196

- Iran-Contra investigation, 5:476–478
- Lame-Duck Amendment, 6:184–185
- lame duck sessions, 6:184, 10:130
- legislative courts, creation of, 6:261
- legislative vetoes, 10:215
- lobbying, 6:356–359
- minimum wage, 7:78–79
- Necessary-and-Proper Clause, 7:217–218
- New Jersey Plan (document), 12:110–111
- origins, 3:120–121
- political questions, 8:14–15
- power to raise armies, 3:102–103, 7:65, 177–178
- presidential powers, checks on, 4:269
- qualifications of legislators, 6:265
- same-sex marriage, 5:52
- Sherman Compromise, 9:169–170, 172
- slavery laws, 3:316
- spending power, 9:275–277
- structure, 6:263–264
- Supremacy Clause, 9:401
- terms, 6:265
- territories, powers regarding, 10:4, 5
- testimonial immunity, 5:332
- timeline, 12:562–563
- U.S. Code, 10:174
- Virginia Plan (document), 12:107–109
- water rights regulation, 10:310
- weights and measures, 10:325
- women members, 7:246
- Congress of Racial Equality (CORE), 2:250, 407
- Congressional Accountability Act (1995), 3:167
- Congressional Arts Caucus, 1:357
- Congressional Budget and Impoundment Control Act (1974), 4:329
- Congressional Budget Office, 4:329
- Congressional districts, 1:318, 320, 450, 5:72
- Congressional-executive agreement, 3:96–97
- Congressional procedure
 - bills, 3:90–91
 - Budget Office, 3:96
 - C-SPAN (Cable-Satellite Public Affairs Network), 3:308
- Constitutional amendments, 3:126
- contempt, 3:156–157
- gag rules, 5:24–25
- H.B. (house bill), 5:218
- House, 3:88, 5:295–297, 7:269
- impeachment, 5:338–340
- joint resolutions, 6:33
- presidential veto power, 8:70, 71–72
- Senate, 3:89, 6:374, 9:8, 96
- Speaker of the House, 3:92
- Speech or Debate Clause, 9:271–272
- witnesses in investigations, 7:12
- Congressional Record*, 3:97, 6:262
- Congressional Research Service, 3:97, 6:310–311
- Conjugal, 3:97–98
- Conkling, Roscoe, 3:98–100, 99
- Connecticut
 - Baldwin, Simeon Eben, 1:460
 - Connecticut River, 5:434
 - interstate compacts, 5:469
 - Megan's Law, 7:37–38
 - Sherman, Roger, 9:171–172
 - wetlands regulation, 1:175
- Connecticut Compromise, 4:113–114, 9:169–170
- Connecting up doctrine, 3:100
- Connivance, 3:100–101
- Conquest, 3:101
- Consanguinity, 3:101
- Conscientious objectors, 3:101–102
 - First Amendment, 4:419
 - pacifism, 7:346–347
 - Welsh v. United States* (1970), 10:342–343
 - World War I, 1:458
- Conscription, 3:102, 102–103
- Consensual alterations, 3:103
- Consent, 3:103
 - abortion rights, 1:19–20
 - acceptance of risk, 1:380, 381–382
 - adoption, 1:125–127, 130–131
 - bailment, 1:445
 - contracts, 3:173–174, 175–176
 - deeds, transfer of, 3:375
 - implied, 5:343–345
 - infants, 5:395
 - informed, 5:396
 - intentional torts, 10:59
 - International Court of Justice, 5:442
 - patients' rights, 7:401–404
 - rape laws, 8:234, 236, 238
 - right to die, 3:360
 - searches, 4:475
 - sex offenses, 9:139
 - statutory rape, 9:336
 - trespass, 10:101
- Consent decrees, 3:103–104, 8:215
- Consent judgments, 6:45
- Consequential damages, 3:104–105, 331, 8:447
- Conservation
 - fish and wildlife, 4:422–423, 7:267
 - Green Party, 5:139
 - Interior, Department of the, 5:434–435
 - Natural Resources
 - Conservation Service, 1:178
 - Roosevelt, Theodore, 8:399
 - Sierra Club, 9:184
 - soil, 1:181
 - zones, 4:424
- Conservatism
 - AIDS education, 1:68–69, 74
 - American Civil Liberties Union, 1:250, 251–252
 - Ashcroft, John David, 1:365–367
 - Buchanan, Patrick Joseph, 2:157–159
 - Butler, Pierce, 2:197–198
 - children's rights, 7:358
 - Clifford, Nathan, 2:445–446
 - Constitution Party, 3:124–125
 - Dole, Robert Joseph, 3:500
 - Equal Rights Amendment, opposition to the, 10:409
 - Four Horsemen, 8:394
 - Gingrich, Newton Leroy, 5:90–92
 - Goldwater, Barry Morris, 5:110–111
 - Helms, Jesse Alexander, Jr., 5:242–245
 - Heritage Foundation, 5:248
 - Lurton, Horace Harmon, 6:379–380
 - McReynolds, James Clark, 7:25
 - Meese, Edwin, III, 7:34–35
 - Meredith, James Howard, 7:43
 - O'Connor, Sandra Day, 7:302–303
 - Reagan, Ronald Wilson, 8:242
 - Rehnquist, William Hubbs, 8:274–275
 - Saxbe, William Bart, 9:8
 - Scalia, Antonin, 9:9–11
 - Schlaflly, Phyllis Stewart, 9:15–16
 - Smith, William French, 9:220
 - Souter, David H., 9:249–250

- Supreme Court, 7:256
 Sutherland, George, 9:418
 welfare, 1:218–219
 White, Byron Raymond, 10:357–358
- Conservative law and economics movement, 6:244
 Conservative Opportunity Society, 5:90
 Conservators of the peace, 3:105
 Consideration, 3:105–106
 bilateral contracts, 2:27–28
 compounding offenses, 3:57
 compromise and settlement, 3:58–59
 contracts, 3:174 failure of, 4:300 lack of, 4:221–222
 marriage contracts, 2:106
 quid pro quo, 8:203–204
 rescission, 8:328, 329
 rewards, 8:347
 valuable, 10:193 want of, 10:273
 Consignment, 3:106
 Consolidated Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act (1994), 4:126
 Consortium, 3:106–107
 Consortium and intergovernmental corporations and consortiums, 3:107
 Conspiracies, 3:107–114
 Chicago Eight, 2:339–340
 Civil Rights Act (1871), 6:162–163
 confederacy, 3:75
 criminal law, 3:280, 7:341
 embezzlement, 4:120
 Kennedy assassination, 1:368–369, 10:291–292
 labor conspiracy doctrine, 6:177–178
 Lincoln assassination, 6:324–325
 monopolies, 9:169
 overthrow of government, 9:216
 to riot, 8:363
 See also Racketeering
 Constables, 3:114–115
 Constantine, Thomas, 4:240–241
 Constitute, 3:115
 Constitution of the Confederate States, 3:75
 Constitution of the United States, 3:116–124
 age requirement for holding office, 1:166–167
 armed services, 1:332, 7:56–57, 65, 177–178, 179
 articles of impeachment, 1:360
 attainder, 1:390
 authority for executive orders, 4:274 bills of attainder, prohibition against, 2:29
 Brennan, William, broad interpretation, 2:109–110
 census, 1:318
 Chase, Samuel, opposition by, 2:328
 citizenship, 2:383
 civil rights protection, 2:395–396
 Clifford, Nathan, narrow interpretation, 2:445–446 Compact Clause, 3:49, 5:468 compact theory, 10:236
 Congress, 3:88–95, 5:295
 Continental Congress, impact of, 3:159
 Contracts Clause, 2:321, 4:436, 10:123, 413–414
 Copyright and Patent Clause, 3:191, 7:390
 District of Columbia, 3:465–466
 diversity of citizenship, 3:469–470
 Dred Scott v. Sandford (1857), 2:396
 electoral college, 4:98
 enabling clauses, 4:135
 ex post facto laws, 4:259
 executive branch, 4:268–269
 federal courts, 4:339
 federal spending power, 4:27 foreign treaties, 1:142, 5:306, 7:281 framers' intent for future interpretation, 4:80
 General Welfare Clause, 5:62
 habeas corpus, 7:76
 hierarchy of law, 6:209
 high crimes and misdemeanors, 5:251–252
 history, 2:2
 impeachment, 5:337–340
 implied rights, 2:40
 judiciary, 4:367, 6:62–63
 juries, 6:79
 land acquisition, 10:4
 legal ethics, 8:134
 legislative courts, 6:260
 Madison, James, 4:80, 6:389
 martial law, 6:444–445
 Native Americans, 7:198
 original intent, 2:109–110, 7:333–335
 piracy, 7:452
 preamble, 3:121
 presidential authority, 8:69–70
 presidential powers, 8:71–74
 Randolph, Edmund Jennings, 8:230 republican form of government, 8:315–316 rule under law, 8:419–420
 Senate, 9:95
 separation of powers, 9:10, 109, 111–112
 Slave Trade Clause, 9:208
 Speech or Debate Clause, 9:271–272
 Spending Power Clause, 9:275–276 standing doctrine, 9:300
 states' rights, 4:362–364
 Supreme Court authority, 6:428, 439, 448–449, 9:404, 405
 Three-fifths Compromise, 9:208–209
 treason, 10:88–89
 unenumerated rights, 10:147–148
 unwritten law, 10:170–171
 veto power, 10:213–215
 Virginia Plan, 6:389
 water rights, 10:310
 weights and measures, 10:325
 See also Commerce Clause; Full Faith and Credit Clause; Necessary and Proper Clause; Privileges and Immunities Clauses; Supremacy Clause Constitution of the United States (document), 12:112–123
 Constitution Party, 3:124–126
 Constitutional, 3:126–127
 Constitutional amendments, 3:126–127
 anti-abortion, 1:18
 balanced budget amendment, 4:330–331
 Congressional procedure, 3:94, 123
 Equal Rights Amendment, 4:58, 198–199, 373, 374, 10:409, 411 flag desecration prohibition, 4:433
 ratification, 8:239
 Victim's Rights Amendment, 10:223

- See also* Bill of Rights, United States; individual amendments by name
- Constitutional Convention (1787), 3:117, 119–121, 122
discussion of slavery, 9:208–209
Ellsworth, Oliver, 4:113–114
Franklin, Benjamin, 4:486
Hamilton, Alexander, 5:179
Madison, James, 6:389
Martin, Luther, 6:447
Mason, George, 6:452
Montesquieu, philosophy of, 7:108
New Jersey Plan (document), 12:110–111
Paterson, William, 7:400
Randolph, Edmund Jennings, 8:230
Sherman Compromise, 9:169–170, 172
Virginia Plan (document), 12:107–109
Washington, George, 10:301–302
Wilson, James, 10:391
- Constitutional courts, 6:260–261
- Constitutional law, 3:127–137
Adams, John, 1:82
ambiguity, 1:244
amnesty, 1:265
balancing, 1:452–454
Baldwin, Henry, 1:456
Bickel, Alexander Mordecai, 2:25
Bork, Robert Heron, 2:82
case or controversy, 2:268–269
children's rights, 2:369
chilling effect doctrine, 2:370
commerce, 3:2–8
Cooley, Thomas McIntyre, 3:186–188
Corwin, Edward Samuel, 3:232–233
District of Columbia, 3:468
English, 4:151
equal protection, 4:189–196
Exclusionary Rule, 4:264–266
executive power, 10:450–452
history, 3:117–121, 7:237–238
income taxes, 8:24–25
interpretation, 5:462
Iredell, James, 5:480
least restrictive means test, 6:226
Lochner era, 6:359–362
Missouri Compromise of 1820, 2:275
natural law, 7:206–210
- Ninth Amendment, 7:247–250
privacy, 8:98–100
rational basis test, 8:239–240
representatives, 8:308
rights, 8:355
Scalia, Antonin, 9:10–11
Second Amendment, 9:49–52
sex offenses, 9:144
strict scrutiny, 9:370–371
Supreme Court as ultimate authority, 2:328–329, 6:230 vested rights, 10:206
- Constitutional system of government, 2:300–301
- Constitutional Union party, 1:437
- Constitutions (general), 3:115–116
beneficial associations, 2:15
clubs, 2:458
conventions, 3:184
legislative procedure, 6:256
Massachusetts, 6:459–460
militia provisions, 9:48–49
New York, 6:352, 7:236–238
Pennsylvania, 7:417–418
preambles, 8:56
Puerto Rico, 8:180
Rhode Island, 3:507–508
school integration, 9:24–25
self-executing, 9:91
Virginia, 6:452
- Constitutions of Clarendon. See Clarendon, Constitutions of
- Construction (building). See Building projects
- Construction (judicial), 3:137
“Some Reflections on the Reading of Statutes” (Frankfurter) (document), 12:539–550 strict construction, 9:368–369
- Constructive, 3:137
- Constructive desertion, 3:137–138
- Constructive eviction, 3:138, 6:196
- Constructive force, 8:368
- Constructive possession, 8:41–42
- Constructive trusts, 3:138–141
- Consular courts, 3:141
- Consular Law Society, 3:141
- Consuls, 3:141
See also Ambassadors and consuls
- Consumer Advisory Council, 4:354
- Consumer and Governmental Affairs Bureau, FCC, 4:335
- Consumer boycotts. See Boycotts
- Consumer credit, 3:141–145
credit bureaus, 3:266
credit cards, 3:263–265
credit reports, 4:301–302
Fair Credit Reporting Act (1970), 8:102
protection, 3:149
Uniform Consumer Credit Code, 10:159
usury, 10:187–189
- Consumer Credit Protection Act (1968), 3:143, 145–146, 149–150, 461
- Consumer fraud, 3:146, 146–147, 9:101, 102–103
- Consumer Goods Pricing Act (1975), 4:305
- Consumer Price Index, 3:147–148
- Consumer Product Safety Commission, 3:148, 150
- Consumer protection, 3:148–151
automobiles, 1:418
bait and switch, 1:446
balloon payments, 1:461
caveat emptor, 2:278–279
chain referral, 2:316
Consumer Product Safety Commission, 3:148
contracts, 3:169
credit, 3:266
credit reports, 3:144
Fair Credit Reporting Act (1970), 4:301–302, 8:102
false advertising, 4:307–310
Food and Drug Administration, 4:439–443
lemon laws, 6:266–267
liquor advertising, 6:334
MacPherson v. Buick Motor Co. (1916), 6:385
Magnuson-Moss Warranty Act (1975), 6:395–396
Nader, Ralph, 7:159, 160–161
privacy, 8:99
pyramid schemes, 2:316
Truth in Lending Act (1976), 4:354, 10:124
Uniform Computer Information Transactions Act, 10:158–159
Uniform Consumer Credit Code, 10:159
Wright, James Skelly, 10:428–429
See also Product liability
- Consumer Protection and Competition Act (1992), 2:209–211
- Consumers, 3:141
- Consummate, 3:154

- Consumption taxes, 8:272
- Containers, in automobile searches, 1:411–414
- Containment theory (criminology), 3:293
- Contemners, 3:154
- Contemplation of death, 3:154
- Contempt, 3:154–158
admonitions, 1:122
Chicago Eight case (1973), 2:340, 5:83
Debs, Eugene V., 8:183
injunctions, 5:400
journalists, 4:255
McGrain v. Daugherty (1927), 7:11–13
Norton, Gale, 5:434
power of judges, 5:105 purging, 8:192
sanctions, 8:454
witnesses, 10:406, 407
- Content-neutral laws, 4:499
- Content ratings, television, 6:458
- Content regulation broadcasting, 6:458
cable television, 2:130, 211–212
speech, freedom of, 4:500–501
- Contest, 3:158
- Contested probate proceedings, 8:122
- Context, 3:158
- Contiguous Fisheries Zone Act (1966), 4:424
- Continental Congress, 3:158–159, 159
Congressional history, 3:88–89
Constitution, U.S., 3:118–120
Franklin, Benjamin, 4:486
Hamilton, Alexander, 5:179
Jefferson, Thomas, 6:12
jury trials, 10:102
Livingston, Robert R., 6:351–352
Madison, James, 6:388
Rush, Benjamin, 8:428
War of Independence, 10:280–281
- Contingent, 3:159
- Contingent fees, 3:160, 161–162, 6:249
- Contingent remainders, 8:293–294
- Continuance, 3:160, 163–164
- Continuing legal education, 3:164–165
Campbell, William Joseph, 2:227 judges and court personnel, 4:347–348
- judicial administration, 6:50 requirements, 6:237
specialization, 6:252–253
- Continuing trespass, 10:100
- Continuous possession, 1:141
- Contra, 3:165
- Contraband, 3:165
automobile searches, 1:412, 413–415
marijuana, 3:165, 283
smuggling, 9:221
- Contraceptives. See Birth control
- Contract, liberty of
employment law, 4:131
Holmes, Oliver Wendell, Jr., 5:275
Peckham, Rufus Wheeler, 7:413
Pitney, Mahlon, 7:454
substantive due process, 9:389
Sutherland, George, 9:418
- Contract with America, 3:165–167, 5:92
- Contract with America Advancement Act (1996), 10:335–336
- Contractors. See Building projects
- Contracts, 3:167–182
acceptance, 1:50
accord and satisfaction, 1:57–58
adhesion contracts, 1:93
adoption, 1:129
agreement/contract distinction, 1:170
Allgeyer v. Louisiana (1897), 6:360
alteration of instruments, 1:237
ambiguity, 1:243–244
anticipatory repudiation, 1:294
apprenticeships, 1:322–323
arbitration, 1:326, 327
architects, 1:329–330
assumpsit, 1:378
assumption of risk, 1:379–380 asylum care and occupancy, 1:386 automobile sales, 1:423–424
bailment, 1:446
beneficial associations, 2:15 bilateral, 2:27–28
book, 8:176–177, 179
breach, 1:429, 3:332–333, 7:204–205, 9:263
breach of marriage promise, 2:105–106
brokers, 2:131–134
call, 2:214
cancellation of an instrument, 2:231–232
canons of construction, 2:235–236 care and burial of corpse, 3:229–230 carrier liability, 2:254–255 cemetery plot sales, 2:284
charters, 10:123
coercion, 2:472
cohabitation agreements, 2:474
commerce regulation, 3:4–5 composition with creditors, 3:56–57
conditions, 3:72, 401
consequential damages, 3:104–105
consideration, 3:105–106
constructive trusts, 3:140
contingent fees, 3:161–162
contract for rights, 4:165
“Contracts” (Langdell) (document), 12:503–504
Corbin, Arthur Linton, 3:205–207 corporations, bound to, 3:221 counteroffers, 3:238
coupons, 3:239
course of dealing, 3:239–240
course of performance, 3:240–241
covenant, action of, 3:256
detriment, 3:424
dispute resolution methods, 6:173–174 earnest money, 4:55
election of remedies, 4:92–93
engagement, 4:148
enlistment, 7:57
entertainment law, 4:163–164
equitable relief, 4:200–201
equity maxims, 6:468
escalator clauses, 4:205–206
escrow agreements, 4:209, 210, 211
exchange of property, 4:263
exclusionary clauses, 4:264
execution, 4:267
failure of consideration, 4:300
franchises, 4:477–479
frustration, 5:12
grievance procedures, 6:176
hold harmless agreements, 5:272
impediment, 5:341
implicit terms, 2:245
implied, 8:197–198
implied warranties, 8:128–130
impossibility, 5:347
impracticability, 5:350

- incompetency, 5:368
- indemnity, 5:373
- indenture, 5:373
- infants and minors, 4:166, 5:392
- installment, 8:449
- insurance, 5:412, 418
- integrated agreements, 5:420
- lease agreements, 6:194, 197
- legal theory, 3:14
- let, 6:272
- lex loci*, 6:297
- liberty of, 4:38–39, 131, 5:275, 7:454, 9:389, 418
- liquidated damages, 6:332–333
- L.S. (locus sigilli, seals), 6:379
- marriage, 6:433
- masters and servants, 6:461–462
- mergers, law of, 7:43
- misrepresentation, 7:88
- mistakes of fact, 7:90–91
- modifications, 7:99
- moratoria on debt relief, 7:117
- municipal corporations, 7:139
- mutual mistakes, 7:152
- noncompete agreements, 7:259
- novation, 7:274
- objective theory of contract, 7:294–295
- offers, 7:305–306
- open bids, 7:318
- open-end contracts, 7:318
- options, 4:164–165, 7:321
- oral contracts, 7:322
- output contracts, 7:339
- pari delicto*, 7:364
- parol evidence, 4:296, 7:369–370
- plain-meaning rule, 7:456
- pledges, 7:462–464
- premarital agreements, 8:65–67, 66
- principal and surety, 8:84
- professio juris, 8:133
- promise, 8:142
- promissory estoppel, 4:227, 8:142, 144
- public contracts, 8:166–169
- qualified acceptance, 8:195
- quantum meruit*, 8:195–196
- quasi, 8:197–198
- quid pro quo*, 8:203–204
- real estate, 10:201–202
- reasonable time, 8:247
- reinsurance, 8:276–279
- releases, 8:279–281, 280
- rent-to-own, 10:187, 188–189
- representation, 8:308
- repudiation, 8:320
- requirements contracts, 8:320–322
- rescind, 8:327
- rescission, 8:327–329
- restitution, 8:337
- restrictive covenants, 8:341
- rewards, 8:347–349
- royalty agreements, 8:412
- sailors, 8:438
- sales law, 8:444–445
- seals, 9:38
- services, 9:116
- severable, 9:131
- shipping, 9:175–176
- specific performance, 9:268–270
- sports law, 9:287–289
- states and property rights, 4:435–436
- statute of frauds, 9:330–331
- subscriptions, 9:385–386
- surrogate motherhood, 1:128, 8:314, 9:411–415, 412–414
- termination, 10:2
- termination of employment, 4:127–129, 132
- third-party beneficiaries, 10:19
- time is of the essence, 10:35
- timeshares, 10:38
- trade usage, 10:71
- trusts, 10:118
- unconscionability, 8:445, 10:142
- Uniform Computer Information Transactions Act, 10:158–159
- unilateral, 10:160–161, 436
- unjust enrichment, 10:167
- valid, 10:193
- valuable consideration, 10:193
- vitiating, 10:242
- void, 10:243
- voidable, 10:245
- waiver, 10:266
- want of consideration, 10:273
- warranties, 10:287–289
- West Coast Hotel Co. v. Parrish* (1937), 10:344
- Williston, Samuel, 10:387–388
- yellow dog, 10:446–447
- See also* Agreements
- "Contracts" (Langdell) (document), 12:503–504
- Contravention, 3:182
- Contributing to the delinquency of a minor, 3:182
- Contributions, 3:183
- Contributions, campaign. See Election campaign financing
- Contributory negligence, 7:227
- explosives, 4:285–286
- last clear chance, 6:207–208
- res ipsa loquitur*, 8:326
- Controlled Substances Act (1970), 4:241, 7:165, 9:394
- Controllers, 3:183–184
- Controversies, 3:184, 8:365–366
- Controvert, 3:184
- Contumacy, 3:184
- Convention for the Amelioration of the Condition of the Wounded in Armies in the Field (1864), 8:422
- Convention on Fishing and Conservation of the Living Resources of the High Sea (1958), 4:424
- Convention on the Prevention and Punishment of the Crime of Genocide (1948), 5:70
- Convention with Respect to the Laws and Customs of War (1899), 8:422
- Conventional, 3:184
- Conventional Forces in Europe (CFE) Treaty (1990), 1:346, 3:184–185, 185
- Conventions, 3:184
- Berne Convention for the Protection of Literary and Artistic Works, 3:192–193
- Convention on the Prevention and Punishment of the Crime of Genocide (1948), 5:70
- Geneva Convention on the Territorial Sea and Contiguous Zone (1958), 5:449
- Geneva Conventions (1949), 5:68–69, 8:309
- international law, 5:445
- North Pacific Fisheries Convention (1952), 7:267
- Northwest Atlantic Fisheries Convention (1949), 7:267
- Nuremberg Charter (1945), 7:286
- protection of diplomatic agents, 3:430
- Seneca Falls Convention (1848), 4:373, 9:98–100, 306, 10:408
- United Nations Convention Against Torture (1984), 1:268
- Vienna Convention on Diplomatic Relations (1961), 3:429–430, 432
- Virginia Conventions (1774–1776), 10:237

- See also* Democratic National Conventions; Republican National Conventions
- Conversion, 3:186, 4:119–120
- Convertible debentures, 3:363
- Conveyance, 3:186
- Convict, 3:186
- Convictions, 3:186
- allocution, 1:233
- rewards, 8:349
- Convicts. See Criminals
- Conyers, John, 8:305
- Cook County (IL), 7:126
- Cooley, Thomas McIntyre, 3:186–188, 187
- Coolidge, Calvin, 1:300, 3:188–189, 189, 8:299
- Cooling-off periods, 3:189
- Cooper, Cynthia, 10:356
- Cooper Industries Inc., 3:334
- Cooperatives. See Condominiums and cooperatives
- Copies and copying
- Kinko's Graphics Corp., 3:192
- libraries and archives, 3:199–200
- software, 3:151–154
- wills, 8:120
- works of literature and art, 3:190
- Copper mines, 3:402
- Copyright, 3:190–200, 191, 195–196
- baseball, 1:496
- contract for rights, 4:165
- derivative works, 1:87, 4:167
- electronic media, 4:105, 167–168
- entertainment law, 4:167
- entry, 4:170
- infringement, 10:151
- intellectual property laws, 5:426–427
- licenses, 6:315
- literary property, 6:337–339
- music publishing, 7:147
- Nimmer, Melville Bernard, expertise, 7:244
- parody, 7:369
- piracy, 3:151–154, 7:453
- plagiarism, 7:454–455
- public domain, 8:169
- publication, 8:174
- publishing law, 8:175–176
- software, 9:235
- Supreme Court decisions, 10:350–351
- unpublished letters, 6:337–339
- U.S. Copyright Office, 6:311
- videocassette recorders, 9:246–248
- See also* Intellectual property
- Copyright, international, 3:202–204
- Copyright Act (1976)
- author rights, 3:191–192, 193
- Berne Convention, 3:203
- Copyright Arbitration Royalty Panel, 3:201
- derivative works, 1:87
- fair use, 3:197
- software, 3:151
- Copyright Arbitration Royalty Panel, 3:201–202
- Copyright Office, U.S., 3:198, 6:311
- Copyright Royalty Tribunal (CRT), 3:201, 3:204
- Copyright Royalty Tribunal Reform Act (1993), 3:201
- Copyright Society of the U.S.A., 3:204–205
- Coram*, 3:205
- Coram nobis*, 3:205, 6:5
- Coram rege*, 3:205
- Corbin, Arthur Linton, 3:205–207, 240, 241
- Corbin on Contracts: A Comprehensive Treatise on the Working Rules of Contracts Law* (Corbin), 3:206
- CORE (Congress of Racial Equality), 2:250, 407
- Correspondents, 3:207
- Corner, 3:207
- Cornwallis, Charles, 10:281
- Corollaries, 3:208
- Coroners, 3:208–210, 228
- autopsies, 1:428
- inquests, 5:403
- Corporal punishment, 3:210–212, 211, 8:184–185
- Corporate, 3:213
- Corporate average fuel economy (CAFE), 1:422
- Corporate finance. See Accounting
- Corporate fraud, 3:213–215
- Corporate law
- alter ego doctrine, 1:236
- amotion, 1:269
- Appleton, John, 1:316–317
- attorney-client privilege, 1:393
- Delaware, 3:217
- fraud, 4:489
- Friendly, Henry Jacob, 5:5
- limited liability companies, 1:363
- Parsons, Theophilus, 7:373
- private vs. public corporations, 9:361–362
- proxies, 8:161, 162–163
- Corporate personality, 3:216
- Corporation for Public Broadcasting (CPB), 2:129
- Corporations, 3:216–227
- articles of incorporation, 1:361–363, 362
- boards of directors, 2:68–69
- business judgment rule, 2:190–192
- Business Roundtable, 2:192–193
- bylaws, 2:201, 201–206
- call price, 2:214
- capital stock, 2:243
- cemetery corporations, 2:283
- charitable, 2:320
- closed, 2:453
- closely held, 2:454
- derivative action, 3:407
- dissolution, 10:395
- diversity of citizenship, 3:469
- doing business, 3:498–499
- double taxation, 4:7
- equal protection, 8:459–460
- equity financing, 4:202
- executive branch, 4:272
- Federal Trade Commission, 4:358–360
- forensic accounting, 4:453
- golden parachutes, 5:106
- holding companies, 5:273
- implied consent, 5:343
- incorporate, 5:370
- instrumentality rule, 5:411–412
- intergovernmental corporations and consortiums, 3:107
- joint stock companies compared to, 6:33–34
- limited, 6:317
- limited liability companies' tax treatment, 6:320
- liquidation, 6:333
- mass tort actions, 2:424–426
- municipal corporations, 7:138–139
- ombudspersons, 7:314–315
- personal jurisdiction, 6:71, 7:431–432
- piercing-the-corporate-veil theory, 6:319
- preferred stock, 8:61–62
- professional corporations, 7:411–412
- public offerings, 8:173–174
- S corporations, 8:435

- state regulation, 2:275, 383–384
- stockholder's derivative suits, 9:353–355
- transnational, 10:80
- treasury stock, 10:94
- trust companies, 10:121
- Trustees of Dartmouth College v. Woodward* (1819), 10:122–124, 319
- ultra vires*, 10:140–141
- underwriters, 10:144
- white-collar crime, 10:359
- Williams Act (1968), 10:385
- See also Mergers and acquisitions; Nonprofits; Subsidiaries and parent companies
- Corporeal, 3:227
- Corpses, 3:208–209, 227–231
- Corpus*, 3:231
- Corpus delicti*, 3:231
- Corpus juris*, 3:231
- Corpus Juris Civilis*. See Code of Justinian
- Corpus juris civilis*, 3:231
- Corpus Juris Secundum* (CJS), 2:411–412
- Corrective advertising, 4:309
- Correlative, 3:231
- Correspondence audits, 3:231
- Correspondents, 3:231
- Corroborate, 3:232
- Corruption
- Crédit Mobilier scandal (1864–1873), 3:266–267
- Democratic Party, 3:394
- graft, 5:122
- Grant, Ulysses Simpson, 5:130
- Harding administration, 3:344, 5:187–188
- Justice Department, 7:14, 16–17
- kickbacks, 6:135–136
- Meese, Edwin, III, 7:35
- Mexican law enforcement, 7:51
- organized, 7:332
- political campaigns, 8:13
- Prohibition enforcement, 5:288
- quid pro quo*, 8:204
- Roosevelt, Theodore, 5:194
- Tammany Hall, 2:377, 4:242–243, 7:446, 9:435–436
- Teamsters, 5:269, 6:124, 7:10
- Teapot Dome scandal (1924), 9:447–448
- Truman, Harry, 5:377
- Tweed, William M. “Boss,” 4:397
- XYZ Affair (1796), 3:397, 10:443
- See also Police corruption and misconduct
- Corruption of blood, 3:232
- Corwin, Edward Samuel, 3:232–233
- Cory, Martha, 8:442
- Cosby, William, 10:453
- Cosigners, 1:55–56, 3:233
- Cost-benefit analysis, 10:190
- Cost justification defense, 8:374
- Costello, Frank, 5:123, 6:110
- Costs, 3:233–234
- of air travel, 1:189
- capital punishment, 2:238–239, 242
- of discovery, 3:448
- of food, 1:180
- of funeral or burial, 3:229
- of legal representation, 1:137, 5:155
- of litigation, 9:123
- of raising a child, 5:392*t*
- real estate settlement statements, 9:124, 125–126
- of Social Security, 9:224, 228
- See also Fees; Health care costs
- Coughlin, Paula A., 1:338–339
- Council of American Building Officials (CABO), 2:162
- Council on Environmental Quality (CEQ), 4:174, 7:174
- Councils, 3:234
- Counsel, 3:234–235, 385
- Counsel, right to, 8:358–361
- appellate advocacy, 1:313–314
- confessions, 3:80–81
- criminal procedure, 3:286–287
- custodial interrogations, 3:323
- enemy combatants, 4:142
- Escobedo v. Illinois* (1964), 4:208–209
- Fortas, Abe, 4:463–464
- Gideon v. Wainwright* (1963), 5:77–78
- ineffective counsel, 1:314
- juveniles, 6:99–100
- lineups, 6:331
- Massiah v. United States* (1964), 6:460
- Miranda v. Arizona* (1966) (documents), 11:255–352
- Powell v. Alabama* (1932), 8:23, 49–52
- preliminary hearings, 8:63
- prisoners, 8:94
- procedural due process, 4:41
- state proceedings, 9:419
- trials, 10:104
- See also Sixth Amendment
- Counsellors, 3:235
- Counterclaims, 1:286–288, 3:235–236
- answers in civil actions, 1:285–288
- permissive counterclaims, 7:430
- set-off, 9:122
- Counterclaims and set-offs against sovereigns, 3:236
- Counterfeit, 3:236
- Counterfeit Access Device and Computer Fraud and Abuse Act (1984), 3:62, 63–64
- Counterfeit Deterrence Act (1992), 3:237
- Counterfeiting, 3:236–238, 237, 9:57–58
- Counterintelligence. See COINTELPRO
- Counteroffers, 3:238, 7:305–306
- Countersign, 3:238
- Counties, 3:238–239, 9:164
- Country Reports on Human Rights Practices* (State Department), 9:316
- Counts, 3:235
- County supremacy movement, 6:191
- Coupons, 3:239
- Course of dealing, 3:239–240
- Course of employment, 3:240
- Course of performance, 2:236, 3:240–241
- Course packets, 3:192
- Court administration. See Judicial administration
- Court administrators, 3:243–244
- Court-annexed arbitration, 1:240
- Court-appointed attorneys
- Argersinger v. Hamlin* (1972), 8:360
- Johnson v. Zerbst* (1938), 8:358–359
- Court commissioners, 3:244
- Court hand, 3:244
- Court of Claims. See U.S. Court of Federal Claims
- Court of claims, 3:248
- Court of Exchequer, 4:153
- Court of International Trade, 4:340–341, 9:262
- Court of probate, 3:248
- Court officers. See Officers of the court
- Court opinions, 3:248–252
- case law, 9:329–330
- Century Digest*®, 2:306

- decisions, 3:367
 dicta, 3:427
 dissents, 3:462–463
Federal Appendix, 4:323
 Hand, Learned, 5:184
 headnotes, 5:219
 per curiam decisions, 7:425
 plurality, 7:465
 supreme courts (general), 9:402
 syllabus, 9:424
 Court orders, 7:322–323
 capias, 2:236–237
 consent decree, 3:103–104
 praecipe, 8:56
 prerogative writs, 8:68
 protective orders, 8:160
 receivership, 8:250
 vacate, 10:191
 writs of mandamus, 6:414–416
 Court Packing Plan, Roosevelt, 3:312, 8:370, 394–395, 396, 9:13
 Court reporting
 advance sheets, 1:135 appeals cases, 1:306–307
 depositions, 3:404–405 opinions, 3:251
 stenographers, 9:339–340
 stenographic machines, 3:404
 See also Reporters of decisions (occupation)
 Court trials. See Bench trials
 Courthouses
 Appomattox Court House, 10:173
 Shays's Rebellion (1786), 1:297
 Supreme Court, U.S., 5:85–86
 Courtroom behavior
 attorneys, 10:104–105
 Clark, William Ramsey, 2:420
 Darrow, Clarence, 3:337
 demonstrative evidence, 3:397–399
 disruptive defendants, 5:23
 Groesbeck, William Slocomb, 5:151–152
 Harding, George, 5:186
 public trial, right of, 9:196–197
 sex discrimination, 9:138
 Simpson, O.J., case (1995), 9:187–188
 videotaped depositions, 3:405
 Courtroom Television Network (Court TV), 2:215–216, 219–220, 3:252–254, 253
 Courtrooms, 1:96, 309, 3:399
 International Court of Justice, 5:443
 M'Naghten case (1843), 7:97
 Nuremberg trials (1945–1949), 7:289
 Supreme Court, U.S., 1:311
 Courts, 3:241–243
 bankruptcy, 1:112, 4:340, 6:261
 bench, 2:13
 circuit courts, 2:381
 common-law, 6:210
 District of Columbia, 4:341
 drug courts, 4:22–23
 ecclesiastical, 4:59 en banc, 4:134–135
 equity, 4:200
 expository statutes, 4:287
 federal, 4:337–342
 files, 4:404
 first instance, 4:419–420
 forum shopping, 4:465–466
 Great Britain, 6:49
 hierarchy, 6:62–64
 inferior courts, 2:13, 5:396
 judgments, 6:44–46
 judicial actions, 6:49
 judicial acts, 6:49
 King's Bench or Queen's Bench, 6:145
 last resort, 6:208
 legislative, 6:260–261
 matters of record, 6:464
 preventive detention, 8:79–81
 prize, 8:116
 recess, 8:251
 reserve, 8:331 royal, 4:154
 special courts, 9:260–262
 Star Chamber, 9:307–308
 tax courts, 9:438–439
 See also Federal courts; State courts
 Courts-martial, 3:244–247, 7:59–61
 Courts of appeals, 3:246–248
 Courts of chancery, 2:317
 Courts of Criminal Appeals (military), 7:61
 Courts of equity, 2:423
 Courts of request, 3:254
 Covenant, action of, 3:256–257
 Covenant marriages, 3:257–258, 6:436
 Covenants, 3:254–256, 255
 collateral warranty distinction, 2:489 racial discrimination, 7:69–70, 9:314 restrictive, 8:340–341, 9:366–367 running with the land, 8:427
 Cover, 3:258
 Coverage, 3:258
 Coverture, 3:258
 Cox, Archibald, 3:258–260, 259, 5:377–378, 6:7, 8:352, 10:312–313
 Cox Commission, 10:156
 CPA (Certified public accountants), 3:260
 CPB (Corporation for Public Broadcasting), 2:129 Crack cocaine drug laws, 4:30
 sentences, 10:181–182
 sentences for drug charges, 3:423
 Craft unions, 3:260
 Cranch, William, 3:260–262, 261
 Creationism and evolution public school curriculum, 1:46, 8:287–288
 Scopes trial (1925), 1:459, 3:341, 9:36–37
 Credibility, 3:262, 10:407
 Credit and loans, 3:262–266 acceleration clause, 1:49–50 accommodation papers, 1:55–56
 annual percentage rate, 1:281
 balloon payments, 1:461–462
 bank procedures, 1:478–479
 carrying charges, 2:257
 chattel mortgages, 2:331–332
 cognovit notes, 2:474
 collateral, 2:487
 commercial paper, 3:15–22
 Commodity Credit Corporation, 1:173, 3:27–28
 consumer credit, 3:141–145
 consumer protection, 10:124
 del credere, 3:391
 disaster relief, 3:443
 dishonor, 3:455
 down payments, 4:16
 effective rate, 4:77
 equity of redemption, 4:202
 Export-Import Bank of the United States, 4:286–287
 factors, 4:299
 Fair Credit Reporting Act (1970), 4:301–302
 Farm Credit Administration, 4:322
 farmers, 1:180
 Federal Reserve Board, 4:354
 finance charges, 4:406–407
 floating liens, 4:436–437
 forced sales, 4:446
 fraudulent conveyance, 4:489–491

- future acquired property, 5:20
- installments, 5:410, 411
- International Monetary Fund, 5:448
- to Iraq, 1:491–492
- letters of credit, 6:272, 273
- leverage, 6:284, 293
- line of credit, 6:331
- loan commitments, 6:356
- open-end credit, 7:318
- origination fees, 7:336
- pawn, 7:411
- prime lending rate, 8:83
- principal and surety, 8:84
- promissory notes, 8:144
- recognizance, 8:253
- redlining, 8:261
- repossession, 8:307
- revolving charges, 8:346–347
- rule of 78, 8:418
- Small Business Administration, 9:212–213
- time-price differentials, 10:38
- trust receipts, 10:121
- Uniform Consumer Credit Code, 10:159
- usury, 10:187–189
- veterans' home loans, 10:209, 213
- wage assignments, 10:259–260
- See also* Debt; Mortgages; Usury
- Credit bureaus, 3:266
 - consumer credit reports, 3:143–144, 5:325
 - Fair Credit Reporting Act (1970), 4:301–302, 8:102
- Credit cards
 - application, 3:263–265
 - bankruptcy, 1:473
 - identity theft, 5:325, 458
 - security issues, 3:12–13
- Crédit Mobilier scandal (1864–1873), 3:266–267, 267
- Credit unions, 3:267–268, 7:171–173, 172
- Creditor's bill, 3:268, 9:35
- Credo* (Du Bois), 4:36
- Crime Control Acts, 3:268–270, 4:457, 9:6, 106
- Crime prevention
 - community-oriented policing, 3:47
 - domestic violence, 3:505
 - gang membership, 5:30–31
 - hate crimes, 5:205
 - recidivism, 8:251
 - stalking, 9:294
- Violent Crime Control and Law Enforcement Act (1994), 10:235
- Crime rates
 - Crime Control Acts, 3:269
 - domestic violence, 3:505, 505–506
 - drug-related convictions, 3:423
 - hate crimes, 5:203, 207
 - homicide, 5:283
 - identity theft, 5:324, 325
 - incarceration, 5:358
 - Internet fraud, 5:457–458
 - suicide, 9:393
- Crime Victim's Fund, 10:222
- Crimes, 3:270–272
- Crimes, victimless, 10:219
- Crimes against humanity. See War crimes
- Criminal actions, 3:273
- Criminal conversation, 3:273
- Criminal forfeiture, 3:273
- Criminal Justice Act (1964), 1:313
- Criminal Justice Information Services (CJIS), 4:332
- Criminal justice system
 - anti-crime law (1994), 8:298
 - boards of pardons, 2:69
 - bounty hunters, 2:90–91
 - drug courts, 4:22–23
 - English roots of, 4:154
 - restorative justice, 8:338–339
 - victim assistance programs, 10:218–219
 - victims' rights, 10:219–221, 223
- Wickersham Commission, 10:370–371
- Wilson, James Quinn, 10:392–393
- Criminal law, 3:273–280
 - abetting, 1:7–8
 - accessories, 1:51
 - accomplices, 1:56
 - adultery, 1:133
 - aggravation, 1:170
 - aid and abet, 1:182
 - ambiguity, 10:404
 - anticrime legislation, 2:451
 - assault, 1:369
 - assault and battery, 1:370
 - attempt, 1:391
 - audi alteram partem, 1:406
 - battery, 1:504
 - beyond a reasonable doubt, 2:24, 165
 - burden of persuasion, 2:165
 - burden of pleading, 2:166
 - charge, 2:318
 - circumstantial evidence, 2:382
 - closure, 8:78
 - codification, 6:349
 - collateral estoppel, 2:489
 - competency hearings, 5:367–368
 - compounding offenses, 3:57–58
 - conspiracies, 3:107–110
 - Crime Control Acts, 3:268–270
 - deterrence, 3:423
 - diplomatic immunity, 3:430–432
 - Durham* rule, 4:45–46
 - elections, 4:97
 - engrossment, 4:161
 - entry, 4:170
 - ex post facto, 4:259–260
 - extenuating circumstances, 4:289
 - fair hearing, 4:302
 - false pretenses, 4:312–314
 - finer, 4:409–410
 - forswear, 4:463
 - hate crime laws, 5:204–205
 - intent, 5:430, 7:91–92, 340–341
 - jeopardy, 6:13
 - Jerry Lee Center of Criminology, 2:301
 - jurisdiction, 6:73
 - mala in se*, 6:401
 - mala prohibita*, 6:401
 - malfeasance, 6:404
 - Model Penal Code, 7:98–99
 - motives, 7:130–131
 - presumption of innocence, 8:75
 - pretrial publicity, 8:78–79
 - prima facie* evidence, 8:83
 - principals, 8:84
 - probable cause, 8:118–119
 - probation, 8:123–125
 - prosecutors, 8:153
 - quash, 8:197
 - Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations Act, 8:220–221
 - reasonable doubt, 8:246
 - reasonable person, 8:247
 - rebuttable presumptions, 8:248
 - recognizance, 8:253
 - rescue, 8:330
 - restitution, 8:337–338
 - retroactive, 8:343
 - sanction, 8:453
 - seizure, 9:86
 - self-incrimination, privilege against, 4:401–402
 - specific intent, 9:267

- statute of limitations, 9:331–332
 strict construction, 9:368–369
 trespass, 10:101–102
 verification, 10:205
 victims' rights, 10:219–221, 223
 voluntary acts, 10:248–249 waiver of jury trials, 6:80
 waiver of rights, 10:265–266
 willful, 10:385
See also Courts-martial
 Criminal negligence, 3:281
 Criminal possession, 8:42
 Criminal procedure, 3:281–291
 accusation, 1:63
 affidavits, 1:151
 affirmative defense, 1:159
 appeals, 1:313
 appearances, 1:308
 arraignment, 1:348–349
 arrest of judgment, 1:353
 attenuate, 1:391
 bail, 1:438–439, 441
 bifurcated trials, 2:27
 bills of indictment, 2:29
 bills of particulars, 2:31, 32–33
 binding over, 2:36
 cameras in court, 2:214–219
 canon law, 2:233
 chain of custody, 2:315–316
 codification, 2:472
 complaints, 3:55
 contempt, 3:154–155
 convictions, 3:186
 Coram nobis, 3:205
 coroners' inquests, 3:208–210
 counts, 3:235
 criminal law, 3:273
 discovery, 3:449
 dismissals, 3:457
 district and prosecuting attorneys, 3:464–465
 diversions, 3:469
 Escobedo v. Illinois (1964), 5:105
 examination, 4:261
 Fifth Amendment, 3:134
 fingerprints, 4:411
 forfeiture, 4:457
 Friendly, Henry Jacob, 5:5
 grand juries, 5:122–126
 habeas corpus, 5:171–174
 harmless errors, 5:191–192
 Huntley hearings, 5:318
 hypotheses, 5:322
 incarceration, 5:356–357
 inquisitorial system, 5:404
 involuntary confessions, 5:473–474
 lesser included offenses, 6:271
 Louisiana, 2:390
 Magna Charta, 6:394
 McNabb-Mallory Rule, 7:23–24
 military law, 7:60–61
 Miranda rights, 7:83–85
 no contest, 7:257
 nolo contendere, 7:258
 parties, 10:104
 plea bargaining, 7:457–458
 pleas, 7:457
 preliminary hearings, 8:62–63
 presentence investigation, 8:69
 pretrial conferences, 8:76–77
 probable cause, 2:276
 procedural law, 8:125
 prosecutors, 8:153–154
 rules, 8:416
 Salem witch trials (1692), 8:443
 security guards, 8:5–6
 severance, 9:131–132
 Sixth Amendment, 3:134, 9:195–202
 venue, 10:202
 Warren, Earl, 10:296
 Warren Court rulings, 10:293
 See also Procedure
 Criminal responsibility
 abuse excuse, 1:40–41
 actus reus, 1:80
 age of reason, 1:166
 brainwashing defense, 5:238 corporate managers, 9:1
 diminished capacity, 3:428
 duress, 4:45
 Durham rule, 4:45–46
 mens rea, 7:38–39, 91
 Nuremberg trials (1945–1949), 7:289
 Criminal syndicalism, 1:273–274
 Criminally negligent manslaughter, 6:423
 Criminals, 3:273
 citizenship, 2:386
 civil death, 2:386, 388
 Son of Sam laws, 9:244–245, 10:220–221 victim notification, 10:220
 voting rights, 3:455
 Criminology, 3:291–294
 critical, 3:292–293
 Jerry Lee Center of Criminology, 2:301
 Wilson, James Quinn, 10:391–392
 XXX chromosomal abnormality, 10:442–443
 Critical habitat, 4:139
 Critical legal studies (CLS), 3:294–298
 jurisprudence, 6:76
 legal realism, 6:244–245
 Critical race theory (CRT), 3:296–297
 Crittenden, John Jordan, 3:298–300, 299
 Crockett, George William, Jr., 3:300–301, 301
 Crop insurance, 3:302
 Crops, 3:302–303, 303
 gleaning, 5:102–103
 surpluses and shortages, 1:173 voluntary reduction, 1:171–172, 3:27–28
 Cross-actions, 3:303
 Cross burning, 4:501
 Cross-claims, 1:285–288, 3:303
 Cross-complaints, 3:303–304
 Cross-demand, 3:304
 Cross-examination, 3:86, 87, 304, 4:248
 Crosses (religious symbols), 5:204–205, 206–207
 Cruel and inhuman treatment, 3:304
 Cruel and unusual punishment, 3:304–308
 accomplices, 1:56
 capital punishment, 1:387–388, 2:238–239, 3:463, 5:18–20, 143–144, 9:343–344
 corporal punishment, 3:210–211
 criminal procedure, 3:289–290
 determinate sentences, 3:421–422, 5:316, 9:108
 electrocution, 2:240
 original intent, 9:11
 prison conditions, 8:96
 ratification of the Eighth Amendment, 8:185
 Robinson v. California (1962), 8:376–378 sex offender registration, 9:140–141 standards of decency test, 4:79–80
 See also Eighth Amendment
 Cruelty, 3:308
 Cruzan, Nancy, 3:359–360
 CSWPL (Center on Social Welfare Policy and Law), 2:300
 CTA (cum testamento annexo), 3:309

- Cuba
 Carter, James Earl, Jr., 2:264
 Clark, William Ramsey, 2:420
 communism, 3:40
 Davis, Angela Yvonne, 3:347
 expropriation, 4:288
 Gonzalez, Elian, 8:298
 hijackings, 5:255
 Pierce, Franklin, 7:445
 Spanish-American War (1898), 7:20–21, 9:259–260
 U.S. refugee policy, 8:268–269
 Cuban Missile Crisis (1962), 3:309–310
 arms control and disarmament, 1:343–344
 Kennedy, John Fitzgerald, 6:121
Culpa, 3:310
 Culpable, 3:310–311
 Culprit, 3:311
 Cultural identity
 African Americans, 5:423–424
 Native Americans, 1:255, 481, 5:383–384, 7:194–195, 199
Cum testamento annexo, 3:311
 Cummings, Homer Stille, 3:311–312, 312
 Cumulative evidence, 3:312
 Cumulative sentences, 3:312–313
 Cumulative voting, 3:313
 Cunnilingus, 3:313
 Cure, 3:313
 Curfew, 3:313–314
Curia, 3:314
Curia Regis, 3:314–315
 Curran, Timothy, 5:53
 Currency and coins
 counterfeiting, 3:236–238
 Engraving and Printing, Bureau of, 10:92 exchange rates, 5:447–448
 federal policy, 9:170, 171
 gold standard, 7:20–21
 International Monetary Fund, 5:447–448
 legal tender, 6:253
 Mint, U.S., 10:93
 paper money, 5:133, 9:375
 Specie Circular (1836), 5:130
 Current accounts, 3:315
 Curriculum
 C-SPAN (Cable-Satellite Public Affairs Network), 3:308–309
 public schools, 1:46, 4:74
 Curtesy, 3:315–316
 Curtilage, 3:316
 Curtis, Benjamin Robbins, 2:444, 3:316–317, 317
 Cushing, Caleb, 3:317–319, 318, 6:90
 Cushing, Luther Stearns, 3:319–320
 Cushing, William, 3:320–321, 321
 Custodial interrogations, 3:321–325
 counsel, right to, 6:460, 8:359–369
 involuntary confessions, 5:473–474
Miranda v. Arizona (1966) (documents), 11:255–352
Miranda warnings, 7:52–53, 83–85, 9:40–41, 93–94
 self-incrimination, privilege against, 8:111–112
 third degree, 8:23, 10:19
 undercover investigations, 5:496
See also Confessions
 Custodians, 5:81
 Custody, 3:322, 326
 Customary international law, 5:444
 Customs Court. See Court of International Trade
 Customs duties, 3:325–327, 4:46
 Court of International Trade, 4:340–341 early U.S. history, 5:439
 entry, 4:170
 imposts, 5:348
 Customs Service, U.S. customs duties, 3:325–326
 smuggling, 9:221
 Cy pres, 2:319–320, 3:327–328, 10:119–120
 Cyberspace courts, 3:242
 Czolgosz, Leon F., 1:368

D
 Dagenhart, Roland H., 5:181
 Dairy industry
 BST hormones, 1:174
 subsidies, 1:180, 181
 Dale, James, 2:92–93, 381, 400, 461, 5:53–54
 Dalkon Shield, 2:424–425
 Dallas, Alexander James, 3:329–330, 330
 Dallas, George Mifflin, 3:330, 330–331
 Dallas (TX), adult entertainment licenses, 6:314–315
 Damages, 3:331–335
 accident lawsuits, 1:423 accord and satisfaction, 1:57
ad damnum, 1:80
 additur, 1:91–92
 adequate remedy at law, 1:92–93
 amount in controversy, 1:269, 272
 antitrust cases, 1:298
 assault, 1:370
 assault and battery, 1:372
 avoidable consequences, 1:428–429
 breach of contract, 3:180, 7:204–205
 breach of marriage promise, 2:106 capping awards, 1:377, 3:53, 5:223, 7:30 compensatory, 3:53
 complaints, 3:54–55
 consequential, 3:104–105, 8:447 copyright infringement, 3:197
 creditor's bill, 3:268
 duty to mitigate, 6:196
 equitable relief, 4:200–201 excessive, 8:295
 false advertising, 4:309
 false arrest, 4:310
 false imprisonment, 4:311
 family law, 1:36
 incidental, 8:447
 joint tortfeasors, 6:35
 judgment debtors, 6:46–47
 judgments, 6:45–46
 just compensation and eminent domain, 4:125
 Kilberg doctrine, 6:139
 liquidated, 6:332–333, 8:447
 loss of services, 6:371
 malicious prosecution, 6:408
 mishandling of corpses, 3:230
 mitigating circumstances, 7:95
 mitigation of damages, 7:96 mixed actions, 7:96–97
 negligence, 1:275
 nominal, 7:258
 patent infringement, 7:397 punitive damage limits, 8:132
 Racketeer Influenced and Corruption Organizations Act plaintiffs, 8:219 as remedy, 8:294, 295
 sales law, 8:447
 Section 1983 cases, 9:62–63
 September 11 terrorist attacks, 1:193
 special damages, 9:262–263
 speculative damages, 9:271
 terms of art, 10:1–2
 tobacco industry, 10:42, 49–51
 tort law, 10:61

- tort reform, 10:62
 treble, 10:97
 Violence Against Women Act (1994), 10:233–234 waste, 10:306
 wrongful birth, 10:432
 wrongful death lawsuits, 10:435
 wrongful life lawsuits, 10:437
 wrongful pregnancy, 10:437
Damnum, 3:335
 Dams
 Hoover Dam, 5:469
 Norris Dam, 9:459
 Dana, Richard Henry, 3:335, 335
 Danelage, 3:336
 Danforth, John C., 2:102
 Dangerous instrumentality, 3:336
 Daniel, Peter Vivian, 3:336–337, 337
 Darrow, Clarence, 3:337–342, 338
 Bryan, William Jennings and, 2:153
 Debs, Eugene V., defense of, 8:183
 Leopold and Loeb Trial (1924), 6:269–271
 Scopes trial (1925), 1:249, 9:36
 Dartmouth College, 10:122–124, 319
Das Kapital (Marx), 6:451
 Data communications, 4:104–105, 9:451
 Databases
 computer-assisted legal research, 3:61–62
 copyright issues, 3:197, 5:96
 DNA, 3:488, 8:102–103
 Federal Register, 4:352
 fingerprints, 4:411
 Lexis® (Reed Elsevier), 6:297–298
 Martindale-Hubbell Law Directory, 6:449–450
 National Practitioner Data Bank, 7:443 patent, 7:392
 sex offenders, 7:37, 37
 WESTLAW®, 10:345–346
 Daubert test, 3:342–343, 487–488, 9:33
 Daugherty, Harry Micajah, 3:343–345, 344, 7:12
 Daugherty, Mally S., 7:11–13
 Daughters of the American Revolution (DAR), 8:392
 Davis, Angela Yvonne, 3:345–348, 346
 Davis, David, 3:349, 349–350
 Davis, George, 3:77
 Davis, Jefferson, 2:323
 Davis, John Chandler Bancroft, 3:350, 350–351
 Davis, John William, 2:144–145, 3:351
 Davis, Ossie, 6:404
 Davis, Robert, 3:323
 Davis-Bacon Act (1931), 3:345
 Day, William R., 3:352–353, 353
 Hammer v. Dagenhart (1918), 5:181–182
 Muskrat v. United States (1911), 1:143–144
 Day care centers. See Child Care
 Day certain, 3:351
 Day in court, 3:352
 Day nurseries, 2:348
 Day trading (stocks), 9:352–353
 Days of grace, 3:353
De bonis no administratis, 3:353
De facto, 3:354
 adoption, 1:123
 segregation, 9:83
De jure, 3:354, 9:83–84
 de la Beckwith, Byron, 4:244–246
De legibus et consuetudinibus Angliae (Bracton), 2:94, 95
De l'Esprit des lois (Montesquieu), 7:108–109
De minimis, 3:354
De novo, 3:354
De odio et atia, 4:155
 De Witt, John L., 6:2
 DEA. See Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA)
 Dead man's statutes, 3:354–355
 Deadly force, 3:355, 355–356, 4:445
 assault and battery, 1:371
 justifiable homicide, 5:283
 self-defense, 9:90–91
 Deaf and hearing impaired persons educational programs, 4:64
 Zobrest v. Catalina Foothills School District (1993), 8:288
 Death and dying, 3:356–360
 abatement of action, 1:4
 accidental death benefits, 1:53–54
 AIDS cases, 1:75
 airplane crashes, 1:193
 annuities, 1:283
 attorney-client privilege, 1:394
 automobile safety, 1:419
 autopsies, 1:428
 auxiliary administration, 1:428
 burials, 3:227–229
 causa mortis gifts, 5:80–81
 causes of, 1:52
 common disaster, 3:30
 concealment of birth or death, 3:69
 contemplation of death, 3:154
 contingent fees, 3:160
 coroners, 3:208–210
 dead man's statutes, 3:354–355
 declarations, 3:367–368, 4:53, 252
 demise, 3:392
 euthanasia, 4:236–241
 extremis, 4:296
 In re Quinlan (1976), 8:205–207
 inquests, 5:402–403
 intestate, 5:471
 Kevorkian, Jack, 6:131–134 life sentence definition, 5:498 medical examiners, 7:29
 mortality tables, 7:119 post mortem, 8:42
 privacy, 8:98
 right of burial, 2:284
 right to die, 3:358–360, 5:284, 7:208, 407–408, 9:390–391 simultaneous death, 9:189–190
 survivors' benefits, 7:310
 Vacco v. Quill (1997), 10:303–304 war casualties, 5:68–69
 Washington v. Glucksberg (1997), 10:302–305 weather fatalities, 3:441
 See also Organ donation law
 Death penalty. See Capital punishment Death row. See Capital punishment
 Death warrants, 3:360
 Death with Dignity Act (1994), 4:239–241, 9:394–395
 Debate ad hominem, 1:81
 bills in Congress, 3:91 presidential elections, 7:211, 252
 Debentures, 3:361–362
 Debits, 3:363
 Deboers, Jan and Roberta, 1:126–127, 7:360
 Debs, Eugene, 3:363–365, 364
 Pullman Strike (1894), 8:182–183, 9:230–231
 Socialist Party, 9:233, 233
 Debt, 3:365–366
 absconding debtors, 1:29–30 aggressive collection, 1:170
 amortizations, 1:269

- antecedent, 1:288–289
- appropriation, 1:323
- arrears, 1:349
- assignment for benefit of creditors, 1:374–376
- assumpsit, 1:378
- attorney's lien, 1:403
- automobile sales, 1:424
- banker's lien, 1:464
- compromise and settlement, 3:58
- contributions, 3:183
- cosigners, 3:233
- creditor's bill, 3:268
- days of grace, 3:353
- deeds of trust, 3:375–379
- diplomatic immunity, 3:431
- distress, 3:463–464
- equitable recoupment, 4:202
- extension, 4:289
- extinguishment, 4:289
- Fair Debt Collection Practices Act (1996), 3:149–150
- feri facias*, 4:399
- garnishment, 5:39–40
- guaranties, 5:156, 157
- homestead protection, 5:281
- insolvency, 5:410
- intestate estates, 3:418
- lump-sum settlements, 6:379
- marshaling assets and securities, 6:437–438
- moratoria on relief, 7:117
- partial payment, 1:64
- payable, 7:411
- pledges, 7:462–464
- royal debt collection, 6:393
- sequestration, 9:115
- statute of limitations, 6:317
- subrogation, 9:384–385
- two-fund doctrine, 6:438
- See also* Credit and loans
- Debt, action of, 3:366
- The Debt: What America Owes Blacks* (Robinson), 9:206
- Debt poolers, 3:366
- Debtors and creditors, 3:268, 366
 - accounts stated, 1:59
 - composition with creditors, 3:56–57
 - confession of judgment, 3:83–84
 - contra, 3:165
 - debt-forgiveness, 10:423
 - exoneration, 4:282
 - fraudulent conveyance, 4:489–491
 - garnishees, 5:39
 - general creditors, 5:58
 - grab laws, 5:122
 - judgment creditors, 6:46
 - levy, 6:294–295
 - maritime liens, 6:432–433
 - meeting of creditors, 7:35
 - partnerships, 7:381
 - preferences, 8:61
 - principal and surety, 8:84
 - receivers, 8:249–250
 - remission, 8:295
 - secured creditors, 9:64
 - secured transactions, 9:64–67
 - security, 9:79
 - spendthrift trusts, 9:278
 - supplementary proceedings, 9:400
 - third-party beneficiaries, 3:177
 - trust beneficiaries, 10:118–119
 - wage assignments, 10:259–260
 - wage earner's plans, 10:260
 - See also* Absconding debtors
- Decalogue Society of Lawyers, 3:366–367
- Decedents, 3:367
- Deceit, 3:367
- Decency standards. See Community standards
- Decennial Digest*®, 3:367
- Deception. See Misrepresentation
- Decision-making. See Judicial decision-making
- Decision on the merits, 3:367
- Decisions, 3:367
 - memorandum decisions, 7:38
 - ratio decidendi*, 8:239
 - split decisions, 9:279
 - Supreme Court of the United States, 9:406
- Declaration of condominium, 3:73–74
- Declaration of Independence, 3:159, 368–370, 369
 - Franklin, Benjamin, 4:486
 - Jefferson, Thomas, 6:11
 - Livingston, Robert R., 6:351–352
 - natural law, 7:206
 - War of Independence, 10:280
- Declaration of Independence (document), 12:87–89
- Declaration of Paris (1856), 8:110
- Declaration of Sentiments. See Seneca Falls Declaration of Sentiments (document)
- Declaration of the Causes and Necessity of Taking Up Arms (document), 12:79–82
- Declaration of trust, 3:370, 10:118
- Declaration on Principles of International Law* (United Nations), 8:308
- Declarations, 3:326–327, 367–368
- Declaratory judgments, 1:144, 3:370–371
- Declaratory relief, 4:200
- Declaratory remedies, 8:294
- Decrees, 3:371
- Decriminalization, 8:156–157
- Dedications, 3:371–372
- Deductibles, 3:372
- Deductions, 3:372, 5:365–366, 389, 9:441
- Deductive reasoning, 1:1, 2:278
- Deeds, 3:372–375
 - absolute, 1:34
 - condominiums and cooperatives, 3:73
 - grantors-grantee index, 5:131
 - habendum clauses, 5:174
 - have and hold, 5:207
 - quitclaim, 8:207, 208
 - real estate, 1:39–40, 140–141
 - recital, 8:252
 - recording of land titles, 8:256
 - register of deeds, 8:271
 - restrictive covenants, 8:340–341
 - sheriff's, 9:165
 - special warranty, 9:264
 - warranty, 8:204–205, 10:289–290
 - words of limitation, 10:417
 - words of purchase, 10:417
- Deeds of trust, 3:375–379, 376–378, 7:123, 8:55, 10:121
- Deem, 3:379
- Deer, 5:25
- Dees, Morris, 6:162
- Defalcation, 3:379
- Defamation, 3:379–380
 - actual malice, 10:152
 - Alien and Sedition Acts, 1:211
 - employment law, 4:133
 - libelous, 6:305
 - malicious prosecution, 6:406–407
 - mitigating circumstances, 7:95–96
 - Near v. Minnesota* (1931), 7:216
 - press, freedom of the, 4:416–417, 503
 - retraction, 8:343
 - trade, 10:152
 - unlawful communications, 10:169
 - See also* Libel and slander

- Default judgments, 3:380, 381, 6:45
ad damnum, 1:80
 Soldiers' and Sailors' Civil Relief Act (1918), 9:237
- Default (secured transactions), 9:67
- Defeasance clauses, 3:380–381
- Defeasible, 3:381–382
- Defeasible fees, 6:185
- Defective products. See Nonconforming goods; Product liability
- Defects, 3:382, 382
- Defendants, 3:383
 casual ejectors, 2:272
 character evidence, 2:317–318
 explosives cases, 4:285–286
 improper administrative procedure, 4:282
 joint and several liability, 6:30
 judicial sale, 6:59
 justification, 6:93
 last clear chance, 6:208
 lesser included offenses, 6:271–272
 levy, 6:294–295
 plea bargaining, 7:458–460, 8:153–154
 preliminary hearings, 8:62–63
 presentence investigation, 8:69
 presumption of innocence, 8:75
 pretrial conferences, 8:77
 preventive detention, 8:79–81
 rape shield laws, 8:236–237, 238
 rejoinder, 8:279
 self-incrimination, privilege against, 8:110–112
 self-representation, 6:247
 vouching-in, 10:257
 wager of law, 10:260–261
 waiving time, 10:266
- Defense, 3:383
 abuse excuse, 1:41
 adultery, 1:133
 affirmative defense, 1:159
 answers in civil actions, 1:285
 assault and battery, 1:371–372
 automatism, 1:409
 battered child/spouse syndrome, 1:503, 3:504–505
 brainwashing, 5:238
 breach of marriage promise, 2:106 capacity defense, 2:236
 coercion, 2:473
 commercial paper, 3:21–22
 counsel, right to, 9:200–201
 criminal law, 3:275–280
 deadly force, 3:356
 duress, 4:45
 entrapment, 4:169
 equitable, 4:201
 exculpatory, 3:279–280
 excuse, 4:267
 extortion, 4:290–291
 failure to state a claim, 4:300–301 famous lawyers, 1:441–444, 3:337–342, 407–410, 9:34, 155–157
 homicide, 5:283–284
 impossibility, 5:347–348
 innocent owner defense, 4:459
 intentional torts, 10:59
 intoxication, 5:472
 laches, 6:181
 libel and slander, 6:299
 murder, 1:134, 7:142–143
 necessity, 7:218–220
 negligence, 7:226–227
 nuisances, 7:284
 polygamy, 8:27
pro tanto, 8:118
 provocation, 8:160–161
 reasonable force, 8:246–247
 receiving stolen property, 8:250
 recrimination, 8:259
 reinsurance liability, 8:278
 riot, 8:365
 Robinson-Patman Act (1936), 8:374
 specific performance, 9:270
 state-of-the-art defense, 8:132
 statute of limitations, 9:331, 333 trademark infringement, 10:76
 trespass, 10:100–101
 truth, 10:454
 undue influence, 10:144–145
 XYY chromosomal abnormality, 10:442–443
See also Insanity defense
- Defense, Department of, 3:383–387, 384, 7:35
- Defense Base Closure and Realignment Act (1990), 1:340
- Defense industry
 military base closures, 1:341
 qui tam actions, 8:202–203
- Defense of Marriage Act (1996), 3:387–389, 5:48, 52, 322
- Defense Programs, Office of, 4:146
- Defense Research Institute (DRI), 3:389
- Defensive asylum, 1:383
- Deferrals, impoundment, 5:349
- Deficiencies, 3:389
- Deficiency judgments, 3:389, 390, 6:45
- Deficiency payments, 1:180
- Deficits, 3:389
- Definitive, 3:389
- Deforcement, 3:390
- Defraud, 3:391
- Degree, 3:391
- Degrees, legal
 J.D. (Juris Doctor), 6:10, 68–69
 LL.B. (bachelor of laws), 6:353
 LL.M. (master of laws), 6:355
- Degrees of offenses
 burglary, 2:171
 kidnapping, 6:137
 rape, 8:234
 third degree, 10:19
- Del credere*, 3:391
- DeLancey, James, 10:453
- Delaware
 corporal punishment in prisons, 3:212
 corporations, 3:217
 seat belt law, 9:46
 separation of law and equity cases, 4:200
- Delay. See Dilatory tactics
- Delectus personae*, 3:391
- Delegates, 3:391
- Delegation, 1:106, 3:391–392
- Deliberate, 3:392, 9:197–198
- Deliberations, 10:108
- Delictum*, 3:392
- Delinquency
 contributing to delinquency of minors, 3:182
In re Winship (1970), 10:395–397
 juveniles, 3:272
 Lindsey, Benjamin Barr, 6:330–331
 reformatories, 8:266
 studies, 2:301
See also Juvenile law and courts
- Delivery, 3:392
 deeds, transfer of, 3:372–373
 gifts, 5:79, 81
 sales law, 8:446, 447–448
 service, 9:116
 symbolic delivery, 9:424
- Demands, 3:392
- Demeanor, 3:392
- Demise, 3:392
- Democracy
Federalist, Number 10 (document), 12:128–129

- “Lawyers and Judges” (Toqueville) (document), 12:495–499
- Madison, James, 3:120
- Democracy, Human Rights, and Labor, Department of, 5:307
- Democracy in America* (Toqueville), 12:493, 495–499
- Democratic Farmer-Labor party, 5:310
- Democratic National Conventions
- election of 1948, 5:310–311, 9:328
 - election of 1964, 5:176–177
 - election of 1968, 2:50–51, 338–340, 5:83, 176–177, 312, 7:7
 - election of 2000, 3:395
 - origins, 3:394
 - sites, 3:393
- Vaughn, George L., 10:200
- Democratic Party, 3:392–396, 395
- Boggs, Corinne Claiborne, 2:71
 - Brown, Ron, 2:139–140
 - Bryan, William Jennings, 2:151–153, 152–153
 - Campbell, Ben Nighthorse, 2:221
 - Campbell, William Joseph, 2:225–226
 - Clifford, Nathan, 2:444
 - Ferraro, Geraldine Anne, 4:382–383
 - Gray, William Herbert, III, 5:137
 - Harmon, Judson, 5:194
 - Humphrey, Hubert Horatio, 5:310–312
 - influence of independent parties, 5:381–382
 - Iran-Contra Affair, 5:480
 - Johnson, Lyndon Baines, 6:23
 - Kefauver investigation, 6:110
 - McGranery, James Patrick, 7:14
 - McGrath, James Howard, 7:15–16
 - Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party, 1:449–450, 5:176–177
 - O'Neill, Thomas Philip, Jr., 7:316–317
 - Pendleton, George Hunt, 7:417
 - Pierce, Franklin, 7:444
 - Powell, Adam Clayton, Jr., 8:46–47
 - Prohibition repeal, 8:141
 - Roosevelt, Anna Eleanor, 8:392
 - Roosevelt, Franklin Delano, 8:393–394
 - Ross, Nellie Tayloe, 8:407–408
 - States' Rights Party, 9:327–328
 - Stevenson, Adlai Ewing, 9:345
 - Thurmond, Strom, 10:31–32
 - Tilden, Samuel Jones, 10:33–34
 - white primaries, 8:263, 10:343, 362
 - Wilmot, David, 10:388–389
- Democratic Republican Party, 3:396–397
- Chase, Samuel, criticism by, 2:326, 330
 - election of 1824, 1:84
 - origins of Democratic Party, 3:392–393
- Demonstrations and protests
- abortion rights, 1:17, 22, 23–26, 25
 - Alcatraz occupation (1969–1971), 1:255–256, 482
 - anarchists, 1:272, 273
 - anti-war, 1:350, 3:408, 7:244, 9:82, 301, 425
 - Augusta National Golf Club, 2:461
 - Black Panther Party (1967), 2:49, 49–50
 - Bonus Army March (1932), 5:289
 - Carmichael, Stokely, 9:378
 - editorship, 2:288
 - Chessman, Caryl, execution of, 2:338
 - civil disobedience, 2:388–389
 - civil rights marches, 7:42–43
 - civil rights sit-ins, 2:250, 405–406, 6:295–296
 - Democratic National Convention (1968), 2:50–51, 338–340
 - Dorr's Rebellion (1842), 3:508
 - Equal Rights Amendment rally (1977), 2:199
 - Gray Panthers, 5:135
 - indefinite detention, 4:40
 - International Longshore and Warehouse Union, 3:461
 - Jeannette Rankin Brigade, 8:232
 - Kent State student killings, 6:127–129
 - King, Martin Luther, Jr., 6:142
 - March on Washington (1963), 2:405, 406, 7:345, 8:229
 - Mayday Rally (1971), 2:154–155
 - Million Man March (1995), 2:404
 - necessity defense, 7:219
 - People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals, 1:280, 7:424
 - picketing, 7:443–444
 - prior restraint, 8:85
 - Quakers, 7:345
 - Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations Act, 8:220–221
 - right to bear arms, 9:50
 - Selma-to-Montgomery march (1965), 6:19, 344–346
 - Shays's Rebellion (1786), 1:297, 9:160–161
 - shooting death of Amadou Diallo, 8:8
 - Stamp Act (1765), 9:297
 - Stonewall Inn, NYC, protest (1969), 5:45
 - Tinker v. Des Moines Independent Community School District* (1969), 4:67–68, 10:38–40
 - Trail of Broken Treaties (1972), 1:256, 482
 - unlawful assembly, 10:168–169
 - woman suffrage, 7:245
 - Women's Strike for Equality (1970), 5:2
 - Wounded Knee occupation (1973), 1:256, 483
- Demonstrative evidence, 3:397–400, 399
- Demonstrative legacy, 3:400
- Demur, 3:400
- Demurrage, 3:400
- Demurrer, 3:400–401
- Denial of service computer attacks, 3:66
- Dennis, Eugene, 3:43
- Denny, Reginald, 2:464
- Dentists, 1:72
- Deny, 3:401
- Deodand, doctrine of, 4:456
- Department of Education Organization Act (1979), 4:62
- Department of Energy Organization Act (1977), 4:144–145
- Dependent relative revocation, 3:401
- Dependent states, 3:401–402
- Dependents, 3:401
- Depletion allowances, 3:402–403
- Depletion and amortization, 1:269
- Deponents, 3:403
- Deportation, 3:403
- aliens, 1:215, 225–227, 3:451
 - banishment, 1:462

- hearings, 1:219, 225
INS v. Chadha (1983), 1:107
 Palmer raids (1919-1920), 8:260-261
 Depose, 3:403
 Deposit, copyrighted works, 3:198
 Depositaries, 4:209
 Depositions, 3:403-405
 civil procedure, 2:392
 discovery, 3:448
 motions, 7:128
 Depositories, 3:405
 Depository Institutions
 Deregulation and Monetary Control Act (1980), 9:5
 Deposits in court, 3:405-406
 Depraved-heart murders, 7:141
 Depreciation, 1:269, 3:406-407
 Deputies, 3:407, 9:165
 Deregulation
 airlines, 1:188-191, 2:255-256
 cable television, 2:210-211, 6:459
 common carriers, 2:254 electric utilities, 4:102-103
 public utilities, 8:174
 railroads, 8:224-225
 savings and loan associations, 9:5-6
 telecommunications, 2:130, 4:335-336, 337, 9:448-449, 452-453
 Derivative actions, 3:407
 Derivative asylum, 1:384
 Derivative citizenship, 2:385
 Derivative evidence, 3:407
 Derivative suits, 3:224-225
 Derivative works, 1:87, 4:167
 Derogation, 3:407
 Dershowitz, Alan Morton, 1:41, 2:220, 3:407-410, 408, 8:237
 Descent, 3:410
 Descent and distribution, 3:410-418, 412
 Native American artifacts, 7:194
 per capita, 7:424-425, 425
 per stirpes, 7:425, 425
 posthumous children, 8:43
 representation, 8:308
 second-look doctrine, 9:53-54
 Descriptive word index, 3:418
 Desecration of the flag. See Flags
 Desegregation. See Integration and desegregation Desertion, 3:418-419
 constructive, 3:137-138
 Vietnam War, 1:266
 Designated heirs, 3:413
 Desk audits, 3:419
 Destroy, 3:419
 Destruction of property, searches, 4:475
 Desuetude, 3:420
 Detainer, 3:420
 Detectives, 3:420
 Detention and incarceration, 3:420, 5:350, 355-360, 358
 contempt, 3:155
 defendants prior to trial, 8:75 detainees' rights, 8:92
 detainer, 3:420
 enemy combatants, 4:142-143, 8:423
 good time, 5:116
 habeas corpus, 5:169-173
 Habeas Corpus Act (1679, English), 5:174
 Haitian refugees, 8:269
 house arrest, 5:295
 Japanese Americans, 1:212, 5:261, 9:356, 416
 juveniles, 5:44-45, 6:101
 nonpayment of fines, 4:410 pre-deportation, 3:403
 presidential powers, 8:74
 preventive, 8:79-81 probation conversion to, 8:124-125 rights of detainees, 8:92
 USA PATRIOT Act (2001), 10:184, 185
 wrongful, 5:170
 See also Commitment; Parole; Prisons and jails
 Determinable, 3:420
 Determinate sentences, 3:420-423, 422
 cocaine possession, 8:186
 cruel and unusual punishment, 3:305-306, 9:251 drug cases, 5:316 judicial discretion, 3:450, 9:104-108
 probation, 8:124
 See also Three strikes laws
 Determination, 3:423
 Deterrence, 3:423
 capital punishment, 2:241-242
 class actions, 2:425
 punitive damages, 8:188, 189
 sentences, 10:180-181
 Wilson, James Quinn, 10:392-393
 zero tolerance, 10:454-455
 Detinue, 3:424
 Detriment, 3:424
 Detroit (MI), school integration, 9:22-23
 Developing nations
 International Monetary Fund, 5:448
 World Bank, 10:422-423
 Development, land
 covenants, 3:256
 moratoria, 4:124, 7:116
 See also Land-use control
 Devens, Charles, 3:424-425
 Deviance, 3:425
 Devise, 3:425
 See also Bequests
 Devitt Distinguished Service to Justice Award, 6:20
 Dewey, Thomas Edmund, 2:147, 3:425, 4:25-426
 Dewey Decimal System, 3:425
 Diallo, Amadou, 8:9
 Dick Act (1903), 7:178
 Dickinson, John, 3:426-427, 427
 Dicta, 3:427
Dictum, 3:427
 Diem regime (Vietnam), 10:227-228
 Dies, Martin, 3:38
 Digests, 3:427
 Digital files
 copyright issues, 1:87, 3:199, 203-204
 government documents, 5:121 network transmissions, 9:451
 piracy, 3:153-154, 5:425, 7:147-148
 Digital Millennium Copyright Act (1998), 3:153, 198-199
 Digital signatures, 9:186
 Dilatory pleas, 3:428
 Dilatory tactics, 3:427-428
 continuance, 3:163-164
 contracts, 3:181
 dismissals, 3:456, 457
 speedy trial, right of, 9:274-275
 Diligence, 3:428
 Dillon's Rule, 7:139
 Dilution, 10:76
 Diminished capacity, 3:428
 Diminution, 3:428
 Diplomatic agents and diplomacy, 3:428-430
 Adams, John, 1:81-82
 Adams, John Quincy, 1:83, 84
 Albright, Madeleine Korbel, 1:197-198
 allegiance, 2:384
 ambassadors and consuls, 1:242-243
 Baker, Howard, 3:429

- Berle, Adolph Augustus, Jr., 2:23
- Bryce, James, 2:155–156
- Byrnes, James Francis, 2:207, 207–208
- Choate, Joseph Hodges, 2:377, 378
- Collier, William Miller, 2:507, 507–508
- Cushing, Caleb, 3:318
- Dallas, George Mifflin, 3:330, 330–331
- Davis, John Chandler Bancroft, 3:350–351
- extraterritoriality, 4:295
- Franklin, Benjamin, 4:484, 485, 485
- Kellogg, Frank Billings, 6:112–113, 113
- Kellogg-Briand Pact (1928), 6:111–112, 113
- Kissinger, Henry Alfred, 6:145–147
- Livingston, Robert R., 6:352, 352–353
- Mason, John Young, 6:453
- Nixon, Richard M., 7:252–253
- Peterson, Pete, 1:243
- Pinkney, William, 7:450
- presidential powers, 8:73
- Reagan, Ronald, 3:302
- Rush, Richard, 8:429
- State, Department of, 9:318, 319
- Stevenson, Adlai, 3:309
- U.S. Information Agency, 10:177–178
- Whiteman, Marjorie Millace, 10:364–365
- XYZ Affair (1796), 10:443
- Diplomatic immunity, 1:242–243, 3:430–432
- Diplomatic Relations Act (1978), 3:430
- Direct, 3:432
- Direct evidence, 2:382, 3:433
- Direct examination, 3:433, 6:220
- Direct tax, 3:433
- Directed verdicts, 2:393, 3:433, 433, 10:108, 204
- Directories, 3:433
- Martindale-Hubbell Law Directory*, 6:449–450
- United States Government Manual*, 10:165
- West Legal Directory*TM, 10:344–345
- Directors, 3:433
- corporations, 3:219–221, 9:2, 70
- savings and loan associations, 9:5
- See also* Boards of directors
- Disabilities, 3:433–434, 439
- Americans with Disabilities Act (1990), 1:71, 9:257
- asylums, 1:384
- babies, 7:403, 442
- Baby Doe Amendment (1984), 6:155
- civil rights legislation, 2:399
- commitment, 3:25
- common carriers, 2:256
- compensatory damages, 3:332
- disabled children, 4:72
- education law, 4:72–73
- equal protection, 4:197
- Fair Housing Act (1968), 4:303
- incontestability clauses, 5:369–370
- Medicare, 7:31
- Office of Disability Employment Policy, 6:171
- Office of Special Educational and Rehabilitation Services, 4:65
- Old-Age, Survivors, and Disability Insurance, 7:311, 9:226–227
- presidential, 10:131–132
- railroad workers' benefits, 8:226
- Roosevelt, Franklin Delano, 8:395
- sterilization, forced, 2:159–161
- Supplemental Security Income, 4:86, 10:334–336
- telecommunications access, 4:335
- veterans, 10:209, 212
- Zobrest v. Catalina Foothills School District* (1993), 8:288
- See also* Accessibility
- Disability discrimination, 3:434–440, 453, 4:132, 185
- Disaffirm, 3:441
- Disallow, 3:441
- Disappearances
- Hoffa, James Riddle, 5:270
- work of Amnesty International, 1:267
- Disarmament. See Arms control and disarmament
- Disaster Assistance Act (1988), 3:443
- Disaster relief, 3:441–446
- Federal Emergency Management Agency, 4:346–347
- National Guard soldiers, 7:179
- September 11 terrorist attacks, 9:114
- Small Business Administration, 9:212
- Disaster Relief Act (1950, 1970), 3:444–445
- Disbar, 3:446
- Discharge, 3:446
- honorable and dishonorable, 7:57–58
- liens, 6:316
- Disciplinary actions
- attorney misconduct, 1:402
- attorneys, 8:137
- prisoners' rights, 8:95–96
- Securities and Exchange Commission, 1:105–106
- Disciplinary rules, 3:447
- Disclaimers, 3:447, 7:396, 8:446–447
- Disclosure
- campaign financing, 4:344–345
- cash tender corporate offers, 10:385
- discovery, 3:449
- false advertising, 4:307–308
- franchises, 4:478–479
- Freedom of Information Act (1966), 4:495–498
- lobbyists, 6:357–358
- risk arbitrage, 8:367
- securities, 9:69, 76, 77, 78
- trade secrets, 10:69
- truth-in-housing statements, 8:245
- Truth in Lending Act (1968), 3:145, 149
- Uniform Consumer Credit Code, 10:159
- See also* Privacy
- Discontinuance, 3:447
- Discovery of facts, 3:447–449
- admissions, 1:119–120
- adversary system, 1:138
- civil procedure, 2:392
- fishing expedition, 4:427
- interrogatories, 5:463
- litigation, 6:340
- preclusion orders, 8:58
- pretrial conferences, 8:77
- work product rule, 10:417–418
- See also* Facts
- Discovery rule, 8:258–259
- Discretion in decision making, 3:449–452
- abuse of, 1:41–42
- administrative discretion, 1:104–105
- deportation cases, 1:226–227

- judicial discretion, 3:450, 8:37, 9:106–107
- Discretion in regulations, 8:273
- Discretionary function exception to government liability, 4:357–358
- Discretionary trusts, 3:452, 10:118–119
- Discrimination, age, 1:160–166, 3:453
- Age Discrimination in Employment Act (1967), 1:160–165, 161, 3:453, 9:101, 256–257
- bright line rules, 2:123
- elder law, 4:84, 86–87
- Discrimination, disability, 3:434–440, 453, 4:132, 185
- Discrimination, employment
- Civil Rights Act (1964), 5:205
- Civil Rights Act (1964) (document), 12:362–383
- employment law, 4:132
- Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, 4:184–186, 7:268
- Equal Pay Act (1963), 4:185, 186–188
- federal employees, 4:184–185
- genetic screening, 5:66
- National Mediation Program, EEOC, 4:186
- seniority, 9:102–103
- wrongful discharge, 10:436
- Discrimination, racial and ethnic, 8:211–213
- affirmative action, 1:152
- aliens, 1:224
- apportionment, 10:252–253
- armed services, 3:246–247, 5:200
- Black Codes, 2:43
- Burton, Harold Hitz, 2:179
- Butler, Pierce, 2:199–200
- capital punishment, 2:240–241, 3:294, 5:19
- child custody, 2:353
- citizenship, 3:316, 337, 7:89
- Civil Rights Act (1964) (document), 12:362–383
- Civil Rights* cases (1875), 9:375
- Civil Rights* cases (1883), 2:97, 401–402, 5:189, 7:71
- Civil Rights* cases (1883) (document), 12:311–336
- civil rights issues, 5:301, 9:314–315
- Civil Rights Movement, 1:448, 498–500
- classifications, 4:192–193
- Clifford, Nathan, 2:445–446
- colleges and universities, 2:499–501
- defense industries, 8:228–229
- disparities in punishment, 8:187
- employment law, 4:132
- environmental justice, 4:181–182
- Fair Housing Act (1968), 4:302–304
- family law, 2:73
- Garvey, Marcus Moziah, 9:3–4
- gerrymandering, 5:72–74
- grandfather clauses, 5:127–128
- housing, 3:256, 5:136, 7:69–70, 8:213, 9:24–25, 10:200
- “I Have a Dream” speech (King) (document), 12:359–361
- incarceration, 5:359
- labor unions, 2:454
- law school admissions, 6:237
- League of United Latin American Citizens, 6:222
- NAACP, 7:155–156
- NAACP Legal Defense and Education Fund, 7:158–159
- peremptory challenges, 4:192, 6:80–82, 7:426, 8:49
- Plessy v. Ferguson* (1896) (document), 12:337–349
- porters, 1:35
- professors, 1:47
- public accommodations, 3:6, 7:256, 464–465
- Roosevelt, Anna Eleanor, 8:392
- sentencing disparities, 10:181–182
- Southern Poverty Law Center, work of, 9:253–255
- steering, 9:338
- Truman, Harry S., 10:115
- United Steelworkers v. Weber* (1979), 10:165–166
- university housing, 5:249
- voting procedures, 3:23–24, 5:196, 313–314, 7:368, 9:356
- Voting Rights Act (1965), 10:254–255
- Voting Rights Act (1965) (document), 12:385–391
- Voting Rights Act Address (Johnson) (document), 12:482–483
- war on drugs, 4:30–31
- Warren, Earl, 10:295–296
- Warren Court rulings, 10:292–293
- Wells-Barnett, Ida Bell, 10:340–341
- white primaries, 10:343, 362
- Wisdom, John Minor, 10:401
- Wright, James Skelly, 10:428
- Yick Wo v. Hopkins* (1886), 6:465–466, 10:447–448
- zero tolerance policies, 10:455
- See also* Japanese American evacuation; Racial profiling; Segregation
- Discrimination, sex, 9:132–138
- Augusta National Golf Club, 2:461
- Bradwell v. Illinois* (1872), 2:98, 99
- child custody, 2:352–353
- colleges and universities, 2:501–503
- comparable worth, 3:49–52
- credit, 3:144–145
- Declaration of Sentiments and Resolutions* (Seneca Falls Convention), 9:99
- disparate impact, 3:459–461
- employment law, 3:453, 4:132
- Equal Pay Act (1963), 4:185, 186–188
- equal protection, 4:194, 197
- equal rights approach to correction, 4:375
- fetal protection policies, 4:388–389
- Frontiero v. Richardson* (1973), 5:7–9, 96
- health insurance, 5:482
- Jaycees, 2:460
- law school admissions, 6:237
- military draft, 8:408–409
- military schools, 5:96
- peremptory challenges, 7:426
- pornography as, 6:383–384, 8:33–35
- prostitution, 8:156–158
- Roberts v. United States Jaycees* (1984), 8:371–372
- Rotary Clubs, 2:460
- sexual harassment as, 4:73–74
- Sexual Politics* (Millett), 7:74–75
- sports law, 9:286–287
- U.S. Information Agency, 10:178
- Virginia Military Institute, 2:501–502, 10:238–240
- See also* Women’s rights
- Discrimination and stereotypes, 3:452–454, 453
- AIDS patients, 1:70, 71–72, 5:231–232
- blacklists, 2:55–56
- gays and lesbians, 5:46–54
- housing, 5:299

- interstate commerce
 - regulation, 3:6
- Jews, 1:294–295
- medical treatment, 5:224
- police misconduct, 8:6–7
- selective prosecution, 9:88
- smokers, 9:409
- sterilization, 9:340
- suspect classification, 9:416
- Diseases
 - AIDS, 1:66–76, 9:145–146
 - Center for Disease Control and Prevention, 8:170–171
 - genetic, 5:66, 413
 - immunization programs, 5:333–336, 335
 - occupational diseases, 7:300
- Disfranchisement, 3:453–455, 454, 10:249–251
- Dishonor, 3:455
- Disinherit, 3:455, 8:76
- Disinterested, 3:455
- Disinterment, 3:228–231
- Dismissals, 3:455–457
 - jeopardy, 4:4
 - lawsuits, 8:62
 - motions, 7:129, 129
 - without prejudice, 6:44
- Disney Corp., 5:142–143, 9:246–248
- Disorderly conduct, 3:457–458
 - common scolds, 3:36
 - curfew, 3:314
 - defendants in court, 3:86
 - public safety, 3:271
 - See also* Disturbance or breach of the peace
- Disorderly houses, 3:458
- Disparagement, 3:458–459
- Disparate impact, 1:162–163, 164, 3:459–461
- Displaced Persons Act (1948), 8:268
- Disposable earnings, 3:461
- Disposal and destruction, 1:427–428
- Disposition, 3:461
- Dispositive facts, 3:461
- Dispossession, 3:461
- Disputes, 3:461–462
- Disqualify, 3:462
- Dissenters, political trials, 8:16
- Dissents, 3:462–463, 10:300
- Dissociation of partnership, 7:382
- Dissolution, 3:463, 7:382
 - corporations, 10:395
 - limited liability companies, 6:320
 - marriage, 4:162
 - partnerships, 10:395
- Dissolve, 3:463
- Distinguish, 3:463
- Distrain, 3:463
- Distress, 3:463–464
- Distributees, 3:464
- Distributions
 - limited liability companies, 6:319
 - marital assets, 4:316
- Distributors, 3:464
- District and prosecuting attorneys, 1:395–396, 3:464–465
- District courts, 3:465
 - alternative dispute resolution, 1:241
 - created by Congress, 3:131
 - structure, 3:241
- District Home Rule Act (1973), 3:467
- District of Columbia, 3:465–468, 466
 - board of commissioners of the federal city, 6:27
 - Bright Futures or Broken Dreams: The Status of the Children of the District of Columbia and an Investment Agenda for the 1990s*, 2:367
 - Compromise of 1850, 3:60
 - courts, 4:341
 - Department of Corrections, 2:155
 - Dixon, Julian, 3:484
 - Georgetown neighborhood, 7:384
 - Gilbert, Cass, architecture, 5:85–86
 - Hubert H. Humphrey Building, 1:280
 - Jackson, Jesse Louis, Sr., 5:492
 - Kelly, Sharon Pratt Dixon, 6:113–115
 - Norton, Eleanor Holmes, 7:269–270
 - preventive detention, 8:79
 - Tamm, Edward Allen, 9:434
 - Twenty-third Amendment, 10:135–136
 - See also* March on Washington (1963)
- Districts, 3:464
- Disturbance of public meetings, 3:468
- Disturbance or breach of the peace, 2:107, 3:457, 468–469
- Divers, 3:469
- Diversions, 3:469
- Diversity among judges, 2:10–11, 38
- Diversity of citizenship, 3:469–470
 - Friendly, Henry Jacob, 5:4–5
 - jurisdiction, 2:383, 384, 4:339, 6:72–73
- Divest, 3:470
- Dividends, 2:205, 3:470
 - backup withholding, 10:403–404
 - preferred stock, 8:61–62
 - shareholders, 3:221–222
 - stock dividends, 9:351
- Divine natural law, 7:205–207
- Divine right of kings, 3:470, 7:206
- Divisible contracts, 3:179
- Divorce, 3:470–481, 474–478
 - adopted children, 1:125
 - adultery, 1:134–135
 - alimony, 1:227–230
 - annulment, 1:283–284
 - child custody, 2:351–352
 - child support, 2:360
 - collusion, 2:508
 - common-law marriage, 3:33–34
 - community property, 3:48
 - comparative rectitude, 3:53
 - connivance, 3:100–101
 - contingent fees, 3:160
 - covenant marriages, 3:257–258, 6:436
 - cruelty, 3:308
 - curtesy, 3:315–316
 - defamation, 3:379–380
 - descent and distribution, 3:416
 - desertion, 3:418–419
 - diplomatic immunity, 3:432
 - distribution of marital assets, 4:316
 - dower, 4:16
 - electronic surveillance, 4:108
 - equitable distribution, 4:201
 - interlocutory orders, 5:436
 - irreconcilable differences, 5:484
 - irretrievable breakdown of marriage, 5:485
 - legal history, 4:316
 - legislative attempts to curb, 6:436–437
 - maintenance, 6:399–400
 - mensa et thoro*, 7:39
 - mental cruelty, 7:39
 - no fault, 4:316, 7:257
 - paternity issues, 7:398
 - polygamy, 8:27
 - postmarital agreements, 8:43
 - premarital agreements, 8:65–67, 66

- property settlements, 8:150–152
 reconciliation, 8:253
 recrimination, 8:259
 residency requirements, 8:333
 revival of an action, 8:345
 visitation rights, 10:241–242
Divorce Court (television program), 2:216–217
 Dix, Dorothea Lynde, 3:481, 481–483
 Dixiecrat Party. See States' Rights Party
 Dixon, Julian Carey, 3:483–484
 DNA
 evidence, 3:485–489, 4:411, 8:102–103, 235, 9:144–145, 163–164
 research, 7:390–391
 Do-Not-Call registries, 3:147, 151, 8:99
 Dock, 3:489
 Dockets, 3:489, 490–496, 5:271–272
 Doctor of Juridical Science, 6:41
 Doctrine of equality of states, 3:489, 497
 Doctrines, 3:489
 Document Section, FBI, 4:454
 Documentary evidence, 1:64, 3:497
 Documentation
 administrative bodies, 8:164 automobile accidents, 1:417
 bank statements, 1:480
 causa mortis gifts, 5:81
 Congressional Record, 3:97
 constructive trusts, 3:140
 contracts, 3:167, 175, 181
 copyright, 3:195–196, 5:426
 corpus juris, 3:231
 court administrators, 3:243–244
 covenant, action of, 3:256
 current accounts, 3:315
 customs declarations, 3:326–327
 death certificates, 3:357
 Decennial Digest®, 3:367
 deeds, 3:372–373
 digests, 3:427
 dockets, 3:489, 490–496
 dombec, 3:502
 Domesday Book, 3:502–503, 4:152–153
 English constitution, 3:116
 General Accounting Office, 5:58
 Gideon v. Wainwright (1963), 5:78
 Government Printing Office, 5:120–121
 grand juries, 5:124
 grantors-grantee index, 5:131
 hornbooks, 5:292
 Human Rights Watch, 5:308
 land titles, 8:255–257
 limited liability companies, 6:319
 litigation, 6:340
 matters of record, 6:464 medical consent forms, 7:404
 ninety-day letters, 7:247
 Official Opinions of the Attorney General, 10:399 opinions of attorney general, 1:396 paper collateral, 9:65
 Patent and Trademark Office, 7:387
 Reporters (court opinions), 3:248, 251
 statement of affairs, 9:324
 subpoena duces tecum, 9:384
 Supreme Court, 3:261–262
 Tractus de legibus et consuetudinibus regni Angliae (Glanvill), 5:98–99
 visas, 10:241
 wills, 8:120–121
 Documents, 3:497
 allonges, 1:233
 alteration of instruments, 1:236–237
 alterations, 1:236
 amendments, 1:244
 ancient writing, 1:274
 annotations, 1:281
 articles, 1:359
 attestation, 1:391
 authentication, 1:409
 backdating, 1:433
 certificates, 2:306–307
 commercial paper, 3:16, 17, 22
 computer-assisted legal research, 3:61, 62
 conformed copies, 3:85
 consensual alterations, 3:103
 construction, 3:137
 coupons, 3:239
 court hand, 3:244
 destroy, 3:419
 endorse, 4:141
 endorsement, 4:141
 escrow agreements, 4:209, 210, 211
 exemplification, 4:281
 four corners, 4:467
 glosses, 5:103
 headnotes, 5:218–219
 ibid. and idem, 5:323 incorporation by reference, 5:370–371
 ingrossing, 5:398
 instruments, 5:411
 interlineation, 5:435
 interpolation, 5:462
 interpretation, 5:462
 loopholes, 6:370–371
 lost instruments, 6:372 memorandum, 7:38
 mittimus, 7:96
 motions, 7:128
 mutilation, 7:150
 notaries public, 7:270–271
 papers, 7:354
 process servers, 8:126
 prospectus, 8:155
 protest, 8:160
 protocol, 8:160
 proviso, 8:160
 purchase orders, 8:191
 ratification, 2:232
 recording of land titles, 8:255–257
 reformation, 8:266
 register, 8:270
 registration, 8:271 registration of land titles, 8:271–272
 reports, 8:306–307
 riders, 8:353
 seals, 9:38
 self-incriminating, 8:111
 service, 7:436, 8:343, 9:118–120
 tobacco industry, 10:42, 47, 50–51 trust deeds, 10:121
 trust receipts, 10:121
 See also Signatures
 Documents of title, 3:497
 Dodge, Earl F., 8:142
 Doe, Charles, 3:497–498
 Doenitz, Karl, 7:290–291
 Doing business, 3:498–499
 Dole, Robert Joseph, 3:499–501, 500, 8:11
 Dole, Sanford Ballard, 3:501–502, 502
 Dollar diplomacy, 6:153
 Dolly, cloned sheep, 5:65
 Domain, 3:502
 Domain names
 cybersquatting, 5:455 standardization, 3:13–14
 Dombec, 3:502
 Domesday Book, 3:502–503, 4:152–153
 Domestic, 3:503

- Domestic Cannabis Eradication and Suppression Program, 4:24
- “Domestic Law and International Order” (Cleaver), 2:434
- Domestic partners, 3:503
- common-law marriage distinction, 3:34
 - Defense of Marriage Act (1996), 3:388
 - gay and lesbian rights, 5:48, 52, 53
 - ordinances, 2:476
 - registration, 4:319
 - Vermont, 5:322
- Domestic policy
- Truman, Harry S., 10:115
 - Wilson, Thomas Woodrow, 10:394
- Domestic violence, 3:504–506, 505
- asylum seekers, 1:384
 - feminist jurisprudence, 4:376
 - gun control cases, 5:165
 - husbands and wives, 5:321
 - sex offenses, 9:139
 - Simpson, Nicole Brown, 5:235
 - stalking, 9:295
 - Violence Against Women Act (1994), 10:233
 - women’s rights, 10:412–413
- Domiciles, 8:331
- Domiciliary administration, 3:506
- Dominant, 3:506
- Dominant cause, 3:506
- Dominion, 3:506
- Donaldson, Kenneth, 3:25
- Donaldson, William, 9:79
- Donations. See Gifts and donations; Organ donation law
- Donative, 3:506
- Donees, 3:507
- Donors, 3:507
- Don’t Ask, Don’t Tell military policy, 1:336–338, 2:450, 5:47, 7:58
- Doom, 3:507
- Dormant, 3:507
- Dormitories, college, 5:249
- Dorr’s Rebellion (1842), 2:444, 3:507–508
- Dotto* (quiz show), 3:108
- Double criminality, doctrine of, 4:293
- Double entry, 2:80, 4:1
- Double indemnity, 1:53–54, 4:1
- Double insurance, 4:1
- Double Jeopardy Clause, 4:1–7
- Anti-Car theft Act (1992), 2:248
 - applicability, 4:2–3
 - Cardozo, Benjamin Nathan, 2:246
 - criminal procedure, 3:288
 - drug offenses, 4:31–32
 - establishment of, 4:2
 - kidnapping, 6:138
 - life or limb, 6:316
 - mistrials, 7:92
 - same evidence test, 8:452
 - sex offenders, 2:118
 - See also* Fifth Amendment
- Double taxation agreements, 4:7
- Doubt, 4:7–8
- See also* Beyond a reasonable doubt
- Douglas, Alfred, 10:374–375
- Douglas, Helen Gahagan, 7:251
- Douglas, Stephen Arnold, 4:8, 8–9, 6:104
- Douglas, William Orville, 4:9–13, 10
- Adler v. Board of Education of City of New York*, 1:45
 - dissents, 3:462
 - Furman v. Georgia* (1972), 5:19
 - Griswold v. Connecticut* (1965), 7:248–249, 8:311
 - kangaroo court, 6:103
 - New York Times Co. v. United States* (1971), 7:240
 - penumbra doctrine, 7:422–423
 - Rochin v. California* (1952), 8:379
 - Rosenberg, Julius and Ethel, stay of execution for, 8:404
- Douglass, Frederick, 4:13, 13–15, 9:99
- Dow Corning Corp., 1:469, 10:58–59
- Dower, 4:15–16
- endowment, 4:142
 - wills, 10:381
- Down payments, 4:16
- Draconian laws, 4:16
- Draft, military. See Selective Service System
- Draft Riots (1863), 3:102
- Drafters, 4:17
- Drafts, financial, 4:16–17, 17
- bills of exchange, 2:29
 - commercial paper, 3:16
 - liability, 3:19–20
- Drainage district, 4:18
- Drains, 4:17–18
- Dramshop acts, 1:204–205, 426, 4:18–19
- Draw, 4:19
- Drawees, 4:19
- Drawers, 4:19
- Dreamworks SKG, 1:264–265
- Drexel Burnham Lambert, 1:324, 8:20–22
- Drinking. See Alcohol; Intoxication
- Drivers’ licenses
- graduated licensing, 1:425
 - illegal aliens, 1:215
 - penalty for DWI, 5:344–345
 - privacy issues, 8:107
- Driver’s Privacy Protection Act (1994), 8:107
- Driving laws
- accompaniment of unlicensed drivers, 1:56
 - guest statutes, 5:162
- Driving while intoxicated. See DWI (Driving while intoxicated)
- Droit*, 4:21
- Drone, Eaton S., 6:337
- Drug courts, 4:22–23
- Drug czar. See Office of National Drug Control Policy
- Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA), 4:24–25
- drug policy, 4:32
 - Oregon’s Death With Dignity law, 4:240–241
- Drug-Free Schools and Campuses Act (1989), 5:353, 10:455
- Drug Policy Alliance, 4:31
- Drug testing
- employment issues, 1:328
- Federal Aviation Administration, 4:325
- pregnant women, 4:389
 - search and seizure, 3:283, 9:41
 - students, 1:454, 5:353, 9:28
- Druggists, 4:26–27
- Drugs and narcotics, 4:27–34
- addicts, 1:90–91, 91
 - Anti-Drug Abuse Act (1996), 3:270
 - contraband, 1:413–414, 415–416
 - court congestion, 3:78
 - criminal drug addiction, 8:376–377
 - cross-border drug flow, 2:230
 - cruel and unusual punishment, 3:307
 - determinate sentences, 3:421, 423, 5:316, 9:104, 106
 - drug courts, 4:22–23

- Drug Enforcement
 - Administration, 4:24–25
 - electronic surveillance, 4:106–107
 - employee testing, 8:105
 - federal sentencing guidelines, 10:328
 - forfeiture, 4:456–457
 - intoxication, 5:471–472
 - knock-and-announce requirements, 4:475
 - laws, 4:28–31
 - marijuana, 3:165
 - Narcotics Acts, 7:164–165
 - National Organization for the Reform of Marijuana Laws, 7:185
 - Office of National Drug Control Policy, 7:307–308
 - organized crime, 7:332
 - possession, 8:42, 186–187
 - pregnant women, use by, 4:387, 387–388
 - punishment, 4:29–31, 8:186–187
 - school policies, 5:353, 9:28
 - search and seizure, 5:10–11, 294, 9:43
 - shock-the-conscience test, 9:180
 - smuggling, 9:221, 221
 - State Department policies, 9:319
 - state's evidence, 9:324
 - stop and frisk cases, 9:359
 - student athletes, 9:285
 - students and searches, 4:69
 - Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration, 9:387–388
 - tobacco, 10:47–48
 - trafficking, 4:24–25, 7:50–51, 101
 - treatment over incarceration, 5:358
 - use statistics, 4:27–28
 - war on drugs, 4:30–32
 - zero tolerance, 10:455
 - See also* Medications
- Drugstores, 4:27
- Drunkards, 4:34
- Drunkenness, 4:34
- Du Bois, William Edward Burghardt, 4:34–36, 5:421
- Dual nationality, 4:36–37
- Dual sovereignty
 - double jeopardy, 4:6
 - federalism, 4:366
 - Puerto Rico and the United States, 8:181
- Duces tecum*, 4:37
- Due, 4:37
- Due care, 4:37
- Due consideration, 4:37
- Due date, 4:37
- Due notice, 4:37
- Due process, 4:37–41
 - audi alteram partem, 1:406
 - child protection, 5:394
 - condemnation proceedings, 4:125
 - contempt, 3:155
 - corporations, 3:499
 - counsel, right to, 8:52
 - English roots, 4:156
 - ex parte judicial proceedings, 4:258
 - fair hearing, 4:302
 - fair warning defense, 3:278–279
 - Hurtado v. California* (1884), 6:465
 - juvenile justice, 6:98–99
 - loyalty oaths, 6:377
 - Magna Charta, 6:393–394
 - Mathews v. Eldridge* test, 6:462–463
 - natural law, 7:207, 209
 - notice, 7:272
 - original intent, 9:11
 - perjured evidence, 8:23
 - procedural vs. substantive, 4:402
 - sex offender registration, 9:141
 - substantive due process, 9:388–392
 - unenumerated rights, 10:148
 - yellow dog contracts, 10:446–447
- Due Process Clauses
 - abortion cases, 1:16–17
 - administrative law and procedure, 1:106–107
 - aliens, 2:383
 - assisted suicide law, 7:407–408
 - Black, Hugo, 2:45
 - cameras in court, 2:215
 - Cardozo, Benjamin Nathan, 2:246
 - class action, 2:424
 - clemency process, 2:436
 - confessions, 3:80
 - corporal punishment, 3:210
 - county taxes, 3:100
 - criminal procedure, 3:281–282
 - Don't Ask, Don't Tell, Don't Pursue policy, 1:338
 - Dred Scott v. Sandford* (1857), 4:21
 - forfeiture, 4:458–459
 - gay and lesbian rights, 5:46
 - gender discrimination, 5:8
 - grand juries, 5:318
 - incorporation doctrine, 5:371–372, 8:377
 - In re Winship* (1970), 10:395–397
 - institutionalization of minor children, 2:369
 - Jeffries, Leonard, 1:47
 - Lawrence v. Texas* (2003), 6:218
 - liberty of contract, 5:275
 - lineups, 6:331–332
 - Lochner* era, 6:359–3:362
 - Powell v. Alabama* (1932), 8:52
 - procedural protections, 3:135
 - rights of Pullman porters, 1:35
 - Rochin v. California* (1952), 8:378–379
 - Slaughter-House Cases* (1873), 2:98
 - sports law, 9:285
 - state vs. federal jurisdiction, 1:494, 3:135, 9:179–180
 - sterilization, forced, 2:159
 - taxation, 2:198
 - void for vagueness doctrine, 10:244–245
 - Washington v. Glucksberg* (1997), 10:302–303
 - West Coast Hotel Co. v. Parrish* (1937), 10:344
 - See also* Fifth Amendment; Fourteenth Amendment
- Dueling, 4:41–43
 - Catron's denouncement of, 2:274
 - Clay, Henry, 2:427, 428
- Dues, union, 2:335
- DUI. See DWI (Driving while intoxicated)
- Dulles, John Foster, 4:43–44, 44
- Dummar, Melvin, 10:377
- Dummies, 4:44–45
- Dumps. See Landfills and dumps
- Durable powers of attorney, 8:54
 - cohabitation, 2:475
 - elder law, 4:85
- Durational residency, 8:331
- Duress, 4:45
 - cancellation of an instrument, 2:231
 - coercion, 2:472
 - contracts, 3:176
 - exculpatory defense, 3:279–280
 - involuntary criminal acts as distinct from products of, 10:249 liability in commercial paper, 3:21–22

 rescission, 8:328
 undue influence distinction, 10:144
Durham rule, 4:45–46
 Durkheim, Emile, 3:291–292
 Duties-and-orders military offenses, 10:155
 Duty, 4:46
 citizens, 2:385–386
 criminally negligent manslaughter, 6:423
 masters and servants, 6:461
 police officers, 8:4
 prosecutors, 8:153
 Duty of tonnage, 4:46
 Duvall, Gabriel, 4:46–47, 47
 DWI (Driving while intoxicated), 4:47–49
 accidents, 1:425–426
 alcohol-related traffic fatalities, 4:18
 Bailey, F. Lee, 1:443–444
 capital punishment, 2:240
 criminal negligence, 3:281 implied consent to testing, 5:344 legislation, 1:205–206
 liability issues, 1:205
 Mothers Against Drunk Drivers, 7:127–128
 punishment, 8:186, 187
 state laws, 3:271
 Dworkin, Andrea, 4:48–51, 8:33–35
 Dworkin, Ronald Myles, 4:51–52
 Dyer Act (1919), 4:53
 Dying declarations, 3:367–368, 4:53, 252
 Dylan, Bob, 4:165

E

E-mail, 4:114–115
 legal advertising, 6:231 legal protections, 5:451–452, 9:451 political, 10:37
 spam, 3:147
 surveillance, 4:108, 10:397–398
 viruses and worms, 3:65
 Earl Warren Legal Training Program, 4:55
 Early childhood education, 2:372
 Early neutral evaluation, 1:240
 Earned income, 4:55
 Earnest money, 4:55
Earth in the Balance: Ecology and the Human Spirit (Gore), 5:117
 Easements, 4:55–56
 covenants running with the, 3:254
 encroachment, 4:135
 land-use control, 6:185
 party walls, 7:384–385
 prescription, 8:68
 profit a prendre distinction, 8:138 real property, 8:149
 right of way, 8:357–358
 servitude, 9:121
 Eastern Airlines, 1:191
 Eastern Europe, Yalta Agreement (1945), 10:445–446
 Eastern Penitentiary System, 8:87
 Eastman, Crystal, 4:56–58
 Eastman Kodak Co., 1:302–303
 Eaton, Dorman Bridgman, 4:58–59, 59
 eBay Inc., 3:12
 Ecclesiastical courts, 4:59
 annulment, 1:284
 English history, 6:392
 Ecological school of criminology, 3:292
 Economic Analysis, Bureau of, 3:10
 Economic and Social Council, United Nations, 10:164
 Economic Development Administration, 3:10
 Economic Growth and Tax Relief Reconciliation Act (2001), 4:221
An Economic Interpretation of the Constitution of the United States (Beard), 2:2
 Economic poisons, 8:2
 Economic policy
 Bank of the United States, 1:464
 Bush, George Walker, 2:185
 Business Roundtable, 2:192–193
 Canada and U.S., 2:228–230
 Carter, James Earl, Jr., 2:262
 Chicago school, 2:341–342
 Clinton, William Jefferson, 2:452
 Commerce Department, 3:8
 Congressional Budget Office, 3:96
 Coolidge, Calvin, 1:300
 Democratic Republican Party, 3:396
 Federal Reserve Board, 1:475–476, 4:353–354
 First Inaugural Address (Reagan) (document), 12:484–487
 First Inaugural Address (Roosevelt, F.) (document), 12:476–478
 Ford, Gerald Rudolph, 4:448
 Hamilton, Alexander, 5:179
 Homestead Act (1862), 5:281–282
 Hoover, Herbert, 5:289
 International Monetary Fund, 5:447–448
 Jackson, Andrew, 5:488–489
 judicial review, 6:57–58
 monopolies, 7:102–104
 National Industrial Recovery Act (1933), 8:262
 Reagan, Ronald Wilson, 8:243
 Sherman, John, 9:170–171
 Van Buren, Martin, 10:195
 Economic theory
 antitrust law, 1:298
 Beccaria, Cesare Bonesano, 2:3–4
 legal realism, 6:75–76, 244
 Posner, Richard Allen, 8:38
 Robinson-Patman Act (1936), 8:374
 utilitarianism, 10:190
 Weber, Max, 10:318–319
 Economics and Statistics Administration, 3:8–10
 Economy, U.S.
 Bureau of Labor Statistics, 6:170
 1990s, 3:225–226
 stock market indicator, 9:353
 Edelman, Marian Wright, 2:366, 4:59–62, 61
 Edicts, 4:62
 Editors. See Writers and editors
 Education
 academic policy, 2:70
 America 2000: An Educational Strategy, 4:62–63 apprenticeships, 1:322–323
 awards, 2:366
 Center for Law and Education, 2:298–299
 citizenship education, 2:300–301
 Defense, Department of, 3:386
 educational attainment by race/ethnicity, 2000, 4:190 Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (1974), 8:103
 history, 4:66–67
 Holocaust information center, 1:295
 homeless persons, 5:279
 law and literature, 6:212

- League of United Latin American Citizens scholarships, 6:223
lottery funding, 9:323
A Nation at Risk (Department of Education), 4:62
National Education Association, 7:173
Native American policy, 1:481
No Child Left Behind Act (2001), 4:63
parents' authority, 7:361
police officers, 8:4
prelaw, 8:62
property tax funded, 6:444
Rousseau, Jean Jacques, 8:412
Title IX, Education Amendments (1972), 3:453 tracking system, 10:428
veterans, 10:209, 213–214
See also Colleges and universities; Continuing legal education; Law schools; Legal education
Education, Department of, 4:62–66, 64
Education law, 4:66–76
Education Service, 10:209
Educational organizations
Center for the Study of the Presidency, 2:300–301
Order of the coif, 7:323–324
Supreme Court Historical Society, 9:403–404
United Negro College Fund, 5:137
Educational outreach programs for farmers, 1:174
Graduate School, Department of Agriculture, 1:178–179
Vocational and Adult Education, Office of, 4:65
Educational Research and Improvement, Office of, 4:65
Educational television, 2:129–130
Edward I, King of England, 10:346–347
Edward II, King of England, 9:335
Edward VIII, King of England, 1:5, 5
EEOC. See Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC)
EFF. See Electronic Frontier Foundation (EFF) Effect, 4:76–77
Effective rate, 4:77
Efficient cause, 4:77
See also Proximate cause
E.G. (exempli gratia), 4:77
Ehrlichman, John D., 10:313
Eighteenth Amendment, 1:203–204, 207, 4:77–78, 8:139–141, 9:454
Eighth Amendment, 3:134, 4:78–82
capital punishment, 2:238
Excessive Bail Clause, 4:78, 8:80
Excessive Fines Clause, 4:78, 458, 459 incorporation into the Due Process Clause, 8:377 proportionality of punishment, 8:186
state laws, application to, 8:376–378
See also Cruel and unusual punishment
Eisenhower, Dwight David, 4:82–83, 83
Brennan, William Joseph, nomination of, 2:109
Brownell, Herbert, advice of, 2:148
executive privilege, 4:277
Korean War, 6:158
Eisenhower Doctrine, 4:83
Ejectment, 4:83–84
casual ejectors, 2:272
forcible entry and detainer, 4:446
John Doe, 6:15
trespass to try title, 10:102
Ejusdem generis, 2:235
El Paso, Texas, 2:316–317
El Paso Intelligence Center (EPIC), 4:25
Elder law, 4:84–87
Elected officials. See Public officials
Election, right of, 8:355–356
Election campaign financing, 4:87–92, 96–97
bribery, 2:119
Clinton pardons (2001), 7:356–357
diplomatic appointments, 3:429
Federal Election Commission, 4:344–345
judges, 6:60
laws, 8:14
lobbyists, 6:359
loopholes, 6:371
major political party fundraising (1992–1998), 4:344 political action committees, 8:11–13, 12
reform, 8:12–13
reforms, 7:3
soft money, 8:12
state regulations, 4:93–94
Election campaigns broadcast regulations, 6:457
Browne, Harry, 6:305, 306
Bryan, William Jennings, 2:152–153
Buchanan, Patrick Joseph, 2:157, 158–159
Burr, Aaron, 2:175
Bush, George Herbert Walker, 2:180–181, 183
Chisholm, Shirley Anita St. Hill, 2:373–374
Douglas, Stephen Arnold, 4:9
Helms, Jesse Alexander Jr., 5:244
Kennedy, Robert F., 6:125
laws, 8:13–14
Mondale-Ferraro, 4:383–384
Nativist campaign banner, 6:150
Election of remedies, 4:92–93, 8:295
Elections, 4:93–98
abolition issue, 1:12, 13
absentee voting, 1:30
Anthony, Susan B., votes (1872), 1:290 appointment distinction, 1:317
census data and district boundaries, 2:292
Communist Party, 3:42, 45, 46
Constitution Party, 3:124–126
Federal Election Commission, 4:344–345
independent parties, 5:381–382
judges, 2:468, 4:413–414, 6:60–61
Libertarian Party, election of 2002, 6:306
Mississippi election of 1964, 5:177
Nader, Ralph, 7:161
Natural Law Party, 7:210–211
New Party, 7:236
North Carolina election of 1990, 5:244
plurality, 7:465
political action committees, 8:11–13
presidential election of 1800, 5:180, 6:12, 10:129
presidential election of 1824, 1:84, 3:393, 4:99
presidential election of 1828, 3:393–394
presidential election of 1836, 10:352

- presidential election of 1840, 5:199
 presidential election of 1844, 8:18
 presidential election of 1848, 4:492
 presidential election of 1856, 6:151, 8:316–317
 presidential election of 1876, 4:100–101, 243, 5:211, 6:465, 8:254, 10:33–34
 presidential election of 1877, 2:446
 presidential election of 1880, 5:36–37
 presidential election of 1888, 1:204, 4:101, 5:195
 presidential election of 1896, 7:20
 presidential election of 1912, 5:194, 8:138, 9:433
 presidential election of 1920, 5:187
 presidential election of 1924, 8:139
 presidential election of 1932, 7:232–233
 presidential election of 1948, 5:310–311, 8:139, 9:328, 10:115
 presidential election of 1952, 7:251–252, 9:345
 presidential election of 1960, 7:252
 presidential election of 1964, 5:110–111, 176–177
 presidential election of 1968, 5:177, 311–312, 7:7, 252
 presidential election of 1976, 3:500, 4:449, 9:217
 presidential election of 1980, 8:243
 presidential election of 1984, 5:492
 presidential election of 1988, 3:500–501
 presidential election of 1992, 8:265
 presidential election of 1996, 3:501, 5:139–140, 7:210–211 primaries, 4:94–96, 5:200, 9:314, 356, 10:250–251, 343, 362 recalls, 8:248
 return day, 8:343
 senators, 9:128–129
 Socialist Party of America, 9:233
 Twelfth Amendment, 10:129
 Twenty-third Amendment, 10:135–136
 voter turnout, 10:253
 Voting Rights Act (1965) (document), 12:385–391
See also Presidential election of 2000; Voting Elective share, 4:98
 dower, 4:16
 wills, 10:381–382
 Electoral College, 4:98–101
 apportionment issues, 1:320
 election of 1800, 2:175
 election of 1824, 1:84
 election of 1877, 2:446
 election of 2000, 2:184, 185, 186 electoral votes by state, 4:100
 Electors, 4:98, 99
 Electricity, 4:101–104
 electric utilities revenue (1999), 4:103
 power administrations, 4:147
 Electrocuting (death penalty) cruel and unusual
 punishment, 3:306–307
 Florida, 2:240
 Electromagnetic fields, 4:104
 Electronic banking, 1:479–481
 Electronic Communications Networks (ECNs), 4:263 Electronic Communications Privacy Act (1986), 9:451
 e-mail, 4:114, 5:451–452
 wiretapping, 10:397
 Electronic copyright. See Copyright Electronic Frontier Foundation (EFF), 4:104–105
 Electronic fund transfer (EFT) systems, 1:479–480
 Electronic Signatures in Global and National Commerce Act (2000), 3:13
 Electronic surveillance, 4:105–109
 E-mail, 9:451
 Exclusionary Rule, 4:266
 FBI investigations, 5:291
 Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Court of Review, 4:452
 house arrest, 5:295, 358
 Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act (1968), 8:103–104
 pen registers, 7:414–415
 USA PATRIOT Act (2001), 10:184, 185
 See also Wiretapping
 Elementary and Secondary Education, Office of, 4:65
 Elementary and Secondary Education Act (1965), 8:286 Elements, 4:109
 riots, 8:363
 robbery, 8:367–368
 Eleventh Amendment, 4:109–112
 federalism, 3:136
 ratification, 2:62
 sovereign immunity for states, 2:376, 9:256 states and whistle-blower suits, 6:109
 University of Alabama v. Garrett (2001), 3:440
 Elgin-Marcy Reciprocity Treaty (1854), 2:228
 Elijah Muhammad, 6:403, 404
 Elitcher, Max, 8:401
 Elizabeth I, Queen of England, 1:434, 2:483, 4:300
 Ellis, George Washington, 4:112–113
 Ellis Island, 2:88–89
 Ellsberg, Daniel, 7:93–94
 Ellsworth, Oliver, 4:113, 113–114
 Emancipation, 4:115, 5:393, 7:363–364
 Emancipation Proclamation (1863), 4:115–117, 6:325
 Emancipation Proclamation (1863) (document), 12:307–308
 Embargo Act (1807), 4:117–118
 Adams, John Quincy, 1:83–84
 Essex Junto opposition, 4:215
 Jefferson, Thomas, 6:12
 War of 1812, 10:278
 Wolcott, Alexander, 10:408
 Embargoes, 4:117
 Embassies, 3:114, 10:282
 See also Ambassadors and consuls; Diplomatic agents and diplomacy
 Embezzlement, 4:118–120
 See also Larceny
 Emblems, 4:120–121
 Embracery, 4:121
 Embryos
 custody issues, 8:313–314 stem cell research, 4:390–391 Emergencies
 AIDS cases, 1:72
 debt relief during, 7:117
 Directorate of Emergency Preparedness and Response, 5:277 emergency room treatment, 5:224–225, 7:404 emergency workers, 1:53
 Federal Emergency Management Agency, 4:346–347, 346–347

- negligence, 7:223
 nuclear power plants, 7:280
 SWAT teams, 9:422
See also Disaster relief
- Emergency contraception, 2:42
 Emergency doctrine, 4:121–122
 Emergency Medical Treatment and Active Labor Act (1985), 5:224–225, 7:404
 Emergency Preparedness and Response, Directorate of, 5:277 Emigration. See Immigration and emigration
- Émile* (Rousseau), 8:412
 Eminent domain, 4:122–126
 Baltimore Colts case, 9:283
 condemnation, 3:71
 expropriation, 4:287
 just compensation, 6:86
 land-use control, 6:189
 private roads, 8:109–110
 pro tanto, 8:117–118
 property law, 8:149–9:150
 water rights, 10:310
 See also Fifth Amendment
- Emissions standards, 1:185
 automobile manufacture, 1:420–422
 Clean Air Act Amendments (1970), 1:184
- Emolument, 4:126
- Emotional suffering
 AIDS/HIV, 1:72
 news reporter, 7:129–130
 publishing law, 8:177
- Empire State Building, 6:198
- Empiricism
 Bacon, Sir Francis, 1:435
 legal realism, 6:246–247
- Employee Benefits Security Administration (EBSA), 6:169
- Employee-owned businesses, 1:191
- Employee Polygraph Protection Act (1988), 8:29
- Employee Retirement Income Security Act (1974), 4:126, 5:388
 employment law, 4:134 health care plans, 6:413
 income tax, 5:363
 pensions, 7:419–420
 preemption, 8:60–61
 vesting, 10:206
- Employers' Liability Acts, 1:382, 4:126–127
- Employment and Training Administration (ETA), 6:169
- Employment at will, 4:127–129, 132
- Employment issues
 affirmative action, 1:152, 153
 civil service, 2:408
 civilian labor force participation rates (1980–2000), 4:133
 common carriers, 2:256
 comparable worth, 3:49–52
 disparate impact, 3:459–461
 Employee Retirement Income Security Act (1974), 4:126, 134
 Employment and Training Administration, 6:169
- Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, 4:184–186
- frolic, 5:7
- immigration, 1:223
- negative covenants, 7:220
- Office of Disability Employment Policy, 6:171
- Office of the 21st Century Workforce, 6:171
- Old-Age, Survivors, and Disability Insurance, 7:310–311, 9:223–227
- options (reward benefits), 7:321
- prisoners, 8:94
- public education, 4:73
- retirement plans, 5:389
- vesting, 10:206
- Veterans' Employment and Training Service, 6:170
- women occupations, 9:136*t*
- work-at-home employees, 4:130
- work for hire, 3:193
- See also* Independent contractors; Termination, employment; Work hours; Workplace
- Employment law, 4:129–134
 acceptance of risk, 1:382
 age discrimination, 1:160–165, 4:86–87
 alcohol and drug testing, 8:105
 Americans with Disabilities Act (1990), 3:436–440
 arbitration, 1:327–328
 back pay awards, 1:433
 business closings, 2:189–190
 casual, 2:272
 child labor, 2:355–356, 3:352–353
 collective bargaining, 2:489–493
 course of employment, 3:240
 defamation, 4:133
 disabilities, 3:433–434
 divisible contracts, 3:179
 e-mail, 4:114–115, 9:451
 electronic surveillance, 4:108, 8:104
 employee lawsuits, 4:133–134, 7:79, 129–130, 9:158
 Employers' Liability Acts, 4:126–127
 employment at will, 4:127–129, 132
 Family and Medical Leave Act (1993), 4:134, 320–321
 fellow-servant rule, 4:370–372
 fetal protection policies, 4:388–389
 free agency, 4:491
 Frontiero v. Richardson (1973), 5:7–9, 96 genetic testing, 8:106
 involuntary servitude, 5:475–476
 just cause, 6:85–86
 liability of employers, 1:169, 5:223
 National Labor Relations Act (1935), 2:398
 National Mediation Program, EEOC, 4:186
 noncompete agreements, 7:259
 occupational diseases, 7:300
 patents, 7:392
 permanent disabilities, 3:332
 polygraphs, 8:29
 privacy, 8:105
 reasonable woman standard for sexual harassment, 8:247–248 reproductive hazards, 8:314
 residency requirements, 8:333
 respondeat superior, 8:334–336
 restrictive covenants, 8:341
 scope of employment, 9:35–36
 Section 1983 cases, 9:63
 seniority, 9:102–103
 sexual harassment, 8:204
 tax liability of employers, 5:364
 United Steelworkers v. Weber (1979), 10:165–166 unpaid leave for pregnancy, 5:3
 vicarious liability, 10:216
 whistleblowing, 10:355–356
 wrongful discharge, 10:436
 yellow dog contracts, 10:446–447
 See also Discrimination, employment; Workers' compensation
- Employment Standards Administration (ESA), 6:170

- En banc*, 4:134–135
- Enabling clauses, 4:135, 135
- Enabling statutes, 4:135, 136–138
- Enact, 4:135
- Encroachment, 1:95, 4:135
- Encumber, 4:135
- Encumbrances, 4:135
- Encyclopedias, legal. See Legal publishing
- End-of-Life Choices, 4:238–239
- Endangered species, 4:141*t*
- environmental law, 4:181
- fish, 4:422–423
- whaling, 10:347–348
- Endangered Species Act (1973), 4:135, 139–141
- Endorse, 4:141
- Endorsements and indorsements, 3:19, 4:141, 5:390, 390, 10:405
- Endowments, 4:141–142
- Enemies, national
- aiding the enemy acts, 1:182–183
- alien enemies, 1:212
- enemy intercourse, 10:274–275
- Enemy combatants, 4:142–143
- incarceration, 5:359–360
- presidential power to detain, 8:74
- rules of war, 8:423
- Energy, 4:143–144
- Advanced Automotive Technologies, Office of, 4:147
- Carter, James Earl, Jr., 2:262
- electricity, 4:101–104
- Energy Policy and Conservation Act (1975), 10:83
- energy task force (2002), 5:57
- federal legislation, 4:143–144
- nuclear plant operation, 7:276–277
- power administrations, 4:147
- preemption, 8:60
- See also* Enron Corp.
- Energy, Department of, 4:144–148, 145
- Energy Efficiency and Renewable Energy, Office of, 4:146
- Energy Information Administration, 4:146
- Energy Policy and Conservation Act (1975), 5:57, 10:83
- Energy Research, Office of, 4:147
- Enfeoffment. See Feoffment and enfeoffment
- Enforcement
- campaign financing laws, 4:344–345
- child support, 2:362–363, 365, 4:318–319
- Federal Communications Commission regulations, 4:335
- Federal Trade Commission, 4:359–360
- judgment debts, 6:46
- martial law, 6:446
- professional responsibility, 8:137
- rules of war, 8:426–427
- school desegregation, 2:405, 406
- zoning regulations, 10:458
- See also* Law enforcement officers
- Enforcement Act (1870), 1:195, 5:313–314
- Enfranchisement, 4:148
- Engage, 4:148
- Engagement, 4:148
- marriage, 5:239
- rings, 3:72
- Engels, Friedrich, 3:37, 9:229
- England. See Great Britain
- English, Phillip, 8:443
- English Bill of Rights, 4:157
- English law, 4:151–158
- action on the case, 1:79
- adversary system, 1:137–138
- analytical jurisprudence, 1:408–409
- anti-polygamy laws, 8:27–28
- assize, or assise, 1:376
- assumpsit, 1:378
- attainder, 1:390
- Bacon, Sir Francis, 1:433–436
- bankruptcy, 1:465
- barristers, 1:493
- battel, 1:501
- benefit of clergy, 2:16–17
- Bill of Rights, 2:33, 4:157
- Bill of Rights (document), 12:11–15
- bills of peace, 2:423
- blood feuds, 2:64–65
- Bracton, Henry de, 2:94–95
- camera, 2:214
- canon law and common law, mix of, 2:232–233
- chancellors, 2:317
- chanceries, 2:317
- church and state relations, 2:4–6
- close writs, 2:453
- Coke, Sir Edward, 2:482–485
- Commentaries on the Laws of England* (Blackstone), 2:59–61
- common law, 2:483–484, 3:30–31
- common-law courts, 3:31–32
- common-law pleading, 2:469–470, 3:35
- common pleas, 3:35–36
- compurgators, 3:60
- conservator of the peace, 3:105
- constables, 3:114
- constitutions (general), 3:116
- Constitutions of Clarendon, 2:412
- conversion, 3:186
- copyright, 3:191
- coram rege*, 3:205
- corruption of blood, 3:232
- court hand, 3:244
- courts of request, 3:254
- covenant, action of, 3:256
- curia*, 3:314
- Curia Regis*, 3:314–315
- curtesy, 3:315–316
- danelage, 3:336
- days of grace, 3:353
- debt, action of, 3:366
- Declaration of Independence, 3:368–369
- denial of assistance of an attorney, 8:358
- detinue, 3:424
- disparagement, 3:458–459
- divorce, 1:229
- doctrine of quantum meruit, 8:196
- dombec, 3:502
- Domesday Book, 3:502–503, 4:152–153
- double jeopardy, 4:2, 400
- due process, 4:38, 402, 9:388–389
- ejectment, 4:83–84
- embezzlement, 4:118
- eminent domain, 4:402–403
- employers' liability, 10:419
- equal protection, 4:197
- equity, 4:199–200
- esquire, 4:215
- fee simple subject to executory limitation, 4:217
- fellow-servant rule, 4:371
- felony-murder rule, 4:373
- feoffment and enfeoffment, 4:148, 379
- fiat*, 4:393
- forfeiture, 4:456
- forms of action, 4:461–462
- Glanvil, Ranulf, 5:98–99
- grand juries, 4:403–404, 5:122
- habeas corpus, 5:169

- Habeas Corpus Act (1679), 5:174
- harmless errors, 5:191
- Henry II of England, 5:245–246
- homosexuality, 10:374–375
- hundreds, 5:312
- impeachment, 5:336
- incarceration, 5:355
- Inns of Chancery, 5:402
- Inns of Court, 5:402
- inquests, 5:402–403
- inquisitorial system, 5:403
- insurance, 5:413
- judgment rolls, 8:387
- Judicature Acts (1873), 6:49
- judicial writs, 6:59
- juries, 6:79
- King's Bench or Queen's Bench, 6:145
- Lanfranc, 6:201–204
- larceny, 6:205–206
- Maitland, Frederic William, 6:400–401
- manors, 6:420
- Mansfield, William Murray, 6:420–421
- Mercian law, 7:40
- misprision, 7:86–87
- M'Naghten rule, 7:97
- monopolies, 7:102
- Montesquieu, Charles-Louis de
 Secondat, Baron de la Brède et de, 7:107, 108–109
- Mortmain Acts, 7:125
- natural law, 7:208–209
- negligence, 7:221
- New York Constitution of 1777, 7:237
- obscenity, 8:410
- ordeals, 7:322
- original writ, 7:336
- outlawry, 7:339
- partnerships, 7:377–383
- personal actions, 7:431
- pleading, 7:461–462
- Pollock, Frederick, 8:23–24
- posse comitatus*, 8:40
- possessory actions, 8:42
- precedent and U.S. law, 6:125–126
- precepts, 8:58
- prerogative, 8:68
- prior restraint, 4:416
- proctors, 8:127
- prorogation, 8:152
- punishment, 4:80–81, 8:183–184
- quo warranto, 8:209
- Roman law, influence of, 8:388
- rule in Shelley's Case, 8:417–418
- Rylands v. Fletcher* (1868), 8:432–433
- scire facias, 9:35
- Second Treatise on Government (document), 12:16–44
- sedition libel, 9:83
- Selden, John, 9:86–87
- Selden Society, 9:87–88
- self-incrimination, 4:401
- serjeants at law, 9:115
- Seven Bishops' Trial (1688), 9:124, 127–128
- solicitors, 9:239
- speedy trial, right of, 9:273–274
- Star Chamber, 9:307–308
- Statute De Donis, 4:217
- Statute of Frauds, 9:330
- statute of uses, 4:217, 9:333–334
- Statute of Wills, 9:335
- Statute of York, 9:335
- tender years doctrine, 9:457–458
- On Tenures* (Littleton), 6:343
- trespass, 10:98–99
- trover, 10:112–113
- usury, 10:187
- vill, 10:231
- wager of battel, 10:260
- wager of law, 10:260–261
- wapentake, 10:274
- West Saxon Lage, 10:345
- Westminster, First Statute of, 10:346–347
- Westminster, Second Statute of, 10:347
- witan, 10:402
- writs, 10:429
- writs of assistance, 7:336–337
- Year Books, 10:446
- See also* Magna Charta
- English-only laws, 4:158–161, 159*t*
- Engraving and Printing, Bureau of, 10:92
- Engross, 4:161
- Engrossed bills, 4:161
- Enhancement, 4:161
- Enjoin, 4:161–162
- See also* Injunctions
- Enjoyment, 4:162
- Enlistment, 7:57
- Enoch Arden doctrine, 3:419, 4:162–163
- Enrolled bills, 4:163
- Enron Corp.
- accounting scandal, 1:61, 5:63
- annual reports, 1:282
- corporate fraud, 3:213, 214–215, 9:75
- whistleblowing, 10:356
- Entail, 4:163
- Enter, 4:163
- Entertainment industry
- blacklists, 2:55–56
- censorship, 2:286–287
- theaters and shows, 10:16–17
- See also* Movies and movie industry; Music industry
- Entertainment law, 4:163–168
- Entice, 4:168
- Entirety, 4:169
- Entities, 4:169
- Entitlement, 4:169, 330
- Entrapment, 3:280, 4:169
- Entry, 2:170, 4:170
- Entry of judgment, 4:170
- Enumerated, 4:170
- Environmental impact
- statements, 7:174, 277
- Environmental issues
- Agency for Toxic Substances and Disease Registry, 8:170
- agricultural subsidies, 1:181, 3:28
- DNA research, 7:390–391
- global warming, 1:186, 4:175–176
- Gore, Albert Arnold, Jr., 5:117
- Green Party, 5:139
- Interior, Department of the, 5:434–435
- Sierra Club, 9:184, 301
- tobacco smoke, 10:43, 44–45, 48
- U.S.-Mexico relations, 7:50–51
- See also* Pollution; Solid wastes, hazardous substances, and toxic pollutants
- Environmental law, 4:170–182
- Center for Constitutional Rights, 2:298
- Center for Oceans Law and Policy, 2:299–300
- eminent domain, 4:403
- Endangered Species Act (1973), 4:135, 139–141
- environmental impact statements, 6:191–192
- International Joint Commission, 2:228
- land-use control, 6:190–192

- National Environmental Policy Act (1969), 1:325–326, 7:174
- North American Free Trade Agreement (1994), 7:264–265
- nuclear waste, 4:146–147
- Nuclear Waste Policy Act (1982), 8:25
- strategic lawsuits against public participation, 9:366
- water pollution statutes, 10:307–308
- See also* Pollution
- Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), 4:182–184, 5:434–435
- air pollution, 1:184–187, 422
- environmental justice, 4:182
- establishment, 4:174
- hazardous waste regulations, 4:179–180
- Resource Conservation and Recovery Act, 9:241
- secondhand smoke report, 9:409
- Environmental Restoration and Waste Management, office of, 4:146
- Environmental tobacco smoke, 9:408–409, 10:44–45, 48
- Ephriam, Mablean, 2:217
- EPIC (El Paso Intelligence Center), 4:25
- Episcopal Church, 5:48
- Equal Employment Opportunity Act (1972), 6:180
- Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC), 4:184–186
- age discrimination, 1:160–161
- Americans with Disabilities Act (1990), 3:436
- arbitration cases, 1:328
- discrimination charges filed, 3:453
- employee retaliation, 4:134
- Norton, Eleanor Holmes, 7:268
- sexual harassment guidelines, 9:150
- Equal Pay Act (1963), 4:186–188
- civil rights, 2:398
- employment law, 4:132
- Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, 4:185
- Equal proportions method, 1:320–321
- Equal Protection Clauses, 4:188–198
- affirmative action, 1:152, 155
- aliens, 1:224, 2:383
- alimony, 1:228–229
- biological fathers, 2:354
- Brown v. Board of Education of Topeka, Kansas* (1954), 2:143–145, 4:470
- Bush v. Gore* (2000), 8:320
- Cardozo, Benjamin Nathan, 2:245–246
- child custody cases, 2:352
- Civil Rights Movement, 4:188–189
- corporations, 3:100, 8:459–460
- discrimination cases, 3:135–136, 9:135–136
- Freeman v. Pitts* (1992), 2:146
- gay and lesbian rights, 5:49, 8:389–390
- illegitimacy, 5:327
- intermediate judicial scrutiny, 10:411–412
- Japanese American internment, 4:193
- Magna Charta, 6:395
- Meinhold v. United States Department of Defense* (1994), 1:333
- public colleges and universities, 2:499–500
- racial factors in law school admissions, 6:237
- rational basis test, 8:239–240
- Regents of the University of California v. Bakke* (1978), 8:269–270
- Romer v. Evans* (1996), 2:400
- same-sex marriage, 4:319
- selective prosecution, 9:88
- sports law, 9:285, 287
- state actions, 9:313–314
- sterilization, forced, 2:160
- suspect classification, 9:416
- Vacco v. Quill* (1997), 10:303–304
- Warren, Earl, 10:295
- Yick Wo v. Hopkins* (1886), 6:465–466, 10:447–448
- See also* Fourteenth Amendment
- Equal representation doctrine, 1:318
- Equal Rights Amendment (proposed), 4:198–199, 10:411
- Chisholm, Shirley Anita St. Hill, 2:373
- Eastman, Crystal, 4:58
- feminism, 4:374
- opposition to, 10:409
- Paul, Alice Stokes, 7:411
- ratification, 3:127, 9:135
- Schlafly, Phyllis Stewart, 9:14–16
- Equality of Educational Opportunity* (Coleman), 9:22
- Equipment Authorization Program, 4:335
- Equitable adoption, 1:123
- Equitable conversion, 10:202
- Equitable distribution, 5:319
- Equitable estoppel, 2:232, 4:227–228, 9:331
- Equitable redemption, 9:337
- Equitable relief, 4:200–201, 5:460–461, 9:129–130
- See also* Injunctions
- Equitable remedy, 4:199, 8:295
- Equitable servitudes, 6:185–186
- Equitable waste, 10:306
- Equity, 4:199–202
- comparable worth pay, 3:52
- courts of, 2:31, 7:120, 461–462, 8:56, 9:307
- laches, 6:181
- maxims, 6:466–468
- specific performance of contracts, 9:268–270
- Equity of redemption, 4:202
- ERA. See Equal Rights Amendment (proposed)
- Ergo*, 4:202
- Erie (PA), 7:298
- Erratum*, 4:203
- Error, writ of, 10:430
- Error in judgment rule, 6:409
- Errors, 4:203–204
- ballots, 3:455
- bank statements, 1:480
- clerical, 2:438–439
- contracts, 3:170, 175
- coram nobis*, 3:205
- credit reports, 3:143
- fatal, 4:323
- grounds for appeal, 1:306, 307
- harmless errors, 5:191–192
- lawsuits, 4:204
- legal malpractice, 6:239
- matters of law, 6:464
- nunc pro tunc*, 7:285
- plain-error rule, 7:456
- plaintiff in error, 7:456
- Ervin, Samuel James, Jr., 4:204–205, 205
- Escalator clauses, 4:205–206
- Escape, 4:206, 7:219–220
- Escheat, 4:206–208
- Escrow, 4:209–211
- Espionage Act (1917), 4:213–215
- Chaffee, Zechariah, Jr., 2:313
- Debs v. United States* (1919), 3:365, 9:231

- Masses Publishing Co. v. Patten* (1917), 5:183
- Schenck v. United States* (1919), 1:27, 2:431, 9:13–14
- Espionage and spies, 4:211–213
- Ames, Aldrich Hazen, 2:304–305, 305, 4:212
- COINTELPRO, 2:481–482
- Hanssen, Robert, 4:213, 213, 333
- Hiss, Alger, 5:261–263
- Pollard, Jonathan, 4:212
- Rosenbergs trial (1951), 8:400–405, 9:293
- Walker spy ring, 4:211–212
- World War I, 5:146
- World War II, 6:1
- Espy, Mike, 5:379
- Esq., 4:215
- Essex Junto, 4:215
- Establish, 4:215
- Establishment and Free Exercise Clauses
- American Civil Liberties Union, advocacy of, 1:250–251
- blue laws, 2:67
- clergy malpractice, 2:437–438
- competing liberty interests, 6:308
- defining religion, 8:283–286
- Engel v. Vitale* (1962), 4:149–150
- Flag Salute* cases, 1:231–232, 4:434–435, 483, 9:356
- Lee v. Weisman* (1992), 6:227–228
- legal history, 4:418–419
- Lemon* test, 6:227–228, 8:284
- Madison, James, 4:417–418
- Mormon Church, 7:119
- Native Americans, 1:454
- natural law, 7:206
- public funding of religion, 2:505–506
- release time programs, 8:281–282, 287
- religious vs. secular displays, 8:284–285
- school prayer, 1:8–10, 4:148–151, 149
- school resource sharing, 9:30
- school vouchers, 9:26–27
- Supreme Court
- interpretations, 8:283–288, 288–293
- three-pronged test, 8:284
- Wallace v. Jaffree* (1985), 10:271–272
- Warren Court rulings, 10:294
- See also Church and state; First Amendment
- Estate and gift taxes, 4:220, 220–227
- Estates, 4:216–220
- abatement, 1:3
- de bonis no administratis*, 3:353
- domiciliary administration, 3:506
- executors and administrators, 4:278–281
- friendly suits, 5:5
- gross estate, 5:152
- guardians and wards, 5:161
- letters of administration, 6:274, 275–283
- life estates, 6:316
- personal representatives, 7:435
- real property, 8:147–149
- spendthrifts, 9:277
- statute of uses, 9:334
- in tail, 9:433
- Uniform Probate Code, 10:160
- Estimated tax, 4:227
- Estoppel, 4:227–229
- cancellation of an instrument, 2:232
- equitable, 4:201, 9:331
- pais, 7:352
- Estoppel in pais. See Equitable estoppel
- Et al.*, 4:229
- Et seq.*, 4:229
- Ethics, 4:231–234
- artificial insemination, 1:364
- attorneys' conduct, 1:400, 402, 4:233–234, 6:249, 10:104–105
- bar examinations, 1:487
- canons of ethics, 2:236
- code for medical practice, 1:260
- Code of Judicial Conduct, 2:466–469
- conflict of interest, 3:84–85
- forwarding fees, 4:466
- genetic engineering, 5:63–65
- Gingrich, Newton Leroy, 5:91
- guidance of bar associations, 1:485
- judges, 6:42
- judicial administration, 6:50
- legal advertising, 6:230–233
- legal malpractice, 6:409–410
- Livingston, Henry Brockholst, 6:351
- Meese, Edwin, III, 7:34–35
- organ donation, 7:326–327, 330–331
- political action committees, 6:60
- professional responsibility, 8:133–137
- recuse, 8:259–260
- Tamm, Edward Allen, 9:435
- unethical conduct, 10:148
- See also Legal philosophy
- Ethics Committee, House of Representatives
- Dixon, Julian, 3:484
- Gingrich, Newton Leroy, 5:91
- Ethics in Government Act (1978), 4:229–231, 5:378, 379, 380
- Ethiopia, 6:221
- Ettelbrick, Paula Louise, 4:234–236
- Europe
- communism, 3:38–40
- Conference on Security and Cooperation in Europe, 1:347
- Conventional Forces in Europe Treaty (1990), 1:346, 3:184–185
- genocide, 5:69–70
- inquisitorial system, 1:138, 5:403–404
- Intermediate-Range Nuclear Forces Treaty (1987), 5:436–437
- Marshall Plan, 6:442
- Monroe Doctrine, 1:84, 7:106
- Napoleonic code, 7:162–163
- North Atlantic Treaty Organization, 7:265–267, 266
- Roman law, influence of, 8:388
- socialism, 9:229–230, 229–231
- Yalta Agreement (1945), 10:445–446
- Euthanasia, 4:236–241
- homicide, 5:284
- Kevorkian, Jack, 6:131–134
- See also Physician-assisted suicide
- Evangelical Christians, 1:11–12
- Evarts, William Maxwell, 4:242, 242–243
- Evers, Medgar Wiley, 2:406, 4:243–245, 244
- Evers-Williams, Myrlie, 4:245–247, 246
- Eviction, 4:247
- constructive, 3:138
- landlord-tenant law, 6:196
- self-help, 9:92
- unlawful detainer, 10:170

- Evidence, 4:247–257
 abuse of discretion, 1:40–41 accident reports, 7:191
 accusatory bodies, 1:64
 administrative agencies’
 investigations, 8:165–166
 admissible, 1:119, 8:246
 admissions, 1:120
 adultery cases, 1:133–134
 affidavits, 1:151
 ancient writing, 1:274
 attorney-client privilege,
 1:392–394
 best evidence, 2:23–24
 beyond a reasonable doubt,
 2:24, 165
 bills of information, 1:63
Brady evidence, 7:460
 Brief for the Defendant in Error, Muller v. Oregon
 (document), 12:518–520
 burden of going forward,
 2:165
 business record exception, 2:192
 cases in chief, 10:106–107
 certified copies, 2:309
 chain of custody, 2:315–316 character, 2:317–318 clear and convincing, 2:165, 430–431
 codification of rules of
 evidence, 2:472
 competent, 3:53
 conclusive, 3:70
 conformed copies, 3:85
 connecting up doctrine, 3:100
 coroner’s inquests, 3:209
 cumulative, 3:312
 Daubert test, 3:342–343, 487– 488 dead man’s statutes, 3:354–355
 declarations, 3:367–368
 demonstrative, 3:397–399, 399 derivative, 3:407
 direct, 3:433 documentary, 1:64, 3:497
 dying declarations, 4:53
 e-mail, 4:115
 examines, 4:261 exception to, 4:261–262
 exculpatory, 4:267
 expert testimony, 4:283–284
 extrinsic, 4:296
factum, 4:299
 Federal Rules of Evidence,
 4:355–356
 fingerprints, 4:410–411
Frye rule, 8:28–29
 gathering, 1:138–139
 grand juries, 4:356, 5:123
 habeas corpus cases, 5:173
 inadmissible, 5:354
 incompetent, 5:369
 inference, 5:395–396
 intrinsic, 5:472
 judicial notice, 6:56
 libel and slander cases, 6:298
Mapp v. Ohio (1961), 6:424
Massiah doctrine, 6:460
 matters of fact, 6:463 mitigating factors and capital
 punishment, 2:241
 modus operandi, 7:100–101
 of negligence, 7:223–224 objections, 4:250–251
 opening statements, 7:319
 opinion evidence, 7:320
 parol, 3:181, 7:369–370
 perjured, 8:23
 perpetuation of, 7:430 polygraph tests, 8:28–29 positive, 8:36
 preponderance of, 2:165, 8:67– 68 presumption, 8:74–75 pretrial disclosure, 8:77
prima facie, 8:83
 primary, 8:83
 prior convictions, 10:107
 privileged communications, 6:430–431, 8:112–113
 probable cause, 8:118–119
 probative, 1:454, 8:125
 proof, 8:144
 prosecutors, 8:153
 rape, 8:235–237, 238
 rape shield laws, 9:145, 174
 real, 8:245
 reasonable doubt, 8:246
 rebuttable presumptions, 8:248
 relevancy, 8:282
res ipsa loquitur, 8:323–326
Rochin v. California (1952),
 8:378–8379
 rule 201, 6:56
 Salem witch trials (1692),
 8:443–444
 same evidence test, 8:452 secondary, 9:56 sex offense cases, 9:144–145 shop-book rules, 9:180
 spoliation, 9:280
 summary judgment, 8:201–202
 suppression hearings, 4:472
 testimony, 10:12–13, 13
 Uniform Rules of Evidence,
 4:356
 verification, 10:205
 weight of, 10:324–325
See also Burden of proof;
 Circumstantial evidence;
 DNA; Exclusionary Rule;
 Hearsay; Scientific evidence Evolution. See Creationism and evolution
 Ex dividend, 4:257–258
Ex officio, 4:258
Ex parte, 1:389–390, 4:258–259
Ex post facto laws, 2:329, 4:259–
 261, 8:343
 Examination, 4:261
 Examiners, 4:261
 Excavation, adjoining landowners, 1:94
 Exceptions, 4:261–262
 Excessive Bail Clause. See Eighth Amendment
 Excessive damages, 3:333, 334
 BMW of North America, Inc. v.
 Gore (1996), 9:343
 product liability, 8:132
 punitive damages awards,
 8:189–191
 remittitur, 8:295
 Excessive force, 3:210–211
 Exchange of property, 4:263
 Exchange rates. See Currency and coins
 Exchanges, 4:262–263
 Excise, 4:263–264
 Excise taxes, 9:443, 10:353–355 Excited-utterance exception to hearsay rule, 4:252–253
 Exclusion, immigration, 1:218–
 219
 Exclusionary clauses, 4:264
 Exclusionary Rule, 4:264–266
 Brennan, William Joseph, Jr.,
 2:111–112
 Clark, Tom Campbell, 2:417
 criminal procedure, 3:284–286, 353
 Due Process Clause and,
 8:378–379
 exceptions, 4:475–476
 Mapp v. Ohio (1961), 6:424
 McNabb-Mallory Rule, 7:23– 24
 search and seizure, 9:42
 See also Fourth Amendment;
 Fruit of the poisonous tree
 Exclusionary zoning, 6:187
 Exclusive, 4:267
 Exclusive agency, 4:267
 Exclusive control by the defendant, 8:323–326
 Exclusive possession, 1:140
 Exclusive representation, 2:490–
 491

- Exclusive rights, 3:193–194
 Exculpate, 3:279–280, 4:267
 Excusable homicide, 5:283
 Excuse, 4:267, 6:93
 Execute, 4:267
 Executed and executory contracts, 3:168
 Execution, writ of, 10:430
 Executions, 4:267–268
 Brown, John (abolitionist), 2:138
 Casement, Sir Roger David, 2:270
 Celia, a slave, 2:282
 Chessman, Caryl, 2:337–338
 juveniles, 6:101
 McVeigh, Timothy, 10:331 medical experimentation, 6:133
 prisoners executed (1977–2001), 2:237
 Sacco and Vanzetti (1927), 8:437
 San Quentin execution chamber, 2:242
 See also Capital punishment
 Executive agreements, 8:73
 Executive Branch, 4:268–272
 administrative law and procedure, 1:107 agencies, 1:100–101
 antitrust cases, 1:299
 attorney generals, 1:396–397
 cabinet, 2:209
 congressional-executive agreements, 3:96–97
 Constitution, U.S., 3:122, 129–131, 7:334
 Defense, Department of, 3:383
 disaster relief, 3:443
 discretion, 3:449–350
 electronic surveillance, 4:107–108
 hearing examiners, 1:110
 immunity, 5:330, 331–332
 impoundment, 5:149, 348–350
 independent counsel investigations, 5:377–380 legislative branch, relationship to the, 6:265
 military base closures, 1:340
 National Security Council, 7:190
 Office of Administration, 1:98–99
 Office of Management and Budget, 7:306–307
 Office of National Drug Control Policy, 7:307–308
 pardons, 7:355–357
 political questions, 8:14–15
 power of amnesty, 1:265–266 presidential appointments, 1:107–108, 142, 5:37 presidential succession, 5:37
 Privacy Act (1974), 8:107–108
 private property, power to seize, 10:450–451
 Secret Service, 9:57–58
 seizure of steel mills, 7:82
 veto power, 6:259
 See also President of the United States
 Executive Order No. 2,877, 6:90
 Executive Order No. 6,166, 6:90
 Executive Order No. 9,066, 5:261, 6:2–4
 Executive Order No. 12,028, 1:99
 Executive Order No. 13,126, 2:356
 Executive orders, 4:272–275, 273
 Constitution, 3:130
 Federal Register, 4:352
 hierarchy of law, 6:211
 presidential power, 8:70, 72
 Executive privilege, 4:276–278
 Nixon, Richard Milhaus, 4:197
 United States v. Nixon (1974), 7:254–255, 10:313, 452
 Watergate scandal (1972–1974), 8:15, 419–420, 439–440
 Executors and administrators, 1:115, 4:278–281
 cum testamento annexo, 3:311
 letters testamentary, 6:284, 285–292
 personal representatives, 7:435
 revival of an action, 8:345
 right to retainer, 8:342
 wills, 1:98
 See also Wills and inheritance rights
 Executory, 4:281
 Exemplification, 4:281
 Exercise, 4:281
 Exhaustion of remedies, 1:111, 4:281–282
 Exhibits, 4:282, 10:107
 Exhumation. See Disinterment
 Exoneration, 4:282
 Expatriation, 2:386, 4:122, 282
 Expectancy, 4:282–283
 Experimental endangered species populations, 4:140
 Experimental Radio Service, 4:335
 Expert testimony, 4:283–284
 capital punishment cases, 1:387–388
 Daubert test, 3:342–343
 evidence, 4:249
 forensic psychologists, 4:455 forensic scientists, 4:453
 In re Baby M (1988), 1:432
 negligence cases, 7:224, 8:324
 psychiatrists, 5:407
 scientific evidence, 9:32–34
 witnesses, 10:105, 406
 Exploration, Alaska claim, 1:195
 Explosives, 4:284–286
 Anti-Terrorism and Effective Death Penalty Act (1996), 10:318
 regulation, 1:207–209
 Export Administration, Bureau of, 3:10
 Export-Import Bank of the United States, 4:286–287
 Exports. See Imports and exports
 Expository statutes, 4:287
 Express, 4:287
 conditions, 3:71–72
 contracts, 3:167
 easements, 4:56
 notice, 1:80
 trusts, 8:342, 10:116–118
 warranties, 3:150, 8:129, 446
 Express agreements. See Contracts
Expressio unius est exclusio alterius, 2:235
 Expressive associations, 2:460–461
 Expressive content, 6:337–339
 Expropriation, 4:287–289
 See also Eminent domain
 Expunge, 4:289
 Extension, 4:289
 Extenuating circumstances, 4:289
 Extinction, ademption by, 1:92
 Extinguishment, 4:289
 Extort, 4:289
 Extortion, 1:25, 4:289–291
 Extra, 4:291
 Extradition, 4:291–295
 crimes on the high seas, 6:229 hijackers, 5:255
 Extrajudicial, 4:295
 Extraordinary Challenge Committee, 2:229
 Extraordinary remedies, 4:295
 preliminary injunctions, 8:63–65
 writ of prohibition, 8:142
 Extraterritoriality, 4:295–296
 Extremis, 4:296
 Extrinsic evidence, 4:296
 Eyewitnesses, 4:296

F

- Face, 4:297
 Face value, 4:297
 Facsimile, 4:297
 Fact situation, 4:297–298
 Factions, political
 Federalist, Number 10 (document), 12:126–129
 Factors, 4:297–298
 Factory workers
 Americans with Disabilities Act (1990), 3:440 disparate impact case, 3:460
 women, 3:50
 Facts, 4:297
 material, 6:461 matters of, 6:463
 presumption, 8:75
 questions of, 8:200–201
 rebuttable presumptions, 8:248
 relevancy, 8:282
 ultimate, 10:139–140
 See also Discovery of facts
 Facts and law, 4:297
Factum, 4:299
 Facultative reinsurance, 8:277
 Failure of consideration, 4:300
 Failure of issue, 4:300
 Failure to inform, AIDS patients, 1:74
 Failure to perform, 8:329
 Failure to state a claim, 4:300–301
 Fair, Los Angeles County, 7:37
 Fair comment, 4:301
 Fair Credit Reporting Act (1970), 3:143–144, 145, 4:301–302, 8:102
 Fair Deal, 10:115
 Fair Debt Collection Practices Act (1996), 3:149–150
 Fair Employment Practices Committee (FEPC), 5:301
 Fair hearings, 4:302
 Fair Housing Act (1968), 4:302–304
 condominiums, 3:73
 discrimination, 3:452, 8:213
 landlords, 6:197
 Fair Labor Standards Act (1925), 7:77–79, 429
 Fair Labor Standards Act (1938), 2:355, 4:133, 304
 Fair market value, 4:304–305
 Fair Pay Act (2003), 3:52
 Fair-Share Refugee Act (1960), 8:268
 Fair-trade laws, 4:305
 Fair use copyright law, 5:426–427
 course packets, 3:192
 definition, 3:197–198
 literary property, 6:338–339
 trademarks, 5:428–429
 videocassette recording, 9:247–248
 Fair warning defense, 3:278–279
 Fairness doctrine, 4:305–307
 personal-attack rule, 6:458
 radio broadcasting, 2:126
 rescission, 6:457
Fairness Report (FCC), 4:306
 Fall, Albert B., 9:447–448, 448
 False advertising, 4:307–310
 consumer protection, 3:149
 unfair competition, 10:151–152
 False arrests, 4:310 liability of law enforcement, 1:353 malicious prosecution distinction, 6:406
 False Claims Act (1863), 8:202–203
 False Claims Act (1986), 8:203, 10:355–356
 False demonstration, 4:311
 False documents, 3:497
 False imprisonment, 4:311–312
 false arrest distinction, 4:310 malicious prosecution distinction, 6:406 tort, 5:350
 False-light publicity, 8:100–101
 False Memory Syndrome Foundation, 8:258
 False personation, 4:312
 False pretenses, 4:290, 312–314
 See also Fraud
 False representation, 4:312–314
 Falwell, Jerry, 7:369
 Family and Medical Leave Act (1993), 2:349, 450–451, 4:134, 320–321, 9:134–135, 10:147
 Family car doctrine, 4:314–315, 10:216
 Family corporations. See Closed corporations
 Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (1974), 8:103
 Family farms, 1:171
 bankruptcy, 1:469
 history, 1:170–172
 Family law, 4:315–320
 alimony, 1:227–230
 Ankenbrandt v. Richards (1992), 1:35–36 attorney-client sexual relations, 1:400
 Bolin, Jane Matilda, 2:72–74
 burial rights, 3:227–229
 child custody, 2:351–355
 child support determination, 2:361, 363
 Children and Families, Administration for, 5:221
 cohabitation, 2:474
 compromise and settlement, 3:59
 consanguinity, 3:101
 derivative asylum, 1:384
 descent and distribution, 3:411–418, 412
 diplomatic immunity, 3:431–432
 guardians and wards, 5:160–161
 households, 5:297
 immigration, 1:218, 222–223
 immunity, 5:332
 incest, 5:360
 Indian Child Welfare Act (1978), 5:383–384
 life insurance, 5:414
 maintenance, 6:399–400
 medical consent, 7:402 organ transplantation, 3:329
 preponderance of evidence, 8:68 records, 5:236
 special courts, 9:261
 state and federal laws, 3:272 tort liability immunity, 10:62
 tracing, 10:66
 visitation rights, 10:241–242
 women's rights, 10:410
 See also Parents; Paternity suits
 Family medical leave, 4:134, 320–322
 Family planning, 10:314–316
 Family Support Act (1988), 2:349
 Family Viewing Policy, 2:286
 Fannie Mae. See Federal National Mortgage Association (FNMA)
 Fanning, Shawn, 4:168, 5:425, 427
 Fares
 air travel, 1:189
 railroads, 5:463, 466
 Farewell Address (Washington) (document), 12:461–469
 Farm and Foreign Agricultural Service division, USDA, 1:178
 Farm bureaus, 1:252–253
 Farm Credit Administration, 4:322–323
 Farm Security and Rural Investment Act (2002), 1:181
 Farmers and farming, 1:171, 174
 agricultural law, 1:170–175

- bankruptcy, 1:469
 Commodity Credit Corporation, 3:27–28
 crops, 3:302–303, 303
 emblems, 4:120–4:121
 Farm Credit Administration, 4:322–323
 Granger Movement, 5:128
 Homestead Act (1862), 5:281, 281–282
 Hoover, Herbert, policies, 5:288 party affiliation, 8:317–318
 Shays's Rebellion (1786), 1:297, 9:160–161 stray voltage, 4:104 taxation case, 9:356
 USDA, 1:175–179
 workers' rights, 2:333–334, 10:161–162
 Farrakhan, Louis, 2:404, 7:166
 Fascism
 House Un-American Activities Committee, 3:38
 Mussolini, Benito, 7:149–150
 Fastow, Andrew, 3:215
 Fatal, 4:323
 Fatal error, 4:323
 Fatal injury, 4:323
 Fathers
 adoption rights, 1:125–127
 child support, 7:362–363
 filiation proceedings, 4:404
 filius nullius, 4:404
 heart balm acts, 5:239
 illegitimacy, 5:328
 See also Parents; Paternity
 Faulkner, Shannon, 2:501, 502
 Fault, 4:323
 Favoritism, by judges, 2:467
 Fay, Michael, 3:212
 FCC. See Federal Communications Commission (FCC)
 FDIC Improvement Act (1991), 4:343
 Feasance, 4:323
 Federal, 4:323
 Federal Advisory Council, 4:354
 Federal agencies. See Administrative agencies
 Federal Agricultural Mortgage Corporation, 4:322
 Federal Agriculture Improvement and Reform Act (1996), 1:172, 181
 Federal-Aid Highway Acts (1944, 1956), 1:417
 Federal Aid in Fish Restoration Act (1950), 4:423
Federal Appendix, 4:323
 Federal Art Project, 1:355, 356
 Federal Aviation Act (1958), 4:325
 Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), 4:324–327 accident investigations, 7:191 air traffic controller strike (1981), 1:189 air transportation regulation, 1:145 responsibilities of, 10:81–82
 safety standards, 1:191–193
 Federal Bail Reform Act (1984), 8:79
 Federal bank acts, 4:327
 Federal bar, admission to, 1:120–121
 Federal Bar Association (FBA), 4:327
 Federal Biomaterials Access Assurance Act (1998), 8:132
 Federal budget, 4:327–331, 329
 1985 budget negotiations, 5:137
 Congressional Budget Office, 3:96
 debt, 3:365
 impoundment, 5:348–350
 Office of Management and Budget, 7:306–307
 Reagan, Ronald, defense policy, 8:243–244
 Social Security, 9:224
See also Appropriations
 Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI), 1:102, 4:331–333
 Branch Davidian raid (1993), 2:101–103
 Central Intelligence Agency, cooperation with, 2:305–306
 COINTELPRO, 2:51–52, 251, 463, 480–482
 DNA evidence, 3:488, 8:102–103
 forensic science, 4:454
 founding, 2:75
 Freedom of Information Act (1966), 4:496
 Hoover, John Edgar, 5:290–291
 House Un-American Activities Committee, 3:38–39
 Jewell, Richard, investigation of, 6:302
 Ku Klux Klan, 6:161
 Mueller, Robert Swann, III, 7:136–137
 origins, 3:312
 Pine Ridge shootings (1975), 1:256–257
 rap lyrics response, 2:287
 Rosenbergs trial (1951), 8:404
 Uniform Crime Reports, 10:159–1:160
 Federal Child Abuse Prevention and Treatment Act (1974), 2:344
 Federal Cigarette Labeling and Advertising Act, 10:42, 43–46
 Federal Communications Commission (FCC), 4:333–337
 cable television, 2:127–128, 6:458–459
 establishment, 2:125
 fairness doctrine, 2:126, 4:306
 licensing, 6:455–458
 must-carry rules, 2:128, 209–210
 obscenity and radio broadcasting, 2:126
 origins, 1:102
 radio, 2:124
 regulatory functions, 6:454–459, 9:450–451, 452
 Tamm, Edward Allen, 9:434–435 telecommunications deregulation, 2:130 telephone solicitation, 8:99
 See also Broadcasting; Telecommunications
 Federal courts, 4:337–342, 338, 6:63
 Administrative Office of the United States Courts, 1:111–113
 advisory opinions, 1:143
 age discrimination cases, 1:162–163
 Antiterrorism and Death Penalty Act (1996), 8:97
 appeals, 1:305, 315
 appearances in, 1:310
 appellate advocacy, 1:311, 313
 cameras in court, 2:215, 217, 220, 6:52 chief justice's oversight responsibility, 2:343–344
 circuit courts, 1:305
 civil case scheduling, 2:394 civil court jurisdiction, 6:71–73
 civil procedure, 2:390–391
 concurrent jurisdiction, 6:69, 72
 confirmation of appointees, 1:437
 continuing professional education, 2:227
 criminal court jurisdiction, 6:73

- district courts, 3:465, 469, 4:337–338, 6:391
 District of Columbia cases, 3:468
 diversity of citizenship, 2:384, 6:72–73
 dual-sovereignty doctrine, 4:6
Erie Railroad Co. v. Tompkins (1938), 4:202–203
 exhaustion of remedies, 4:281
 Federal Courts Study Committee, 10:328–329, 330
 federal defender program, 2:226 federal question, 4:351
 fines, 4:409
 first instance, 4:420
 Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Court of Review, 4:451–453 forum, 4:466
 grand juries, 5:126
 habeas corpus review, 8:91, 96
 hierarchy, 6:63–64
 judicial administration, 6:50
 Judicial Conference of the United States, 6:51–52
 judicial notice, 6:56
 Judiciary Act (1789), 4:114, 6:64–66
 jurisdiction, 4:110–111 jury selection, 6:81
 justiciability, 6:92–93
 “Lawyers and Judges” (Toqueville) (document), 12:495–499
 letters rogatory, 6:284
 maritime liens, 6:432
 McKinley, John, 7:18–19
 Ninth Amendment, 7:249
 parties to lawsuits, 7:376
 pleading, 7:462
 political questions, 8:14–15
 powers granted by Marbury v. Madison (1803), 6:424–428
 preventive detention, 8:79
 prison conditions, 8:96–97
 prisoners’ access to, 8:94
 probation, 8:124–125 product liability lawsuits, 8:132–133
 public defenders, 1:113
 Reagan, Ronald Wilson, appointments of, 8:244 removal, 8:296
 reporters, 8:307
 right to counsel, 8:358–359
 Rules of Decision Act (1948), 8:421
 sentencing, 9:105, 105–106, 10:180–182
 Seventh Amendment, 9:129
 special appearances, 9:260
 special courts, 9:261–262
 structure, 3:241–242
Swift v. Tyson (1842), 9:423
 Temporary Emergency Court of Appeals, 9:455
 trying juveniles as adults, 6:101
 U.S. Marshals Service, 10:178–179
 venue, 10:203
 waiver of jury trials in criminal cases, 6:80
 writs of mandamus, 6:414
 Federal Courts Administration Act (1992), 4:340
 Federal Courts Improvement Act (1982), 4:338, 340
 Federal Courts Study Committee, 10:328–329, 330
 Federal credit unions, 7:171–172, 172
 Federal Declaratory Judgment Act, 1:144
 Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC), 1:474, 476, 4:342–344, 5:106
 Federal Election Campaign Act (1971), 4:87–91, 93, 344, 8:12
 Federal Election Commission (FEC), 4:344–346
 campaign election finance reform, 4:88–89
 delegate selection process, 4:96 responsibilities, 4:93
 Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA), 3:443–446, 4:346–347
 Federal employees. See Government employees
 Federal Employees Reform and Tort Compensation Act (1988), 4:358
 Federal Employers’ Liability Act (1908), 4:126–127, 372
 Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC), 4:102–103, 147
 Federal Equal Credit Opportunity Act (1974), 3:144 Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetics Act (1938)
 drug regulation, 4:28
 Food and Drug Administration, establishment of the, 4:440
 Federal funding. See Appropriations
 Federal government
 codification, 2:472
 discretionary function exception to liability, 4:357–358
 Federal Tort Claims Act (1946), 4:356–358
 Feres doctrine, 4:380–381
 financial management, 10:92
 Freedom of Information Act (1966), 4:495–498
 public lands, 8:172
 publishing, 8:174–175
 reimbursement lawsuit against the tobacco industry, 10:50
 sovereign immunity, 6:72
 terminology, 4:323
 Virginia and Kentucky Resolves, 10:236–237
 Virginia and Kentucky Resolves (document), 12:133–135
 war powers, 10:275
 welfare programs, 10:334–338
 Federal government, power of Commerce Clause, 5:182
 conservatism, 3:166, 5:110
 Constitution Party, 3:124
 Continental Congress, 3:159
 Democratic Party, 3:393
 diversity of citizenship, 3:470
 General Welfare Clause, 5:62
 Hughes, Charles Evans, 5:304
 McCulloch v. Maryland (1819), 7:10–11
 McReynolds, James Clark, 7:25
 militias, 9:49
 Peckham, Rufus Wheeler, 7:413
 penumbra, 7:421–422
 Shays’s Rebellion (1786), 9:161
 Slaughter-House Cases (1873), 7:71, 9:203
 spending power, 9:276
 See also Federalism and federalists; States’ rights
 Federal Highway Administration, 10:82–83
 Federal Home Loan Banks Systems, 1:476
 Federal Housing Financial Enterprises Safety and Soundness Act (1992), 4:351
 Federal Insurance Administration (FIA), 4:346–347
 Federal Insurance Contributions Act (1954), 4:393
 Federal Interpleader Act, 2:314
 Federal judges functions, 6:42

- Judicial Councils Reform and Judicial Conduct and Disability Act (1980), 2:469
- lifetime appointments, 6:62
- original intent, 7:334
- presidential powers of appointment, 8:72–73
- prosecution of, 6:229
- Scalia, Antonin, views of, 9:10–11
- Senate confirmation, 9:97–98
- tenure, 4:367
- Federal Judicial Center (FJC), 4:347–348
- Chief Justices, 2:344
- establishment, 2:227
- Federal Judicial Television Network, 4:348
- Federal Kidnapping Act (1932), 6:329–330
- Federal lands. See Public lands
- Federal League (baseball), 1:495
- Federal-level actions and laws
- abstention doctrine, 1:34–36
- additur, 1:92
- air pollution, 4:174–176
- amount in controversy, 1:269, 272
- anti-gang laws, 5:31
- armed forces personnel, crimes by, 1:340
- Attorney General, 1:395
- bankruptcy cases, 1:465–473
- business regulation, 8:370
- chemical manufacturing regulation, 4:179
- child support laws, 7:362
- civil rights legislation, 2:396–400
- court of claims, 3:248
- Crime Control Acts, 3:268–270
- criminal procedure, 3:281–282
- custody disputes, 4:317
- disaster relief, 3:442–446
- diversity of citizenship, 3:469–470
- Dorr's Rebellion (1842), 3:508
- double jeopardy, 3:288
- drug laws, 4:28–30, 7:165
- energy policy, 4:143–144
- environmental law, 4:174–181
- equal protection, 4:196–197
- extortion, 4:291
- fair-trade laws, 4:305
- Federal Bar Association, 4:327
- Fifth Amendment, 1:493–494
- fish and fishing, 4:421–423
- fraud, 4:488
- fugitive slaves, 8:81–82
- gun control, 5:163–164
- habeas corpus, 5:171–173
- hazardous substances, 4:178–181
- hierarchy, 6:209
- impersonation, 5:342
- intellectual property, 5:425–426
- Internal Revenue Code, 5:437
- investigations, 1:102
- kidnapping, 6:137
- land-use control, 6:190–191, 192
- legislative history, 6:262
- lobbying regulation, 6:357–359
- mail fraud, 6:396–397
- mass communications, 6:420, 454–459
- McNabb-Mallory Rule, 7:23–24
- Native Americans, 7:196–197, 198–199
- nullification policy, 2:428
- patients' rights, 7:408–409
- perjury, 7:427
- pesticide regulation, 4:179
- poisoning prevention, 8:2
- police misconduct, 8:6–7
- preemption, doctrine of, 8:58, 60–61
- privacy, 8:101–107
- privileged communications, 8:113
- product liability, 8:132–133
- receiving stolen property, 8:251
- refugee policy, 8:268–269
- reorganization plans, 8:300–303
- rescue, 8:330
- robbery, 8:369
- schools, 9:30–31
- Section 1983, 9:60–63
- sovereign immunity, 9:255
- state tobacco laws, preemption over, 10:42, 48
- taxation, 9:443
- U.S. Code, 2:472, 10:174
- water pollution, 4:176–178, 10:307–308
- witness protection program, 8:159
- Federal Maritime Commission (FMC), 4:348–349
- Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service (FMCS), 4:349–350
- Federal National Mortgage Association (FNMA), 4:350–351, 5:298
- Federal Open Market Committee, 4:354
- Federal Power Act (1920), 4:101
- Federal Power Commission. See Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC)
- Federal Probation Act (1925), 8:124
- Federal Property and Administrative Services Act (1949), 5:59
- Federal question, 4:339, 351, 6:71–72
- Federal Radio Commission (FRC). See Federal Communications Commission (FCC)
- Federal Railroad Administration, 10:83
- Federal Railroad Safety Act (1970), 8:224
- Federal Register*, 4:351–352
- Code of Federal Regulations, 2:465–466
- executive orders, 4:275
- publishing administrative rules, 1:109
- rules, 8:416
- Statutes at Large*, 9:336
- Federal Register Act (1935), 4:352
- Federal Reporter*®, 4:352–353
- Federal Reserve Act (1913), 5:100
- Federal Reserve Board, 1:475, 4:353–355, 5:100
- Federal Response Plan, 4:346
- Federal Rules Decision*®, 4:355
- Federal Rules Enabling Act (1934), 2:391
- Federal Rules of Appellate Procedure, 2:390–391
- Federal Rules of Civil Procedure
- advisory juries, 1:143
- appearances, 1:310
- class actions, 2:423–424
- complaints, 3:54
- equity, 4:200
- failure to state a claim, 4:300
- joinder, 6:29
- judgment notwithstanding the verdict, 6:48
- judgments, 6:44, 45
- preclusion orders, 8:58
- return of service, 8:343
- sanctions, 8:454
- Section 1983 cases, 9:63
- summary judgments, 6:45
- ultimate fact requirement elimination, 10:140
- See also* Civil procedure
- Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure
- arraignment, 1:348–349

- preliminary hearings, 8:63
- See also* Criminal procedure
- Federal Rules of Evidence, 4:247, 355–356
 - best-evidence rule, 4:253–254
 - expert testimony, 4:249
 - eyewitnesses, 4:296
 - hearsay, 4:252
 - judicial notice, 6:56
 - presumption, 8:75
 - prior inconsistent statements, 8:85
 - scientific evidence, 8:29, 9:32
 - secondary evidence, 9:56
 - witnesses, 4:248
- Federal Sentencing Guidelines, 9:104–106, 107
- Federal Supplement*®, 4:356
- Federal Supply Service (FSS), 5:59
- Federal Technology Service (FTS), 5:59–61
- Federal Tort Claims Act (1946), 4:356–358
- Federal Tort Claims Act (1988), 10:1–2
- Federal Trade Commission Act (1914), 4:358
 - creation of FTC, 1:300
 - mergers and acquisitions, 7:46
- Federal Trade Commission (FTC), 4:358–360
 - antitrust law, 1:297–298, 300, 7:103
 - consumer protection, 3:148–151
 - credit reports, 3:144
 - franchisor disclosure, 4:478–479
 - Humphrey's Executor v. United States* (1935), 1:101
 - identity theft, 5:325
 - tobacco labeling and advertising, 10:43–46
- Federal Transit Administration, 10:83–84
- Federal Unemployment Compensation Act (1939), 4:360–361
- Federal Unemployment Tax Act (1935), 10:145
- Federal Unemployment Tax Act (1988), 4:360
- Federal Water Pollution Control Act (1948), 10:307
- Federal Witness Security Program (1970), 8:159
- Federal workplaces and institutions
 - age discrimination, 1:164
 - disabilities, 3:434–435
 - employees with AIDS, 1:71
 - genetic screening, 5:66
- Merit Systems Protection Board, 7:48–49
 - political activities of employees, 5:201–202
- Federalism and federalists, 4:361–366
 - Articles of Confederation, 1:359
 - Charles River Bridge v. Warren Bridge* (1837), 2:321
 - Chase, Samuel, 2:328
 - crime laws, 3:270, 276–277
 - Democratic Republican Party, 3:396–397
 - Driver's Privacy Protection Act (1994), 8:107
 - Eleventh Amendment, 3:136, 4:109
 - Ellsworth, Oliver, 4:113–114
 - Farewell Address (Washington) (document), 12:461–469
 - federal judicial power, 9:361
 - Hamilton, Alexander, 5:178–180
 - Harlan, John Marshall, II, 5:191
 - Hobbes, Thomas, philosophy, 5:267
 - interstate commerce, 5:17, 6:183
 - judiciary, 6:62
 - Judiciary Act (1789), 6:64–65
 - Kentucky Resolutions, 6:129
 - Livingston, Henry Brockholst, 6:349
 - Livingston, Robert R., 6:352
 - Marbury v. Madison* (1803), 6:425–426
 - Marshall, John, 6:439–440
 - midnight judges, 7:53–54
 - Monroe, James, 7:105–106
 - Necessary and Proper Clause, 7:11, 218
 - Ninth Amendment, 7:247–248
 - original intent, 7:334–335
 - origins of Democratic Party, 3:392–393
 - Privileges and Immunities Clause, 8:114–115
 - ratification of Constitution, 3:118–120, 123
 - Rehnquist, William Hubbs, 8:274–275
 - removal, 8:296
 - Reynolds v. Sims* (1964), 8:350
 - sovereign immunity, 2:376
 - Tenth Amendment, 3:136, 9:460
 - Virginia and Kentucky Resolves, 10:236–237
 - Wayne, James Moore, 10:317
 - Wilson, James, 10:391
- Federalist*, Number 10 (document), 3:120, 12:126–129
- Federalist*, Number 78 (document), 12:130–132
- Federalist Papers*, 4:366–368
 - Constitution ratification, 3:119–120
 - Federalist party, 4:369
 - Hamilton, Alexander, 5:179
 - Jay, John, 6:10
 - Madison, James, 6:389
 - Montesquieu, philosophy of, 7:108
 - Necessary and Proper Clause, 7:11
 - Ninth Amendment, 7:247
 - republican government, 8:316
- Federalist Party, 4:368–369
 - Adams, John Quincy, 1:83–84
 - Alien and Sedition Acts (1798), 1:210–211
 - Essex Junto, 4:215
 - Federation of Statewide Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, and Transgender Political Organizations, 7:177
- Federations, 4:369
- Fee simple, 4:370
 - absolute, 4:216, 8:147
 - determinable, 4:216
 - subject to a condition subsequent, 4:216
 - subject to executory limitation, 4:217
- Fee tail, 4:217, 370
- Fees, 4:370
 - banking, 1:480–481
 - base, 1:494
 - billed gratuities, 5:132
 - copying, 3:192
 - hospital, 7:404–405
 - innkeepers, 5:401
 - insurance premiums, 5:418
 - mortgages, 7:122–123
 - municipal development, 7:139
 - natural gas, 5:44
 - parole, 7:370–371
 - patents, 7:394
 - public utilities, 8:173–8:174
 - railroad, 8:223
 - wharves, 10:348–349
 - See also* Costs
- Fees, legal
 - amicus curiae, 1:263

- contingent, 3:160, 161–162, 6:249
 disputes, 6:250 flat fees, 6:248
 forwarding fees, 4:466
 hourly, 6:249
 interest on lawyers trust accounts, 5:431
 legal malpractice, 6:240
 litigation, 6:393
 negligence, 6:410
 Section 1983 cases, 9:63
 Feingold, Russ, 4:88–89
 Fellatio, 4:370
 Fellow-servant rule, 4:370–372, 6:37
 Felonies, 4:372–373
 arrests, 1:350–352
 compounding a felony, 3:57
 convicted attorneys, 1:121
 criminal law, 3:273, 280
 deadly force, 3:356
 indictments and acquittals, 1:76, 77
 larceny, 2:171
 misprision, 7:86–87
 murder, 7:141
 preliminary hearings, 8:63
 right to counsel, 5:78
 sentencing, 9:105
 Felonious, 4:372
 Felons, 4:372
 Felony-murder rule, 4:373
The Feminine Mystique (Friedan), 5:2
 Feminism
 Anthony, Susan Brownell, 1:289
 Dworkin, Andrea, 4:48–51
 feminist criminology, 3:293, 296
 Fenwick, Millicent Vernon Hammond, 4:379
 Friedan, Betty, 5:1–4
 MacKinnon, Catharine Alice, 6:383–385, 384
 Millett, Katherine Murray, 7:74–75
 National Organization for Women, 7:186
 National Organization for Women Statement of Purpose (document), 12:404–406
 pornography, 8:33–35
 prostitution, 8:156–158
 sex discrimination, 9:133
 Stanton, Elizabeth Cady, 9:306–307
 Steinem, Gloria, 9:338–339
 surrogate motherhood, 9:410–411
 Feminist jurisprudence, 4:373–376
 Fences, 4:376–377
 Fenwick, Millicent Vernon Hammond, 4:377–379, 378
 Feoffment and enfeoffment, 4:148, 379, 6:346–347
Ferae naturae, 4:380
Feres doctrine, 4:380–381
 Ferguson, Colin, 5:405
 Ferraro, Geraldine Anne, 4:381–384, 383
 Ferries, 4:384, 384–385
 Fetal protection policies, 4:388–389
 Fetal rights, 1:18, 4:385–389, 5:282–283, 392–393, 9:137–138
 See also Abortion
 Fetal tissue research, 4:389–391
 Fett, James, 8:137
 Feudalism, 4:391–393
 ejectment, 4:83–84
 Glanvill, Ranulf, 5:98
 investiture, 5:472
 landlord/tenant relationship, 6:194
 services, 9:116
 statute of uses, 9:334
 Feuds, 2:64–65, 89
Fiat, 4:393
 F.I.C.A. (Federal Insurance Contributions Act), 4:393
 Fiction, 4:393
 Fictitious, 4:394
 Fictitious party names
 John Doe or Jane Doe, 2:272, 6:15
 Roe, 8:381
 Fidelity bonds, 4:394
 Fidelity insurance, 4:394
 Fiduciaries, 4:394
 agency, 1:168
 care, 2:247
 charitable trusts, 10:120
 conflict of interest, 3:84–85
 guardians and wards, 5:161
 licenses, 6:314
 Native Americans and federal government, 7:199 prudent person rule, 8:161
 self-dealing transactions, 9:89
 trustees, 10:122
 trusts, 10:116
 Field, David Dudley, 4:394, 395–397, 396
 Rantoul, Robert, Jr. and, 8:233
 “What Shall Be Done with the Practice of the Courts?” (document), 12:500–502
 Field, Stephen Johnson, 4:397–399
 Field audits, 4:394
 Field Code of New York, 4:394–395
 pleading, 10:139
 Rantoul, Robert, Jr., 8:233
 Field pre-emption, 8:133
Fieri facias, 4:399
 FIFO (accounting method), 4:399
 Fifteenth Amendment, 4:399
 Clifford, Nathan, 2:445–446
 disfranchisement, 3:453–455, 5:313, 10:249–251
 grandfather clauses, 5:127
 state actions, 9:314
 woman suffrage efforts, 1:290
 Fifth Amendment, 4:399–404
 capital punishment, 2:238–239
 clemency process, 2:436
 criminal procedure, 3:134, 281–282, 7:83–85
 eminent domain, 4:122, 123
 fingerprints, 4:411
 grand juries, 5:122, 318
 Miranda v. Arizona (1966), 4:209
 Takings Clause, 1:493 void for vagueness, 3:313–314
 water rights, 10:310
 See also Double Jeopardy Clause; Due Process Clauses; Self-incrimination, privilege against Fighting affray, 1:159
 battel, 1:501
 battery, 1:503–504
 Fighting words
 First Amendment, 4:414
 R.A.V. v. City of St. Paul (1992), 5:205
 Filburn, Roscoe C., 1:172
 Files, 4:404
 Filiation proceedings, 4:404
 Filibusters, 4:404
 cloture, 2:457
 Senate debate, 3:91
Filius nullius, 4:404
 Filled Milk Act (1923), 4:444
 Fillmore, Millard, 4:404–406, 405, 6:151, 10:352
 Filtering software, 5:454
 Final and binding arbitration, 1:240
 Final decision, 4:406

- Final orders, 7:323
- Finance
- age discrimination cases, 1:163
 - blue sky laws, 2:67–2:68
 - bonds, 2:77–79
 - disclosure and federal employees, 4:229
 - Federal Reserve Board, 4:353–354
 - fiscal, 4:420
 - margins, 6:429
 - privacy and financial data, 8:99
 - radio broadcasting licenses, 6:456
 - See also* Investments; Securities
- Finance charges, 4:406–407
- Financial Accounting Standards Advisory Council (FASAC), 5:63
- Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB), 1:60–61, 5:63
- Financial Institutions Reform, Recovery, and Enforcement Act (1989), 4:342–343, 9:6
- Financial Management Service, 10:92
- Financial responsibility acts, 1:427, 4:407
- Financial Services Modernization Act (1999), 1:474–475, 480–481, 4:353, 5:102
- Financial statements, 4:407
- Financial transactions
- accrual basis accounting, 1:62
 - attorney-client funds, 1:401
 - banks and banking, 1:477–479
 - futures trading, 3:207
 - guardians and wards, 5:161
 - secured transactions, 9:64–68
 - stock trades, 9:352
 - Uniform Commercial Code, 3:14
 - See also* Commerce; Commercial paper
- Finders, 4:407
- Finding, 4:407
- Finding lost goods, 4:407–409
- Fines, 4:409–410
- Fingerprints, 4:410–411
- Fire Administration, U.S., 4:347
- Fire insurance
- aleatory contracts, 1:209
 - alienation clauses, 1:213
 - New York Standard Coinsurance Clause, 2:480
- Fire statutes, 4:412
- Firearms, 1:208, 5:167
- customs restrictions, 3:327
 - federal cases, 3:277
 - gun control laws, 5:163, 7:175–176
 - Gun-Free School Zones Act (1990), 3:4
 - hunting, 5:317
 - manufacturing, 9:49
 - NAACP v. American Arms Inc.* (2003), 10:328
 - National Rifle Association, 7:187–188
 - ownership, 9:52
 - regulation, 1:207–209
 - schools, 5:353, 9:28
 - Second Amendment, 9:48–52
 - sentencing for violations, 9:106
 - See also* Weapons
- Fires, 4:412
- firefighters, 9:102–103
 - forest fires, 10:414–415
 - friendly fire, 5:4
 - Good Samaritan doctrine, 5:115
 - hostile fire, 5:293
 - negligence, 7:226
 - Triangle Shirtwaist Company fire (1911), 7:428–429, 10:109–111
 - See also* Arson
- Fireworks, 4:285, 286
- Firm offers, 4:412
- First Amendment, 3:132–134, 4:412–419
- actual malice in defamation cases, 10:152
 - campaign election finance reform, 4:87–89
 - House Un-American Activities Committee hearings, 2:55–56
 - obscenity pledges, 2:288
 - states, application to, 8:456
 - underinclusiveness, 10:143
 - void for vagueness doctrine, 10:245
 - Warren Court rulings, 10:293–294
 - See also* Association and assembly, freedom of; Establishment and Free Exercise Clauses; Petitions, First Amendment Right of; Press, freedom of the; Speech, freedom of
- First American Bankshares, 2:442–443
- First Continental Congress, 3:158
- First impression, 4:419
- First Inaugural Address (Reagan) (document), 12:484–487
- First Inaugural Address (Roosevelt, F.) (document), 12:476–478
- First instance, 4:419–420
- First ladies
- Clinton, Hillary Rodham, 2:447, 447–448
 - Roosevelt, Anna Eleanor, 8:390–392, 391
- First salvor rule, 8:452
- Firsts
- African-American appointed to U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit, 8:376
 - African American chairman of the Democratic National Committee, 2:139–140
 - African American federal appellate judge, 5:199
 - African American federal district court judge, 2:154
 - African American man to be named Time magazine's Man of the Year, 6:143
 - African American nominated for the vice presidency, 4:15
 - African American Supreme Court justice, 6:24, 442–444
 - African American tenured law professor at Harvard Law School, 2:7
 - African American vice-presidential candidate, 3:45
 - African American woman admitted to the Mississippi bar, 4:60
 - African American woman elected to judgeship, 9:362–364
 - African American woman elected to U.S. House of Representatives, 2:372–373
 - African American woman federal judge, 7:131
 - African American woman from a southern state elected to U.S. Congress, 6:40–41
 - African American woman judge, 2:72–74, 73
 - African American woman partner in a major Wall Street firm, 6:108
 - African American woman Senator, 7:126
 - African American woman to graduate from University of Virginia Law School, 6:38
 - African American woman to graduate from Yale Law School, 2:72

- African American woman to pass Mississippi bar exam, 2:366
- African American woman to serve on Los Angeles Board of Public Works, 4:245
- African American woman to serve on U.S. Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit, 6:108
- capital punishment in America, 2:237
- census, U.S., 2:293
- chairwoman of the NAACP, 4:245–247
- commercial steam-powered train, 8:222
- federal judge to face criminal charges, 5:83
- federal law denying entry to U.S. based on race or ethnicity, 2:370
- first administrative agency, 1:102
- Jewish Supreme Court justice, 2:104
- Jewish U.S. senator, 2:18
- juvenile courts, 1:90
- law professor in the United States, 10:440
- law school in America, 6:335–336
- lawyer admitted to practice before the U.S. Supreme Court, 2:86–87
- legally qualified woman candidate for a national election, 8:142
- major legal treatise written in French, 6:343
- national strike, 8:182–183
- Native American U.S. senator, 2:219, 222
- paid professional police force, 8:3
- person elected whip in both Congressional houses, 6:375
- political convention, 2:273
- presidential election, 4:93
- prison in the United States, 8:86
- probation officer, 8:123
- public playground, 1:89
- Roman Catholic Supreme Court justice, 2:109
- Southerner to be House minority whip, 6:375
- state police, 8:3
- Supreme Court case superseded by a constitutional amendment, 2:376
- Supreme Court copyright case, 10:350–351
- Supreme Court justice to be tried for impeachment, 2:326–327, 329
- Vice President, 1:82
- woman candidate for U.S. vice president, 4:383–384
- woman chief justice of Massachusetts, 6:441–442
- woman elected to U.S. House of Representatives, 8:231–232
- woman from Louisiana elected to U.S. House of Representatives, 2:70–72
- woman from Utah elected to U.S. House of Representatives, 2:83–85
- woman governor, 8:407–408
- woman head of Republican Party, 9:217
- woman head of the U.S. Mint, 8:408
- woman judge in Utah, 2:83–85
- woman mayor of Washington, D.C., 6:113–115
- woman on California Supreme Court, 2:37–39
- woman on the Pacific Coast to pass the bar, 4:437–438
- woman president of the American Bar Association, 8:226–228
- woman regent of the Smithsonian Institution, 2:71
- woman secretary of state, 1:196
- woman to argue before the U.S. Supreme Court, 6:364–365
- woman to be executed in Texas since the Civil War, 2:241
- woman to chair Democratic National Convention, 2:71
- woman to retain maiden name, 9:357–358
- Fiscal, 4:420
- Fish and fishing industry, 4:420–427, 421
- disparate impact case, 3:460
- Maine lobstermen, 5:82
- Native American rights, 7:199–201
- North Pacific Fisheries Convention (1952), 7:267
- Northwest Atlantic Fisheries Convention (1949), 7:267
- poaching, 8:1
- salmon, 5:434
- Fishery Conservation and Management Act (1976), 4:425
- Fishing expeditions (discovery technique), 4:427
- Fishing vessels, 4:428
- Fisk, Clinton Bowen, 1:204
- Fiske, Robert B., Jr., 10:366
- Fitzgerald, A. Ernest, 5:331, 331
- Fixed assets, 4:428
- Fixed charges, 4:428
- Fixtures, 4:428–429
- Flag-burning amendment, 9:426–427
- Flag Protection Act (1989), 4:433, 10:15
- Flag saluting, 1:232
- Establishment Clause, 1:231–232
- Free Exercise Clause, 8:289–290, 9:356
- Maris, Albert Branson, 6:430
- Minersville School District v. Gogitis* (1940), 4:434
- West Virginia State Board of Education v. Barnette* (1943), 4:434–435, 8:289
- Flagrante delicto*, 4:435
- Flags, 4:429–433
- Confederate, 7:126
- flag-burning protection, 4:413, 416, 502, 9:343, 425–427
- Texas v. Johnson* (1989), 4:432–433, 10:13–15
- Flat-rate tax system, 5:363
- Flawed and insignificant research, 4:308
- Fleiss, Heidi, 8:158
- Flight engineers, 1:160–161
- Floating capital, 4:436
- Floating liens, 4:436–437
- Flood, Curtis C., 1:496, 9:288, 288
- Floods
- flood control, 6:284
- insurance, 4:346–347
- Johnstown flood (1889), 6:152
- National Guard soldiers, 7:179
- Flores, Peggy Ann and Albert, 3:33–34
- Florida
- adoption laws, 5:49
- affirmative action, 1:158
- age discrimination, 1:164
- bankruptcy case, 1:467
- cameras in court, 2:215
- carjacking legislation, 2:248
- census data, suit for release of, 2:296
- child-protective services, 2:346–347

- Confederate flag, 4:431
- Contraband Forfeiture Act (1999), 1:415
- death penalty costs, 2:238
- electrocution, 2:240
- journalistic privilege, 4:255–256
- Supreme Court, 2:118, 187–189
- See also* Presidential election of 2000
- Flotsam, 4:437
- Flowers, Charles, 9:268–269
- Flying schools, 1:147–148
- Flynn, John J., 7:83
- FM radio, 2:126
- F.O.B. (free on board), 4:437
- Follow, 4:437
- Follow the fortunes doctrine, 8:278
- Foltz, Clara Shortridge, 4:437–439
- Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (1938), 4:26
- Food, Drug, and Insecticide Administration. See Food and Drug Administration (FDA)
- Food, Nutrition, and Consumer Services division, USDA, 1:177
- Food Additives Amendment (1957), 4:440
- Food and beverages
- adulteration, 1:133
 - donations, 5:102–103
- Food and Drug Administration, 4:439–442, 8:171
- Food Safety Inspection Service, 1:177–178
- implied warranty, 5:345
- national food supply, 1:179–181, 10:275
- organic foods, 4:440
- prisoners' rights, 8:94–95
- Pure Food and Drug Act (1906), 6:419–420, 8:191, 9:191
- Roosevelt, Theodore, 8:399
- soup kitchens, 7:233
- USDA regulation, 1:177–178
- Food and Drug Administration (FDA), 4:439–443, 8:171
- approval of mifepristone (RU-486), 1:22–23
 - drug regulation, 4:28
 - regulations, 1:133
 - tobacco regulation, 10:47–48
- Food Safety Inspection Service, USDA, 1:177
- Food stamps and programs, 1:220, 10:338
- Football
- Flowers, Charles, 9:268–269
 - Page, Alan Cedric, 7:347–348
 - relocating teams, 9:282–283
- Footnote 4, 4:444–445, 9:356
- Foraker Act (1900), 8:180
- Forbearance, 4:445
- Force, 4:445
- constructive, 8:368
 - reasonable force, 8:246–247
 - robbery, 8:368–369
- See also* Deadly force
- Force Acts (1870), 8:254
- Force majeure*, 4:445
- Forced heirs, 3:412–413
- Forced sales, 4:446
- Forcible detainer, 4:446
- Forcible entry and detainer, 4:446–447
- Ford, Gerald Rudolph, 4:447, 4:447–449, 7:356
- Douglas, William Orville, attempts to impeach, 4:11
 - Nixon, Richard, pardon, 6:8, 7:356
 - post-Vietnam War amnesty, 1:266, 266
 - A Time to Heal* (memoir), 3:197–198
- Ford, James W., 3:45
- Ford Motor Co., 1:416–417, 423, 8:130
- Foreclosure, 4:449–451, 450–451
- deeds of trust, 3:375–379
 - family farms, 1:171
 - mortgages, 7:120, 9:369
 - secured transactions, 9:67
 - statutory redemption, 9:336–337
- Foreign, 4:451
- Foreign affairs power, 4:451
- Foreign Assistance Act (1973), 5:307
- Foreign attorneys, 7:17
- Foreign business operations, 3:6–7, 429
- Foreign campaign contributions, 4:89
- Foreign Corrupt Practices Act (1977), 2:119–120
- Foreign currency. See Currency and coins
- Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Act (1978), 4:451–452
- Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Court of Review, 4:451–453
- Foreign judgments, 6:45
- Foreign policy
- agricultural aid, 3:28
 - aid and human rights, 5:307
- Albright, Madeleine Korb, 1:197–198
- arms control and disarmament, 1:343–348
- assassinations, 1:369
- Beard, Charles Austin, 2:3
- Carter, James Earl, Jr., 2:262
- Clinton, William Jefferson, 2:451
- Cold War, 2:485–487
- communism, 3:39–40
- Cuban Missile Crisis (1962), 3:309–310
- Defense, Department of, 3:383–385
- Democratic Republican Party, 3:397
- diplomatic agents, 3:428–430
- Dulles, John Foster, 4:44
- Eisenhower Doctrine, 4:83
- executive agreements, 8:70, 73
- Fillmore, Millard, 4:406
- First Inaugural Address (Reagan) (document), 12:484–487
- Ford, Gerald Rudolph, 4:449
- foreign affairs power, 4:451
- Fourteen Points (Wilson) (document), 12:473–475
- Harrison, Benjamin, 5:196
- Helms, Jesse Alexander Jr., 5:243–244
- Inaugural Address (Kennedy) (document), 12:479–481
- International Religious Freedom Act (1998), 8:293
- Israel, 1:258
- Johnson, Lyndon, 5:105–106
- Kennedy, John Fitzgerald, 6:121–122
- Kissinger, Henry Alfred, 6:145–147
- Knox, Philander Chase, 6:153
- Litvinov Assignment of 1933, 6:344
- Lodge, Henry Cabot, 6:367
- Marshall Plan, 6:442
- Mason, John Young, 6:453
- Mexico, 7:50–52
- Monroe Doctrine, 1:84, 7:104–105, 106
- Monroe Doctrine (document), 12:136–138
- National Security Council, 7:189–191
- neutrality, 7:230–231
- Nixon, Richard M., 7:252–253
- Olney, Richard, 7:313
- Pierce, Franklin, 7:445
- Polk, James Knox, 8:18–20

- presidential powers, 8:73
 Rankin, Jeannette, 8:232
 Reagan, Ronald Wilson, 8:244
 Rogers, William Pierce, 8:386
 Roosevelt, Franklin Delano, 8:396–397
 Roosevelt, Theodore, 8:399
 State, Department of, 9:58–59, 315–320
 Stimson, Henry Lewis, 9:348
 Tonkin Gulf Resolution (1964), 10:55–56
 Truman, Harry S., 10:114
 Truman Doctrine, 10:114
 Vietnam War, 5:14
 war on terrorism, 1:341
 Wilson, Thomas Woodrow, 10:394–395
 Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act (1976), 5:329
 Foreign trusts, 10:79
 Forensic, 4:453
 Forensic accounting, 4:453
Forensic Files (television program), 3:253
 Forensic laboratories, 3:486–487
 Forensic science, 4:453–455
 Forensic Science Research and Training Center, FBI, 4:454
 Foreseeability, 4:455
 Forest Service, 1:178
 Forfeit, 4:456
 Forfeiture, 4:456–459
 bail, 1:440
 Drug Enforcement Administration, 4:24 drug offenders, 4:32–33
 equity maxims, 6:468
 escheat distinction, 4:207
 franchises, 4:477
 patents, 7:395
 prostitution, 8:157
 treason, 10:89–90
 Forfeiture Act. See Comprehensive Drug Abuse Prevention and Control Act (1970)
 Forgery, 4:459–460
 cancellation of an instrument, 2:232
 checks, 1:478
 Mormon Will, 10:377
 Form of the statute, 4:460
 Formal parties, 4:461
 Formalism
 jurisprudence, 6:74–75
 separation of powers, 4:365
 vs. balancing, 1:453
 Williston, Samuel, 3:207
 Formed design, 4:461
 Forms, 4:460–461, 10:403
 Forms of action, 4:461–4:462
 accounts, 1:58–59
 action on the case, 1:79
 covenant, action of, 3:256
 debt, action of, 3:366
 detinue, 3:424
 ejectment, 4:83–84
 election of remedies, 4:92–93
 Fornication, 4:462
 Forrest, Nathan Bedford, 6:160
 Forswear, 4:463
 Fortas, Abe, 4:463, 4:463–465, 9:425, 10:39–40
 Forthwith, 4:465
 Forty-Year Law, 1:37
 Forum, 4:465–466
 Forwarding fees, 4:466
 Fossil Energy, Office of, 4:146
 Foster, Vincent, 1:394, 10:365–366
 Foster, William Z., 3:45
 Foster care
 adopting foster children, 1:124
 Kingsley v. Kingsley (1993), 7:359
 Native American children, 5:384
 Found property, 7:433, 8:146
 Foundations, 4:467
 Four corners, 4:467
 Four Horsemen, 2:198, 8:394
 Fourteen Points (Wilson) (document), 12:473–475
 Fourteenth Amendment, 4:467–471
 Bradwell v. Illinois (1872), 2:98
 Bradwell v. Illinois (1872) (document), 12:398–403
 Brown v. Board of Education (1954) (documents), 11:1–162
 capital punishment, 5:18
 citizenship, 2:384
 Civil Rights Act (1871), 6:162
 Civil Rights cases (1883), 8:254–255
 Civil Rights cases (1883) (document), 12:311–336
 Clifford, Nathan, 2:445–446
 corporations, 8:459–460
 desegregation, school, 2:25
 Eisenstad v. Baird (1972), 2:40 narrow interpretation, 2:325 parental right to raise children, 2:368
 Plessy v. Ferguson (1896), 7:464
 Plessy v. Ferguson (1896) (document), 12:337–349
 provisions, 2:396
 Reconstruction era, 8:254
 rights of freed slaves, 1:13 selective incorporation approach, 2:246
 Warren Court rulings, 10:293
 Woods, William Burnham, 10:416
 See also Contract, liberty of; Due Process Clauses; Equal Protection Clauses; Privileges and Immunities Clauses
 Fourth Amendment, 3:134, 4:471–476
 arrests, 1:350
 automobile searches, 1:409–416
 criminal procedure, 3:281–282
 curtilage, 3:316
 drug testing of pregnant women, 4:389
 electronic surveillance, 4:106
 hot pursuit, 5:293–294
 illegally obtained evidence, 5:275, 7:145 mail cover, 6:396
 pen registers, 7:414–415
 probable cause, 8:118–119 states and unreasonable searches, 2:417 student drug testing, 1:454
 Terry v. Ohio (1968), 10:9–11 unlawful detainment and bright line rules, 2:123–124
 See also Exclusionary Rule; Search and seizure Frame of Government (document), 12:50–51
 France
 civil law, 2:389
 Code Civil, 2:471
 Code Napoléon, 8:388
 communism, 3:36–37
 contravention, 3:182 early U.S. involvement, 1:210–211
 eminent domain, 4:123
 French Revolution, 2:172, 10:302
 Kellogg-Briand Pact (1928), 6:111–112, 113
 Louisiana Purchase (1803), 6:353, 375–376
 Napoleonic code, 7:162–163
 naval conflict (1798–1799), 7:113
 North Atlantic Treaty Organization, 7:266
 precepts of French law, 8:58

- U.S. War of Independence, 10:281
 XYZ Affair (1796), 3:397, 10:443
 Franchise Rule, 4:478–479
 Franchises, 4:476–479
 cable television, 2:128
 sports teams, 9:282–283
 Frank, Hans, 7:289
 Frank, Jerome New, 4:479–480
 judicial decision making, 8:45
 legal realism, 6:75–76
 Frankfurter, Felix, 4:480–484, 481
 Adamson v. People of the State of California (1947), 5:372
 Mallory v. United States (1957), 7:24
 Minersville School District v. Gobitis (1940), 4:434
 Muskrat v. United States (1911), 1:144
 Rochin v. California (1952), 9:180
 Sacco and Vanzetti trial (1921), 8:437
 shock the conscience test, 8:378–379
 “Some Reflections on the Reading of Statutes” (document), 12:539–550
 Sweezy v. New Hampshire (1957), 1:46
 Franklin, Benjamin, 4:484–487, 485
 Fraternities and sororities, 1:201
 Fraud, 4:487–489
 auctions, 1:404
 automobile sales, 1:423
 BCCI scandal (1991), 2:441–443
 cancellation of an instrument, 2:231–232 clerical misprision, 2:439
 collusion, 2:508
 commercial paper, 3:20, 22
 constructive trusts, 3:139
 consumer fraud, 3:146, 146–147, 9:101, 102–103
 contracts, 3:175–176
 corporate fraud, 1:282, 3:213–215, 9:1–2, 31–32, 68, 71–72
 Crédit Mobilier scandal (1864–1873), 3:267
 descent and distribution, 3:417
 forgery, 4:459–460
 incontestability clauses, 5:369–370
 Internet, 5:457–460
 mail fraud, 6:396–397
 Medicare and Medicaid, 6:136, 7:28, 33
 multilevel distributorship, 7:138 nursing home case, 3:409 online auctions, 1:406
 Ponzi schemes, 8:29–31
 possessory warrants, 8:42
 property settlements, 8:151
 qui tam actions, 8:202–203
 quiz show case, 3:108
 Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations Act, 8:219, 220
 reinsurance liability, 8:278
 rescission, 8:328
 securities, 2:78, 79, 4:489, 8:21, 220–221
 service of process, 9:120
 state and federal laws, 3:272
 tax evasion, 9:439–440
 tracing, 10:66
 unconscionable, 10:142
 voidable title, 8:146–147
 wills, 10:380
 workers’ compensation, 10:422
 See also Counterfeiting; False pretenses; Identity theft Fraudulent, 4:489
 Fraudulent conveyance, 1:375–376, 4:489–491
 FRC (Federal Radio Commission), 2:124
 Free agency (sports), 1:496, 4:491–492
 Free exercise of religion. See Establishment and Free Exercise Clauses Free market forces
 antitrust law, 1:298, 9:166–169
 monopolies, 7:102
 women’s income, 3:50–51
 Free silver movement, 2:152–153
 Free Soil Party, 1:12, 4:492–493
Free Speech (newspaper), 10:340, 341
 Free Trade Agreement (FTA), U.S.-Canada, 2:228, 229
 Freedom of Access to Clinic Entrances Act (1994), 1:22, 24, 2:451, 4:500
 Freedom of Information Act (1966), 4:495–498, 497 administrative procedure, 1:115 census figures, 2:296
 privacy, 8:102–103
 Freedom of Speech. See Speech, freedom of Freedom of Speech (Chafee), 2:313
 Freedom Republicans, 4:95–96
 Freedom Rides (1960s), 2:407
 Baker, Ella Josephine, 1:449
 Carmichael, Stokely, 2:250
 Civil Rights Movement, 2:406
 Kunstler, William Moses, 6:164–165
 Lewis, John Robert, 6:296
 See also Civil Rights Movement
 Freedom Summer, 2:406
 Freedom to Farm Act. See Federal Agriculture Improvement and Reform Act (1996)
 Freehold, 4:505
 abeyance, 1:8
 estates, 4:216–218
 property law, 8:147–148
 Freemen of Montana, 9:51
 Freight, 4:505–506
 Freight carriers. See Carriers; Shipping law
 Freight forwarder, 4:506
 Frémont, John C., 8:316–317
 French and Indian War (1754–1769), 7:64–65, 10:300
 Frequent-flier miles, 1:190, 10:78
 Freund, Ernst, 4:506–507
 Frick, Wilhelm, 7:289–290
 Friedan, Betty, 5:1–4, 2
 Friend of the court, 5:4
 See also Amicus curiae
 Friendly, Henry Jacob, 5:4–5
 Friendly fire, 5:4
 Friendly suits, 5:5
 Fries, John, 2:326–327
 Fries’s Rebellion (1798), 5:6–7
 Frisk, 5:7
 Frivolous, 5:7
 Frizzell, Kent, 1:257
 Frolic, 5:7
 Frontiero, Sharron, 5:7–8
Fructus industriales, 3:303
Fructus naturales, 3:303
 Fruit of the poisonous tree, 3:407, 5:9–12, 9:42
 See also Exclusionary rule
 Frustration, 5:12
 Frustration of purpose, 8:445
 Frye test, 3:487–488
 FTA (Free Trade Agreement), 2:228, 229
 Fuel efficiency standards, 1:422
 Fugitive slave laws
 Compromise of 1850 (document), 12:147–157
 Fugitive Slave Act (1793), 8:81–82, 9:362

Fugitive Slave Act (1850), 4:406, 5:12–13, 13

Fugitives from justice, 5:12

accessories after the fact, 1:52

bounty hunters, 2:90–91

Cleaver, Leroy Eldridge, 2:435

extradition, 4:291–295

Fulbright, James William, 5:13–15, 14

Full Faith and Credit Clause, 5:15–16

judgments, 6:46

same-sex marriages, 3:387–388, 5:48

Full Faith and Credit for Child Support Orders Act (1994), 2:365

Full warranties, 6:396

Fuller, Melville Weston, 5:16–18, 17

Fulminante, Oreste, 3:82

Fulton, Robert, 6:353

Functional availability defense, 8:374

Functionalism, 4:365–366, 368

Fundamental law, 5:18

Fundamentalism (Christianity), 3:341

Funding, federal. See Appropriations

Funds, 5:18

beneficial associations, 2:15–16

bills of credit, 2:35

commingling, 3:23

compounding offenses, 3:57

earnest money, 4:55

Native American gaming, 7:202

peculation, 7:413

reserves, 8:330–331

state lotteries, 9:320–321, 322–323

tender, 9:457

terrorism, 9:113

See also Currency and coins

Fungible, 5:18

Furman, William Henry, 5:18–19

Furs and fur trading

Jay's Treaty (1795), 3:396–397

People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals, 7:424

Future acquired property, 5:20

Future earnings, 5:20

Future interests, 5:21, 9:53–54

estates, 4:219–220

property law, 8:149

reversion, 8:344

Futures trading, 5:21

Commodity Futures Trading Commissions, 3:28–29

corner, 3:207

exchanges, 4:262

G

Gag orders, 5:23–24

pretrial publicity, 8:78

prior restraint, 8:85–86

Gag rules, 5:24–25

abortion counseling, 1:19

House of Representatives, U.S., 1:85

Gage, Thomas, 10:280

Game (animals and birds), 5:25–26

Game shows, 3:108

Gaming, 5:26–28, 27

advertising, 6:334

Black Sox scandal (1919), 9:284

Native American, 7:202–204

organized, 7:332

state laws, 3:271

Gaming Act (1988), 5:26

Gandhi, Mohandas, 5:28–30, 29, 7:344, 345

Gangs, 5:30–34, 31, 7:333

See also Organized crime

GAO Personnel Act (1980), 5:57–58

Gardner, John, 5:138

Garfield, James Abram, 5:34–38, 35

Conkling, Roscoe, and, 3:99

MacVeagh, Isaac Wayne and, 6:386

Garland, Alexander Hamilton, 7:355

Garland, Augustus Hill, 5:38–39

Garn-St. Germain Depository Institutions Act (1982), 9:5–6

Garnishees, 5:39

Garnishment, 5:39–40

child support, 2:362

disposable earnings, 3:461

judgment debts, 6:46

Garrison, William Lloyd, 1:11, 5:40–41, 41

Garvey, Marcus Mozhiah, 5:41–43, 9:3–4

Gas (natural), 5:43, 43–44

Gasoline and oil

antitrust cases, 5:145

Bush, George Walker, 2:182–183

oil spills, 4:177, 178–179

royalties, 8:413

sales tax, 3:7

shipping, 1:106

Teapot Dome scandal (1924), 9:447–448

Gates, Bill, 1:303

Gates, Daryl F., 6:144

GATT. See General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (1947)

Gaugin, Paul, artwork, 1:405

Gault, Gerald, 5:45

Gay and lesbian rights, 5:45–54

adoption, 1:125

child custody, 2:353, 4:235

civil rights, 2:399–400

domestic partners, 2:476, 3:34, 503

equal protection, 4:195

Ettelbrick, Paula Louise, 4:234–236

familial ties, court-recognized, 2:476

Goldwater, Barry Morris, 5:111–112

Kennedy, Anthony McLeod, 6:117

Lawrence v. Texas (2003), 6:217–218

Lawrence v. Texas (2003) (documents), 11:163–254

military service, 1:333–337, 2:450, 7:58

National Gay and Lesbian Task Force, 7:176–177

National Organization for Women, 5:483

Rehnquist, William Hubbs, 8:275–276

Romer v. Evans (1996), 8:389–390

Rubenstein, William Bruce, 8:413–414

same-sex marriage, 4:319

Scalia, Antonin, 9:11

sodomy laws, 2:474, 9:140–141, 234

White, Byron Raymond, 10:358

work of Amnesty International, 1:268

Gays and lesbians

AIDS, 1:70

Boy Scouts of America v. Dale (2000), 2:92–93, 381, 461

Defense of Marriage Act (1996), 3:387–388

discrimination, 3:453

freedom of association and assembly, 4:494–495

medical treatment decisions, 2:475–476

Rubenstein, William Bruce, work of, 8:413–414

Wilde, Oscar, trials of, 10:373–375

Geary Act, 2:370

- Gehl, Fabian, 5:162
- Gender issues
 affirmative action, 1:154–155
 Allred, Gloria, 1:233–236
 child custody, 2:352
 Clark, Marcia, scrutiny of, 2:414–415
 comparable worth, 3:49–52 differences and the law, 4:375
 Equal Pay Act (1963), 2:398 murder in the workplace, 7:142 prison guards, 8:90
 prostitution, 8:157–158
 rape, 3:296
See also Discrimination, sex
- General Accounting Office (GAO), 5:54–58, 55
- General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (1947), 5:58
- agricultural markets, 1:179
- Canada and U.S., 2:228
- import quotas, 5:346–437
- most-favored-nation status, 7:127
- patents, 7:389
- General appearances, 1:309, 5:58
- General Assembly, United Nations, 10:163
- General average, admiralty and maritime law, 1:118, 9:177
- General courts-martial, 7:60
- General creditors, 5:58
- General execution, 5:58
- General intent, 5:58–59, 430
- General jurisdiction, 5:59
- General legacies, 5:59
- General Managers Association (GMA), 8:182
- General Motors Corp., 1:416–417, 7:161
- General Secretariat, Interpol, 5:461
- General Services Administration (GSA), 5:59–61, 60
- General terms, 5:61
- General Treaty for the Renunciation of War. See Kellogg-Briand Pact (1928)
- General usage, 10:185
- General verdicts, 5:61, 10:204
- General warranty deeds, 10:289
- General welfare, 5:61–62
- Generally accepted accounting principles, 5:62–63
- Generic names, 10:68, 72–73
- Genetic engineering, 5:63–65, 8:105
- Genetic screening, 5:66–68
- employees, 4:185, 8:106
- insurance, 5:413
- paternity cases, 7:399
- Geneva Convention on the Territorial Sea and Contiguous Zone (1958), 5:449
- Geneva Conventions (1949), 5:68–69, 8:309
- Genocide, 5:69–71, 70
- Hague Tribunal, 5:175
- Nuremberg trials (1945–1949), 7:285–286
- rape, 6:385
- Genscher, Hans-Dietrich, 3:185
- Gentlemen's agreements, 5:71
- Geoghan, John, 2:358, 9:149–150
- George Mason University, 2:289, 504
- Georgia
- abortion laws, 1:16–17
- Akerman, Amos Tappan, 1:194
- Anti-Mask Act, 6:162
- banishment laws, 1:462–463
- Brown, Joseph Emerson, 2:139
- capital punishment, 3:294, 306
- Carter, Jimmy, 1:452
- Cherokee* cases, 2:335–337, 8:406
- Cobb, Thomas Reade Rootes, 2:461–462
- drug testing, 9:41
- gerrymandering, 3:462, 5:72–73
- Gingrich, Newton Leroy, 5:89–90
- Gregg v. Georgia* (1976), 5:20, 143–144
- hunting laws, 5:316–317
- mortgages, 7:121–122
- secession, 2:461–462
- sovereign immunity, 2:61–62, 375–376
- Worcester v. Georgia* (1832) (document), 12:409–450
- Germany
- Hitler, Adolph, 5:263–264
- League of Nations, 6:221–222
- military government, 7:56
- Nazi genocide, 5:69–70
- Nuremberg trials (1945–1949), 7:285–291, 10:276
- refugees, 8:267
- reparations, 8:303, 304
- workers' compensation, 10:419
- World War I reparations, 10:449–450
- World War II, 10:425–427
- Yalta Agreement (1945), 10:445
- Gerrymandering, 1:320, 3:462, 5:72–74, 73, 9:158–160, 10:252–253
- Gettysburg Address (1863), 6:325–326
- Gettysburg Address (1863) (document), 12:470
- GI Bill, 5:74–77
- Giancana, Sam, 2:227
- Gibbons, Thomas, 5:77
- Gideon, Clarence Earl, 5:77–78
- Gift taxes. See Estate and gift taxes
- Gifts and donations, 5:79–81
- ademption, 1:92
- advancements, 1:135–136, 3:416–417
- causa mortis*, 2:276
- charitable, 2:37, 319–320, 320
- contemplation of death, 3:154
- contract consideration, 3:174
- customs duties, 3:326
- dedications, 3:371–372
- donee beneficiaries, 3:177–178
- gleaning, 5:102–103
- History of Tithes* (Selden), 9:86–87
- inter vivos*, 5:430–431
- personal property, 7:434
- power of appointment, 1:317–318
- precatory language, 8:56–57
- rule in Shelley's Case, 8:417–418
- tax issues, 4:221–222, 226
- transfer of assets, 10:79
- unitrusts, 10:166
- wills, 10:382
- See also* Charitable trusts; Wills and inheritance rights
- Gifts to Minors Act (1956), 5:81
- Gignoux, Edward Thaxter, 5:81–83, 82
- Gilbert, Cass, 5:83–86, 85
- Gillespie, Gerald, 5:165
- Gillett, Emma Melinda, 5:86–87, 7:148
- Gilligan, Carol, 4:375
- Gilpin, Henry Dilworth, 5:87–89, 88
- Gingrich, Newton Leroy, 3:88, 166, 5:89–93, 90
- Ginnie Mae. See Government National Mortgage Association (GNMA)
- Ginsburg, Douglas Howard, 5:93–94
- Ginsburg, Ruth Bader, 5:95, 95–97, 9:137, 10:239–240
- Gitlow, Benjamin, 5:97

- Glanvil, Ranulf, 5:98–99
 Glass, Carter, 5:99, 99–101, 101
 Glass-Steagall Act (1933), 1:474–475, 5:101, 101–102
 Gleaning, 5:102–103
 Global warming, 1:186, 4:175–176
 Glorious Revolution, England (1688), 9:124, 127
 Glosses, 5:103
 Godwin, William, 1:272–273
 Goering, Hermann, 7:288, 10:276
 Goetz, Bernhard, 9:90
 Going concern value, 5:103–104
 Going public, 5:104
 Gold
 California gold rush, 8:452–453 federal gold supply, 5:130
 gold standard, 7:20–21
 Klondike gold rush, 1:196
 Specie Circular (1836), 5:130
 Gold, Harry, 8:402–404
 Gold, Herbert, Random House v. Gold (1979), 8:177
 Goldberg, Arthur Joseph, 5:104–106, 105
 Griswold v. Connecticut (1965), 7:249
 right to counsel, 4:208–209
 Golden parachutes, 5:106–107
 Goldman, Emma, 1:273, 273, 5:107, 107–109
 Goldwater, Barry Morris, 5:109–112, 110
 book contract, 8:177
 Reagan, Ronald, and, 8:243
 Golf, 3:439
 Gompers, Samuel, 5:112–113, 113
 Gonzalez, Elian, 8:298
 Good behavior, 5:113
 Good cause, 5:113
 Good faith, 5:113–114
 business judgment rule, 2:190–192
 collective bargaining, 2:492 corporate directors, 3:220 covenants of, 4:127–128 down payment, 4:16
 emergency doctrine, 4:121
 Exclusionary Rule, 4:265–266
 reinsurance, 8:277–278
 requirements contracts, 8:320–322
 searches, 4:475
 wrongful discharge, 10:436
 See also Belief
 Good Samaritan doctrine, 5:102–103, 114–116
 Good time, 5:116
 Good will, 5:116
 Goods, 5:116
 confusion of, 3:87
 consignment, 3:106
 consumer protection, 3:148 contracts of sale, 3:182
 customs duties, 3:326
 de bonis no administratis, 3:353
 defects, 3:382
 detinue, 3:424
 distributors, 3:464
 documents of title, 3:497 drafts payment, 3:16–17
 flotsam, 4:437
 implied warranty, 5:345–346
 invoices, 5:473
 jetsam, 6:13
 ligan, 6:317
 mala fides, 6:401
 palm off, 7:352
 put, 8:192
 quantum valebant, 8:196
 recaption, 8:248–249
 receipt, 8:249
 Robinson-Patman Act (1936), 8:372–375
 salvage, 8:450–452
 shipping law, 3:2, 9:175–178
 smuggling, 9:220–221 stolen, 3:8
 trade dress, 10:66–67 transportation, 3:4–5
 unsolicited, 3:172
 warehouse receipts, 10:285, 286
 warehousemen, 10:285
 warranties, 10:288–289
 York-Antwerp Rules, 10:448–449
 See also Sales law
 Goodwin, Doris Kearns, 7:455
 GOPAC (political action committee), 5:91
 Gorbachev, Mikhail
 arms control and disarmament, 1:345–346, 3:185, 5:436–437
 fall of Soviet Union, 3:41
 Gore, Albert Arnold, Jr., 5:116–119, 117
 See also Presidential Election of 2000
 Gore, Mary Elizabeth “Tipper,” 5:119
 Göring, Hermann, 7:288, 10:276
 Gorman, Jeffrey, 3:440
 Gould, Jay, 8:223
 Government republics, 8:315–316
 rule under law, 8:419–420
 Second Treatise on Government (document), 12:16–44 social contract theory, 8:411–412
 ultra vires, 10:140–141
 Government bonds, 2:78–79
 Government buildings. See Public buildings Government contracts. See Public contracts
 Government corporations, 4:272
 Government employees
 discrimination, 4:184–185
 Ethics in Government Act (1978), 4:229–231
 Federal Tort Claims Act (1946), 4:356–358
 kickbacks, 6:135–136
 loyalty boards, 2:486
 merit system, 7:48 minimum wages and hours, 9:327 patent eligibility, 7:392
 women’s incomes, 3:51–52
 See also Civil service; Public officials
 Government franchises, 4:476–477
 Government information government documents, 5:120–121
 privacy, 8:107–108
 publishing law, 8:178–179
 United States Government Manual, 10:165
 U.S. Information Agency, 10:177–178
 Wheaton v. Peters (1834), 10:350–351
 Government instrumentality doctrine, 5:119
 Government interests, 6:462–463
 Government-issued insurance, 5:412, 419
 Government National Mortgage Association (GNMA), 4:350, 5:119–120, 299
 Government power arbitrary power, 2:172–173
 eminent domain, 4:402–403
 libertarianism, 6:307
 limitations, 2:198, 260
 Locke, John, 6:362–364
 Magna Charta, 6:395
 towns, 10:64–65
 Government Printing Office (GPO), 5:120–121, 121
 Government reorganization, 2:184–185, 8:300–303

- Government shutdown of 1990, 4:328
- Governmental studies, 2:300–301
- Governmental tort immunity, 5:330
- Governmentwide Policy, Office of, 5:61
- Governors
- pardons, 7:355
 - Republican Party, 8:320
 - Ross, Nellie Tayloe, 8:407, 407–408
 - veto, 6:259, 10:214
 - Wallace, George Corley, 10:268–270, 269
- Grab laws, 5:122
- Grace periods, 5:122
- Graduate School, Department of Agriculture, 1:178–179
- Graduated tax, 5:122
- Graft, 5:122
- Graham, Fred, 3:253
- Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act (1999). See Financial Services Modernization Act (1999)
- Gramm-Rudman-Hollings Act. See Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act (1985)
- Grammond, Maurice, 9:149
- Grand Central Terminal, 6:199
- Grand juries, 5:122–127
- criminal procedure, 3:285
 - evidence, 4:356
 - Exclusionary Rule, 4:266
 - Fifth Amendment, 4:403–404
 - Hurtado v. California* (1884), 5:318
 - indictments, 5:385
 - Minnesota, 6:79
 - no bill, 7:256
 - preliminary hearings, 8:63
 - presenting juries, English, 4:155
 - presentments, 8:69
 - prosecutors, 8:152–154
 - true bill, 10:113
 - Watergate cover-up, 6:8
- Grand larceny, 5:127, 6:205
- Grandfather clauses, 5:127–128, 7:155–156, 10:250
- Grandparents and grandchildren
- descent and distribution, 3:414
 - visitation rights, 4:317–318, 7:361–362, 10:242
- Granger, Gideon, 6:327
- Granger Movement, 5:128, 128
- Grant, Ulysses Simpson, 5:129, 129–130, 10:173
- Civil War, U.S., 10:173
 - Hoar, Ebenezer, appointment, 5:265–266
 - Reconstruction, 8:254
 - Whiskey Ring scandal, 5:377
- Grant deeds, 3:373–375, 374
- Grantees, 5:131
- Granting clauses, 5:131
- Grantor-grantee indexes, 5:131, 8:255
- Grantors, 5:131
- Grants, 5:128–129
- Community Development Block Grant Program, 5:298
 - Community Services block grants, 3:49
 - government franchises, 4:476–477
 - right of reentry, 8:356–357
- Graphical user interfaces (GUI), 9:235
- Graphs and charts, evidence, 3:398
- Gratian, 2:233, 8:387–388
- Gratuities, 5:131–132, 364
- Gratuitous, 5:131
- Gratuitous licensees, 5:131
- Gravamen, 5:132
- Graves. See Cemeteries and graves
- Gray, Horace, 5:132, 132–133
- Gray, John Chipman, 5:133–134
- Gray, William Herbert, III, 5:135–137, 136
- Gray Panthers, 5:134–135, 135
- Grazing rights, 6:190–191
- Great Britain
- admiralty courts, 8:116
 - Alabama* claims, 3:350–351, 5:266, 10:264
 - Alaska boundary dispute, 1:196
 - Bering Sea Dispute, 2:22–23
 - Brougham, Henry Peter, 2:134–135
 - Bryce, James, 2:155–156
 - Burke, Edmund, 2:171–173
 - Campbell, John, 2:223
 - Casement, Sir Roger David, 2:269–270
 - Cockburn, Sir Alexander James Edmund, 2:465
 - Coke, Sir Edward, 2:482–485, 483
 - colonial policy, 2:172
 - Declaration of Independence, U.S., 3:368–369
 - DNA database, 8:102
 - ecclesiastical courts, 4:59
 - escheat, 4:206–207
 - extraterritoriality, 4:295
- India, policy in, 2:172–173, 5:28–30
- International Tax Convention, 4:7
- Ireland, policy in, 2:172
- Jay's Treaty (1795), 3:396–397, 7:450
- King Edward VIII, 1:5, 5
- Maine, Henry James Sumner, 6:397–399
- Migratory Bird Treaty (1918), 7:55
- Monroe Doctrine, 7:104–105
- Oregon territory, 8:19–20
- Parliament, 9:87
- Pierrepoint, Edwards, minister to, 7:446–447
- Privy Council, 8:115–116
- regnal years, 12:564*t*
- seal of King Edward III, 9:38
- Seven Bishops' Trial (1688), 9:124, 127–128
- Stamp Act (1765), 5:246, 9:297
- Stamp Act (document), 12:57–68
- taxation of American colonies, 3:426
- Townshend Acts (1767), 10:65–66
- Townshend Acts (1767) (document), 12:69–78
- Treaty of Paris (1783), 10:95–96, 96
- Trent* affair (1861), 10:98
- troops in American colonies, 7:64–65
- Venezuela-British Guiana dispute (1895), 7:313
- War of 1812, 10:277–279
- War of Independence, 10:279–281
- Westminster Hall, 10:347
- World War II, 7:187, 231
- Writ of Assistance* case (1761), 10:430–431
- Zenger seditious libel case, 10:453–454
- See also* English law
- Great care, 2:247
- Great Depression
- administrative agencies, 1:102, 108
 - banks, 1:474
 - family farms, 1:171–172
 - First Inaugural Address (Roosevelt, F.) (document), 12:476–478
 - Hoover, Herbert, policies, 5:288–289, 7:232
 - Prohibition, 8:141

Robinson-Patman Act (1936), 8:372–372
 socialism, 9:231
 unemployment, 10:145
 Wagner, Robert Ferdinand, 10:262–263
 white-collar crime, 10:359
See also New Deal programs
 Great Society (social programs), 5:138–139, 6:23–24 Greece, ancient
 amnesty, 1:265
 Aristotle, 1:331–332
 constitutions, 3:115
 judiciary, 6:61–62
 legal ethics, 8:133
 Green, Tom, 8:27
 Green cards, 5:139
 Green Party, 5:139–140, 7:161
 Greenberg, Jack, 4:55, 5:140–142
 Greenglass, David, 8:401–404
 Greenglass, Ruth, 8:401–402, 404
 Greenmail, 5:142–143
 Greenspan, Alan, 4:353
 Gregg, Troy, 5:144
 Gregory, Thomas Watt, 5:144–146, 145
 Gregory Diggings Code of Colorado, 7:77
 Grier, Robert Cooper, 5:146–148, 147
 Grievance procedures, 5:148
 Griggs, John William, 5:148–149, 149
 Griswold, Estelle, 7:422
 Groesbeck, William Slocomb, 5:150–152
 Gross, 5:152
 Gross estate, 4:222–225, 5:152
 Gross income, 5:152, 364–365
 Gross negligence, 5:152
 Grotius, Hugo, 5:153, 153
 Ground rent, 5:153–154
 Grounds, 5:154
 cancellation of an instrument, 2:231–232 groundless litigation, 1:492
 Group arraignment, 1:349
 Group legal services, 5:154–155
 Grubman, Allen J., 4:164
 Grundy, Felix, 5:155–156, 156
 Guarantees, 5:156
 Guaranties, 5:156, 157
 Guaranty clauses, 5:156
 Guardians, 5:156
 ad litem, 1:81 negotiating settlements, 1:57
 spendthrifts, 9:277
 Guardians ad litem, 2:352, 368–369, 5:157–158, 7:243

Guardians and wards, 5:158–161 life-sustaining medical treatment decisions, 8:205–207
 probate, 8:122
 Guards. See Police and guards, private Guest statutes (car owners), 5:162–163
 Guest workers, 7:51–52
 Guidelines
 punitive damages, 8:189
 sentencing, 10:181
 Guilt, establishment of. See Burden of proof
 Guilty, 5:163
 See also Plea bargaining
 Gulf War (1991), 1:339
 Gun control, 5:163–167, 166
 Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms, and Explosives, Bureau of, 1:207
 assault-weapons ban, 10:235
 Black Panther Party protest (1967), 2:49, 49–50
 Brady Center to Prevent Gun Violence, 2:99–101
 Brady Handgun Violence Prevention Act (1993), 2:101, 4:363, 10:317
 National Firearms Act (1934), 7:175–176
 National Rifle Association, 7:187–188
 Second Amendment, 5:134, 9:51–52
 Gun Control Act (1968), 5:163–164
 Gun-Free School Zones Act (1990), 3:4, 4:363
 Gun-Free Schools Act (1994), 5:353
 Gun manufacturers. See Manufacturers, firearms

H

H. W. Wilson Co., 5:383
 Haas, Gilbert K., 5:370
 Habeas corpus, 5:169–174, 172
 Anti-Terrorism and Effective Death Penalty Act (1996), 8:91, 97
 criminal procedure, 3:285, 290
 enemy combatants, 4:142
 Ex parte Milligan (1866), 7:76, 10:173–174
 Judicial Conference of the United States, 6:52
 Lockyer v. Andrade (2003), 10:30
 Magna Charta, 6:394

parole, 7:372
 petitions, 7:437
 prisoners' rights, 8:91, 97
Somerset's Case (1772), 6:421 suspension during U.S. Civil War, 8:74
 writs, 10:429
 Habeas Corpus Act (1679, England), 5:174
 Habeas Corpus Act (1867), 5:170
 Habendum clauses, 5:174
 Habitability, 5:174, 6:194–195, 10:287–288
 Habitat for Humanity, 2:263
 Habitat modification, 4:139
 Habitual, 5:174
 Hacking and hackers
 Electronic Frontier Foundation, 4:104
 Internet, 5:454–455, 459–460
 LaMacchia, David, 3:152, 200
 software piracy, 3:152–153
 viruses and worms, 3:63–66
 Hagelin, John S., 7:210, 210–211
 Hagerman, Amber, 6:139
 Hague Conference of 1907, 7:62, 230
 Hague Convention on the Civil Aspects of International Child Abduction (1980), 4:317
 Hague Tribunal, 5:174–175
 Haitian refugees, 8:268–269
 Hale, Matt, 10:363–364
 Hall, Gus, 3:46
 Hall, Kermit L., 6:238
 Hallford, James Hubert, 8:381
 Hamdi, Yaser Esam, 4:142
 Hamer, Fannie Lou Townsend, 5:175–177, 176
 Hamilton, Alexander, 5:178–181, 179
 Burr, Aaron and, 2:175–177, 4:42, 42
 censure, 2:291
 Democratic Republican Party, 3:396
 Federalist, Number 78 (document), 12:130–132
 Federalist Papers, 4:367–368, 7:108, 247
 Jefferson, Thomas, dispute with, 6:12
 legal realism, 6:245
 Washington, George and, 10:302
 Hamilton, Andrew, 8:16, 10:453–454
 Hampton, Fred, 2:51–52
 Hampton Roads Peace Conference (1865), 2:225

- Hancock, John, 3:159
- Hand, Learned, 5:182–185, 183
Hotchkiss v. National City Bank (1911), 7:294
 penumbra doctrine, 7:422
United States v. Aluminum Co. of America (1945), 1:300
- Hand, W. Brevard, 10:271
- Handbook of Forensic Science* (FBI), 4:454
- Handgun Control, Inc. (HCI), 2:99–100
- Hanford, Ben, 9:233
- Hanssen, Robert, 4:213, 213, 333
- Happiness and utilitarianism, 10:189–190
- Harassment racial, 2:399
 restraining orders, 8:340
See also Sexual harassment
- Harbor, 5:185
 accessories after the fact, 1:52 escaped prisoners, 4:206
- Harbors and piers
 admiralty and maritime law, 1:116, 118–119
 commerce clause, 3:2
 federal vs. state jurisdiction, 1:489, 493–494
 pilots, 7:447
 wharves, 10:348–349
- Harding, George, 5:185–186, 186
- Harding, Warren, 5:186–188, 187
 Attorney General Daugherty, 3:344
 Teapot Dome scandal (1924), 5:377
- Hardingham, David, 5:115
- Hardwick, Michael, 9:234
- Harken Energy, 2:182–183
- Harlan, John Marshall, 5:188–190, 189
Civil Rights cases (1883)
 dissent, 2:97, 402
Lochner v. New York (1905), 6:361
- Harlan, John Marshall II, 5:190–191, 191
- Harlem Renaissance, 1:447
- Harm
 Endangered Species Act (1973), 4:139
 intentional torts, 10:57, 59
- Harmless errors, 5:191–192
 appeals procedure, 1:307
 lawsuits, 4:204
 matters of law, 6:464
- Harmon, Judson, 5:192–194, 193
- Harpers Ferry, West Virginia, 1:12–13, 2:138
- Harriman, Edward Henry, 8:223
- Harris, Katherine, 2:187
- Harrison, Benjamin, 5:194–196, 195
 election of 1888, 4:101
 Miller, William H.H., Attorney General, 7:74
- Harrison, Robert Hanson, 5:196–197, 197
- Harrison, William Henry, 5:197–199, 198
- Harrison Act (1914), 4:28
- Hart, Nancy, 1:364
- Hart-Scott-Rodino Antitrust Improvements Act (1976), 7:46–47
- Harvard Law Review*, 6:215, 216
- Harvard Law School
 Ames, James Barr, 1:260–261
 case method, 2:267–268
 Chafee, Zechariah, Jr., 2:312–315
 Dershowitz, Alan, 3:408
 Gray, John Chipman, 5:133–134
 history, 6:236
 Langdell, Christopher Columbus, 6:202–203
 law reviews, 6:215, 216
 Pound, Roscoe, 8:44–46
 tenure process, 2:8–9
- Harvard University
 Civil Rights Project, 5:422–423
 Kissinger, Henry Alfred, 6:145–146
 Rawls, John, 8:240–241
- Hastert, Dennis J., 3:88
- Hastie, William Henry, 5:199, 199–200
- Hastings, Alcee L., 5:83, 337
- Hastings College of Law, 4:438
- Hatch Act (1887), 2:408
- Hatch Act (1939), 5:201–202
- Hatchett, Glenda, 2:217
- Hate crimes, 5:202–207, 203, 207 against gays and lesbians, 5:47
 motives, 7:130–131
 Southern Poverty Law Center, work of, 9:254–255
 white supremacy groups, 10:362–364
- Hate speech laws limiting, 4:500–501
R.A.V. v. City of St. Paul (1992), 10:143
- Hatfield and McCoy feud, 2:65, 89
- Hauptmann, Bruno Richard, 2:214, 218, 6:329
- Have and hold, 5:207
- Hawaii
 Dole, Sanford Ballard, 3:501–502
 fraud, 4:488
 same-sex marriage, 3:387–388, 5:15, 48, 321–322
 sexual assault laws, 8:236–237
 Trask, Mililani B., 10:86–87
- Hawkers and peddlers, 5:207–208
- Hawkins, Alfred E., 8:50–51
- Hawkins, James, 2:413
- Hawley-Smoot Tariff Act (1930), 1:179
- Hay, George, 2:176–177
- Hay-Bunau-Varilla Treaty (1903), 5:449
- Hayes, George E.C., 2:143, 5:208–209, 209
- Hayes, Rutherford Birchard, 5:210, 210–211
 election of 1876, 4:100–101, 6:465, 10:33–34
 Evarts, William Maxwell and, 4:243
 Reconstruction, 8:254
- Hayes-Tilden Electoral Commission, 2:98
- Haymarket Square riot (1886), 5:108, 211–213, 212, 9:230
- Haynsworth, Clement Furman, Jr., 2:258, 5:213, 213–214
- Hays, Arthur Garfield, 1:249
- Hays, William Harrison, 5:214–215, 215
- Haywood, Margaret Austin, 5:215–217, 216
- Haywood, William Dudley, 5:217–218, 218
- Hazardous wastes. See Solid wastes, hazardous substances, and toxic pollutants
- Hazards
 coinsurance, 2:480
 dangerous instrumentality, 3:336
 strict liability, 9:370
See also Safety issues
- Hazing, alcohol use, 1:201
- H.B. (house bill), 5:218
- HCI (Handgun Control, Inc.), 2:99–100
- Head of household, 5:218
- Head Start program, 2:349
- Head taxes. See Capitation taxes
- Headnotes, 5:218–219
- Health and Human Services, Department of (HHS), 5:219–222, 220, 8:169–172

- Health care
 American Medical Association, 1:260
 Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services, 2:301–302
 child support, 2:366
 Defense, Department of, 3:386–387
 HMO enrollment, 6:413
 industry kickbacks, 6:136
 maintenance and cure, 8:438
 managed care, 6:412–413
 preemption, 8:60–61
 Public Health Service, 8:169–172
 residency requirements, 8:332
 standards of care, 6:409
 veterans, 10:211–212
 Veterans Health
 Administration, 10:208–209
 workers' compensation, 10:422
See also Medical treatment; National health care
- Health care costs, 5:226
 AIDS treatment, 1:75–76
 indoor air quality, 1:187
 insurance premiums, 5:228 malpractice claims, 7:30
 managed care, 6:412–413
 medical savings accounts, 5:231
 Medicare and Medicaid, 7:26–28, 31–32
 national health care, 7:180, 181
 nonpayment of bills, 7:404–405
- Health care law, 5:222–228
The Health Effects of Involuntary Smoking (Surgeon General report, 1986), 9:408
- Health insurance, 5:228–232, 229
 AIDS patients, 1:71
 American Association of Retired Persons advocacy, 1:245
 coinsurance, 2:480
 employee husbands benefits, 5:482
 Employee Retirement Income Security Act (1974), 4:126, 134
 genetic screening, 5:66
 Gray Panthers advocacy, 5:135
 Health and Human Services, Department of, 5:221
 health care law, 5:226–228
 incontestability clauses, 5:369–370
 managed care, 6:412–413
 preemption, 8:60–61
 riders, 8:353
See also Medicare and Medicaid; National health care
- Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act, 4:126
- Health issues abortion clinics, 1:19, 21–22, 24–25
 absentee voting, 1:32
 alcohol use, 1:206
 breast implants, 1:469
 continuance, 3:164
 disabilities, 3:435, 440
 education by AMA, 1:260
 environmental tobacco smoke, 10:43, 44–45, 48
 genetic screening, 5:66–68
 intervening causes, 5:470–471 needle exchange programs, 7:219
 Occupational Safety and Health Act (1970), 7:300–302, 301 smokeless tobacco, 10:44–45
 substance abuse, 7:164
 Surgeon General, 9:406–407, 408–409
 tobacco, 10:41–51
See also Diseases
- Health maintenance organizations (HMO) managed care, 5:227, 230, 6:412–413
 medical malpractice, 5:222–223
 patients' rights, 7:405–406
 preemption, 8:60–61
- Health Resources and Services Administration (HRSA), 5:222, 8:171
- Hearing examiners, 1:110, 5:233–234, 7:301–302
- Hearing impaired persons educational programs, 4:64
Zobrest v. Catalina Foothills School District (1993), 8:288
- Hearings, 5:232–233
 adjudication, 1:96, 109–110
 adoption, 1:131
 appeals, 1:307, 315
 Church committee, 2:303–304
 competency, 5:367–368
 Congressional, 3:94–95, 156, 385, 5:258, 341
 courts, 3:241
 deportation, 1:219, 225 evidentiary, 5:173 exclusion, 1:219
- House Un-American Activities Committee, 3:41
 Huntley hearings, 5:318
 parole, 1:103–104
 private roads, 8:110
 quasi-judicial actions, 8:199
 quasi-legislative actions, 8:200
 sentencing, 9:107–108
 small claims, 9:215
 suppression, 4:472
 televised, 6:110
 Tuskegee Syphilis Study, 10:126–127
See also Confirmation hearings, U.S. Supreme Court; House Un-American Activities Committee (HUAC); Preliminary hearings
- Hearsay, 5:234–237
 admissions, 1:120, 9:199
 business records, 2:192
 dying declarations, 4:53
 evidence, 4:249, 252–253
 grand juries, 5:123
 Hearsay Rule 802, 10:107
Lilly v. Virginia (1999), 3:86
- Hearst, Patty, 2:473, 5:237–239, 238 defense by F. Lee Bailey, 1:443
 exculpatory defense, 3:279–280
- Heart balm acts, 5:239, 320–321
- Heat of passion, 5:239–240
- Heavily Indebted Poor Countries Initiative (HIPC), 10:423
- Hegel, Georg Wilhelm Friedrich, 5:240, 240–241
- Heidemann, Gerd, 4:460
- Heightened scrutiny test, 4:192
- Heirs, 5:241
See also Wills and inheritance rights
- Helms, Jesse Alexander, Jr., 5:242–245, 243
 abortion laws, 1:18
 arts funding, 2:287–288
- Helpless plaintiffs, 6:207
- Helsinki Declaration (1964), 5:63–64
- Helvétius, Claude-Adrien, 2:20
- Hemlock Society, 4:238–239
- Henceforth, 5:245
- Henderson, Sherri, 7:143
- Hennessey, Lois, 5:11–12
- Henry, Patrick, 5:246–247, 247
- Henry I, King of England, 6:392
- Henry II, King of England, 5:245, 245–246
 centralized judicial system, 6:392–393

- church and state relations, 2:4–5
- royal courts, 4:154–155
- Hereafter, 5:247
- Hereditaments, 5:247
- Heritage Foundation, 5:248
- Heroin
 - search and seizure, 5:10
 - smuggling, 9:221
- Herzog, Lawrence, 2:89
- Hess, Rudolph, 7:288
- Hialeah (FL), Church of Lukumi Babalu Aye, Inc. v. City of Hialeah (1993), 8:292, 10:143
- Hibernia Bank, San Francisco (CA), 5:237–238
- Hicklin test, 8:410
- Hierarchy, 5:248
- Hierarchy, court, 6:62–64
- Higginbotham, Aloyisus Leon, Jr., 5:248–250, 249
- High crimes and misdemeanors, 3:130, 5:251–252, 338–339
- High-definition television (HDTV), 9:453
- High Intensity Drug Trafficking Areas program, 4:25
- High schools, Columbine High School (CO), 7:144
- Higher education. See Colleges and universities
- Highways and roads, 5:252–255, 255
 - driving privilege, 5:344
 - encroachment, 4:135
 - Federal Highway Administration, 10:82–83
 - funding, 1:417–418, 9:276–277
 - National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, 10:83
 - pent roads, 7:421
 - private roads, 8:109–110
- Hijacking, 5:255–257
- Hilgemeier, Edward, 3:108
- Hill, Anita Faye, 5:257–259, 9:152–153, 10:21–22
- Hill, Oliver White, Sr., 5:259–260
- Himmel, James H., 1:402
- Hinckley, John W., Jr., 5:407, 408, 9:34
- Hire, available for, 3:29
- Hiring practices
 - disabilities, 3:437–438
 - disparate impact, 3:459–461
- Hirohito, 5:260, 260–261
- Hiroshima bombing. See Nuclear weapons, World War II
- Hirschi, Travis, 3:293
- Hispanic Americans
 - League of United Latin American Citizens, 6:222–223
 - National Council of La Raza, 7:170–171
 - school segregation, 5:423
- Hiss, Alger, 5:261–263, 262
- Historic preservation
 - historic districts, 6:189–190
 - landmarks, 1:358, 6:197–199
 - National Preservation Program, 6:312
- Historical natural law, 7:208–210
- History, legal. See Legal history
- History of Tithes* (Selden), 9:86–87
- Hitler, Adolf, 5:263–264, 264
 - diaries hoax, 4:460
 - Nazis, Nuremberg trials (1945–1949), 7:288
 - World War II, 10:425
- HIV. See Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome (AIDS)
- Hoar, Ebenezer Rockwood, 5:265–266
- Hobart, Sir Henry, 4:153
- Hobbes, Thomas, 5:266–267
- Hobbs, Abigail, 8:442
- Hobbs Act (1994), 1:25, 8:204
- Hockey, ice, 9:291
- Hoffa, James Riddle, 5:267–270, 269, 6:124
- Hoffman, Julius J., 2:339–340, 6:165
- Hoffman, Walter Edward, 5:270–272
- Hofmann, Mark, 4:460
- Hold harmless agreements, 5:272
- Hold over, 5:272–273
- Holders, 3:20–21, 5:273
- Holders in due course, 5:273
- Holding, 5:273
- Holding companies, 5:273
- Holidays, 5:273
 - Armistice Day, 1:342
 - closing of government offices, 8:288
 - collective bargaining agreements, 2:497–498
 - religious vs. secular displays, 8:284–285
 - Veteran's Day, 1:342
- Hollywood (CA). See Movies and movie industry
- Hollywood Madam, 8:158
- Hollywood Ten, 2:56, 56
- Holmes, Oliver Wendell, Jr., 5:273–276, 275, 6:244
 - Abrams v. United States* (1919), 1:26–29, 4:215
 - Buck v. Bell* (1927), 2:160–161
 - clear and present danger standard, 2:431–432, 4:502
 - The Common Law*, 12:494
 - dissents, 3:462
 - Hammer v. Dagenhart* (1918), 5:182
 - jurisprudence, 6:74
 - legal philosophy, 6:77, 78, 241, 243–244, 7:116
 - Lochner v. New York* (1905), 6:361
 - National League of Professional Baseball Clubs v. Federal Baseball Club of Baltimore* (1927), 1:495
 - “The Path of the Law” (document), 12:505–517
 - penumbra doctrine, 7:422
 - Pollock, Frederick, friendship with, 8:24
 - proponent of balancing, 1:453
 - Schenck v. United States* (1919), 1:27–29, 2:313, 4:498, 9:14
 - sovereign immunity, 4:357
 - Whitney v. California* (1927), 3:42
- Holocaust
 - education, 1:295
 - genocide, 5:69–70
 - Nuremberg trials (1945–1949), 7:285–286
 - reparations, 8:304
- Holographic wills, 10:377, 378, 380–381
- Holographs, 5:276
- Home loan guarantees, 10:213
- Home rule, 5:276, 7:138–139
- Homeland Security, Department of, 5:276–278
 - Bureau of Citizenship and Immigration Services, 1:217
 - Coast Guard, 1:335
 - creation of, 2:184–185, 4:271, 10:8
 - Energy Department, cooperation with, 4:147
 - immigration control, 6:91
 - Ridge, Thomas Joseph, 8:354–355
 - Secret Service, 9:58
- Homeland Security Act (2002)
 - alcohol, tobacco, firearms, explosives bureaus, 1:207
 - enactment, 10:8

- release of government information, 4:498
- Homeless persons, 5:278–280, 279, 10:192
- census counts, 2:294–295
- McKinney Homeless Assistance Act (1987), 7:21
- vagrancy, 10:192
- Homeowner associations, 6:186
- Homeowner's insurance, 2:480
- Homeowner's warranties, 5:280
- Homes. See Abodes; Houses and housing
- Homestead Act (1862), 5:281–282
- Homestead protection
- bankruptcy cases, 1:466–467
- foreclosure, 1:174
- head of household, 5:218
- Homestead Strike (1892), 7:448
- Homesteads, 5:280–281
- Homicide, 3:209–210, 5:282–284, 283, 7:91
- See also* Manslaughter; Murder
- Homosexuality. See Gay and lesbian rights; Gays and lesbians
- Honor, 5:284
- Honor codes, juvenile offenders, 6:330
- Honorable discharge, 7:57
- Honorary trusts, 5:284–285
- Hooks, Benjamin Lawson, 5:285–287, 286
- Hoover, Herbert Clark, 5:287–289, 288, 7:232, 8:299, 10:370–371
- Hoover, John Edgar, 4:332, 5:289–291, 290
- COINTELPRO, 2:481–482
- FBI tenure, 4:332
- House Un-American Activities Committee, 3:38–39
- Rosenbergs trial (1951), 8:404
- Hoover Dam, 5:469
- Horizontal mergers, 7:44–45
- Hornblower, William Butler, 5:291–292
- Hornbooks, 5:292
- Horses, 6:347
- Hospitals
- health care law, 5:222–223, 224–225, 225–226
- health insurance, 5:231
- joint operating agreements, 6:32
- Medicare, 7:33, 9:227–228
- patients' rights, 7:404–405
- physician history, 7:443
- VA medical centers, 1:259
- Hostages, 5:292–293
- Hostile fire, 5:293
- Hostile possession, 1:140–141
- Hostile witnesses, 1:139, 5:293
- Hostile work environments, 9:153–155
- Hot Line Agreement (1963, 1971), 1:344, 5:293
- Hot pursuit, 5:293–294
- Hotchpot, 5:294
- Hotels and motels
- discrimination case, 3:6
- gratuities, 5:132
- innkeepers, 5:401–402
- House arrest, 5:295, 358
- "A House Divided" speech (document), 12:305–306
- House of Commons, 4:156
- House of Representatives, U.S., 5:295–297
- apportionment, 1:319, 319–320
- appropriation, 1:323
- articles of impeachment, 1:360–361, 5:341
- Browning v. Clerk, U.S. House of Representatives* (1986), 9:271–272
- Budget Committee, 3:137
- Ethics Committee, 3:484, 5:91
- gag rules, 1:85, 5:24–25
- Rules Committee, 3:90–91
- Speaker, 3:88
- statistical sampling and apportionment, 2:295–297
- House Un-American Activities Committee (HUAC)
- blacklists, 2:55–56
- Cohn, Roy Marcus, 2:479
- Cold War, 2:486–487
- Communist Party, 3:43, 46
- contempt, 3:156
- Hiss, Alger, investigation, 5:262
- investigations and hearings, 3:38–39, 41
- Red scare, 8:261
- Housebreaking, 5:297
- Households, 5:297
- Houses and housing
- acts of God, 1:77
- arson, 1:354
- building codes, 2:162
- condominiums and cooperatives, 3:72–74
- discrimination, 3:452, 7:69–70, 9:24–25, 84
- disorderly houses, 3:458
- domestic, 3:503
- eviction and drug use, 4:29–30
- Fair Housing Act (1968), 4:302–304
- Federal National Mortgage Association, 4:350–351
- habitability, 5:174
- homeowner's warranties, 5:280
- homesteads, 5:280–281
- land-use controls, 6:185–192
- lodgers, 6:367
- low-income, 5:119–120, 298–299
- one-family houses sold (1980–1999), 2:455
- ownership vs. rental, 1:10
- party walls, 7:384
- public, 6:196–197, 8:332, 10:338
- transitional from homelessness, 7:21
- veterans' home loan guarantees, 10:213
- zoning, 8:213
- See also* Landlords and tenants; Real estate
- Housing and Urban Development, Department of, 4:304, 5:297–299, 298
- Houston, Charles Hamilton, 5:300, 300–301
- Houston (TX)
- air pollution, 1:186
- football team, 9:282
- race riots, 3:247
- How to Create a System for the Law Office* (Ramo), 8:227
- Howard, Benjamin Chew, 5:302, 302–303
- Howard University Law School
- Hastie, William Henry, 5:200
- Houston, Charles Hamilton, 5:301
- Howe, William, 10:280
- H.R. 10 plans. See Keogh plans
- Hubbell, Webster, 10:368
- Hubert H. Humphrey Building, 1:280
- Hughes, Charles Evans, 5:303, 303–305
- dissents, 3:463
- Near v. Minnesota* (1931), 7:216–217
- NLRB v. Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp.* (1937), 7:256
- prior restraint, 8:85
- Hughes, Howard, 10:377
- Hull House, Chicago, 1:89–90
- Human cloning. See Cloning
- Human Genome Project, 7:390
- Human immunodeficiency virus (HIV). See Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome (AIDS)

- Human rights, 5:305–307
 Amnesty International, 1:267–269
 Carter, James Earl, Jr., 2:263–264
 Center for Constitutional Rights, 2:297–298
 Chafee, Zechariah, Jr., 2:315
 international law, 5:446
 State Department country reports, 9:316
 Wald, Patricia McGowan, 10:266–267
- Human Rights Watch, 5:307–308
- Humane treatment of animals.
See Animal rights
- Humanitarianism
 Carter, James Earl, Jr., 2:263
 Hoover, Herbert Clark, 5:287
- Humanities
 law, 6:212
 National Endowment for the Humanities, 1:356–357
- Hume, David, 5:309–310
- Humphrey, Hubert Horatio, 5:310–312, 311, 7:7
- Humphrey, William E., 1:101
- Humphry, Derek, 4:238–239
- Hundreds, 5:312
- Hung juries, 5:312
- Hunger strikes, 5:359
- Hunt, Ward, 5:312–314, 313
- Hunter, Elmo Bolton, 5:314–316
- Hunting, 5:316–318
 game, 5:25, 25–26, 26
 Migratory Bird Treaty (1918), 7:55
 National Rifle Association, 7:187–188
 Native American rights, 7:199–201
 poaching, 8:1
- Huntley hearings, 5:318
- Hurst, James Willard, 6:238
- Hurtado, Joseph, 5:318
- Husbands and wives, 5:318–322
 battered spouse syndrome, 1:502–503 community property, 10:382
 consortium, 3:106–107
 coverture, 3:258
 descent and distribution, 3:414–416
 maintenance, 6:399–400
 names, 7:162
 necessities, 7:217
 postmarital agreements, 8:43
 privileged communications, 6:430–431, 8:112–113, 10:407 property settlement, 8:150–151
 rape, 8:234
 right of election, 8:355–356
 rights of wives, 1:290, 9:132–133
 services, 6:371, 9:116
 tenancy by the entirety, 9:456
 testimony, 10:406
uxor, 10:190
 wills, 10:381–382
See also Marriage
- Hussein, Saddam, 10:283–284
- Hustler* (magazine), 7:368–369
- Hutchinson, Thomas, 10:430–431
- Hyde, Henry J., 1:18
- Hygiene, prisoners' rights, 8:95
- Hypodermic needles, 7:219
- Hypothecate, 5:322
- Hypotheses, 5:322
- Hypothetical questions, 5:322
- I
- I Am movement, 8:283
- I Am Roe: My Life, Roe v. Wade, and Freedom of Choice* (McCorvey), 8:382
- "I Have a Dream" speech (King) (document), 12:359–361
- Ibid.*, 5:323
- ICC (International Code Council), 2:162
- Idem*, 5:323
- Identification
 checks (finance), 1:478
 evidence, 4:253
 lineups, 6:331–332
See also Signatures
- Identity theft, 5:323–325, 325
 consumer fraud, 3:146
 false personation, 4:312
 Internet fraud, 5:458–459
- Identity Theft and Assumption Deterrence Act (1998), 5:325
- I.E. (id est)*, 5:325
- Ignition interlock devices, 4:49
- Illegal aliens
 amnesty, 1:266
 civil rights, 1:214–215
 from Mexico, 7:50, 50
 welfare, 1:218–219
- Illegal Immigration and Reform and Immigration Responsibility Act (1996), 1:214, 3:325
- Illegal provisions of trusts, 10:117–118
- Illegitimacy, 5:326–328, 328
 descent and distribution, 3:413–414
 equal protection, 4:195
 filiation proceedings, 4:404
filius nullius, 4:404
 paternity, 7:398
- Illicit, 5:328
- Illinois
 Altgeld, John P., 3:338
 Breese, Sidney, 2:108–109
 Browning, Orville Hickman, 2:150–151
 Caton, John Dean, 2:273
 Davis, David, 3:349 death row inmates' clemency grant, 2:436–437
 divorce laws, 3:472
 Juvenile Court Act (1899), 6:97–98
 Moseley-Braun, Carol Elizabeth, 7:126–127
 Native American adoptions, 5:384
 Stevenson, Adlai Ewing, 9:345
 telecommunications case, 9:449–450
- Illinois Annotations*, 6:242
- Illness. See Health issues
- Illusory promises, 5:328–329
- Illustrations, patent, 7:394
- ImClone Systems Inc., 3:226
- Immaterial, 5:329
- Immediate causes, 5:329
- Immigration Act (1918), 8:260
- Immigration Act (1990), 1:217
- Immigration and emigration, 4:122, 122, 5:329
 African Americans to Africa, 5:42
 asylum, 1:383–384
 census counts of illegal immigrants, 2:294–295
 Chinese Exclusion Act (1882), 2:370
 English-only laws, 4:159–160
 farm workers, 2:333–334
 Homeland Security, Department of, 6:91
 Immigration Restriction League, 10:290
 indefinite detention, protest against, 4:40
 Know-Nothing Party, 6:149–151
 law, 1:213–227, 265–266
 from Mexico, 7:50, 50
 rates, 1:216
 Red scare (1917–1920), 8:260
 refugees, 8:268–269
 rights of immigrants, 2:113
 Sacco and Vanzetti trial (1921), 8:436–437

- Student Exchange Visitor Information System, 1:148
- Triangle Shirtwaist Company fire (1911), 10:109–111
- USA PATRIOT Act (2001), 10:184, 185
- visas, 1:217–218, 221–224, 10:240–241
- welfare, 10:335, 336
- See also* Aliens
- Immigration and Nationality Act (1995), 1:216
- Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS). See Citizenship and Immigration Services, Bureau of
- Immigration Reform and Control Act (1986), 1:265–266
- Immigration Restriction League, 10:290
- Imminent, 5:329
- Imminent peril doctrine, 4:121
- Immunity, 5:329–333
- diplomatic, 1:242–243
- judicial, 6:52–56
- malicious prosecution, 6:408
- police officers, 8:7
- presidential, 8:71
- prosecutors, 8:155
- qualified, 4:69–70, 81
- Section 1983, 9:61–62
- self-incrimination, privilege against, 8:111
- service of process, 9:120–121
- sovereign immunity, 9:255–258
- state's evidence, 9:324–325
- tort law, 10:61–62
- wrongful death, 10:433, 435
- See also* Executive privilege
- Immunization programs, 5:333–336, 335
- Impanel, 5:336
- Impartiality, 5:336
- judges, 2:467–468
- juries, 5:126, 9:130–131, 162–163, 197–198
- Impeach, 5:336
- Impeachment, 5:336–341
- articles of impeachment, 1:360–361
- carpetbag judges, 2:253
- Chase, Samuel, 2:108, 326–327, 330, 4:369, 6:447
- Clinton, William Jefferson, 2:452, 8:276, 9:311
- Constitution, 3:130
- Hastings, Warren, 2:172–173
- high crimes and misdemeanors, 5:251–252
- initiation of, 8:70–71
- Johnson, Andrew, 2:324, 4:242, 5:151, 251, 6:17, 25
- Nixon, Richard Milhaus, 7:253, 8:439, 10:313
- Pickering, John, 2:108
- special courts, 9:262
- theories of, 3:317
- Turner, George, 6:229
- Impediment, 5:341
- Impersonation, 5:341–342
- Impertinence, 5:342
- Impleader, 5:342–343, 7:376, 10:19
- Implied, 5:343
- acceptance, 1:50, 380
- conditions, 3:72
- contracts, 3:167–168
- covenant of good faith and fair dealing, 10:436
- notice, 1:80
- promises, 8:142
- Implied consent, 5:343–345
- Implied-in-law contracts. See Quasi contracts
- Implied warranties, 5:345–346, 10:288–289
- caveat emptor*, 2:279
- commercial leases, 6:225
- consumer protection, 3:150
- habitability, 6:194–195
- product liability, 8:128–130
- sales law, 8:446–447
- Import quotas, 5:346–347
- Imported Drugs Act (1848), 4:28
- Imports and exports
- agricultural markets, 1:179
- automobile quotas, 1:422
- British goods, American colonies, 5:246
- Court of International Trade, 9:262
- Export Administration, Bureau of, 3:10
- sweatshop production, 2:356
- U.S. colonies, 9:297
- Impossibility, 5:347–348
- Imposter rule, 5:348
- Imposts, 5:348
- Impoundment, 5:149, 348–350, 8:73
- Impracticability, 5:350
- Imprimatur*, 5:350
- Imprisonment. See Detention and incarceration
- Improper administrative procedure, 4:282
- Improper purpose and malicious prosecution, 6:407
- Impropriety, avoidance of, 2:467
- Improvements, 1:93–95, 5:350
- Imputation (statistics), 1:321, 2:297
- Imputed, 5:351
- Imputed knowledge, 5:351
- Imputed notice, 5:351
- In blank, 5:351
- In camera, 5:351
- In common, 5:351
- In evidence, 5:351
- In extremis*, 5:351
- In forma pauperis*, 5:351
- In kind, 5:351
- In lieu of, 5:351
- In loco parentis*, 5:351–353, 6:365, 7:364
- In medias res*, 5:353
- In pari delicto*, 5:353
- In pari materia*, 5:353
- In perpetuity, 5:353
- In personam*, 5:354
- In re*, 5:354
- In rem*, 5:354, 8:198, 9:177
- In specie, 5:354
- In terrorem*, 5:354
- Inadmissible, 5:354
- Inadvertence, 5:354–355
- Inalienable, 5:355
- Inattentive defendants, 6:208
- Inattentive plaintiffs, 6:207–208
- Inaugural Address (Kennedy) (document), 12:479–481
- Inauguration, 6:184–185, 10:130
- Inc., 5:355
- Incapacity. See Capacity and incapacity
- Incest, 5:360–361
- Inchoate, 2:376, 4:15–16, 5:361
- Incident of ownership, 5:361
- Incidental, 5:361
- Incidental damages, 8:447
- Incitement, 5:361
- free speech cases, 5:183–184
- illegal activity, 4:414
- publishing law, 8:177
- riots, 8:363
- Income. See Compensation and income
- Income splitting, 5:361
- Income tax, 5:361–367, 363
- adjusted gross income, 1:98
- assets, 1:373–374
- avoidance, 1:429, 9:438
- brackets, 2:94
- capital assets, 2:237
- capitalization, 2:243
- capitation, 2:243
- carry-back, 2:257
- carry-over, 2:257

- cash basis accounting, 2:272
- casualty losses, 2:272
- causa mortis* gifts, 2:276
- charitable trusts, 2:319
- child support collection, 2:362–363
- computation, 4:226
- constitutionality, 2:260, 4:398, 8:24–25
- correspondence audits, 3:231
- deductibles and deductions, 3:372, 4:225–226
- disposable earnings, 3:461
- Economic Growth and Tax Relief Reconciliation Act (2001), 4:221
- effective rate, 4:77
- estimated, 4:227
- evasion, 2:226, 243
- extension, 4:289
- fraud, 3:147, 4:488
- gratuities, 5:131–132
- head of household, 5:218
- income splitting, 5:361
- independent contractors, 5:374
- individual retirement accounts, 5:388–390
- Internal Revenue Service, 5:438–442, 440
- Keogh plans, 6:129–130
- kickbacks, 6:136
- limited liability companies, 6:319–320
- loopholes, 6:371
- maintenance, 6:399
- married persons' rates, 10:12
- pensions, 5:432
- Pollock v. Farmers' Loan & Trust Co.* (1895), 5:17–18, 189, 490, 8:24–25, 9:179
- progressive, 4:226, 8:139
- proportionate taxes, 8:272
- recognition, 8:252
- regressive tax, 8:272
- S corporations, 8:435
- Scientology class fees as charitable contributions, 8:291
- Sixteenth Amendment, 9:194
- standard deductions, 10:454
- Tax Court, U.S., 4:341
- Tax Reform Act (1986), 9:440–441
- unemployment, 4:361
- unitrusts, 10:166
- wash sales, 10:297
- withholding tax, 10:403–404
- zero bracket amount, 10:454
- See also* Taxation
- Income Tax Act (1894), 8:24–25
- Incompatibility, 5:367
- Incompetent. See Competency and incompetency
- Incompetent evidence, 5:369
- Incomplete transfers, 4:222
- Inconsistent, 5:369
- Incontestability clauses, 5:369–370
- Incorporate, 5:370
- Incorporated clubs, 2:458, 459
- Incorporated partnerships. See Closed corporations
- Incorporation, beneficial associations, 2:13, 15
- Incorporation by reference, 5:370–371
- Incorporation doctrine, 5:371–372
 - Bill of Rights, 2:34
 - Black, Hugo, 2:45
 - equal protection, 4:196
 - Fifth Amendment, 1:493
 - Fourteenth Amendment, 4:467–468, 469
 - Pollak, Walter Heilprin, 8:22–23
 - Sanford, Edward Terry, 8:455–456
 - shock-the-conscience test, 9:179–180
 - substantive due process, 9:390
- Incorporeal, 4:220, 5:372, 8:149
- Incremental, 5:372
- Incriminate, 5:372
- Inculpate, 5:372
- Incumbents, 5:372
- Incur, 5:372
- Indefeasible, 5:372
- Indefinite detention, 4:40
- Indefinite terms, 5:372
- Indemnify, 5:372–373
- Indemnity, 5:373
 - benefits, 10:421–422
 - Feres* doctrine, 4:381
- Indenture, 5:373–374
- Independence, 5:374
 - India from Great Britain, 5:29
 - judges, 2:467
 - See also* War of Independence
- Independent agencies, 1:101, 108
- Independent audits, 5:374
- Independent contractors, 5:374–377
 - agency, 1:168
 - freelance writers, 5:96
 - Keogh plans, 6:129–130
 - pensions, 7:421
 - physicians, 5:223
 - servants distinction, 6:461
- Independent counsel, 5:377–381
 - Cox, Archibald, 3:259–260
 - Iran-Contra investigation, 5:477
 - Jaworski, Leon, 6:7–9
 - Starr, Kenneth, 5:340–341, 9:310–311
- Independent Counsel Act, 2:411, 4:230–231
- Independent parties, 5:381–383
- Independent placement of children, 1:128
- Independent Treasury Bill (1840), 10:195
- Indeterminate, 5:383
- Index to Legal Periodicals*, 5:383
- Indexes (information finding), 5:383
 - Congressional Research Service, 6:310–311
 - deeds, 3:373
 - descriptive word index, 3:418
 - digests, 3:427
 - et ux.*, 10:190
 - grantor-grantee, 5:131, 8:255
 - tract-index systems, 8:256
- India, Mohandes Gandhi, 5:28–30, 7:345
- Indian Affairs, Bureau of, 5:433–434
 - and American Indian Movement, 1:482–483
 - education policy, 1:481
 - Trail of Broken Treaties (1972), 1:256
- Indian Americans, citizenship oaths, 1:225
- Indian Child Welfare Act (1978), 1:125, 5:383–385
- Indian Commerce Clause
 - Cherokee cases*, 2:336
 - states' sovereign immunity, 4:110
- Indian Gaming Regulatory Act (1988), 4:110, 364, 7:203
- Indian Health Service (IHS), 8:171
- Indian Removal Act (1830), 2:335
- Indiana
 - Communist party, 3:42
 - Harrison, William Henry, 5:198
 - military units, 7:75–76
- Indianapolis (IN), anti-pornography ordinance, 4:50, 6:383–384, 8:33, 35
- Indicia, 5:385
- Indictments, 5:385, 386–387
 - felonies, 1:76, 77
 - knowingly, 6:151

- no bill, 7:256
- quash, 8:197
- read during arraignment, 1:348–349
- Indigent defendants
 - federal defender program, 2:226
 - right to counsel, 4:41, 463–464, 8:358–361, 9:201
- Indirect contempt, 3:155
- Indirect election, 4:94
- Indirect evidence, 5:385
 - See also* Circumstantial evidence
- Indispensable parties, 5:385
- Individual responsibilities, 2:173
- Individual retirement accounts (IRA), 5:366, 385, 388, 388–390, 7:421, 9:441
- Individual rights. See Civil liberties
- Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (1975), 3:435–436, 4:72
- Indochinese refugees, 8:268
- Indoor air quality
 - airplanes, 1:192
 - environmental law, 4:176
 - environmental tobacco smoke, 9:408–409, 10:43, 44–45, 48
 - regulation, 1:187
- Indorse, 5:390
- Indorsements. See Endorsements and indorsements
- Inducement, 5:390
- Inductive reasoning, 1:1, 6:74
- Industrial accidents, 4:370–372
- Industrial Revolution
 - attitudes toward alcohol, 1:199–200
 - and communism, 3:37
 - Lochner* era, 6:360
- Industrial unions, 5:390–391
- Industrial Workers of the World (IWW), 5:391
 - anarchists, 1:273
 - Debs, Eugene, 3:365
 - Haywood, William Dudley, 5:217–218
- Inevitable casualties, 2:272
- Infamy, 5:391
- Infancy, 5:391
- Infants and minors, 5:391–395, 7:81
 - access to obscene materials, 7:297–298
 - age of majority, 6:401
 - apprenticeships, 1:322–323
 - contracts, 2:28, 3:172–173, 4:166
 - delinquency, 3:182, 272
 - emancipation of children, 4:115, 7:364
 - gangs, 5:30
 - guardians and wards, 5:158–161
 - guardianship, 8:122
 - hackers, 3:66
 - In re Winship* (1970), 10:395–397
 - liability in commercial paper, 3:21
 - loco parentis*, 6:365
 - medical consent, 7:402
 - next friends, 7:243
 - posthumous children, 8:43
 - rights to abortion, 1:20
 - unjust enrichment, 10:167
- Inference, 5:395–396
 - negligence, 8:324
 - presumption distinction, 8:75
- Inferior courts, 2:13, 5:396
- Infirmity, 5:396
- Influence peddling. See Bribery
- Informal procedures, 1:108–109
- Information access and dissemination
 - abortion information, 8:313
 - American Folklife Center, 6:311
 - birth control, 8:309, 310–311, 457–459
 - census figures, 2:296
 - Dred Scott v. Sandford* (1856), 5:302–303
 - Executive Branch, 1:99
 - Federal Register, 1:109
 - Federal Technology Service, 5:59–61
 - Freedom of Information Act (1966), 1:115, 4:495–498
 - General Accounting Office, 5:58
 - Government Printing Office, 5:120–121
 - Homeland Security, Department of, 5:277
 - Kennedy assassination, 1:368–369
 - Library of Congress, 6:310–313
 - matters of record, 6:464
 - Privacy Act (1974), 8:107–108
 - publication, 8:174
 - publishing law, 8:178–179
 - sex offender registration, 7:37, 9:140–141, 146
 - Uniform Computer Information Transactions Act, 10:158–159
 - Uniform Crime Reports, 10:159–160
 - U.S. Information Agency, 10:177–178
- Information Agency, U.S., 10:177–178
- Information and belief, 5:396
- Information and knowledge
 - commerce regulation, 3:5
 - Comptroller General suit, 5:57
 - constructive, 3:137
 - Dewey Decimal System, 3:425
 - imputed knowledge, 5:351
 - imputed notice, 5:351
 - indexes, 3:373, 418, 427
 - insider trading, 9:72–73
 - Internal Revenue Service, 5:438
 - negligence, 7:222–223
 - notice, 7:272–274
 - patentability, 7:389–391
 - scienter*, 9:31–32
- Information (formal accusation), 5:396
- Information technology services, 5:59–61
- Informed consent, 5:396, 397, 7:403–404
- Informers
 - escheat, 4:208
 - Jewish Defense League bomb case (1972), 3:408
 - plea bargaining, 7:459
 - state's evidence, 9:324–325
 - stop and frisk cases, 9:359
- Infra*, 5:396
- Infractions, 5:396
- Infringement, 5:396, 398
 - copyright, 7:147, 9:247–248, 10:151
 - intellectual property laws, 5:426–427, 428–429
 - patents, 7:396–397
 - service marks, 9:118
 - trade dress, 10:67
 - trade names, 10:68–69
 - trademarks, 5:455–456, 10:74, 76
- Ingrossing, 5:398
- Inherent, 5:398
- Inherit, 5:398
 - See also* Wills and inheritance rights
- Initial appearances, 8:63
- Initiatives, 5:398
 - process, 4:96
 - referenda and, 8:264
- Injection drug users, 1:91
- Injunctions, 5:398–400
 - cease and desist orders, 2:279

- civil procedure, 2:394
- Eleventh Amendment, 4:110
- enjoin, 4:161–162
- false advertising, 4:309
- Federal Trade Commission, 4:360
- gang activity, 5:34
- judicial immunity, 6:54–55
- military courts, 7:61–62
- patent rights, 7:397
- preliminary, 8:63–65, 64
- restraining orders, 8:339–340
- ripeness, 8:366
- social reform, as tool for, 6:20
- strikes, 7:313
- See also* Equitable relief
- Injure, 5:400
- Injuries, 5:400
 - on aircraft, 1:146
 - avoidable consequences, 1:428–429
 - causality, 2:276–277
 - child labor, 2:356
 - corporal punishment, 3:210–211
 - course of employment, 3:240
 - damages, 3:331–335
 - discovery rule, 8:258–259
 - employee retaliation, 4:133–134
 - environmental nuisance, 4:171–172
 - fatal, 4:323
 - Good Samaritan doctrine, 5:115
 - homicide, 5:283
 - irreparable injuries, 5:484
 - landfills, 9:243
 - liability of children, 7:364
 - loss of earning capacity, 6:371
 - mayhem, 6:468
 - medical malpractice, 7:29, 442
 - mental anguish, 7:39
 - mischief, 7:86
 - mitigation of damages, 7:96
 - natural gas equipment, 5:44
 - negligence, 7:353–354
 - product liability, 8:128–133
 - proximate cause, 8:161
 - punitive damages, 8:189–190
 - qui tam actions, 8:202–203
 - reparable, 8:303
 - res ipsa loquitur*, 8:323–326
 - Robinson-Patman Act (1936), 8:373–374
 - on ships, 9:177–178
 - special damages, 9:262–263
 - speculative damages, 9:271
 - sports law, 9:290–291
 - strict liability, 9:370
 - trespassers, 10:101
 - wharves, 10:349
 - workers' compensation, 10:418–422
 - workplace, 7:301
 - See also* Accidents and crashes; Personal injuries
- Injurious falsehoods, 5:400
- Inland waters, 5:400–401
- Inmate law clerks, 8:93–94
- Innkeepers, 5:401–402
- Innocent, 5:402
- Innocent III, Pope, 6:392
- Innocent owner defense, 4:459
- Innocent purchasers, 5:402
- Inns of Chancery, 5:402
- Inns of Court, 5:402
- Inoperative, 5:402
- Inquests, 3:208–210, 5:402–403
- Inquiry, commissions of, 5:403
- Inquisitorial system, 1:138, 5:403–404
- INS (Immigration and Naturalization Service). See Citizenship and Immigration Services, Bureau of
- Insanity Act (1984), 5:407
- Insanity defense, 5:404–410
 - abuse excuse, 1:41
 - criminal capacity tests, 3:277–278
 - Durham* rule, 4:45–46
 - irresistible impulse, 5:484–485
 - M'Naghten rule, 7:97
 - murder, 7:143
- Insecticide, Fungicide, and Rodenticide Act (1988), 4:179
- Insecurity clauses, 5:410
- Insider trading, 3:225
 - Drexel Burnham Lambert, 1:324, 8:21
 - risk arbitrage, 8:366–367
 - rule 10b-5, 9:72–73
- Insiders, 5:410
- INSLAW, 2:155
- Insolvency, 5:410
 - performance and sales contracts, 8:445
 - reorganization, 8:299
- Inspections, 5:410
- Inspectors general, 3:385
- Installment credit, 3:142, 5:410, 411, 8:449
- Instant, 5:410
- Instigate, 5:410
- Institute, 5:410–411
- Institute for Behavioral Research, 1:276
- Institute for Court Management (ICM), 6:50
- Institute for Justice, 1:124–125
- Institute on Legal Assistance (LSC), 6:252
- Institutes of the Laws of England* (Coke), 2:485
- Institutional review boards (IRB), 7:406
- Institutionalization. See Commitment
- Institutions, 5:411
- Instructions. See Jury instructions
- Instrumentalism, legal, 6:76
- Instrumentality rule. See Alter ego
- Instruments, 5:411
- Insurable interests, 5:412
- Insurance, 5:412–419, 415–417
 - accident, 1:52–53
 - actuaries, 1:80
 - additional extended coverage, 1:91
 - adjusters, 1:98
 - arson, 1:354
 - assigned risk, 1:374
 - assured, 1:382
 - automobile, 1:420–421, 426–427, 3:372, 7:257
 - banks and banking, 1:474
 - beneficial associations, 2:15
 - beneficiaries, 4:223
 - binders, 2:36
 - brokers, 2:132
 - cash surrender value, 2:272
 - casualty, 2:272
 - C.F.& I. (cost, freight, and insurance), 2:312
 - child support, 2:366
 - coinsurance, 2:480
 - common disaster, 3:30
 - coverage, 3:258
 - credit unions, 7:172
 - crop, 3:302
 - diplomatic agents, 1:242
 - double, 4:1
 - double indemnity, 4:1
 - family car doctrine, 4:315
 - Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, 4:342–343
 - Federal Insurance Administration, 4:346–347
 - fidelity, 4:394
 - fire, 1:209, 213
 - flood, 4:346–347
 - force majeure*, 4:445
 - grace periods, 5:122
 - group legal services, 5:154–155
 - homeowner's warranties, 5:280

- impleader, 5:342–343
 legal, 6:250
 legal reserve, 6:251
 loss, 6:371
 malpractice, 5:223–224, 7:30
 marine, 9:177
 McCarran-Ferguson Act (1945), 7:3–4
 misrepresentation, 7:88 mutual companies, 7:150 policy lapses, 6:204–205
 premiums, 8:67
pro rata clause, 8:117 publishers, 8:179
 reinsurance, 8:276–279
 riders, 8:353
 risk, 8:366
 title, 10:40–41
 underwrite, 10:144
 veterans, 10:210
 waiver, 10:266
 warranties, 10:288
See also Workers' compensation
 Insured, 5:419
 Insurers, 5:419
 Insurrections, 2:409, 5:420
 Intangibles, 5:420
 Integrated, 5:420
 Integrated agreements, 5:420
 Integrated bar, 5:420
 Integration and desegregation, 5:420–424
 Bickel, Alexander Mordecai, 2:25
 Brown v. Board of Education (1954), 2:145–146
 Brown v. Board of Education (1954) (documents), 11:1–162
 Brownell, Herbert, Jr., 2:148
 Carter, Robert Lee, 2:264–265
 civil rights, 2:398
 Civil Rights Act (1964) (document), 12:362–383
 colleges and universities, 2:500 court supervision, 2:145–146
 District of Columbia v. John R. Thompson Co. (1953), 5:216
 education law, 4:70–71
 enforcement, 2:405, 406
 Georgia, 2:10
 Johnson, Frank Minis, rulings of, 6:19
 Katzenbach, Nicholas deBelleville, 6:106–107
 law schools, 6:237
 NAACP, 7:156
 NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, 7:158–159
 Powell, Lewis Franklin, Jr., 8:49
 Sigma Nu fraternity, 6:372–373
 Southern Poverty Law Center, work of, 9:254 success of, 4:71
 University of Mississippi, 7:40–42
 Wallace, George Corley, 10:269
 Wright, James Skelly, 10:428
See also Affirmative action; Civil Rights Movement; School integration and desegregation Integrity
 judges, 2:467
 professional responsibility, 8:137
 Intel Corp., 1:303
 Intellectual property, 5:424–429
 counterfeiting, 3:238
 digital media, 1:87
 entertainment law, 4:167
 New York Times v. Tasini (2001), 5:96
 piracy, 3:151, 7:453
 royalties, 8:412
 software, 9:235
 theft of trade secrets, 8:101
 trade dress, 10:66–67
 trade names, 10:68–69
 trade secrets, 10:69–70
 trademarks, 10:71–77
 unfair competition, 10:150–151
 See also Copyright; Patents and patent law
 Intelligence, national security
 Central Intelligence Agency, 2:303–304
 Defense, Department of, 3:385
 Drug Enforcement Administration, 4:24
 Federal Bureau of Investigation, 4:332
 Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Court of Review, 4:451–453
 Freedom of Information Act (1966), 4:496
 Homeland Security, Department of, 5:277–278 internal surveillance, 1:367, 5:146, 289–291
 Iran-Contra Affair, 5:477
 State, Department of, 9:318
 terrorism, 1:341, 2:305–306
 See also Espionage and spies
 Intelligence and National Security, Office of, 4:146
 Intemperance, 5:429
 Intent, 5:429–430
 abandonment, 1:2
 animus, 1:280
 arson, 1:354
 assault, 1:370
 assault and battery, 1:370–371
 battery, 1:504
 burglary, 2:171
 capacity defense, 2:236
 conspiracies, 3:107, 109
 contracts, 3:172, 7:294 criminal, 1:56, 3:274–275, 7:38–39, 91–92, 340–341
 deliberate, 3:392
 donative, 5:79–80
 drunk driving, 2:240
 embezzlement, 4:120 environmental justice lawsuits, 4:182
 extortion, 4:290
 false pretenses, 4:313
 fraud, 4:489
 fraudulent conveyance, 4:490
 general, 5:58–59
 motive distinction, 7:130
 murder, 7:140–143
 possession, 8:42
 precatory language, 8:56
 private nuisances, 7:283–284
 reformation, 8:266
 riots, 8:364
 robbery, 8:369
 scienter, 9:31–32
 specific intent, 9:266–267
 tax evasion, 9:440
 testator's, 10:380
 theft, 5:348
 trusts, 10:116
 unlawful assembly, 10:168
 Intentional torts, 10:57, 59
Inter alia, 5:430
Inter vivos gifts, 5:80, 430–431
Inter vivos trusts. See Living trusts
 Intercontinental ballistic missiles (ICBM), 1:291–293, 344–345
 Interdiction, Drug Enforcement Administration, 4:25 Interest and interest rates, 5:431
 backup withholding, 10:403–404
 bank procedures, 1:478–479
 compensatory damages, 3:332–333
 compound interest, 3:57

- consumer credit, 3:142
- effective rates, 4:77
- mortgages, 7:120–124
- prime lending rate, 8:83
- state laws, 3:266
- usury, 10:187–189
- Interest on lawyers trust accounts (IOLTA), 5:431
- Interference, 5:431
- Intergovernmental immunity doctrine, 5:431–432
- Interim*, 5:432
- Interior, Department of the, 4:140, 5:432–435, 433
- Interlineation, 5:435
- Interlocking directorates, 5:435
- Interlocutory, 5:435–436, 7:323
- Intermediate judicial scrutiny, 10:411–412
- Intermediate-Range Nuclear Forces (INF) Treaty (1987), 1:346, 5:436, 436–437, 8:244
- Internal audits, 5:437
- Internal Revenue Code, 5:437
- Internal Revenue Service (IRS), 1:109, 5:437–442
 - acquiescence, 1:66
 - audit, 1:407, 5:367
 - Capone, Alphonse, investigation of, 2:243
 - compromise and settlement, 3:59
 - examiners, 4:261
 - field audits, 4:394
 - letter rulings, 6:272, 274
 - responsibilities of, 10:92–93
 - Taxpayer Bill of Rights, 9:445–446
 - twenty-factor test, 5:375–376
 - warehouse banks, 3:111
- Internal Revenue Service Restructuring and Reform Act (1998), 5:441
- International Aviation Facilities Act, 4:325
- International Bank for Reconstruction and Development. See World Bank
- International Bill of Human Rights, 5:306
- International Broadcasting Act (1994), 10:177
- International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Warehousemen, and Helpers of America. See Teamsters
- International Bureau, FCC, 4:334
- International Code Council. See ICC (International Code Council)
- International Communication Agency, U.S., 10:177
- International Convention for the Regulation of Whaling, 10:348
- International Court of Justice (ICJ), 5:442–444, 443, 7:281, 10:164
- International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights, 5:306
- International Covenant on Economic, Social, and Cultural Rights, 5:306
- International Criminal Court, 10:277
- International Criminal Tribunal for the Former Yugoslavia, 5:175, 10:267
- International Emergency Economic Powers Act, 1:183
- International issues
 - agriculture, 1:178
 - AIDS, 1:67, 76
 - air pollution, 4:175–176
 - Alaska boundary dispute, 1:195–196
 - American sanctions, 1:183
 - Amistad* case (1839–1841), 1:263–264
 - amnesty, 1:265–266
 - Anti-Ballistic-Missile Treaty (1972), 1:291–293
 - Arctic, 1:330
 - arms control and disarmament, 1:343–348
 - assassinations, 1:369
 - automobile industry, 1:418
 - Bank for International Settlement, 1:464
 - Bureau of International Labor Affairs, 6:171
 - cartels, 2:259
 - Clark, William Ramsey, 2:420
 - comity of nations, 3:2
 - communism, 3:38–40
 - Constitution Party views, 3:125–126
 - copyright, 3:202–204
 - counterfeiting, 3:237
 - drug trafficking, 4:32
 - energy policy, 4:144
 - genetic engineering, 5:63–65
 - global warming, 4:175–176
 - hijacking, 5:255–257
 - illegal drug control, 4:24–25
 - Internet use, 5:456
 - Logan Act (1799), 6:368
 - Marshall Plan, 6:442
 - merchant fleets, 9:176
 - State Department human rights reports, 9:316
- transnational corporations, 10:80
- U.S.-Israel relations, 1:258
- Vienna Convention on Diplomatic Relations (1961), 3:429–430
- work of Amnesty International, 1:267–269
- International Joint Commission (IJC), 2:228
- International Ladies' Garment Workers Union (ILGWU), 10:111
- International law, 5:444–447
 - admiralty and maritime law, 1:116
 - adoptions, 1:127
 - aggression, 1:170
 - Bering Sea Dispute, 2:22–23
 - boundaries, 2:87–89
 - Briggs, Herbert Whittaker, 2:122–123
 - Bryan treaties, 2:151
 - Calvo Clause, 2:214
 - Calvo doctrine, 2:214
 - cartels, 2:259
 - casus belli*, 2:272
 - Center for Constitutional Rights, 2:297–298
 - Center for Oceans Law and Policy, 2:299–300
 - cession, 2:311
 - citizenship, 2:386–387
 - civil war, 2:408–409
 - conciliation, 3:70
 - congressional-executive agreements, 3:96–97
 - conventions, 3:184
 - counterclaims and set-offs against sovereigns, 3:236
 - declarations of war, 3:368
 - defamation, 6:229
 - dependent states, 3:401–402
 - diplomatic immunity, 3:430–432
 - divorce, 3:432, 480
 - doctrine of equality of states, 3:489, 497
 - double criminality, doctrine of, 4:293
 - dual nationality, 4:36–37
 - enforcement of rules of war, 8:426–427
 - expropriation, 4:288
 - extradition, 4:293–294
 - extraterritoriality, 4:295–296
 - Field, David Dudley, 4:397
 - fishing vessels, 4:428
 - foreign affairs power, 4:451
 - foreign judgments, 6:45

- genocide, 5:70
 Gray, Horace, 5:133
 Griggs, John William, 5:149
 Grotius, Hugo, 5:153
 Hague Convention on the Civil Aspects of International Child
 Abduction (1980), 4:317
 Hague Tribunal, 5:174–175
 human rights, 5:305–307
 Human Rights Watch, 5:308
 intellectual property, 5:429
 International Joint
 Commission, 2:228
 Interpol, 5:461–462
 just war, 6:86–87
 land acquisition, 10:5
 law of nations, 6:213
 law of the flag, 2:386
 law of the sea, 6:214–215
 League of Nations, 6:220–222, 221 letters rogatory, 6:284
 load lines, 6:356
 Maris, Albert Branson, 6:430
 mediation, 7:26
 military government, 7:55–56
 military occupations, 7:63–64
 national character of aircraft,
 7:169
 neutrality, 7:230
 nuclear weapons, 7:281
 Nuremberg trials (1945–1949),
 7:285–291
 ocean fisheries law, 4:423–426
 passports, 7:386
 piracy, 7:452–453
 private, 8:109
 privateering, 8:110
 prize courts, 8:116
 prize law, 8:116
 protectorate, 8:160
 public law, 8:172
 rape, 6:385
 recognition, 8:252–253
 refugees, 8:266–269
 renunciation of war, 8:299
 renvoi, 8:299
 reprisals, 8:308–309
 retorsion, 8:343
 rules of war, 8:421–427
 sanctions, 8:454
 sovereign immunity, 9:258
 specialty, doctrine of, 4:293
 succession of states, 9:392–393
 territorial waters, 10:3–4
 Tokyo Trial (1946–1948),
 10:53–55, 54
 unwritten law, 10:170
uti possidetis, 10:188
 Wald, Patricia McGowan, 10:266–267
 war crimes, 10:275–277
 water rights, 5:193–194
 whaling, 10:348
 Whiteman, Marjorie Millace,
 10:364–365
See also Transnational law;
 Treaties; United Nations International Longshore and Warehouse Union, 3:461
 International Military Tribunal,
 7:286–287
 International Military Tribunal for the Far East, 10:53–54
 International Monetary Fund
 (IMF), 5:447, 447–448
 International Olympic Committee (IOC), 2:120
 International students, 1:148, 215
 International Tax Convention,
 4:7
 International Telecommunication
 Union (ITU), 2:129
 International trade agriculture, 1:179
 Export-Import Bank of the
 United States, 4:286–287
 General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade, 5:58
 import quotas, 5:346–347
 most-favored-nation status,
 7:126–127
 North American Free Trade
 Agreement (1994), 7:50,
 263–265
 See also Tariffs
 International Trade
 Administration, 3:10
 International Trade Organization
 (ITO), 5:448–449
 International waterways, 5:400–
 401, 449–451
 International Whaling
 Commission (IWC), 4:427,
 10:348
 Internet, 5:451–457, 456
 Amnesty International, work of, 1:268–269
 auctions, 1:406
 case law research, 6:211
 censorship, 2:290–291
 Child Online Protection Act
 (1998), 1:252
 Child Pornography Prevention
 Act (1996), 4:415
 commerce, electronic, 3:11–14
 Communications Decency Act
 (1996), 2:130, 4:336
 consumer fraud, 3:147
 data communications, 9:451
 e-mail, 4:114–115
 electronic banking, 1:480
 electronic surveillance, 10:397–
 398 Federal Communications
 Commission regulation, 6:459
 fraud, 5:457–460, 459
 identity theft, 5:323–324
 Internet Explorer browser,
 7:104
 jurisdiction, 6:70
 law reviews, 6:216
 legal advertising, 6:231
 legal publishing, 6:243
 legal research, 3:60–62
 legislative history, 6:262
 Lexis® (Reed Elsevier), 6:297– 298 libel, 6:304
 Library of Congress Web site, 6:312
 long-arm statutes, 6:70, 370 obscene materials, 7:297, 9:142
 plagiarism, 7:455
 political spam, 10:37
 pornography, 8:33–35
 privacy, 8:99
 sales tax, 8:450, 9:444 sex offenders registration, 7:37
 spam, 4:114
 surveillance, 10:184, 185
 U.S. Information Agency,
 10:178
 virtual state court, 3:242
 viruses and worms, 3:65–66
 Internet Corporation for Assigned Names and Numbers
 (ICANN), 3:13
 Internet Fraud Complaint Center
 (IFCC), 5:323–324, 458
 Interpleader, 5:460–461
 Interpol, 5:461–462
 Interpolation, 5:462
 Interpretation, 5:462, 8:416
 Interracial marriage. See
 Miscegenation
 Interrogations. See Custodial
 interrogations
 Interrogatories, 3:448, 5:463,
 464–466
 Interstate child support orders,
 2:363, 365
 Interstate commerce
 banking, 1:476, 481
 carriers, 2:253–256
 child labor, 3:352–353, 5:181– 182
 Commerce Clause, 3:3–8, 316– 317

- Driver's Privacy Protection Act (1994), 8:107
- explosives regulation, 4:484
- federal power, 4:362–364, 5:17, 6:28, 183, 7:184, 187, 234–235, 255–256, 9:12
- Gibbons v. Ogden* (1824), 5:77, 10:320
- harbor regulation, 1:489
- insurance, 7:4
- Lacey Act (1900), 4:421–422
- medical personnel, 5:226
- monopolies, 7:102–103, 112
- preemption, 8:58, 60
- public offerings, 8:173
- secondary boycotts, 9:55
- securities, 9:72
- states' rights, 2:274–275
- Interstate Commerce Act (1887), 1:102, 2:254, 3:5, 5:463, 467
- Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC), 5:467–468
- commerce regulation, 3:5
- first administrative agency, 1:102
- railroad industry regulation, 8:222–223
- Interstate compacts, 5:468–469
- Intervening causes, 2:277, 5:470–471, 7:226
- Intervenors, 5:471
- Intervention, 5:471, 7:376–377
- Intestacy, 5:471
- Intestate, 5:471
- advancements, 1:136
- constructive trusts, 3:139
- descent and distribution, 3:410–418
- husbands and wives, 5:320
- letters of administration, 6:274
- See also* Wills and inheritance rights
- Intestate succession, 5:471
- Intimate association, freedom of, 4:495
- Intimidation, 8:368–369
- Intolerable Acts (1774), 10:279–280
- Intoxication, 5:471–472
- cancellation of an instrument, 2:232
- contracts made while, 3:173
- criminal capacity, 3:278
- negligence, 7:223
- Powell v. Texas* (1968), 8:378
- rescission, 8:329
- specific intent, 9:267
- Intrinsic evidence, 5:472
- Intrinsic rules, 2:235
- Intrusion upon seclusion, 8:100
- Inure, 5:472
- Invalid, 5:472
- Invasion of franchise rights, 4:477
- Inventions and inventors
- adaptations, 1:86–87
- Morse, Samuel F., 5:185–186
- patents, 5:427–428, 7:388–397
- Inventory, 5:472
- FIFO, 4:399
- LIFO, 6:316
- Inventory of Trade Barriers, 10:183
- Inverse condemnation, 4:125–126
- Investigations
- administrative agencies, 8:165–166
- by Amnesty International, 1:268
- Capone, Alphonse, 2:243
- Congressional, 3:94–95, 7:9, 9–10, 11–13
- coroners, 3:208–210
- Cox Commission, 10:156
- credit bureaus, 3:266
- drug crimes, 9:43
- by FBI, 5:291
- federal, 1:102
- House Un-American Activities Committee, 3:38–39
- Human Rights Watch, 5:308
- independent counsel, 5:377–380, 9:310–311
- Internal Revenue Service
- abuses, 5:440–441
- Iran-Contra Affair, 5:476–478
- Jewell, Richard, 6:302
- Justice Department
- corruption, 7:17
- Kefauver investigation and Knapp Commission, 6:109–111
- Kennedy assassination, 6:122, 8:415, 10:291–292, 296
- legislative, 5:233
- Lincoln assassination, 6:324–325
- medical examiners, 7:29
- National Commission of Law Observance and Law Enforcement, 8:23
- National Institute of Military Justice, 10:156
- by National Transportation Safety Board, 7:191
- organized crime, 6:109–110
- police corruption, 8:7–8
- presentence, 8:69
- racketeering, 6:124
- Rosenberg, Julius and Ethel, 8:404
- by Securities and Exchange Commission, 9:78
- sex offenses, 9:143
- of Teamsters, 5:269
- workplace safety, 7:300
- See also* Watergate scandal (1972–1974); Whitewater investigation
- Investigatory detention, 9:359
- Investiture, 5:472
- Investment Advisers Act (1940), 9:78
- Investment banks, 5:101–102
- Investment Company Act (1940), 9:77–78
- Investments, 5:472
- advisers, 9:73, 78
- investment companies, 9:74, 77–78
- legal list statutes, 6:239
- leverage, 6:284, 293
- Ponzi schemes, 8:29–31
- small businesses, 9:212
- Social Security funds, 9:224–225
- trustees, 10:122
- yield, 10:448
- See also* Securities
- Invitations, 5:472–473
- Invitees, 5:473
- Invoices, 5:473
- Involuntary bankruptcy, 1:470–471, 472
- Involuntary confessions, 5:473–474
- Involuntary euthanasia, 4:237
- Involuntary manslaughter, 5:474–475, 6:423–424
- Involuntary servitude, 5:475–476, 9:211, 10:20–21
- Iowa
- automobile search laws, 1:413
- commitment laws, 3:26
- Ipse dixit*, 5:476
- Ipso facto*, 5:476
- IQ testing, 1:387–388
- Iran-Contra Affair, 5:476–480
- Casey, William Joseph, 2:271
- Central Intelligence Agency, 2:304
- conspiracy, 3:110–111
- Meese, Edwin, III, 7:35
- National Security Council, 7:190
- Reagan, Ronald Wilson, 8:244
- Iran hostage crisis (1979–1981), 8:243, 10:8–9

Iraq loans to, 1:491–492
 sanctions, 1:183
 UN inspections, 5:446
 war on terrorism, 8:424,
 10:283–284
 war-time media coverage,
 4:505
 Iredell, James, 2:375–376, 5:480–481, 481
 Ireland
 British policy, 2:172
 Code Duello, 4:41–43
 nationalism, 2:269–270
 Ireland, Patricia, 5:481–483, 482
 Irreconcilable differences, 5:484
 Irregularities, 5:484
 Irrelevant, 5:484
 Irreparable injuries, 5:484
 Irresistible impulse, 3:278, 4:45–46, 5:404, 484–485
 Irretrievable breakdown of marriage, 5:485
 Irrevocable, 3:170, 5:485, 7:306
 IRS (Internal Revenue Service), 5:485
 Islam and Muslims, 7:165–166
 Islands, 5:485
 Isolationism, 7:231
 Israel
 American Israel Public Affairs Committee, 1:258
 Pollard, Jonathan, 4:212
 support of Anti-Defamation League, 1:295–296
 Issue preclusion, 5:486
 Issues, 5:485–486
 Italy
 Mussolini, Benito, 7:149–150
 organized crime, 7:331–332
 Itemize, 5:486
 Ito, Lance, 2:218–219

J

Jackson, Andrew, 5:487–489, 488
 assassination attempt, 1:368
 Bank of the United States, 1:464
 Catron, John, relationship with, 2:273–274
 censure, 2:292
 Charles River Bridge v. Warren Bridge (1837), 2:320–321 court appointees, 1:455–456, 488–489
 election of 1824, 1:84–85
 Gilpin, Henry, appointment, 5:88–89
 origins of Democratic Party, 3:393–394
 Van Buren, Martin and, 10:194–195
 Whig Party formation as reaction to, 10:352
 Jackson, Howell Edmunds, 5:489, 489–490
 Jackson, Jesse Louis, Sr., 2:404, 5:490–493, 491, 6:368, 368, 8:95
 Jackson, Michael, 7:147
 Jackson, Robert Houghwout, 5:493, 493–494
 Black, Hugo, dispute with, 2:46
 Jackson v. United States (1948), 1:411–412
 Nuremberg trials (1945–1949), 7:287–288
 Rehnquist, William Hubbs, clerkship of, 8:273–274
 West Virginia State Board of Education v. Barnette (1943), 4:435
 Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. v. Sawyer (1952), 3:130–131, 10:451–452
 Jackson, Thomas Penfield, 1:303–304, 7:104
 Jacksonian Democracy
 Clifford, Nathan, 2:444
 Cooley, Thomas McIntyre, 3:187–188
 Jacobs, George, 8:442
 Jactitation, 5:494
 Jailhouse lawyers, 5:497–498, 8:94
 Jails. See Prisons and jails
 Jakobetz, Randolph, 3:485
 Jamaica, Marcus Garvey influence, 5:43
 James, Jesse, 1:367–368, 8:348
 James, William, 5:498–499, 499
 James I, King of Great Britain
 Bacon, Sir Francis, 1:434–436
 Coke, Sir Edward and, 2:484
 common law, 4:153
 James II, King of England, Scotland, and Ireland, 9:124, 127
 Jameson, John, 2:281–282
 Janus, Stanley and Theresa, 9:189–190
 Japan
 automobile industry, 1:418, 3:112–113
 Hirohito, 5:260–261
 Hiroshima and Nagasaki bombing (1945), 9:348, 10:114, 427
 Manchuria, invasion of (1933), 6:221
 military government, 7:56
 presence of U.S. armed services, 1:340
 Tokyo Trial (1946–1948), 10:53–55, 54
 U.S. ambassador, 3:429
 war crimes, 10:276–277
 World War II, 1:342, 10:425–427
 Japanese American evacuation, 1:212, 6:1–6
 equal protection, 4:193
 Frankfurter, Felix, 4:483
 justification for, 10:275
 Korematsu v. United States (1944), 5:261, 6:158–159, 9:356, 416, 10:426
 martial law, 6:445–446
 presidential powers, 8:74
 racial profiling, 8:216–217
 reparations, 8:304
 Roberts, Owen Josephus, 8:370–371
 Warren, Earl, 10:294–295
 Jaworski, Leon, 5:378, 6:6–9
 Jay, John, 6:9, 9–10
 Federalist Papers, 7:108
 Jay's Treaty (1795), 3:396–397, 7:450, 10:302
 Jaycees, 2:460, 4:494, 8:371–372
 J.D. (Juris Doctor), 6:10, 68–69
 Jefferson, Thomas, 6:10–13, 11
 agrarian republicanism, 3:119, 336–337
 Alien and Sedition Acts (1798), 9:81
 Breckenridge, John, support from, 2:108
 Chase, Samuel, impeachment proceedings against, 2:326, 330
 College of William and Mary law school, 6:236
 Declaration of Independence, 3:368–370, 7:206, 8:345–346
 Declaration of Independence (document), 12:87–89
 Democratic Republican Party, 3:396–397
 election of 1800, 2:175, 176
 executive orders, 5:201
 executive privilege, 4:276
 Hamilton, Alexander and, 5:180 judicial strategy, 7:54
 Kentucky Resolutions, 6:129
 Lincoln, Levi and, 6:327
 Livingston, Robert R. and, 6:352–353
 Louisiana Purchase (1803), 6:375

- Madison, James and, 6:387–388
- Marshall, John, criticism of, 6:439
- Monroe, James, and, 7:105
- natural law, 6:77
- slavery, 4:188
- Virginia and Kentucky Resolves, 1:211, 9:325–326, 10:236–237
- Virginia and Kentucky Resolves (document), 12:133–135
- Washington, George and, 10:302
- Wythe, George and, 10:440
- Jeffersonian Republican Party. See Democratic Republican Party
- Jeffries, Leonard, 1:47–48, 2:504–505, 505
- Jehovah's Witnesses, 4:431–432, 433–434, 8:289
- Jeopardy, 6:13
- Jerry Lee Center of Criminology, 2:301
- Jetsam, 6:13
- Jettison, law of, 1:115
- Jewell, Richard, 6:302–303, 10:8
- Jewelry, 3:72
- Jewish Americans
- American Israel Public Affairs Committee, 1:258
 - Anti-Defamation League, 1:294–296
 - Decalogue Society of Lawyers, 3:366–367
 - Dershowitz, Alan, 3:410
 - Supreme Court justices, 5:104
- Jewish Defense League, 3:408
- Jim Crow laws, 6:13–15
- Brown v. Board of Education* (1954), 2:142–143
 - Butler, Pierce, 2:200
 - Civil Rights Act of 1875, unconstitutionality of, 2:401–402
 - Civil Rights* cases (1883) (document), 12:311–336
 - negation of civil rights laws, 2:396–397
 - Plessy v. Ferguson* (1896), 2:136
 - Thirteenth Amendment, 10:19–20
 - Wells-Barnett, Ida Bell, 10:340–341
 - See also* Black Codes
- Jobbers, 6:15
- Jobs Opportunity and Basic Skills (JOBS) program, 2:349
- Jodl, Alfred, 7:290
- Joel, Billy, 4:164
- John, King of England, 3:36, 4:155–156, 156, 6:391–395
- John Doe or Jane Doe, 2:272, 6:15
- John F. Kennedy Assassination Records Collection Act (1992), 1:368–369
- Johnson, Andrew, 6:15–18, 16
- amnesty for Confederate soldiers, 1:266
 - Attorney General Stanbery, 9:299–300
 - impeachment, 1:360–361, 5:151–152, 251, 252, 338
 - Reconstruction, 8:253–254
 - Secretary of War Stanbery, 9:304–305
 - Stanton, Edwin, removal, 9:463
- Johnson, Anna L., 9:411, 415
- Johnson, Frank Minis, Jr., 6:18–20, 19
- Johnson, James Weldon, 6:20–22, 21
- Johnson, Jennifer, 4:387
- Johnson, Lyndon Baines, 6:22–24, 23
- appointments, 5:105–106
 - Civil Rights Act (1964) (document), 12:362–383
 - Clifford, Clark, adviser, 2:441
 - Democratic Party, 3:395
 - election of 1964, 5:110–111
 - election of 1968, 7:252
 - Fortas, Abe and, 4:463, 464, 465
 - Fulbright, James William, 5:14
 - Great Society social programs, 5:138–139
 - Humphrey, Hubert, vice president, 5:311–312
 - Katzenbach, Nicholas deBelleville, 6:107
 - McCarthy, Eugene, presidential bid, 7:7
 - Tonkin Gulf Resolution, 10:55
 - Vietnam War, 10:228
 - Voting Rights Act Address (document), 12:482–483
 - welfare policy, 10:334
- Johnson, Reverdy, 6:24–25
- Johnson, Robert L. and Claud L., 5:326
- Johnson, Thomas, 6:26, 26–27
- Johnson, William, 2:459, 6:27–28, 28
- Johnson Controls, 4:388–389
- Johnstown flood (1889), 6:152
- Joinder, 2:392, 6:28–30, 7:375, 9:132
- Joint, 6:30
- Joint and several liability, 3:176–177, 6:30, 298
- Joint Chiefs of Staff, 3:385, 385
- Joint custody, 2:351–352, 4:317
- Joint estates, 6:30–32
- Joint High Commission, Alaska boundary dispute, 1:196
- Joint liability, 6:298
- Joint operating agreements, 6:32–33
- Joint resolutions, 3:90, 6:33
- Joint stock companies, 6:33–34
- Joint tenancy, 6:34–35, 8:148
- cooperatives, 3:74
 - estates, 4:219, 6:30–31
 - right of survivorship, 8:357
- Joint tortfeasors, 6:35
- Joint ventures, 6:35–36
- Jones, Elaine Ruth, 6:38–39, 39
- Jones, James, 3:385
- Jones, Paula, 3:157, 340, 9:153
- Jones Act (1917), 8:180
- Jones Act (1920), 6:36–38
- fellow-servant rule, 4:372
 - sailors, 8:438, 9:178
- Jones and Laughlin Steel Corp., 7:255–256
- Jordan, Barbara Charline, 6:40, 40–41
- Jordan, Vernon E., Jr., 7:193
- Joselyn, Dennis, 3:112–113
- Journalism. See Cameras in court; News media
- Journals, 5:235, 479, 6:41
- J.P. (Justice of the peace), 6:41
- J.S.D. (Doctor of Juridical Science), 6:41
- Juan Carlos, King of Spain, 5:450
- Judge Advocate General, 1:333, 7:213
- Judge advocates, 6:43–44
- Judge Hatchett* (television program), 2:217
- Judge Judy* (television program), 2:216
- Judge Mathis* (television program), 2:217
- Judges, 3:450, 6:41–43
- administrative law and procedures, 1:101, 110
 - advisory juries, 1:143
 - alimony cases, 1:228
 - Appleton, John, 1:316–317
 - associate justices, 1:377
 - Badger, George Edmund, 1:436–437
 - Baldwin, Simeon Eben, 1:460

- bankruptcy courts, 1:112, 469, 4:340
cameras in court, 2:219
Canadian exports, 2:234–236
chambers, 2:316
Code of Judicial Conduct, 2:466–469, 4:233–234
cognizance, 2:473
construction, 3:137
contempt, 3:155
continuing education, 3:164–165, 4:347–348
court opinions, 3:251–252
courts-martial, 3:244, 7:60, 61
Cranch, William, 3:260–262, 261
Crockett, George William, Jr., 3:300–301, 301
Daubert test, 3:342–343
deportation cases, 1:226
determinate sentences, 3:422–423
directed verdicts, 3:433 diversity, 2:10–11, 38
Doe, Charles, 3:497–498
English legal history, 1:137–138, 7:322
ex parte, 4:258
federal sentencing guidelines, 10:181
Frank, Jerome New, 4:479–480
free speech, 4:413–414
Gignoux, Edward Thaxter, 5:81–83, 82
Ginsburg, Douglas Howard, 5:93–94
Hand, Learned, 5:182–185, 183
Hastings, Alcee L., 5:83, 337
Haynsworth, Clement Furman, Jr., 5:213, 213–214
Haywood, Margaret Austin, 5:215–217, 216
Higginbotham, Aloyisus Leon, Jr., 5:248–250, 249
Hoffman, Walter Edward, 5:270–272
Hooks, Benjamin Lawson, 5:285–287, 286
Hunter, Elmo Bolton, 5:314–316
immunity, 5:330, 9:61
impeachment, 5:339
inquisitorial system, 5:403–404
Jackson, Thomas Penfield, 1:303–304, 7:104
Johnson, Frank Minis, Jr., 6:18–20
judicial acts, 6:49
judicial immunity, 6:52–56
jury instructions, 9:130
Kearse, Amalya Lyle, 6:108–109
Kent, James, 6:125–126, 126
Kollar-Kotelly, Colleen, 1:304
Lanier, David, 3:278–279
as lawmakers, 1:96
“Lawyers and Judges” (Toqueville) (document), 12:495–499
legal realism, 6:245–247
Lindsey, Benjamin Barr, 6:330, 330–331
Maris, Albert Branson, 6:429–430
Marshall, Margaret Hilary, 6:440–442, 441
matters of law, 6:463–464
midnight judges, 7:53–54
Miller, Loren, 7:69–70
mistrials, 7:92
motions, 7:128
Motley, Constance Baker, 7:131, 131–133
Nickerson, Eugene H., 1:337–338
Page, Alan Cedric, 7:347–349
Parsons, Theophilus, 7:372–373, 373
plea bargaining, 7:457–458
Pollack, Milton, 8:20–22, 21
Posner, Richard Allen, 8:37–40, 38 powers and responsibilities of, 10:103–104 probation and sentencing, 8:123–124
questions of fact and questions of law, 4:297, 8:201–202 receivers, appointment of, 8:249
recuse, 8:259–260
referees, appointment of, 8:263–264
rogatory letters, 8:385
Roth, Stephen, 9:22–23
search warrants, 9:44
sentencing, 9:104–109
Shaw, Lemuel, 4:371, 9:157, 157–158
special courts, 9:261
Sporkin, Stanley, 9:280–281
Starr, Kenneth Wilson, 9:308–311, 309
Stout, Juanita Kidd, 9:362–364, 363
supreme courts (general), 9:402
Tamm, Edward Allen, 9:433–435
television, 2:216–217
Ten Commandments in courtrooms, 8:288
Vanderbilt, Arthur T., 10:198–199
Wald, Patricia McGowan, 1:336, 10:266–267
weight of evidence and jury instructions, 10:325
Weinstein, Jack Bertrand, 10:326–328
Weis, Joseph Francis, Jr., 10:328–331
White, Ronnie, 1:366
Will, Hubert Louis, 10:383–384
Wisdom, John Minor, 9:18, 10:400–401, 401
Wright, James Skelly, 10:427–429
Wright, Susan Webber, 3:157–158
See also Federal judges; Supreme Court justices by name, listed p. 12:554–555
Judgment creditors, 6:46
Judgment debtors, 6:46–47
Judgment dockets, 6:47
Judgment notes, 6:47
Judgment notwithstanding the verdict, 2:393, 6:45, 47–48, 7:130, 10:109
Judgment proof, 6:49
Judgments, 6:44–46
 accumulative, 1:63
 adjudge, 1:95
 adjudication, 1:96–97
 amicable actions, 1:262
 appeals, 1:306, 312–313
 arrest of judgment, 1:353
 bail, 1:440
 collateral attacks, 2:488 collection of money by attorneys, 8:56
 contributions, 3:183
 convictions, 3:186
 coram nobis, 3:205
 costs, 3:233–234
 criminal actions, 3:273
 declaratory, 3:370–371
 decrees, 3:371
 deficiency, 3:389
 execution, 4:268
 Full Faith and Credit Clause, 3:15
 interlocutory, 5:436
 judicial actions, 6:49
 judicial sale, 6:59
 liens, 6:316
 non prosequitur, 7:258
 res judicata, 8:326–327

- roll, 8:387
- scire facias, 9:35
- stays, 9:337
- summary, 7:129–130, 9:395–396
- termination of action, 1:78
- vacate, 10:191
- void, 10:243–244
- warrants of attorney, 10:287
- without prejudice, 10:404–405
- See also* Court opinions; Decisions
- Judicare, 6:49
- Judicature, 6:49
- Judicature Acts (Great Britain), 6:49
- Judicial, 6:49
- Judicial Act (1870), 6:90
- Judicial actions, 6:49
- Judicial activism
 - judicial review, 6:57–58
 - Marbury v. Madison* (1803), 6:427
 - Scalia, Antonin, 9:10–11
 - Wright, James Skelly, 10:428
- Judicial administration, 6:49–50
 - Brennan, William Joseph, Jr., 2:109
 - Browning, James Robert, 2:148–150
 - Burger, Warren Earl, 2:169
 - calendars, 2:212
 - case processing improvements, 2:150, 169
 - case titles, 3:249–251
 - “The Causes of Popular Dissatisfaction with the Administration of Justice” (Pound) (document), 12:529–538
 - civil cases, 2:394
 - Conference of Chief Justices, 3:78, 79
 - Conference of State Court Administrators, 3:79
 - court administrators, 3:243–244
 - court opinions, 3:251
 - dockets, 3:489, 490–496
 - Federal Judicial Center, 4:347–4348
 - Federal Rules of Evidence, 4:355–356
 - financial issues, 1:112, 195, 3:233–234, 405–406, 448
 - Hoffman, Walter Edward, 5:270–272
 - judgments, records of, 6:44
 - justiciability, 6:92–93
 - Massachusetts, 6:442
 - obstruction of justice, 7:299
 - plea bargaining, 7:459
 - pretrial conferences, 8:77
 - record errors, 7:285
 - sessions, 9:121
 - state and federal courts, 3:243, 9:314–315
 - Supreme Court of the United States, 2:26, 9:404–405, 433
 - Tamm, Edward Allen, 9:434
 - Vanderbilt, Arthur T., 10:198
 - Weis, Joseph Francis, Jr., 10:330–331
 - Will, Hubert Louis, 10:383–384
- Judicial comity, 3:2
- Judicial Conference Committee, U.S., 2:469
- Judicial Conference of the United States, 6:51–52
 - Administrative Office of the United States Courts, 1:111–113
 - chief justice’s oversight, 2:343–344
 - civil procedure, 2:391
 - federal courts report (1995), 3:276–277
 - Federal Judicial Center, 4:347, 348
 - Gignoux, Edward Thaxter, 5:83
 - origins, 3:344
- Judicial conventions, 3:184
- Judicial Councils Reform and Judicial Conduct and Disability Act (1980), 2:469
- Judicial decision-making
 - binding authority, 2:36
 - Cardozo, Benjamin Nathan, 2:246
 - case law, 2:267
 - facilitating, 2:150
 - formalism, 6:74–75
 - Frank, Jerome N., 8:45
 - Pound, Roscoe, 8:45
 - precedent, 8:57–58
 - primary authority, 8:83
 - realism, 6:75–76
 - rule of law, 8:420
 - “Some Reflections on the Reading of Statutes” (Frankfurter) (document), 12:539–550
- Judicial discretion, 3:450, 8:37, 9:106–107
- Judicial estoppel, 4:228–229
- Judicial immunity, 6:52–56
- Judicial Improvements and Access to Justice Act (1988), 2:343
- Judicial misconduct, 3:278–279
- Judicial notice, 6:56
 - cases in chief, 10:107
 - evidence, 4:254–255
- Judicial objectivity, 3:296
- Judicial office candidates, 4:413–414
- Judicial officers. See Officers of the court
- Judicial opinions. See Court opinions
- Judicial Panel on Multidistrict Litigation, 7:137
- Judicial restraint
 - Bickel, Alexander Mordecai, 2:25
 - footnote 4, 4:444–445
 - Frankfurter, Felix, 4:482–483
 - judicial review, 6:58
 - Lochner v. New York* (1905), 6:361
 - West Coast Hotel Co. v. Parrish* (1937), 10:344
- Judicial review, 6:56–59
 - administrative agencies, 3:451
 - administrative law and procedure, 1:108, 110–111, 114, 325
 - Blair, John, Jr., 2:61
 - Constitution, U.S., 3:132
 - Dr. Bonham’s Case* (1610), 4:152–154
 - federalism, 4:365
 - Federalist*, Number 78 (document), 12:130–132
 - Federalist Papers*, 4:368
 - Hamilton, Alexander, 4:367
 - Marbury v. Madison* (1803), 6:389–390, 424–428
 - Marshall, John, 6:439
 - physician misconduct, 7:440
 - power of judiciary, 7:54, 9:10–11
 - race and ethnicity
 - classifications, 8:213
 - rational basis test, 8:239–240
 - reasonable time, 8:247
 - sex discrimination cases, 9:135–136
 - Writs of Assistance* case (1761), 10:431
- Judicial sale, 6:59
- Judicial writs, 6:59, 9:35
- Judiciary, 6:59–64, 63, 265, 12:130–132
- Judiciary Act (1789), 6:62, 64–66
 - Attorney general, 1:395, 6:89
 - chief justices, 2:342
 - Chisholm v. Georgia* (1793), 6:376

- Ellsworth, Oliver, 4:114
 make up of Supreme Court, 5:196–197
Marbury v. Madison (1803), 6:426–427
Martin v. Hunter's Lessee (1816), 6:449
 Paterson, William, 7:400
 right to appeal, 1:313
 Judiciary Act (1837), 2:274
 Judiciary Act (1925), 2:342
 Judo, 2:221
 Jumper, John, 3:385
The Jungle (Sinclair), 9:190–191
 Junior, 6:67
 Junk bonds, 2:78, 79, 6:67, 8:21
 Junk mail. See Mail, solicitation Jural, 6:67
 Jurat, 6:67
 Juridical, 6:67–68
 Juries, 6:78–83
 abiding conviction, 1:8
 advisory juries, 10:102
 array, 1:349
 blue ribbon juries, 2:67
 cameras in court, 2:219
 capital punishment, 2:241, 5:20, 10:402–403
 charge to the jury, 2:318
 Chicago Jury Project, 2:340–341
 civil cases, 2:393
 closing arguments, 2:456–457
 cognizable group, 2:473 condemnation proceedings, 4:125
 coroner's inquests, 3:208
 demonstrative evidence, 3:397–399
 directed verdicts, 3:433
 embracery, 4:121
 English legal history, 1:137–138 federal vs. state procedure, 3:287
 grand juries, 5:122–126
 history, 6:62
 hung juries, 5:312
 impanel, 5:336
 inquests, 5:402–403
 judgment notwithstanding the verdict, 6:47–48
 jury commissions, 6:83
 peremptory challenges, 2:473, 6:80–82, 7:425–426 polling, 8:23, 25 prejudice, 8:62
 pretrial publicity, 8:78
 punitive damages awards, 8:189–190
 questions of fact, 8:200–201 race-based peremptory challenges, 4:192, 8:49 responsibilities of, 10:104
 sealed verdicts, 9:39
 selection, 10:105–106
 sequestration, 9:114–115
 Seventh Amendment, 9:130–131
 Sixth Amendment, 9:197–198
 struck juries, 9:377
 summary jury trials, 1:240
 venire facias, 10:202
 venireman, 10:202
 verdict forms, 10:108
 verdicts, 10:108–109, 204
 voir dire, 10:245–246
 weight of evidence, 10:324–325
 Jurimetrics, 6:68
Jurimetrics Journal of Law, Science, and Technology (ABA), 6:68
Juris, 6:68
 Juris doctor, 6:10, 68–69
 Jurisdiction, 6:69–73
 abstention doctrine, 1:34
 admiralty and maritime law, 1:117
 appellate, 3:246–247
 appellate advocacy, 1:311–312
 armed services personnel, 1:340
 Article III, Constitution, 3:131
 attachment of property, 1:388–389
 Barbour, Philip Pendleton, 1:488
 child custody, 2:354, 3:325
 civil procedure, 2:391
 Claims Court, U.S., 10:126
 common law, 3:30
 concurrent jurisdiction, 3:70
 criminal law, 3:276–277
 District of Columbia, 3:468
 diversity of citizenship, 3:469–470, 4:339
 exclusive, 4:267
 extradition, 4:291–295
 extraterritoriality, 4:295–296
 federal courts, 4:110–111, 339–340
 federal question, 4:339, 351
 Federalism, 7:54
 forum non conveniens, 4:466
 general jurisdiction, 5:59
 in rem, 8:198
 International Court of Justice, 5:442
 intra-church disputes, 8:292–293
 Judiciary Act (1789), 6:65–66, 426–428 juveniles tried as adults, 6:96, 101
 lex fori, 6:297
 long-arm statutes, 6:369–370
 mandamus, writ of, 6:414
 Marbury v. Madison (1803), 6:426–428
 marine, 4:423–424
 military courts, 3:349, 6:445, 7:59–62
 navigable waters, 7:211
 original jurisdiction, 7:335–336
 Otto, William Tod, 7:338
 pendent, 7:416
 polygamy, 8:27
 prohibition, writ of, 8:142
 quasi in rem, 8:198–199 removal, 8:295–296
 renvoi, 8:299
 residency, 8:333
 Robinson-Patman Act (1936), 8:373, 374
 second-look doctrine, 9:54
 Section 1983, 9:60–64
 shipwrecks and salvage claims, 8:452 small claims courts, 9:213
 special courts, 9:260–261
 state or federal, 3:131, 9:362 subject matter or personal, 4:339, 7:431–432, 9:379–380
 Supreme Court of the United States, 9:405–406
 tax courts, 9:439
 territorial courts, 10:3
 tribal courts, 5:384, 7:199
 Uniform Child Custody Jurisdiction and Enforcement Act (1997), 4:317
 U.S. Courts of Appeals, 10:176–177
 See also Incorporation doctrine
 Jurisdictional disputes, 6:73
 Jurisprudence, 6:73–78
 canon law, influence of, 2:232
 early American history, 1:296
 Justinian I, 6:94
 Maine, Henry James Sumner, 6:397–399
 Marxist, 6:451
 “Mechanical Jurisprudence” (Pound) (document), 12:521–528
 original intent, 5:462
 “The Path of the Law” (Holmes) (document), 12:505–517

- positivism, 6:240–241, 8:37
 Pound, Roscoe, 8:44–46
 private international law, 8:109
 Roberts, Owen Josephus, 8:370 sociological, 6:245, 8:45
 substantive due process, 9:389
 Tenth Amendment, 9:462
 utilitarianism, 10:188–190
See also Analytical jurisprudence
 Juristic acts, 6:78
 Jurists, 6:78
 Alexander, James, 1:209–210
 Ames, Samuel, 1:261–262, 262
 Bacon, Sir Francis, 1:433–436
 Baer, George Frederick, 1:437–438
 Bailey, Francis Lee, 1:441–444, 442
 Baldwin, Joseph Glover, 1:457
 Baldwin, Roger Sherman, 1:263–264
 Ballinger, William Pitt, 1:460–461
 Barlow, Francis Channing, 1:489–490
 Baylor, Robert Emmett Bledsoe, 1:504–505
 Beasley, Mercer, 2:3
 Bell, Griffin Boyette, 2:10, 11
 Benjamin, Judah Philip, 3:75
 Biddle, Francis Beverly, 2:26, 26–27
 Bird, Rose Elizabeth, 2:37–39, 38
 Blackford, Isaac Newton, 2:54–55
 Blatchford, Samuel, 2:63–64, 64
 Bork, Robert Heron, 2:81–83, 82
 Bracton, Henry de, 2:94–95
 Bragg, Thomas, 3:76
 Brown, Addison, 2:135
 Brown, Henry Billings, 2:135–136, 136
 Browning, James Robert, 2:148–150
 Bryan, William Jennings, 3:341, 9:36
 Bryant, William Benson, 2:154–155
 Burlamaqui, Jean Jacques, 2:174
 Carter, Robert Lee, 2:265
 Clayton, Henry DeLamar, 2:429
 Cochran, Johnnie L., 9:187–188
 Cockburn, Sir Alexander James Edmund, 2:465
 Cooley, Thomas McIntyre, 3:186–188, 187
 Dana, Richard Henry, 3:335, 335
 Darrow, Clarence, 1:249, 3:337–342, 338, 9:36
 Davis, George, 3:77
 Davis, John William, 2:144–145, 3:351
 Devens, Charles, 3:424–425
 Dewey, Thomas Edmund, 3:425, 425–426
 Flynn, John J., 7:83
 Foster, Vincent, 1:394
 Gillett, Emma Melinda, 5:86–87
 Glanvil, Ranulf, 5:98–99
 Greenberg, Jack, 5:140–142
 Groesbeck, William Slocomb, 5:150–152
 Harding, George, 5:185–186, 186
 Hastie, William Henry, 5:199, 199–200
 Hays, Arthur Garfield, 1:249
 Hill, Oliver White, Sr., 5:259–260
 Hornblower, William Butler, 5:291–292
 Howard, Benjamin Chew, 5:302, 302–303
 Keyes, Wade, Jr., 3:75–76
 MacKinnon, Catharine Alice, 3:296
 Maine, Henry James Sumner, 6:397–399, 398
 Malone, Dudley Field, 1:249
 Neal, John, 1:249
 Nimmer, Melville Bernard, 7:244
 O'Connor, Charles, 7:304, 304
 Otto, William Tod, 7:337–339, 338
 Posner, Richard, 1:301
 Rappelyea, George, 1:249
 Rosenberg, Jerry, 5:498
 Scheck, Barry, 9:34
 Shapiro, Robert Leslie, 9:155–157
 Traynor, Roger John, 10:87–88
 Tuttle, Elbert Parr, 10:127–128
 Walsh, Lawrence, 3:111, 5:477, 477
 Watts, Thomas Hill, 3:76–77
 Jury commissions, 6:83
 Jury instructions, 5:411
 additional, 1:91
 capital punishment, 5:20
 law of the case, 6:214
 lesser included offenses, 6:271
 presumption of innocence, 8:75
 punitive damages, 8:189–190 reading of, 10:108
 weight of evidence, 10:325
 Jury nullification, 6:82–83, 83–85, 7:209, 10:454
 Jury Selection and Service Act (1968), 6:81
 Jury trials
 civil cases, 2:392–393, 4:200 defendants' right to, 6:79–80
 Henry II, 4:155
 Seventh Amendment, 9:129–131
 will contests, 8:122
 See also Sixth Amendment
Jus, 6:85
Jus cogens, 6:85
Jus tertii, 6:85
 Just, 6:85
 Just cause, 6:85–86
 Just compensation, 4:123, 125, 6:86
 Just desserts, 6:86
 Just war, 6:86–87
 Justice, 6:87
 environmental, 4:181–182
 precedent, 8:57
 Rawls, John, 8:240–241
 Justice, Department of, 1:101, 6:87–91, 88
 Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms, and Explosives, Bureau of, 1:207
 Antitrust Division, 1:303
 Ashcroft, John David, 1:366–367
 Attorney General, U.S., 1:394–398
 Barr, William Pelham, 1:491–492
 Conference of Chief Justices, 3:78 corruption investigation, 7:14, 16–17
 Enron scandal (2001), 3:214–215
 Gregory, Thomas Watt, 5:146
 Smith, William French, 9:220
 Solicitor General, 9:239–240
 Sporkin, Stanley, 9:281
 U.S. Marshals Service, 10:178–179
 Justices, Supreme Court presidential nominations, 12:554–555*t* time chart, 12:556–558*t*
 Justices of the peace, 6:41, 91–92

Justiciability, 2:392, 6:92–93, 8:14–15
 Justiciable controversy. See Case or controversy
 Justifiable homicide, 5:283
 Justification, 6:93
 Justinian I, emperor of Roman Empire, 6:93–95, 94, 8:387
 Juvenile law and courts, 6:95–102
 age of reason, 1:166
 capital punishment, 2:240, 4:79
 child custody, 2:354
 children's rights, 2:369
 corporal punishment, 3:212
 crimes, 3:272, 276
 curfew, 3:313
 establishment, 6:95, 97–98
 gang-related crimes, 5:32–33
 incarceration, 5:357
 infants' rights, 5:394
 In re Gault (1967), 5:44–45
 In re Winship (1970), 10:395–397
 Lindsey, Benjamin Barr, 6:330–331
 reformatories, 8:266
 restitution, 8:338
 sentencing, 9:109
 special courts, 9:261
 trying juveniles as adults, 2:369, 6:96, 101

K

Ka Lahui Hawai'i, 10:86
 Kaczynski, Ted, 10:179
 Kahl, Gordon, 8:40
 Kaltenbrunner, Ernst, 7:288–289
 Kangaroo court, 6:103
 Kansas
 “bleeding Kansas,” 7:445
 Criminal Syndicalism Act (1920), 1:273–274
 Dole, Robert Joseph, 3:499
 Lecompton Constitution (1857), 6:104–105
 Sexually Violent Predator Act, 3:26
 slavery, 2:137
 Kansas City Board of Trade, 4:262
 Kansas-Nebraska Act (1854), 6:103–105, 104, 7:444–445
 Brown, John (abolitionist), 2:137–138
 Celia, a slave, 2:281
 Lincoln, Abraham, 6:323
 Republican Party, 8:316
 Whig Party, 10:353

Kansas-Nebraska Act (1854) (document), 12:158–164
 Kant, Immanuel, 6:105, 105–106
Das Kapital (Marx), 6:451
 Katzenbach, Nicholas deBelleville, 6:106–108
 Kears, Amalya Lyle, 6:108–109
 Keating, Charles H., Jr., 2:387, 7:3
 Keating-Owen Child Labor Act (1916), 3:352–353, 5:181
 Kefauver-Harris Drug Amendments (1962), 4:440–441
 Kefauver investigation and Knapp Commission, 6:109–111
 Keitel, Wilhelm, 7:290
 Kellogg, Frank Billings, 6:112–113, 113, 8:299
 Kellogg-Briand Pact (1928), 6:86–87, 111–112, 113, 8:299
 Kelly, Sharon Pratt Dixon, 6:113–115, 114
 Kelsen, Hans, 6:115–116
 Kelso, Frank B., 1:338–339
 Kennedy, Anthony McLeod, 6:116–118, 117
 equal protection and sexual orientation, 4:195
 Lawrence v. Texas (2003), 6:217–218, 9:391
 Romer v. Evans (1996), 8:389–390
 Saucier v. Katz (2001), 5:331
 Kennedy, Edward Moore, 6:118–120, 119
 Kennedy, John Fitzgerald, 6:120–122, 121
 assassination, 1:368–369
 Clifford, Clark, adviser, 2:441
 Cuban Missile Crisis (1962), 1:343–344, 3:309–310
 Democratic Party, 3:395
 election of 1960, 7:252
 Inaugural Address (document), 12:479–481
 Limited Test Ban Treaty (1963), 6:322, 322
 Kennedy, Robert Francis, 6:123, 123–125
 African American children, plight of, 4:60
 election of 1968, 7:7
 Hoffa investigations, 5:269
 Keno (game), 9:322–323
 Kent, James, 6:125–127, 126
 Kent State student killings, 6:127, 127–129, 446

Kentucky
 any willing provider laws, 6:413
 Crittenden, John Jordan, 3:298–300
 Harlan, John Marshall, 5:188
 Kentucky Association of Health Plans v. Miller (2003), 5:228
 search warrants, 9:45
 Speed, James, 9:272–273
 Stone v. Graham (1980), 8:287
 Todd, Thomas, 10:52–53
 victim notification, 10:220
 Kentucky Bar Association, 6:232–233
 Kentucky Resolves, 6:129
 See also Virginia and Kentucky Resolves
 Kenya, 10:282
 Keogh plans, 5:366, 6:129–131
 Kevorkian, Jack, 6:131–134, 132 criminal prosecution, 4:236–239, 5:284, 9:393–394 self-suicide machine, 3:359
 Key Numbers®, 6:134
KeyCite™, 6:134–135
 Keyes, Wade, Jr., 3:75–76
 Khobar Tower bombing plot (1996), 10:282
 Khrushchev, Nikita, 3:309–310
 Kiareldeen, Hany, 2:298
 Kickbacks, 6:135–136
 Kidnapping, 6:136–139
 Amber Alert laws, 2:357–358
 Amistad case (1839–1841), 1:263–264
 conspiracies, 3:109
 death penalty for, 2:337
 false imprisonment, 4:311–312
 federal cases, 3:277
 Hearst, Patty, 3:279–280, 5:237–238
 Leopold and Loeb case (1924), 6:270
 Lindbergh baby (1932), 2:214, 218, 6:329–330
 parental, 2:354–355, 4:317
 Kilberg doctrine, 6:139
 Kimbro, Warren, 2:51, 52
 Kin, 6:140
 Kindergartens, 2:349
 King, Don, 8:220
 King, Edward, 6:140
 King, Martin Luther, Jr., 6:141, 141–143
 Civil Rights Movement, 1:6–7, 2:403, 405–407, 7:345–346
 COINTELPRO, 2:481
 “I Have a Dream” speech (document), 12:359–361

- "Letter from Birmingham City Jail" (document), 12:350–358
 March on Washington (1963), 7:345
 Montgomery bus boycotts (1955–1956), 1:448, 7:110–111
 Southern Christian Leadership Conference, 9:252–253, 253
 Wilkins, Roy Ottoway and, 10:376
 King, Rodney G., 6:143–145, 144
 King's Bench or Queen's Bench, 6:145
 Kingsley, Gregory, 7:359
 Kissinger, Henry Alfred, 6:145–147, 146
 Kitchen Cabinet, Jackson, 5:488
 Kiting, 6:147
 Klanwatch, 6:162
 Klein, Herbert M., 4:22
 Kleindienst, Richard Gordon, 6:147–148, 8:274
 Kline, Tonya (unusual punishment case), 9:108, 109
 Klondike gold rush, 1:196
 Knaebel, Ernest, 6:149
 Knapp Commission and Kefauver investigation, 6:109–111, 8:7
 Knights, 4:391
 Knights of Labor, 6:178
 Knock-and-announce requirement, 4:475, 9:42–43
 Know-Nothing Party, 4:406, 6:149–151
 Knowingly, 6:151
 Knowledge. See Information and knowledge
 Knox, Philander Chase, 6:151–153, 152
 Knussman, Kevin, 9:134–135, 135
 Kollar-Kotelly, Colleen, 1:304
 Koop, Charles Everett, 6:153–156, 154
 AIDS education, 1:68–69
 anti-smoking efforts, 9:408–409
 Korean lobbying scandal, 6:9
 Korean War, 6:156–158
 Truman, Harry S., 10:115
 Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. v. Sawyer (1952), 10:450–452
 Korematsu, Fred, 6:159
 Koresh, David, 2:101–102
 Kozlowski, Dennis, 4:489
 Ku Klux Klan, 4:500, 6:159–162
 freedom of association and assembly, 4:494
 Liuzzo, Viola, murder of, 6:345–346
 lynchings, 6:381
 Reconstruction, 8:254
 rights of African Americans, 1:194–195
 terrorism, 4:189
 white supremacy, 10:362–363
 Ku Klux Klan Act. See Civil Rights Act (1871)
 Kuby, Ron, 2:457
 Kuhn, Margaret E., 5:134–135
 Kujau, Konrad, 4:460
 Kunstler, William Moses, 6:163–166, 164
 Kuomintang (political party), 3:40

L
 La Follette, Robert Marion, 6:167–168, 168, 8:139
 Labels
 alcohol products, 1:206, 208
 National Recovery Administration, 7:183
 patents, 7:396
 poisons, 8:2
 product liability, 8:131–132
 tobacco, 10:43–46
 trademark issues, 1:66
 Labor, Department of, 6:168–171, 169 consumer price index, 3:147–148
 Crockett, George William, Jr., 3:301
 Wage Appeals Board, 3:345
 Labor force
 aliens, 1:218–219
 indenture, 5:373–374
 Mexican guest workers, 7:51–52
 women, 3:50
 Labor law, 6:171–177
 Black, Hugo, decisions of, 2:44–45
 blacklists, 2:55–56
 boycotts, 2:93
 Brennan, William Joseph, Jr., 2:109 broadcasting and minorities, 2:130 business closings, 2:189–190
 certification proceedings, 2:308
 Chávez, César Estrada, 2:332–334
 closed shops, 2:453–454
 coercion, 2:473
 collective bargaining, 2:489–493, 494, 495–498
 Crockett, George William, Jr., 3:301
 Eastman, Crystal, 4:57
 expropriation, 4:288
 Fair Labor Standards Act (1938), 4:304
 Family and Medical Leave Act (1993), 4:320–321
 Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, 4:349–350
 fellow-servant rule, 4:370–372
 Goldberg, Arthur Joseph, 5:104–106
 Hughes Court, 5:304–305 immigrant employment certification, 1:223
 independent contractors, 5:374–375
 jurisdictional disputes, 6:73
 labor conspiracy doctrine, 6:177–178
 Labor-Management Reporting and Disclosure Act (1959), 6:200
 Lochner v. New York (1905), 6:359–362
 lockouts, 6:364
 Office of the American Workplace, 6:170–171 older workers, 4:86–87
 Pullman Strike, 8:182–183
 quality circles and total quality management, 6:174–177
 right-to-work laws, 8:362
 Triangle Shirtwaist Company fire (1911), 10:109–111
 umpires, 10:141
 unfair labor practices, 10:152–154
 wildcat strikes, 10:373
 yellow-dog contracts, 6:178–179, 10:446–447
 See also Wagner Act (1935)
 Labor-Management Relations Act (1947), 6:177, 9:431
 closed shops, 2:454
 Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, 4:349
 labor unions, 6:179
 right-to-work laws, 8:362
 unfair labor practices, 10:153
 Labor-Management Reporting and Disclosure Act (1959), 6:200–201
 labor unions, 6:180
 union regulation, 6:176

- Labor movement
 Debs, Eugene, 3:363–365
 Goldman, Emma, 5:108
 Gompers, Samuel, 5:112–113
 Haymarket Square riot (1886), 5:211
 Haywood, William Dudley, 5:217–218
 National Industrial Recovery Act (1933), 7:183
 Perkins, Frances, 7:429
 socialism, 9:231–232
- Labor strikes. See Strikes
- Labor unions, 6:177–180
 American Federation of Labor-Congress of Industrial Organizations, 1:253–254, 5:104
 arbitration, 1:240
 bargaining agents, 1:489
 Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, 8:228–229
 certification proceedings, 2:308
 Chávez, César Estrada, 2:332–334
 checkoff, 2:335
 closed shops, 2:453–454
 collective bargaining, 2:489–493, 494, 495–498
Commonwealth v. Hunt (1842), 8:233–234 cooling-off period, 3:189
 corruption, 6:124
 criminality of, 9:158
 disputes, 3:462
 Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, 4:349–350
 fetal protection policies, 4:388–389 freedom-of-contract doctrine, 4:131 garment workers, 10:111
 grievance procedures, 5:148
 Hoffa, James Riddle, 5:267–270, 269
 Industrial Workers of the World, 1:273, 5:391
 International Longshore and Warehouse Union, 3:461
 jurisdictional disputes, 6:73
 Labor-Management Relations Act (1947), 6:177
 Labor-Management Reporting and Disclosure Act (1959), 6:200 membership rates, 1:254
 monopolies, 7:103
 National Labor Relations Board, 3:131
 National Mediation Board, 7:184–185
 Norris-LaGuardia Act (1932), 7:263
 open shops, 7:318–319
 picketing, 7:443–444
 Pinkerton agents, 7:448, 449–450
 Pitney, Mahlon, attitudes towards, 7:453–454
 political action committees, 8:11–12
 professional athletes, 9:288–289 racial integration, 8:229 railroad workers, 8:224
 representation of Clarence Darrow, 3:339, 340 right-to-work laws, 8:362
 scabs, 9:9
 secondary boycotts, 9:55
 Senate investigations, 7:10
 shop stewards, 9:180
 steel industry, 7:255–256
 Taft-Hartley Act (1947), 9:431
 Teamsters, 5:267–270
 unfair labor practices, 6:174–176, 10:152–154
 union shops, 10:161
 United Steelworkers of America, 5:104
 women's income, 3:51–52
See also Strikes; Trade unions; Wagner Act (1935)
- Laboratories
 animal research, 1:276–279
 Energy Department, 4:147
 forensic, 3:486–487
- Lacey Act (1900), 4:421–422
- Laches, 6:181
 acquiescence, 1:66
 estoppel, 4:228
 specific performance defense, 9:270
- Lachowsky, Hyman, 1:27
- Lack of consideration, 4:221–222
- LaDuke, Winona, 5:140
- Lafley, A.G., 3:218
- LaMacchia, David, 3:152, 200
- Lamar, Joseph Rucker, 6:181–182, 182
- Lamar, Lucius Quintus Cincinnatus, 6:182–183, 183
- Lambda Legal Defense Fund, 4:234–235
- Lame duck, 6:184, 10:130
- Lame-Duck Amendment, 6:184–185
- Land
 Black, Jeremiah Sullivan, 2:47
 corporeal, 3:227
 covenants running with the, 3:254
 dedications, 3:371–372
 deeds, 3:372–375
 deeds of trust, 3:375–379
 deforcement, 3:390
 domain, 3:502
 Domesday Book, 3:502–503
 easements, 4:55–56
 entry, writ of, 10:430
 grants, 5:128–129
 homesteads, 5:280–281
 investiture, 5:472
 livery of seisin, 6:346–347
 mergers, law of, 7:43
 metes and bounds lands, 7:49 mineral rights, 7:77
 mortmain, 7:124–125
 private nuisances, 7:283
 Sioux Black Hills dispute, 9:246
 squatters, 9:292
 Statute of Wills, 9:335
On Tenures (Littleton), 6:343
 trespass, 10:99–102
 Westminster, Second Statute of, 10:347
See also Real estate
- Land grants, 6:185
Fletcher v. Peck, 4:435–436 railroad companies, 8:222
- Land shares, 2:283
- Land-use control, 6:185–192
 covenants, 3:256, 8:340–341
 landmarks preservation, 6:197–199
 zoning, 10:456–457
- Landfills and dumps, 8:25, 25, 26, 9:240–241, 243
- Landis, Kenesaw Mountain, 2:467, 6:192–193, 193
- Landlords, 6:193
- Landlords and tenants, 6:193–197, 9:457
 abuse of process, 1:42–43
 certificates of occupancy, 2:308
 constructive eviction, 3:138 escalator clauses, 4:205–206
 eviction, 4:247
 express notice, 1:80
 fixtures, 4:429
 lease agreements, 6:224, 225
 lessees, 6:271
 lessors, 6:272
 nonfreehold estates, 4:219–220
 quiet enjoyment, 8:204–205
 quit, 8:207
 rent and diplomatic immunity, 3:431

- rent control, 2:476
- rent strikes, 8:298–299
- retaliatory eviction, 8:342–343
- right of reentry, 8:356–357
- security deposits, 9:81
- self-help evictions, 9:92
- subletting, 9:380
- unlawful detainer, 10:169–170
- use and occupation, 10:186
- warranties, 10:288
- waste, 10:305–306
- Landmarks, 6:197–199
- Landrum-Griffin Act. See Labor-Management Reporting and Disclosure Act (1959)
- Lanfranc, 6:201–202
- Langdell, Christopher Columbus, 6:202–203
 - case method, 2:267
 - “Contracts” (document), 12:503–504
 - jurisprudence, 6:75
 - legal education, 6:236
 - legal scholarship, 12:493–494
- Language and words
 - abusive, 1:43
 - actionable per se, 1:79
 - ambiguity, 1:243–244
 - bright line rules, 2:123–124
 - canons of construction, 2:235–236
 - case titles, 3:249–251
 - construction, 3:137, 9:368
 - context, 3:158
 - course of performance, 3:240–241
 - court hand, 3:244
 - criminal statutes, 3:273–274
 - curfew laws, 3:313–314
 - descriptive word index, 3:418
 - English-only laws, 4:158–161
 - generic names, 10:68, 72
 - henceforth, 5:245
 - hereafter, 5:247
 - informed consent, 5:396
 - interpretation, 5:462
 - law French, 6:213
 - legal storytelling, 3:297
 - legalese, 6:253
 - literal construction, 6:336
 - Native American treaties, 7:197
 - plain-meaning rule, 7:456
 - precatory, 8:56–57
 - qualification, 8:195
 - rex*, 8:349
 - seamen and the Jones Act, 8:438
 - Second Amendment, 9:49
 - Seven Dirty Words* case (1977), 9:434–435
 - statutes, 9:330
 - terms of art, 10:1–2
 - threats, 10:26–27
 - trade usage, 10:71
 - wills, 8:120
 - Words and Phrases*®, 10:416
 - words of art, 10:417
 - words of limitation, 10:417
 - words of purchase, 10:417
- Lanham Act (1946), 6:204
 - child care, 2:348
 - false advertising, 4:307–308, 10:152
 - trademarks, 10:71–74
- Lanier, David, 3:278–279
- LAP (Legal Action Project), 2:100
- Lapse, 6:204–205
- Larceny, 6:205–207, 206
 - asportation, 1:367
 - embezzlement distinction, 4:119
 - grand larceny, 5:127
 - intent, 2:171
 - petit larceny, 7:436
 - theft distinction, 10:17
- Large claims class actions, 2:424–425
- Lasciviousness, 6:207
- Last clear chance, 6:207–208
- Last resort, 6:208
- Latent, 6:208
- Latent ambiguity, 1:243
- Lateral support, 1:94, 6:208–209
- Laundries, 9:88
- Lautenberg, Frank, 1:33
- Lavelle, John D., 6:43–44
- Law, 6:209–212
- Law, Bernard F., 2:346, 347, 358, 9:149–150
- Law and literature, 6:212
- Law clerks, 2:439
- Law day, 6:213
- Law enforcement officers
 - Alcatraz occupation (1969–1971), 1:256
 - Amber Alert system, 2:357–358, 6:139
 - arrests, 1:350, 350–353
 - Attorney General, U.S., 1:394–398
 - automobile searches, 1:410–416, 415
 - bailiffs, 1:444
 - Bean, Roy, 2:1
 - Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms, and Explosives, 1:204
 - civilian review boards, 2:411
 - Cleaver, Leroy Eldridge, 2:434
 - community-oriented policing, 3:46–47, 47
 - confessions, 3:80–83, 7:23–24
 - conservators of the peace, 3:105
 - constables, 3:114–115
 - corruption and misconduct, 2:411, 462–463, 3:284–286, 6:110–111, 8:6–10
 - Crime Control Acts, 3:269–270
 - criminal procedure, 3:282–291
 - custodial interrogations, 3:321–324, 322, 7:52–53, 83–85
 - deadly force, 3:355, 355–356
 - defamation, 3:379
 - deputies, 3:407
 - destruction of property, 4:475
 - detention, 3:420, 420
 - disabled suspects, 3:440
 - disaster relief, 3:443
 - DNA evidence, 3:486–487
 - drug control, 4:30–32, 7:307–308
 - Drug Enforcement Administration, 4:24–25
 - electronic surveillance, 4:106–108
 - entrapment, 4:169
 - Exclusionary Rule, 4:264–266
 - extradition, 4:293–294
 - false arrest, 4:310, 311
 - Federal Bureau of Investigation training programs, 4:332
 - fingerprints, 4:411
 - firearms training, 7:188
 - forfeiture proceeds, 4:457
 - Fourth Amendment, 4:471–476
 - frisk, 5:7
 - fruit of the poisonous tree, 5:9–12
 - Fugitive Slave Act (1850), 5:13
 - gang, 5:30–34
 - gun control laws, 5:164
 - hate crimes, 5:207
 - Haymarket Square riot (1886), 5:212, 212
 - hot pursuit, 5:293–294, 294
 - integration of Alabama State Troopers, 9:254
 - Interpol, 5:461–462
 - interrogations and self-incrimination, 8:111–112
 - involuntary confessions, 5:473–474

- Justice Department offices, 6:88
- King, Rodney G., beating of (1991), 6:143–145
- malicious prosecution, 6:406, 408
- Massiah* doctrine, 6:460
- Megan's Laws, 7:36–38
- Native American protests, 1:482–483
- photo lineups, 7:438–439
- Pine Ridge shootings (1975), 1:256–257
- Pinkerton, Allan, 7:448–450, 449
- police, 8:3–5
- probable cause, 8:118–119
- Prohibition, 1:204, 5:288
- protective custody, 8:158–159
- racial profiling, 8:213–217, 216
- rape victims, 8:235
- Rehnquist, William Hubbs, rulings of, 8:275
- San Francisco Vigilance Committees, 8:452–453
- school integration, 9:23
- search and seizure, 9:39–43
- search warrants, 9:44–46
- seatbelt laws, 5:357
- seizure of property, 1:1
- sheriffs, 9:164–165
- shock-the-conscience test, 9:180
- show-ups, 9:183
- sobriety testing, 1:427, 5:344, 344–345
- stop and frisk, 9:358–359
- substantive due process, 4:39–40
- SWAT teams, 9:421–422
- undercover officers, 9:239
- Uniform Crime Reports, 10:159–1:160
- verification, 10:205
- warrantless searches, 10:10–11
- warrants, 10:286, 287
- weapons, 10:318
- Wickersham Commission, 10:371–372
- wiretapping, 10:397–398
- See also* Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI); Police; Police corruption and misconduct
- Law firms, 8:136
- Law French, 6:213
- Law journals, 6:213
- Law merchant, 6:213
- Law of nations, 6:213
- Law of the case, 6:213–214
- Law of the flag, 2:386
- Law of the land, 6:214, 393–394
- Law of the sea, 6:214–215
- Law reports, 6:215, 8:57
- Law reviews, 6:215–216
- Law School Admission Test (LSAT), 6:216–217
- Law schools
- accredited, 1:61–62
 - Association of American Law Schools, 2:257, 6:236
 - Baylor University, 1:505
 - degrees, 1:391
 - establishment of, 6:236
 - Greenberg, Jack, lectures, 5:141
 - Harvard Law School, 5:133–134
 - Howard University Law School, 5:200, 301
 - Inns of Chancery, 5:402
 - Inns of Court, 5:402
 - integration, 6:237
 - Litchfield Law School, 6:335–336
 - moot courts, 7:114
 - Northwestern University School of Law, 10:372–373
 - Order of the coif, 7:323–324
 - segregation, 7:132
 - testing, 2:268
 - University of Chicago Law School, 2:340, 4:506, 6:293–294
 - University of Michigan, 3:188
 - University of Texas, 1:154–155
 - Washington College of Law, 7:148
 - women students, 5:87
 - Yale University, 3:205–206
 - See also* Harvard Law School; Legal education
- Law Society (England), 9:239
- Lawful, 6:217
- Lawrence Berkeley Laboratory, 8:106
- Laws and Liberties of Massachusetts (document), 12:48–49
- Law's Empire* (Dworkin), 4:52
- Lawsuits, 6:219
- best evidence, 2:23–24
 - bringing suit, 2:124
 - burden of going forward, 2:165
 - burden of pleading, 2:166
 - business record exception, 2:192
 - cause of action, 2:278
 - champerty and maintenance, 2:317, 6:399
 - chose in action, 2:379
 - class actions, 2:423–426
 - clear and convincing proof, 2:430–431
 - clergy malpractice, 6:410–411
 - code pleading, 2:469–470
 - Communications Decency Act (1996), 4:336–337
 - dismissal without prejudice, 8:62
 - Eleventh Amendment, 4:109–112
 - entry of judgment, 4:170
 - environmental justice, 4:182
 - equal employment opportunity, 4:184–185
 - equity maxims, 6:466–468
 - exhaustion of remedies, 4:281–282
 - fishing expeditions, 4:427
 - forcible entry, 4:446
 - forms of action, 4:461–462
 - forum, 4:465–466
 - Fourteenth Amendment based, 4:467–468
 - harmless error, 4:204
 - Jewell, Richard, 6:302–303
 - joinder, 6:28–30
 - judgment creditors, 6:46
 - judgment debtors, 6:46–47
 - judgments, 6:44–46
 - judicial writs, 6:59
 - Kent State student killings, 6:128–129
 - Kilberg doctrine, 6:139
 - King, Rodney G., 6:144–145
 - liquor vendors, 4:19
 - lis pendens*, 6:335
 - local actions, 6:359
 - multiparty product liability litigation, 8:132
 - against police officers, 8:7
 - preclusion orders, 8:58
 - primary evidence, 8:83
 - prior inconsistent statements, 8:85
 - prisoners', 2:400, 8:96–97
 - private attorney generals, 8:108
 - procedure, 8:126
 - proceedings, 8:126
 - punitive damages, 8:187–191
 - quantum valebant*, 8:196
 - questions of fact and questions of law, 4:297, 8:200–202
 - qui tam actions, 8:202–203
 - quiet title action, 8:205
 - real actions, 8:245
 - receivers, 8:249–250

- recovered memories, 8:257–259
- recovery, 8:259
- relief, 8:282
- reorganization plans, 8:303
- representative actions, 8:308
- res judicata*, 8:326–327
- respondeat superior*, 8:334–336
- responsive pleading, 8:336
- rest, 8:336
- revival of an action, 8:344–345
- right of action, 8:355
- salvage, 8:452
- against states, 2:61–62, 375–376
- statutes of limitations, 6:181
- taxpayer's, 10:65
- termination, 10:2
- test cases, 10:11–12
- third-party actions, 10:19
- tobacco industry, 10:42, 49–51
- transitory actions, 10:79–80
- Tuskegee Syphilis Study, 10:127
- U.S. Information Agency sex discrimination lawsuit, 10:178
- variance, 10:199
- venue, 10:202–204
- versus*, 10:205
- vexatious litigation, 10:215–216
- victims of crime, 10:219–220
- vouching-in, 10:257
- waste, 10:305–306
- water pollution, 10:308–309
- water rights, 10:310–311
- welfare rights, 10:338–339
- whistleblowing, 6:109, 10:355–356
- without prejudice, 10:404–405
- writ of prohibition, 8:142
- wrongful birth, 10:432
- wrongful death, 10:433–435
- wrongful discharge, 10:436
- wrongful life, 10:436–437
- wrongful pregnancy, 10:437
- See also* Civil actions; Malpractice
- Lawyer-witness rule, 6:219
- Lawyers, 6:219
- See also* Attorneys
- "Lawyers and Judges" (Toqueville) (document), 12:495–499
- Lay, 6:219–220
- Layaway, 6:220
- Lead-Based Paint Abatement, Office of, 5:299
- Leading case, 6:220
- Leading questions, 4:248, 6:220
- Leaflets and pamphlets
- Abrams v. United States* (1919), 1:27, 28
- advance sheets, 1:135
- Gitlow v. New York* (1925), 5:97
- Schenck v. United States* (1919), 9:13–14
- League of Nations, 6:220–222, 221
- Clarke, John Hessin, 2:422–423
- creation, 10:96–97
- Lodge, Henry Cabot, 6:367
- refugee policy, 8:267
- Wilson, Thomas Woodrow, 10:394–395
- League of United Latin American Citizens (LULAC), 6:222–223
- Leasebacks, 6:226
- Leasehold, 6:226
- Leasing. See Rental and leasing
- Least restrictive means test, 6:226
- Leatherman Tool Group, Inc., 3:334
- Leave, 6:226
- Lecompton Constitution (1857), 6:104–105
- Ledgers, 6:226–227
- Lee, Charles, 6:228–230
- Lee, Robert E., 10:173, 173
- Lee, Wen Ho, 4:212–213, 333
- Left Wing Section (Socialist Party), 5:97
- Legacies, 5:59, 6:230
- Legal, 6:217, 230
- Legal Action Project (LAP), 2:100
- Legal advertising, 6:230–233
- attorney misconduct, 1:402
- attorney specialization, 9:265, 266
- professional responsibility, 8:136–137
- restrictions, 6:247
- specialization, 6:252
- Legal age, 1:133, 6:233, 401
- Legal aid, 6:234
- legal representation, 6:250
- Legal Services Corporation, 6:251, 251–252
- welfare litigation, 10:339
- Legal assistants, 6:234–235
- Legal briefs. See Briefs
- Legal cap, 6:235
- Legal cause, 6:235, 8:161
- See also* Proximate cause
- Legal certainty, 6:235
- Legal death, 3:357
- Legal Defense and Educational Fund, NAACP. See NAACP
- Legal Defense and Educational Fund
- Legal detriment, 6:235
- Legal education, 1:391, 6:236–238
- American Bar Association, 1:246–247
- bar associations, 1:485
- bar examinations, 1:486, 487
- Bell, Derrick Albert, Jr., 2:8–10
- Blackstone, Sir William, 2:59–61
- Carrington Report, 2:257
- case method, 2:267–268, 12:503–504
- casebooks, 2:268, 269
- Computer Law Association, 3:66–67
- continuing professional education, 2:227, 3:164–165
- "Contracts" (Langdell) (document), 12:503–504
- Earl Warren Legal Training Program, 4:55
- family law, 4:320
- feminist jurisprudence, 4:376
- Frank, Jerome New, 4:480
- in jail, 5:498
- juris doctor degree requirements, 6:68–69
- Langdell, Christopher Columbus, 6:202–203
- law and literature, 6:212
- law degrees conferred, 6:237
- law reviews, 6:215–216
- Law School Admission Test, 6:216–217
- legal assistants, 6:234
- Litchfield Law School, 6:335–336
- M.C.J. (master of comparative jurisprudence), 7:17
- mock trials, 7:97–98
- moot courts, 7:114–115
- "The Path of the Law" (Holmes) (document), 12:505–517
- prelaw, 8:62
- separate but equal doctrine, 4:190–191
- specialization, 6:252–253
- trial decisions, 2:268
- See also* Law schools
- Legal empiricism. See Empiricism
- Legal estoppel, 4:228–229
- Legal fees. See Fees, legal
- Legal fiction, 6:238
- Legal force. See Reasonable force

- Legal history, 6:238–239
 abortion, 1:13
 admiralty and maritime law, 1:115
 adultery, 1:133
 agricultural law, 1:170–171
 amnesty, 1:265
 annulment, 1:284
 antilawyer movement, 1:296–297
 antitrust law, 1:298 appeal, right to, 1:313
 arbitration, 1:326
 attorneys general, 1:395–398, 6:89–90
 banishment, 1:462
Commentaries on the Laws of England (Blackstone), 2:60–61
 common law, 6:125–126
 confrontation of accusers, 3:85–86
 Congress, U.S., 3:88–94, 92–93
 Constitution, U.S., 3:117–121, 127, 158–159
 constitutions (general), 3:115
 contempt, 3:156
 corporations, 3:216
 counsel, right to, 8:358
 counterfeiting, 3:236
 courts-martial, 3:246–247
 criminology, 3:291–292
 deadly force, 3:355
 dissents, 3:462
 District of Columbia, 3:466–467
 divorce, 3:471
 DNA evidence, 3:486–487
 double jeopardy, 4:400–401
 due process, 4:402
 eminent domain, 4:123, 402–403
 employment law, 4:130–131
 Establishment Clause, 4:417–418
 family law, 4:315–316 fish and fishing law, 4:420–422
 forfeiture, 4:456
 formalism, 6:74–75
 forms of action, 1:58–59, 4:461–462
 Free Exercise Clause, 4:418–419
 gaming, 5:26–27
 grand juries, 4:403–404
 grandfather clauses, 5:127–128
 Holmes, Oliver Wendell, Jr., 5:274
 human rights, 5:305–306
 income tax, 5:361–363
in loco parentis, 5:352–353
 insanity defense, 5:405–406
 Internal Revenue Service, 5:439
 involuntary servitude, 5:475
 judicial immunity, 6:52–53
 judicial review, 6:57
 judiciary, 6:59, 61–62
 juries, 6:78–80
 jurisprudence, 6:77–78
 jury nullification, 6:83–84
 jury trials, 10:102–103
 Justinian I, 6:94
 juvenile law, 6:95, 97–98
 kidnapping law, 6:137
 larceny, 6:205–206
 law French, 6:213
 legal education, 6:238–239
 legal ethics, 8:133–134
 letters rogatory, 6:284
 Magna Charta, 12:3–10
 Maitland, Frederic William, 6:400–401 militia, 7:64–65
 minimum wage, 7:77–78
 Napoleonic code, 7:162–163
 natural law, 7:205–206
 no-fault divorce, 4:316
 notaries public, 7:270
 objective theory of contract, 7:294–295
 ocean fisheries law, 4:422–423
 Order of the coif, 7:323
 organized crime, 7:331–332
 pacifism, 7:343–344
 pardons, 7:355
 petitions, 7:436–437
 Pollock, Frederick, 8:23–24
 positivism/naturalism dichotomy, 6:77 press, freedom of the, 4:416–417
 privacy, 8:97–98
 probation, 8:123
 product liability, 8:128–129
 prosecutors, 8:154
 punishment, 8:183–185
 quo warranto, 8:209
 realism, 6:75–76
 restitution, 8:337
 sedition, 9:81–82
 self-incrimination, privilege against, 4:401
Shepard's® Citations, 9:162
 slavery, 9:203–205
 state lotteries, 9:321
 states' rights, 9:325–326
 substance abuse, 7:164
 Supreme Court Historical Society, 9:403–404
 usury, 10:187–188
 wager of battel, 10:260
 wager of law, 10:260–261
 Warren, Charles, 10:290–291
 West Saxon Lage, 10:345
 workers' compensation, 10:419–420
 writs, 10:429
 Year Books, 10:446
 Legal list statutes, 6:239
 Legal malpractice, 6:239–240, 409–410
 Legal philosophy
 Austin, John, 1:408–409
 Bacon, Sir Francis, 1:434–435
 balancing, 1:453–454
 Bentham, Jeremy, 2:19–21
 Cahn, Edmond Nathaniel, 2:212
 Carter, James Coolidge, 2:260
 Cohen, Felix Solomon, 2:477
 Corbin, Arthur Linton, 3:206–207
 criminology, 3:291–294
 critical legal studies, 3:294–298
 deterrence, 3:423
 Dworkin, Ronald Myles, 4:52
 economic analysis of law, 10:190
 feminist jurisprudence, 4:373–376
 formalism, 6:74–75
 Frank, Jerome New, 4:480
 Hegel, Georg Wilhelm Friedrich, 5:241
 Hobbes, Thomas, 5:266–267
 Holmes, Oliver Wendell, Jr., 5:274–276, 12:494
 Hume, David, 5:310
 James, William, 5:499
 Kelsen, Hans, 6:115–116
 liberty, 6:307–309
 Llewellyn, Karl Nickerson, 6:353–355
 “Mechanical Jurisprudence” (Pound) (document), 12:521–528
 Montesquieu, Charles-Louis de Secondat, Baron de la Brède et de, 7:108–109
 moral relativism, 7:116
 natural law, 6:77, 7:205–210
 original intent, 7:333–335
 “The Path of the Law” (Holmes) (document), 12:505–517 pragmatism, 6:76, 246
 restorative justice, 8:338–339

- rule of law, 8:420–421
- utilitarianism, 10:188–190
- See also* Ethics; Legal positivism; Legal realism
- Legal positivism, 5:276, 6:76–77, 240–241, 8:37
- Legal pragmatism, 6:76, 246
- Legal proceedings, 6:241
- Legal publishing, 6:241–243
 - advance sheets, 1:135
 - Bradwell, Myra Colby, 2:98–99
 - Century Digest*®, 2:306
 - citations, 2:382–383
 - CJS (Corpus Juris Secundum)*®, 2:411–412
 - Congressional Record, 3:97
 - Corwin, Edward Samuel, 3:232–233
 - Federal Appendix*, 4:323
 - Federal Register, 1:109
 - Federal Reporter*®, 4:352–353
 - Federal Rules Decision®, 4:355
 - Federal Supplement*®, 4:356
 - Index to Legal Periodicals, 5:383
 - Key Numbers®, 6:134
 - law reports, 6:215
 - law reviews, 6:215–216
 - Lexis*® (Reed Elsevier), 6:297–298
 - Martindale-Hubbell Law Directory*, 6:449–450
 - Official Gazette, 7:310
 - Pollock, Frederick, 8:24
 - popular name tables, 8:31, 32*t*
 - reporters, 2:382, 3:248, 251, 8:307
 - restatements of law, 8:336–337
 - self-help materials, 10:142
 - service of process, 9:119
 - Shepard's*® Citations, 9:162
 - Statutes at Large* (Office of the Federal Register), 9:336
 - Story, Joseph, 9:362
 - Supreme Court Historical Society, 9:403
 - treatises, 10:94
 - U.S. Code, 10:174
 - U.S. Code Annotated®, 10:174
 - West Legal Directory*™, 10:344–345
 - WESTLAW*®, 10:344, 345–346
 - Words and Phrases*®, 10:416
 - Year Books, 10:446
 - See also* Computer-assisted legal research; Reporters of decisions (occupation)
- Legal realism, 6:243–247
 - Corbin, Arthur Linton, 3:206–207
 - critical legal studies, 3:295
 - Frank, Jerome New, 4:480
 - Holmes, Oliver Wendell, Jr., 5:274
 - James, William, 5:499
 - judicial decision making, 8:45
 - jurisprudence, 6:75–76
 - Llewellyn, Karl Nickerson, 6:353–355
 - Pound, Roscoe, criticism by, 8:45
- Legal reform. See Reform, legal
- Legal relief. See Relief
- Legal remedies, 8:295
- Legal representation, 6:247–250, 8:127
 - See also* Counsel, right to
- Legal representatives, 4:278–281, 6:250–251, 8:122, 308
- Legal research
 - authorities, 1:409
 - case law, 6:210–211
 - computer-assisted, 3:60–62
 - Congressional Research Service, 3:97
 - Index to Legal Periodicals, 5:383
 - legislative councils, 6:259–260
 - legislative history, 6:262–263
 - Library of Congress resources, 6:312–313
 - pocket parts, 8:1
 - precedent, 8:57
 - secondary authorities, 9:54
 - Shepard's*® Citations, 9:162
 - Supreme Court Historical Society, 9:403
 - WESTLAW*®, 10:346
 - See also* Computer-assisted legal research; Legal publishing
- Legal reserve, 6:251
- Legal residence, 6:251
- Legal review, right to, 1:110–111
- Legal rights, 6:251
 - advocacy of American Bar Association, 1:247
 - animals, 1:279
 - to appeal, 1:305, 312, 313
 - parties in action, 1:78
 - procedural law, 8:125
- Legal scholars
 - Bickel, Alexander Mordecai, 2:24–26
 - Corbin, Arthur Linton, 3:205–207
 - Corwin, Edward Samuel, 3:232–233
 - Freund, Ernst, 4:506–507
 - Kent, James, 6:126–127
 - legal historians, 6:238–239
 - Llewellyn, Karl Nickerson, 6:353–355
 - Pollock, Frederick, 8:23–24
 - Posner, Richard Allen, 8:37–40
 - Pound, Roscoe, 8:44–46, 45
 - Selden, John, 9:86, 86–87
 - Whiteman, Marjorie Millace, 10:364–365
 - Wigmore, John Henry, 10:372, 372–373
 - Williston, Samuel, 3:207, 10:387–388
- Legal Services Corporation (LSC), 6:234, 251, 251–252
- Legal specialization, 6:248, 252–253
- Legal storytelling, 3:297
- Legal tender, 6:253
- Legal Tender Acts, 2:324
- Legal title, 6:253
- Legal writers. See Writers and editors
- Legalese, 6:253
- Legalization of prostitution, 8:156–157
- Legare, Hugh Swinton, 6:253–255, 254
- Legatees, 6:255
- Legation, 6:255
- Leges Henrici*, 6:255
- Leggett, Vanessa, 4:256
- Legislate, 6:255
- Legislation, 6:255–259
 - anti-lynching, 6:381–382
 - drafters, 4:17
 - judicial self-restraint, 4:444
 - lame duck, 6:184
 - least restrictive means test, 6:226
 - privacy, 8:101–107
 - private bills, 8:108–109
 - rational basis test, 8:239–240
 - veto, 10:213–215
 - wrongful discharge, 4:128–129
 - See also* Regulations
- Legislative, 6:259
- Legislative acts, 6:259
- Legislative authority
 - administrative law and procedure, 1:107
 - delegation by U.S. Congress, 1:106
 - Holmes, Oliver Wendell, Jr. theories, 5:275
 - judicial review, 6:57–58

- Legislative bodies
 adjournment, 1:95
 discretion, 3:449
 early American history, 1:296, 7:418
 pairing-off, 7:351
 spending power, 9:275–277
See also Congress, U.S.; Statutes
- Legislative councils, 6:259–260
- Legislative courts, 4:337, 6:260–261
- Legislative facts, 1:97, 6:261
- Legislative history, 2:235, 6:262–263
- Legislative intent, 2:234–235
- Legislative journals, 6:41
- Legislative Line Item Veto Act (1995), 5:350
- Legislative process
 bills, 2:28–29
 enrolled bills, 4:163
 filibusters, 4:404
 lobbying, 6:356–359
 log rolling, 6:367
 referenda, 8:264–265
 riders, 8:353
See also Congressional procedure
- Legislative Reorganization Act (1946, 1970), 3:97
- Legislative sessions, 6:264–265
- Legislative vetoes, 1:107, 10:215
- Legislatures, 6:263–266
 administrative bodies, 8:164 bicameral, 2:24
 lame duck, 6:184
 Northwest Ordinance (document), 12:102–106
 political questions, 8:14–15 prayer, 8:287
 quorum, 8:209
 recess, 8:251
 referenda, 8:264–265
 representatives, 8:308
 resolutions, 8:334
Reynolds v. Sims (1964), 8:350–352
 without day, 10:404
- Legitimate, 6:266
- Lemkin, Raphael, 5:69
- Lemon laws, 1:424, 6:266–267
- Lemon test, 6:227–228, 8:284
- Lend-Lease Act (1941), 6:267–268, 7:231
- Lenin, Vladimir Ilyich, 3:37, 6:268–269, 269, 9:292
- Leopold and Loeb Trial (1924), 3:340–341, 6:269–271, 270
- Lesbian and Gay Rights Project, ACLU, 8:413
- Lessees, 6:271
- Lesser included offenses, 6:271–272
- Lessors, 6:272
- Let, 6:272
- Lethal injection (death penalty), 3:307
- “Letter from Birmingham City Jail” (King) (document), 12:337–349
- Letter of the law, 6:272
- Letter rulings, 6:272, 274
- A Letter to a Member of the National Assembly* (Burke), 2:173
- Letters, personal, 3:198
- Letters of administration, 6:274, 275–283
- Letters of credit, 6:272, 273
- Letters of reprisal, 6:433
- Letters patents, 6:284, 9:35
- Letters rogatory, 6:284
- Letters testamentary, 6:284, 285–292
- Levan, Alan, 6:300–301
- Levees and flood control, 6:284
- Leventhal, Robert, 1:393
- Leverage, 6:284, 293
- Levi, Edward Hirsch, 6:293, 293–294
- Levy, 6:294–295
- Levy of the execution, 4:268
- Lewdness, 6:295
- Lewinsky, Monica, 2:448, 452, 3:130, 157–158, 5:340, 9:310–311, 10:367
- Lewis, John Robert, 6:295, 295–297
- Lewis, Will, 4:255
- Lex*, 6:297
- Lex fori*, 6:297
- Lex loci*, 6:297
- Lexis®* (Reed Elsevier), 3:60–61, 6:297–298
- Liability, 6:298
 administrative agencies, 8:165 airlines in airplane crashes, 1:193
 alter ego doctrine, 1:236
 auctioneers, 1:405–406 auto insurance, 1:420–421 bank customers, 1:480 bank officials, 1:477
 beneficial associations, 2:16
 bridges, 2:121–122
 business judgment rule, 2:190–192
 business trusts, 2:193
 “but for” rule, 2:193–194
 causality, 2:276–277
 child labor violations, 2:356
 clubs, 2:458–459
 commercial paper, 3:19–20
 common carriers, 2:254–255
 comparative negligence jurisdictions, 6:30
 Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation, and Liability Act (1980), 4:180–181 corporate officers and directors, 2:190–192, 3:220–221, 222–223
 diplomatic agents, 1:242
 discretionary function exception to government liability, 4:357–358
 donations, 5:103
 dramshop acts, 4:18–19
 drinking establishments, 1:204–205, 426 drug use by pregnancy women, 4:387–388
 druggists, 4:27
 electricity, 4:104
 electronic surveillance, 4:108
 employers, 1:169, 4:126–127, 5:223
 environmental law, 4:173
 executors and administrators, 4:279
 explosives, 4:284–286
 factors, 4:298–299
 Fair Credit Reporting Act (1970), 4:301–302
 family car doctrine, 4:314–315
 family members, 10:62
 Federal Tort Claims Act (1946), 4:356–357
 fellow-servant rule, 4:370–372
 fence injuries to livestock, 4:377
Feres doctrine, 4:380–381
 fires, 4:412
 gun manufacturers, 2:100 hazardous and toxic wastes, 9:243
 impleader, 5:342–343
 innkeepers, 5:401–402
 intervening causes, 5:470–471
 joint and several, 6:30
 joint stock companies, 6:34
 joint tortfeasors, 6:35
 Jones Act (1920), 6:37
 judicial immunity, 6:52–56
 libel and defamation, 4:417
 limited liability companies, 6:319

- limited liability partnerships, 6:321
- malfeasance, 6:404–405
- manufacturers, 2:244–245, 6:385
- misrepresentation, 7:87–88
- nonfeasance, 7:260–261
- notaries public, 7:271
- partnerships, 7:381
- pornography distributors, 4:50
- principal and surety, 8:84
- privacy intrusion, 8:100–101
- publishing law, 8:176–178
- reasonable person standard, 4:374–375
- recklessness, 8:252
- reinsurance, 8:278
- res ipsa loquitur*, 8:323–326
- respondeat superior*, 8:334–336
- rioters, 8:365
- Rylands v. Fletcher* (1868), 8:432–433
- scienter*, 9:31–32
- sheriffs, 9:165
- sole proprietorships, 9:238
- sports law, 9:291
- strict liability, 9:369–370
- trespasser injury, 10:101
- vicarious, 10:216
- waiver, 10:266
- water pollution, 10:308–309
- wharves, 10:349
- willful, wanton or reckless conduct, 8:189
- See also* Criminal responsibility; Product liability
- Libel and slander, 6:298–305
 - actionable per se, 1:79
 - defamation, 3:379–380
 - fair comment, 4:301
 - First Amendment cases, 3:133
 - Hustler Magazine, Inc. v. Falwell* (1988), 7:369
 - Internet, 5:455
 - malice, 6:405
 - Near v. Minnesota* (1931), 7:216
 - New York Times Co. v. Sullivan* (1964), 7:238–239
 - New York Times Co. v. Sullivan* (1964) (documents), 11:353–495
 - personal-attack rule, 6:458
 - Powell, Adam Clayton, Jr., 8:47
 - press, freedom of the, 4:416–417
 - public figures, 8:169
 - publish, 8:174, 175
 - sedition libel, 9:83
 - trade, 10:152
 - Warren Court rulings, 10:294
 - Westmoreland v. Columbia Broadcasting System, Inc.* (1985), 10:226–227
 - Wilde, Oscar, 10:374–375
 - Zenger, John Peter, 7:209, 10:453–454
 - See also* Defamation
- Libelants, 6:305
- Libelous, 6:306
- Liberalism
 - AIDS education, 1:68–69
 - American Civil Liberties Union, 1:250, 252, 458–459
 - children's rights, 7:358
 - critical legal studies, 3:294–298
 - Democratic Party, 3:395–396
 - Gray, William Herbert, III, 5:137
 - Great Society (social programs), 5:138–139
 - Helms, Jesse, criticism, 5:242–243
 - Humphrey, Hubert Horatio, 5:311–312
 - New Party, 7:235–236
 - O'Neill, Thomas Philip, Jr., 7:316–317
 - Smith, Edward Moore, 6:119
 - Supreme Court, 7:235
 - welfare, 1:218–219
- The Liberator* (abolitionist newspaper), 5:40–41
- Liberia
 - African American emigration, 5:42
 - civil war, 2:409
 - Ellis, George Washington, 4:112–113
- Libertarian Party, 6:305–306
- Libertarianism, 6:307
- Liberty, 6:307–309
- Liberty of contract. See Fourteenth Amendment
- Liberty Party, 1:12
- Libraries and archives
 - bailment, 1:445
 - book censorship, 2:288–289
 - copyright issues, 3:194, 199–200
 - Dewey Decimal System, 3:425
 - Library of Congress, 6:309–313, 310
 - National Library of Medicine, 8:171–172
 - Patent and Trademark Office, 7:387
 - public libraries, 1:252
- Library of Congress, 3:97, 6:309–313, 310
- Licenses, 6:313–315
 - accompaniment of unlicensed drivers, 1:56
 - accountants, 1:59
 - architects, 1:329
 - asylums, 1:385–386
 - attorneys, 1:122, 485, 486, 3:446, 6:68
 - auctioneers, 1:403
 - automobiles, 1:425, 7:348
 - broadcasting, 2:126–127, 130
 - brokers, 2:132–133
 - creditors, 3:142
 - drivers', 1:215, 425, 5:344–345
 - druggists, 4:26–27
 - entertainment law, 4:165
 - Federal Communications Commission, 6:455–458
 - hawkers and peddlers, 5:208
 - hunting, 5:25, 316–317
 - imprimatur*, 5:350
 - interstate commerce, 3:7
 - marriage, 6:434
 - music publishing, 7:146–147
 - patent, 7:396
 - physicians and surgeons, 7:439–440
 - pilots, 1:48, 7:447
 - political gatherings and demonstrations, 10:168–169
 - process servers, 9:120
 - professional responsibility enforcement, 8:137
 - prosecutors, 8:155
 - real estate agents, 8:245
 - residency requirements, 8:333
 - software, 9:235–236
 - teachers, 9:26–28
- Licentiousness, 6:315
- Lieber code, 8:422
- Lieber Instructions*, 7:55
- Lieberman, Joe, 3:395
- Lien waivers, 6:315–316
- Liens, 6:315–316
 - carrier's, 2:256
 - equitable, 4:201–202
 - factors, 4:299
 - garnishment, 5:40
 - junior, 6:67
 - legal fee disputes, 6:250
 - maritime, 6:431–432, 9:176–177
- Life estates, 4:217–218, 6:316
 - estate taxes, 4:224
 - freehold, 4:505
 - property law, 8:147–148
- Life expectancy, 1:80
- Life imprisonment, 2:238

- Life in being, 6:316
 Life insurance, 5:414
 accidental death benefits, 1:53–54
 incontestability clauses, 5:369–370 simultaneous death case, 9:189–190
 tontine, 10:56
 veterans, 10:210
 See also Insurance
 Life or limb, 6:316
 LIFO (accounting method), 6:316
 Lift, 6:317
 Ligan, 6:317
 Light, air, and view adjoining landowners, 1:94–95
 ancient lights, 1:274
 Lightner, Candy, 7:127
 Likenesses appropriation of, 8:101
 publishing law, 8:176 right of publicity, 10:76–77
 unfair competition, 10:152
 Lilly, Benjamin Lee and Mark, 3:86–87
 Limestone Correctional facility (AL), 3:305
 Limitations, 6:317, 10:435
 Limitations of actions, 6:317
 Limited, 6:317
 appearances, 1:310
 limited-purpose public figures, 6:301, 303 public forums, 4:499, 10:36
 warranties, 6:396
 Limited liability companies, 1:363, 6:317–320
 Limited liability partnerships, 3:225, 6:321, 7:383
 Limited Test Ban Treaty (1963), 1:344, 6:321–322
 Lincoln, Abraham, 6:322–326, 323, 8:317
 abolition, 1:13
 amnesty for Confederate officers, 1:266
 assassination, 1:52, 368
 Attorney General Speed, 9:273 censure vote, 2:292
 Chase, Salmon Portland, relationship with, 2:323
 Civil War, U.S., 10:172–174
 Davis, David appointment, 3:349
 Douglas, Stephen, debates with, 4:9
 Dred Scott case, 9:210 early career, 5:186
 Emancipation Proclamation (1863), 4:115–117
 Emancipation Proclamation (1863) (document), 12:307–308
 habeas corpus suspension, 8:74
 “A House Divided” speech (document), 12:305–306
 martial law, 6:445
 opposition to slavery, 3:300
 Pierrepont, Edwards support, 7:446
 Reconstruction, 8:253
 Republican Party, 8:316, 317
 Second Inaugural Address (document), 12:471–472
 Lincoln, Levi, 6:326–327
 Lincoln, Robert Todd, 6:328, 328–329
 Lincoln Savings and Loan Association, 2:387
 Lindbergh Act (1932), 6:137, 329
 Lindbergh kidnapping (1932), 2:214, 218, 6:329–330
 Lindbergh Law. See Federal Kidnapping Act (1932)
 Lindh, John Philip Walker, 1:182, 2:385–386, 9:9
 Lindsey, Benjamin Barr, 6:330, 330–331
 Line-item vetoes, 5:350, 6:259, 8:70, 72, 10:214–215
 Line of credit, 6:331
 Lineal, 6:331
 Lineups, 6:331–332
 counsel, right to, 8:361
 criminal procedure, 3:286
 photo lineups, 7:438–439, 9:183
 Lipit-Ishtar, 2:470–471
 Lipman, Samuel, 1:27
 Liquid assets, 6:332
 Liquidate, 6:332
 Liquidated damages, 3:333–334, 6:332–333, 8:447
 Liquidation, 1:465–467, 6:333
 Liquor. See Alcohol
Lis pendens, 6:335
 Listings, 6:335
 Litchfield Law School, 6:335–336
 Literacy
 illiteracy and contracts, 3:175
 voting tests, 10:250, 251
 Literal construction, 6:336
 Literary property, 6:337–339
 Literature and law, 6:212
 Litigation, 6:339–340
 Little Big Horn National Battlefield Monument, 2:222
 Little-Collins, Ella Lee, 6:340–343
 Little Rock (AR), school integration, 1:499–500
 Littleton, Sir Thomas, 6:343
 Littoral rights, 6:343
 Litvinov Assignment of 1933, 6:344
 Liuzzo, Viola Fauver Gregg, 6:19, 344–346, 345
 Live Poultry Code, National Industrial Recovery Act (1933), 1:106, 9:12
 Livery of Seisin, 4:83, 6:346–347
 Livery stable keepers, 6:347
 Livestock, 4:377
 Living trusts, 6:347, 347–348
 Living wage. See Minimum wage
 Living wills, 4:84, 7:406–407
 Livingston, Edward, 6:348–349
 Livingston, Henry Brockholst, 6:349–351, 350
 Livingston, Robert R., 6:351, 351–353, 375
 LL.B. (bachelor of laws degree), 6:353
 LLCs. See Limited liability companies
 Llewellyn, Karl Nickerson, 6:353–355
 LL.M. (master of laws degree), 6:355
 Lloyd, Lucile, 1:356
 Load lines, 6:355, 355–356
 Loan commitments, 6:356
 Loan sharks, 6:356, 7:332
 Loans. See Credit and loans
 Lobbying, 6:356–359
 abortion rights, 7:163
 American Association of Retired Persons, 1:245
 American Bankers Association, 1:246
 American Bar Association, 1:247
 American Civil Liberties Union, 1:250–251
 American Farm Bureau Federation, 1:253
 American Israel Public Affairs Committee, 1:258
 American Legion, 1:259
 Amnesty International, 1:267–269
 Anti-Defamation League, 1:295
 Association of Trial Lawyers of America, 1:377
 attorneys, 6:60–61
 Business Roundtable, 2:193
 consumer protection, 7:161
 corporal punishment, 3:211

- disability discrimination, 3:434
 - Gray Panthers, 5:135
 - gun control, 5:164–165
 - NAACP, 7:156
 - National Association of Manufacturers, 7:168
 - National Association of Realtors, 7:168–169
 - National Federation of Independent Businesses, 7:175
 - National Organization for the Reform of Marijuana Laws, 7:185
 - National Rifle Association, 7:187–188
 - National Right to Life Committee, 7:189
 - Tobacco Institute, 10:51–52
 - Ward, Samuel, 6:357
 - Lobbying Disclosure Act (1995), 6:357–358, 359
 - Local actions, 6:359
 - Local courts, 6:211
 - Local exchange carriers, 9:449
 - Local government. See Municipal and local government
 - Local usage, 10:185
 - Locke, John, 6:362–364, 363
 - Declaration of Independence influence, 3:369–370
 - liberty, 6:307
 - natural law, 6:77, 7:206, 207
 - revolution, 8:346
 - Second Treatise on Government (document), 12:16–44
 - Lockheed Corporation, 2:119–120
 - Lockouts, 6:173–174, 364
 - Lockup, 6:364
 - Lockwood, Belva Ann, 6:364–365, 365
 - Lockyer v. Andrade* (2003), 10:27–31
 - Loco parentis*. See In loco parentis
 - Locus*, 6:365
 - Locus sigilli*, 6:379
 - Lodge, Henry Cabot, 6:366, 366–367
 - Lodgers, 6:367
 - Loeb, Richard. See Leopold and Loeb Trial (1924)
 - Log rolling, 6:367
 - Logan Act (1799), 6:368–369
 - Logging, 6:369
 - Logging in, 6:369
 - Logic
 - a fortiori*, 1:1
 - reductio ad absurdum*, 8:261
 - Loitering laws, 5:32–33, 34
 - Lombroso, Cesare, 3:291
 - London, England
 - London Agreement (1945), 7:286
 - poverty, 1:88
 - Long-arm statutes, 6:369–370
 - jurisdiction, 6:70, 9:119
 - personal jurisdiction, 7:432
 - quasi in rem jurisdiction, 8:199
 - Long Island Lighting Company, 10:328
 - Longshoremen's and Harbor Workers Compensation Act (1927), 6:37
 - Loopholes, 6:370–371
 - Lords and vassals, 4:391–392
 - Los Angeles (CA)
 - California State Building, 1:356
 - census, 2:295
 - Chargers (football team), 9:268–269
 - Dixon, Julian Carey, 3:483–484
 - gangs, 5:30
 - Police Department, 2:463, 6:143–145, 8:8–9
 - SWAT teams, 9:421
 - Loss, 6:371, 10:202
 - Loss of services, 6:371
 - Lost instruments, 6:372
 - Lost property, 4:407–408, 8:145–146, 349
 - Lots, 6:372
 - Lott, Chester Trent, 2:398, 3:89, 6:372–375, 373, 10:32
 - Lotteries. See State lotteries
 - Louima, Abner, 8:9
 - Louisiana
 - artificial insemination case, 1:364
 - civil law, 2:389–390
 - covenant marriages, 3:257–258, 473, 6:436
 - Creationism Act, 8:288
 - inheritance law, 8:76
 - meat-packing companies, 9:203
 - notaries public, 7:270
 - voting laws, 1:30
 - Louisiana Purchase (1803), 3:397, 6:353, 375–376
 - Love Bug (computer worm), 5:459
 - Love Canal toxic waste incident (1970s), 9:242
 - Low-Level Radioactive Waste Policy Amendments Act, 4:363
 - Low-tide elevations, 6:376–377
 - Lowe's Motor Speedway, 2:121
 - Loyalty boards, 2:486
 - Loyalty oaths, 6:377–378
 - Chase, Salmon Portland, 2:323–324
 - Clifford, Nathan, 2:445
 - L.S. (locus sigilli, seals), 6:379
 - LSAT (Law School Admission Test), 6:216–217
 - Lumber trade, 2:229–230
 - Lump-sum settlements, 6:379
 - Lurton, Horace Harmon, 6:379, 379–380
 - Lynchings, 6:380–382, 381
 - Johnson, James Weldon, 6:21
 - Wells-Barnett, Ida Bell, 10:341
- M
- MacArthur, Douglas, 1:342, 6:157, 7:56
 - MacKinnon, Catharine Alice, 6:383–385, 384
 - critical legal studies, 3:296
 - Dworkin, Andrea and, 4:48, 50
 - pornography, 8:33–35
 - MacVeagh, Isaac Wayne, 6:386, 386–387
 - MacVeagh Commission, 6:386
 - Madeiros, Celestine, 8:436
 - Madison, James, 6:387, 387–391
 - Continental Congress, 5:179
 - double jeopardy, 4:400
 - federal spending power, 4:27
 - Federalist*, Number 10 (document), 12:126–129
 - Federalist Papers*, 3:119–120, 123, 4:362–365, 7:108
 - First House of Representatives (1789–1791), 5:296
 - future interpretations of the Constitution, 4:80
 - legal philosophy, 5:310
 - Ninth Amendment, 7:248
 - press, freedom of the, 4:416
 - republican government, 8:316
 - separate but equal doctrine, 9:112
 - Smith, Robert, Secretary of State, 9:219
 - Tenth Amendment, 9:460
 - Virginia and Kentucky Resolves, 10:236–237
 - Virginia and Kentucky Resolves (document), 12:133–135
 - voting rights, 1:318
 - Madison (CT) Wetlands Regulation, 1:175

- Madison Guaranty Savings and Loan, 9:310, 10:365
- Magazines and journals
Hustler, 7:368–369
 Index to Legal Periodicals, 5:383
The Masses, 5:183
Mother Earth, 5:108
The Nation, 3:197–198
Woman Rebel, 8:457
- Magistrates, 6:391, 8:264
 federal, 1:112–113
 judges distinction, 6:42
 search warrants, 4:474–475, 9:44
- Magna Charta, 6:391–395, 392
 Coke, Sir Edward, 2:484
 common pleas, 3:36
 creation of, 4:155–156
 feudalism, end of, 4:392
 habeas corpus, 5:169
 natural law, 7:209
 punishment, 4:80
- Magna Charta (document), 12:3–10
- Magnuson Act. See Fishery Conservation and Management Act (1976)
- Magnuson-Moss Warranty Act (1975), 3:150, 6:266, 395–396
- Maharishi International University, 7:210
- Mail campaign tool, 5:244
 censorship, 2:285–286
 contract acceptance, 3:171
 correspondence audits, 3:231 mail-order businesses, 3:6
 ninety-day letters, 7:247
 prisoners' rights, 8:93
 solicitation, 3:146–147
 U.S. Postal Service, 10:179–180
- Mail cover, 6:396
- Mail fraud, 6:396–397
- Maine
 Appleton, John, 1:316–317
 boundary dispute, 2:89
 free vs. slave states, 7:88
 gay and lesbian rights, 5:49
 Gignoux, Edward Thaxter, 5:82–83
 murder laws, 7:142
Passamaquoddy Tribe v. Maine (1996), 5:28
- Maine, Henry James Sumner, 6:397–399, 398
- Mainstreaming, disabled students, 3:436
- Maintenance, 6:399–400
 champerty and maintenance, 2:317
 divorce settlements, 3:479–480
 private roads, 8:110
- Maintenance and cure, 8:438
- Maitland, Frederic William, 6:400–401
- Major League Baseball (MLB), 1:493–497, 9:288
- Majority, 6:401
- Majority opinions, 3:252
- Majority rule, 1:251
- Makah Tribe, 4:427
- Makers, 6:401
- Mala fides*, 6:401
- Mala in se*, 6:401, 423
- Mala prohibita*, 6:401, 424
- Malcolm X, 6:401–404
 Cleaver, Leroy Eldridge and, 2:433, 434
 Little-Collins, Ella Lee and, 6:340–343
 Nation of Islam, 7:166
- Malfeasance, 4:323, 6:404–405
- Malice, 6:405
 aforethought, 7:140
 criminal law, 3:275
 libel and slander, 6:299–303
New York Times Co. v. Sullivan (1964), 4:417, 7:239 parody speech protection, 7:369
 unfair competition, 10:152
- Malice aforethought, 6:405
- Malicious, 6:405
- Malicious mischief, 6:405
- Malicious prosecution, 6:405–409
 grand jury protection, 5:124
 vexatious litigation, 10:216
- Malicious wounding, 1:41
- Malone, Dudley Field, 1:249
- Malpractice, 6:409–411
 clergy, 2:437–438
 dentists, 1:72
 psychiatric, 8:258
See also Medical malpractice
- Malum in se*, 5:474–475
- Malum prohibitum*, 5:474–475
- Man-in-the-house rule, 6:411–412
- Managed care, 6:412–413
 health care law, 5:226–227
 insurance reform, 5:230
See also Health maintenance organizations (HMO)
- Management, business banks, 1:477
 commissioners, 3:24
 corporations, 3:219–221, 9:70 criminal liability, 9:1
 golden parachutes, 5:106
 greenmail, 5:142–143
 hierarchy, 5:248
 labor relations, 6:174–175, 176–177
 minitrials, 7:80–81
- Managers, 6:414
- Manchurian invasion (1933), 6:221
- Mandamus, 6:414–416, 415
Marbury v. Madison (1803), 6:425–426
 writs, 10:429
 zoning regulations enforcement, 10:458
- Mandate, 6:416
- Mandatory, 6:416
 injunctions, 5:399
 subjects of bargaining, 2:491–493
- Mandatory authority, 6:416
- Mandatory sentences. See Determinate sentences
- Manhattan Project, 8:401–402
- Manifest Destiny, 4:406
- Mann, Horace, 6:417, 417–419
- Mann, James Robert, 6:419, 419–420
- Mann Act (1910), 6:416–417
 Commerce Clause, 3:8
 Mann, James Robert, 6:420
 prostitution, 8:155–157
- Manner restrictions. See Time, place, and manner restrictions
- Manorialism, 4:393
- Manors, 6:420
- Mansfield, William Murray, 6:420–421
- Manslaughter, 6:421–424
 accidental killings, 1:54
Commonwealth of Massachusetts v. Louise Woodward (1998), 6:441 heat of passion, 5:239–240
 homicide, 5:282
 involuntary manslaughter, 5:474–475
- Manufacturers
 aircraft, 1:146
 automobiles, 1:418–419, 422–423
 explosives, 4:285
 fair-trade laws, 4:305
Feres doctrine, 4:381
 firearms, 2:100–101, 5:166–167, 10:328 innovations in processes, 3:11
 liability, 2:244–245

- MacPherson v. Buick Motor Co.* (1916), 6:385
- Magnuson-Moss Warranty Act (1975), 6:395–396
- National Association of Manufacturers, 7:167–168
- product liability, 8:127–133, 9:370
- state-of-the-art defense, 8:132
- vaccines, 5:333–334
- Manufactures, 6:424
- Mao Tse-Tung, 3:40, 40
- Maps
- Compromise of 1850, 3:59
 - corporal punishment in schools, 3:211
 - electoral votes by state, 4:100
 - home ownership, 1:10
 - Kansas-Nebraska Act land division, 6:104
 - local public school funding, 4:75
 - Louisiana Purchase (1803), 6:376
 - Missouri Compromise (1820), 7:89
 - North Atlantic Trade Organization, 7:266
 - presidential election results (2000), 2:186
 - secession of states (1860–1861), 10:172
 - tribal casinos, 7:202
 - U.S. Courts of Appeals, 10:176
 - U.S. Representatives by state, 1:319
- March on Washington (1963), 2:405, 7:345
- Civil Rights Movement, 2:406
 - King, Martin Luther, Jr., 6:142
 - Randolph, Asa Philip, 8:229
- Marconi, Guglielmo, 2:124
- Margin calls, 6:429
- Margins, 6:428–429
- Marijuana, 3:165
- contraband, 3:283
 - Domestic Cannabis Eradication and Suppression Program, 4:24
 - legalization, 4:33
 - National Organization for the Reform of Marijuana Laws, 7:185
- Marine Corps
- and Navy Department, 7:212, 215
 - origins, 1:335
- Marine fishing, 4:423–426
- Marine Protection, Research, and Sanctuaries Act (1972), 4:178, 422–423
- Maris, Albert Branson, 6:429–430
- Marital, 6:430
- credit discrimination, 3:144
 - deductions, 4:225
 - property, 8:150
- Marital communications
- privilege, 4:257, 6:430–431, 8:112–113
- Maritime Administration, 10:84–85
- Maritime law. See Admiralty and maritime law
- Marital liens, 6:431–432
- Market value, 4:125, 6:432
- Marketable title, 6:432
- Marketing and Regulatory division, USDA, 1:177
- Marketing trademarks, 5:428
- Marks (signatures), 9:185
- Marque and reprisal, 6:433, 8:110
- Marriage, 6:433–437
- abatement of action, 1:4
 - adultery, 1:133, 134
 - affinity relationships, 1:151
 - alienation of affection, 1:213
 - alimony cases, 1:228
 - annulment, 1:283–284, 2:233, 234
 - attitudes of Susan B. Anthony, 1:289
 - between attorneys, 1:401
 - breach of contract, 2:105–106
 - celebration of marriage, 2:279
 - civil death, 2:388
 - cohabiting and married couple households (2000), 2:475
 - common-law, 2:476, 3:32–34
 - community property, 3:48
 - condonation, 3:74–75
 - conjugal, 3:97–98
 - consortium, 3:106–107
 - covenant marriages, 3:257–258
 - curtesy, 3:315–316
 - Defense of Marriage Act (1996), 3:387–388
 - descent and distribution, 3:415
 - dissolution, 4:162
 - dower, 4:16
 - endowment, 4:142
 - engagement, 4:148
 - Enoch Arden doctrine, 4:162–163
 - Full Faith and Credit Clause, 5:15
 - gay and lesbian rights, 5:48–49, 50–52
 - heart balm acts, 5:239
 - illegitimacy, 5:326–327
 - immigration law, 1:222
 - incest, 5:360
 - income splitting, 5:361
 - income tax rates, 10:12
 - legal history, 4:315–316
 - licenses, 6:434
 - marital communications privilege, 6:430–431, 8:112–113
 - paternity issues, 7:398
 - polygamy, 8:26–28
 - postmarital agreements, 8:43
 - premarital agreements, 8:65–67, 66
 - privacy rights, 5:150
 - putative, 8:192
 - separate property, 8:150
 - spousal embezzlement, 4:119
 - tenancy by the entirety, 6:31–32, 35
 - uxor*, 10:190
 - void, 10:243
 - voidable, 10:245
 - wills, 10:381–382
 - women's rights, 10:410
 - See also* Same-sex marriage
- Married Women's Property Acts (1896), 3:106
- Marshaling assets and securities, 6:437–438
- Marshall, John, 6:438–440, 439
- appointment, 7:54
 - Bank of United States v. Deveaux* (1809), 3:470
 - Barron v. Baltimore* (1833), 1:493
 - Cherokee cases*, 2:335–337
 - dissents, 3:462
 - Fletcher v. Peck*, 4:436
 - Fourteenth Amendment, 4:468–469
 - Gibbons v. Ogden* (1824), 5:77
 - Johnson, William, criticism of, 6:27
 - judicial review, 6:57
 - legal realism, 6:245
 - Marbury v. Madison* (1803), 1:138, 4:154, 6:425–428
 - McCulloch v. Maryland* (1819), 9:401
 - Native American cases, 7:196, 198
 - Supreme Court reports, 3:261–262
 - Trustees of Dartmouth College v. Woodward* (1819), 10:123
 - United States v. Aaron Burr*, 2:176–177
 - Washington, Bushrod and, 10:299–300

- Worcester v. Georgia* (1832) (document), 12:409–450
- Marshall, Margaret Hilary, 6:440–442, 441
- Marshall, Thurgood, 2:143, 6:442–444, 443
- Board of Education v. Dowell*, 2:146
- Brown v. Board of Education* (1954), 2:143–144, 5:421–422
- dissents, 3:462–463
- Eleventh Amendment, 4:111
- Exclusionary Rule, 4:265
- Furman v. Georgia* (1972), 5:19
- Rostker v. Goldberg* (1981), 8:409
- Marshall Plan, 6:442, 10:114
- Marshals, 6:437
- Marshals Service, U.S., 6:88–89, 437, 437, 10:178–179
- Martial law, 6:444–446
- Martial rule, 10:275
- Martin, Luther, 6:446–448, 447
- Martindale-Hubbell Law Directory*, 6:449–450
- Martinez, Mel, 8:72
- Martinez, Oliverio, 7:85
- Marvin, Lee and Michelle Triola, 2:474–475, 4:319
- Marx, Karl Heinrich, 3:37, 6:450, 450–451, 9:229
- Maryland
- blue laws, 2:66–67
 - Chase, Samuel, 2:328
 - Howard, Benjamin Chew, 5:302
 - ignition interlock devices, 4:49
 - Johnson, Thomas, 6:26–27
 - land ceded to District of Columbia, 3:468
 - Martin, Luther, 6:446–447
 - McCulloch v. Maryland* (1819), 7:11, 218
 - notaries public, 7:271
 - Pinkney, William, 7:450–451
 - racial profiling, 8:215–216
 - Taney, Roger Brooke, 9:436
 - telecommunications case, 9:449
- Mason, George, 6:451–452, 452
- Virginia Declaration of Rights, 10:238
 - Virginia Declaration of Rights (document), 12:85–86
- Mason, John Young, 6:452–454, 453
- Mass communications law, 6:454–459
- deregulation, 8:174
 - federal regulation, 6:420
- See also* Broadcasting
- Mass Media Bureau. See Media Bureau, FCC
- Mass murderers, 7:100, 143–144
- Mass tort actions
- class actions, 2:424–426
 - Weinstein, Jack Bertrand, 10:326–327
- Massachusetts
- Adams, John, 1:81, 82
 - Adams, John Quincy, 1:83
 - apportionment issues, 1:320
 - Augustus, John, 1:407–408
 - Catholic church child-abuse scandal, 2:347
 - Charles River Bridge v. Warren Bridge*, 2:320–321
 - Choate, Rufus, 2:379
 - code of statutes, 10:284–285
 - Coolidge, Calvin, 3:189
 - Cushing, Luther Stearns, 3:319–320
 - Cushing, William, 3:320–321
 - Devens, Charles, 3:424–425
 - DWI law, 4:48–49
 - Gray, Horace, 5:132–133
 - Hoar, Ebenezer Rockwood, 5:265, 266
 - interstate compacts, 5:469
 - judicial administration, 6:442
 - jury trial history, 10:102
 - larceny, 6:206
 - Laws and Liberties of Massachusetts (document), 12:48–49
 - mandamus, writs of, 6:416
 - Marshall, Margaret Hilary, 6:440–442
 - Moody, William Henry, 7:112
 - O'Neill, Thomas Philip, Jr., 7:316–317
 - Parsons, Theophilus, 7:372–373
 - probation, 8:123
 - public education reform, 6:418
 - Rantoul, Robert, Jr., 8:232–234
 - Salem Witch Trials (1692), 3:85–86, 8:184, 440–444, 442
 - Shaw, Lemuel, 9:157–158
 - Shays's Rebellion (1786), 1:297, 3:119, 9:160–161
 - slavery, 6:326–327
 - Story, Joseph, 9:360–361
 - voting laws, 1:32–33
 - Writs of Assistance* case (1761), 10:430–431
- Massachusetts Bay Colony, 4:66
- Massachusetts Constitution (1780), 6:459–460
- Massachusetts trusts, 2:193, 3:35, 6:460
- The Masses* (magazine), 5:183
- Massive retaliation, doctrine of, 4:44
- Master of laws degree, 6:355
- Master plans, 6:186–187
- Masters, 6:460–461, 8:263–264
- Masters and servants, 6:461–462
- Masters of Deception (hackers), 3:64
- Material, 6:462
- alterations, 3:22
 - facts, 4:313
 - witnesses, 10:406
- Mather, Increase, 8:443–444
- Mathews v. Eldridge* test, 6:462–463
- Mathis, Greg, 2:217
- Matsch, Richard P., 10:203
- Matters of fact, 6:463
- Matters of form, 4:461
- Matters of law, 6:463–464, 8:295
- Matters of record, 6:464
- Matthews, Stanley, 6:464–466, 465, 10:447–448
- Mature minor doctrine, 7:402
- Maxims, 6:466–468
- Mayaguez* incident (1975), 4:449
- Mayday Rally (1971), 2:154–155
- Mayflower Compact (document), 12:46–47
- Mayhem, 6:468
- Mays, Kimberly, 7:359
- McCain, John Sidney, 4:88–89, 345, 7:1–3, 2
- McCarran, Patrick Anthony, 7:5, 5–6
- McCarran-Ferguson Act (1945), 7:3–4
- McCarran Internal Security Act (1950), 2:487, 3:39, 7:4–5
- McCarthy, Eugene Joseph, 7:6–8, 7
- McCarthy, Joseph Raymond, 7:8, 8–9
- censure, 2:292
 - Cohn, Roy Marcus, relationship with, 2:479
 - Cold War, 2:487
 - Goldwater, Barry, support of, 5:110
 - Hayes, George E.C., and, 5:209
 - socialism, 9:232
 - Welch, Joseph Nye and, 10:331–332
- See also* House Un-American Activities Committee (HUAC)

- McClellan, John Little, 5:269, 7:9, 9–10
- McClellan Committee, 5:269, 6:200
- McCollum, Vashti, 8:281, 281–282, 287
- McCorvey, Norma, 1:14, 16, 8:381, 381–383
- McDougal, James, 10:365
- McDougal, Susan, 10:367–368
- McGranery, James Patrick, 7:13, 13–15
- McGrath, James Howard, 7:14, 15–17
- McGuire Act (1952), 4:305
- M.C.J. (master of comparative jurisprudence), 7:17
- McKenna, Joseph, 7:17–18, 18
- McKinley, John, 7:18–19, 19
- McKinley, William, 7:19–21, 20
- assassination, 1:368
- flag use at campaign rallies, 4:431
- McKinney Homeless Assistance Act (1987), 5:278, 7:21
- McLaurin, John L., 2:292
- McLean, John, 7:21–23, 22
- McMartin preschool case (1984–1990), 9:148–149
- McNabb-Mallory Rule, 7:23–24
- McNally, Dave, 9:288
- McReynolds, James Clark, 7:24–26, 25, 176
- McSorley, Marty, 9:291
- McVeigh, Timothy J.
- Branch Davidian raid (1993), 2:101
- Federal Bureau of Investigation, 4:333
- trial and execution of, 10:6, 7
- venue change, 10:203
- videotaping of execution of, 10:331
- Means, Russell, 1:257, 257, 483
- Measurement standards, 3:11
- Meat and poultry industry
- meat in restaurants, 7:376
- Schechter Poultry Corp. v. United States* (1935), 9:12–13
- Sinclair, Upton Beall, 9:190–191
- Slaughter-House Cases* (1873), 7:70–71, 234, 9:202–203
- Swift and Company v. United States* (1905), 7:112
- “Mechanical Jurisprudence” (Pound) (document), 12:521–528
- Mechanic’s lien, 7:26, 27
- Medgar Evers Institute, 4:247
- Media Bureau, FCC, 4:334
- Mediation, 7:26
- attorneys, 8:135
- civil procedure, 2:395
- collective bargaining agreements, 6:173
- conciliation, 3:69–70
- family, 4:320
- Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, 4:349–350
- mediation-arbitration, 1:240
- National Mediation Board, 7:184–185
- ombudspersons, 7:314–315
- procedure, 1:238
- Mediation, international law, 7:26
- Medical examiners, 7:29
- Medical information evidence, 3:398
- Medical malpractice, 6:409, 7:29–31
- capping damage awards, 3:53, 5:222–224
- cause of action, 1:62–63
- expert testimony, 4:284
- fetal development, 5:392–393
- standards of care, 7:441
- tort reform, 10:62
- wrongful birth, 10:432
- wrongful life, 10:436–437
- wrongful pregnancy, 10:437
- Medical power of attorney, 2:475–476
- Medical records
- patients’ rights, 7:408
- physician malpractice, 5:224
- Medical research
- AIDS, 1:75
- DNA, 7:391
- experimentation, 7:406
- fetal tissue research, 4:389–391
- National Institutes of Health, 5:222
- Tuskegee Syphilis Study, 10:126–127
- use of animals, 1:276–277
- Medical savings accounts (MSA), 5:231
- Medical treatment
- AIDS, 1:71, 72, 75–76
- cure, 3:313
- death and dying, 3:356–360
- Defense, Department of, 3:386–387
- forced cesarean sections, 4:386
- individual rights, 7:208, 9:391
- infants’ consent, 5:395
- informed consent, 5:396
- In re Quinlan* (1976), 8:205–207
- injury torts, 1:429
- life-sustaining, 8:205–207
- marijuana, 7:185
- parents’ authority, 7:361
- physicians’ duty to provide, 5:224
- prisoners’ rights, 8:95
- rape victims, 8:235
- withdrawal of life-sustaining, 10:303–304
- See also* Health care; Hospitals; Patients’ rights
- Medicare and Medicaid, 5:229, 7:26–29, 31–33, 32
- Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services, 2:301–302, 5:221
- elder law, 4:85
- Gray Panthers advocacy, 5:135
- Johnson, Lyndon Baines, 6:23–24
- managed care, 5:231
- Medicare Fraud Statute (1995), 6:136
- origins, 5:228–230
- senior citizens, 9:100–101
- Social Security, 9:227–228
- transfer of assets, 10:79
- welfare, 10:336
- Medicare Fraud Statute (1995), 6:136
- Medicare Prescription Drug Improvement and Modernization Act (2003), 7:33
- Medications
- AIDS treatment, 1:75–76
- assisted suicide, 9:394
- AZT (azidothymidine), 4:443
- to effect mental competency, 5:368, 408–409
- Food and Drug Administration, 4:440–442, 443
- Medicare Prescription Drug Improvement and Modernization Act (2003), 7:33
- mifepristone (RU-486), 1:22–23, 2:42
- morning-after pill, 8:311
- vaccine manufacturers, 5:333–334
- See also* Drugs and narcotics
- Medina, Ernest, 7:152–153
- Meese, Edwin, III, 7:33–35, 34, 10:26
- Meeting competition defense, 8:374

- Meeting of creditors, 7:35
 Meeting of minds, 7:35
 Meetings
 board, 3:220
 shareholders', 3:218, 218–219 sunshine laws, 9:400
 towns, 10:65
 Megan's Laws, 2:357, 7:36–38, 9:140–141
 Meinhold, Keith, 1:333, 5:47
 Melissa virus, 5:455, 459
 Mellaril (antipsychotic drug), 5:408–409
 Membership, limited liability companies, 6:318–319
 Membership corporations, 7:38
Memoirs of a Woman of Pleasure (Cleland), 8:31, 33
 Memoranda, 7:38
 Memorandum decisions, 7:38
 Menendez, Erik and Lyle, 1:41
 Mens rea, 7:38–39, 91, 98–99
 Men's rights, 1:503
Mensa et thoro, 7:39
 Mental anguish, 7:39
 Mental cruelty, 7:39
 Mental illness and state
 abuse excuse, 1:41
 asylums, 1:384, 385
 cancellation of an instrument, 2:232
 compensatory damages, 3:332
 confessions, 3:81
 contract competency, 3:173
 Dix, Dorothea, work of, 3:482–483
 Durham rule, 4:45–46
 incarceration, 5:358–359
 incompetency, 5:367–368
 medical consent, 7:401
 parens patriae, 7:357
 parties to lawsuits, 7:375
 preventive detention, 8:80
 Rush, Benjamin, 8:428
 scientific evidence, 9:34
 sex offenders, 9:146
 Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services
 Administration, 5:222, 8:172, 9:387–388
 Supreme Court justices, 1:456–457
 workers' compensation, 10:420
See also Commitment; Insanity defense
 Mentally retarded
 capital punishment, 1:387–388, 2:239–240, 3:289–290, 305, 4:79–80, 5:405, 9:343–344 sex offenses against, 9:139
 sterilization, 2:159–161, 5:276
 Mentschikoff, Soia, 7:39–40
 Mercantiles, 7:40
 Merchandise brokers, 2:132
 Merchant Marine Act (1920). See Jones Act (1920)
 Merchant marines, 8:438
 Merchantability, 7:40
 Mercian law, 7:40
 Meredith, James Howard, 2:250, 6:107, 7:40–43, 41
 Merger, criminal cases, 3:280, 6:272
 Merger, law of, 7:43
 Mergers and acquisitions, 7:43–48
 airlines, 1:190
 antitrust cases, 1:302, 303
 banks and banking, 5:469
 conglomerates, 3:87
 corporate law, 3:223–224
 extinguishment distinction, 4:289
 legal publishing, 6:242–243
 risk arbitrage, 1:324 subsidiaries, 9:386
 vertical mergers, 10:205–206
 See also Takeovers
 Merit system, 5:314, 315, 7:48
 Merit Systems Protection Board (MSPB), 2:408, 7:48–49
 Merits, 7:49
 Merle, Roger, 5:202
 Mesa Petroleum Company, 2:191
 Mesne, 7:49
 Messersmith, Andy, 9:288
 Metalclad Corp., 7:264–265
 Metallica (rock band), 4:168, 5:425
 Metes and bounds lands, 1:37, 7:49
 Metric system, 10:325
 Mexican War (1840s)
 Clifford, Nathan, 2:444
 Polk, James Knox, 8:19
 Taylor, Zachary, 9:447
 Mexico, 7:50–52
 Chamizal Tract, 2:316–317
 Mexican War treaty negotiations, 2:444
 North American Free Trade Agreement (1994), 2:229–230, 7:263–265 territorial disputes, 8:18–19
 United States v. Alvarez-Machain, 4:294
 Miami-Dade County (FL), 2:187–188
 Miami (FL), drug courts, 4:22
 Michigan
 assisted suicide, 4:236–237, 6:131–133
 boot camp programs, 5:497
 Cooley, Thomas McIntyre, 3:187–188
 Juvenile Waiver Law (1997), 6:96
 Murphy, Francis William, 7:144 petitions for adoption, 1:130–131
 rape laws, 8:238
 sobriety checkpoints, 1:415–416
 virtual state court, 3:242
 Microorganisms, 5:64
 Microprocessor chips, 1:303
 Microsoft Corp., 1:303, 303–304, 7:104, 9:236, 281, 10:267 Middle Ages
 canon law, 2:233
 feudalism, 4:391–393
 legal ethics, 8:133–134
 Roman law, influence of, 8:387–388
 rule of law, 8:421
 rules of war, 8:421–422
 usury, 10:187
 Midnight judges, 7:53–54
 Mifepristone (RU-486), 1:22–23, 2:42
 Migrant workers
 labor unions, 6:180
 United Farm Workers of America, 10:161–162
 Migratory Bird Rule, 4:178
 Migratory Bird Treaty (1918), 7:55, 9:32
 Military. See Armed services
 Military Academy, West Point (NY), 1:339
 Military courts
 Court of Appeals for the Armed Forces, 4:342
 judge advocates, 6:43–44
 martial law, 6:445
 polygraph evidence, 8:29
 Reconstruction Acts, 2:323
 Uniform Code of Military Justice, 2:472, 10:155–156
 Military Extraterritorial Jurisdiction Act (2000), 1:340
 Military government, 7:55–56
 Military Justice Acts (1968, 1983), 3:247
 Military law, 1:332–341, 7:56–63
 absence offenses, 10:155
 courts-martial, 3:244–247

- duties-and-orders offenses, 10:155
- Ex parte Milligan* (1866), 3:349, 7:75–76
- Judge Advocate General, 7:213
- non-judicial punishment, 10:155, 156
- special courts, 9:262
- Military occupations, 7:63–64
 - rules of war, 8:424–425
 - South, Reconstruction, 7:55
- Military Rules of Evidence, 8:29
- Military schools, 2:501–502, 5:96, 9:137, 10:238–240
- Military Selective Service Act (1967), 3:101
- Military Selective Service Act (1980) 8:408–8:409
- Militias, 7:64–67, 66
 - National Guard, 7:179
 - Second Amendment, 3:134, 5:163, 9:48–52
 - white supremacy groups, 10:363
- Milk, 1:174
- Milken, Michael, 2:78, 79, 8:21
- Mill, John Stuart, 7:68–69
- Miller, Arthur, 3:156
- Miller, Loren, 7:69–70
- Miller, Samuel Freeman, 7:70–72, 71
- Miller, William Henry Harrison, 7:73–74, 74
- Miller-Tydings Act (1935), 4:305
- Millett, Katherine Murray, 7:74–75
- Milligan, Lambdin P., 7:75–76
- Million Man March (1995), 2:404
- Mills, 7:67–68
- Milosevic, Slobodan, 5:71, 10:277
- Mine and mineral law, 7:76–77
- Mine Safety and Health Administration (MSHA), 6:170
- Mineral Leasing Act, 10:307–308
- Mineral rights, 7:77
- Miner's codes, 7:77
- Minimum wage, 7:77–80
 - Davis-Bacon Act (1931), 3:345
 - Due Process Clause, 6:361
 - gratuities, 5:131–132
 - liberty of contract, 9:418
 - West Coast Hotel Co. v. Parrish* (1937), 5:304–305, 10:344
- Mining Act (1872), 7:76
- Mining and mineral industry
 - accidental veins, 1:54
 - copper mine, 3:402
 - depletion allowances, 3:402–403
- Employment and Training Administration, 6:170
- miner's codes, 7:77
- murder case (1907–1908), 3:339
- royalties, 8:413
- water pollution, 10:307–308, 309
- Ministerial, 7:80
- Minitrials, 1:240, 2:395, 7:80–81
- Minneapolis (MN),
 - antipornography ordinance, 4:49–50, 8:34–35
- Minnesota
 - anti-fusion laws, 4:96
 - bankruptcy cases, 1:467
 - comparable worth reform, 3:52
 - divorce laws, 3:472
 - enabling statutes, 4:136–138
 - Humphrey, Hubert Horatio, 5:310–312
 - judicial candidates' free speech, 2:468
 - jury management rules, 6:79
 - McCarthy, Eugene Joseph, 7:6–7
 - Minority Heritage Preservation Act, 1:124
 - Mortgage Moratorium Act (1933), 7:117
 - motor voter laws, 10:252–252
 - Native American rights, 7:201
 - Near v. Minnesota* (1931), 7:215–217
 - Page, Alan Cedric, 7:348
 - prior restraint, 8:85
 - Rental Purchase Agreement Act (1990), 10:189
 - Senate election of 2002, 1:33–34
 - sobriety checkpoints, 1:416
 - Twins baseball team, 1:496–497
 - unlawful detainer, 10:169–170
 - voting issues, 1:30, 7:236
- Minority, 7:81
- Minority Business Development Agency, 3:10
- Minority issues
 - admission to the bar, 1:122
 - affirmative action, 1:156–157
 - American Bar Association, 1:247
 - broadcasting, 2:130
 - census undercounting, 2:293–294
 - educational attainment by race/ethnicity (2000), 4:190
 - gangs, 5:30
 - immigration law, 1:222
- Office of Bilingual Education and Minority Languages Affairs, 4:65
- Republican Party nomination process, 4:95–96
- seniority in employment, 9:102–103
- three strikes laws enforcement disparities, 10:29
- Minority-owned businesses
 - affirmative action, 1:153, 7:303, 9:277
- Minority Business Development Agency, 3:10
- Small Business Administration, 9:213
- Minors. See Infants and minors
- Mint, U.S., 8:408, 10:93
- Minton, Sheman, 7:81–82, 82
- Minute books, 7:82
- Minutes, 7:83
- Miranda, Ernesto, 7:83
- Miranda* rights
 - confessions, 3:81–83, 5:473–474
 - criminal procedure, 3:284, 286, 7:52–53
 - custodial interrogations, 3:321–324, 9:40–41
 - Fifth Amendment, 3:134, 9:93–94
 - Miranda v. Arizona* (1966), 7:83–85
 - Miranda v. Arizona* (1966) (documents), 11:255–352
 - security guards, 8:6
 - self-incrimination, privilege against, 4:209, 401, 8:111–112
 - waiver of, 10:265–266
 - Warren, Earl, 10:296
 - Warren Court rulings, 10:293
 - White, Byron Raymond, 10:357–358
- Miscarriage of justice, 7:85
- Miscegenation, 6:435, 7:85, 9:416
- Mischief, 7:86
- Misdemeanors, 7:86
 - convicted attorneys, 1:121
 - criminal law, 3:273
 - deadly force, 3:356
 - right to counsel, 5:78
- Misfeasance, 7:86
- Misidentification, 6:332
- Misjoinder, 6:30
- Mislaid property, 4:407, 8:145
- Misprision, 7:86–87
- Misrepresentation, 7:87–88
 - age, by minors, 3:174

- cancellation of an instrument, 2:231–232
 consumer protection, 3:149
 customs declarations, 3:327
 defraud, 3:391
 election campaigns, 8:13
 false pretenses, 4:314
 impersonation, 5:341–342
 incontestability clauses, 5:369–370
 product liability, 8:126
 releases, 8:280–281
- Missiles
 arms control and disarmament, 1:344–346, 348
 Cuban Missile Crisis (1962), 3:309
 intercontinental ballistic missiles, 1:291–293
- Missing in action. See Prisoners of war and missing in action (POW-MIA)
- Missing persons
 desertion, 3:419
 legal death, 3:357
- Mississippi
 Black Codes, 2:43
 Confederate flag, 4:431
 Freedom Democratic Party, 1:449–450, 5:176–177
 Hamer, Fannie Lou Townsend, 5:176–177
 reimbursement lawsuit against the tobacco industry, 10:50
 separation of law and equity cases, 4:200
 University of, integration, 7:40–42
- Mississippi Secession Convention, 6:183
- Mississippi Summer Project, 4:60
- Missouri
 abortion laws, 1:18
 Ashcroft, John David, 1:365–367
 Bates, Edward, 1:501
 Broadhead, James Overton, 2:131
 Brown, John (abolitionist), 2:138
Cruzan v. Director of Missouri Department of Health (1990), 3:359–360
Dred Scott v. Sandford (1856), 5:147
 Hunter, Elmo Bolton, 5:315–316
 law school segregation, 7:132
 Migratory Bird Treaty (1918), 7:55
 Missouri Revised Statutes, 10:321–323 role of amicus curiae, 1:263
 voting laws, 1:31
- Missouri Compromise of 1820, 7:88–90, 89, 9:209
 Catron, John, 2:275
 Celia, a slave, 2:279–280
 Clay, Henry, 2:427–428
Dred Scott v. Sandford (1857), 4:20–21
 Johnson, Reverdy, criticism of, 6:25
 Kansas-Nebraska Act ramifications, 6:103, 104, 7:444–445
- Missouri Compromise of 1820 (document), 12:141–145
- Mistakes, 7:90
 cancellation of an instrument, 2:232
 property settlements, 8:151
 reformation, 8:266
 releases, 8:280
 rescission, 8:328
 wills, 10:380
- Mistakes of fact, 7:90–91
 constructive trusts, 3:138–139
 contracts, 3:175
 exculpatory defense, 3:279–280
- Mistakes of law, 3:280, 7:91–92
- Mistrials, 4:4, 7:92
- Misuse, product liability, 8:131
- Mitchell, John Newton, 7:93, 93–94
- Mitchell, Todd, 5:205–206
- Mitchell, William De Witt, 7:94–95
- Mitigating circumstances, 7:95–96
 balancing, 1:454
 murder, 7:141–142
- Mitigation of damages, 7:96
- Mitnick, Kevin, 3:64–65, 5:460
- Mittimus, 7:96
- Mixed actions, 7:96–97
- M’Naghten rule, 2:465, 3:277–278, 4:45, 5:406, 7:97, 97
- Mobile and motor homes, 1:413–414
- Mock trials, 7:97–98
- Model Acts, 7:98
- Model building codes, 2:162–164
- Model Business Corporation Act (MBCA), 7:98
- Model Code of Professional Responsibility (ABA), 6:230–231
- Model Penal Code, 7:98–99
 insanity tests, 3:278
 kidnapping, 6:136–137
 knowingly, 6:151
- Model Rules for Lawyers’ Funds for Client Protection (ABA), 2:440
- Model Rules of Professional Conduct (ABA), 1:399, 485, 4:232–233, 8:133
- Modifications, 7:99, 10:120–121
- Modus operandi, 7:100–101
- Mohamed, Ali A., 3:113–114, 114
- Mollen Commission, 8:8
- Monarchies
 British regnal years, 12:564*t*
 common-law courts, 3:31–32
 divine right of kings, 3:470, 7:205–206
Dr. Bonham’s Case (1610), 4:152–154
 England, 1:5, 9:127, 335
 Hawaii, 3:502
 Japan, 5:260–261
 Magna Charta, 6:391–393
 Privy Council, 8:115–116
- Mondale, Walter, 1:33–34, 4:383
- Monetary damages. See Damages
- Monetary policy
 Binney, Horace, 2:37
 Bryan, William Jennings, 2:152–153
 Case, Salmon Portland, 2:323
 Cleveland, Stephen Grover, 2:440
 Clifford, Nathan, 2:445
 Federal Reserve Board, 4:353–354
 Legal Tender Acts, 2:324
 Polk, James Knox, 8:20
 Van Buren, Martin, 10:195
- Money. See Currency and coins; Funds
- Money laundering, 7:101–102
- Money paid, 7:102
- Monopolies, 7:102–104
 airlines, 1:188–189
 antitrust law, 1:297–305, 9:166, 168–169
 cartels, 2:259
 combination in restraint of trade, 3:1
 health care, 5:226
 Major League Baseball, 1:494–496
 mergers and acquisitions, 7:45
 public utilities, 8:173–174
Slaughter-House Cases (1873), 2:225, 9:203
 steamboats, 5:77
 telephone industry, 9:448

- United States v. E. C. Knight Co.* (1895), 5:17
- Monroe, James, 6:375, 7:105–107, 106
- Monroe Doctrine, 7:104–105
- Adams, John Quincy, diplomat, 1:84
- Lodge, Henry Cabot, 6:367
- Venezuela-British Guiana dispute (1895), 7:313
- Monroe Doctrine (document), 12:136–138
- Montana
- abortion laws, 1:26
 - apportionment issues, 1:320–321
 - wrongful discharge legislation, 4:129
- Montesquieu, Charles-Louis de Secondat, Baron de la Brède et de, 7:107, 107–109
- Montgomery (AL)
- bus boycott (1955–1956), 1:448, 2:403, 405, 6:142, 7:110–111, 366–367, 9:252
 - New York Times Co. v. Sullivan* (1964), 7:238
 - New York Times Co. v. Sullivan* (1964) (documents), 11:353–485
- Montgomery GI Bill (1984), 5:76, 10:212–213
- Monuments, 7:111
- Moody, William Henry, 7:111–112, 112
- Moore, Alfred, 7:112–114, 113
- Moore, Fred, 8:436
- Moore, Roy, 8:288
- Moot, 6:93, 7:114
- Moot courts, 7:114–115
- Moral issues
- adultery, 1:134
 - AIDS education, 1:68–69, 73–74
 - attitudes towards sex, 3:68
 - character of attorneys, 1:121
 - conscientious objectors, 3:101
 - gambling, 9:323
 - liberty and, 6:309
 - Mann Act (1910), 6:416–417
 - natural law, 7:205
 - positivism, 8:37
 - Production Code (movie industry), 5:214–215
 - rule according to higher law, 8:420–421
 - same-sex marriage, 5:51
 - surrogate motherhood, 9:410
 - turpitude, 10:126
 - unconscionable, 10:142–143
 - vigilantism, 10:231
- Moral law, 7:115
- Moral relativism, 7:116
- Moral turpitude, 7:116
- Moratoria, 7:116–117
- Mormon Bible forgery, 4:460
- Mormon Church, 7:117–119
- Franco v. The Church of Jesus Christ of latter-day Saints* (2001), 6:411
 - Howard Hughes, will of, 10:377
 - polygamy, 8:27, 28
- Morning-after pill, 8:311
- Morris, Robert T., 3:63–64
- Morris plans, 3:266
- Morse, Samuel F., 5:185–186
- Mortality tables, 7:119
- Mortgages, 7:119–124, 121–122, 124
- acquisition charges, 1:76
 - after-acquired property clauses, 1:159–160
 - amortization provision, 1:270–271
 - assumption, 1:378
 - chattel mortgages, 2:331–332
 - commitment fee, 3:27
 - cooperatives, 3:190
 - deeds of trust, 3:375–379
 - defeasance clauses, 3:380–381
 - deficiency judgments, 3:389
 - equity of redemption, 4:202
 - Federal Agricultural Mortgage Corporation, 4:322
 - Federal National Mortgage Association, 4:350–351, 5:298
 - foreclosure, 4:449, 450–451
 - future acquired property, 5:20
 - Government National Mortgage Association, 5:119–120, 299
 - law day, 6:213
 - liens, 6:315
 - loan commitments, 6:356
 - Minnesota Mortgage Moratorium Act (1933), 7:117
 - open-end mortgages, 7:318
 - points, 8:2
 - power of sale, 8:55
 - purchase money mortgages, 8:191
 - reconveyance, 8:255
 - redemption, 8:261
 - redlining, 8:261
 - scire facias, 9:35
 - self-help, 9:92
 - statutory redemption, 9:336–337
 - strict foreclosure, 9:369
 - veterans' home loan guarantees, 10:213
 - wadset, 10:259
- Mortmain, 7:124–125
- Mortmain Acts, 7:125
- Morton, Paul, 5:194
- Mosbacher, Robert A., 2:295
- Moscoso, Mireya, 5:450
- Moseley-Braun, Carol Elizabeth, 7:125, 125–126
- Moslem Mosque, Incorporated, 6:403
- Moss, Annie Lee, 5:209
- Most-favored-nation status, 7:126–127
- Mother Earth* (magazine), 5:108
- Mothers
- adoption rights, 1:124, 128–129
 - surrogate, 1:431–433, 9:408–415
 - tender years doctrine, 9:457–458
- Mothers Against Drunk Drivers (MADD), 1:205–206, 7:127–128
- Motion Picture Association of America (MPAA), 2:286, 7:134–135, 10:441–442
- Motions, 7:128–130, 129
- continuance, 3:163
 - movant, 7:133–134
 - new trials, 1:91
 - notice of, 7:273
 - orders, 7:323
 - resolutions, 8:334
 - show cause orders, 9:181–183
 - trials, 10:107–108
 - to vacate, 10:191
- Motives, 7:130–131
- criminal law, 3:275
 - hate crimes, 5:204–205, 206
 - vs. intent, 9:267
- Motley, Constance Baker, 7:131, 131–133
- Motor vehicles. See Automobiles
- Motor voter laws, 10:250, 251–252, 253
- Motorcycles, 5:415–417
- Mott, Lucretia, 9:98–100
- Movant, 7:133–134
- Move, 7:134
- Movement Support Network, 2:298
- Movie ratings, 7:134–135
- Movies and movie industry
- blacklists, 2:55–56
 - Disney Corp., 5:142–143

- Hays, William Harrison, 5:214–215
Hollywood Ten, 2:56
House Un-American Activities Committee, 3:38–39
National Film Preservation Board, 6:312
Net-profits clauses, 4:165–166
Nimmer, Melville Bernard, 7:244
personal service agreements, 4:165 piracy of recordings, 3:197 ratings, 2:286, 10:441–442
Reagan, Ronald Wilson, 8:242
Sony Corp. of America v. Universal City Studios (1984), 9:246–248
Spielberg, Steven, 1:264–265
See also Entertainment industry
MP3 technology, 4:167–168
MPAA (Motion Picture Association of America), 2:286
Mudd, Samuel A., 1:52
Mueller, Robert Swann, III, 7:135–137
Mug shots, 7:448
Muhammad, Elijah, 7:166
Muhammad, Fard, 7:165–166
Mulroney, Brian, 2:228–229
Multidistrict litigation, 7:137–138
Multiethnic Placement Act (1994), 1:125
Multilevel distributorship, 7:138
Multiparty litigation, 8:132
Multiple listing, 6:335
Multiplicity of actions, 7:138
Multistate Bar Examination, 1:486–487
Multistate Professional Responsibility Examination, 1:487
Municipal and local government, 7:138
 administrative acts, 1:100
 administrative agencies, 1:103 air traffic regulations, 1:145–146
 anti-gang laws, 5:33
 antipornography, 4:50–51
 bankruptcy, 1:468
 building codes, 2:162–164
 building lines, 2:163
 cemetery regulation, 2:283–284
 charters, 2:321
 commerce regulation, 3:4–5 comptrollers, 3:60
 constables, 3:114–115
 coroners, 3:208–210
 council, 3:234
 counties, 3:238–239
 domestic partner ordinances, 2:476 explosives regulation, 4:484 gas supply, 5:43
 Green Party, 5:140
 hierarchy of law, 6:211
 home rule, 5:276
 independent counsel, 5:380
 land-use control, 6:185–192
 landmarks preservation, 6:198–199 liability for riot, 8:365
 ordinances, 7:324
 preemption, doctrine of, 8:58, 60–61 proprietary functions, 8:152
 special courts, 9:261
 sports teams, 9:282–283
 towns, 10:64–65
 ultra vires, 10:140–141
 use taxes, 10:186–187
 wharf administration, 1:118–119
 zoning, 10:456–458
 See also Zoning
Municipal bonds, 2:79
Municipal corporations, 7:138–140
Muniments of title, 7:140
Murals, 1:356
Murder, 7:140–144
 of abortion doctors, 1:24
 accomplices, 1:56
 and adultery, 1:134
 appeals, 1:314
 Bardo, John, 2:414
 blood feuds, 2:64–65
 Borden, Lizzie, 2:80–81
 Boston Massacre soldiers, 2:85–86
 Brown, John (abolitionist), 2:138
 Byrd, James, Jr., 5:203
 Carter, Rubin “Hurricane,” 5:170
 Celia, a slave, 2:281–282 civil rights activists, 2:406
 closing arguments, 2:457
 Commonwealth of Massachusetts v. Louise Woodward (1998), 6:441
 confessions, 3:82
 confrontation of accusers, 3:86–87
 constructive trusts, 3:139
 curtesy, 3:316
 de la Beckwith, Byron, 4:244–246
 declarations, 3:368
 descent and distribution, 3:416
 Ferguson, Colin, 5:405
 Gregg v. Georgia (1976), 5:144
 gun control, 5:166
 Hawkins, James, 2:413
 Haymarket Square riot (1886), 5:212
 heat of passion, 5:239–240
 Kevorkian, Jack, 6:132
 Loeb and Leopold trial (1924), 3:340–341, 6:269–271
 malice, 6:405 manslaughter distinction, 6:421–422
 Menendez, Erik and Lyle, 1:41, 2:457 mentally retarded murderers, 1:387–388 mining industry, 3:339–340
 misprision, 7:87
 M’Naghten, Daniel, 2:465
 Oswald, Lee Harvey, 8:414
 Pratt, Elmer, 2:463
 premeditation, 8:67
 Sacco and Vanzetti case (1921), 4:481–482, 8:436–437
 serial killers, 7:100
 Shepard, Mathew, 5:204
 Sheppard, Samuel H., 9:162–164
 Soledad Brothers case (1970), 3:347–348
 Tison, Ricky and Raymond, 3:409 transferred intent, 3:275
 undercover investigations, 5:495–496
 von Bulow, Claus, 3:409
 See also Assassinations; Genocide; Homicide; Lynchings; Simpson, O.J., case (1995)
Murphy, Francis William, 7:144–146, 145
Murphy, Kevin, 5:497–498
Murphy, Paul L., 6:238
Museums, 7:194–195
Music industry
 censorship, 2:287
 copyright law, 4:167
 digital files, 1:87, 3:153–154, 197, 203–204, 5:425, 427 electronic copyright, 4:167–168
 personal service agreements, 4:164–165
 Rock the Vote, 10:250
 royalties, 4:166, 8:412

See also Entertainment industry
 Music publishing, 7:146–148
 Musicians
 Jackson, Michael, 7:147
 Joel, Billy, 4:164
 Johnson, Robert L., 5:326
 Metallica (rock band), 4:168, 5:425
 Mussey, Ellen Spencer, 5:87, 7:148–149
 Mussolini, Benito, 6:221, 7:149, 149–150
 Must-carry rules, 2:128, 209–210, 6:455
 Mutilation, 3:230, 7:150
 Mutiny, 1:263–265, 7:150
 Mutual assured destruction (MAD)
 Anti-Ballistic-Missile Treaty (1972), 1:291
 arms control and disarmament, 1:343
 Mutual companies, 7:150
 Mutual consideration, 8:203–204
 Mutual funds, 7:150–151, 258
 Mutual mistakes, 7:152, 8:328
 Mutual of Omaha Insurance Co., 5:231–232
 Mutuality of obligation, 2:28, 3:174, 7:152
 My Lai Massacre (1968), 7:152–153
 “My Son, Stop Your Ears” (Chief Joseph) (document), 12:456–458
 Myers, Richard, 1:347

N

NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, 7:158–159
 Greenberg, Jack, 5:140–141
 Jones, Elaine Ruth, 6:38–39
 Marshall, Thurgood, 6:443–444
 Robinson, Spottswood William, III, 8:376
 NAACP (National Association for the Advancement of Colored People), 7:155–158, 157*t*
 Baker, Ella Josephine, 1:447
 Bates, Daisy Lee Gatson, 1:498–499 broadcasting employment, 2:130
 Carter, Robert Lee, 2:264–265
 Confederate flag, 4:430–431
 court challenges to racial discrimination, 8:212
 Du Bois, William Edward Burghardt, 4:36
 Evers-Williams, Myrlie, 4:245, 246–247
 freedom of association and assembly, 4:493
 Hooks, Benjamin Lawson, 5:286–287
 Houston, Charles Hamilton, 5:301
 integration, 5:421
 Jim Crow laws, 2:143–144, 6:14
 Johnson, James Weldon, 6:20–22
 Jones, Elaine Ruth, 6:38–39
 Motley, Constance Baker, 7:132
 Wilkins, Roy Ottoway, 10:375–376
 Williams, Franklin Hall, 10:386
 Nabrit, James M., 2:143
 Nader, Ralph, 7:159–162, 160
 automobile safety, 1:418, 419, 419
 Green Party candidate, 5:139, 139–140, 382
 NAFTA. See North American Free Trade Agreement (1994)
 Nagasaki bombing. See Nuclear weapons, World War II
 Naked contracts, 7:162
 Names, 7:162
 appropriation of, 8:101
 generic, 10:68, 72–73
 John Doe or Jane Doe, 2:272, 6:15
 popular name tables, 8:31, 32*t*
 publishing law, 8:176
 Roe, 8:381
 signatures, 9:185 single name partnership, 9:194
 Stone, Lucy, 9:357–358
 trade names, 10:68–69
 Napoleonic code, 7:162–163
 Napoleonic Wars (1802–1815), 10:277–279
 Napster, 5:427
 entertainment law, 4:168
 music piracy, 3:153, 203–204, 5:425, 427
 NARAL Pro-Choice America, 7:163–164
 Narcotics. See Drugs and narcotics
 Narcotics Acts, 7:164–165
 Nardone, Frank C., 5:10
 Nashville Convention of 1850, 2:224
 Nathan Associates, 2:190
 Nation, Carry, 9:454
 A Nation at Risk (Department of Education), 4:62
 The Nation (magazine), 3:197–198
 Nation of Islam, 7:165–166
 Cleaver, Leroy Eldridge, 2:433–434
 Little-Collins, Ella Lee, 6:342
 Malcolm X, 6:402–404
 Million Man March (1995), 2:404
 National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA), 1:148
 National Ambient Air Quality Standards, 4:175, 176
 National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. See NAACP (National Association for the Advancement of Colored People)
 National Association of Black Social Workers (NABSW), 1:124
 National Association of Broadcasters, 2:286, 7:166–167
 National Association of Legal Assistants (NALA), 6:235
 National Association of Manufacturers (NAM), 7:167–168
 National Association of Realtors (NAR), 7:168–169
 National Association of Theater Owners (NATO), 10:441–442
 National Bank Act (1864), 4:327
 National Board of Trial Advocacy (NBTA), 6:252
 National Broadcasting Company (NBC), 2:125
 National Cancer Institute, 8:171
 National Cemetery System, 10:210
 National Center for Lesbian Rights, 4:235
 National Center for Missing and Exploited Children (NCMEC), 6:139
 National Center for State Courts (NCSC), 4:347, 6:50
 National character of aircraft, 7:169
 National Childhood Vaccine Injury Act (1986), 5:334
 National Civil Liberties Bureau (NCLB). See American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU)
 National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA), 9:285–286

- National Commission of Fine Arts, 1:356
- National Commission on Law Observance and Enforcement. See Wickersham Commission
- National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws, 3:24
 alternative dispute resolution, 1:241 durable power of attorney, 8:54
 Freund, Ernst, 4:506–507
 legislation, 6:256
 limited liability companies, 6:317–318
 long-arm statutes, 6:369–370
 sales law, 8:449
 uniform acts, 10:154
 Uniform Commercial Code, 10:157
- National Consumer Cooperative Bank Act (1978), 7:169–170
- National Cooperative Bank (NCB), 7:169–170
- National Council of La Raza (NCLR), 7:170–171
- National Council of Women's Organizations (NCWO), 2:461
- National Credit Union Administration (NCUA), 7:171–173
- National debt. See Federal budget
- National Defense Act (1916), 7:67
- National DNA Index system, 8:102–103
- National Drug Control Strategy, 4:32
- National Education Association (NEA), 7:173–174, 437
- National Endowment for the Arts (NEA), 1:356–357, 2:287–288
- National Endowment for the Humanities (NEH), 1:356–357
- National Environmental Policy Act (1969), 1:325–326, 4:174, 181, 6:191–193, 7:174–175
- National Federation of Independent Businesses (NFIB), 7:175
- National Federation of Paralegal Associations (NFPA), 6:235
- National Film Preservation Board, 6:312
- National Firearms Act (1934), 7:175–176
- National forests, 10:415
- National Foundation for the Arts and Humanities Act (1990), 1:356
- National Gay and Lesbian Task Force, 7:176–177
- National Guard, 7:177–180
Cammermeyer v. Aspin (1994), 1:336, 337
 Little Rock (AR) school integration, 1:499–500
 martial law, 6:446
 military law, 7:57
 militias, 7:64, 66, 66–67
 origins, 1:334
 riot suppression, 8:365
 Third Amendment case, 3:134
- National Guard Association (NGA), 7:66
- National health care, 7:180–181
 Gray Panthers advocacy, 5:135
 managed care, 6:412
- National highway system, 5:254
- National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA), 1:419, 10:83
- National Historical Preservation Act (1966), 6:189–190
- National Industrial Recovery Act (1933), 7:181–184, 233–234
 antitrust law, 1:300
 Live Poultry Code, 1:106, 9:12
 minimum wage, 7:78
 Reed, Stanley Forman, 8:262
Schechter Poultry Corp. v. United States (1935), 8:396, 10:263
- National Information Infrastructure Act (1996), 3:63
- National Institute of Military Justice, 10:156
- National Institute of Standards and Technology (NIST), 3:11
- National Institutes of Health (NIH), 5:222, 8:171–172
- National Labor Relations Act (1935). See Wagner Act (1935)
- National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) administrative powers, 3:131
 certification proceedings, 2:308
 collective bargaining, 2:490–493, 6:172–173
 creation of, 10:261
 establishment of, 10:154
NLRB v. Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. (1937), 7:255–256
- National Library of Medicine, 8:171–172
- National Mall, Washington, D.C., 1:73
- National Mediation Board, 7:184–185
- National Mediation Program, EEOC, 4:186
- National Motor Vehicle Theft Act. See Dyer Act (1919)
- National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA), 3:10, 4:427
- National Organ Transplant Act (1984), 7:325–326
- National Organization for the Reform of Marijuana Laws (NORML), 7:185
- National Organization for Women (NOW), 7:186
 feminist jurisprudence, 4:374
 Friedan, Betty, 5:2–3
 Ireland, Patricia, 5:481–483
 Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations Act, 8:220–221
- National Organization for Women Statement of Purpose (document), 12:404–406
- National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System, 10:307
- National Practitioner Data Bank, 7:443
- National Prohibition Act (1919), 4:77–78, 8:140, 10:246
- National Prohibition Party, 1:203, 204
- National Public Housing Asset Forfeiture Project, 6:196–197
- National Public Radio (NPR), 3:156–157
- National Recovery Administration (NRA), 1:101, 7:182–183, 183, 186–187
- National Reporter System, 1:135, 3:367, 6:242, 8:307
- National Research Act (1974), 10:127
- National Rifle Association (NRA), 7:187–188
- National Right to Life Committee (NRLC), 4:240, 7:188–189
- National security. See Security issues
- National Security Acts (1947, 1949), 2:302, 3:383
- National Security Council (NSC), 7:189–191, 190
 Central Intelligence Agency, 2:302
 Iran-Contra Affair, 3:110–111, 5:476–480
- National Socialist German Workers party. See Nazis, Germany

- National Telecommunications and Information Administration, 3:10
- National Transportation Safety Board (NTSB), 1:193, 7:191–192, 192
- National Urban League, 7:192–194
- National Voter Registration Act (1993), 2:451, 10:250, 251–252, 253
- National Woman Suffrage Association (NWSA), 10:408–410
- National Women's Party (NWP), 7:410–411
- Nationalism
- Irish, 2:269–270
 - Johnson, William, 6:27
 - political trials, 8:16–17
 - Trimble, Robert, 10:112
- Nationals, 2:384
- Native American Graves Protection and Repatriation Act (1990), 1:257, 7:194–195
- Native American history
- Cherokee cases, 2:335–337
 - forced relocation, 2:114, 274, 337
 - National Guard, 7:178
 - Ross, John, 8:405–407
 - state jurisdiction over Cherokee land, 2:274
 - Surrender Speech (Black Hawk) (document), 12:451
 - Treaty with Sioux Nation (document), 12:452–455
- Native American leaders
- Banks, Dennis, 1:257, 257, 481–484, 482
 - Black Elk, Wallace, 1:257
 - Campbell, Ben Nighthorse, 2:221–222
 - Chief Joseph, 12:456–458
 - Means, Russell, 1:257, 257
 - Oakes, Richard, 1:255
 - Wilson, Dick, 1:256
- Native American rights, 7:195–204
- adopted children, 1:125
 - American Indian Movement, 1:254–257
 - Campbell, Ben Nighthorse, 2:221–222
 - civil rights activism, 1:481–484
 - Clark, William Ramsey, 2:420
 - federal benefits, 5:83
 - fishing rights, 4:426–427
 - gaming, 5:28, 7:202
 - housing assistance, 5:299
 - Indian Affairs, Bureau of, 5:433–434
 - Indian Child Welfare Act (1978), 5:383–385
 - Indian Health Service, 8:171
 - Kunstler, William Moses, 6:165
 - religious traditions, 1:454
 - restorative justice, 8:339
 - Seminole Tribe of Florida v. Florida* (1996), 4:110, 363–364
 - Sonosky, Marvin J., activism, 9:245–246
 - sovereign immunity, 5:329–330
 - territorial sovereignty, 2:335–337, 8:406–407
 - Vitoria, Francisco de, 10:242–243
 - See also* Reservations (Native American)
- Native American treaties
- Cherokee nation, 8:406–407
 - Harrison, William Henry, 5:198
 - “My Son, Stop Your Ears” (Chief Joseph) (document), 12:456–458
 - Treaty with Sioux Nation (document), 12:452–455
 - Worcester v. Georgia* (1832) (document), 12:409–450
- Native Hawaiians, 10:86–87
- Nativists, 6:150
- Nativity scenes, 8:284–285
- Natural and probable consequences, 7:204–205
- Natural disasters. See Disaster relief
- Natural flow doctrine, 10:310
- Natural Language database searches, 10:346
- Natural law, 7:205–210
- Burlamaqui, Jean Jacques, 2:174
 - jurisprudence, 6:77
 - legal positivism as contrast to, 6:240
 - libertarianism, 6:307
 - liberty, 6:307
 - Locke, John, 6:363–364
 - Second Treatise on Government (document), 12:16–44
 - Writs of Assistance* case, 10:430–431
- Natural Law Party, 7:210, 210–211
- Natural resources
- depletion allowances, 3:402–403
 - Interior, Department of the, 5:432–435
 - mine and mineral law, 7:76–77
 - tax issues, 3:7–8
- Natural Resources Conservation Service, 1:178
- Naturalization, 7:211
- applications, 1:224
 - citizenship, 2:385
 - dual nationality, 4:37
- Naval Academy, Annapolis (MD), 1:333–334, 335–336
- Navegar, Inc., 2:100
- Navigable waters, 3:5, 7:211–212
- Navigation
- accidents of, 1:54
 - pilots, 7:447
 - sea, 1:115
- Navratilova, Martina, 2:475
- Navy, U.S., 7:212–215, 214
- Cuban Missile Crisis (1962), 3:309–310
 - early U.S. colonies, 7:113
 - loyalty oaths, 6:377
 - McCain, John Sidney, 7:1–2
 - Meinhold v. United States Department of Defense* (1994), 1:333, 5:47
 - military appropriations, 9:218–219
 - origins, 1:334
 - sailors' courts martial, 9:430
 - salvage, 8:451
 - sexual assault and rape, 1:340
 - Tailhook Scandal (1991), 1:338–339
 - USS Ronald Reagan, 8:244
 - Walker spy ring, 4:211–212
- Nazis, Germany
- genocide, 5:69–70
 - Hitler, Adolph, 5:263–364, 264
 - Nuremberg trials (1945–1949), 7:285–291
 - war crimes, 10:276
- Neal, John, 1:249
- Nebraska
- homesteads, 5:281
 - Norris, George William, 7:263
 - slavery debate, 7:445
- Necessaries, 7:217
- Necessary and Proper Clause, 7:217–218
- administrative agencies, 1:100
 - Congress, U.S., 3:94, 121, 128–129
 - criminal law, 3:273
 - Madison, James, 6:389

- McCulloch v. Maryland* (1819), 7:11
- Necessity, 7:218–220, 8:109–110
- Negative covenants, 7:220
- Negative easements, 4:56
- Neglect, 7:220–221
- Negligence, 7:221–228
- admiralty and maritime law, 1:116, 9:177–178
 - ambulance chasers, 1:244
 - ancillary proceedings, 1:275
 - anticipation, 1:294
 - asylums, 1:387
 - bridges, 2:121–122
 - business judgment rule, 2:190–192
 - “but for” rule, 2:193–194
 - care, 2:246–247
 - clergy malpractice, 2:438
 - common carriers, 2:254–255
 - contributory, 8:326
 - criminal, 3:281
 - donations, 5:103
 - druggists, 4:27
 - duty, 4:46, 301
 - environmental law, 4:173
 - Erie Railroad Co. v. Tompkins* (1938), 4:202–203
 - family car doctrine, 4:314–315
 - fellow-servant rule, 4:370–372
 - fence injuries to livestock, 4:377
 - Feres* doctrine, 4:380–381
 - foreseeability, 2:245, 4:455
 - Good Samaritan doctrine, 5:114–115
 - gross negligence, 5:152
 - gun manufacturers, 2:100
 - incorporated clubs, 2:459
 - intervening causes, 5:470–471
 - involuntary manslaughter, 5:474, 6:423
 - legal malpractice, 6:239–240, 409–410, 410
 - liability of children, 7:364
 - medical malpractice, 6:409, 7:29–31
 - murder, 7:141
 - Palsgraf v. Long Island Railroad Company* (1928), 7:353–354
 - pilots, 1:146
 - product liability, 8:127–128, 129
 - proximate cause, 8:161
 - publishing law, 8:177
 - punitive damages, 8:189
 - reasonable, 8:246
 - reasonable person standard, 4:374–375
 - recklessness, 8:252
 - res ipsa loquitur*, 8:323–326
 - rescue doctrine, 8:330
 - tort law, 2:244–245, 10:59–60
 - trespasser injury, 10:101
 - vicarious liability, 10:216
 - volenti non fit injuria*, 10:246
 - water pollution, 10:308–309
 - wrongful birth, 10:432
 - wrongful life lawsuits, 10:436–437
 - wrongful pregnancy, 10:437
- Negligent entrustment, 7:228
- Negotiable instruments, 7:228
- bearer, 2:3
 - bills of exchange, 2:29
 - blank endorsement, 2:62
 - certified checks, 2:308–309, 309
 - chattel paper, 2:332
 - commercial paper, 3:17
 - drafts, 4:16–17
 - endorsement, 4:141
 - postdate, 8:43
 - present, 8:68
 - presentment, 8:68
 - quasi in rem jurisdiction, 8:199
 - recourse, 8:257
 - restrictive indorsements, 8:341–342
 - Swift v. Tyson* (1842), 9:423
 - warehouse receipts, 10:285, 286
 - without recourse, 10:405
 - “X” as a signature, 10:441
- Negotiation, 7:228
- contracts, 3:169–170
 - labor strikes, 9:373
 - minitrials, 1:240
- Neighbors and neighborhoods
- Neighborhood Watch Programs, 3:47
 - rights, duties, and liabilities, 1:93–95
 - schools, 9:21–22
- Nelson, John, 7:228–229
- Nelson, Judy, 2:475
- Nelson, Samuel, 4:21, 7:229, 229–230
- Neo-Nazi groups, 10:363
- Ness, Eliot, 1:207
- Net, 7:230
- Net listing, 6:335
- Net-profits clauses, 4:165–166
- Net worth, 7:230
- Netherlands
- Grotius, Hugo, 5:153
 - physician-assisted suicide, 4:238
- von Neurath, Konstantin, 7:290
- Neuropsychology, forensic, 4:455
- Neutral intermediaries, 2:395
- Neutral risk, 10:420–421
- Neutrality, 7:230–232
- Rankin, Jeannette, 8:232
 - rules of war, 8:426
- Nevada
- drunk driving punishment, 8:187
 - gaming laws, 5:27
 - McCarran, Patrick Anthony, 7:5
 - prostitution, 3:271
 - Yucca Mountain waste site, 4:146, 6:191, 192, 7:278, 280, 282
- New Black Panther Party for Self-Defense, 2:52–53
- New Deal programs, 7:232–235, 8:396
- administrative law, 8:394–395
 - antitrust law, 1:300
 - Butler, Pierce, 2:200
 - Byrnes, James Francis, 2:206
 - Cardozo, Benjamin Nathan, 2:246
 - Clarke, John Hessin, 2:423
 - court cases, 1:106, 5:304, 7:25, 255–256, 9:419
 - Depression recovery, 5:289
 - disaster relief, 3:444
 - Douglas, William Orville, 4:11
 - employment law, 4:131
 - Federal Art Project, 1:355
 - judicial review, 6:58
 - National Industrial Recovery Act (1933), 7:181–184, 186–187, 8:262
 - Pound, Roscoe, 8:46
 - Roberts, Owen Josephus, 8:369, 370
 - Roosevelt, Anna Eleanor, 8:392
 - Rutledge, Wiley Blount, Jr., 8:432
 - states’ rights, 9:326
 - substantive due process, 4:39
 - Van Devanter, Willis, 10:196
 - Wagner, Robert Ferdinand, 10:263
 - Wagner Act (1935), 10:261–262
 - welfare, 10:332–333, 334
- New drug applications (NDA), 4:441
- New England
- dairies, 1:181
 - slavery, 9:205
- New Era Philanthropy, 8:31
- New Frontier program, 6:121

- New Hampshire
 boundary dispute, 2:89
 Doe, Charles, 3:497–498
 juveniles' right to appeal, 6:100
 Pierce, Franklin, 7:444–445
 search warrants, 3:282
 seat belt law, 9:46
 Souter, David H., 9:249
 State Prison, 8:88–89
 New House of Delegates, 6:387–388
 New Jersey
 Alexander, James, 1:209–210
 boundary dispute, 2:88–89
 gambling, 3:271
 gaming laws, 5:27–28
 gay and lesbian rights, 5:53–54
 Griggs, John William, 5:148–149
 incontestability clauses, 5:370
 Law Against Discrimination, 2:92
 Paterson, William, 7:399–400
 racial profiling, 8:214–215
 Senate election of 2002, 1:33
 surrogacy laws, 1:431–433
United States v. Rodriguez-Moreno (1999), 3:277
 Vanderbilt, Arthur T., 10:198–199
 voting, homeless persons, 5:279
 New Jersey Plan (document), 12:110–111
 New Mexico, Compromise of 1850, 3:60
 New Party, 4:96, 7:235–236
 New York
 Abbott, Benjamin Vaughn, 1:4
 abortion laws, 1:25
 Abzug, Bella Savitsky, 1:44
 Alexander, James, 1:209–210
 arrest warrants, 1:351–352
 Arthur, Chester Alan, 1:358–359
 Bakeshop Act (1895), 6:360–361
 Barlow, Francis Channing, 1:490
 boundary dispute, 2:88–89
 cameras in court, 2:217
 Cardozo, Benjamin Nathan, 2:244–246
 Carter, James Coolidge, 2:259–260
 code pleading, 2:470
 Comstock, George Franklin, 3:67
 Conkling, Roscoe, 3:98–100
 constitution, 6:352
 Constitution of 1777, 7:236–238
 Dewey, Thomas Edmund, 3:425–426
 divorce, 3:474–478
 felony indictments and acquittals, 1:76, 77
 Field Code, 4:394–395
 Hornblower, William Butler, 5:292
 Hughes, Charles Evans, 5:303–304
 Hunt, Ward, 5:312–313
 Huntley hearings, 5:318
 kidnapping statutes, 6:137, 138
 Livingston, Robert R., 6:352–353
 Love Canal toxic waste incident (1970s), 9:242
 O'Connor, Charles, 7:304
 order of attachment, 1:389
 Peckham, Rufus Wheeler, 7:412
 rights of wives, 1:290 slave laws, 9:205
 Son of Sam laws, 10:220–221
 Spitzer, Eliot, 9:79
 State Supreme Court, 1:96
 students with AIDS, 1:73
 Weinstein, Jack Bertrand, 10:326–327
 New York City
 Baker, Ella Josephine, 1:447–448
 Central Park jogger case (1989), 3:488
 Civil Works Administration, 1:355
 Cow Parade exhibit, 1:280
 Draft Riots (1863), 3:102
 Gilbert, Cass, architecture, 5:85
 Goetz, Bernhard, case (1984), 9:90
 landmarks, 6:198–199
 police corruption, 6:110–111, 8:7–9
 police officers, 1:350
 quiz show case, 3:108
 Stonewall Inn protest (1969), 5:45
 Tammany Hall, 7:446, 9:435, 435–436
 Times Square, 3:29
 Triangle Shirtwaist Company fire (1911), 7:428–429, 10:109–111
 undercounts, census, 2:294
 New York Giants (football team), 9:268–269
 New York Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, 2:344
 New York Standard Coinsurance Clause, 2:480
 New York Stock Exchange (NYSE), 1:105
New York Sun (newspaper), 1:264
New York Times (newspaper)
New York Times Co. v. Sullivan (1964), 7:238–239
New York Times Co. v. Sullivan (1964) (documents), 11:353–495
New York Times Co. v. United States (1971), 7:239–241
New York Weekly Journal, 10:453–454
 Newark (NJ), cargo ships, 3:2
 Newkirk, Ingrid, 7:423
 News media
 cause célèbre, 2:277 coverage of court cases, 9:196
 fair comment, 4:301
 freedom of the press, 4:505
 industry mergers and acquisitions, 7:47–48, 9:453
 journalistic privilege, 4:254–256, 504
 Lindbergh kidnapping trial (1932), 6:329
 pretrial publicity, 8:78–79
 prior restraint, 8:85–86
 prisoner visitation, 8:94
 radio, 2:125
 reporting others' libelous statements, 6:303–304
 shield laws, 9:173
 Sinclair, Upton Beall, 9:190
 Son of Sam laws, 9:244–245
 syndicates, 9:428
 used for trial publicity, 9:156
See also Broadcasting; Cameras in court; Mass communications law News reporters emotional distress suit, 7:129–130
 Graham, Fred, 3:253
 Newsom, Robert, 2:279–281
 Newspaper Preservation Act (1970), 6:32
 Newspapers
 advertising, 7:133–134
Al-Shiraa (newspaper), 3:110
Arkansas State Press, 1:498, 500
Free Speech, 10:340, 341
 legal notices, 9:119
The Liberator, 5:40–41

- New York Sun*, 1:264
New York Times, 7:238–239, 239–241, 11:353–495
 Newspaper Preservation Act (1970), 6:32
The Revolutionary Age (newspaper), 5:97
Saturday Press (MN), 7:216 school newspaper censorship, 2:289, 8:85
 shield laws, 9:172–174
 syndicates, 9:428
 Newton, Huey Percy, 2:49–53, 7:241–243, 242
 Next friends, 7:243
 Next of kin, 7:243
 Nez Percé Nation, 12:456–458
 Nguyen Thi Binh, 1:243
 Niagara movement, 4:35–36
 Nicaragua, Iran-Contra Affair, 2:271, 304, 3:110, 5:476–480 Nichols, Terry L. terrorism, 10:7–8
 venue change, 10:203
 Nickerson, Eugene H., 1:337–338
 NIH Revitalization Act (1993), 4:390
Nihil, 7:244
 Nimmer, Melville Bernard, 7:244
 Nineteenth Amendment, 7:245, 10:408–410
 Ninety-day letter, 7:247
 Ninth Amendment, 3:132, 7:247–250
 Ninth Circuit Court, 2:148–150
Nisi prius, 7:250
 Nixon, Richard Milhaus, 7:250–254, 251, 8:15
 Anti-Ballistic-Missile Treaty (1972), 1:292
 Carswell, George Harrold, Supreme Court nominee, 2:258 election campaign financing, 4:87 executive immunity, 5:331
 Ford pardon (1974), 7:356
 Haynesworth, Clement, nomination, 5:213–214
 Hiss, Alger, investigation, 5:262
 impeachment, 1:361, 5:252
 impoundment, 4:328–329, 5:348–349
 Kissinger, Henry Alfred and, 6:146–147
 Kleindienst, Richard Gordon and, 6:148
 Lott, Chester Trent, call for impeachment by, 6:373 Mitchell, John, Attorney General, 7:93–94 pardon of, 4:448, 6:8
 political questions, 8:15
 Rehnquist, William Hubbs, appointment of, 8:274
 Republican Party, 8:318 resignation, 4:447, 448
 rule of law, 8:419–420
 Saxbe, William, Attorney General, 9:8, 9
 St. Clair, James Draper, special counsel, 8:439–440 veto of the Comprehensive Child Development Act (1972), 2:349
 Vietnam War, 10:228–229
 welfare policy, 10:334
 See also Watergate scandal (1972–1974)
 No bill, 7:256
 No Child Left Behind Act (2001), 9:30–31
 Children's Defense Fund, 2:367
 Education, Department of, 4:63
 education law, 4:74
 No contest, 7:257
 No Electronic Theft Act (1997), 3:152, 153, 200
 No fault, 7:257
 divorce, 3:472, 4:316
 insurance, 1:420–421, 427
 No-knock entry, 4:475
 No-load funds, 7:258
 Nobel Peace Prizes
 Addams, Jane, 1:90
 Amnesty International, 1:268
 Carter, James Earl, Jr., 2:264
 Kellogg, Frank Billings, 6:113
 King, Martin Luther, Jr., 6:143
 Women's Christian Temperance Union, 1:202–203
 Noise Control Act (1972), 4:176
 Noise pollution, 4:176
Nolle prosequi, 7:258
Nolo contendere, 7:258
 Nolo Press, 10:142
 Nominal, 7:258
 Nominal damages, 3:333, 7:258
Non, 7:258
 Non-Intercourse Act (1809), 4:118
 Non-proportional reinsurance, 8:277
Non prosequitur, 7:258
Non sui juris, 7:258
Non vult contendere, 7:258–259
 Nonage, 7:259
 Noncompete agreements, 7:259
 Nonconforming goods, 8:447–448
 Nonconforming use, 7:259–260, 10:458
 Noncustodial parents, 2:360–361
 Nonevidentiary objections, 4:252
 Nonfeasance, 4:323, 7:86, 260–261
 Nonfreehold estates, 4:218–219, 8:148
 Nonimmigrant visas, 1:217, 220–222, 221, 10:240–241
 Nonimportation Act (1806), 4:117–118, 6:12
 Nonjudicial punishment, 10:155, 156
 Nonpayment
 child support, 2:361–363, 365
 fines, 4:410
 judicial sale, 6:59
 Nonprice vertical restraints, 1:301
 Nonprofits, 2:13, 15–16, 7:261, 261–262
 Nonpublic forums, 10:36–37
 Nonrecourse loans, 1:180
 Nonsuit, 7:262
 Nonsupport, 7:262
 Nonviolent protests
 Civil Rights Movement, 1:6–7, 448, 7:345–346, 9:252–253, 377
 Gandhi, Mohandas, 5:28–30
 King, Martin Luther, Jr., 6:142
 Letter from Birmingham City Jail (King) (document), 12:350–358
 Noriega, Manuel, 4:294, 294
 Norris, George William, 7:262–263, 263
 Norris Dam, 9:459
 Norris-LaGuardia Act (1932), 6:179, 7:263
 North, Oliver, 5:478, 479
 North American Free Trade Agreement (1994), 7:263–265
 Clinton, William Jefferson, 2:450
 U.S.-Canada relations, 2:229–230
 U.S.-Mexico relations, 7:50
 North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO), 7:265–267, 266
 arms control and disarmament, 1:346
 Conventional Forces in Europe Treaty (1990), 3:184–185

- North Carolina
 apportionment issues, 1:321
 Badger, George Edmund, 1:436–437
 Bragg, Thomas, 3:76
 capital punishment for drunk driving, 2:240 closed-circuit television, 1:308
 Davis, George, 3:77
 genetic engineering laws, 5:64
 gerrymandering, 5:73–74
 habeas corpus, 5:172
 Helms, Jesse Alexander Jr., 5:242
 indictments, 5:386–387
 Iredell, James, 5:480–481
 Moore, Alfred, 7:112–113
Shaw v. Hunt (1996), 9:159–160
 North Dakota, single name partnerships, 9:192–193
 North Korea
 Korean War, 6:156–158
 nuclear weapons, 7:276
 North Pacific Fisheries Convention (1952), 7:267
 Northwest Atlantic Fisheries Convention (1949), 7:267
 Northwest Community Exchange (NCE), 3:111
 Northwest Ordinance (1787), 7:267–268
 Northwest Ordinance (document), 12:102–106
 Northwest Territory (early U.S.), 5:197–198
 Northwestern University School of Law, 10:372–373
 Norton, Eleanor Holmes, 7:268–270, 269
 Norton, Gale, 5:434
 Notaries public, 7:270–272
 Note, 7:272
Note-Book (Bracton), 2:95
 Notes of decision, 7:272
 Notice, 7:272–274
 adoption, 1:129
 appeal, 1:306
 business closings, 2:189–190
 copyright, 3:198
 dismissals, 3:456
 due notice, 4:37
 imputed, 5:351
 land titles, 8:255–256
 personal service, 7:436
 quasi-legislative actions, 8:200
 Sixth Amendment, 9:198
 tax sales, 9:442
 See also Service of process
 Notification, victim, 10:220
 Novation, 3:179, 7:274, 275
 Nuclear deterrence. See Mutual assured destruction (MAD)
 Nuclear Energy, Office of, 4:146
 Nuclear Nonproliferation Treaty, 1:344, 7:274, 276, 281–282
 Nuclear power, 7:276–278, 277
 Atomic Energy Commission, 1:107
 electricity, 4:102
 Nuclear Regulatory Commission, 1:107, 7:277–278, 278–281, 279
 Nuclear waste. See Solid wastes, hazardous substances, and toxic pollutants
 Nuclear weapons, 7:281–282
 Anti-Ballistic-Missile Treaty (1972), 1:291
 arms control and disarmament, 1:343–348
 Cuban Missile Crisis (1962), 3:309–310
 Energy Department role, 4:146 impact on election of 1964, 5:111
 Intermediate-Range Nuclear Forces Treaty (1987), 5:436–437
 Limited Test Ban Treaty (1963), 6:321–322
 massive retaliation, doctrine of, 4:44
 Nuclear Nonproliferation Treaty, 7:274, 276
 rules of war, 8:426
 Seabed Arms Control Treaty (1971), 9:37
 START (Strategic Arms Reduction Talks) Treaties, 9:311–313
 World War II, 9:348, 10:114, 427
Nuclear Weapons and Foreign Policy (Kissinger), 6:145
 Nudity, 4:502–503, 7:298
 Nugatory, 7:282
 Nuisances, 7:282–285
 air pollution, 1:183–184
 anti-gang laws, 5:34
 attractive, 10:101
 environmental law, 4:170–171
 land-use controls, 6:187–189
 obscenity, 7:339–340
 water pollution, 10:308
 Null, 7:285
 Nullification (juries). See Jury nullification
 Nullification (states)
 Calhoun, John Caldwell, 2:213
 Clay, Henry, 2:428
 Legare, Hugh Swinton, 6:254
 Virginia and Kentucky Resolves, 10:236–237
 Virginia and Kentucky Resolves (document), 12:133–135
 Numerical limitation, immigration visas, 1:222
Nunc pro tunc, 7:285
 Nuncupative wills, 7:285, 10:381
 Nuremberg trials (1945–1949), 5:494, 7:285–291, 289, 8:422, 10:276
 Nurse, Francis, 8:443
 Nursing Home Reform Act (1987), 4:85
 Nursing homes
 elder law, 4:85
 fraud cases, 3:409
 Medicaid, 7:28
 transfer of assets, 10:79
 Nutrition Labeling and Education Act (1990), 4:441
 Nye County, Nevada, 6:191
- O
 Oakes, Richard, 1:255
 Oakland (CA), 7:241, 243
 Oaths, 7:293, 293
 abjuration, 1:10
 adjuration, 1:98
 affidavits, 1:150
 affirmations, 1:152
 allegiance, 1:231
 citizenship, 1:225
 loyalty, 2:323–324, 445, 6:377–378
 patents, 7:394
 President, 3:122
 religious, 8:293
Obiter dictum, 7:293
 Object, 7:293–294
 Objections, 7:294
 discovery procedures, 3:448
 evidence, 4:250–252
 motion of, 7:273
 Objective theory of contract, 7:294–295
 Obligations, 7:295, 8:446–448, 448–449
 Obligees, 7:295
 Obligor, 7:295
 Obliteration, 7:295
 O'Brien, David Paul, 9:425
 Obscene, 7:296
 Obscenity, 7:296–299
 broadcasting content, 6:458
 Citizens for Decency Through Law, 2:387–388

- Communications Decency Act (1996), 4:336–337
community standards, 2:168, 8:34–36
Comstock Law (1873), 3:67–69
definition, 2:286, 3:271, 8:31, 33, 9:142
determining, 4:414–415
forfeiture, 4:458
Hicklin test, 8:410
Internet, 5:453, 454, 9:451
Miller v. California (1973), 2:359, 4:501, 7:72–73
obscenity pledges, 2:287–288
overbreadth doctrine, 7:339
radio, 2:126
Roth v. United States (1957), 8:31, 409–410
Stewart, Potter, 9:347
television broadcasting, 9:452
theaters and shows, 10:17
zoning laws, 9:342–343
See also Censorship; Pornography
- Observant defendants, 6:208
- Obstruction of justice, 7:299–300
accessories after the fact, 1:52
Arthur Andersen, L.L.P., 1:61
Clinton, Bill, 3:130, 157–158, 5:340–341, 9:310–311
Hastings, Alcee L., 5:83
Mitchell, John Newton, 7:94
Watergate scandal (1972–1974), 5:124
- Occupancy, 1:139–142, 7:300
- Occupancy certificates, 2:307–308
- Occupational diseases, 7:300
- Occupational safety and health environmental tobacco smoke, 9:408–409, 10:44–45, 48
fellow-servant rule, 4:370–372
Occupational Safety and Health Administration, 6:170
Triangle Shirtwaist Company fire (1911), 7:428–429, 10:109–111
- Occupational Safety and Health Act (1970), 7:300–302
employment law, 4:131
work-at-home employees, 4:130
- Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA), 6:170, 10:44–45, 48
- Ocean Dumping Act. See Marine Protection, Research, and Sanctuaries Act (1972)
- Ocean fisheries law, 4:423–426
- Oceans
Center for Oceans Law and Policy, 2:299–300
National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, 3:10
Seabed Arms Control Treaty (1971), 9:37
- O'Connor, Sandra Day, 7:302–304, 303
Davis v. United States (1994), 3:323
federalism, 4:366
Grutter v. Bollinger (2003), 1:156
Harris v. Forklift Systems (1992), 4:73
Hazen Paper Co. v. Biggins (1993), 1:165
Liquormart v. Rhode Island (1996), 6:335
Lockyer v. Andrade (2003), 10:30
Mississippi University for Women v. Hogan (1982), 9:137
physician-assisted suicide, 10:304
proponent of balancing, 1:454
Roberts v. United States Jaycees (1984), 8:371–372
Shaw v. Reno (1993), 9:159–160
Troxel v. Granville (2000), 4:318
Wallace v. Jaffree (1985), 10:272
- O'Connor, Charles, 7:304, 304
- Odors, noxious, 3:4
- Of counsel, 7:304
- Of course, 7:304–305
- Of record, 7:305
- Offenses, 7:305
- Offers, 7:305–306
contracts, 3:169–171
marriage contracts, 2:105
sales law, 8:444–445
- Office audits, 7:306
- Office of Child Support Enforcement, 2:365
- Office of Disability Employment Policy (ODEP), 6:171
- Office of Emergency Preparedness, Administrative Office of the United States Courts, 1:113
- Office of Engineering and Technology, FCC, 4:335
- Office of Federal Contract Compliance Programs (OFCCP), 1:153
- Office of Government Ethics, 4:229–230
- Office of Management and Budget (OMB), 1:108, 7:306–307
- Office of National Drug Control Policy, 7:307–308
- Office of the 21st Century Workforce, 6:171
- Office of Thrift Supervision, 7:308–309
- Office services (federal government), 5:59
- Office space leasing, 3:431
- Officers, 7:309–310
color of office, 2:508
comptrollers, 3:60
corporations, 2:203–204, 3:221, 9:2
fiscal, 4:420
savings and loan associations, 9:5
- Officers of the court, 7:310
malicious prosecution, 6:408
masters, 6:461
personal representatives, 7:435
referees, 8:263–264
serjeants at law, 9:115
special masters, 9:263–264
stenographers, 9:339–340
U.S. marshals, 6:437
- Official Gazette, 7:310
- Official Opinions of the Attorney General*, 10:399
- Offset, 7:310
- Ogden, Aaron, 5:77
- O'Hair, Madalyn Murray, 1:8–9
- Ohio
Daugherty, Harry Micajah, 3:343–345
Garfield, James Abram, 5:35
Harding, Warren, 5:186
Harmon, Judson, 5:194
Hayes, Rutherford Birchard, 5:210–211
Kent State student killings, 6:127–129
martial law, 6:446
McKinley, William, 7:19
McLean, John, 7:22
Saxbe, William Bart, 9:7–8
Stanbery, Henry, 9:299
Swayne, Noah Haynes, 9:422
- Ohio Bar Association, 6:232
- Ohio National Guard, 6:127–128
- Oil. See Gasoline and oil
- Oil Pollution Act (1990), 4:178
- Ojibwa, 1:481
- Okinawa, 1:340

- Oklahoma
 grandfather clauses, 5:127–128
 Oklahoma City buses, 3:437
 Oklahoma City bombing (1995)
 Anti-Terrorism and Effective
 Death Penalty Act (1996),
 10:318
 Branch Davidian raid (1993),
 2:101
 Federal Bureau of Investigation, 4:333
 McVeigh, Timothy, trial and execution, 10:6, 7
 venue change, 10:203
 Old-Age, Survivors, and Disability Insurance (OASDI),
 4:85, 85, 7:310–312, 311,
 9:222–227
 Old Deluder Satan Act (1647),
 4:66
 Older Americans Act (1965),
 5:220–221
 Older Workers Benefit
 Protection Act (1990), 1:161, 162
 Olney, Richard, 7:312–314, 313,
 8:182–183
 Olson, Theodore B., 5:379
 Olympic Games
 Black Power Movement, 2:252
 bribery scandal, 2:120
 U.S. Olympic Committee,
 2:120
 Olympic Park bombing (1996),
 6:302–303, 10:8
 Ombudspersons, 1:108, 7:314–
315
 Omnibus, 7:315
 Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act (1968), 3:269
 Clark, William Ramsey, 2:418
 electronic surveillance, 4:107,
 8:103–104
 McNabb-Mallory rule, 7:24
 wiretapping, 10:397
 Omnibus Trade and Competitiveness Act (1988),
 2:189
 On demand, 7:315–316
 “On Liberty” (Mill), 7:68–69
 On or about, 7:316
 On point, 7:316
On Tenures (Littleton), 6:343
 Oncale, Joseph, 9:151
 One person, one vote, 1:451,
 452, 7:316, 10:252
 O’Neill, Thomas Philip, Jr.,
7:316–318, 317
 Online auctions, 1:406, 3:147,
 5:460
 Online service providers
 copyright issues, 3:199
 liability issues, 5:455
Onus probandi, 7:318
 (OPEC) Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries, 4:143
 Open, 7:318
 Open accounts, 7:318
 Open and notorious possession,
 1:140
 Open bids, 7:318
 Open court, 7:318
 Open-end contracts, 7:318
 Open-end credit, 7:318
 Open-end mortgages, 7:318
 Open listings, 7:318
 Open shops, 7:318–319
 Opening statements, 7:319–320
 civil procedure, 2:392
 trials, 10:106
 Operating systems, 7:104
 Operation of law, 7:320
 Operation Oregon, 10:229
 Operation People United to Serve Humanity (PUSH),
 5:491–492
 Operation Rescue (pro-life group), 1:15, 8:382
 Opinion evidence, 7:320
 Opinions. See Court opinions;
 Expert testimony
 Oppression and persecution,
7:320
 asylum seekers, 1:383
 China, 3:41
 Davis, Angela Yvonne, views of, 3:348
 Native Americans, 1:481
 Quakers, 7:344–345
 of working classes, 1:272, 3:37
 Options, 4:164–165, 7:320–321,
 9:365–366
 Oral contracts, 3:140, 7:322
 Oral wills, 10:381
 Orange County (CA), 1:468–469
 Orators
 Choate, Joseph Hodges, 2:377,
 377–378
 closing arguments, 2:457
 Webster, Daniel, 10:319–321,
 320
 Ordeals, 7:322
 Order of attachment, 1:389, 390
 Order of the coif, 7:323–324
 Orders. See Court orders
 Ordinance of 1785, 4:66
 Ordinances, 7:324
 Oregon
 Death with Dignity Act
 (1994), 4:239–241, 9:394–
 395
 gay and lesbian rights, 5:49 territorial dispute, 8:19–20 working hour restrictions for
 women, 6:361
 Organ donation law, 7:324–327, 325 brain death, 3:358
 medical consent, 7:402
 Organ transplatation, 7:327–331,
 330
 Organic Foods Production Act
 (1990), 4:440
 Organic laws, 3:370, 7:331
 Organization of Afro-American
 Unity (OAAU)
 Little-Collins, Ella Lee, 6:342– 343
 Malcolm X, 6:403–404
 Organization of Petroleum
 Exporting Countries (OPEC),
 4:143
 Organizations, 4:409, 7:331
 Organized crime, 7:331–333
 Giancana, Sam, 2:227
 Kefauver investigation and Knapp Commission, 6:109–
 111 Labor-Management Reporting and Disclosure Act (1959), 6:200
 published personal account, 9:244–245
 racketeering, 3:272, 8:218–221
 Senate investigations, 7:10
 syndicates, 9:428
 Teamsters connection, 5:268–
 270, 6:124
 white-collar crime, 10:359 witness protection programs,
 8:159
See also Gangs
 Organized Crime Control Act (1970), 7:332
 abortion cases, 1:22, 25–26 enforcement agencies, 1:207
 forfeiture, 4:457
 racketeering, 3:272, 332,
 4:457–458, 8:218–221
 Original intent, 2:109–110, 5:462,
7:333–335, 8:266, 9:10–11,
 51–52
 Original jurisdiction, 7:335–336
 Original writ, 7:336
 Originalist approach to
 punishment, 4:80
 Origination fees, 7:336
 Orphan’s courts, 7:336

Osborne, Sarah, 8:442
 Ostend Manifesto (1854), 2:156, 6:453
 Ostensible, 7:336
 Oswald, Lee Harvey, 1:368, 10:291–292
Other People's Money—and How the Bankers Use It (Brandeis), 2:103
 Otis, James, Jr., 7:336–337, 337
 English law, 4:153–154
 equal protection, 4:197
 writs of assistance, 4:471–472, 10:430–431
 Otto, William Tod, 7:337–339, 338
 Out-of-court settlements, 7:339
 Outlawry, 7:339
 Output contracts, 7:339
 Output requirements, 8:320–322
 Outstanding warrants, 7:339
 Over-the-counter stock trading, 4:263, 9:352
 Overbreadth doctrine, 6:226, 7:339–340
 Overdraft (checks), 1:478, 7:340
 Overhead, 7:340
 Overreaching, 7:340
 Override, 7:340
 Overrule, 7:340
 Overt, 7:340
 Overt acts, 3:274, 7:340–341
 Overthrow of government
 anarchists, 5:97
 communists, 3:43–44
 Smith Act (1940), 5:264, 9:215–216
 See also Sedition
 Ownership, 7:341
 abstract of title, 1:36–40
 aircraft, 1:146
 allodial, 1:233
 broadcasting stations, 6:456
 communism, 3:36
 concurrent, 9:456–457
 condominiums and cooperatives, 3:72–74, 190
 copyright, 3:193
 crops, 3:303
 documents of title, 3:497
 domain, 3:502
 Domesday Book, 3:502–503
 embezzlement, 4:119
 encumbrances, 4:135
 fee simple, 4:370
 finding lost goods, 4:408
 goods shipped by sea, 1:118 homes, 1:10
 joint estate, 6:30–32
 joint tenancy, 6:34–35

legal title, 6:253
 life in being, 6:316 literary property, 6:337–339
 logging, 6:369
 lost instruments, 6:372
 marketable title, 6:432
 Native American artifacts, 7:194–195
 partition, 7:377
 party walls, 7:384
 personal property, 8:145–147
 possession vs., 8:41 products of property, 1:51
 proprietary, 8:152
 quiet title action, 8:205
 real estate, 1:140–142
 recording of land titles, 8:255–257
 registration of land titles, 8:271–272
 right of survivorship, 6:31
 rule against perpetuities, 8:416–417
 ships, 9:175
 stocks, 9:350
 timeshares, 10:38
 wait-and-see doctrine, 10:263–264
 See also Sales law
 Oyer and terminer, 7:341
 Oyez, 7:341
 Ozone layer, 1:186

P

Pacific Northwest, 4:426–427
 Pacific Railroad Act (1862), 7:343, 8:222
 Pacifism, 1:90, 7:343–347
 Packaging, trade dress, 10:66–67
 Packing, 7:347
 Pact of Paris. See Kellogg-Briand Pact (1928)
Pacta sunt servanda, 7:347
 Pacts, 7:347
 Padilla, Jose, 4:142–143
 Page, Alan Cedric, 7:347–349
 Pain and suffering damages, 3:331–332
 Paine, Robert Treat, 7:349, 349–350
 Paine, Thomas, 7:350–351, 351
 Common Sense (document), 12:83–84
 Paint, lead-based, 5:299
 Paintings at auction, 1:405
 Pairing-off, 7:351
 Pais, 7:352
 Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO), 2:418–419, 5:257 Palimony
 cohabitation, 2:474–475
 domestic partners, 3:34
 family law, 4:319
 Palm Beach County, Florida, 2:187–188
 Palm off, 7:352
 Palmer, Alexander Mitchell, 7:352, 352–353
 Palmer raids (1919–1920)
 American Civil Liberties Union, origins, 1:248
 Eastman, Crystal, 4:58
 Hoover, John Edgar, 5:290
 Red scare (1917–1920), 6:269, 8:260–261
 Pamphlets. See Leaflets and pamphlets
 Pan-Africanism
 Carmichael, Stokely, 2:251–252
 Du Bois, William Edward Burghardt, 4:36
 Pan-American Exposition (1901), 1:368
 Panama, General Noriega, 4:294, 294
 Panama Canal, 2:231, 5:449–450
 Pander, 7:354
 Pandering, 8:158
 Panels, 7:354
 Papers, 7:354
 Paperwork Reduction Act (1995), 3:167
 Par (value), 7:354, 9:350
 Parades, 5:53
 Paralegals. See Legal assistants
 Parallel citations, 7:354–355
 Paramount titles, 7:355
 Parceners, 7:355
 Pardons, 7:355–357
 amnesty distinction, 1:265–266
 boards of pardons, 2:69
 Clinton, William Jefferson, 2:452
 Confederate officers, 5:38
 Hearst, Patty, 5:238
 Iran-Contra participants, 5:480
 Nixon, Richard Milhaus, 4:448, 6:8
 presidential powers, 8:73
Parens patriae, 7:357
 children's rights, 2:368
 juvenile law, 6:97
 reformatories, 8:266
 Parent companies. See Subsidiaries and parent companies
 Parental Kidnapping Prevention Act (1973), 2:354
 Parental Kidnapping Prevention Act (1980), 4:317

- Parents, 7:357–364
 abandonment of children, 1:2–3
 adopted children, 1:122–132
 artificial insemination, 1:363– 364 child custody cases, 3:325 children with disabilities, 4:73 children's abortion rights, 1:20 children's medical treatment, 7:402–403
 cohabitation, 2:475
 consent to birth control, 2:40, 42
 descent and distribution, 3:414
 family immunity, 5:332 grandparents' rights, 4:317– 318 in loco parentis, 5:351–352
 loss of services, 6:371
 organ donation by babies, 7:327
 parentage tests, 2:360 parental kidnapping, 2:354– 355, 4:317, 6:138 parental leave, 2:349
 surrogate motherhood, 1:431–
 433, 9:409–411, 415
 termination of parental rights, 2:354, 368
 visitation rights, 10:241–242
See also Child custody
 Parents' Music Resource Center,
 2:287
Pari causa, 7:364
Pari delicto, 7:364
Pari materia, 7:364–365
 Pari-mutuel betting, 5:27–28
Pari passu, 7:365
 Parity, 7:365
 Park, Tongsun, 6:9
 Parks, Rosa, 1:448, 2:403, 7:110,
 110–111, 365–368, 366
 Parliament, English, 4:151, 153,
 156–157
 Parliamentary law, 7:368, 9:87
 Parochial schools, 8:286
 Parody, 7:368–369
 copyright issues, 3:198
 false advertising, 4:308–309
 trademark infringement, 10:72
 Parol evidence, 3:181, 7:369–370
 Parole, 7:370–372, 371
 criminal procedure, 3:285, 290
 evidence, 4:296
 ex post factor laws, 4:260
 hearings, 1:103–104 immigration exclusion, 1:220
 prisoners' rights, 8:90 probation distinction, 8:123
 right to counsel, 8:361
 victim notification, 10:220
 victims' rights, 10:221
 Parris, Elizabeth, 8:441
 Parsons, Theophilus, 7:372–373,
 373
 Part performance, 7:427
 "Partial-birth" abortions, 1:26
 Particular average loss, 7:373–
 374 Particularity requirement of
 search warrants, 4:474
 Particulars, 7:374
 Parties, 7:374–377
 adversary system, 1:138
 trials, 10:104
 Partisan trials, 8:16
 Partisanship
 American Civil Liberties
 Union, 1:249
 American Federation of Labor-Congress of Industrial Organizations,
 1:254
 Amnesty International, 1:267
 Clinton impeachment, 5:338,
 340–341
 courts, 2:189
 critical legal studies, 3:294–298
 gun control, 7:188
 Iran-Contra Affair, 5:480
 judges, 6:60–61
 Supreme Court justices, 2:327,
 330 Partitions, 7:377
 Partnerships, 7:377–383, 379–380
 articles of partnership, 1:363 business organization, 3:225
 dissolution, 10:395
 joint ventures distinction, 6:35 limited liability companies' tax treatment, 6:319–320
 single name partnerships,
 9:191–194, 192–193
 Party, 7:383–384
 Party of the first part, 7:384
 Party walls, 7:384–386
 Partying, college students, 1:200
 Pass, 7:386
 Passamaquoddy tribe, 5:28
Passim, 7:386
 Passive euthanasia, 4:236
 Passports, 2:385, 7:386, 386
 Past bad acts, 4:257
 Pat. Pend., 7:386
 Patent, 7:387
 Patent Act (1952), 7:389
 Patent ambiguity, 1:243
 Patent and Trademark Office
 (PTO), 3:10–11, 7:310, 387–
 388, 10:74
 Patent writs, 7:388
 Patents and patent law, 7:388– 397, 393
 adaptations, 1:86–87
 anticipation, 1:293–294
 applications, 7:388
 Benjamin, Park, 2:19
 collateral estoppel, 2:489
 comprise, 3:58
 Confederate symbols, 7:126
 copyright, 3:190
 counterfeiting, 3:238
 Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit, 3:248 examination, 4:261
 examiners, 4:261
 genetic engineering, 5:64
 Harding, George, 5:185–186
 infringement, 10:151
 intellectual property laws,
 5:427–428
 interference, 5:431
 land, 1:37 letters, 6:284
 licenses, 6:315
 process, 8:126
 software, 9:235
 Paternity, 7:397–399
 access, 1:51
 acknowledgment, 1:64
 affiliation proceedings, 1:151
 bastardy actions, 1:497–498
 descent and distribution, 3:414
 filiation proceedings, 4:404
 illegitimacy, 5:327
 scientific evidence, 9:34
 Paternity suits, 7:399
 Paterson, William, 7:399–401,
 400
 Paterson Plan. See New Jersey
 Plan (document)
 "The Path of the Law" (Holmes)
 (document), 12:505–517
 Patients' rights, 7:401–409, 405
 asylums, 1:386
 doctor relationship, 3:84, 5:67,
 150, 230, 392–393, 7:440– 441 health insurance, 5:227–228
 right to die, 3:358–360
 treatment, 5:224–225
 Patriotism, 10:211
 Patronage, 7:409–410
 Arthur, Chester Alan, 1:358–
 359
 Conkling, Roscoe, 3:99–100
 Democratic Party, 3:394

- diplomatic agents, 3:429
 Garfield, James Abram, 5:36–37
 Grant, Ulysses Simpson, 5:130
 Jefferson, Thomas, 5:201
 Pendleton, George Hunt, 7:417
 White, Edward Douglass, 10:360–361
 Paul, Alice Stokes, 4:198, 7:410, 410–411
 Paul Revere Life Insurance Co., 5:370
 Paupers, 7:411
 Pawn, 7:411
 Pawnbrokers, 7:411
 Payable, 7:411
 Paycheck Fairness Act (2003), 3:52
 Paychecks, 5:438
 Payees, 7:411
 Payment of debts. See Debt Payments, 7:411
 charitable trusts, 10:120
 child support, 2:362–363, 365 court awards, 8:56
 sales law, 8:445, 448–449
 time drafts, 10:34
 P.C. (Professional corporations), 7:411–412
 Peace, crimes against, 7:287
 Peace bonds, 7:412
 Peace negotiations
 Amnesty International, work of, 1:267
 Fourteen Points (Wilson) (document), 12:473–475
 Hampton Roads Peace Conference (1865), 2:225
 Kellogg-Briand Pact (1928), 6:111–112
 Livingston, Robert R., 6:352
 Treaty of Versailles (1918), 10:96–97, 97
 War of 1812, 10:279
 War of Independence, 10:281
 Wounded Knee occupation (1973), 1:257
 XYZ Affair (1796), 10:443
 Yalta Conference (1945), 10:427, 445–446
 See also Arms control and disarmament
 Peace officers, 7:412
 Peacekeeping, United Nations, 5:445–446, 10:163–164
 Pearl Harbor attack (1941), 10:426, 426
 Peckham, Rufus Wheeler, 7:412, 412–413
 Peculation, 7:413
 Pecuniary, 7:413
 Pederasty, 7:413
 Pedestrian searches, 3:282–283
 Pedophilia, 2:356–357
 Peer-to-peer networks, 3:153
 Peers, 7:413
 Peltier, Leonard, 1:257, 484, 2:420
 Pen registers, 7:413–415
 Penal, 7:415
 Penalties, 4:304, 7:415–416
 Pendent jurisdiction, 7:416
Pendente lite, 7:416
 Pendergast, Thomas J., 10:113
 Pending, 7:416
 Pendleton, George Hunt, 7:416–417, 417
 Pendleton Act (1883), 7:417
 Penitentiaries, 7:417
 See also Prisons and jails
 Penn Central Transportation Co., 6:198
 Pennsylvania
 Abortion Control Act (1982), 1:20
 Baer, George Frederick, 1:437–438
 Baldwin, Henry, 1:455
 Constitution of 1776, 7:417–419
 Dallas, Alexander James, 3:329
 Erie Railroad Co. v. Tompkins (1938), 4:202–203
 Frame of Government (document, William Penn), 12:50–51
 Fries's Rebellion (1798), 5:6–7
 Gray, William Herbert, III, 5:136–137
 Johnstown flood (1889), 6:152
 King, Edward, 6:140
 Knox, Philander Chase, 6:151–152
 Penn, William, 7:345
 Pennsylvania Abolition Society, 1:11
 privacy rights, 7:415 public school prayer laws, 1:8–9
 recovered memories, 8:258
 Shiras, George, Jr., 9:178
 Stout, Juanita Kidd, 9:363
 Strong, William, 9:374
 Whiskey Rebellion (1794), 10:353–355, 354
 Pennsylvania System of prisons, 10:273
 Penny stocks, 7:419
 Penology, 7:419
 Pension Benefit Guaranty Corp. (PBGC), 7:420
 Pensions, 5:432, 7:419–421
 elderly persons, 4:86
 Employee Benefits Security Administration, 6:169
 Employee Retirement Income Security Act (1974), 4:126, 134
 Railroad Retirement Act (1937), 8:225–226
 vesting, 10:206
 veterans, 10:209, 213
 Pent roads, 7:421
Pentagon Papers, 7:239–240, 8:85
 Penumbra, 7:421–423
 Peonage, 7:423
 People, 7:423
 People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals (PETA), 1:276–280, 280, 7:423–424
The People's Court (television program), 2:216–217 Per, 7:424
Per capita, 7:424–425, 425
Per curiam, 5:18, 7:425
Per quod, 7:425
Per se, 7:425
Per stirpes, 7:425, 425
 Percentage leases, 7:425
 Peremptory challenges, 7:425–426 call for abolition of, 6:80–82
 cognizable groups, 2:473 racially based, 4:192, 8:49
 voir dire, 10:246
 Peremptory rulings, 7:427
 Perfect, 7:427
 Performance, 7:427
 bilateral contracts, 2:28
 sales law, 8:445–446
 undertaking, 10:144
 unjust enrichment, 10:167
 Performing rights organizations (PRO), 7:146–147
 Perils, 7:427, 8:451
 Perjury, 7:427–428
 Clinton, Bill, 9:310–311
 forswear distinction, 4:463
 Hiss, Alger, 5:262
 impeachment cause, 5:339
 subornation of perjury, 9:381–382
 Perkins, Frances, 7:428–430, 429
 Perkins, Lloyd, 5:495
 Permanent injunctions, 5:399–400
 Permissive counterclaims, 7:430
 Permissive joinder, 6:29
 Permissive waste, 10:306

- Permits for rallies, 4:499
- Perot, H. Ross, 4:331, 5:381–382, 8:265
- Perpetrators, 7:430
- Perpetuating testimony, 7:430
- Perpetuation of evidence, 7:430
- Perquisites, 7:430
- Personal actions, 4:461–462, 7:431
- Personal-attack rule, 6:458
- Personal finance
- Conference on Personal Finance Law, 3:79
 - corporate fraud and, 3:214–215, 222–223
 - See also* Consumer credit
- Personal injuries, 7:431
- Association of Trial Lawyers of America, 1:377
 - avoidable consequences, 1:429
 - Defense Research Institute, 3:389
 - seat belts, 9:47
 - sports law, 9:290–291
- Personal jurisdiction, 1:308–309, 6:70–71, 73, 369–370, 7:431–432
- Personal leave, 2:497–498
- Personal managers, 4:166
- Personal Memoirs* (Grant), 5:130
- Personal property, 7:432–435
- assault and battery cases, 1:372
 - bailment, 1:444–446
 - causa mortis* gifts, 2:276
 - chattel, 2:330
 - chattel mortgages, 2:331–332
 - chose, 2:379
 - confiscate, 3:289
 - conversion, 3:186
 - copyright, 3:193
 - crops, 3:303
 - damages, 10:61
 - delivery, transfer of possession, 3:392
 - detinue, 3:424
 - distress, 3:463–464
 - estate, 4:216
 - execution, 4:267
 - fair market value, 4:304–305
 - finding lost goods, 4:407–408
 - fixtures, 4:428–429
 - future interests, 4:219–220
 - general execution, 5:58
 - gifts, 5:79–81
 - guardians and wards, 5:159
 - innkeepers' liability for, 5:401–402
 - insurance, 5:417–418
 - larceny, 6:205–207
 - partition, 7:377
 - patents, 7:388–389
 - personal actions, 7:431
 - pledges, 7:462–464
 - possession, 8:40–42
 - possessory warrants, 8:42
 - prisoners' rights, 8:93
 - property law, 8:145–147
 - quasi in rem jurisdiction, 8:198–199
 - quick assets, 8:203
 - real property as distinct from, 8:145
 - replevin, 8:306
 - requisition, 8:322
 - robbery, 8:367–368
 - royalties, 8:412–413
 - self-defense, 9:91
 - tangible vs. intangible, 8:145
 - taxable situs, 9:442–443
 - trespass, 10:99
 - trover, 10:112–113
 - trusts, 10:116
 - use taxes, 10:186–187
 - voidable title, 8:146–147
 - See also* Property law; Real estate
- Personal representatives, 7:435–436
- See also* Legal representatives
- Personal Responsibility and Work Opportunity Reconciliation Act (1996), 1:219–220, 10:334–335
- Personal service, 7:436, 9:118–119, 382–384
- Personal service agreements, 4:163–164, 9:270
- Personalty, 7:436
- Personnel Management, Office of, 7:49
- Persons, 7:430–431
- Persuasive authorities, 7:436
- Pesticides
- Environmental Protection Agency controls, 4:183, 9:243
 - poison, 8:2
 - regulation, 4:179
- Peterson, Pete, 1:243
- Peters's Reports*, 10:350–351
- Petit juries, 7:436
- Petit larceny, 7:436
- Petite* policy, 4:6
- Petitioners, 7:437
- Petitions, 7:436–437, 437
- adoption, 1:129–130, 130–131
 - First Amendment Right of, 6:356, 358–359, 7:436–437, 9:367, 368
- Petitions in bankruptcy, 1:468, 470–471, 472, 7:437
- Petitory actions, 7:437
- Petroleum industry. See Gasoline and oil
- Pets, honorary trusts, 5:285
- Petty, Joseph, 5:470–471
- Petty offenses, 7:437–438
- Pharmaceuticals, 8:171
- Pharmacists, 4:26–27
- Pheasants, hunting, 5:317
- Philadelphia lawyers, 7:438
- Philadelphia (PA)
- gun control lawsuits, 5:166–167
 - Philadelphia Laborers' District Council, 1:71–72
 - Vidal v. Girard's Executors* (1844), 10:224–225
 - Walnut Street Prison, 10:272–273, 273
- Philanthropy and community service, 1:259
- Philippines
- computer crime, 5:459
 - Spanish-American War (1898), 9:259–260
- Phillips, Howard, 3:124–125, 125
- Philosophy and philosophers
- Aristotle, 1:331–332, 3:115, 9:210
 - Bacon, Sir Francis, 1:434, 434–435
 - Engels, Friedrich, 3:37, 9:229
 - Hegel, Georg Wilhelm Friedrich, 5:240, 240–241
 - Hobbes, Thomas, 5:266–267
 - Hume, David, 5:309–310
 - James, William, 5:498–499, 499
 - Kant, Immanuel, 6:105, 105–106
 - Locke, John, 3:369–370, 6:77, 307, 362–364, 363, 7:206, 207, 8:346
 - Marx, Karl, 3:37, 9:229
 - Mill, John Stuart, 7:68–69
 - Montesquieu, Charles-Louis de Secondat, Baron de la Brède et de, 7:107–109
 - Plato, 6:212, 244
 - Rawls, John Bordley, 8:240–241, 241
 - Rousseau, Jean Jacques, 8:410–412, 411
 - Thoreau, Henry David, 10:23–25, 24
 - Unger, Roberto Mangabeira, 3:297–298
- Photo lineups, 7:438–439, 9:183
- See also* Lineups

- Photography accident scenes, 1:42
 demonstrative evidence, 3:398, 399
 mug shots, 7:448
- Physical facts, 7:439
- Physician-assisted suicide, 9:393–394
 Kevorkian, Jack, 3:359, 4:236–239, 5:284, 6:131–134, 132
 privacy, 8:98
 right to die, 7:208, 407
Vacco v. Quill (1997), 10:303–304
Washington v. Glucksberg (1997), 10:302–305
See also Euthanasia
- Physician-hospital organizations (PHO), 5:231
- Physicians and surgeons, 7:225, 439–443
 with AIDS, 1:72
 antitrust cases, 5:225–226
 drugstores, 4:27
 health insurance, 5:228–232
In re Quinlan (1976), 8:205–207
 Kevorkian, Jack, 3:359, 4:236–239, 5:284, 6:131–134, 132, 9:393–394
 Koop, Charles Everett, 1:68–69, 6:153–156, 154, 9:408–409
 medical malpractice, 5:222–224, 392–393, 6:409, 7:29–31
 Mudd, Samuel A., 1:52
 patient relationship, 3:84, 5:67, 150, 7:401–409
 pediatricians, 7:442 physician-patient privilege, 8:112 right-to-die case (1976), 3:358
 Rush, Benjamin, 8:427–428
 Sheppard, Samuel H., 9:162–164, 163
- Pickering, Timothy, 2:291–292
- Picketing, 4:500, 6:173, 7:443–444, 9:55, 373
- Pierce, Franklin, 3:318–319, 7:444–445, 445
- Piercing-the-corporate-veil theory, 6:319
- Pierrepont, Edwards, 7:445–447
- Pilgrims, alcohol use, 1:198–199
- Pilots, 7:447–448
 age discrimination, 1:161
 aircraft safety, 1:192
 Americans with Disabilities Act (1990), 3:440
 certification, 1:145, 148
 negligence, 1:146
- Pimps, 7:448
- Pinckney, Charles, 10:443
- Pine Ridge Reservation, 1:256–257, 483
- Pinkerton, Allan, 7:448–450, 449
- Pinkerton agents, 7:448, 448
- Pinkney, William, 7:450–452, 451
- Pinochet, Augusto, 4:294
- Piracy and Counterfeiting Amendments Act (1982), 3:197
- Piracy (intellectual property), 3:151–154, 7:453 music files, 1:87, 3:153–154, 197, 203–204, 5:425, 427, 7:147–148
 software, 3:200, 7:452, 9:236
- Piracy (maritime law), 7:452–453
- Pitney, Mahlon, 7:453–454, 454
- Pizza Time Theater (company), 1:282
- P.J. (presiding judge), 7:454
- Place restrictions. See Time, place, and manner restrictions
- Placement of child adoptees, 1:127–128
- Plagiarism, 1:264–265, 7:454–456
- Plain-error rule, 7:456
- Plain-meaning rule, 7:456
- Plain statement rule, 4:366
- Plain view doctrine, 7:456
- Plaintiff in error, 7:456
- Plaintiffs, 7:456
 civil procedure, 2:391–392
 last clear chance, 6:207–208
 standing, 6:92–93
- Planned communities, 6:186, 9:101
- Planned Parenthood Federation of America
 birth control, 2:40
 Sanger, Margaret Higgins, 8:458–459
 Wattleton, Alyce Faye, 10:314–316
- Plant patents, 7:391
- Plato
 law and literature, 6:212
 legal realism, 6:244
- Plats, 1:37, 7:456
- Playboy Entertainment Group, 2:211
- Playpens, recall of, 3:150
- Plea bargaining, 7:457–461
 admissions and, 1:120
 criminal procedure, 3:288
 lesser included offenses, 6:271–272
- prosecutors, 8:153–154
 state's evidence, 9:324–325
- Pleading, 7:461–462
 admissions and, 1:120
 alternative relief, 1:241 code, 2:469–470
 common count, 3:30
 common law, 3:31, 35
 common pleas, 3:35–36
 criminal procedure, 3:288
 cross-claims, 3:303
 cross-complaints, 3:303–304
 demurrer, 3:400–401
 no contest, 7:257
nolo contendere, 7:258
non vult contendere, 7:258–259
 preliminary hearings, 8:63
 rebutter, 8:248
 recital, 8:252
 rejoinder, 8:279
 replication, 8:306
 reply, 8:306
 responsive, 8:336
 revival of an action, 8:344–345
 traverse, 10:87
 ultimate facts, 10:139–140
 “What Shall Be Done with the Practice of the Courts?” (Field) (document), 12:500–502
- Pleas, 7:456–457
- Pleas in abatement, 7:461
- Pleas in bar, 7:461
- Pledge of Allegiance. See Flag saluting
- Pledges, 7:462–464, 463, 9:64
- Plessy, Homer Adolph, 7:464
- Plimsoll marks. See Load lines
- Pluralism, 5:424
- Plurality, 3:252, 7:465
- Poaching, 8:1
- Pocket parts, 8:1
- Pocket vetoes, 10:213–214
- Poindexter, John, 5:478–479
- Point-of-service (POS) plans, 5:231
- Points, 8:1–2
- Poison pill, 8:2–3
- Poisons, 8:2
 assisted suicide drugs, 3:359
Hardingham v. United Counseling Service of Bennington County (1995), 5:115
 Lead-Based Paint Abatement, Office of, 5:299 tainted pain relievers case, 9:189
- Poland, World War II, 7:289

- Police, 8:3–5
 See also Law enforcement officers
- Police and guards, private, 8:5–6
- Police corruption and misconduct, 2:411, 3:284–286, 6:110–111, 8:6–10
- Police power, government, 8:10
 building codes, 2:162
 cemetery regulation, 2:282–283
 club regulation, 2:458
 Hipolite Egg Co. v. United States (1911), 7:18
 Kennedy, Anthony McLeod, 6:117–118
 Mann Act (1910), 6:416–417, 420
 municipal corporations, 7:139
 state health and welfare laws, 6:360–362
 states' rights, 2:275
 sterilization, forced, 2:160
 substantive due process, 4:38
 See also Tenth Amendment
- Policy, 8:10
 Brookings Institute, 2:134
 executive orders, 4:272, 274
- Polio vaccines, 5:333
- Political action committees (PAC), 8:11–13
 campaign financing, 4:89, 344
 GOPAC, 5:91
 judges' campaigns, 6:60
- Political activities
 Hatch Act (1939), 5:201–202
 judges, 2:468
- Political broadcasts, 6:457
- Political campaign laws, 8:13–14
- Political cartoons
 Crédit Mobilier scandal (1864–1873), 3:267
 gerrymandering, 5:73
 Monroe Doctrine, 7:105
 parody speech protection, 7:368
 Roosevelt, Theodore, 1:299
- Political crimes, 8:14
- Political criminology, 3:293–294
- Political economics, 10:318–319
- Political factions
 Federalist, Number 10 (document), 12:126–129
- Political parties conventions, 4:91, 94–96, 8:319*t* fundraising (1992–1998), 4:344
 primaries, 4:94–96
 public funding of presidential campaigns, 4:91–92
- See also individual parties by name*
- Political party affiliation, 8:318
- Political patronage. See Patronage
- Political philosophy and theory
 anarchism, 1:272
 communism, 3:36–42, 46
 Davis, Angela Yvonne, 3:348
 fascism, 7:149
 federalism, 3:118–120, 123
 Godwin, William, 1:272–273
 Green Party, 5:139
 Hamilton, Alexander, 5:178–180
 libertarianism, 6:305–306, 307
 Locke, John, 6:362–364
 Marx, Karl Heinrich, 6:450–451
 Mill, John Stuart, 7:68–69
 New Party, 7:236
 Paine, Thomas, 7:351
 Second Treatise on Government (document), 12:16–44
 socialism, 9:229–232
- Political prisoners, 1:267–269
- Political questions, 8:14–16
 Baker v. Carr (1962), 1:450–451, 5:72
 Powell v. McCormack (1969), 8:48 state governments and republicanism, 8:316
- Political trials, 8:16–17
- Politicians
 Altgeld, John P., 3:338
 Barnett, Ross, 7:42
 Buchanan, Patrick Joseph, 2:156–157, 157, 5:382, 8:265, 265
 Dole, Sanford Ballard, 3:501–502, 502
 Douglas, Helen Gahagan, 7:251
 Ford, James W., 3:45
 Foster, William Z., 3:45
 Hall, Gus, 3:46
 Hiss, Alger, 5:261–263, 262
 Kelly, Sharon Pratt Dixon, 6:113–115
 LaDuke, Winona, 5:140
 leadership PACs, 8:11
 Phillips, Howard, 3:124–125, 125
 Ridge, Tom, 5:277
 Spitzer, Eliot, 9:79
 Stanford, Amasa Leland, 9:301–303
- Stevenson, Adlai Ewing, 9:344–345, 345
- Stratton, Hal, 3:150
- Sullivan, L.B., 7:238
- Walker, David M., 5:57
- Wallace, George, 5:382
- Polk, James Knox, 2:292, 8:17–20, 18
- Poll taxes, 8:20
 Twenty-fourth Amendment, 10:133
 voting, 10:251
- Pollack, Milton, 8:20–22, 21
- Pollak, Walter Heilprin, 8:22–23
- Pollard, Jonathan, 4:212
- Polling the jury, 8:23
- Pollock, Frederick, 8:23–24
- Polls, 8:25
- Pollution, 8:25–26
 Love Canal toxic waste incident (1970s), 9:242
 mining industry, 7:76–77 noise, 4:176
 nuisance, 4:171–173
 See also Air pollution; Solid wastes, hazardous substances, and toxic pollutants; Water pollution
- Polygamy, 6:435, 7:117–118, 8:26–28, 9:141–142
- Polygraphs, 4:253, 8:28–29
- Ponzi, Charles, 8:30, 30
- Ponzi schemes, 8:29–31
- Popular name tables, 8:31, 32*t
- Popular sovereignty
 Douglas, Stephen Arnold, 4:8–9
 “A House Divided” speech (document), 12:305–306
- Population
 apportionment issues, 1:318–321, 450, 3:121
 census, 2:292–297
 incarcerated, 5:358
 U.S. population by race and region (2000), 2:293
- Populism, 3:393–394
- Pornography, 8:31, 33–36
 cable television, 2:130, 211
 censorship, 2:286–287
 child pornography, 2:359–360
 Citizens for Decency Through Law, 2:387–388
 determining, 4:414–415
 Dworkin, Andrea, 4:48–49, 50–51
 Internet, 2:290–291, 5:452–453, 452–454
 MacKinnon, Catharine Alice, 6:383–384

- Mann Act (1910), 6:416–417
 Meese, Edwin, III, 7:35
Miller v. California (1973), 7:72–73
 movie ratings, 7:134–135
 obscenity distinction, 7:296 opposition to censorship, 3:408
 privacy, 8:98, 100
 prostitution and, 8:158 radical feminism, 4:375, 6:383–384
 sex offenses, 9:142
 virtual depictions of child pornography, 2:359–360
 X ratings, 10:442
See also Censorship; Child pornography; Obscenity Pornography Victims' Compensation Act (proposed), 4:51
 Porter family, Salem (MA), 8:441–443
 Porters, 1:34–35
 Ports and Waterways Safety Act (1972), 1:119
 Portsmouth Naval Shipyard, 2:89
 Positive evidence, 8:36
 Positive laws, 8:36–37
 Positivism, 8:37
See also Legal positivism
 Posner, Richard Allen, 8:37–40, 38
 antitrust cases, 1:301
 Chicago School, 2:341
 economic analysis of law, 10:190
 legal realism, 6:76
 Posner, Victor, 8:21
Posse comitatus, 8:40, 9:165
 Posse Comitatus Act (1878), 8:40
 Possession, 8:40–42
 drug, 4:29–31
 embezzlement, 4:119
 personal property, 7:432–433, 462–463, 8:145
 quiet title action, 8:205
 real property, 8:149
 receiving stolen property, 8:250
 trespass, 10:100, 101
 weapons, 10:318
 writ of entry, 10:430
 Possessory actions, 8:42
 Possessory warrants, 8:42
 Post-enumeration surveys (PES), 2:294, 295
Post mortem, 8:42
 Post-secondary Education Office, 4:65
 Postal Service, U.S., 10:179–180
 Comstock Law (1873), 3:68
 employee political activities, 5:202
 mail cover, 6:396
 Postconviction remedies, 8:42–43
 Postdate, 2:335, 8:43
 Posthumous children, 8:43
 Posting, 8:43
 Postmarital agreements, 8:43–44
 Posttrial motions, 10:109
 Pound, Roscoe, 8:44–46, 45
 “The Causes of Popular Dissatisfaction with the Administration of Justice” (document), 12:529–538 judicial administration, 6:50 legal reform, 6:76
 “Mechanical Jurisprudence” (document), 12:521–528 sociological jurisprudence, 12:494
 Pounds, animal, 1:278–279
 Pour-over, 8:46
 Poverty and the poor
 Addams, Jane, 1:88–90
 Center for Law and Education, 2:299
 Center for Law and Social Policy, 2:299
 Center on Social Welfare Policy and Law, 2:300 children living in, 2:367*t*
 Children's Defense Fund, 2:366–367
 Darrow, Clarence, 3:338–339
 gleaning, 5:102–103
 Health and Human Services, Department of, 5:221
 homeless persons, 5:278–280
 housing assistance, 5:298–299
 legal aid, 6:234, 250, 251, 251–252
 man-in-the-house rule, 6:411–412
 Medicaid, 2:302, 7:26–29, 10:336
 Perkins, Frances, 7:428–429
 soup kitchens, 7:233
 Supplemental Security Income, 10:334–336
 Powell, Adam Clayton, Jr., 8:46–48, 47
 Powell, Colin, 1:347, 3:429, 9:59, 59
 Powell, Lewis Franklin, Jr., 8:48–49, 49
 discrimination, sex, 4:199
 Frontiero v. Richardson (1973), 5:8–9
Regents of the University of California v. Bakke (1978), 8:270
Wygant v. Jackson Board of Education (1986), 10:439
 Power, 8:52
 administrative agencies, 8:164–165 authority distinction, 4:471
 Power administrations, 4:147
 Power of attorney, 8:52–54, 53–54
 cohabitating couples, 2:475–476
 elder law, 4:85
 patients' rights, 7:406–407
 proctors, 8:127
 revocation, 8:345
See also Mandate
 Power of sale, 8:55
 Power of termination, 8:55, 356–357
 Powers, J.D., 3:113
 Practice, 8:55
 Practice of law, 8:55–56
 automation and management, 8:227
 bar associations, 1:485 history of bar examinations, 1:486
 publication, 8:174
 unauthorized practice, 10:141–142
Praecepte, 8:56
 Pragmatism, legal, 6:76, 246
 Pratt, Elmer, 2:463
 Prayer, 8:56
 Abington School District v. Schempp (1963), 2:417
 competing liberty interests, 6:308
 Engel v. Vitale (1962), 4:148–151, 8:286
 Lee v. Weisman (1992), 6:227–228
 public schools, 1:8–10
 Santa Fe Independent School District v. Doe (2000), 8:287
 Wallace v. Jaffree (1985), 10:271–272
 Washington D.C. public school, 8:289
 Preambles, 8:56
 Precatory language, 8:56–57
 Precedent, 8:57–58
 and analogy, 1:272
 common law, 3:31
 Constitutional law, 3:128
 contract conditions, 3:178

- English law precedent for U.S. law, 6:125–126
- Harlan, John Marshall II, 5:191
- KeyCite*[™], 6:134–135
- mandatory authority, 6:416
- “Mechanical Jurisprudence” (Pound) (document), 12:521–528
- “The Path of the Law” (Holmes) (document), 12:505–517
- stare decisis*, 4:402
- test cases, 10:11–12
- See also Stare decisis*
- Precepts, 8:58
- Precincts, 8:58
- Preclinical drug trials, 4:440
- Preclusion orders, 8:58, 59–60
- Preemption, 3:3, 8:58, 60–61, 133
- Preemptive rights, 8:61
- Preferences, 8:61
- Preferred provider organizations, 5:227, 230–231
- Preferred stock, 8:61–62
- Pregnancy
- artificial insemination, 1:363–364
 - death of fetus, 5:392–393
 - drug use, 4:387
 - fetal rights, 4:386–389
 - harm to unborn children, 2:347
 - surrogate mothers, 9:409–411
 - trimesters and abortion rights, 1:16–17, 8:383, 384
 - unpaid leave, 5:3, 9:134–135
 - wrongful, 7:442–443
- Pregnancy Discrimination Act (1978), 9:134
- Prejudice and bias, 2:24, 8:62
- adversary system, 1:138
 - dismissals, 3:456, 457
 - judicial administration, 6:50
 - Law School Admission Test, 6:217
- Prelaw education, 8:62
- Preliminary hearings, 8:62–63
- appearances, 1:308, 309
 - criminal procedure, 3:284–283
 - self-incrimination, privilege against, 8:112
- Preliminary injunctions, 5:398–399, 8:63–65, 64, 9:455
- Premarital agreements, 8:65–67, 66
- descent and distribution, 3:415
 - divorce settlements, 3:480
 - property, 5:320
- Premeditate, 8:67
- Premises rule, 10:421
- Premiums, 8:67
- Prenuptial agreements. See Premarital agreements
- Preponderance of evidence, 8:67–68
- burden of persuasion, 2:165
 - civil litigation, 8:246
 - juvenile justice, 10:396–397
- Prerogative, 8:68
- Prerogative writs, 8:68
- Prescription, 8:68
- adverse possession, 1:139
 - highways, 5:252–253
- Prescription Drug User Fee Act (1992), 4:441, 442
- Prescriptions. See Medications
- Present, 8:68
- Presentence investigation, 8:69
- Presentment, 8:69
- Presents, 8:69
- President John F. Kennedy
- Assassination Records Collection Act (1992), 6:122, 10:292
- President of the United States, 8:69–71
- attorneys general, 1:395*t*–396*t*
 - cabinet, 2:209
 - censure, 2:292
 - checks and balances, 4:269
 - chronology, 12:553*t*
 - disability of, 10:131–132
 - District of Columbia residents’ voting rights, 10:135–136
 - executive privilege, 4:276–278
 - federal budget process, 4:327–328
 - impeachable offenses, 6:17
 - inauguration date, 6:184–185
 - nominations to the Supreme Court, 12:554*t*–12:555*t*
 - official seal, 8:70
 - reorganization plans, 8:300–303
 - replacing in case of vacancies, 10:130–132
 - selection of, 10:129
 - succession, 10:130
 - terms, 10:130, 133–134
 - veto power, 6:259, 10:213–215
 - war powers, 10:274
- See also* Executive Branch
- Presidential Election Campaign Fund Act, 4:91
- Presidential election of 2000, 9:224
- absentee voting, 1:33
- Bush, George Walker, 2:181–182, 183–184
- Bush v. Gore* (2000), 2:118, 185–189, 5:96, 9:344
- Democratic Party, 3:395, 395
- disfranchisement, 3:23, 455
- electors, 4:99
- Gore, Albert Arnold, Jr., 5:116, 118
- independent party candidates, 5:139, 140, 382
- partisanship, 6:61
- preventative injunction, 5:399
- Republican Party, 8:319–320
- Social Security campaign issue, 9:224, 228
- Presidential elections. See Election campaigns; Elections
- Presidential powers, 8:71–74
- treaty negotiation and ratification, 10:95
- Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. v. Sawyer* (1952), 10:450–452
- Presidents’ Committee on Administrative Management, 1:113–114
- Presley, Elvis, 10:72
- Press, freedom of the, 4:503–505
- antipornography ordinances, 4:50
 - contempt, 3:156–157
 - First Amendment protection, 4:416–417
 - gag orders, 5:24
 - journalistic privilege, 4:254–255
 - malice, 6:405
 - Near v. Minnesota* (1931), 7:215–217
 - New York Times Co. v. Sullivan* (1964), 6:299–304, 7:238–239
 - New York Times Co. v. Sullivan* (1964) (documents), 11:353–495
 - New York Times Co. v. United States* (1971), 7:239–241
 - prior restraint, 8:78, 85–86
 - shield laws, 9:172–174
 - Texas Beef Group v. Winfrey* (2000), 6:304–305
- Presumed consent system, 7:329, 330
- Presumption, 8:74–75
- Presumption of innocence, 8:75, 10:148
- Pretermitted heirs, 8:75–76
- Pretrial activities
- continuance, 3:163
 - counsel, right to, 6:460

- courts-martial, 3:245
 depositions, 3:404–405
 detention in jails, 5:496
 discovery of facts, 1:119–120, 3:447–449 federal magistrates, 1:113
 incarceration, 5:356–357
 interrogatories, 5:463
 motions, 8:77, 10:103
 multidistrict litigation, 7:137–138
 preliminary matters, 10:103
 Self-Incrimination Clause, 4:401–402
 service of process, 9:118–121
 speedy trial, right of, 9:195–196, 274
 submission of controversy, 9:381
 subpoenas, 9:384
 summons, 9:396–398
 Pretrial conferences, 2:394, 8:76–78
 Pretrial publicity, 8:78–79
 gag orders, 5:23–24
 grand juries, 5:126
 prior restraint, 8:85–86
 Sheppard, Samuel, case, 1:442, 9:162–163 use of media, 9:156
 Pretrial Services Act (1982), 1:112
 Prevailing parties, 8:79
 Preventive detention, 8:79–81
 Preventive injunctions, 5:399
 Preventive justice, 3:371
 Price-Anderson Act (1957), 4:102
 Prices and price fixing, 8:81
 antitrust cases, 1:301, 7:103
 Butler, Pierce, 2:198
 cable television, 2:210
 consumer credit, 3:142
 energy, 4:147
 fair-trade laws, 4:305
 health insurance, 5:227
 options, 7:321
 Robinson-Patman Act (1936), 8:372–375
 Sherman Anti-Trust Act (1889), 9:167–168
 tax sales, 9:442
 telecommunications industry, 9:449
 time-price differentials, 10:38
 upset price, 10:171
 Priests, child abuse by, 2:347–348, 358, 438, 9:149–150
Prima facie, 8:82–83
 Primaries. See Elections, primaries
 Primary authority, 8:83
 Primary evidence, 8:83
 See also Best evidence
 Primary liability, 6:298
 Primary line injuries, 8:373
 Primates research, 1:276, 279
 Prime lending rate, 8:83
 Primitive societies, 10:170
 Primogeniture, 8:83
 Princeton University, 3:232–233
 Principal, 4:297–298, 8:84
 Principal and surety, 8:84
 Principles, 6:246, 8:84
Printer's Ink (journal), 4:307
 Printers ink statutes, 8:84
 Printing
 Government Printing Office, 5:120–121
 imprimatur, 5:350
 See also Publishing
 Prior appropriation riparian rights, 4:173–174
 water rights, 1:323, 10:310
 Prior case law. See Precedent
 Prior convictions as evidence, 4:257, 10:107
 Prior inconsistent statements, 8:85
 Prior restraint, 8:85–86
 First Amendment cases, 3:133 free exercise of religion, 8:290
 free speech, 4:501–502
 freedom of the press, 4:416, 417, 504–505
 Near v. Minnesota (1931), 7:216–217
 New York Times Co. v. United States (1971), 7:239–241
 pretrial publicity, 8:78
 Priority, patents, 7:395–396
 Prison Litigation Reform Act (1995), 2:400, 3:104, 8:96–97
 Prisoners of war and missing in action (POW-MIA)
 Defense, Department of, 3:387 enemy combatants vs., 8:423
 McCain, John Sidney, 7:1–2
 rules of war, 8:423–424
 Prisoners' rights, 8:89–91, 92–97
 asylums, 1:386
 Attica Prison Riot (1971), 8:87, 88
 civil rights, 2:400
 conditions and treatment, 5:496
 Free Exercise Clause, 8:292 mail censorship, 2:285–286
 necessity defense, 7:219–220
 parties to lawsuits, 7:375
 voting, 1:32–33
 Prisons and jails, 5:494–497, 495, 8:86–92
 Alabama, 9:254
 Alcatraz, 1:255–256
 Auburn System, 10:273
 breach, 4:206
 Charles Street Jail, Boston, 5:356
 corporal punishment, 3:211–212, 212
 cruel and unusual punishment, 3:304, 9:343 death row, 5:19
 habeas corpus, 5:170–171
 jailhouse lawyers, 5:497–498, 8:94
 Limestone Correctional facility (AL), 3:305 management immunity, 5:331, 9:62 overcrowding, 2:155
 Pennsylvania System, 10:273 population of, 1:439, 10:29–30
 Prison Litigation Reform Act (1995), 8:96–97
 protective custody, 8:159
 reform, 3:48, 104, 312, 482–483
 rescue, 8:329–330
 Rikers Island jails, 5:359
 Soledad (CA), 3:347–348
 trusties, 10:124
 Walnut Street Prison, 10:272–273, 273
 See also Detention and incarceration
 Privacy, 8:97–107
 abortion, 1:16, 7:249–250, 8:311–312
 Blackmun, Harry Andrew, 2:58
 defamation, 3:379–380
 Douglas, William Orville, 4:12
 e-mail, 4:114–115
 electronic surveillance, 4:108, 266
 employment law, 4:132–133
 Fourteenth Amendment, 4:470
 freedom of intimate association, 4:495 government information practices, 8:107–108
 Griswold v. Connecticut (1965), 5:150, 320, 7:335, 360, 423, 8:311, 9:390
 In re Quinlan (1976), 8:206
 Lawrence v. Texas (2003) (documents), 11:163–254 as liberty rights, 6:308–309
 mail cover, 6:396
 marital privacy, 2:40

- natural law, 7:208
- patients' rights, 7:408
- pen registers, 7:414–415
- political association, 1:46
- prisoners' rights, 8:93
- publicity rights distinct from privacy rights, 10:77
- publishing law, 8:176, 177–178
- reasonable expectation of, 4:472–473
- Roe v. Wade*, 8:381–385
- sex offenders, 9:140–141
- sexual behavior, 5:46, 9:144, 234, 391
- students, 4:69, 9:28–29
- substantive due process, 4:39
- warrantless searches, 10:10–11
- Warren, Earl, 10:296
- Warren Court rulings, 10:294
- wireless phone conversations, 4:417
- wiretapping, 2:104–105
- women's reproductive rights, 10:412
- Privacy Act (1974), 8:102, 107–108
- Private, 8:108
- Private actors as state actors, 4:470
- Private adoptions, 1:128
- Private attorney general, 8:108
- Private bills, 8:108–109
- Private clubs, 2:458–461
- Private colleges and universities, 2:498, 500, 10:122–124, 319
- Private detectives, 3:420, 7:448, 449–450
- Private election campaign funding, 4:90–91
- Private franchises, 4:477–479
- Private international law, 8:109
- Private investigation
 - credit reporting bureaus, 3:143
 - firms, 8:5
 - work product rule, 10:418
- Private law, 8:109, 172
- Private militias, 7:67, 9:50–51
- Private nuisances, 4:170–171, 6:188, 7:283
- Private party licenses, 6:315
- Private police. See Police and guards, private
- Private property
 - eminent domain, 4:122–126, 403
 - executive branch power to seize, 10:450–451
 - expropriation, 4:287–289
 - public forum doctrine, 4:500
 - public property as distinct from, 8:145
 - vandalism, 10:197
 - wartime requisition of, 10:275
- Private roads, 8:109–110
- Private trusts, 2:319, 10:116–117
- Private wrongs, 10:432
- Privateers, 8:110
- Privatization
 - prisons and jails, 5:495
 - Social Security accounts, 9:225
- Privileged communications, 8:112–113
 - confidential communications, 3:84
 - discovery, 3:447–448
 - evidence, 4:255–257
 - fair comment, 4:301
 - journalists, 9:172–173
 - marital, 6:430–431
 - ombudspersons, 7:315
 - testimony of spouses, 5:321
 - witnesses, 10:406–407
 - See also* Attorney-client privilege
- Privileges, 8:110
- Privileges and Immunities
 - Clauses, 8:113–115
 - Bingham, John Armor, 2:37
 - citizens' protection, 2:383
 - civil rights application, 2:396
 - freedom of the press, 4:504
 - right to bear arms, 9:50
 - select rights protection, 2:325
 - Slaughter-House Cases* (1873), 4:398, 470, 7:71, 8:254, 9:202–203
 - See also* Fourteenth Amendment
- Privy, 8:115
 - adverse possession, 1:141
 - MacPherson v. Buick Motor Co.* (1916), 6:385
 - product liability, 8:128–129
- Privy, 8:115
- Privy Council, 2:484, 8:115–116
- Prize, 8:116
- Prize courts, 8:116
- Prize law, 8:116
- Pro, 8:117
- Pro bono, 8:117
 - advocacy of American Bar Association, 1:247
 - Brandeis, Louis Dembitz, 2:103
 - legal aid, 6:234
 - legal representation, 6:249–250
 - professional responsibility, 8:136
- Pro-choice movement
 - demonstrations and protests, 1:17
 - McCorvey, Norma, 8:382
 - NARAL Pro-Choice America, 7:163
 - political position of, 1:14
 - Roe v. Wade* as a compromise, 8:385
 - Wattleton, Alyce Faye, 10:314–316
 - Weddington, Sarah Ragle, 10:323–324
- Pro forma, 8:117
- Pro hac vice*, 8:117
- Pro-life movement
 - demonstrations and protests, 1:22, 23–26, 25, 6:163
 - eight-foot protest buffer, 8:86, 310
 - Koop, Charles Everett, 6:155
 - McCorvey, Norma, 8:382
 - National Right to Life Committee, 7:188–189
 - overturning Roe, 1:17
 - political position of, 1:14
 - protests, 1:22–23
 - Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations Act, 8:221
 - Web site speech protection, 4:500
- Pro rata*, 8:117
- Pro se*, 8:117
- Pro tanto*, 8:117–118
- Pro tem*, 8:118
- Probable cause, 8:118–119
 - arrest warrants, 1:353
 - complaints, 3:55
 - criminal procedure, 2:276
 - false arrest, 4:311
 - Fourth Amendment, 4:474
 - grand jury determination, 4:403–404
 - malicious prosecution, 6:405, 407
 - preliminary hearings, 8:63
 - search and seizure, 1:352–353, 9:40
 - stop and frisk, 9:358–359
 - warrants, 10:285
- Probate, 8:119–123
 - estates, 4:216
 - executors and administrators, 4:279
 - letters of administration, 6:274, 275–283
 - order denying, 8:121
 - right of survivorship, 6:31
 - special courts, 9:261

- Uniform Probate Code, 10:160
- Probation, 8:123–125
 adoption cases, 1:131–132
 alternative sentences, 5:497
 criminal procedure, 3:289
 curfew, 3:314
 juvenile justice system, 6:99–100
 origins, 1:407–408
 right to counsel, 8:361
 searches, 4:475–476
 suspended sentences, 9:417
- Probation Division, Administrative Office of the United States Courts, 1:112
- Probationers, 8:125
- Probative, 1:42, 8:125
- Procedural due process, 4:402
- Procedural fairness, 8:67
- Procedural law, 2:390, 8:125
- Procedure, 8:126
 actions, 1:78
 adjournment, 1:95
 adjudication, 1:96–97
 adjudicative facts, 1:97
 allegations, 1:230
 alternative dispute resolution,
 1:238–240
 amicus curiae, 1:262–263
 arguments, 1:331
 attachment, 1:390
 bankruptcy cases, 1:469–472
 “The Causes of Popular Dissatisfaction with the Administration of Justice” (Pound) (document), 12:529–538
 closing arguments, 2:456–457
 common-law pleading, 3:35
 compromise and settlement, 3:58–59
 conclusion of law, 3:70
 continuance, 3:160, 163–164
 court commissioners, 3:244
 courts-martial, 3:244–245
 day certain, 3:351
 determination, 3:423
 dilatory pleas, 3:428
 dilatory tactics, 3:427–428
 directed verdicts, 3:433
 Doe, Charles, innovations of, 3:498
 error, 4:203–204
 ex parte, 4:258
 exception, 4:261–262 exhibit, 4:282
 fair hearing, 4:302
 federal vs. state courts, 1:92 formal, 1:109
 gag orders, 5:23–24
 Glanvil, Ranulf, influence of,
 5:98–99
 hearing examiners, 5:233–234
 hearings, 5:232–233
 hearsay, 5:234–237
 Hoffman, Walter Edward,
 innovations of, 5:271–272
 House of Representatives,
 U.S., 1:85
 informal, 1:108–109
 injunctions, 5:398–400
 interlocutory, 5:435–436
 irregularities, 5:484
 Judicial Conference of the United States, 6:51–52
 juvenile law, 5:44–45
 Maris, Albert Branson, 6:430
 matters of law, 6:463–464
 mediation, 1:238
 minitrials, 7:80–81
 mistrials, 7:92
 moot courts, 7:114
 motions, 7:128–130
 movant, 7:133–134
 nature of adversary system, 1:137
 Nuremberg trials (1945–1949),
 7:286–287
 objections, 7:294 opening statements, 7:319–320
 parties, 7:374–377
 pleading, 7:461–462
 referees, 8:263–264
 revival of an action, 8:344–345
 rules, 8:416
 scientific evidence, 9:32–34
 self-incrimination, privilege against, 9:93–94
 service of process, 9:118–121
 special masters, 9:263–264
 stays, 9:337–338
 stipulations, 9:349–350
 submission of controversy, 9:381
 summary process, 9:396
 summons, 9:396–398
 terms and sessions, 3:243
 virtual state court, 3:242
 voting, 10:253–254
See also Administrative law and procedures; Appeals
- Proceedings, 8:126
- Proceeds, 8:126
- Process, 8:126
- Process servers, 8:126
- Proclamations, 8:70, 126
- Proctor, John and Elizabeth, 8:442
- Proctor and Gamble, 3:218
- Proctors, 8:126–127
- Procuracy, 8:127
- Procure, 8:127
- Produce, 8:127
- Producing cause. See Proximate cause
- Product disparagement, 4:308
- Product liability, 8:127–133
 automobiles, 1:422–423
 breast implants, 1:469, 10:58– 59
 Cardozo, Benjamin Nathan,
 2:244–245
 Consumer Product Safety
 Commission, 3:148
 defects, 3:382, 382
MacPherson v. Buick Motor Co.
 (1916), 6:385
 malfeasance, 6:404–405
 strict liability, 9:370
 tort law, 10:60
 vaccine manufacturers, 5:333–
 334
See also Consumer protection
- Product recalls. See Recalls
- Production Code (movie industry), 5:214–215
- Profanity, 3:271, 8:133
- Professio juris, 8:133
- Professional Air Traffic
 Controllers Organization
 (PATCO) strike (1981), 1:189
- Professional education. See
 Continuing legal education
- Professional limited liability
 partnerships, 6:321
- Professional organizations
 American Bankers Association,
 1:246
 American Farm Bureau
 Federation, 1:252–253
 American Federation of Labor-Congress of Industrial Organizations,
 1:253–254
 American Judicature Society,
 5:314, 315
 American Law Institute, 2:472,
 3:207, 4:46, 233, 7:98
 American Medical Association,
 1:259–260, 4:232, 386, 387
 American Society of Criminology, 3:292
 architecture, 5:85
 Association of American Law
 Schools, 2:257
 Association of Trial Lawyers of America, 1:377
 bar associations, 1:484–486
 Christian Legal Society, 2:380– 381 codes of ethics, 4:232

- Commercial Law League of America, 3:15
- Computer Law Association, 3:66–67
- Consular Law Society, 3:141
- Council of American Building Officials, 2:162
- Decalogue Society of Lawyers, 3:366–367
- Federal Bar Association, 4:327
- Law Society (England), 9:239
- Motion Picture Association of America, 7:134–135, 10:441–442
- National Association of Black Social Workers, 1:124
- National Association of Broadcasters, 2:286, 7:166–167
- National Association of Legal Assistants, 6:235
- National Association of Manufacturers, 7:167–168
- National Association of Realtors, 7:168–169
- National Association of Theater Owners, 10:441–442
- National Education Association, 7:173, 437
- National Federation of Paralegal Associations, 6:235
- Selden Society, 9:87–88
- Software Publisher's Association, 3:152
- See also* American Bar Association (ABA)
- Professional responsibility, 8:133–137
- boards, 6:249, 250
- competency, 5:369
- health care professionals, 7:29–30, 440
- injunctions, 5:399
- negligence, 7:222–227
- residency requirements, 8:333
- unauthorized practice, 10:141–142
- Professional sports
- baseball, 1:493–497, 495, 496
- sports law, 9:282–284, 287–290
- Professors
- academic freedom, 1:44–48
- Ames, James Barr, 1:260–261, 261
- Bell, Derrick Albert, Jr., 2:7, 7–10
- Bigelow, Melville Madison, 2:27
- Cohen, Felix Solomon, 2:477
- Cohen, Morris Raphael, 2:477–478
- Corwin, Edward Samuel, 3:232–233
- Cox, Archibald, 3:258–260, 259, 5:377–378
- Davis, Angela Yvonne, 3:345–348, 346
- Dershowitz, Alan, 1:41, 3:407–410, 408
- free speech, 2:504–505
- Freund, Ernst, 4:506–507
- Gray, John Chipman, 5:133–134
- Greenberg, Jack, 5:141–142
- Hagelin, John S., 7:210, 210–211
- Hill, Anita Faye, 5:257–258
- Houston, Charles Hamilton, 5:300, 300–301
- Jeffries, Leonard, 1:47–48
- Langdell, Christopher Columbus, 6:202–203
- Levi, Edward Hirsch, 6:293, 293–294
- Llewellyn, Karl Nickerson, 6:353–355
- MacKinnon, Catharine Alice, 6:383–385, 384
- Mentschikoff, Soia, 7:40
- Mussey, Ellen Spencer, 7:148–149
- Pollock, Frederick, 8:24
- Pound, Roscoe, 8:44–46
- Rawls, John, 8:240–241
- Schlesinger, Rudolf Berthold, 9:16–17
- Sweezy, Paul M., 1:45–46
- Weinstein, Jack Bertrand, 10:326–327
- Williston, Samuel, 10:387–388
- Wythe, George, 10:439–440
- Proffer, 8:137
- Profit, 8:137–138
- realized, 8:245
- Son of Sam laws, 10:220–221
- Profit a prendre, 8:138
- Programming, computer, 3:63–64
- Progressive Party, 8:138–139
- La Follette, Robert Marion, 6:168
- Roosevelt, Theodore and, 8:399–400
- Progressive taxes, 8:139
- estate and gift taxes, 4:226
- regressive taxes vs., 8:272
- Progressivism
- Carrington, Edward Codrington, 2:256–257
- Clarke John Hessin, 2:420–421, 422
- Harmon, Judson, 5:194
- juvenile courts, 6:97–98
- La Follette, Robert Marion, 6:167–168
- legislation, 4:38–39
- Prohibition Party, 8:141–142
- prostitution, 8:156
- Prohibition, 1:203–204, 8:139–141
- Eighteenth Amendment, 4:77–78
- Federal Bureau of Investigation, 4:331–332
- Hoover, Herbert, policies, 5:288
- Ness, Eliot, 1:207
- Prohibition Party, 8:141–142
- repeal of, 10:132–133
- Temperance Movement, 9:454
- Volstead, Andrew John, 10:246–248
- Volstead Act (1919), 8:140, 10:246
- Wickersham Commission, 10:371–372
- Prohibition, writ of, 8:142, 143, 10:429
- Prohibition Party, 8:140, 141–142
- Promise, 8:142
- Promissory estoppel, 3:174, 4:227, 8:142, 144
- Promissory notes, 1:49, 5:411, 8:144
- bills of credit, 2:35
- bills of exchange, 2:29
- commercial paper, 3:15–16
- debentures, 3:363
- judgment notes, 6:47
- liability, 3:19
- See also* Credit and loans
- Promoters, 3:216–217, 8:144
- Promulgate, 8:144
- Proof, 8:144
- cases in chief, 2:267
- chain of custody, 2:315–316
- collateral estoppel, 2:489
- criminal forfeiture proceedings, 4:457
- discrimination, racial and ethnic, 4:193
- doubt, 4:7–8
- escape, 4:206
- false advertising, 4:307
- fraud, 4:487
- loyalty boards, 2:486
- malicious prosecution, 6:406–407
- See also* Burden of proof
- Proper, 8:144–145
- Proper care, 8:144

- Proper parties, 8:144
 Property law, 8:145–150
 abandonment, 1:2
 accession to products of, 1:51
 accumulation trust, 1:63
 ademption, 1:92
 after-acquired property
 clauses, 1:159–160
 alienable, 1:213
 alienation clauses, 1:213
 ancillary administration, 1:275
 apportionment, 1:318
 arson, 1:354, 354–355
 assets, 1:373–374
 assignment, 1:374
 assignment for benefit of creditors, 1:374–376
 assigns, 1:376
 asylums, 1:384–385
 attachment, 1:388–390, 9:165
 attorney's liens, 1:403
 auctions, 1:404
 automobile searches, 1:413
 auxiliary administration, 1:428
 bankruptcy cases, 1:466–467
 beneficial associations, 2:15
 beneficial use, 2:16 capital assets, 2:237 cemetery plots, 2:284
 cestui que, 2:311
 charitable trusts, 10:120
 Charles River Bridge v. Warren Bridge, 2:321
 clear title, 2:433
 clouds on titles, 2:457–458 collateral (secured transactions), 9:65–67
 color of title, 2:509
 common lands, 3:30 community, 3:48
 confiscate, 3:84, 289
 confusion of goods, 3:87
 constructive trusts, 3:138–141
 corpses, 3:227
 corruption of blood, 3:232
 creditor's bill, 3:268
 criminal forfeiture, 3:273 damage, 1:77 declaration of trust, 3:370
 deeds of trust, 3:375–379
 demise, 3:392
 depreciation, 3:406–407
 diplomatic immunity, 3:432
 discretionary trusts, 3:452
 disinterment rights, 3:229
 dispossession, 3:461
 distrain, 3:463
 divorce cases, 3:473, 479
 domain, 3:502
 dominant, 3:506 dominion, 3:506
 embezzlement, 4:118–120
 eminent domain, 4:123–126
 encumbrances, 4:135
 enhancement, 4:161
 equitable liens, 4:201–202
 escheat, 4:206–208
 false pretenses, 4:312–314
 ferae naturae, 4:380
 forced sale, 4:446
 forfeiture, 4:456–459
 future acquired property, 5:20
 future interests, 5:21
 garnishment, 5:39–40
 Gifts to Minors Act (1956),
 5:81
 grants, 5:128–129
 hereditaments, 5:247
 Hobbs Act (1994), 1:25
 holding, 5:273
 hotchpot, 5:294
 husbands and wives, 5:319– 320, 9:132–133
 hypothecate, 5:322
 incident of ownership, 5:361
 in rem, 5:354
 insurance, 1:91
 intangibles, 5:420
 interlocutory orders, 5:436
 interpleader, 5:460–461
 intra-church disputes, 8:292– 293 inventory, 5:472
 invitations, 5:472–473
 joint estate, 6:30–32
 joint tenancy, 6:34–35
 judicial sale, 6:59
 just compensation, 6:86
 leases, 6:223–226
 legal title, 6:253
 levy, 6:294–295
 limitations, 6:317
 market value, 6:432 married women, 4:316
 mechanic's lien, 7:26
 negligence, 7:224–225
 nuisances, 7:282–285
 particular average loss, 7:373– 374 partnerships, 7:381
 party walls, 7:384–385
 petitory actions, 7:437
 power of appointment, 1:317– 318 public domain, 8:169
 ratable, 8:238
 receivers, 8:249–250
 receivership, 8:250
 resulting trusts, 8:342
 right of survivorship, 8:357
 rule against perpetuities,
 8:416–417
 second-look doctrine, 9:53–54
 seizure, 1:1, 30, 3:115, 9:86
 self-defense, 9:90–91
 sequestration, 9:115
 servitude, 9:121
 severance, 9:132
 social stability, 2:172
 spendthrift trusts, 9:278
 straight-line depreciation, 9:366
 taxes, 1:40, 81, 497, 3:433, 7:67–68, 9:260, 443
 title, 10:40
 tracing, 10:66
 unlawful detainer, 10:169–170
 usurpation, 10:187
 value, 10:193–194
 vandalism, 10:197
 vest, 10:206
 wait-and-see doctrine, 10:263– 264 weather disasters, 3:442
 Westminster, Second Statute of, 10:347
 women's ownership rights,
 4:316, 8:65, 10:410
 worthier title doctrine, 10:427
 See also Estates; Ownership; Personal property; Real estate; Sales law
 Property rights, 8:150
 Property settlements, 8:150–152
 Proponents, 8:152
 Proportional reinsurance, 8:277
 Proportionality of punishment
 cocaine possession, 8:186
 Eighth Amendment, 4:78–79,
 81
 English law, 4:156
 Magna Charta, 6:394
 three strikes laws, 10:27–31
 Weems v. United States (1910),
 8:186
 See also Sentencing
 Proportionate taxes, 8:272
The Proposed Codification of Our Common Law (Carter), 2:260
 Propositions, 4:96
 Propound, 8:152
 Proprietary, 8:152
 Prorate, 8:152
 Prorogation, 8:152
 Prosecute, 8:152
 Prosecution and prosecutors, 8:152–155
 adultery, 1:133–134

- campaign law violations, 8:13–14
- Clark, Marcia Rachel, 2:413, 413–415
- criminal procedure, 3:285
- grand juries, 5:124–125
- immunity, 5:330–331, 9:61–62
- immunity for witnesses, 5:332
- malicious, 6:408
- plea bargaining, 7:458–460
- pretrial motions, 8:77
- probable cause, 8:118–119
- professional responsibility, 8:135–136
- quo warranto, 8:209
- selective prosecution, 8:187, 9:88
- sentencing, 9:105, 107
- sex offenses, 9:143
- state's evidence, 9:324–325
- war crimes, 8:422
- Prosecutorial Remedies and Other Tools to End the Exploitation of Children Today Act (2003), 2:358, 6:139
- Prospectus, 8:155
- Prostitution, 8:155–158
 - arrests, 8:155
 - legalization, 1:235
 - Mann Act (1910), 6:416–417
 - pander, 7:354
 - pimps, 7:448
 - state laws, 3:271
 - undercover officers, 9:239
- Protease inhibitors, 1:75
- Protective custody, 8:158–159
- Protective orders, 8:160, 9:296
- Protectorate, 8:160
- Protest, 8:160
 - See also* Demonstrations and protests; Nonviolent protests
- The Protestant Ethic and the Spirit of Capitalism* (Weber), 10:318–319
- Protestantism, 7:344
- Prothonotary, 8:160
- Protocol, 8:160, 9:319
- Protocol I, Geneva Conventions, 8:309
- Providence Construction Co., 9:367
- Provinces, 8:160
- Provisional, 8:160
- Provisional remedies, 8:295
- Proviso, 8:160
- Provocation, 6:422, 8:160–161
- Proxies, 8:161, 162–163
 - medical treatment, 3:360
 - proctors, 8:127
 - shareholder voting, 3:219, 225, 9:70–71, 77
- Proximate cause, 2:277, 7:225–226, 8:161, 10:60–61
- Proxmire, William, 6:303
- Prudent person rule, 8:161
- Psychiatric examinations, 8:360
- Psychiatrists
 - Ellsberg, Daniel, 7:93–94
 - insanity defense cases, 5:407
 - Rush, Benjamin, 8:428
 - See also* Therapy
- Psychology, forensic, 4:454–455
- Psychopaths and sociopaths. See Antisocial personality disorder
- Public, 8:161
- Public accommodations
 - Americans with Disabilities Act (1990), 3:438
 - Boy Scouts excluded as place of, 4:494–495
 - Civil Rights Act (1964) (document), 12:362–383
 - clubs, 2:460–461
 - racial discrimination, 5:189, 7:256, 464–465, 9:85
- Public administrative bodies, 8:164–166
- Public assistance programs. See Welfare
- Public broadcasting, 2:129, 6:458
- Public buildings
 - aesthetics, 1:357–358
 - Architect of the Capitol, 1:330
 - Architectural Barriers Act (1968), 3:436
 - asylums, 1:384–385
 - Gilbert, Cass, 5:84–86
 - smoking bans, 9:409
 - use by homeless, 5:278, 7:21
- Public carriers, 2:255
- Public charge, 2:318
- Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 9:2
- Public Company Accounting Reform and Investor Protection Act (2002). See Sarbanes-Oxley Act (2002)
- Public contracts, 8:166–169
 - affirmative action, 1:153, 7:303, 9:277
 - disabled employees, 3:434–435
 - environmental impact statements, 7:174
 - General Accounting Office, 5:56–57
 - minimum wage, 7:79–80
 - publishing notice of, 8:175
 - qui tam actions, 8:202–203
- Small Business Administration, 9:212
- Public corporations
 - accounting standards, 5:63
 - annual reports, 1:281–282
 - going public, 5:104
 - shares, 3:216
- Public Debt, Bureau of the, 10:93
- Public defenders, 8:169
 - federal, 1:113
 - Foltz Public Defender bill, 4:438–439
 - immunity, 9:62
 - married to other attorneys, 1:401
- Public domain, 8:169
- Public figures, 8:169
 - false-light publicity, 8:101
 - libel and slander, 6:299–303
 - malice, 6:405
- Public forums
 - assembly, 1:372–373
 - speech, freedom of, 4:498–500
 - time, place and manner restrictions, 10:36
- Public funding of presidential campaigns, 4:91–92
- Public health
 - immunization programs, 3:333–336
 - Koop, Charles Everett, 6:153–156
 - Public Health Service, 8:169–172
 - Surgeons General, 9:406–407, 408–409
 - tobacco regulation, 10:43–48
- Public Health Cigarette Smoking Act (1969), 10:46
- Public Health Service, U.S., 8:169–172, 10:126–127
- Public Health Service Act (1970), Title X, 1:19
- Public housing. See Houses and housing, public
- Public interest, 8:172
- Public lands, 8:172
 - common lands, 3:30
 - dedications, 3:371–372
 - grants, 5:129
 - highways, 5:253
 - Interior, Department of the, 5:432–435
 - land grants, 6:185
 - land-use control, 6:190–191, 192
 - mine and mineral law, 7:76
 - Roosevelt, Theodore, 8:399
- Public law, 8:172
- Public libraries, 1:252

- Public meetings, sunshine laws, 9:400
- Public nuisances, 4:170–171, 6:188–189, 7:283
- Public offerings (securities), 8:172–173, 9:69, 76
- Public officials
- abdication, 1:4–5
 - abuse of power, 1:42
 - age requirements, 1:166–167
 - aldermen or alderwomen, 1:209
 - assassinations, 1:367–369
 - bribery, 2:119
 - conservators of the peace, 3:105
 - constables, 3:114–115
 - counties, 3:239
 - court administrators, 3:243–244
 - defamation, 3:379–380, 7:238–239
 - discretion in decision making, 3:449–452
 - disfranchisement, 3:454
 - district and prosecuting attorneys, 3:464–465
 - extortion, 4:289, 290
 - false-light publicity, 8:101
 - graft, 5:122
 - grand jury documents, 5:124
 - high crimes and misdemeanors, 5:251–252
 - immunity, 5:330–332
 - impeachment, 5:336–341
 - independent counsel investigations, 5:377
 - medical examiners, 7:29
 - merit system, 7:48
 - officers, 7:309
 - ombudspersons, 7:314–315
 - quid pro quo*, 8:204
 - quo warranto, 8:209
 - register of deeds, 8:271
 - registrars, 8:271
 - residency requirements, 8:332
 - Section 1983, 9:60
 - selectmen or selectwomen, 9:89
 - Tenure of Office Act (1867), 9:462–463
- See also* Corruption
- Public opinion
- administrative agencies, 1:108
 - affirmative action, 1:154
 - AIDS, 1:70
 - animal research, 1:278–279
 - capital punishment, 3:306–307
 - communis error facit jus, 3:36
 - corporate scandals, 3:225–226
 - gay and lesbian rights, 5:49, 52
 - moral relativism, 7:116
 - racial profiling, 8:217
 - work of Amnesty International, 1:267–269
- Public policy, 4:128, 8:173
- Public proclamations, 4:62
- Public prosecutors. See Prosecution and prosecutors
- Public records
- deeds, 3:373
 - hearsay, 5:236
 - land title, 8:255–257
 - privacy, 8:100
 - publishing law, 8:179
 - of record, 7:305
 - register, 8:270
 - registration, 8:271
 - Torrens title system, 8:271–272
- Public representation of marriage, 3:33
- Public revenues, 8:344
- Public safety
- conservators of the peace, 3:105
 - curfews, 3:314
 - disorderly houses, 3:458
 - free speech exceptions, 5:203
 - highways and roads, 5:254–255, 344
 - loitering and disorderly conduct, 3:271, 5:32–33
 - Megan's Laws, 7:36–38
 - municipal corporations, 7:139
 - sex offender registration, 9:140–141
- Public schools. See Schools and school districts
- Public trials, 10:103
- Public trusts. See Charitable trusts
- Public use, eminent domain, 4:124–125
- Public utilities, 8:173–174
- adequate service, 1:92
 - electric, 4:101–104, 103
 - gas (natural), 5:43–44
- Public Utilities Regulatory Policies Act, 4:102
- Public works. See Building projects
- Public Works Administration (PWA), 7:183
- Public wrongs, 10:432
- Publication, 8:174
- Publication of banns, 6:436
- Publicity and public relations
- Allred, Gloria, 1:234–236
 - American Civil Liberties Union, 1:250–251
 - American Indian Movement, 1:254, 256
 - annual reports, 1:281–282
 - false-light, 8:100–101
 - intellectual property laws, 5:429
 - private information, 8:100
 - publicity rights, 8:176, 10:76–77
 - secondary boycotts, 9:55
 - settlements, 9:123
- See also* Pretrial publicity
- Publish, 8:174–175
- Publishing
- adult books, 7:72–73, 296–297
 - by American Association of Retired Persons, 1:245
 - by American Medical Association, 1:260
 - annual reports, 1:281
 - copyright, 3:191, 191–200, 5:96
 - First Amendment cases, 3:133
 - Fries's Rebellion (1798), 5:6
 - music, 7:146–148
 - Pentagon Papers*, 7:239–240
 - Son of Sam laws, 9:244–245
- See also* Legal publishing; Printing
- Publishing law, 8:175–179
- entertainment industry, 4:166
 - Zenger, John Peter, 10:453–454
- See also* Copyright; Legal publishing
- Puerto Rico, 8:76, 179–181
- Puffing, 8:181
- Pullman, George M., 8:182–183
- Pullman Co. (Railroad Commission of Texas v. Pullman Co.), 1:34–35
- Pullman (IL), 8:182, 183
- Pullman Strike (1894), 8:182–183
- Cleveland, Stephen Grover, 2:440
 - Darrow, Clarence Seward, 3:339
 - Debs, Eugene, 3:363–364
 - Olney, Richard, 7:312–313
- Punishment, 8:183–187
- Bentham, Jeremy, 2:20–21
 - burglary, 2:171
 - corporal, 3:210–212
 - courts-martial, 3:246
 - criminology, 3:291
 - detention as, 8:80
 - driving while intoxicated, 4:48–49, 7:127–128
 - drug offenders, 4:29–31
 - embezzlement, 4:120

- ex post facto laws, 4:260–261
 - extortion, 4:291
 - finances as used to cover cost of, 4:410
 - hate crimes, 5:202–203, 204–205
 - imprisonment as primary punishment, 8:86
 - insanity defense, 5:406–407
 - just desserts, 6:86
 - kidnapping, 6:137
 - larceny, 6:206
 - Magna Charta, 4:156
 - mail fraud, 6:397
 - manslaughter, 6:424
 - Megan's Laws, 7:37–38
 - non-judicial military, 10:155, 156
 - nonpayment of fines, 4:410
 - originalist approach, 4:80
 - plea bargaining, 7:459, 460
 - pretrial detainees, 5:496
 - prisoners' rights, 8:95–96
 - proportionality, 4:78–79, 81, 156
 - Racketeer Influenced and Corruption Organizations Act (1970), 8:218–219
 - receiving stolen property, 8:250–251
 - standards of decency test, 4:79–80
 - theories, 10:180
 - three strikes laws, 4:81, 10:27–31
 - treason, 10:89
 - U.S. colonies, 5:355
 - white-collar crime, 10:359
 - Wilson, James Quinn, 10:392–393
 - Punitive damages, 3:333, 8:187–191
 - Americans with Disabilities Act (1990), 3:440
 - assault and battery cases, 1:372
 - vs. compensatory damages, 3:53
 - double jeopardy, 4:3
 - excessive damages, 9:343
 - fraud, 4:488–489
 - intent of, 8:183
 - maximum amounts, 8:132
 - Section 1983 cases, 9:62
 - terms of art, 10:1–2
 - tort law, 10:61
 - wrongful death, 10:435
 - Purchase, 8:191
 - Purchase money mortgages, 8:191
 - Purchase money resulting trusts, 8:342
 - Purchase orders, 8:191
 - Purchasers, bona fide, 2:74
 - Purdue University, 5:249
 - Pure Food and Drug Act (1906), 4:28, 6:419–420, 8:191, 9:191
 - Pure speech, 8:191–192
 - Purge, 8:192
 - Purport, 8:192
 - Pursuant, 8:192
 - Purview, 8:192
 - (PUSH) Operation People United to Serve Humanity, 5:491–492
 - Put, 8:192
 - Putative, 8:192
 - Putnam family, Salem (MA), 8:441–4:443
 - Putzel, Henry, Jr., 8:192–193, 193
 - Pyramid schemes, 2:316, 8:29–31
- Q
- Qua*, 8:195
 - Quakers
 - imprisonment alternative to capital punishment, 8:86
 - pacifism, 7:344–345, 346
 - Walnut Street Prison, 10:272–273
 - Qualification, 8:195
 - Qualified acceptance, 8:195
 - Qualified endorsements, 3:19
 - Qualified immunity, 4:81, 5:330–331, 6:55, 9:62
 - Quality circles, 6:174–175, 177
 - Quality Medical Consultants, Inc., 7:33
 - Quantum meruit*, 8:195–196, 198
 - Quantum valebant*, 8:196
 - Quare*, 8:197
 - Quartering of soldiers. See Third Amendment
 - Quash, 8:197
 - Quasi*, 8:197
 - Quasi contracts, 8:197–198
 - Quasi in rem jurisdiction, 1:310, 8:198–199
 - Quasi-judicial, 8:199–200
 - Quasi-legislative, 8:200
 - Quayle, Dan, 2:180–181
 - Queen's Bench. See King's Bench or Queen's Bench
 - Questions of fact, 4:297, 8:200–201
 - Questions of law, 8:201–202
 - amicable actions, 1:262
 - cases agreed on, 2:266–267
 - cases stated, 2:269
 - fact, 4:297
 - first impression, 4:419
 - judgment notwithstanding the verdict, 6:48
 - precedent, 8:57–58
 - questions of fact vs., 8:200–201
 - Qui tam actions, 8:202–203
 - Quick assets, 8:203
 - Quid pro quo*, 8:203–204
 - Quiet enjoyment, 6:195–196, 8:204–205
 - Quiet title action, 8:205
 - Quincy, Josiah, 2:457
 - Quinlan, Karen Ann
 - Quinlan, Joseph and Julia, parents, 8:206
 - right-to-die case (1976), 3:358, 8:205–207
 - Quit, 8:207
 - Quitclaim deeds, 3:375, 8:207, 208
 - Quiz shows, 3:108
 - Quo animo*, 8:209
 - Quo warranto*, 8:209, 10:429
 - Quorum, 8:209
 - board meetings, 3:220
 - shareholders' meetings, 3:218–219
 - Quotations, 8:176
- R
- Race issues
 - affirmative action, 1:154–157
 - apportionment, 9:159–160
 - capital punishment, 3:294
 - Carter, Rubin "Hurricane," case, 5:170
 - critical race theory, 3:296–297
 - Davis, Angela Yvonne, 3:345–348
 - descendants of slaves
 - reparations, 9:207
 - environmental racism, 4:181–182
 - genocide, 5:69–70
 - hate crimes, 5:202–207
 - Higginbotham, Aloysius Leon, Jr., 5:250
 - impartial juries, 9:197
 - interracial marriage, 6:435
 - miscegenation, 7:85, 9:416
 - public school enrollment, 9:19
 - punishment, disparities in, 8:187
 - restrictive covenants, 8:341
 - separatism, 7:166
 - Simpson, O.J., case (1995), 9:187–188
 - Thomas, Clarence,
 - confirmation hearings, 9:153

- transracial adoption, 1:124, 127
See also Discrimination, racial and ethnic
- Race-notice recording statutes, 8:256
- Race recording statutes, 8:255–256
- Racial profiling, 8:213–217, 216
- Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations (RICO). See Organized Crime Control Act (1970)
- Racketeering, 8:218–221
 Kennedy, Robert Francis, investigations by, 6:124
 Labor-Management Reporting and Disclosure Act (1959), 6:200 laws used in abortion cases, 1:22, 25–26
 organized crime, 3:272, 332
- Radical Republicans
 civil rights, 8:211
 Reconstruction era, 8:253–254, 317
- Radicalism
 American Indian Movement, 1:255
 anti-communist investigations, 3:38–39
 anti-semitism, 1:295
 Black Panther Party for Self-Defense, 7:241–242
 Chicago Eight, 2:338–340, 5:83
 Cleaver, Leroy Eldridge, 2:435
 Communist Party, U.S., 3:45
 FBI investigations, 5:291
 feminism, 4:375
 Freeman of Montana, 9:51
 Goldman, Emma, 5:108
 Haymarket Square riot (1886), 5:212
 Industrial Workers of the World, 5:391
 People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals, 1:277–278, 280, 7:423–424 private militias, 7:67
 same-sex marriage, 5:52
 Symbionese Liberation Army, 3:279–280, 5:237–238
- Radio broadcasting industry, 2:124–127, 9:450
 censorship, 2:286–287 election candidates, 3:125
 fairness doctrine, 4:306
 FCC regulatory functions, 6:454–455
 Helms, Jesse, broadcaster, 5:242
 licensing, 6:455–458
 National Association of Broadcasters, 7:166–167
Seven Dirty Words case (1977), 9:434–435
 Voice of America, 10:177
- Radio Act (1927), 2:124, 4:306
- Raeder, Erich, 7:290–291
- Rahman, Shiek Omar Abdel, 9:82
- Railroad Retirement Act (1937), 8:225–226
- Railroad Retirement Act (1974), 8:226
- Railroad Revitalization and Regulatory Reform Act (1976), 8:224
- Railroads and trains, 8:222–225
 Baer, George Frederick, 1:437–438
 Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, 8:228–229
 commerce regulation, 3:3, 5:463, 466, 467–468, 7:103
 Commuter rail system, Los Angeles, 3:484
 corruption, 5:194
 Crédit Mobilier scandal (1864–1873), 3:267
Erie Railroad Co. v. Tompkins (1938), 4:202–203
 Federal Railroad Administration, 10:83
 Fourteenth Amendment cases, 3:100
 Freedom Rides (1960s), 1:449
 McKenna, Joseph, 7:17–18
 National Mediation Board, 7:184–185
 Pacific Railroad Act (1862), 7:343
Palsgraf v. Long Island Railroad Company (1928), 7:353–354
 Pullman Strike (1894), 2:440, 3:339, 363–364, 7:312–313, 8:182–183
Railroad Commission of Texas v. Pullman Co. (1941), 1:34–35
 right of way, 8:357, 358
 Stanford, Amasa Leland, 9:302–303
 street railroads, 9:368
- Rainbow/PUSH Coalition, 5:492
- Rallies, permits for, 4:499
- Ramo, Roberta Cooper, 8:226–228, 227
- Ramona, Gary, 8:258, 258, 9:148–149
- Ramones, Reomel, 5:459
- Rampart scandal, 8:8–9
- Randolph, Asa Philip, 8:228, 228–229
- Randolph, Edmund Jennings, 1:396–397, 6:89, 8:229–231, 230
- Randolph Plan. See Virginia Plan
- Rankin, Jeannette, 8:231, 231–232
- Rantoul, Robert, Jr., 8:232–234
- Rape. See Sex offenses and offenders; Sexual assault and rape
- Rape shield laws, 9:145, 174
- Rappelyea, George, 1:249
- Ratable, 8:238
- Rate, 8:239
- Ratification, 8:239
 Constitution, U.S., 3:118–120, 121, 7:108
 Constitutional amendments, 3:126–127
 contracts, 3:169
 documents, 2:232
 Equal Rights Amendment, 9:15, 135
 treaties, 5:306–307
 Twenty-seventh Amendment, 10:135
- Rating systems motion pictures, 2:286, 7:134–135, 10:441–442
 television, 2:287, 6:458
- Ratio decidendi*, 8:239
- Rational basis test, 8:239–240
 equal protection, 4:192
 gender discrimination cases, 5:8
 sex discrimination cases, 10:411
 state interest, 9:320
- Rattling the Cage: Toward Legal Rights for Animals* (Wise), 1:279
- Ravishment, 8:240
See also Sexual assault and rape
- Rawls, John Bordley, 8:240–241, 241
- Re*, 8:241
- Reading Room, Library of Congress, 6:310
- Reagan, Ronald Wilson, 5:436, 8:241–244, 242, 9:440
 air traffic controllers' strike (1981), 1:189, 4:325 appointment of ambassadors, 3:302 appointment of judges, 5:94

- arms control and disarmament, 1:345, 5:436–437
- assassination attempt, 5:407, 9:34
- energy policy, 4:144
- fairness doctrine, 4:306–307
- First Inaugural Address (document), 12:484–487
- independent counsel investigations, 5:379
- Iran-Contra Affair, 3:111, 5:476–480, 7:190
- Meese, Edwin, Attorney General, 7:34
- O'Neill, Thomas Philip, and, 7:317
- overturning Roe, 1:17
- Republican Party, 8:318–319
- SALT II treaty (1979), 1:292
- Smith, William, Attorney General, 9:220
- territorial waters limit, 10:4
- welfare policy, 10:335
- Real, 8:245
- Real actions, 4:461, 8:245
- Real estate, 8:245
 - abstract of title, 1:36–40
 - abutment, 1:43
 - access, 1:50
 - accretion, 1:62
 - adaptation, 1:87
 - ademption, 1:92
 - adjacent, 1:93
 - adjoining landowners, 1:93–95
 - adverse possession, 1:139–142
 - agency, 1:168
 - agents, 4:303–304, 8:245
 - air space rights, 1:145
 - alienate, 1:213
 - ancient lights, 1:274
 - annexation, 1:280
 - appraisers, 1:322
 - appurtenance, 1:323
 - assault and battery cases, 1:371–372
 - assumption, 1:378
 - avulsion, 1:430
 - base fees, 1:494
 - binders, 2:36
 - blockbusting, 2:64
 - brokers, 2:132–134
 - certificates of occupancy, 2:308
 - chain of title, 2:316
 - charters, 2:321
 - closing, 2:454–456
 - collateral warranties, 2:489
 - concurrent estates, 4:219, 8:148–149
 - condemnation, 3:71
 - condominiums and cooperatives, 8:149
 - conforming use, 3:85
 - conveyance, 3:186
 - covenants, 3:254–255, 7:69–70
 - crops, 3:303
 - curtilage, 3:316
 - damages, 10:61
 - declarations, 3:368
 - dedications, 3:371–372
 - deeds, 3:372–375
 - delivery, transfer of possession, 3:392
 - development, 7:116
 - drainage districts, 4:18
 - easements, 4:55–56, 8:149
 - ejectment, 4:83–84, 446
 - eminent domain, 4:402–403
 - enfeoffment, 4:148
 - entail, 4:163
 - enter, 4:163
 - entirety, 4:169
 - entry, 4:170
 - equitable conversion, 4:201
 - equitable servitude, 4:202
 - equity in property, 4:202
 - equity of redemption, 4:202
 - escalator clauses, 4:205–206
 - escheat, 4:206–207
 - estate for years, 4:218
 - estates, 4:216–220, 8:147–149
 - examination, 4:261
 - extension, 4:289
 - Fair Housing Act (1968), 4:302–304
 - fair market value, 4:304–305
 - fee, 4:370
 - fee simple, 4:370
 - fee simple absolute, 4:216
 - fee simple determinable, 4:216
 - fee simple subject to a condition subsequent, 4:216
 - fee tail, 4:217, 370
 - fences, 4:376–377
 - feoffment, 4:379
 - feudalism, 4:391–393
 - fixtures, 4:428–429
 - Fletcher v. Peck*, 4:435–436
 - forcible entry and detainer, 4:446–447
 - forfeiture, 4:457
 - forms of action, 4:461
 - fraud, 4:487–488
 - fraud and deceit standards, 2:132–133
 - freehold, 4:505
 - future interests, 4:219–220, 8:149
 - gratuitous licensees, 5:131
 - ground rent, 5:153–154
 - habendum clauses, 5:174
 - Harvard Law School, 5:134
 - houses sold (1980–1999), 2:455
 - improvements, 5:350
 - incorporeal interests, 4:220, 8:149
 - inquiry notice, 7:272
 - joint tenancy, 4:219, 8:357
 - land-use control, 6:185–192
 - lateral support, 6:208–209
 - law day, 6:213
 - lease agreements, 6:224, 225
 - leasehold, 6:226
 - liens, 6:315–316
 - life estates, 4:217–218
 - liquidated damages, 6:333
 - lis pendens*, 6:335
 - listing, 6:335
 - littoral rights, 6:343
 - lots, 6:372
 - manors, 6:420
 - marketable title, 6:432
 - mixed actions, 7:96–97
 - monuments, 7:111
 - moratorium on development, 4:124
 - nonconforming use, 7:259–260
 - nonfreehold estates, 4:218–219, 8:148
 - partition, 7:377
 - personal jurisdiction, 6:71
 - personal property as distinct from, 8:145
 - planned communities, 6:186
 - possession, 8:149
 - power of sale, 8:55
 - power of termination, 8:55
 - prescription, 8:68
 - profit a prendre, 8:138
 - promissory estoppel, 8:144
 - property law, 8:147–150
 - quasi in rem jurisdiction, 1:310, 8:198–199
 - quiet enjoyment, 8:204–205
 - quiet title action, 8:205
 - quitclaim deeds, 8:207, 208
 - reconveyance, 8:255
 - records of deeds, 8:271
 - recording of land titles, 8:255–257
 - redemption, 8:261
 - registration of land titles, 8:271–272
 - remainders, 8:149, 293–294
 - restrictive covenants, 8:340–341
 - reversion, 8:344
 - reverter, possibility of, 8:344
 - right of reentry, 8:356–357

- rule in Shelley's Case, 8:417–418
- running with the land, 8:427
- setbacks, 9:122
- specialty estates, 8:149
- statute of frauds, 9:330–331
- statute of uses, 9:333–334
- steering, 9:338
- tax sales, 9:441–442
- tenancy, 9:456
- tenancy at sufferance, 4:219
- tenancy at will, 4:219
- tenancy by the entirety, 4:219
- tenancy in common, 4:219
- timeshares, 10:38
- title insurance, 10:40–41
- title registration, 8:271–272
- title searches, 10:41
- Torrens title system, 8:271–272, 10:56
- trespass to try title, 10:102
- unities, 10:166
- use, 10:186
- vacate, 10:191
- variances, 10:199–200
- vendee, 10:201
- vendors, 10:201
- vendors and purchasers, 10:201–202
- warranties, 10:287–288
- warranty deeds, 10:289–290
- waste, 10:305–306
- whiteacres, 10:364
- words of purchase, 10:417
- worthier title doctrine, 10:427
- writ of entry, 10:430
- zoning, 10:456–458
- Real estate agents
 - National Association of Realtors, 7:168–169
 - open listings, 7:318
 - settlement statements, 9:124
 - straw men, 9:368
- Real Estate Settlement Procedure Act (1974), 2:456, 8:245, 9:124
- Real evidence, 8:245
- Real property. See Real estate
- Realism. See Legal realism
- Reality television, 3:253
- Realized, 8:245
- Realpolitik* (policy theory), 6:145
- Reapportionment. See Apportionment
- Reasonable, 8:246
 - care, 2:247, 5:401
 - contract law, 3:206
 - deadly force, 3:355
 - disabilities accommodations, 3:437–440
 - natural gas rates, 5:44
 - negligence, 7:221–223
 - of nuisance claim, 7:284
 - search and seizure, 5:294, 9:39–40
 - use, 6:195–196, 10:310, 311
- Reasonable doubt, 3:286, 8:246
- Reasonable force, 4:445, 8:246–247
- Reasonable man rule. See Prudent person rule
- Reasonable person, 8:247
 - gender bias, 4:374–375
 - provocation for manslaughter, 6:422
- Reasonable time, 8:247
- Reasonable woman, 8:247–248
- Reasoning
 - The Age of Reason* (Paine), 7:351
 - Aristotle, 1:331
 - Bacon, Sir Francis, 1:434–435
 - Hegel, Georg Wilhelm Friedrich, 5:240–241
 - insanity defense, 3:277
 - Kant, Immanuel, 6:105–106
 - Langdell, Christopher Columbus, 6:75
 - See also* Deductive reasoning; Inductive reasoning
- Rebates, 8:248
- Rebellions. See Revolutions; Riots, conflicts, and rebellions
- Rebus sic stantibus*, 8:248
- Rebut, 8:248
- Rebuttable presumptions, 8:248
- Rebuttals, 10:107
- Rebutter, 8:248
- Recalls, 8:248
 - automobiles, 1:420
 - playpens, 3:150
- Recaption, 8:248–249
- Receipt, 8:249
- Receivers, 8:249–250
- Receivership, 8:250
- Receiving stolen property, 8:250–251
- Recess, 8:251
- Recidivism, 8:251–252
 - child molestation, 2:357
 - driving while intoxicated, 4:48–49
 - juvenile sex offenders, 6:101
 - sex offenders, 7:36–38, 9:140–141, 146
 - three strikes laws, 4:81, 10:27–31, 28–30
 - trying juveniles as adults, 6:96
- Reciprocal, 8:252
 - admission to the bar, 1:122
 - judicial comity, 3:2
- Recital, 8:252
- Reckless, Walter C., 3:293
- Recklessness, 8:252
 - driving, 3:184
 - involuntary manslaughter, 6:423
- Recoding of warranty deeds, 10:289–290
- Recognition, 8:252–253
- Recognizance, 1:438, 8:253
- Reconciliation, 8:253
- Reconstruction Acts (1867), 2:323–324, 445
- Reconstruction era, 8:253–255
 - Akerman, Amos Tappan, 1:194–195
 - Black Codes, 2:402
 - carpetbag judges, 2:253
 - Chase, Salmon Portland, 2:323
 - Civil Rights Act (1871), 6:162–163
 - civil rights statutes, 8:211–212
 - Clifford, Nathan, 2:445
 - disfranchisement, 3:454
 - equal protection, 4:189
 - Field, David Dudley, 4:396
 - history of affirmative action, 1:152
 - Johnson, Andrew, 6:16
 - judicial review, 6:57
 - Ku Klux Klan, 6:159–161
 - legal ethics, 8:134
 - military government, 7:55
 - rights of former slaves, 9:210
 - Tenth Amendment, 9:461
 - Texas v. White* (1869), 10:15–16
 - Thirteenth Amendment, 10:20
- Reconveyance, 8:255
- Recorders of deeds. See Register of deeds
- Recording of land titles, 8:255–257
- Records, 8:257
 - administrative bodies, 8:164
 - corporate, 2:204
 - hearsay, 5:236
 - Privacy Act (1974), 8:107–108
 - student, 8:103
- Recounts, election, 2:186–188
- Recoupment, 8:257, 9:122
- Recourse, 8:257
- Recovered memories, 8:257–259, 9:148–149, 332
- Recovery, 8:144, 259
- Recrimination, 8:259
- Recuse, 8:259–260

- Red scare (1917-1920), 4:58, 6:269, 7:353, 8:260-261
 See also Anti-communist investigations
 Redemption, 8:261
 Redistricting. See Apportionment
 Redlining, 8:261
 Redress, 8:261
 election of remedies, 4:92-93
 Japanese American evacuation, 6:5-6
Reductio ad absurdum, 8:261
 Reed, Ralph, 2:379, 380
 Reed, Stanley Forman, 8:261-263, 262
 Reed, Walter, 6:43
 Reed Elsevier, 3:60-61, 6:243, 298
 Reentry, right of, 8:55, 356-357
 Reeve, Tapping, 6:335-336
 Referees, 8:263-264
 Reference, 8:264
 Referenda, 4:96, 8:181, 181, 264-265
 Referral fees. See Forwarding fees
 Referral sales, 2:316
 Referrals, attorney, 6:248
Reflections on the Revolution in France (Burke), 2:172 Reform
 automobile safety, 1:418
 bankruptcy, 1:472-473
 banks and banking, 1:474-475, 480-481, 5:100-101, 101-102
 campaign financing, 7:3
 child labor, 5:181
 deposit insurance, 4:343
 divorce, 6:436-437
 education, 2:135, 4:62-63, 74, 6:417-419
 election, 4:101, 8:12-13
 FBI, 2:482
 First Inaugural Address (Reagan) (document), 12:484-487
 health care, 2:447, 450, 4:85, 6:412-413
 health insurance, 5:227-228, 7:180-181
 immigration, 1:216-217, 218-220, 227
 judicial, 2:394, 6:51, 60, 10:198-199, 330-331 jury, 6:79-82
 law enforcement, 6:111, 8:7-9
 lobbying, 6:357-359
 Medicaid, 7:29
 minimum wage, 7:78
 National Civil Service Reform League, 2:74
 penal, 2:20-21
 product liability, 8:132
 real estate settlement costs, 9:124
 savings and loan associations, 9:5, 6
 sentencing, 8:124, 9:104
 sex discrimination, 9:133
 Social Security, 9:224, 227
 tax, 5:363, 440, 441, 9:440-441
 Tilden, Samuel Jones, 10:33
 tort law, 1:377, 3:53, 5:223, 7:30, 8:190-191, 10:62
 voting, 10:250, 251-253
 welfare, 10:333-335
 See also Labor movement
 Reform, legal
 Beccaria, Cesare Bonesano, 2:3-4
 Becket, Thomas, Saint, 2:4-5
 Bentham, Jeremy, 2:21
 Chaffee, Zechariah, Jr., 2:313-314
 Field, David Dudley, 4:395-397
 Foltz, Clara Shortridge, 4:438-439
 judicial administration, 6:50
 Pollock, Frederick, 8:24
 rape laws, 8:234
 Traynor, Roger John, 10:87-88
 Westminster, First Statute of, 10:346-347
 “What Shall Be Done with the Practice of the Courts?” (Field) (document), 12:500-502
 Reform, prison, 8:87-88, 92
 Alabama, 9:254
 consent decrees, 3:104
 Cumming, Homer Stille, 3:312
 Davis, Angela Yvonne, 3:348
 Dix, Dorothea Lynde, 3:482-483
 federal injunctions, 8:96
 Walnut Street prison, 10:272-273
 Reform, social
 Baldwin, Roger Nash, 1:458-459
 Beecher, Henry Ward, 2:6
 child abuse, 7:358
 class action, 2:424
 critical legal studies, 3:297-298
 Darrow, Clarence Seward, 3:338-339
 Dix, Dorothea Lynde, 3:482-483
 Johnson, Frank Minis, Jr., 6:20
 jurisprudence, 6:75-76
 Progressive Party, 8:138-139
 Reform Party, 2:159, 8:265-266
 Reformation, 8:266
 contracts, 3:181
 equitable relief, 4:201
 Reformatories, 6:100, 8:266
 Refreshing memory, 8:266
 Refugee Act (1980), 8:268
 Refugee Relief Act (1953), 8:268
 Refugees, 8:266-269
 aliens, 1:226
 asylum distinction, 1:383
 Gonzalez, Elian, 8:298
 Refunding, 5:367, 8:269
 Refuse Act (1899), 10:307
 Regents, boards of. See Boards of regents
 Regimes, trials of, 8:17
 Regional Rail Reorganization Act (1973), 8:224
 Register, 8:270
 Register of deeds, 8:271
 Registrars, 8:271
 Registration, 8:271
 automobiles, 1:425, 8:107
 copyright, 3:198 corporate securities, 9:69, 70
 notaries public, 7:271
 Selective Service System, 3:103, 8:408-409, 9:88-89
 service marks, 9:116-117 sexual offenders, 2:118, 4:261, 6:101
 ships, 9:175
 trademarks, 10:74, 75
 voter, 1:31, 32, 449, 5:127
 Registration of land titles, 8:271-272, 10:56
 Regressive taxes, 8:272
 Regular, 8:272
 Regulation of Lobbying Act (1946), 6:357
 Regulations, 8:272-273
 administrative agencies, 1:100, 6:211
 air commerce, 1:145
 air pollution, 1:187
 banking, 1:246
 broadcasting industry, 9:450
 cable television, 6:458-459
 cemeteries, 2:282-283
 Chicago school, 2:341-342
 commerce, 3:2-4
 common carriers, 2:255
 druggists, 4:26
 election campaigns, 8:13-14
 eminent domain, 4:124

- energy, 4:143–144
 federal communications and transportation regulation, 6:420
 Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, 4:147
Federal Register, 4:352
 Federal Reserve Board, 4:353–354 food production, 9:191
 gaming, 7:203 government franchise, 4:477
 hierarchy of law, 6:211
 indoor air quality, 10:44–45, 48
 insurance, 5:414, 7:3–4
 intergovernmental immunity doctrine, 5:431–432
 Internet, 5:452–453
 labor unions, 6:176
 land-use control, 6:185–192
 lobbying, 6:357–359
 marriage, 6:435–437
 mergers and acquisitions, 7:43–44
 National Federation of Independent Businesses, 7:175
 National Industrial Recovery Act (1935), 1:106, 7:182–184, 186–187, 233–234, 9:12
 navigable waters, 7:211–212
 nuclear power, 7:277–278, 278–281
 prostitution, 8:156
 public offerings, 8:173–174
 public utilities, 8:174
 radio licenses, 6:457
 railroads, 1:34–35, 8:222–225
 savings and loan associations, 9:6
 securities, 9:68, 73–74, 75–79
 Securities and Exchange Commission, 9:281
 Supreme Court and business regulation, 7:413, 454 telecommunications industry, 9:449
 thrifts (savings companies), 7:308–309
 tobacco, 10:43–48
 underinclusiveness, 10:143
 woods and forests, 10:414–415
 zoning, 10:456–458
See also Antitrust law
- Rehabilitation, 8:273
 bankruptcy, 1:465–468
 juvenile justice, 6:98–101
 prisoners, 8:88–89
 Rehabilitation Act (1973), 1:71, 72, 73, 3:434–435
 Rehnquist, William Hubbs, 7:293, 8:273–276, 274
Atkins v. Virginia (2000), 1:388
Boy Scouts of America v. Dale (2000), 2:92
 cameras in court, 2:217–218
 Clinton impeachment, 5:340
 criminal law, 3:276–277
 death sentence appeals process, 2:239
Dickerson v. United States (2000), 3:324, 7:84
 gambling advertising, 6:334
Gratz v. Bollinger (2003), 1:157
Hustler Magazine, Inc. v. Falwell (1988), 7:369
Meritor Savings Bank v. Vinson (1986), 9:154
Michigan v. Tucker (1974), 7:53
Roe v. Wade (1973), 8:384–385
Rostker v. Goldberg (1981), 8:408
Rust v. Sullivan (1991), 1:19
 self-incrimination, 4:401–402
Shaw v. Hunt (1996), 9:160
Texas v. Johnson (1989), 9:426, 10:14–15
United Steelworkers v. Weber (1979), 10:166
Wallace v. Jaffree (1985), 10:272
Washington v. Glucksberg (1997), 10:303
 Whittaker, Charles Evans, on the appointment of, 10:369–370
Zelman v. Simmons (2002), 9:27
- Reinstate, 8:276
 Reinsurance, 8:276–279
 Reintroduction, wildlife, 4:140
 Reiser, Lynda Dianne, 7:346–347
 Rejoinder, 8:279
 Relation, 8:279
 Relator, 8:279
 Release time programs, 8:281–282, 287
 Releases, 8:279–281, 280
 Relevancy, 4:247, 8:282
 Relief, 8:282
 abatement of an action, 1:3
 cancellation of an instrument, 2:232
 deportation, 1:226–227
 equitable, 6:181
 injunctive, 6:54–55
 ripeness, 8:366
 unconstitutional prisons, 8:96
- Relief organizations
 disaster relief, 3:443–444
 Hoover, Herbert Clark, 5:287
 human rights, 5:307
 refugee assistance, 8:267–268
 UNICEF, 10:164
- Religion, 8:282–293
 Alcoholics Anonymous, 1:199
 blasphemy, 2:62–63
 Blue laws, 2:65–67
 burial rights, 2:284
 Christian Legal Society, 2:380–381
Church of Lukumi Babalu Aye, Inc. v. City of Hialeah (1993), 10:143
 clergy malpractice, 2:437–438, 6:410–411
 conscientious objectors, 3:101, 4:419 counseling, 2:437
 denominations, 8:283
 divine right of kings, 3:470
 DNA research, 7:390–391
 faith-based initiatives, 3:49
 First Amendment protection, 4:417–419
Flag Salute cases, 4:431–433, 434–435, 483
 forced cesarean sections, 4:386
 Grotius, Hugo, 5:153
 hearsay, 5:236
 loyalty oaths, 6:378
 medical treatment, 7:361
 moral law, 7:115
 mortmain, 7:124–125
 Muhammad, Elijah, 7:166
 Nation of Islam, 7:165–166
 Native Americans, 1:257
 natural law, 7:205–206
 oaths, 7:293
 ordeals, 7:322
 pacifism, 7:343–344
 peremptory challenges, 7:426
 Pledge of Allegiance, 1:231–232
 polygamy, 8:27, 28
 prisoners' rights, 8:95
 pro-life movement, 1:14–15 public funding, 2:505–506 public schools and religious activity, 2:380–381, 506, 4:502 release time programs, 8:281–282
 same-sex marriage, 5:51
 Seven Bishops' Trial (1688), 9:124, 127–128

- Vidal v. Girard's Executors* (1844), 10:224–225
 See also Canon law; Church and state; Establishment and Free Exercise Clauses
- Religious freedom. See Establishment and Free Exercise Clauses
- Religious Freedom Restoration Act (1993), 8:290
 Christian Legal Society, 2:380
 loyalty oaths, 6:378
 prisoners' religious rights, 8:95
- Religious leaders
 Baylor, Robert Emmett Bledsoe, 1:504–505
 Falwell, Jerry, 7:369
 Gray, William Herbert, III, 5:136
 Innocent III, Pope, 6:392
 Law, Bernard F., 2:346, 347, 358, 9:149–150
 Muhammad, Fard, 7:165–166
 Smith, Joseph, 7:117
 Young, Brigham, 7:117–118, 118
- Religious Society of Friends, 7:344–345
- Remainders, 8:149, 293–294
- Remand, 8:294
- Remarriage, 4:162–163
- Remedial statutes, 8:294
- Remediation, environmental, 4:177, 180–181
- Remedies, 8:294–295
 environmental nuisance, 4:172–173
 equitable relief, 4:200–201
 equity maxims, 6:467
 false advertising, 4:309
 fraudulent conveyance, 4:490–491
 postconviction, 8:42–43
 recaption, 8:248–249
 receivership, 8:250
 receiving stolen property, 8:250–251, 251
 reformation, 8:266
 remittitur, 8:295
 sales law, 8:447–8448
 sanctions distinction, 8:454
 tracing, 10:66
 unjust enrichment, 10:167
 Violence Against Women Act (1994), 10:233–234
- Remission, 8:295
- Remit, 8:295
- Remittance, 8:295
- Remittitur, 8:295
- Remote cause, 2:277
- Removal, 8:295–296, 10:116
- Render, 8:296
- Rendition of judgment, 4:170
- Renewable energy, 4:146
- Renewal, 8:296
- Reno, Janet, 8:296–298, 297
 criticism of, 1:398
 Oregon's Death With Dignity law, 4:241
- Rent strikes, 8:298–299
- Rental and leasing, 6:223–226
 automobiles, 1:424
 ground rent, 5:153–154
 habitability, 5:174
 homes, 1:10
 lease agreements, 6:194, 197, 224
 patents, 7:396
 percentage leases, 7:425
 premiums, 8:67
 racial discrimination, 5:136
 real property, 3:179, 431, 7:117
 rent-to-own contracts, 6:225, 10:187, 188–189 right of reentry, 8:356–357
 tenancy, 9:456
 termination, 10:2
 unlawful detainer, 10:169–170
 warranties, 10:288–289
See also Landlords and tenants
- Renunciation, 8:299
- Renunciation of war, 8:299
- Renvoi, 8:299
- Reorganization, 8:299–300
- Reorganization Act (1939), 4:270
- Reorganization plans, 8:300–303, 301–302
- Repair and maintenance
 highway, 5:254
 natural gas equipment, 5:44
- Reparable injuries, 8:303
- Reparations, 8:303–305
 descendants of slaves, 9:206–207, 211
 World War I, 10:449–450
- Repeal, 8:305
 criminal statutes, 3:274
 derogation, 3:407
- Repeal of Constitutional amendments, 10:133
- Repeat offenders. See Recidivism
- Replacement workers, 10:153–154
- Replevin, 8:306, 447
- Replication, 8:306
- Reply, 8:306
- Report on Editorializing* (FCC), 4:306
- Reporters, 8:307
- Reporters of decisions (occupation)
 Black, Jeremiah Sullivan, 2:48
 Butler, Charles Henry, 2:196
 copyright issues, 10:350–351
 Cranch, William, 3:260–261
 Howard, Benjamin Chew, 5:302–303
 Knaebel, Ernest, 6:149
 McLean, John, 7:23
 Otto, William Tod, 7:338
 Putzel, Henry, Jr., 8:192–193, 193
 responsibilities of, 10:105
 Wallace, John William, 10:270, 270–271
 Wheaton, Henry, 10:349–350, 350
 Wyatt, Walter, 10:437–438, 438
- Reporters (publications)
 Blatchford, Samuel, 2:63
 citations, 2:382
 court opinions, 3:248, 251
Federal Rules Decision®, 4:355
 history, 6:242
- Reporting
 autopsies, 3:209
 child abuse, 2:344
 child molestation, 2:357
 credit, 3:143–144, 325
 General Accounting Office, 5:58
 minute books, 7:82
 minutes, 7:83
 rape, 8:235, 238
 Surgeon General, 9:407, 408–409
See also Annual reports; Court reporting
- Reports, 8:306–307
- Reports* (Coke), 2:485
- Repossession, 8:307
- Represent, 8:307
- Representation, 3:412, 8:307–308
- Representative actions, 8:308
- Representatives, 8:308
- Representatives, U.S. Congress
 Abzug, Bella Savitsky, 1:43, 43–44
 Adams, John Quincy, 1:85–86
 Bell, John, 2:12, 12–13
 Bingham, John Armor, 2:36, 36–37
 Binney, Horace, 2:37
 Boggs, Corinne Claiborne, 2:70–72
 Bosone, Reva Beck, 2:84
 Boyle, John, 2:94

- Broadhead, James Overton, 2:131
 Butler, Benjamin Franklin, 2:195, 195
 Byrnes, James Francis, 2:200, 206–208, 207
 Calhoun, John Caldwell, 2:213
 Campbell, Ben Nighthorse, 2:221, 221–222
 censure, 2:291
 Chipman, Daniel, 2:371
 Chisholm, Shirley Anita St. Hill, 2:371–375, 372
 Clay, Henry, 2:427, 428
 Clayton, Henry DeLamar, 2:429
 compensation, 10:134–135
 Crockett, George William, Jr., 3:302
 Dies, Martin, 3:38
 Dixon, Julian Carey, 3:483–484, 484
 Fenwick, Millicent Vernon Hammond, 4:377–379, 378
 Ferraro, Geraldine Anne, 4:382–384, 383
 Garfield, James Abram, 5:35–36
 Gingrich, Newton Leroy, 3:88, 166, 5:89–92
 Glass, Carter, 5:99, 99–100, 101
 Gray, William Herbert, III, 5:135–137, 136
 Hastert, Dennis J., 3:88
 Hyde, Henry J., 1:18
 Jordan, Barbara Charline, 6:40, 40–41
 Lewis, John Robert, 6:295, 295–297
 Mann, Horace, 6:417, 417–419
 Mann, James Robert, 6:419, 419–420
 McCarthy, Joseph, 3:39
 O'Neill, Thomas Philip, Jr., 7:316–317, 317
 Powell, Adam Clayton, Jr., 8:46–48, 47
 Rankin, Jeannette, 8:231, 231–232
 Rantoul, Robert, Jr., 8:233
 Smith, Howard W., 7:133
United States v. Rostenkowski (1995), 9:271
 Volstead, Andrew John, 10:246–248, 247
 Wilmot, David, 10:388–389, 389
 Reprieve, 7:356, 8:308
 Reprisals, 8:308–309
 See also Marquee and reprisal Reproduction, 8:309–315
 abortion, 1:14, 15, 21
 embryo custody, 8:313–314 history of reproductive rights, 10:410
 Roe v. Wade (1973), 8:385
 Sanger, Margaret Higgins, 8:456–459
 sterilization, 5:276, 9:340
 women's rights cases, 10:412
 See also Birth control; Copies and copying Reprosecution, 4:4
Republic of Colombia (ship), 1:117
 Republican National Conventions, 8:319*t*
 election of 1880, 5:36–37
 election of 1920, 5:187
 election of 1996, 9:217–218
 Republican Party, 8:316–320
 antislavery stance, 10:389–390
 Ashcroft, John David, 1:366
 Buchanan, Patrick Joseph, 2:158–159
 Bush, George Herbert Walker, 2:180
 Campbell, Ben Nighthorse, 2:222
 Carrington, Edward Codrington, 2:256–257
 Chase, Salmon Portland, 2:322–323
 Christian Coalition, 2:379–380
 Conkling, Roscoe, 3:98–99
 and Constitution Party, 3:124
 Contract with America, 3:165–167
 Dole, Robert Joseph, 3:500–501
 Douglass, Frederick, 4:14–15
 election of 2000, 2:187, 3:395
 Evarts, William Maxwell, 4:243
 Ford, Gerald Rudolph, 4:447–448
 formation, 6:323
 Garfield, James Abram, 5:35–37
 Gingrich, Newton Leroy, 5:90–92
 Goldwater, Barry Morris, 5:110–111
 Harrison, Benjamin, 5:195
 Hayes, Rutherford Birchard, 5:210–211
 Helms, Jesse Alexander, Jr., 5:242–245
 Hunt, Ward, 5:312–313
 influence of independent parties, 5:381–382
 Iran-Contra Affair, 5:480
 Kleindienst, Richard Gordon, 6:147–148
 Lincoln, Abraham, 1:13
 McCain, John Sidney, 7:3
 McKinley, William, 7:19
 midnight judges, 7:54
 Nixon, Richard M., 7:251–252
 nomination process, 4:95–96
 Reconstruction era, 8:317
 Rehnquist, William Hubbs, 8:274
 Roosevelt, Theodore, 8:398–399
 Schlafly, Phyllis Stewart, 9:16
 Smith, Mary Louise, 9:217–218
 Speaker of the House, 3:88
 Taft, Alphonso, 9:430
 Thurmond, Strom, 10:32–33
 Wilmot, David, 10:389
 Republicanism (political theory) agrarian, 3:119
 Madison, James, 3:120
 Republication, 8:320
 Republics, 8:315–316
 Federalist, Number 10 (document), 12:128–129
 Repudiation, 1:294, 8:320
 Repugnancy, 8:320
 Requests for admissions of facts, 3:448
 Required consent system, 7:329
 Requirements contracts, 8:320–321
 Requisition, 8:322
 Requisition for extradition, 4:292
Res, 8:322
Res ipsa loquitur, 7:224, 8:323–326, 325
Res judicata, 8:326–327
 estoppel by record distinction, 4:229
 without prejudice, 10:405
 See also Collateral estoppel
 Resale goods, 8:448
 Rescind, 8:327
 Rescission, 8:327–329
 cancellation of an instrument, 2:231
 election of remedies, 4:92–93
 equitable relief, 4:201
 impoundment, 5:349
 misrepresentation, 7:88
 Rescue, 8:329–330
 Rescue doctrine, 4:121, 8:330
 Research
 agricultural, 1:178, 253
 AIDS, 1:75
 commercial, 1:276–277

- Country Reports on Human Rights Practices* (State Department), 9:316
- credit, 3:143, 266
- DNA, 3:485, 5:68, 7:390–391
- genetic engineering, 5:63–65
- statistical, 3:8–10
- See also* Animals, cloning
- research; Legal research;
- Medical research
- Research and Special Programs Administration, 10:85
- Research organizations
- Brookings Institution, 2:134
- Canon Law Society of America, 2:234
- Center for Indoor Air Research, 10:45
- Copyright Society of the U.S.A., 3:204–205
- Defense Research Institute, 3:389
- Heritage Foundation, 5:248
- Institute on Legal Assistance, 6:252
- Jerry Lee Center of Criminology, 2:301
- Smithsonian Institution, 5:432
- Reservation, 8:330
- Reservations (Native American)
- banishment, 1:463
- hunting and fishing, 7:199–200
- Native American adoptions, 5:384
- Native American history, 1:254–255
- Pine Ridge, 1:256–257
- water rights, 7:201
- Reserve clause (baseball), 1:495–496, 9:287–288
- Reserve Officers' Training Corps (ROTC), 7:346–347
- Reserved rights doctrine, 7:198
- Reserves, 8:330–331
- Reserves, military, 7:66–67
- Residences, 8:331
- diversity of citizenship, 3:469
- head of household, 5:218
- homesteads, 5:280–281
- tax issues, 5:365
- work-at-home safety, 7:300–301
- Residency, 8:331–333
- admission to the bar, 1:121
- attorney general, 1:397
- Privileges and Immunities Clause, 8:114–115
- welfare limits, 10:338–339
- Residential property, 8:245
- Residuary clauses, 8:333
- Residuum, 8:333
- Resignations
- Agnew, Spiro T., 4:448
- Kelso, Frank B., 1:338–339
- Lott, Chester Trent, 6:374
- Nixon, Richard Milhaus, 1:361, 4:447, 448, 7:253, 10:313–314
- presidential, 10:130–132
- trustees, 10:116
- vice presidents, 10:217–218
- Resistance, rape, 8:237–238
- Resisting arrest, 3:355–356
- Resolutions, 8:334
- concurrent resolutions, 3:71
- joint resolutions, 3:90, 6:33
- legislatures, 6:256–257
- Resource Conservation and Recovery Act (1976), 4:179–180, 9:241, 242–243
- Resource recovery (waste management), 9:241
- Respectable minority rule, 6:409
- Respirators, 3:358
- Respondeat superior*, 5:375, 8:334–336
- Respondents, 8:336
- Responsive pleading, 8:336
- Rest, 8:336
- Restatement of Contracts* (ALI), 3:207, 10:388
- Restatement of the Law Governing Lawyers (ALI), 4:233, 8:134
- Restatements of law, 8:336–337
- Restaurants, 7:376
- Restitution, 8:337–338
- equitable relief, 4:201
- quantum meruit distinction, 8:196
- as remedy, 8:294
- restorative justice, 8:339
- Restorative justice, 8:338–339
- Restraining orders, 5:400, 7:323, 8:339–340
- Restraint
- arrests, 1:350
- false imprisonment, 4:311
- See also* Judicial restraint
- Restraint of trade, 8:340, 9:167, 282
- Restrictive covenants, 6:186, 8:340–341, 10:200
- Restrictive endorsements, 3:19
- Restrictive indorsements, 8:341–342
- Resulting trusts, 8:342
- Retainers, 6:249, 8:342
- Retaliation, employee, 4:133–134
- Retaliatory eviction, 8:342–343
- Retirement
- American Association of Retired Persons, 1:244–245
- early retirement plans, 1:161–162
- Employee Benefits Security Administration, 6:169
- Employee Retirement Income Security Act (1974), 4:126, 5:363
- individual retirement accounts, 5:366, 385, 388–390
- judges, 6:42
- Keogh plans, 6:129–130
- mandatory, 5:134–135
- senior citizens, 9:100–101, 223–224
- vesting, 10:206
- Retorsion, 8:343
- Retraction, 8:343
- Retribution, 6:86
- Retro*, 8:343
- Retroactive, 8:343
- Return, 8:343
- Return day, 8:343–344
- Revenues, 8:344
- Reversals, 1:307–308
- Reverse, 8:344
- Reverse discrimination
- affirmative action, 1:155
- age discrimination, 1:165
- civil rights, 2:398
- Reverse mortgages, 7:123
- Reversible error, 4:203–204
- Reversion, 8:344
- Reverter, possibility of, 8:344
- Review, 8:344
- Revised statutes, 8:344
- Revised Uniform Partnership Act (1994), 7:378
- Revival of an action, 8:344–345
- Revive, 8:345
- Revocation, 8:345
- of adoptions, 1:129
- charitable trusts, 10:120–121
- dependent relatives, 3:401
- FCC licenses, 6:457
- revocable trusts, 4:224
- rewards, 8:348
- wills, 10:381
- Revoke, 8:345
- The Revolutionary Age* (newspaper), 5:97
- Revolutionary War. See War of Independence
- Revolutions, 8:345–346
- China, 3:40–41
- Glorious Revolution, England (1688), 9:124, 127
- Indian independence, 5:29

- Iran-Contra Affair, 5:476
 Locke, John, 6:363–364
 Russia (1917), 3:37
See also Riots, conflicts, and rebellions
 Revolving charges, 8:346–347
 Rewards, 8:347, 347–349
 Rex, 8:349
 Rhode Island
 Ames, Samuel, 1:261–262
 Dorr's Rebellion (1842), 3:507–508
 liquor advertising, 6:333–335
 McGrath, James Howard, 7:15–16
 prayer in schools, 6:227
 Rhodes (ancient maritime law), 1:115 von Ribbentrop, Joachim, 7:288
 Rice, Condoleezza, 1:347
 Rich, Marc and Denise, 7:356–357
 Richards, Ann, 2:183
 Richardson, Elliot Lee, 8:351, 351–353, 10:312–313
 Richmond (VA)
 Hill, Oliver White, Sr., 5:259 integration of schools, 8:49
 Riders, 8:353
 Ridge, Thomas Joseph, 5:277, 8:353–355, 354
 Rieggle-Neal Interstate Banking and Branching Efficiency Act (1994), 1:481
 Riggins, David, 5:408–409
 Right of way, 8:357–358
 Right-to-carry firearms laws, 7:188
 Right to counsel. See Counsel, right to Right to Financial Privacy Act (1978), 8:103
 Right-to-work laws, 2:454, 8:362–363
 Rights, 8:355, 10:265
 Rikers Island jails, 5:359
 Ringle Report, 6:5
 Riots, conflicts, and rebellions, 8:363–365
 Attica Prison (1971), 8:87, 88
 Chicago Eight (1968), 2:339–340
 Draft Riots (1863), 3:102
 Haymarket Square riot (1886), 5:108, 211–212, 212, 9:230
 Houston race riots (1917), 3:247
 Los Angeles (1992), 6:144, 405
 My Lai Massacre (1968), 7:152–153 police discriminatory misconduct, 8:9
 Rodney King trial (1994), 3:314
 Seven Bishops' Trial (1688), 9:127
 Stamp Act (1765), 9:298
 University of Mississippi (1962), 7:42
 Utah War (1857), 7:118
 Whiskey Rebellion (1794), 10:353–355
 See also Revolutions
 Riparian rights, 8:365
 environmental law, 4:173–174
 water pollution, 10:309
 See also Water rights
 Ripeness, 6:93, 8:365–366
 Risk, 8:366
 arbitrage, 1:324
 assumption of, 1:379–382, 7:227
 explosives cases, 4:286
 insurance, 5:412
 junk bonds, 6:67
 medical consent, 7:403–404
 mutual funds, 7:151
 product liability, 8:131
 tort law, 10:60
 volenti non fit injuria, 10:246
 workers' compensation, 10:420–421
 Risk arbitrage, 8:366–367
 Riverboat casinos, 5:27
 Rivers and Harbors Appropriations Act (1899). See Refuse Act (1899) Rivers and streams
 avulsion, 1:430
 floods, 7:179
 international waterways, 5:450–451
 Tennessee Valley Authority, 9:459, 460
 wharf silting case, 1:493
 Roadblocks and sobriety checkpoints, 1:427
 automobile searches, 1:415–416, 3:283, 9:41–42
 driving while intoxicated, 5:344, 344–345
 Fourteenth Amendment, 4:469
See also Traffic stops
 Roads. See Highways and roads
 Robber barons, 8:223
 Robbery, 8:367–369
 conspiracies, 3:109
 determinate sentences, 3:422
 extortion distinction, 4:290
 Hearst case (1974), 1:443, 3:280, 5:238, 238
 larceny distinction, 6:205, 207
 mistakes of law, 7:92
 modus operandi, 7:100–101 weapons used, 8:368
 See also Stolen property
 Robert T. Stafford Disaster Relief and Emergency Assistance Act, 3:443
 Roberts, Owen Josephus, 8:369, 369–371, 394–395
 Robertson, Pat, 2:379, 380
 Robinson, Randall M., 9:206
 Robinson, Spottswood William, III, 8:375, 375–376
 Robinson-Patman Act (1936), 7:103, 8:372–375
 Roche, Tim, 4:255–256
 Rochin, Antonio, 9:180
 Rock the Vote, 10:250
 Rockford College, 1:88
 Rodents research, 1:278
 Rodney, Caesar Augustus, 8:379–381, 380
 Rodriguez, Arturo, 10:162, 162
 Rodriguez-Moreno, Jacinto, 3:277
 Roe, 8:381
 Rogatory letters, 8:385
 Rogers, William Pierce, 8:385–387
 Roll, 8:387
 Roman Catholic Church
 canon law, 2:232–234 child abuse scandal, 2:347–348, 358, 438, 9:149–150
 divorce, 3:471
 euthanasia and assisted suicide, 4:239
 legal philosophy, 7:108
 surrogate motherhood, 9:410–411
 Roman law, 8:387–388
 codification, 2:471
 corpus juris civilis, 3:231
 edicts, 4:62
 Justinian I, 6:93–95
 legal ethics, 8:133
 Theodosian Code, 10:17
 tribunals, 10:111
 Rome Treaty (1998), 10:277
 Roosevelt, Anna Eleanor, 8:390–392, 391
 Roosevelt, Franklin Delano, 8:393, 393–397, 10:446
 Attorney General's Committee on Administrative Procedure, 1:114
 Brownlow Committee, 4:270

- Byrnes, James Francis, judicial appointment of, 2:206
- Cummings, Homer, Attorney General, 3:312
- declaration of war, 3:368
- Democratic Party, 3:394
- Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, 4:342
- fireside chat, 2:125
- First Inaugural Address (document), 12:476–478
- Glass-Steagall Act (1933), 5:101
- Humphrey's Executor v. United States* (1935), 1:101
- Japanese American evacuation, 5:261, 6:2
- judicial review, 6:58
- Litvinov Assignment (1933), 6:344
- New Deal programs, 5:289, 304, 7:78, 181–184, 186–187, 232–235
- Panama Refining Co. v. Ryan* (1935), 1:106
- Perkins, Frances, labor secretary, 7:429
- Presidents' Committee on Administrative Management, 1:113–114
- Roosevelt, Anna Eleanor and, 8:392
- Schechter Poultry Corp. v. United States* (1935), 1:106, 9:13
- Supreme Court-packing plan, 8:370, 9:404, 419
- Tennessee Valley Authority, 9:458–459
- Truman, Harry S., relationship with, 10:113
- World War II, 10:425–427
- Yalta Agreement (1945), 10:445–446
- Roosevelt, Theodore, 8:397–400, 398
- antitrust enforcement, 1:299
- Knox, Philander Chase and, 6:153
- Progressive Party, 8:138
- railroad corruption, 5:194
- Republican Party, break with the, 8:318
- Spanish-American War (1898), 9:259
- Rose Law Firm, 10:365–367
- Rosenberg, Alfred, 7:289
- Rosenberg, Jerry, 5:498
- Rosenberg, Julius and Ethel, 8:400–405, 401
- Cohn, Roy Marcus and, 2:478
- stay of execution, 2:148, 4:11
- worldwide communism, 9:293
- Rosenberger, Ronald W., 2:380–381, 506
- Ross, John, 8:405, 405–407
- Ross, Nellie Tayloe, 8:407, 407–408
- Rostenkowski, Dan, 9:271
- Rotary Clubs, 2:460
- Roth, Stephen, 9:22–23
- Roth IRAs, 5:389–390
- Rough Riders, 8:398
- Rousseau, Jean Jacques, 8:410–412, 411
- Rowley, Coleen, 10:356, 356
- Royal courts, 4:154, 6:391–393
- Royalties, 8:412–413
- entertainment law, 4:165–166, 7:146–147
- mine and mineral law, 7:76
- RU-486 (mifepristone), 1:22–23, 2:42
- Rubenstein, William Bruce, 8:413–414
- Rubric of a statute, 8:414
- Ruby, Jack, 8:414, 414–415
- Ruchs, Klaus, 8:402
- Rule, 8:415–416
- Rule 23, Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, 2:423–424, 426
- Rule 201, Federal Rules of Evidence, 6:56
- Rule 702, Federal Rules of Evidence, 8:29
- Rule 707, Military Rules of Evidence, 8:29
- Rule against accumulations, 8:416
- Rule against perpetuities, 8:416–417, 10:263–264
- Rule 10b-5, Securities Exchange Commission, 9:72–73
- Rule in Shelley's Case, 8:417–418
- Rule making
- administrative agencies, 1:109, 114
- quasi-legislative actions, 8:200
- resolutions, 8:334
- Rule of 78, 8:418
- Rules of Decision Act (1948), 8:421
- Rules of evidence
- cases in chief, 10:107
- probative, 8:125
- verification, 10:205
- Rules of law, 8:415, 418–421
- court opinions, 3:251–252
- equal protection, 4:197
- equity, 6:466–468
- federal courts, 4:203
- Field Code, 4:39–397
- legal historical analysis, 6:239
- Magna Charta, 6:394–395
- “The Path of the Law” (Holmes) (document), 12:505–517
- Pound, Roscoe, 8:45
- precedent, 8:57
- presumption, 8:74–75
- principles, 8:84
- Rules of reason, 10:361
- Rulings, 8:427
- Rumsfeld, Donald, 1:347
- Run, 8:427
- Running with the land, 8:427
- Ruotolo, Michael, 1:175
- Rural communities, 1:177
- Rural Development division, USDA, 1:177
- Rush, Benjamin, 8:427–429
- Rush, Richard, 8:429
- Russell, John, 8:141
- Russia
- Alaska claim, 1:195–196
- arms control and disarmament, 1:346–347
- communism, 3:37–40
- Lenin, Vladimir Ilyich, 6:268–269
- and North Atlantic Treaty Organization, 7:266–267
- nuclear waste management, 4:146–147
- strategic arms, 1:293
- United States/Russian boundary dispute, 2:88
- See also* Soviet Union
- Russian Revolution, 6:268–269
- Rutledge, John, 8:430, 430–431
- Rutledge, Wiley Blount, Jr., 8:431, 431–432
- Rwandan war crimes, 5:70, 10:277
- Ryan, George, 2:436–437

S

- S Corporations, 8:435
- Sabotage, 8:436
- Sacco and Vanzetti trial (1921), 4:481–482, 8:436–437, 437
- Sacred Run (Native American organization), 1:484
- Safety issues
- airlines, 1:191–193
- asylums, 1:385
- automobiles, 1:418, 419–420, 422–423, 7:160–161, 9:46–47
- aviation, 4:324–326
- Consumer Product Safety Commission, 3:148

- electricity, 4:104
 fire, 4:347, 10:111
 highway, 10:82–83
 mining, 7:77
 negligence, 7:224–225
 nuclear power, 7:277–278, 280
 Occupational Safety and Health Act (1970), 7:300–302
 railroad workers, 8:224 school bus, 2:255
 vaccines, 5:334
 women in the workplace, 9:137–138
See also Occupational safety and health
 Sagebrush Rebellion, 6:190
 Said, 8:438
 Sailors, 8:438–439
 admiralty and maritime law, 1:116
 Jones Act (1920), 6:36–38
 wills, 10:381
 Salaries. See Compensation and income
 Salem witch trials (1692), 3:85–86, 8:184, 440–444, 442
 Sales law, 8:444–449
 add-on, 1:88
 auctions, 1:403–406
 automobiles, 1:423–424
 bait and switch, 1:446
 barter, 1:494
 bona fide purchasers, 8:146–147
 consignment, 3:106
 consumers, 3:141
 contracts, 3:182
 cover, 3:258
 exclusionary clauses, 4:264
 exclusive agency, 4:267 factors-principal relationship, 4:297–298
 firm offers, 4:412
 fraud, 4:487–488
 good faith, 5:114
 hawkers and peddlers, 5:207–208
 invoices, 5:473
 as is, 1:365
 joint tenancy, 6:35
 layaway, 6:220
 mala fides, 6:401
 market value, 6:432
 merchantability, 7:40
 mistakes of fact, 7:90–91
 multilevel distributorship, 7:138 negligent sale of alcohol, 1:205
 offers, 7:306
 output contracts, 7:339 parole evidence, 7:370
 pledges, 7:462
 price-fixing, 8:81
 proceeds, 8:126
 puffing, 8:181
 purchase orders, 8:191
 put, 8:192
 quantum valebant, 8:196
 real estate, 8:245
 realized, 8:245
 requirements contracts, 8:320–322
 Robinson-Patman Act (1936), 8:372–375 software licenses, 9:235–236
 territory, 10:5
 ticket scalping, 10:16–17
 transfers, 10:78–79
 tying arrangements, 10:136–137
 upset price, 10:171
 vendee, 10:201
 vendors, 10:201
 vendors and purchasers, 10:201–202
 warranties, 3:150, 5:345–346, 10:287–289
 wash sales, 10:297
See also Buyers and sellers
 Sales tax, 8:449–450
 automobiles, 1:422
 commerce regulation, 3:7–8
 electronic commerce, 3:14
 Internet purchase, 9:444
 Salinger, J.D., 3:198, 6:337
 SALT II treaty (1979). See Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT I and II)
 Salt Lake City Olympic Games (2002), 2:120
 Salvage, 1:116, 427–428, 8:450–452, 9:177
 Same-conduct test for double jeopardy, 4:5–6
 Same evidence test, 8:452
 Same-sex couples
 adoption, 1:125
 domestic partnership laws, 3:503
 Same-sex marriage
 Baehr v. Lewin (1993), 5:15, 321–322, 6:435
 Baehr v. Miike (1996), 6:435
 Baker v. Nelson (1971), 6:435
 family law, 4:319
 gay and lesbian rights, 5:48–49, 50–52
 Same-sex sexual harassment, 9:151
 Same-transaction test for double jeopardy, 4:5
 Samoa, American, 7:80
 San Francisco (CA)
 Baldwin, Joseph Glover, 1:457
 sinkhole, 1:77
 Yick Wo v. Hopkins (1896), 10:447–448
 San Francisco Vigilance Committees, 8:452–453, 453
 San Jose (CA)
 anti-gang laws, 5:34
 comparable worth reform, 3:51
 San Quentin execution chamber, 2:242
 Sanctions, 1:183, 8:453–454
 Sanford, Edward Terry, 2:432, 8:454–456, 455
 Sanger, Margaret Higgins, 8:456–459, 457
 American Birth Control League, 8:311 birth control, 2:39–40
 Sanity, 8:459
 Santa Barbara (CA), wharf regulation, 1:118–119
 Sarbanes-Oxley Act (2002), 9:1–2 accounting oversight, 3:215, 4:489, 5:63 certification by corporate officers, 1:282, 9:78 white-collar crimes, 10:359
 Sargent, John Garibaldi, 9:2–4, 3
 Satellite broadcasting, 2:128–129, 9:453
 Satellite Home Viewer Act (1988), 3:201
 Satire. See Parody Satisfaction, 9:4
 ademption by, 1:92
 clauses, 8:176–177
 contracts, 3:178–179
 of judgment, 6:46
 Saudi Arabia, Khobar Tower bombing plot, 10:282 Save, 9:4
 Saving clauses, 9:4
 Savings and loan associations, 1:476, 7:3, 308–309, 9:4–6, 310, 10:93
 Saxbe, William Bart, 9:7, 7–9
 Saxons, dombec, 3:502
 Scabs, 9:9
 Scalia, Antonin, 9:9–12, 10
 Atkins v. Virginia (2000), 1:388 critic of balancing, 1:453–454
 hate speech, 4:501
 Jackson v. United States (1948), 1:411–412

- Kyllo v. United States*, 4:107
Lawrence v. Texas (2003), 6:218–219
R.A.V. v. City of St. Paul (1992), 5:205
Romer v. Evans (1996), 8:390
 Scalping, ticket, 10:16–17
 Scams. See Fraud
 Scandals and controversies
 Agnew, Spiro T., 6:135–136
 bail denial of Wen Ho Lee, 4:212–213, 333
 Bank of Credit and Commerce International scandal (1991), 1:491, 2:441–443
 Black Sox scandal (1919), 6:192, 193, 9:284
 blacklists, 2:55–56
 Branch Davidian raid (1993), 1:143, 209, 2:101–103, 8:297–298
 Brown, Ronald Harmon, 2:141
 Buchanan, Pat, 2:159
 Bush, George Walker, oil ventures of, 2:182–183
 cameras in court, 2:218–220
 capital punishment, 2:238–239
 Carter administration, 2:262–263
 Catholic Church child abuse, 2:347–348, 9:149–150
 census (1990), 2:294–297
 Chase, Samuel, 2:326–327, 330
 Chicago Eight trial (1969), 2:339–340
 CIA intelligence gathering, 2:303–304
 Clinton, William Jefferson, 2:447–448, 451–452, 3:130, 9:310–311
 COINTELPRO, 2:481–482
 Confederate flag, 4:430–431
 corporate fraud, 1:473, 3:213–215, 225–226, 9:353
 Crédit Mobilier scandal (1864–1873), 3:266–267
 Diallo, Amadou, police killing of (1999), 8:9
 Enron Corp., 1:61, 3:214–215, 5:63, 9:75
 Federal Bureau of Investigation, 4:333, 7:137
 Fortas, Abe, 4:465
 Gonzalez, Elian, case of (1999–2000), 8:298
 Harding, Warren, 5:187–188
 Iran-Contra Affair, 2:271, 304, 5:476–480, 7:35, 8:244
 Justice Department investigations, 1:491, 7:17
 Kennedy, Edward Moore, 6:118, 119
 Kent State student killings (1970), 6:127–129
 King, Rodney G., beating of (1991), 6:143–145
 Korean lobbying scandal, 6:9
 Lott, Chester Trent, 2:398, 6:374–375
 Louima, Abner, police beating and sodomization of (1997), 8:9
 Love Canal toxic waste incident (1970s), 9:242
 NAACP (National Association for the Advancement of Colored People), 4:246–247
 New York City police corruption, 6:110–111
 Palmer raids (1919–1920), 1:248
 Powell, Adam Clayton, Jr., 8:47–48
 presidential election of 1876, 4:100–101
 presidential election of 1888, 4:101
 Rampart police scandal (1999), 8:8–9
 Randolph, Edmund Jennings, 8:230
 Reagan, Ronald Wilson, 8:244
 savings and loan associations, 7:3, 9:6
 Smith, William Kennedy, 6:118
 Soledad Brothers case (1970), 3:347–348
 Tailhook Scandal (1991), 1:338–339
 Teapot Dome scandal (1924), 3:344, 5:377, 9:447–448
 Wedtech affair (1980s), 7:35
 Whiskey Ring, 5:377
 Winter Olympic Games, Salt Lake City (2002), 2:120
 XYZ Affair (1796), 3:397
 See also Presidential election of 2000; Simpson, O.J., case (1995); Watergate scandal (1972–1974); Whitewater investigation
 Schaeffer, Rebecca, 2:414–415
 Schechter Poultry Corp., 9:12–13
 Scheck, Barry, 9:34
 Scheidler, Joseph, 1:15
 Schempp, Edward L., 1:8, 9 von Schirach, Baldur, 7:290
 Schizophrenia, 3:81
 Schlafly, Phyllis Stewart, 9:14–16, 15
 Schleiff, Henry, 3:253
 Schlesinger, Rudolf Berthold, 9:16–17
 Schmidt, Cara and Daniel, 1:126–127
 Scholarships and tuition assistance
 American Legion, 1:259
 Fulbright, 5:13
 GI Bill, 5:74–77
 League of United Latin American Citizens, 6:223
 Order of the coif, 7:324
 Page, Alan Cedric, 7:348 racially restricted, 2:501
 student athletes, 9:286
 Schoo, David and Sharon, 2:346
 School integration and desegregation, 5:421–423, 9:17–25
 affirmative action, 1:152
 Baker, Ella Josephine, 1:447–448
 Brown v. Board of Education (1954) (documents), 11:1–162
 Equal Protection Clause, 3:124, 136
 Hamer, Fannie Lou Townsend, 5:177
 Hayes, George E.C., 5:208–209
 Hoffman, Walter Edward, 5:271
 law schools, 7:132–133
 Little Rock Central High School integration, 1:499–500
 Southern Manifesto, 5:13
 state constitutions, 3:116
 Swann v. Charlotte-Mecklenburg Board of Education (1971), 9:419–421
 School prayer. See Prayer
 Schools and school districts, 9:25–31
 AIDS education, 1:68–69
 Bible reading, 6:418–419, 8:286–287
 book censorship, 2:288–289
 bus safety, 2:255
 Center for Law and Education, 2:298–299
 Christian organization's use, 4:502 church and state, separation of, 4:70
 Confederate flags, wearing of, 4:431
 corporal punishment, 3:210–211, 211
 curriculum, 1:46

- disabled children, 4:72–73
 drug testing, 1:454
 education law, 4:66–76
 employment law, 4:73
 enrollment, 9:19, 30
 evolutionary theory, 8:287–288
Flag Salute cases, 4:431–433, 434–435
 free speech, 4:67–68
 funding, 4:74–76, 75
 gang-related clothing, 5:32
 Gun-Free School Zones Act (1990), 3:4, 5:166 homeless children, 5:279
in loco parentis, 5:352–353
 libraries, 1:46
 Mann, Horace, 6:417–419
 newspapers, 2:289, 8:85
 parochial schools, 8:286
 Pledge of Allegiance, 1:231–232, 232, 8:289–290
 posting of the Ten Commandments, 8:287 prayer in, 1:8–10
 prior restraint, 8:85
 release time programs, 8:281–282, 287
 residency, 8:333
 school newspaper censorship, 2:289
 Scopes trial (1925), 1:459, 9:36–37
 search and seizure, 9:43
 segregation, 5:423, 9:84–85
 shootings, 7:144
 sports injuries, 9:290–291 students' free speech, 2:289
 students with AIDS, 1:73 students with disabilities, 3:435, 435–436
 teacher-student ratios, 9:28
Tinker v. Des Moines Independent Community School District (1969), 10:38–40
 zero tolerance, 10:455
See also Education; Education law; Integration and desegregation; Prayer
 Schuyler, George Samuel, 1:447
 Science and the law, 6:68
 Science Education and Technical Information, Office of, 4:147
Scienter, 9:31–32
 Scientific Analysis Section, FBI, 4:454
 Scientific evidence, 2:382, 3:342–343, 487–488, 9:32–34
 Scientists
 Coleman, James S., 9:22
 Durkheim, Emile, 3:291–292
 Hirschi, Travis, 3:293
 Lombroso, Cesare, 3:291
 Reckless, Walter C., 3:293
 Sutherland, Edwin H., 3:293
 Taub, Edward, 1:276
 Scintilla, 9:34
Scire facias, 9:34–35
 Scope of employment, 9:35–36
 Scopes, John T., 9:36
 Scopes trial (1925), 9:36–37
 American Civil Liberties Union, 1:249, 249
 Darrow, Clarence, 3:341
 Scorched-earth plans, 9:37
 Scott, Dred, 4:20, 20, 5:147, 9:437
 Scottsboro Boys, 7:366, 8:23, 49–52, 9:419
 Scout troops. See Boy Scouts of America
 Scripto, Inc., 7:393
 Sea commerce, 1:115–118
 Seabed Arms Control Treaty (1971), 9:37
 Seal of the United States (documents), 9:38
 Seale, Bobby, 2:49–53, 339–340
 Sealed verdicts, 9:38–39
 Seals (documents), 9:38, 38 contracts under, 3:167
 covenant, action of, 3:256
 L.S. (locus sigilli), 6:379
 presidential, 8:70
 Supreme Court of the United States, 9:405
 vice presidential, 10:218
 Search and seizure, 9:39–44
 during arrests, 1:352–353
 automobile, 1:409–416, 9:342
 Bond v. United States (2000), 2:117 bus passengers, 9:251 consent, 4:475
 consent decrees, 8:215
 electronic surveillance, 4:106–107
 Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Court of Review, 4:452
 frisk, 5:7
 fruit of the poisonous tree, 5:9–12, 7:145
 good faith, 4:475
 homeless persons' possessions, 5:280
 hot pursuit, 5:293–294
 illegal, 5:275
 knock-and-announce requirements, 4:475
 levy, 6:294–295
 mail cover, 6:396
 Mapp v. Ohio (1961), 6:424
 no-knock entry, 4:475
 plain view doctrine, 7:456
 prisoners, 8:93
 prize law, 8:116
 probable cause, 8:118
 racial profiling, 8:214–215
 Rochin v. California (1952), 8:378
 stop and frisk, 9:358–359
 students, 4:68–70, 5:353
 thermal imaging, 4:473, 9:344
 war on drugs, 4:32
 warrants, 3:282–286
 wiretapping, 10:397
 wiretaps, 7:312
 Writ of Assistance case (1761), 10:430–431
 See also Exclusionary Rule; Warrantless searches
 Search for Elevation, Education and Knowledge (SEEK), 2:372
 Search incident to arrest, 1:410–411
 Search warrants, 9:44–46, 45, 10:287
 automobile, 1:410–415
 criminal procedure, 3:282–286, 9:41–42
 defective, 4:475
 law enforcement, 4:472
 magistrates, 4:474–475
 particularity requirement, 4:474
 probable cause, 4:474
 thermal imaging, 4:473
 Writ of Assistance case (1761), 10:431
 Seasonable, 9:46
 Seat belts, 9:46–47, 47 arrest for lack of use, 5:357
 laws, 1:425
 safety standards, 1:419
 Seattle, World Trade Organization protest (1999), 8:364, 365
 Seavey Island, 2:89
 S.E.C. See Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC)
 Secession, 9:47–48
 Secession of Southern states
 Cobb, Thomas Reade Rootes, 2:461–462
 Lincoln, Abraham, 6:324
 lines of, 10:172
 Mississippi Secession Convention, 6:183

- Texas v. White* (1869), 10:15–16
See also Confederate States of America
- Second Amendment, 3:134, 9:48–52
See also Gun control
- Second Bank of the United States. See Bank of the United States
- Second Continental Congress, 3:158, 12:79–82
- Second-hand smoke, 9:408–409, 10:44–45, 48
- Second Inaugural Address (Lincoln) (document), 12:471–472
- Second-look doctrine, 9:53–54
- Second look statutes. See Wait-and-see statutes
- Second-parent adoptions, 1:125
- Second Treatise on Government (document), 12:16–44
- Secondary authorities, 6:262, 9:54
- Secondary boycotts, 9:54–56
- Secondary evidence, 8:83, 9:56
- Secondary liability, 6:298
- Secondary line injuries, 8:374
- Secondary meaning, 9:56–57
- Secret Service, 4:278, 9:57–58
- Secretaries of Agriculture
 Espy, Mike, 5:379
- Secretaries of Commerce
 Brown, Ronald Harmon, 2:140, 141
- Secretaries of Defense
 office and administration, 3:383–385, 384
 Rumsfeld, Donald, 1:347
 Weinberger, Caspar W., 5:479–480
- Secretaries of Education, 4:64–65
- Secretaries of Energy, 4:145–146
- Secretaries of Home and Human Services, 5:219–220
- Secretaries of Housing and Urban Development, 5:297–298
- Secretaries of Navy
 Smith, Robert, 9:218–219
- Secretaries of State, 9:58–59, 316–318
 Adams, John Quincy, 1:84
 Albright, Madeleine Korb, 1:196–198
 Clay, Henry, 2:427, 428
 Dulles, John Foster, 4:44, 44
 Kissinger, Henry Alfred, 6:145–147, 146
- Knox, Philander Chase, 6:152, 153
- Powell, Colin, 1:347, 3:429, 9:59, 59
- Rogers, William Pierce, 8:386
- Smith, Robert, 9:219
- Secretaries of the Interior
 Fall, Albert B., 9:447–448, 448
 Norton, Gale, 5:434
 office and administration, 5:432
- Secretaries of the Navy, 7:212
- Secretaries of the Treasury
 Dallas, Alexander James, 3:329, 330
 Hamilton, Alexander, 5:179
- Secretaries of War
 Lincoln, Robert Todd, 6:328, 328
 Stanton, Edwin McMasters, 9:303–305, 304, 463
- Section 1983, 2:400, 9:59–64
- Sections, 9:59
- Secular natural law, 7:207–208
- Secularization of religious acts, 4:418
- Secure, 9:64
- Secured creditors, 9:64
- Secured transactions, 2:331–332, 9:64–68
- Securities, 9:68–75
 adjustment securities, 1:98 annual reports regulation, 1:281–282
 arbitrage, 1:324–325
 banks and banking, 1:474, 477
 blue sky laws, 2:67–68
 book value, 2:79
 call, 2:214
 capital stock, 2:243
 certificates, 2:307
 churning, 2:381
 common stock, 3:36
 corporate fraud, 3:213–215, 226, 9:31–32
 corporations, 3:216, 221, 10:94
 correspondents, 3:231
 debentures, 3:363
 dividends, 3:470, 9:351
 Electronic Communications Networks, 4:263
 Enron Corp. stock, 1:61
 equity, 4:202
 ex dividend, 4:257–258
 Federal National Mortgage Association, 4:350–351
 fraud, 2:78, 79, 4:489, 8:21, 220–221
 Glass-Steagall Act (1933), 5:101–102
- Government National Mortgage Association, 5:119
- greenmail, 5:142
- holding companies, 5:273
- insider trading, 8:21
- insiders, 5:410
- Internet fraud, 5:324, 458
- junk bonds, 6:67, 8:21
- legal list statutes, 6:239
- lockup, 6:364
- lots, 6:372
- margin calls, 6:429
- margins, 6:429
- markets and exchanges, 4:262–263, 9:351, 351–353, 352*t*
- marshaling, 6:437–438
- mergers and acquisitions, 7:46
- mortgages, 7:123–124
- mutual funds, 7:150–151
- New York Stock Exchange, 1:105
- options, 7:320–321
- over-the-counter trading, 4:263
- par value, 10:194
- penny stocks, 7:419
- pledges, 7:463
- points, 8:1–2
- poison pill, 8:2–3
- Pollack, Milton, 8:21
- preemptive rights, 8:61
- preferred stock, 8:61–62
- prospectus, 8:155
- proxies, 8:161, 162–163
- prudent person rule, 8:161
- public offerings, 8:172–173
- public utilities, 8:174
- risk arbitrage, 8:366–367
- Sarbanes-Oxley Act (2002), 9:1–2
- savings and loan stockholders, 9:5
- short sales, 9:181
- Stock Market Crash (1929), 5:101, 288, 7:232
- stockbrokers, 2:132, 133, 9:73
- stockholder's derivative suits, 9:353–355
- stocks, 9:350–351
- straddle, 9:365–366
- tender offers, 9:457
- transfers of shares, 2:204–205
- underwrite, 10:144
- voting trusts, 10:255, 256–257
- warrants, 9:353
- wash sales, 10:297
- Williams Act (1968), 10:385
- yield, 10:448
- See also* Bonds; Investments

- Securities Act (1933), 8:173, 9:69–70, 76
- Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), 1:60–61, 9:75–79
- administrative law and procedures, 1:105–106
- annual report regulation, 1:281–282
- Casey, William Joseph, 2:270
- corporate registration, 9:69, 70
- exchange regulation, 4:262
- fraud, 4:489
- risk arbitrage, 8:366–367
- Sarbanes-Oxley Act (2002), 9:1–2
- Sporkin, Stanley, 9:281
- Williams Act (1968), 10:385
- Securities Exchange Act (1934), 8:366–367, 9:70, 76–77
- Securities Investor Protection Corp. (SIPC), 9:73–74
- Security Council, United Nations, 5:443, 10:163, 163
- Security (debt guarantee), 9:79, 80
- Security deposits, 6:196, 9:81
- Security guards. See Police and guards, private
- Security issues
- aiding the enemy acts, 1:182–183
- airlines, 1:193, 4:326, 5:256–257
- Anti-Ballistic-Missile Treaty (1972), 1:291–293
- Ashcroft, John David, 1:367
- campus police, 8:5
- Coast Guard, 1:335
- computers, 3:63, 65–66, 9:186
- credit card information, 3:12–13
- Defense, Department of, 3:385–386
- executive privilege, 4:277
- McCarran Internal Security Act (1950), 7:4–5
- North Atlantic Treaty Organization, 7:265–267
- Pentagon Papers*, 7:240
- prior restraint, 8:85
- prisons and jails, 5:357–358, 8:90
- protected digital files, 3:199
- protecting privacy, 8:99
- Research and Special Programs Administration, 10:85
- Secret Service, 9:57–58
- State, Department of, 9:317–318
- stock market response to incidents, 9:352*t*
- See also* Homeland Security, Department of
- Sedition, 1:27, 9:81–83
- See also* Alien and Sedition Acts (1798)
- Sedition Act (1918)
- Abrams v. United States* (1919), 1:27
- Callender sedition trial (1805), 2:327
- Chaffee, Zechariah, Jr., 2:312–313
- wartime speech restrictions, 2:422
- Wilson, Woodrow, 4:214
- Seditious libel, 9:83, 124, 127, 10:453–454
- Seduction, 5:239, 9:83
- Segregation, 9:83–85
- Brown v. Board of Education* (1954), 2:142–147, 3:136–137, 5:140–141, 191, 208–209
- Brown v. Board of Education* (1954) (documents), 11:1–162
- Burton, Harold Hitz, 2:179
- buses, 7:110–111, 366–367
- Civil Rights Act (1964) (document), 12:362–383
- Civil Rights* cases (1883) (document), 12:311–336
- Civil Rights Movement, 1:447–448, 9:377
- de jure*, 3:354
- education law, 4:70–71
- Hocutt v. Wilson* (1933), 5:200
- housing, 7:70
- League of United Latin American Citizens, 6:222
- McGrath, James Howard, 7:16
- Mississippi bus station, 4:191
- Morgan v. Virginia* (1946), 5:200
- Motley, Constance Baker, 7:132–133
- National Urban League, 7:193
- Plessy v. Ferguson* (1896), 2:136, 5:18, 189, 7:464, 464–465, 9:109
- Plessy v. Ferguson* (1896) (document), 12:337–349
- public schools (2000–2001), 5:423
- Reconstruction, 8:254–255
- Roberts v. City of Boston* (1850), 9:158
- states' rights, 9:326
- Thirteenth Amendment, 10:19–20
- See also* Discrimination, racial and ethnic; Integration and desegregation; Jim Crow laws; School integration and desegregation; Separate but equal doctrine
- Segregation of prisoners, 8:96
- Seigel, Sheldon, 3:408
- Seizure, 9:86
- criminal forfeiture, 3:273
- homeless persons' possessions, 5:280
- property, 1:1, 3:115
- See also* Search and seizure
- Selden, John, 9:86, 86–87
- Selden Society, 9:87–88
- Selective prosecution, 9:88
- Selective Service System, 9:88–89
- burning draft cards, 9:425
- conscientious objectors, 3:101–102, 4:419
- conscription, 3:102–103
- constitutionality, 7:57
- evasion, 2:227
- gender discrimination, 8:408–409
- Rostker v. Goldberg* (1981), 8:408–409
- sex discrimination, 9:136–137
- Solomon Amendment, 9:244
- Vietnam War, 1:266
- Welsh v. United States* (1970), 10:342–343
- Selectmen or selectwomen, 9:89
- Self-dealing transactions, 3:220, 9:89
- Self-defense, 9:89–91
- accidental killings, 1:54
- apprehension of attack, 1:322
- assault and battery, 1:371
- battered child/spouse syndrome, 1:503, 5:321
- exculpatory defense, 3:280
- justifiable homicide, 5:283
- manslaughter, 6:423
- murder, 7:142–143
- stalking, 9:294
- Self-determination, 9:91
- Self-employment. See Independent contractors
- Self-executing, 9:91
- Self-executing treaties, 9:91
- Self-help, 9:92–93
- Self-incrimination, privilege against, 8:110–112, 9:93–95
- application to states, 7:112
- Blatchford, Samuel, 2:64
- confessions, 3:80

- confrontation of accusers, 3:86–87
- criminal procedure, 3:287, 7:52–53
- film industry investigations, 3:39
- involuntary confessions, 5:473–474
- lineups, 6:331
- Miranda v. Arizona*, 4:209
- Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations Act, 8:220–221
- right to counsel, 8:360–361
- waiver of, 10:265–266
- Self-publishing, 7:147
- Self-regulation
- motion picture ratings, 10:441–442
 - securities industry organizations, 9:74, 76–77
- Self-representation
- criminal procedure, 3:287
 - discouragement of, 6:247
 - Ferguson murder case, 5:405
 - Sixth Amendment, 9:202
- Sellin Center. See Jerry Lee Center of Criminology
- Selma-to-Montgomery march (1965), 6:19
- Senate, United States, 9:95–96
- apportionment, 1:319
 - Armed Services Committee, 3:385
 - cloture, 2:457
 - confirmation of appointees, 1:142, 366, 5:37, 7:34
 - Foreign Relations Committee, 5:244
 - Government Committee on Operations, 7:9–10
 - human rights treaties, 5:306–307
 - impeachment hearings, 1:360–361, 5:151–152, 340, 341
 - Internal Revenue Service investigation (1997), 5:440–441
 - joint resolutions, 6:33
 - Judiciary Committee, 5:94, 9:96–98
 - majority leader, 3:89
 - McClellan Committee, 5:269, 6:200
 - McGrain v. Daugherty* (1927), 7:11–13
 - Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations, 2:487
 - Seventeenth Amendment, 9:128–129
 - Special Whitewater Committee, 10:366
 - televised hearings, 6:110, 110
 - term limits, 4:94
 - whip system, 6:374
 - See also* Confirmation hearings, U.S. Supreme Court; Congressional procedure
- Senate Select Committee on Labor and Management Practices. See McClellan Committee
- Senators, United States
- Bradford, William, 2:96
 - Breese, Sidney, 2:108–109
 - Brown, Joseph Emerson, 2:139, 139
 - Browning, Orville Hickman, 2:150–151, 151
 - Byrnes, James Francis, 2:200, 207
 - Calhoun, John Caldwell, 9:326
 - Campbell, Ben Nighthorse, 2:221, 222–223
 - Carpenter, Matthew Hale, 2:253
 - Carter, Thomas Henry, 2:266, 266
 - Choate, Rufus, 2:379
 - Clayton, John Middleton, 2:429–430, 430
 - Clinton, Hillary Rodham, 2:447, 448
 - Coke, Richard, 2:482
 - compensation, 10:134–135
 - Conkling, Roscoe, 3:99, 99
 - Dole, Robert Joseph, 3:499–501, 500
 - Douglas, Stephen Arnold, 4:8, 8–9
 - Ervin, Samuel James, Jr., 4:204–205, 205
 - Fulbright, James William, 5:13–15, 14
 - Glass, Carter, 5:100–101
 - Goldwater, Barry Morris, 5:110, 110–111
 - Hatch, Orrin G., 1:18
 - Helms, Jesse Alexander, Jr., 1:18, 5:243, 243–245
 - Humphrey, Hubert Horatio, 5:311
 - Kennedy, Edward Moore, 6:118–120, 119
 - Knox, Philander Chase, 6:151–153, 152
 - La Follette, Robert Marion, 6:168, 168
 - Lautenberg, Frank, 1:33
 - Lieberman, Joe, 3:395
 - Livingston, Edward, 6:349
 - Lodge, Henry Cabot, 6:366, 366–367
 - Lott, Chester Trent, 6:372–375, 373
 - Lott, Trent, 3:89
 - McCain, John Sidney, 7:1–3, 2
 - McCarran, Patrick Anthony, 7:5, 5–6
 - McCarthy, Eugene Joseph, 7:6–7, 7
 - McCarthy, Joseph, 3:41, 5:110, 209, 7:8, 8–9, 9:232
 - McClellan, John Little, 7:9, 9–10
 - Mondale, Walter, 1:33–34
 - Moseley-Braun, Carol Elizabeth, 7:125, 126
 - Norris, George William, 7:262–263, 263
 - Pendleton, George Hunt, 7:416–417, 417
 - Saxbe, William Bart, 9:8
 - Sherman, John, 9:170, 170–171
 - Steagall, Henry S., 5:101
 - Sumner, Charles, 9:398, 398–399
 - Thurmond, James Strom, 9:328, 328, 10:31, 31–33
 - Torricelli, Robert, 1:33
 - Wagner, Robert Ferdinand, 10:262–263, 263
 - Wellstone, Paul, 1:33–34
- Seneca Falls Convention (1848), 4:373, 9:98–100, 306, 10:408
- Seneca Falls Declaration of Sentiments (document), 12:394–395
- Senior citizens, 9:100–101
- Aging, Administration on, 5:220–221
 - American Association of Retired Persons, 1:245
 - consumer fraud, 9:102–103
 - elder law, 4:84–87
 - employees, 1:164–165, 165
 - Friedan, Betty, work of, 5:3–4
 - Gray Panthers, 5:134–135
 - income sources, 9:226
 - Medicare, 7:31
 - Old-Age, Survivors, and Disability Insurance, 7:310, 9:222–227
 - See also* Social Security Administration
- Senior interests, 9:102
- Seniority, 2:495, 9:102–103
- Sensationalism
- Court TV, 3:253
 - Loeb and Leopold trial (1924), 3:340–341

- Sentencing, 3:422, 9:103–109
 accumulative, 1:63
 allocution, 1:233
 Breyer, Stephen Gerald, 2:116
 community service, 3:48
 commutation, 3:49, 7:355
 corporal punishment, 3:211–212
 courts-martial, 3:245, 246–247
 Crime Control Acts, 3:270
 criminal procedure, 3:288–290
 cumulative sentences, 3:312–313
 determinate, 3:420–423
 drug offenses, 4:30–32
 DWI offenders, 4:48–49
 enhancement, 4:161
 fines and, 4:409–410
 fraud, 4:488
 gang-related crimes, 5:32–33
 incarceration, 5:357–358
 indeterminate, 10:180–181
 judicial discretion, 3:450 no contest pleas, 7:257
 plea bargaining, 7:457
 postconviction remedies, 8:42–43
 presentence investigation, 8:69
 probation, 8:123–125
 state's evidence, 9:325
 suspended sentences, 9:417
 three strikes laws, 8:251, 10:27–31
 truth in sentencing, 7:371
 U.S. Sentencing Commission, 10:180–182
 victim impact statements, 10:221
 Weinstein, Jack Bertrand, 10:328
See also Cruel and unusual punishment; Proportionality of punishment Sentencing Commission, U.S., 2:116, 10:180–182
 Sentencing Reform Act (1984), 8:124, 9:104, 10:181
 Separate but equal doctrine, 9:109
Briggs v. Elliott (1951), 2:264–265
 civil rights, 2:397
 colleges and universities, 2:499–500
 equal protection, 4:189–191
 Fuller, Melville W., 5:18
 Marshall, Thurgood, 6:443–444
 overturning by Brown v. Board of Education (1954), 2:142–145
Plessy v. Ferguson (1896), 2:136, 5:189, 7:464–465, 9:85, 308
Plessy v. Ferguson (1896) (document), 12:337–349
See also Jim Crow laws; Segregation
 Separate maintenance, 9:109
 Separation, husband and wife, 9:109
a mensa et thoro, 1:1, 7:39
 agreements, 9:110–111
 cohabiting couples, 2:474–475
 constructive desertion, 3:137–138
 dower, 4:16
 postmarital agreements vs. separation agreements, 8:43
 Separation of powers, 9:109, 111–112
 Adams, John, philosophy of, 1:82
 administrative law and procedures, 1:105–106, 114
 advisory opinions, 1:143
 American colonists, 4:157
 Constitution of the United States, 3:123, 129–131, 7:333–334
 executive privilege, 4:276
 federalism, 4:365–366
 judiciary, 6:62
 legislative vetoes, 10:215
 line-item vetoes, 10:214–215
 Minton, Sherman, philosophy of, 7:82
 Montesquieu, philosophy of, 7:108–109
 president and Supreme Court justices, 5:147
 Sargent, John, philosophy of, 9:3
 Scalia, Antonin, philosophy of, 9:10
 Supreme Court-packing plan (Roosevelt), 8:394–395, 396
Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. v. Sawyer (1952), 10:450–452
See also Checks and balances
 September 11 terrorist attacks (2001), 9:112–114
 Address to Congress, September 20, 2001 (Bush) (document), 12:488–492
 Bush, George Walker, 2:184
 Central Intelligence Agency, 2:305–306
 Cheney, Dick, 10:218
 disaster relief, 3:445
 executive orders, 4:275
 Federal Emergency Management Agency, 4:347
 flying schools, 1:147–148
 hijacking, 5:256
 impact on immigration laws, 1:217, 227 stock market response, 9:353
 U.S. Marshals Service, 10:179
 Victim Compensation Fund, 1:193, 9:264, 10:184, 185
 war on terrorism, 10:282, 283
See also Terrorism and terrorists; War on terrorism
 Sequestration, 9:114–115
 Serbia, sexual victimization, 6:385
 Serial killers, 7:100, 143–144
Seriatim, 9:115
 Serjeants at law, 9:115
 Serpico, Frank, 6:111
 Service and repair, automobiles, 1:424
 Service industries
 electronic commerce, 3:13
 gratuities, 5:131–132
 Service marks, 9:116–118
 applications, 9:117
 infringement, 5:455, 10:150–151
 trademarks, 10:73
 Service of process, 9:118–121
 constables, 3:115
 doing business, 3:498–499
 return day, 8:344
 See also Notice; Personal service
 Servicemen's Readjustment Act (1944), 5:75–76
 Services, 9:116
 Servitude, 9:121
 Sessions, 3:243, 9:121
 Sessions, William S., 4:332–333
 Set aside, 9:122
 Set-aside programs, 8:168
 Set back requirements, 2:163
 Set down, 9:122
 Set-off, 3:236, 9:122
 Setbacks, 9:122
 Settle, 9:123
 Settlement, real estate, 2:454–456
 Settlement statements, 9:124, 125–126
 Settlements, 9:123–124
 accord and satisfaction, 1:57–58
 breast implant lawsuits, 10:58–59

- consent decree, 3:103–104
 - state tobacco claims, 10:50
 - Tuskegee Syphilis Study lawsuit, 10:127
 - See also* Compromise and settlement
 - Settles, Ron, 2:463
 - Settlors, 9:124, 10:115–121
 - Seven Bishops' Trial (1688), 9:124, 127, 127–128
 - Seventeenth Amendment, 9:128–129
 - Seventh Amendment, 9:129–131
 - Severable, 9:131
 - Several, 9:131
 - Severance, 9:131–132
 - age discrimination, 1:161–162
 - golden parachutes, 5:106
 - Sex discrimination. See Discrimination, sex
 - Sex education, 1:68–69, 73–74
 - Sex offenses and offenders, 9:138–147
 - commitment of predators, 3:26
 - continued incarceration, 8:80–81
 - DNA evidence, 3:485, 488
 - Double Jeopardy Clause, 2:118
 - ex post facto, 4:261
 - fellatio, 4:370
 - fornication, 4:462
 - incest, 5:360
 - juvenile offenders, 6:101
 - lewdness, 6:295
 - Mann Act (1910), 6:416–417
 - offender registration, 7:37, 9:140–141, 146
 - ravishment, 8:240
 - sodomy laws, 2:474
 - Sexual abuse, 9:147, 147–150
 - abuse excuse, 1:41
 - child pornography, 8:33
 - degrees of, 8:237
 - recovered memories, 8:257–259
 - statute of limitations, 9:332
 - students, 4:74
 - Sexual assault and rape, 8:234–238
 - armed services, 1:339–340
 - capital punishment, 2:240
 - Celia, a slave, 2:280–281
 - consent, 3:103
 - domestic violence, 3:505
 - fair warning defense, 3:278–279
 - feminist legal criticism, 3:296
 - husbands and wives, 5:320
 - international law, 6:385
 - lynchings, 6:381
 - Megan's Laws, 7:36–38
 - Miranda v. Arizona* (1966), 7:83
 - pornography, 4:50
 - statutory rape, 9:336
 - See also* Ravishment
 - Sexual Assault Nurse Examiners (SANE) program, 8:235
 - Sexual Assault Response Teams (SART), 8:235
 - Sexual behavior
 - AIDS, 1:67, 68–69, 74
 - attitudes toward, 3:68
 - attorney-client relationships, 1:400, 402
 - Clinton-Lewinsky affair, 9:310–311
 - criminal prohibitions, 5:46
 - cunnilingus, 3:313
 - desertion, 3:419
 - fellatio, 4:370
 - husbands and wives, 5:320
 - incest, 5:360–361
 - Lawrence v. Texas* (2003) (documents), 11:163–254
 - pederasty, 7:413
 - privacy rights, 9:391
 - rape shield laws, 9:174
 - seduction, 9:83
 - sodomy, 9:233–234
 - See also* Adultery
 - Sexual harassment, 9:150–155
 - armed services, 1:338–339
 - Clinton, William Jefferson, 2:448, 452, 3:157, 5:332, 340
 - equal protection, 4:197
 - feminist jurisprudence, 4:376
 - Harris v. Forklift Systems* (1992), 4:73
 - Hill, Anita Faye, 5:258
 - MacKinnon, Catharine Alice, 6:383
 - Meritor Savings Bank v. Vinson* (1986), 4:73
 - quid pro quo*, 8:204
 - reasonable woman standard, 8:247–248
 - Rehnquist, William Hubbs, 8:275
 - students, 4:73–74
 - Thomas, Clarence, 3:157
 - Sexual orientation. See Gay and lesbian rights; Gays and lesbians
 - Sexual Politics* (Millett), 7:74–75
 - Sexually-transmitted diseases, 1:134
 - See also* Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome (AIDS)
 - Seyss-Inquart, Arthur, 7:290
 - Sham, 9:155
 - Shapiro, Robert Leslie, 9:155–157
 - Shareholders' rights
 - banks, 1:477
 - corporate bylaws, 2:201–202
 - cumulative voting, 3:313
 - derivative action, 3:407, 9:353–355
 - dividends, 3:221–222
 - meetings, 3:218, 218–219
 - protective legislation, 9:70–73
 - Shares, 9:157
 - Shaw, Lemuel, 4:371, 9:157, 157–158
 - Shays, Daniel, 1:297, 9:161
 - Shays's Rebellion (1786), 1:297, 297, 3:119, 9:160–161
 - Sheep, cloning, 5:64–65, 65
 - Sheindlin, Judy, 2:216
 - Shelters, 9:161
 - disaster relief, 3:444
 - homeless, 5:278, 7:21
 - Shepard, Mathew, 5:204
 - Shepardizing, 9:162
 - Shepard's® Citations*, 2:383, 9:162
 - Sheppard, Samuel H., 9:162–164, 163
 - Sheriffs, 9:164–165
 - execution, 4:267–268
 - posse comitatus*, 8:40
 - Sheriff's deeds, 9:165
 - Sherman, John, 5:36, 9:170, 170–171
 - Sherman, Roger, 9:171–172, 172
 - Sherman Anti-Trust Act (1890), 1:297, 298–299, 9:165–169
 - Clayton Act (1914), 2:428–429
 - fair-trade laws, 4:305
 - Harrison, Benjamin, 5:196
 - hospitals, 5:225
 - insurance regulation, 7:4
 - labor unions, 6:178
 - Lodge, Henry Cabot, 6:366–367
 - mergers and acquisitions, 7:45–46
 - monopolies, 7:103
 - professional baseball, 1:495
 - restraint of trade, 8:340
 - United States v. E. C. Knight Co.* (1895), 5:17
- Sherman Compromise, 4:113–114, 9:169–170

- Sherman Silver Purchase Act (1890), 2:440, 9:171
- Shield laws, 4:255, 8:236–237, 238, 9:172–175
- Shields, Nelson “Pete,” 2:99–100
- Shifting the burden of proof, 9:175
- Shinseki, Eric, 3:385
- Shintech, 2:298
- Shipping law, 1:118, 9:175–178
- air transport, 1:147
 - bills of lading, 2:29–31
 - carrier’s liens, 2:256
 - C.F.&I. (cost, freight, and insurance), 2:312
 - clause paramount, 2:426
 - common carriers, 2:253–256
 - consignment, 3:106
 - cross-claims, 3:303
 - demurrage, 3:400
 - draft payment, 3:16–17
 - duty of tonnage, 4:46
 - embargoes, 4:117
 - explosives liability, 4:285
 - Federal Maritime Commission, 4:348–349
 - F.O.B. (free on board), 4:437
 - France-U.S. conflict (1790s), 7:113
 - freight, 4:505–506
 - freight forwarder, 4:506
 - latent ambiguity case, 1:243
 - load lines, 6:355–356
 - railroads, 8:223–224
 - sales law, 8:446
 - sales performance, 8:445
 - trucking industry, 8:224
 - York-Antwerp Rules, 10:448–449
- See also* Admiralty and maritime law
- Ships and boats, 1:117
- Achille Lauro* hijacking (1985), 5:257
 - admiralty and maritime law, 1:115–119
 - Alabama* claims, 3:350–351, 5:266, 10:264
 - Amistad*, 1:263, 9:204
 - barratry, 1:492–493
 - cargo, 3:2
 - commerce regulation, 5:77
 - international merchant fleets, 9:176
 - latent ambiguity case, 1:243
 - load lines, 6:355–356
 - Maritime Administration, 10:84–85
 - maritime liens, 6:431–432
 - marque and reprisal, 6:433
 - navigable waters, 7:211–212
 - passports, 7:386
 - privateering, 8:110
 - Prize* cases (1863), 5:148
 - rules of naval war, 8:426
 - sailors, 8:438
 - St. Lawrence Seaway, 5:451
 - steam boats, 6:353
 - towage service, 10:64
 - USS Ronald Reagan, 8:244
 - wharves, 10:348–349
- Shipwrecks, 8:452
- Al-Shiraa* (newspaper), 3:110
- Shiras, George, Jr., 9:178, 178–179
- Shock radio, 2:126
- Shock-the-conscience test, 8:378–379, 9:179–180, 10:143
- Shooting sports, 7:187
- Shop-book rules, 9:180
- Shop stewards, 9:180
- Shoplifting, 6:206, 9:180–181
- Shopper’s cards, 8:99
- Shopping, online, 3:12–13, 5:458–459, 460
- Short cause, 9:181
- Short sales, 9:181
- Show cause, 9:181
- Show cause orders, 9:181–183, 182
- Show-ups, 9:183
- Shrink-wrap software licenses, 9:235–236
- Shutter Creek Correctional Institution, 8:186
- Shuttlesworth, Fred, 9:253
- Siblings, descent and distribution, 3:414
- Sic*, 9:183
- Sickle cell anemia, 5:66
- Sierra Club, 9:184, 301
- Sight drafts, 9:184
- Sigma Nu fraternity, 6:372–373
- Signatures, 9:184–186
- allographs, 1:233
 - alteration of instruments, 1:237
 - checks (finance), 1:478
 - commercial paper, 3:17, 19
 - cosigners, 3:233
 - countersign, 3:238
 - deeds, transfer of, 3:372
 - digital, 3:13
 - notaries public, 7:271
 - petitions, 7:436–437
 - subscribe, 9:385
 - wills, 10:378
 - “X,” 10:441
- Silence, fraud cases, 4:487–488
- Silicone breast implants lawsuits, 1:469, 10:58–59
- Silver
- currency policy, 9:170, 171
 - Specie Circular (1836), 5:130
- Silver Lake, 10:308
- Silverthorne, Frederick W., 5:9–10
- Simon and Schuster, Inc., 9:244–245
- Simple, 9:186
- Simple bonds, 2:77
- Simpson, O.J., case (1995), 9:186–189, 188
- Bailey, F. Lee, 1:444
 - cameras in court, 2:218–220
 - Clark, Marcia, 2:414–415
 - Cochran, Johnnie, L., Jr., 2:464
 - Dershowitz, Alan, 3:409–410
 - domestic violence, 3:504
 - double jeopardy, 4:3
 - grand jury, 5:126
 - preliminary hearing request, 8:63
 - Shapiro, Robert Leslie, 9:156–157
 - Simpson, Nicole Brown
 - journals, 5:235
 - system on trial, 1:136
 - wrongful death action, 10:435
 - Simpson, Wallis Warfield, 1:5
 - Simultaneous death, 9:189–190
 - Sinclair, Harry F., 9:448
 - Sinclair, Upton Beall, 9:190–191
 - Sine die*, 9:191
 - Sine qua non*, 2:194, 9:191
 - Singapore, caning punishment, 3:212
 - Single name papers, 9:191
 - Single name partnerships, 9:191–194, 192–193
 - Single-sex education, 10:238–240
 - Sioux Nation
 - banishment case, 1:463
 - Sioux Nation v. United States* (1979), 9:246
 - Treaty with Sioux Nation (document), 12:452–455
 - Sirica, John J., 6:7–8, 10:312
 - Sit, 9:194
 - Sit-ins, 1:448, 2:405–406, 9:377
 - Situs*, 9:194
 - Sixteenth Amendment, 2:260, 5:362, 439, 8:24–25, 9:194–195
 - Sixth Amendment, 9:195–202
 - accusation, 1:63
 - arraignment, 1:348–349
 - Confrontation Clause, 3:85–86, 287, 5:23, 9:11

- criminal procedure, 3:134, 281–282
Escobedo v. Illinois (1964), 4:208–209
Massiah v. United States (1964), 6:460 right to jury trial, 1:138, 3:287, 288, 5:206
See also Counsel, right to 60 Minutes (television program), 10:226
 S.J.D. (doctor of judicial science), 9:202
 Skepticism (philosophy), 5:309–310
 Skilled vs. unskilled labor force, 1:218–219, 223
 Slander. See Libel and slander
 Slating, 9:202
 Slaughterhouses. See Meat and poultry industry
 Slavery and slaves, 9:203–211
Amistad case (1839–1841), 1:86, 263–265
 Baldwin, Joseph Glover, view of, 1:456
 Buchanan, James, 2:156–157
 California and New Mexico, 9:447
 Campbell, John Archibald, 2:224–225
 Case, Salmon Portland, 2:322
 Catron, John, 2:274, 275
 Celia, a slave, 2:279–282
 charitable activities, 3:328
 Cinque, Joseph, 1:264
 Civil War, U.S., 10:173
 Clifford, Nathan, 2:445
Commonwealth v. Aves (1836), 9:158
 Compromise of 1850, 3:59–60, 4:405–406
 Compromise of 1850 (document), 12:147–157
 Democratic Party, 3:394
 Douglas, Stephen Arnold, 4:8–9
 Douglass, Frederick, 4:13–15
Dred Scott v. Sandford (1857), 2:275, 3:316, 337, 4:19–21, 5:147, 302–303, 6:25, 7:23, 230, 9:389, 437
Dred Scott v. Sandford (document), 12:165–304
 Duvall, Gabriel, 4:47
 Emancipation Proclamation (1863), 4:115–117
 Emancipation Proclamation (1863) (document), 12:307–308
 England, 6:421
 equal protection, 4:188
 Field, David Dudley, 4:396
 Fillmore, Millard, 4:405–406
 Free Soil Party, 4:492–493
 fugitive slave laws, 4:406, 5:12–13, 8:81–82, 9:362
 “A House Divided” speech (document), 12:305–306
 House gag rules, 5:24–25
 indenture, 5:373–374
 involuntary servitude, 5:475–476
 Jefferson, Thomas, 6:12–13
 Kansas-Nebraska Act (1854), 6:103–105, 7:444–445
 Kansas-Nebraska Act (document), 12:158–164
 Know-Nothing Party, 6:151
 Lecompton Constitution (1857), 6:104–105
 Lincoln, Abraham, 6:323–325
 Mansfield, William Murray, 6:421
 Mason, George, 6:452
 Massachusetts, 6:326–327
 Missouri Compromise (1820), 2:279–280, 427–428, 7:88–89, 89
 Missouri Compromise (document), 12:141–145
 Northwest Ordinance (document), 12:102–106
 nullification crisis, 2:213, 428, 6:254
 Polk, James Knox, 8:20
Prigg v. Pennsylvania (1842), 8:81–82
 reparations, 8:305
 Republican Party, 8:316, 10:389–390
 servitude, 9:121
 South Carolina Slave Code (document), 12:52–55
 states’ rights, 9:326
 statutory codes for slaves, 8:187
 Thirteenth Amendment, 10:19–21
 Thoreau, Henry David, 10:24
 Three-fifths Compromise, 3:121
 Wayne, James Moore, 10:317
 Whig Party, 10:353
 Wilmot, David, 10:388–389
 Wilmot Proviso (1846), 10:389–390
 Wilmot Proviso (document), 12:146
 women suffragists, 9:98
See also Abolition
 Sleepwalking, 1:409
 Slight care, 2:247
 Slip decisions, 9:211
 Slip laws, 9:211
 Small Business Administration, 9:211–213
 Small Business Institute (SBI), 10:171
 Small businesses, 9:211
 National Federation of Independent Businesses, 7:175
 sole proprietorships, 9:238
 Small claims class actions, 2:424–425
 Small claims courts, 2:216, 6:71, 9:213–215, 214, 261, 380
 Smallpox immunization, 5:335–336
 Smaltz, Donald C., 5:379
 Smart Border Declaration (2001), 2:229, 230
 Smart goods, 8:449
 Smart money, 9:215
 Smith, David L., 3:65, 5:455, 459
 Smith, Howard W., 7:133
 Smith, Joseph, 7:117
 Smith, Mary Louise, 9:217–218
 Smith, Robert, 9:218–219
 Smith, Walter, 2:102, 103
 Smith, William French, 9:219–220
 Smith, William Kennedy, 6:118
 Smith & Wesson (company), 5:167
 Smith Act (1940), 9:215–217
 aid to Nazi sympathizers, 5:264
 clear and present danger, 2:432
 Communist Party cases, 3:43, 44
 freedom of association and assembly, 4:494
 prosecution of Communist Party members, 2:487
 Smith-Mundt Act (1948). See United States Information and Educational Exchange Act (1948)
 Smithsonian Institution
 establishment of, 1:86
 immune from state laws, 5:432
 Smokeless tobacco, 10:44–45
 Smoking
 indoor smoking bans, 1:187
 Koop, Charles Everett, antismoking campaign, 6:154–155
 Surgeon Generals’ antismoking campaigns, 9:408–409
 tobacco, 10:41–51

- Smoking and Health* (Surgeon General report, 1964), 9:407
- Smuggling, 9:220–221, 221
- Snail darters, 4:181
- Sobell, Morton, 8:400, 401
- Sobriety stops. See Roadblocks and sobriety checkpoints
- The Social Contract* (Rousseau), 8:411–412
- Social hosts, 1:205
- Social policy
- Butler, Pierce, 2:200
 - Center for Law and Social Policy, 2:299
 - Center on Social Welfare Policy and Law, 2:300
- Social-process criminology, 3:293
- Social Security Act (1935), 9:222, 228–229
- Butler, Pierce, 2:200
 - Cardozo, Benjamin Nathan, 2:246
 - man-in-the-house rule, 6:411–412
 - New Deal programs, 7:234
 - Perkins, Frances, 7:429
 - Title IV-D, 2:365
 - Title XX, 2:349
 - unemployment insurance, 10:145
- Social Security Administration, 9:222–228
- F.I.C.A., 4:393
 - Free Exercise Clause, 8:291
 - hearing examiners, 5:234
 - individual retirement accounts, 5:385
 - Medicare, 7:31
 - numbers, 3:146
 - Old-Age, Survivors, and Disability Insurance, 4:85, 85–86, 7:310–311, 9:100
 - regressive taxes, 8:272
 - Steward Machine Co. v. Davis* (1937), 7:25–26
 - United States v. Lee* (1982), 8:291
- Social Services Block Grant, 2:349
- Social-structured criminology, 3:292–293
- Social utility, 10:189–190
- Socialism, 9:229–232
- Debs, Eugene, 3:364–365
 - Gitlow, Benjamin, 5:97
 - Marx, Karl Heinrich, 6:450–451
 - Sinclair, Upton Beall, 9:190
- Socialist Party of America, 3:45, 9:232–233
- Sociological jurisprudence
- Bentham, Jeremy, 6:76
 - Brandeis, Louis Dembitz, 12:494
 - legal realism, 6:245
 - “Mechanical Jurisprudence” (Pound) (document), 12:521–528
 - Pound, Roscoe, 8:45, 12:494
 - Weber, Max, 10:318–319
 - Wilson, James Quinn, 10:391–393
- Sociology
- criminology, 3:292–294
 - critical legal studies, 3:295
 - school desegregation, 9:22
 - sociological jurisprudence, 5:274
 - sports, 9:291
- Socratic method of teaching, 2:268, 6:202–203
- Sodomy, 9:233–234
- buggery, 2:161
 - cases, substantive due process, 9:391
 - cohabitation, 2:474
 - desuetude, 3:420
 - gay and lesbian rights, 5:46
 - Lawrence v. Texas* (2003), 6:217–218
 - Lawrence v. Texas* (2003) (documents), 11:163–254
 - sex offenses, 9:138–139, 139–141
- Soft money, 4:88, 90–91, 8:12
- Software industry, 9:234–237
- antitrust cases, 1:303–304, 7:104, 9:236
 - piracy, 3:151–154, 200, 7:452
 - self-help tactics, 9:92
 - Uniform Computer Information Transactions Act, 10:158–159
- Software Publisher’s Association, 3:152
- Soil conservation, 1:181
- Soldiers
- civilian distinction, 8:424
 - wills, 10:381
- Soldiers’ and Sailors’ Civil Relief Act (1918), 9:237–238
- Sole proprietorships, 9:238
- Soledad Brothers case (1970), 3:347–348
- Solicitation, 9:238–239
- conspiracies, 3:107
 - legal advertising, 6:230–233
 - of proxies, 1:150
- Solicitor General, England, 1:434
- Solicitor General, U.S., 6:87, 9:239–240
- Comstock, George Franklin, 3:67
 - Mitchell, William De Witt, 7:95
- Solicitors, 9:239
- Solid wastes, hazardous substances, and toxic pollutants, 9:240–244, 241, 242, 444
- Agency for Toxic Substances and Disease Registry, 8:170
 - Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation, and Liability Act (1980), 4:110
 - Energy Department, 4:146–147
 - Environmental Protection Agency controls, 4:183
 - federal law, 4:178–181
 - Hazardous Materials Transportation Act, 4:324
 - Metalclad Corp. v. Mexico* (2001), 7:264–265
 - nuclear waste, 7:278, 280, 282
 - Nuclear Waste Policy Act (1982), 8:25
 - poison, 8:2
 - pollution management, 8:25, 26
 - Research and Special Programs Administration, 10:85
 - water pollution, 10:306–309
 - See also* Yucca Mountain waste site (NV)
- Solitary confinement, 8:91, 96
- Solomon Amendment, 9:244
- Solvency, 9:244
- Somalia, UN peacekeeping, 5:446
- “Some Reflections on the Reading of Statutes” (Frankfurter) (document), 12:539–550
- Son of Sam laws, 9:244–245, 10:220–221
- Songs and songwriting, 7:146–147
- Sonny Bono Copyright Term Extension Act (1998), 3:194
- Sonosky, Marvin J., 9:245–246
- Sons of Liberty, 9:298
- Sony Corp., 9:246–248
- Sororities. See Fraternities and sororities
- Soul on Ice* (Cleaver), 2:434
- Soup kitchens, 7:233
- Souter, David H., 9:248–251, 249
- cameras in court, 2:220
 - Davis v. United States* (1994), 3:323

- Gignoux, Edward Thaxter, influence, 5:83
Lockyer v. Andrade (2003), 10:30–31
 physician-assisted suicide, 10:305
 South Africa, 6:440–441
 South America, drug control policy, 4:32
 South Carolina
 Confederate flag, 4:430–431
 misprision, 7:87
 nullification crisis, 2:213, 428, 6:254
 state lottery, 9:324
 South Carolina Slave Code (document), 12:52–55
 South Dakota
 divorce laws, 3:472
 gaming laws, 5:27, 27–28
 hunting laws, 5:316–317
 Sioux Black Hills case, 9:246
 Standing Rock Reservation, 1:463
 South Korea
 extraterritoriality, 4:295
 Korean War, 6:156–158
 South Sea Company, 6:34
 South Vietnam. See Vietnam War
 Southeast Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO), 4:82–83, 9:251–252
 Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC), 9:252–253
 Abernathy, Ralph David, 1:6–7
 Baker, Ella Josephine, 1:448
 civil rights movement, 2:405
 Jackson, Jesse Louis, Sr., 5:491
 King, Martin Luther, Jr., 6:142, 7:345–346
 Southern Manifesto, 6:23
 Southern Pacific Rail Road, 9:303
 Southern Poverty Law Center, 9:253–255
 Southern states
 Calhoun, John Caldwell, 2:213
 Democratic Party, 3:395, 9:327–328 disenfranchisement, 10:249–251
 dueling, 4:42–43
 Johnson, Andrew, post-Civil War policies of, 6:16
 Ku Klux Klan, 6:159–161
 lynchings, 6:380–382
 readmission to the Union, 8:253
 Reconstruction Acts (1867), 2:323–324
 slavery, 9:205–210
 Texas v. White (1869), 10:15–16
 vigilantism, 10:230
 Voting Rights Act (1965), 10:254–255
 white primaries, 10:250–251, 343, 362
 See also Confederate States of America; Reconstruction era
 Sovereign immunity, 9:255–258
 bridges, 2:121
 Chisholm v. Georgia (1793), 2:61–62, 375–376, 4:362
 Eleventh Amendment, 4:109–112
 federal government, 6:72
 Federal Tort Claims Act (1946), 4:357
 Puerto Rico, 8:181
 quasi-contracts, 8:197
 tort law, 10:61
 wrongful death, 10:433
 Sovereignty, 9:258–259
 Arctic, 1:330
 Cherokee nation, 8:406
 counterclaims and set-offs, 3:236 de jure government, 3:354
 dependent states, 3:401–402
 doctrine of equality of states, 3:489, 497
 Hawaiian sovereignty movement, 10:86–87
 Hobbes, Thomas, philosophy, 5:267
 immunity, 1:463, 5:329–330
 independence, 5:374
 inland waters, 5:400–401
 intergovernmental immunity doctrine, 5:431–432
 international law, 5:444
 islands, 5:485
 Native American tribes, 7:196
 recognition, 8:252–253
 secession, 9:47–48
 usurpation, 10:187
 Worcester v. Georgia (1832) (document), 12:409–450
 Soviet Union
 Anti-Ballistic-Missile Treaty (1972), 1:291–293
 arms control and disarmament, 1:343–347
 Cold War, 2:485–487
 communism, 3:37–40, 41, 42–43
 constitution, 3:116
 Cuban Missile Crisis (1962), 3:309–310 doctrine of massive retaliation, 4:44
 Eisenhower, Dwight David, foreign policy of, 4:83
 Hot Line Agreement (1963, 1971), 5:293
 Intermediate-Range Nuclear Forces Treaty (1987), 5:436–437
 Korean War, 6:156–157
 Lenin, Vladimir Ilyich, 6:268–269
 Limited Test Ban Treaty (1963), 6:321–322
 Litvinov Assignment (1933), 6:344
 Reagan, Ronald Wilson, foreign policy of, 8:244
 Rosenbergs trial (1951), 8:401–403
 Stalin, Joseph, 9:292–293
 START (Strategic Arms Reduction Talks) Treaties, 9:311–313
 See also Russia
 Space Shuttle Challenger, 8:386
 Spain
 Amistad case (1839–1841), 1:263–264, 9:204
 colonialism, 10:242–243
 Monroe Doctrine, 7:104–105, 106
 Puerto Rico, 8:179–180
 Spanish-American War (1898), 7:20–21
 Spam, 4:114
 consumer fraud, 3:147
 legal advertising, 6:231
 political, 10:37
 Spanish-American War (1898), 6:367, 7:20–21, 8:398, 9:259, 259–260
 Speakers of the House, 3:88, 5:296, 297
 Clay, Henry, 2:428
 Gingrich, Newton Leroy, 3:88, 5:90, 92
 Hastert, Dennis J., 3:88
 O'Neill, Thomas Philip, Jr., 7:316–317
 Special appearances, 1:309, 9:260
 Special assessments, 9:260
 Special calendars, 2:212
 Special Committee to Investigate Organized Crime in Interstate Commerce, 6:109–110
 Special Counsel, Office of, 7:49
 Special courts, 6:64, 9:260–262
 Special courts-martial, 7:60
 Special damages, 9:262–263

- Special Educational and Rehabilitation Services, Office of, 4:65
- Special-interest groups. See Political action committees (PAC)
- Special masters, 9:263–264
- Special Operations Group, U.S. Marshals Service, 10:178
- Special proceedings, 8:126
- Special Projects Section, FBI, 4:454
- Special prosecutors. See Independent counsel
- Special terms, 9:264
- Special use permits, 10:457
- Special verdicts, 10:204
- Special warranty deeds, 9:264, 10:289
- Specialization, 6:248, 252–253, 9:264–266
- Specialty, 9:266
- Specialty, doctrine of, 4:293
- Specialty estates, 8:149
- Specie Circular (1836), 5:130
- Specific intent, 3:275, 5:430, 9:266–268
- Specific legacies, 9:268
- Specific performance, 7:427, 9:268–271
- equity, 4:200
- equity maxims, 6:467
- sales law, 8:447
- Specifications (patent), 7:392–394, 393
- Spectrum 7, 2:182–183
- Speculative damages, 9:271
- Speech, freedom of, 4:413–416, 498–503
- abortion cases, 1:19, 23, 24–25, 8:310
- academic freedom, 1:44–48
- adult television programs, 2:130, 211
- Alien and Sedition Acts, 1:211–212
- American Civil Liberties Union, advocacy of, 1:252
- antipornography ordinances, 4:50
- Black, Hugo Lafayette, 2:45–46
- book censorship, 2:288–289
- Brennan, William Joseph, Jr., 2:111
- bright line rules, 2:124
- Burger, Warren Earl, 2:168
- Butler, Pierce, 2:199
- censorship, 1:357, 9:434–435
- Chafee, Zechariah, Jr., 2:312–314
- child pornography, 2:359
- Child Pornography Prevention Act (1996), 8:36
- Christian Legal Society, 2:380–381
- Clarke, John Hessin, 2:422
- clear and present danger, 1:26–29, 2:431–433
- colleges and universities, 2:503–505
- Communist Party cases, 3:43–44
- Comstock Law (1873), 3:68–69
- Debs v. United States* (1919), 3:365
- Don't Ask, Don't Tell, Don't Pursue policy, 1:337
- Douglas, William Orville, 4:11
- Electronic Frontier Foundation, 4:105
- fairness doctrine, 4:306
- Federal Communications Commission, 4:336–337
- Flag Protection Act (1989), 4:433
- flag salute cases, 1:231–232
- Freund, Ernst, 4:507
- gambling advertising, 6:334
- gay and lesbian rights, 5:53–54
- Gitlow v. New York* (1925), 5:97, 275, 8:22–23
- government employees, 5:201–202
- hate crimes, 5:203, 204–205
- incitement tests, 5:183–184
- Internet, 5:452–453, 454
- judicial candidates, 2:468–469
- legal advertising, 6:232–233
- libel and slander, 6:299–304
- liberty, 6:308
- liquor advertising, 6:333–335
- loyalty oaths, 6:377–378
- malice, 6:405
- military personnel, 7:58–59
- Mill, John Stuart, theories, 7:68–69
- Miller v. California* (1973), 7:73, 296
- must-carry rules, 2:128, 209, 6:455
- obscenity, 7:296–299, 9:342–343
- obscenity pledges, 2:288
- overbreadth doctrine, 7:339–340
- overthrow of government, 9:216
- parody, 7:368–369
- Pollak, Walter Heilprin, 8:22–23
- prisoners' rights, 8:93–94
- publishing law, 8:178–179
- pure speech, 8:191–192
- R.A.V. v. City of St. Paul* (1992), 10:143
- Roth v. United States* (1957), 8:409–410
- Rubin v. Coors Brewing Co.* (1995), 1:208
- Schenck v. United States* (1919), 9:13–14
- scrutiny tests, 2:210, 211
- sedition, 9:81–82
- soft-core pornography, 8:33
- Son of Sam laws, 9:245
- speech codes, 2:289
- speech plus, 9:272
- states, application to, 8:456
- Strossen, Nadine, 9:376
- students, 2:289, 4:67–68, 5:395, 7:244
- Telecommunications Act (1996), 2:130, 6:458
- Texas Beef Group v. Winfrey* (2000), 6:304–305
- time, place, and manner restrictions, 10:35–38
- Tinker v. Des Moines Independent Community School District* (1969), 10:38–40
- unlawful communications, 10:169
- unprotected areas of expression, 4:413–416
- See also* First Amendment; Symbolic speech
- Speech codes, 2:289, 504
- Speech on Opening the articles of Impeachment of Warren Hastings* (Burke), 2:173
- Speech or Debate Clause, 9:271–272
- Speech plus, 9:272
- Speeches
- Address to Congress, September 20, 2001 (Bush) (document), 12:488–492
- "Ain't I a Woman" (Truth) (document), 12:396–397
- Farewell Address (Washington) (document), 12:461–469
- First Inaugural Address (Reagan) (document), 12:484–487
- First Inaugural Address (Roosevelt, F.) (document), 12:476–478
- Fourteen Points (Wilson) (document), 12:473–475
- Gettysburg Address (1863), 6:325–326

- Gettysburg Address (1863) (document), 12:470
 "A House Divided" (Lincoln) (document), 12:305–306
 "I Have a Dream" speech (King) (document), 12:359–361
 Inaugural Address (Kennedy) (document), 12:479–481
 King, Martin Luther, Jr., 6:142
 Pound, Roscoe, 8:44
 Second Inaugural Address (Lincoln) (document), 12:471–472
 Voting Rights Act Address (Johnson) (document), 12:482–483
 Speed, James, 9:272–273, 273
 Speed limits, 1:425
 Speedy trial, right of, 9:273–275
 arraignment, 1:349
 formal accusation, 1:64
 Hoffman, Walter Edward, 5:270–272
 Sixth Amendment, 9:195–196
 Speedy Trial Act (1974), 9:275
 Speer, Albert, 7:290
 Spending power, 9:275–277
 Spendthrift trusts, 9:278–279, 10:118
 Spendthrifts, 9:277
 Sperm donation, 1:363–364
 Spielberg, Steven, 1:264–265
 Spies. See Espionage and spies
 Spin-offs, 9:279
 Spirit of the law, 6:467
The Spirit of the Laws (Montesquieu), 7:108–109
 Spitzer, Eliot, 9:79
 Split custody, 2:352
 Split decisions, 9:279–280
 Split-offs, 9:280
 Split-ups, 9:280
 Spoilation, 9:280
 Spoils system. See Patronage
 Sponsorship, bills in Congress, 3:90
 Sporkin, Stanley, 9:280–281
 Sports and sports events
 assumption of risk, 1:381
 free agency, 4:491
 tickets, 3:237
 Title IX, 2:502–20:503
 See also Baseball; Football
 Sports figures
 Carter, Rubin "Hurricane," 5:170
 Flood, Curtis C., 1:496, 9:288, 288
 Flowers, Charles, 9:268–269
 Martin, Casey, 3:439
 McNally, Dave, 9:288
 Messersmith, Andy, 9:288
 Page, Alan Cedric, 7:347–349
 Williams, Ted, 3:228
 See also Simpson, O.J., case (1995)
 Sports law, 9:281–292
 Spot zoning, 9:292
 Spouses. See Husbands and wives
 Spying. See Espionage and spies
 Squatters, 9:292
 SS. (scilicet), 9:292
SS Ioannis P. Goulandris (ship), 1:118
 St. Clair, James Draper, 8:439–8:440, 440
 St. Lawrence Seaway, 5:450–451
 St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corporation, 10:85
 St. Paul (MN), hate speech ban, 4:500–501, 5:204–205
 Stadiums and arenas, 9:283
 Staggers Rail Act (1980), 8:225
 Stale checks, 9:292
 Stalin, Joseph, 9:292–293, 293, 10:446
 communism, 3:37–39
 Roosevelt, Franklin Delano and, 8:397
 Yalta Agreement (1945), 10:445–446
 Stalking, 1:169, 9:293–297, 295
 Stamp Act (1765), 9:297–299
 English law, 4:154
 Franklin, Benjamin, 4:485–486
 Henry, Patrick, 5:246
 War of Independence, 10:279
 Stamp Act (document), 12:57–68
 Stamp taxes, 9:299
 Stanbery, Henry, 9:299–300
 Stand, 9:300
 Stand mute, 9:300
 Standard deductions, 9:300, 10:454
 Standard Oil Company, 4:143
 Standards
 accounting, 1:60–61, 5:62–63, 9:2 attorney conduct, 1:399, 3:15, 6:409–410
 bar examinations, 1:486–487
 domain names, 3:13–14 health care practitioners' conduct, 6:409 medical care, 7:30, 441
 National Institute of Standards and Technology, 3:11 of review, 8:239–240
 telecommunications, 9:451
 weights and measures, 10:325
 See also Community standards
 Standards of proof. See Burden of proof; Proof
 Standing, 9:300–301
 Standing Rock Reservation (SD), 1:463
 Stanford, Amasa Leland, 9:301–303, 302
 Stansbury, Robert, 3:321–322
 Stanton, Edwin McMasters, 2:292, 5:266, 6:16–17, 9:303–305, 304, 463
 Stanton, Elizabeth Cady, 9:305, 305–307
 Seneca Falls Convention (1848), 9:98–100, 99
 and Susan B. Anthony, 1:289–290
 Star Chamber, 9:307–308
Stare decisis, 9:308
 case law, 2:267
 common law, 3:31
 Constitutional law, 3:128
 equal protection, 4:197–198
 Fifth Amendment, 4:402
 Planned Parenthood of Southeastern Pennsylvania v. Casey (1992), 1:20
 See also Precedent
 Starr, Ellen Gates, 1:89
 Starr, Kenneth Wilson, 9:308–311, 309
 Clinton investigation, 5:340–341, 379–380, 380 independent counsel statute, 4:230
 Whitewater, 2:452, 10:366–368
 START (Strategic Arms Reduction Talks) Treaties, 1:293, 346, 9:311–313
 State, 9:313
 State, Department of, 9:315–320, 317
 Byrnes, James Francis, 2:207–208
 diplomatic immunity, 3:431
 protocol, 8:160
 Seal of the United States, 9:38
 Secretary, 9:58–59
 See also Secretaries of State
 State actions, 9:313–314, 401
 State actors, private actors as, 4:470
 State attorneys general, 1:144, 398
 State-chartered banks, 1:476
 State courts, 9:314–315
 advisory opinions, 1:144
 appeals, 1:305, 3:248

- appellate advocacy, 1:313–314, 315
 arraignment, 1:349
 balancing, 1:454
 civil court jurisdiction, 6:70–71
 concurrent jurisdiction, 6:69, 72
 Conference of State Court Administrators, 3:79
 court of claims, 3:248
 criminal court jurisdiction, 6:73
 equal protection, 4:196
Erie Railroad Co. v. Tompkins (1938), 4:202–203
 Exclusionary Rule, 2:417
 fines, 4:409
 hierarchy, 6:63
 judicial administration, 6:50
 judicial review, 6:57
 last resort, 6:208
 procedural rules, 2:391
 removal, 8:296
 structure, 3:241–243
 Supremacy Clause, 3:136
 Supreme Court authority over, 6:448–449
 supreme court justices, 3:78
 State forests, 10:415
 State interest, 9:320
 affirmative action, 4:194
 landmarks preservation, 6:199
 State legislatures
 alternative dispute resolution, 1:241
 apportionment, 1:451
 comparable worth reform, 3:52
 Constitutional amendments, 3:126
 criminal law, 3:273
 Dorr's Rebellion (RI, 1842), 3:507–508 election of senators, 9:128
 legislative councils, 6:259–260
 legislative procedure, 6:255–259 levees construction, 6:284
 New Jersey, 10:198–199
 structure, 6:263–264
 Wisconsin, 6:264
 State-level actions and laws administration of government elections, 4:94
 administrative agencies, 1:103
 adoption, 1:123
 age discrimination cases, 1:164
 agricultural law, 1:174–175
 air traffic regulations, 1:145–146 anti-dueling legislation, 4:43
 anti-gang laws, 5:31–32
 Articles of Confederation, 12:96–101
 assisted suicide, 4:241 asylum regulation, 1:385 automobile licenses, 1:425
 banishment, 1:462–463
 bankruptcy cases, 1:465
 bar examinations, 1:486–487
 bilingual education, 4:76
 Bill of Rights applicability to, 4:12
 blue laws, 2:65–67
 blue sky laws, 2:67–68
 boards of pardons, 2:69
 bootstrap doctrine, 2:80 boundary disputes, 2:88–89
 bounty hunters, 2:90–91 broker regulation, 2:132–133
 building codes, 2:162
 Bulk Sales Acts, 2:164
 business affected with a public interest, 2:189
 canals, 2:230
 celebration of marriage, 2:279
 cemetery regulation, 2:282–284
 census data and district boundaries, 2:292
 champerty and maintenance, 2:317 child abuse laws, 9:143 child care funding, 2:349 child care regulation, 2:349–351
 child labor laws, 2:355
 child protective services, 2:344–347
 child support, 2:361, 362–363, 365–366, 4:318–319, 7:362
 citizenship, 2:383–384
 clubs, regulation of, 2:458
 Code of Judicial Conduct, 2:469 codes of conduct for lawyers, 6:219 commitment laws, 3:24–25
 common carriers, 2:254, 255
 common-law marriage, 3:32–34 community property laws, 3:48 conflict with federal agencies, 8:165 constitutional role, 4:364–365
 constitutions, 3:116
 consumer credit laws, 3:266 corporal punishment laws, 3:211 corporate regulatory powers, 10:123–124
 corporations, 3:217–218
 counsel, right to, 8:359
 counties, 3:238–239
 criminal laws, 3:269, 276–277
 criminal procedure, 3:281–282 deceptive trade practices, 4:309–310
 delegate selection process, 4:95–96
 descent and distribution, 3:411
 disaster relief, 3:442
 divorce, 3:471–481
 domestic partner registration, 2:476
 double jeopardy, 2:246, 3:288, 4:2–3 dramshop laws, 4:18–19
 drugs and narcotics laws, 4:31–32, 7:165
 dual-sovereignty doctrine, 4:6
 Due Process Clause, 3:135, 8:377
 DWI, 4:47–49
 election regulation, 4:93–94
 Eleventh Amendment, 4:109–112
 employment discrimination laws, 4:132
 English-only laws, 4:158–159, 159*t*
 equal protection, 4:197
 escheat, 4:206–208, 207–208
 ethics statutes, 4:230
 Exclusionary Rule, 4:264
 exhaustion of remedies, 4:281 explosives laws, 4:284, 286
 extradition, 4:291–293
 extraordinary remedies, 4:295 fair-trade, 4:305
 false advertising, 4:307
 family car doctrine, 4:314–315 federal preemption of state tort claims, 10:42, 48 federal treaties precedence over, 2:329
 fellatio, 4:370
 ferry regulation, 4:385
 Fifth Amendment, 1:493–494
 financial responsibility acts, 4:407 flag desecration, 4:432–433, 502
 forfeiture, 4:458
 franchises, 4:479
 fraud, 4:488
 fugitive slave laws, 8:81–82

- Full Faith and Credit Clause, 5:15–16
 fundamental rights, 4:195–196
 gaming laws, 5:28
 gay and lesbian rights, 5:52–53
 genetic engineering, 5:64
 grandparents' visitation rights, 4:317–318
 gun control, 5:163
 health and welfare laws, 6:360–361
 highways, 5:253
 homeless persons, 5:278
 hunting laws, 5:316–318
 immigration, 1:219
 impersonation, 5:341–342
 incorporation, 2:34, 45, 383–384, 4:467–468, 469 infants' education and labor, 5:394
 insanity defense, 5:407–408
 insurance regulation, 1:426–427, 5:414, 7:4
 intergovernmental immunity doctrine, 5:431–432
 Internet jurisdiction, 6:370
 interstate compacts, 5:468–469
 jury nullification, 6:84–85
 labor law, 6:172
 landlord-tenant law, 6:195–197 lapse and wills, 6:205
 larceny, 6:206–207
 lawsuits against, 2:61–62, 375–376
 legal ethics, 4:233
 legal list statutes, 6:239 legal specialization certification, 6:252–253
 legislative history, 6:263
 limited liability companies, 6:318–319
 limited liability partnerships, 6:321
 long-arm statutes, 6:70–71, 369–370
 lost property, 4:408
 magistrates, 6:391
 managed care, 6:412–413 marriage regulation, 6:435–437
 martial law, 6:446
 Medicaid, 7:28–29
 medical malpractice, 6:409
 Megan's Laws, 7:37–38
 mergers and acquisitions, 7:44
 militias, 7:65, 67, 9:49–50 minimum wage, 7:78, 79*t*, 80
 municipal corporations, 7:138–139
 National Guard, 7:177
 no-fault divorce, 4:316
 no-fault insurance, 1:421, 427
 notaries public, 7:270–271
 nullification policy, 2:213, 428
 parole, 7:370–372
 paternity laws, 7:399
 poison, 8:2
 police power, 8:10
 polygamy, 8:26–28
posse comitatus, 8:40
 preemption, doctrine of, 8:58, 60–61
 premarital agreements, 8:66
 pretermitted heirs, 8:75–76
 printers ink statutes, 8:84
 private bills, 8:108–109
 private roads, 8:109–110
 privileged communications, 8:112–113 privileges and immunities guarantee, 8:113–114
 probate, 8:119, 10:377–378
 probation, 8:123–124
 professional responsibility, 6:249, 250, 8:137
 property rights, 4:435–436
 prostitution, 8:155–156
 public bridges, 2:121–122 public education systems, 4:67
 public offerings, 8:173 public school funding, 4:74–75, 75
 punishment, 8:186–187
 punitive damages, 8:188
 quasi in rem jurisdiction, 8:198–199
 rape, 8:234–238
 recidivism, 8:251
 reciprocal laws, 8:252
 recording of land titles, 8:255–256
 referenda, 8:264–265
 Repeal of Constitutional amendments, 10:133
 republican government, 8:316 requirement of counsel, 8:51–52
 residency, 8:331–333
 right of election, 8:355–356
 right-to-work laws, 8:362
 Rules of Decision Act (1948), 8:421
 rules of evidence, 4:247
 sales tax, 8:449–450
 same-sex marriage, 4:319
 savings and loan associations, 9:5
 seat belt laws, 9:46
 Section 1983, 9:60–63
 securities regulation, 9:74–75
 separation of powers, 9:3
 sex offenders, 8:80–81
 sheriffs, power of, 9:164–165
 shield laws, 4:255, 9:173
 smoking bans, 9:409
 sodomy laws, 9:234
 Son of Sam laws, 9:244–245
 speedy trial, right of, 9:275
 strategic lawsuits against public participation, 9:368
 substantive due process, 4:38–39
 surrogate motherhood, 1:433, 9:411, 415
 taxation, 9:443–444
 teaching standards, 9:26–28
 Temporary Assistance to Needy Families, 10:336–337
 three strikes laws, 10:27–31
 tobacco industry, 10:48, 50
 Torrens acts, 8:271–272 treaties' superiority over, 10:95
 trying juveniles as adults, 6:96
 unemployment compensation, 4:361, 10:146–147
 uniform acts, 10:154
 Uniform Child Custody Jurisdiction Act, 2:354, 4:317
 Uniform Computer Information Transactions Act, 10:158–159
 Uniform Probate Code, 10:160
 Uniform Rules of Evidence, 4:356
 unlawful communications, 10:26–27
 use taxes, 10:186–187
 venue, 10:202
 voting rights, 1:30–34, 4:94 welfare-to-work programs, 10:335
 whistleblowing, 10:355
 wildlife law, 4:421
 woman suffrage, 7:245
 woods and forests, 10:414–415
 workers' compensation, 4:131–132
See also Sovereign immunity
 State lotteries, 5:27, 27–28, 8:116, 9:320–324, 324
 State-of-the-art defense, 8:132
 State supreme courts, 3:242–243
 Statehood
 District of Columbia, 3:467
 Missouri Compromise (1820), 7:88–89
 Northwest Ordinance (document), 12:102–106
 Northwest Territories, 7:268
 Puerto Rico, 8:181

- Statement of accounts. See
Accounts stated
- Statement of affairs, 9:324
- State's evidence, 9:324–325
- States' rights, 9:325–327
- Articles of Confederation,
1:359, 3:159
- Bank of Augusta v. Earle*
(1839), 7:19
- Brickell, Robert Coman,
2:120–121
- Burton, Harold Hitz, 2:179
- Calhoun, John Caldwell, 2:213
- Campbell, John Archibald,
2:224
- Catron, John, 2:274–275
- commerce regulation, 3:3–8, 7:71
- Constitution, Article I, 1:129
- Daniel, Peter Vivian, 3:336–
337
- Democratic Republican Party,
3:396–397
- doctrine of equality of states,
3:489, 4:97
- Dred Scott v. Sandford*
(document), 12:165–304
- general welfare, 5:62
- harbor regulation, 1:489
- Marshall, John, 6:439
- McCulloch v. Maryland* (1819),
7:10–11
- Migratory Bird Treaty (1918),
7:55
- Reconstruction Acts (1867),
2:323–324, 4:45
- Seventeenth Amendment,
9:128–129
- sovereign immunity, 9:256– 258
- sovereignty, 9:258–259
- suits by citizens of other states, 5:480
- Supreme Court rulings, 4:362– 364
- Tenth Amendment, 9:460–462
- Tyler, John, 10:138
- Virginia and Kentucky
Resolves, 10:236–237
- Virginia and Kentucky
Resolves (document), 12:133–135
- Waite, Morrison Remick,
10:265
- States' Rights Party, 9:327–329
- Thurmond, Strom, 10:31–32
- Truman, Harry S., split from policy of, 10:115
- Stationery, 6:235
- Statistical sampling for population estimates, 2:296– 297
- Statistics and statisticians
- abortion patients, by age and marital status, 8:384
- actuaries, 1:80
- age discrimination, 1:161
- aggravated assaults, 1:169
- AIDS cases, 1:70
- air pollution, 1:185
- airline industry, 1:188
- alcohol purchases, 1:203
- alcohol-related traffic fatalities, 4:18
- aliens, 1:221
- aliens, illegal, 7:50
- apportionment, 1:451
- arrest for burglary, 2:170
- assaults, 1:371
- asylums, 1:385
- automobiles, 1:423
- bail skippers, 2:90
- bankruptcy, 1:468
- bar examinations, 1:121
- baseball salaries, 9:289
- birthrates, 1:58, 5:328
- Brief for the Defendant in Error, Muller v. Oregon
(document), 12:518–520
- broadcast media use, 2:127
- Canadian exports, 2:229
- capital punishment, 2:238–239, 240–241, 242
- carjacking, 2:247, 247
- census, 2:294–295
- charitable giving, 2:320
- child abuse and neglect cases (2000), 2:347
- child abuse victims by race/ethnicity (2000), 2:345
- child care, 2:348, 349, 350
- child custody, 2:352
- child molestation, 2:357
- child-rearing, cost of, 5:392
- child support nonpayment,
2:362
- children living in poverty,
2:367*t*
- civilian labor force participation rates (1980– 2000), 4:133
- cohabiting and married couple
households, 2000, 2:475
- college enrollment (1960– 2000), 2:499
- commercial paper, 3:20
- consumer fraud, 3:146
- consumer price index, 3:147–
148
- contraceptive use by women,
2:41
- copyright registration, 3:191
- crack cocaine offenses, 4:30
- criminal appeals, 1:305
- death, causes of, 1:52, 75
- Department of Education programs, 4:63
- determinate sentences, 3:422
- disabled children, 4:72
- DNA evidence, 3:485, 486–487
- domestic violence, 3:505
- Dow Jones stock performance, 9:352
- Drug Enforcement
Administration arrests, 4:25
- drug use during pregnancy
(1992), 4:387
- DWI offenders, 4:49
- e-commerce revenue, 3:13
- earnings, by union affiliation, 6:180
- Economics and Statistics
Administration, 3:8–10
- educational attainment by race/ethnicity (2000), 4:190
- electoral votes by state, 4:100
- electric utilities revenue
(1999), 4:103
- embezzlement (2001), 4:120
- employment discrimination, 3:453
- endangered species (2003),
4:141*t*
- estate and gift tax receipts (1970–2001), 4:220
- failed and problem banking institutions, 4:343
- farm acreage, 1:174
- fatal accidents on commercial air carriers, 4:326
- federal budget (1950–2001),
4:329
- federal credit unions, 7:172
- federal debt, 3:365
- felony indictments and
acquittals, 1:76, 77
- felony sentencing, 9:105
- firearms manufacturing, 9:49
- fires, 1:354
- fishing participation, 4:421
- gaming, 5:27
- gang membership, 5:30, 31
- gun deaths, 2:101
- gun ownership, 9:52
- hate crimes, 5:203
- health expenditures, 5:226
- health insurance, 5:226
- highways, 5:255
- HMO enrollment, 6:413

- homicides, 5:283
- houses sold (1980-1999), 2:455
- hunting, 5:26
- identity theft, 5:324, 325
- immigration, 1:216
- immunizations, 5:335
- income tax, 5:363
- individual retirement accounts, 5:388
- International Money Fund, 5:447
- Internet fraud, 5:459
- Internet use, 5:456
- jail population, 1:439, 5:358, 495
- juvenile arrests, 6:100
- larceny, by type, 6:206
- law degrees conferred, 6:237
- Legal Services Corporation grantee cases, by type, 6:251
- Libertarian Party votes, 6:306
- licensed drivers, by age (2001), 4:314
- lynchings, 6:381, 382
- Medicare, 7:32
- military personnel, 1:333, 3:102
- mortgages, 7:124
- murder weapons, 5:166
- natural gas, 5:43
- nonprofits, 7:261
- nuclear power, 7:277
- occupational illnesses or injuries, 7:301
- Old-Age, Survivors, and Disability Insurance, 7:311
- organ donation, 7:325
- organ transplants, 7:330
- paralegals, 6:235
- parolees, 7:371
- passports, 7:386
- patents, 7:388
- pilot certificates, 1:148
- plant closings notification, costs of, 2:190
- plea bargaining, 8:154
- political action committee campaign contributions, 8:12
- political party affiliation, 8:318
- political party fundraising (1992-1998), 4:344
- population aging, 4:84
- population by race and region, 2000, 2:293
- presidential election of 2000, 2:186
- prisoners executed (1977-2001), 2:237
- private police and guards, 8:5
- prostitution arrests, 8:155
- racial profiling, 8:214, 216
- railroad workers' deaths, 8:224
- rape reporting, 8:238
- refugees, 8:268
- religious denominations, 8:283
- robbery, 8:367
- school enrollment, 9:19, 30
- school-teacher ratios, 9:28
- seat belt use, 9:47
- segregation in schools, 5:423
- senior citizens, income, 9:226
- sexual assault, 9:147
- stalking, 9:295
- statistical sampling, 1:321
- substance abuse, 7:164
- suicide rate, 9:393
- taxation, 5:440
- terrorist incidents, 10:7
- tobacco products, federal excise taxes collected on, 10:46
- unemployment, duration of, 10:146
- unemployment, reasons for, 10:145
- unemployment rate (1950-1995), 4:361
- unemployment rate during Great Depression, 4:360
- union membership, 6:180, 10:70
- U.S. Courts of Appeals case filings, 10:175
- veteran population, 10:209
- voter turnout for presidential elections, 10:253
- voting, 3:454, 4:95
- waste management, 9:241, 242, 444
- weapons used in robberies, 8:368
- weather disasters, 3:441, 442
- welfare recipients, 10:333
- white-collar crime arrests, 10:360
- wiretapping, 10:398
- women college graduates, 1:158
- women in Congress, 7:246
- women occupations, 9:136
- Status, 9:329
- Status offenses, 9:329
 - juvenile justice system, 6:100
 - narcotic addiction, 8:376-377
- Status quo, 9:329
- Statute De Donis, 4:217
- Statute of Anne, 3:191
- Statute of frauds, 3:175, 8:445, 9:330-331
- Statute of limitations, 9:331-333
 - accrual, 1:63
 - adverse possession, 1:141
 - age discrimination cases, 1:164
 - appeals, 1:306, 312
 - child sexual abuse, 8:257, 258
 - commencement of action, 1:78
 - DNA evidence, 3:487
 - lawsuits, 6:181
 - lifting the bar, 6:317
 - ninety-day letters, 7:247
 - Section 1983 cases, 9:63
 - time calculations, 10:34
- Statute of uses, 4:217, 9:333-335
- Statute of Wills, 9:335
- Statute of York, 9:335
- Statutes, 9:329-330
 - air pollution, 4:174-176
 - alternative dispute resolution by administrative agencies, 6:64
 - canons of construction, 2:234-235
 - chemical manufacturing regulation, 4:179
 - child abuse, 2:344-345
 - criminal, 3:273-274
 - embezzlement, 4:118-120
 - enabling, 4:135, 136-138
 - engrossment, 4:161
 - enrolled bills, 4:163
 - environmental law, 4:174-181
 - executors and administrators, 4:280
 - expository, 4:287
 - extortion, 4:290
 - felonies, 4:373
 - finances, 4:409
 - fires, 4:412
 - footnote 4, 4:444-445
 - forfeiture, 4:456
 - fornication, 4:462
 - grandparents' visitation, 4:317-318
 - hazardous substances, 4:178-181
 - hierarchy of law, 6:209
 - lame duck legislation, 6:184
 - legal publishing, 6:242
 - legislative history, 6:262-263
 - long-arm, 6:70
 - pesticide regulation, 4:179
 - popular name tables, 8:31, 32*t*
 - purview, 8:192
 - qui tam actions, 8:202
 - repeal, 8:305
 - revised, 8:344
 - rubric of a statute, 8:414
 - saving clauses, 9:4

- “Some Reflections on the Reading of Statutes” (Frankfurter) (document), 12:539–550
 within the statute, 10:404
 title, 10:40
 trusts, creation of, 10:118
 underinclusiveness, 10:143
 U.S. Code, 10:174
 U.S. Code Annotated®, 10:174 void for vagueness, 10:244 wait and see, 8:417
 water pollution, 4:176–178
- Statutes at Large* (Office of the Federal Register), 9:336
- Statutory, 9:336
- Statutory rape, 8:236, 9:139, 144, 336
- Statutory redemption, 9:336–337
- Stays, 9:337–338
- Stays of execution
 Chessman, Caryl, 2:338
 Rosenberg, Julius and Ethel, 8:404–405
- Steagall, Henry S., 5:101
- Steamboats, 5:77, 6:353
- Steel industry
 NLRB v. Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. (1937), 7:255–256
 United Steelworkers of America, 5:104
 Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. v. Sawyer (1952), 3:130, 7:82
- Steering, 9:338
- Steffan, Joseph, 1:333–334, 335–336
- Steimer, Molly, 1:27
- Steinberg, Saul P., 5:142–143
- Steinem, Gloria, 9:338–339, 339
- Stem cell research. See Fetal tissue research
- Stenographers, 9:339–340
- Stenographic machines, 3:404, 404–405
- Stepparents, 7:362
- Stereotypes. See Discrimination and stereotypes
- Sterilization, 9:340
 Buck v. Bell (1927), 5:275–276
 habitual criminals, 4:79
 mentally disabled persons, 2:159–161, 4:79 women employees, 4:388
 wrongful pregnancy, 10:437
- Stern, William and Elizabeth, 1:431–433, 4:320, 8:314, 9:410
- Stevens, John Paul, 9:340–344, 341
 Apprendi v. New Jersey (2000), 5:206
- Atkins v. Virginia* (2000), 1:388
- Boy Scouts of America v. Dale* (2000), 2:93
- California v. Acevedo* (1982), 1:411
- Cooper Industries, Inc. v. Leatherman Tool Group, Inc.* (2001), 3:334
- ex post facto laws, 4:260
- gambling and liquor
 advertising, 6:334–335
- physician-assisted suicide, 10:304
- prior restraint, 8:85
- Privileges and Immunities Clause, 8:115
- Reno v. American Civil Liberties Union* (1997), 5:454
- Stevenson, Adlai Ewing, 3:309, 9:344–346, 345
- Stewart, Potter, 9:346, 346–347
 Abington School District v. Schempp (1963), 1:9
 Engel v. Vitale (1962), 4:150
 freedom of the press, 4:504
 Furman v. Georgia (1972), 5:19
 Gregg v. Georgia (1976), 5:144
 Griswold v. Connecticut (1965), 7:249
 Jones v. Alfred H. Mayer Co. (1968), 10:20
 judicial immunity, 6:53
 Robinson v. California (1962), 8:377
 Witherspoon v. Illinois (1968), 10:403
- Stieber, Tamar, 7:129–130
- Stimson, Henry Lewis, 9:347–348, 348
- Stipulations, 3:456–457, 9:348–350, 349, 10:107
- Stock Market Crash (1929)
 Hoover, Herbert, policies, 5:288 role of Federal Reserve System, 5:101 speculation, 7:232
- Stock markets. See Securities, markets and exchanges
- Stockholder’s derivative suits, 9:353–355
- Stocks. See Securities
- Stolen property
 constructive trusts, 3:141
 mala fides, 6:401
 receivers, 8:249–250
 receiving, 8:250–251
 transporting, 3:8
- Stone, Harlan Fiske, 9:355, 355–357
 Japanese American curfew, 6:4
 Minersville School District v. Gobitis (1940), 4:434
 proponent of balancing, 1:453
- Stone, Lucy, 9:357, 357–358
- Stonewall Inn, NYC, protest (1969), 5:45
- Stop and frisk, 9:358–360
- Stop orders, 9:360
- Stop payment orders, 9:360, 360
- Stoppage in transit, 9:360
- Story, Joseph, 9:360–362, 361
 Amistad case (1839–1841), 1:264
 class actions, 2:423
 Harden v. Gordon (1823), 8:438
 Martin v. Hunter’s Lessee (1816), 6:448–449
 Prigg v. Pennsylvania (1842), 8:81–82
 Swift v. Tyson (1842), 9:424
- Stout, Juanita Kidd, 9:362–364, 363
- Stowe, Harriet Beecher, 9:364, 364–365
- Straddle, 9:365–366
- Straight-line depreciation, 3:406, 9:366
- Straits, 5:449
- Strangers, 9:366
- Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT I and II), 1:292, 344–345, 345
- Strategic Defense Initiative (SDI), 1:345, 8:243–244
- Strategic lawsuits against public participation (SLAPP), 9:366–368
- Stratton, Hal, 3:150
- Straw men, 9:368
- Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement, 8:450
- Street railroads, 9:368, 369
- Streicher, Julius, 7:290
- Strict construction, 1:452, 2:236, 9:368–369
- Strict foreclosure, 4:449, 9:67, 369
- Strict liability, 9:369–370
 environmental law, 4:173
 explosives, 4:284–285
 malfeasance, 6:404–405
 product liability, 8:126, 129, 130–132
 Rylands v. Fletcher (1868), 8:432–433
 scienter, 9:32
 tort law, 10:60

- water pollution, 4:177, 10:308–309
- Strict scrutiny, 9:370–371
- cable industry and the must-carry rule, 2:210
 - classification for equal protection, 4:192, 193–194
 - judicial candidates' free speech, 2:468–469
 - limits to free speech, 4:500–501
 - race and ethnicity
 - classifications, 8:213
 - Roe v. Wade* (1973), 8:312
 - state interest, 9:320
 - Stone, Harlan Fiske, 9:356
 - suspect classification, 9:416
 - Warren, Earl, 10:296
 - Warren Court, 10:292
 - Wygant v. Jackson Board of Education* (1986), 10:439
- Strikes, 9:371–374
- air traffic controllers (1981), 1:189, 4:325
 - back to work agreements, 1:433
 - baseball, 1:496
 - contract disputes, 6:173
 - farm workers, 2:333–334
 - hunger strikes, 5:359
 - Industrial Workers of the World, 5:391
 - Labor-Management-Relations Act (1947), 2:454
 - permanent replacement of strikers, 10:153–154
 - Pinkerton agents, 7:448, 450
 - professional athletes, 9:289
 - Pullman Strike (1894), 3:339, 363–364, 7:312–313, 8:182–183
 - shirtwaist manufacturers, 10:109–110
 - steelworkers (1952), 6:157–158
 - United Farm Workers of America, 10:161
 - warehousemen, 5:268
 - wildcat strikes, 10:373
 - Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. v. Sawyer* (1952), 10:450–452
- String citations, 9:374
- Strip searches, 4:69–70
- Strong, William, 9:374, 374–375
- Strong-arm provision, 9:374
- Strossen, Nadine, 9:375–377
- Struck juries, 9:377
- Student Exchange Visitor Information System (SEVIS), 1:148
- Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), 9:377–378
- Baker, Ella Josephine, 1:448–450
 - Bond, Horace Julian, 2:76
 - Carmichael, Stokely, 2:250–251
 - civil rights movement, 2:405–406
 - Hamer, Fannie Lou Townsend, 5:175–176
 - Lewis, John Robert, 6:296
- Students
- with AIDS, 1:73
 - AIDS education, 1:68–69
 - alcohol use, 1:200–202
 - athletes, 9:285–286
 - citizenship education, 2:300–301
 - Civil Rights Movement
 - protests, 9:377
 - Confederate flags, wearing of, 4:431
 - disabled students, 3:435, 435–436
 - drug testing, 1:454
 - free speech rights, 1:48, 2:289, 4:67–68, 5:394–395, 10:38–40
 - immunization, 5:333
 - in loco parentis*, 5:352–353
 - international, 1:148, 215
 - law students, 5:141, 7:114
 - leading prayers, 1:9–10
 - Little Rock (AR) school integration, 1:499–500
 - music trading, 5:425
 - plagiarism, 7:455
 - Pledge of Allegiance, 1:232, 5:421
 - records, 8:103
 - school authority over, 9:28–29
 - school newspaper censorship, 2:289, 8:85
 - search and seizure, 9:43
 - sexual harassment, 4:73–74
 - shootings, 7:144
 - Solomon Amendment, 9:244
 - teacher-student ratios, 9:28
- Studies, reports, and surveys
- Administrative Office of the United States Courts, 1:112, 113
 - Amnesty International, 1:268
 - animal rights, 1:278–279
 - Attorney General's Committee on Administrative Procedure, 1:114
 - Bright Futures or Broken Dreams: The Status of the Children of the District of Columbia and an Investment Agenda for the 1990s*, 2:367
 - Brownlow report, 4:270
 - business closings notification, 2:190
 - campus alcohol use, 1:201–202
 - capital punishment, 2:241–242, 3:294
 - Carrington Report, 2:257
 - Chicago Jury Project, 2:340–341
 - child care, 2:348
 - Commission on Civil Rights, 3:23
 - constitutional rights of children, 2:369
 - costs of capital punishment, 2:239–240
 - Delinquency in a Birth Cohort*, 2:301
 - divorce attorneys report, 3:480
 - domestic violence, 3:505–506
 - drug court programs, 4:23
 - indoor air quality, 10:45
 - Internet Fraud Complaint Center, 5:323–324, 458
 - Iran-Contra Affair, 5:477–478
 - Judicial Conference of the United States, 3:276
 - The Measurement of Police Integrity* (National Institute of Justice), 8:8
 - A Nation at Risk* (Department of Education), 4:62
 - physician-assisted suicide, 4:238
 - Presidents' Committee on Administrative Management, 1:113–114
 - racial bias and capital punishment, 2:240–241
 - Ringle Report, 6:5
 - school integration, 5:422–423
 - three strikes laws and recidivism, 10:29
 - trying juveniles as adults, 6:96
 - Warren Report*, 10:291–292
 - Wickersham Commission, 10:370–371
 - women's income, 3:52
 - Work Accidents and the Law* (Eastman), 4:57
 - zero tolerance, 10:455
 - See also* Documentation; Statistics and statisticians
- Sua sponte*, 3:456, 457, 9:379
- Sub nomine*, 9:379
- Sub silentio*, 9:379
- Sub-surface rights, 1:94
- Subcontractors, 9:379

- Subject matter
jurisdiction, 6:71, 73, 9:379–380
trusts, 10:116
- Subjective theory of contract, 7:294
- Subletting, 9:380
- Submerged lands, 9:380–381
- Submission of controversy, 9:381
- Submit, 9:381
- Subordination, 9:381, 382
- Subornation of perjury, 9:381–382
- Subpoena duces tecum*, 4:37, 9:384
- Subpoenas, 9:382–384, 383
administrative agencies, 8:165
witnesses, 10:405–406
- Subrogation, 5:419, 9:384–385
- Subscribe, 9:385
- Subscriptions, 9:385–386
- Subsequent contract conditions, 3:178
- Subsidiaries and parent companies, 7:364, 9:386–387
instrumentality rule, 5:411–412 parent-subsidiary finances, 3:223 spin-offs, 9:279
split-offs, 9:280
split-ups, 9:280
- Subsidies
agriculture, 1:172–173, 178, 179–182, 3:27–28, 7:233, 9:356 subsidized adoption, 1:123
- Substance, 9:387
- Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA), 5:222, 8:172, 9:387–388
- Substantial, 9:388
interference, 7:284 performance, contracts, 3:178–179
- Substantial factor formula for proximate cause, 8:161
- Substantiate, 9:388
- Substantive due process, 9:388–392
Field, Stephen Johnson, 4:397, 398
judicial review, 6:57–58
Lawrence v. Texas (2003), 6:218–219 privacy and autonomy rights, 4:402
Sutherland, George, 9:418
Washington v. Glucksberg (1997), 10:305
West Coast Hotel Co. v. Parrish (1937), 10:344
Substantive fairness, premarital agreements, 8:67 Substantive law, 9:392
adjective law, 1:93
admiralty and maritime law, 1:115–116
due process, 4:38–39
federal common law, 9:424
procedural law, 2:390, 8:125
procedure, 8:126
Substituted service, 9:119, 392
Suburbs, 5:422, 9:22–23
Subversive advocacy, 4:414
Succession, 5:37, 8:70–71, 9:392, 10:130, 217
Succession of states, 9:392–393
Sudden peril doctrine, 4:121
Sue, 9:393
Suffer, 9:393
Suffrage, 9:393
See also Voting
Sugar industry tariffs, 1:180
United States v. E. C. Knight Co. (1895), 5:17
Sui generis, 9:393
Sui juris, 9:393
Suicide, 9:393, 393–395
Foster, Vince, 10:365–366
Kevorkian, Jack, 3:359, 5:284, 7:208
privacy, 8:98
wrongful death, 5:485
See also Euthanasia; Physician-assisted suicide Suits, 9:395
Sullivan, L.B., 7:238
Sum-of-the-years depreciation, 3:406
Summary, 9:395
Summary courts-martial, 7:60
Summary judgments, 9:395–396
civil procedure, 2:392, 6:45
matters of law, 6:464
motions, 7:129–130, 133–134
questions of fact and questions of law, 8:200–202
trials, 10:103
Summary jury trials, 1:240
Summary proceedings, 8:126, 9:396
Summary process, 9:396
Summons, 9:118, 9:396–398, 397
Sumner, Charles, 9:398, 398–399
Sumptuary laws, 9:399
Sun Diamond Growers, 2:119
Sunday closing laws. See Blue laws
Sunset provisions, 1:107, 9:399–400
Sunshine laws, 8:179, 9:400
Superfund. See Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation, and Liability Act (1980)
Superior, 9:400
Supermax prisons, 8:91
Supersede, 9:400
Supersedeas, 9:400
Superseding causes, 5:471, 7:226
Supervening, 9:400
Supplemental Appropriations and Rescissions for the Department of Defense to Preserve and Enhance Military Readiness Act (1995), 4:140
Supplemental Security Income (SSI), 1:220, 4:86, 10:334–336
Supplementary proceedings, 8:126, 9:400
Support, 9:400–401
Support groups, 1:199
Support trusts, 10:119
Suppress, 9:401
Suppression hearings, 4:472
Suppression of riot, 8:365
Supra, 9:401
Supremacy Clause, 9:401–402
balance of powers, 4:366
binding authority, 2:36
judicial review, 6:57
preemption, 8:58, 60–61
Section 1983, 9:60
state courts, 3:136
Supreme Command of the Allied Powers (SCAP), 7:56
Supreme Court Historical Society, 9:403–404
The Supreme Court in U.S. History (Warren), 10:290–291
Supreme Court of the United States, 1:311, 9:13, 404–406, 405 abortion debate, 9:250
abstention doctrine, 1:35
admission to the bar, 1:121
advisory opinions, 1:143–144
appellate advocacy, 1:311–312, 313, 314, 315
arbitration, 1:327–328
attorney-client privilege cases, 1:394 audiotaped sessions, 2:217, 220
authority, 6:428, 439 authority over state courts, 6:448–449
Badger, George, nomination of, 1:437
balancing, 1:452–454

- binding law, 6:210
 Bork, Robert Heron,
 nomination of, 2:82–83
 cameras in court, 2:217–218, 220
 Carswell, George Harrold,
 nomination of, 2:258
 caseload, 2:26
 Chief Justice, office of the,
 2:342–344
 Constitution, U.S., 3:122, 131– 132 constitutional rights of children, 2:369
 court hierarchy, 6:63
 court packing plan, Roosevelt, 8:370, 394–395, 396
 court-packing plan, Roosevelt, 3:312, 7:235, 9:13, 419 death sentence appeals process, 2:239
 dissents, 10:300
 first copyright case, 10:350– 351
 Gilbert, Cass, architecture,
 5:85–86
 Incorporation Doctrine, 2:34
 Jewish justices, 5:104
 Judiciary Act (1789), 5:196–
 197, 6:65–66
 jurisdiction over tribal/state
 disputes, 2:335–336 labor relations issues, 7:256 martial law declarations, review of, 6:445
 Nixon, Richard, impact of,
 7:252
 number of justices, 9:299
 original jurisdiction, 7:335–336 party politics, 2:327, 330 political partisanship, 2:189, 6:61
 political questions, 1:451–452, 5:72, 8:14–15
 powers of, 2:328–329 presidential nominations,
 12:554*t*–12:555*t*
 publishing decisions, 7:23
 rational basis test, 8:239–240
 Reagan appointees, 8:244 recording, 3:261–262, 7:338– 339 relation to Attorney General, 1:395
 religion, defining, 8:283 reporting procedure, 8:193 rules of procedure, 2:390–391
 Solicitor General, 9:239–240
 “Some Reflections on the Reading of Statutes”
 (Frankfurter) (document), 12:539–550
 state boundary disputes, 2:88– 89
 states’ rights, 4:362–364 succession of Chief Justices, 12:559*t*
 succession of justices, 2:343*t*, 12:556*t*–12:558*t*
The Supreme Court in U.S.
History (Warren), 10:290– 291 Vietnam War related decisions, 10:229–230
 Warren Court, 10:292–294
 writs of certiorari, 2:310, 311
See also Reporters of decisions (occupation); specific justices by name
Supreme Court Reporter, 8:307
 Supreme courts (general), 9:315,
 402–403
 Surcharges, 9:406
 Sureties, 9:406
 Surety. See Principal and surety
 Surface water disputes, 10:310–
 311
 Surgeons General, 6:153–156,
 154, 9:406–407, 408–409
 Surplusage, 9:407
 Surprises, 9:407
 Surrebutter, 9:407
 Surrejoinder, 9:407
 Surrender, 9:407
 Surrender Speech (Black Hawk)
 (document), 12:451
 Surrogate courts, 9:408
 Surrogate mothers, 9:408–416
 custody issues, 8:314
 family law, 4:319–320
 In re Baby M (1988), 1:128–
 129, 431–433
 Surtaxes, 9:416
 Surveillance, electronic, 4:105–
 4:109
 Survivors’ benefits, 9:224–226
 Survivorship, right of, 6:31,
 8:357
 Suspect classification, 9:416–417
 equal protection, 4:191–196, 192
Frontiero v. Richardson (1973),
 5:7–8
 rational basis test, 8:240
 sex discrimination cases, 9:135–136
 women, 10:411–412
 Suspects’ rights
 courts-martial, 3:244–245 mentally ill, 5:368, 408–409
 Suspended sentences, 9:417
 Suspicion, 9:417
 Sustain, 9:417
 Sutherland, Edwin H., 3:293,
 10:358
 Sutherland, George, 8:50–52,
 9:417–419, 418
 SWAT teams, 3:355, 9:421–422
 Swayne, Noah Haynes, 9:422–
 423, 423
 Sweatshops, 2:356
 Sweezy, Paul M., 1:45, 45–46
 Swindling, 4:118
 Swine flu, 5:334
 Switzerland
 Berne Convention for the Protection of Literary and Artistic Works, 3:192–193, 202
 Burlamaqui, Jean Jacques,
 2:173–174
 reparations, 8:304
 Syllabi, 9:424
 Syllogisms, 2:278
 Symbionese Liberation Army
 (SLA), 3:279–280, 5:237–238
 Symbolic delivery, 9:424
 Symbolic speech, 9:425–427
 Confederate flag, 4:431
 desecration of the flag, 4:432–
 433, 502
 First Amendment protection,
 4:416, 502–503
 Flag Salute cases, 4:431–433,
 434–435, 483
 Fortas, Abe, 4:464
 manner restrictions on free speech, 10:37
 obscenity, 7:298
 religious vs. secular displays,
 8:284–285
 speech plus, 9:272
 Texas v. Johnson (1989),
 10:13–14
 Tinker v. Des Moines
 Independent Community School District (1969),
 10:38–40
 Syndicates, 9:427–428
 Synopsis, 9:428
 Syphilis study, 10:126–127
- T
 Table of cases, 9:429
Table Talk (Selden), 9:87
 Tacit, 9:429
 Tacking, 1:141, 9:429
 Taft, Alphonso, 9:429–431, 430
 Taft, William Howard, 8:399–
 400, 9:431–433, 432

- Taft-Hartley Act. See Labor-Management Relations Act (1947)
- Tail, 9:433
- Tailhook Scandal (1991), 1:338–339
- Takeovers, 9:433
 bids and tender offers, 9:71, 77
 business judgment rule, 2:191
 golden parachutes, 5:106
 greenmail, 5:142–143
 lockup, 6:364
 poison pill, 8:2–3
 Posner, Victor, 8:21
 risk arbitrage, 1:324, 8:366–367
 scorched-earth plans, 9:37
 shares, 3:224
 See also Mergers and acquisitions
- Taking
 eminent domain, 4:123–124, 6:189, 8:149–150
 endangered species, 4:139–140
 landmarks preservation, 6:199 police power challenges, 8:10
- Taking Rights Seriously* (Dworkin), 4:52
- Talesman, 9:433
- Taliban, 2:385–386, 10:282–283
- Talleyrand, Charles, 10:443
- Tamm, Edward Allen, 9:433–435
- Tammany Hall, 2:377, 4:242–243, 397, 7:446, 9:435, 435–436
- Tamper, 9:436
- Taney, Roger Brooke, 9:436–438, 437
 Charles River Bridge v. Warren Bridge (1837), 2:321
 Dred Scott v. Sandford (1857), 4:19, 21, 6:25
 Dred Scott v. Sandford (document), 12:165–304
- Tangible, 9:438
- Tanzania, 10:282
- Tape recordings (Nixon tapes), 2:169, 3:259–260, 5:378, 7:253, 254–255, 9:384
- Target planning, 6:43–44
- Tariffs, 9:438
 agricultural, 1:179, 180, 5:58, 288
 customs duties, 3:325–327
 Jackson, Andrew, 5:488
 North American Free Trade Agreement (1994), 7:264
 Polk, James Knox, 8:20
 Republican platform (1888), 5:195
- Taub, Edward, 1:276
- Tax avoidance, 9:438
- Tax courts, 9:438–439
 letter rulings, 6:274
 Tax Court, U.S., 4:341
- Tax deeds, 9:439
- Tax evasion, 7:126, 9:439–440
- Tax rates, 9:440
- Tax Reform Act (1986), 5:363, 9:440, 440–441
- Tax returns, 1:109, 9:441
- Tax sales, 9:441–442
- Taxable income, 9:442
- Taxable situs, 9:442–443
- Taxation, 9:443–445
 abatement, 1:3
 accrual basis accounting, 1:62
 accumulated earnings tax, 1:63
 ad valorem, 1:81
 adjusted gross income, 1:98
 alcohol sales, 1:199, 205
 American colonies, 3:426, 5:246
 amortization, 1:269
 annuities, 1:283
 audit, 1:407
 Bank of the United States, 7:11
 basis, 1:497
 business partnerships, 3:225 church and state, 8:285–286
 commerce regulation, 3:6–8
 compromise and settlement, 3:59
 depletion allowances, 3:402–403
 depreciation, 3:406–407
 diplomatic agents, 1:243
 direct tax, 3:433
 double, 4:7
 duty of tonnage, 4:46
 estate and gift, 4:220–227
 excise, 4:263–264, 10:46, 46–47
 firearms, 7:175–176
 Fries's Rebellion (1798), 5:6
 graduated tax, 5:122
 gross income, 5:152
 Internal Revenue Code, 5:437
 Internal Revenue Service, 5:437–442, 440
 Licence Tax Cases (1868), 2:325
 limited liability companies, 6:317, 319–320
 Magna Charta, 6:394
 Native American gaming, 7:204
 ninety-day letters, 7:247
 nonprofits, 7:262
 partnerships, 7:382
 pensions, 7:420–421
 poll taxes, 8:20, 10:133, 251 progressive tax, 8:139
 property, 9:260
 property tax funded education, 6:444
 proportionate taxes, 8:272
 rebates, 8:248
 regressive taxes, 8:272 relief tax, 8:418 religious organizations and sales tax, 8:291 rolls, 8:387
 rule in Shelley's Case (1581), 8:417–418
 S corporations, 8:435
 Santa Clara County v. Southern Pacific Railroad Company (1886), 8:459–460 scholarships, 9:286
 self-dealing transactions, 9:89
 Stamp Act (1765), 9:297–298
 Stamp Act (document), 12:57–68
 stamp taxes, 9:299
 tobacco, 10:46, 46–47
 towns, 10:65
 Townshend Acts (1767), 10:65–66
 transfer taxes, 10:79
 transnational corporations, 10:80
 unemployment, 10:145–146
 use taxes, 10:186–187
 warehouse banks, 3:111
 warrants, 10:287
 Whiskey Rebellion (1794), 10:353–355
 William the Conqueror, 4:152–153
 See also Income tax; Sales tax
- Taxing costs, 9:445
- Taxis, 3:29
- Taxpayer Advocate, Office of, 1:407
- Taxpayer Bill of Rights, 1:407, 5:440, 441–442, 9:445–446
- Taxpayer's suits, 9:446, 10:65
- Taylor, Zachary, 9:446, 446–447, 10:352
 compromise of 1850, 4:405
 Whig Party, 10:353
- Teachers and teaching
 academic freedom, 1:44–48
 Dix, Dorothea Lynde, 3:481, 481–483
 Scopes, John T., 9:36
 Scopes trial (1925), 1:459, 9:36–37

- state minimum qualifications, 9:26–27
- teacher-student ratios, 9:28
- Wallace, Aaron, 7:437
- Teamsters
 - Hoffa, James Riddle, 5:267–270
 - Kennedy, Robert Francis, 6:124
 - Senate investigations, 7:10
- Teapot Dome scandal (1924), 3:344, 5:188, 9:447–448
- Technological innovation
 - agriculture, 1:253
 - computer-assisted legal research, 3:61–62
 - court management, 3:243–244
 - court reporting, 3:404–405
 - Daubert test, 3:343
 - demonstrative evidence, 3:399
 - DNA evidence, 3:485–489
 - electronic commerce, 3:11–13
 - environmental nuisance remedies, 4:172–173
 - Federal Communications Commission regulation, 6:459
 - Internet, 5:451
 - jurimetrics, 6:68
 - manufacturers, 3:11
 - Office of the 21st Century Workforce, 6:171
 - patents, 5:427–428
 - pollution control, 4:183–184
 - software piracy, 3:153
 - tax processing, 5:440
 - Technology Administration, 3:11
 - virtual state court, 3:242
 - warrantless searches, 4:473
- Technology Administration (Commerce Department), 3:11
- Teenagers
 - AIDS education, 1:68–69
 - drivers' licenses, 1:425
 - stalking, 9:295
- Telecommunications, 9:448–452
 - brokers, effect on, 2:134
 - Caller ID, 7:414–415
 - Computer Law Association, 3:66–67
 - depositions, 3:405
 - deregulation, 8:174
 - Electronic Frontier Foundation, 4:104–105
 - federal policy, 3:10
 - Hot Line Agreement (1963, 1971), 1:344, 5:293
 - Internet access, 5:456
 - Internet fraud, 5:324, 458
 - mergers and acquisitions, 7:47–48
 - pen registers, 7:413–415
 - State Department policies, 9:318–319
 - United States v. American Telephone & Telegraph Co.* (1982), 1:302
 - Verizon Communications, 1:492
 - wireless technology, 4:334, 5:459
 - Wireline Competition Bureau, FCC, 4:334
 - wiretaps, 7:93–94, 312
 - WorldCom, Inc., 3:213, 226
 - See also* Broadcasting
- Telecommunications Act (1996)
 - broadcasting regulations, 2:130, 6:458
 - cable television, 2:211, 6:459
 - Federal Communications Commission, 4:335–337
 - industry mergers and acquisitions, 7:48
 - radio station ownership, 6:456
 - V-chip, 2:287
- Telegraph
 - history, 9:448
 - patent case, 5:185–186
- Telemarketing
 - consumer fraud, 3:146–147, 9:102–103
 - consumer protection, 3:151, 9:101
 - regulation, 8:99
 - solicitation, 9:238
- Telephone industry. See Telecommunications
- Televised trials. See Cameras in court
- Television, 9:452–453
 - broadcasting industry, 9:450–451
 - C-SPAN (Cable-Satellite Public Affairs Network), 3:308–309
 - cameras in courtrooms, 3:252
 - campaign advertising, 5:111
 - censorship, 2:286–287
 - content ratings, 6:458
 - courtroom shows, 2:216–217
 - Courtroom Television Network (Court TV), 3:252–254
 - “Driving While Black” (ABC report), 8:214
 - Family Viewing Policy, 2:286
 - Federal Judicial Television Network, 4:348
 - Forensic Files* (television program), 3:253
 - freedom of the press, 4:505
 - history, 2:127
 - Kefauver Senate Crime Investigating Committee hearings, 6:110, 110
 - Levan v. Capitol Cities/ABC* (1999), 6:300–301
 - National Association of Broadcasters, 7:166–167
 - Nixon election campaigns, 7:251–252
 - quiz shows, 3:108
 - radio, effect on, 2:125–126
 - videocassette recording, 9:246–248
 - violence, 2:286–287
 - See also* Cable television
- Television Violence Act (1990), 2:286
- Tellico Dam construction, 4:139
- Temperance Movement, 1:200–203, 9:453–455
 - Anthony, Susan Brownell, 1:289
 - dramshop acts, 4:18–19
 - Stanton, Elizabeth Cady, 9:306–307
- Temporary allegiance, 2:384
- Temporary Assistance to Needy Families (TANF), 10:336–337
- Temporary Emergency Court of Appeals, 6:430, 9:455
- Temporary injunctions, 5:398–399
- Temporary officers, 1:81
- Temporary protected status, 1:382
- Temporary relief, 2:393–394
- Temporary restraining orders, 5:400, 8:339–340, 340, 9:455–456
- Tenancy, 4:219, 8:148, 9:456
- Tenancy by the entirety, 6:31–32, 35, 8:148, 9:456
- Tenancy in common, 9:456–457
 - cooperatives, 3:74
 - joint estates, 6:31
 - joint tenancy vs., 6:35
 - property law, 8:148–149
 - trust beneficiaries, 10:117
- Tenancy in coparcenary, 9:457
- Tender, 9:457
- Tender offers, 9:71, 77, 457
- Tender years doctrine, 2:352, 9:457–458
- Tenements, 9:458
- Tennessee
 - apportionment laws, 1:450–451

- Catron, John, 2:273–274
 gerrymandering, 5:72
 Gore, Albert Arnold, Jr., 5:116–117
 Grundy, Felix, 5:156
 Jackson, Howell Edmunds, 5:489
 Scopes trial (1925), 3:341, 9:36–37
 Tennessee Valley Authority, 4:139, 9:458–459
 Tennessee Valley Authority Act (1933), 9:459–460
 Tenor, 9:460
 Tenth Amendment, 9:460–462
 doctrine of limited powers, 2:260
 federalism, 3:136
 state responsibility for education, 4:67
 states' rights, 9:325
 See also Police power, government
 Tenure, 9:462
 academic freedom, 1:45
 constitutional rights, 2:506–507
 federal judiciary, 4:367
 state teaching standards, 9:27–28
 Tenure of Office Act (1867), 5:151, 6:16–17, 9:304–305, 462–463
 Terminable alimony, 1:229
 Terminable interest, 4:225–226
 Termination, 10:2
 action, 1:78
 apprenticeships, 1:323
 arbitration issues, 1:328
 bailment, 1:446
 charitable trusts, 10:121
 commercial paper, 3:22 contract offers, 3:170
 contracts, 3:179
 corporations, 3:224
 discharge, 3:446
 dissolution, 3:463 employment, 4:127–129, 132, 5:106, 113, 6:85–86 federal officials, 9:304–305, 463
 franchises, 4:477, 479
 jeopardy, 4:3–4
 lapse, 6:204–205
 maintenance, 6:399
 marriage, 6:435
 military, 7:58
 officers, 7:309
 parental rights, 2:354, 355, 368, 7:359
 partnerships, 7:382
 secured transactions, 9:67
 sheriffs, 9:165
 Steffan v. Aspin (1993), 1:333–334
 teachers, 9:27–28
 treaties, 10:95
 Terms, 10:1
 congressional, 4:94
 court administration, 3:243
 legislators, 6:265
 presidential, 10:130, 133–134
 special terms, 9:264
 Supreme Court of the United States, 9:404
 Terms and connectors database searches, 10:346
 Terms of art, 10:1–2
 Terrell, Mary Eliza Church, 10:2, 2–3
 Territorial courts, 10:3
 Territorial rights
 Cherokee cases, 2:335–337, 8:406–407
 Treaty with Sioux Nation (document), 12:452–455
 Worcester v. Georgia (1832) (document), 12:409–450
 Territorial waters, 10:3–4
 boundaries, 2:87
 conservation zones, 4:424
 islands, 5:485
 law of the sea, 6:214–215
 low-tide elevations, 6:376–377
 straits, 5:449
 Territoriality, 10:4
 Territories of the United States, 10:4–5
 Northwest Ordinance (1787), 7:267–268
 Northwest Ordinance (document), 12:102–106
 Puerto Rico, 8:179–180
 Spanish-American War (1898), 7:21
 Territory, 10:5
 Terror, in riots, 8:364 Terrorism and terrorists, 10:5–9
 aid and comfort, 1:182
 bin Laden, Osama, 3:113–114
 civil rights of aliens, 1:214
 Defense, Department of, 3:385–386
 drug trafficking, 4:25
 extradition, 4:293
 federal advisory system, 5:277, 277
 Homeland Security, Department of, 5:276–278 international incidents, 10:7
 Internet, 5:454–455
 Ku Klux Klan, 4:189
 Mohamed, Ali A., 3:113–114, 114
 money laundering, 7:101–102 nuclear materials, 7:280–281
 rules of war, 8:422–423
 sedition, 9:82
 United States v. Mohamed (2000), 3:113–114
 unlawful communications, 10:169
 U.S.-Mexico relations, 7:52
 USA PATRIOT Act (2001), 1:183, 9:275
 See also Hijacking; September 11 terrorist attacks (2001); War on terrorism Terrorism Risk Insurance Act (2002), 5:419
 Terry, David Smith, 8:453
 Terry, Randall, 1:15
 Test cases, 10:11–12
 Testacy, 10:12
 Testament, 10:12
 See also Wills and inheritance rights
 Testamentary, 10:12
 Testamentary trusts, 6:348
 Testate, 10:12
 Testators, 4:280, 10:12, 378, 380
 Testify, 10:12–13
 Testimonial immunity, 8:111
 Testimony, 10:13
 admissibility, 4:248
 avowal, 1:429–430
 children, 9:142–143, 147–149, 199
 dead man's statutes, 3:354–355
 deponents, 3:403
 depote, 3:403
 depositions, 3:403–405
 expert, 4:249, 283–284
 eyewitnesses, 4:296
 fruit of the poisonous tree, 5:12
 husbands and wives, 5:321 immunity from prosecution, 5:332
 infants, 5:395
 matters of fact, 6:463
 perpetuating testimony, 7:430
 plea bargaining, 7:459
 rape victims, 8:235
 refreshing memory, 8:266
 self-incrimination, privilege against, 8:111, 9:93–94
 subpoenas, 9:382–384
 testify, 10:12–13
 viva voce, 10:243

- Testing
 AIDS/HIV, 1:72, 74, 9:146 arms test bans, 1:344, 6:321–322
 bar examinations, 1:121, 121–122, 391, 486–487
 law schools, 2:268
 marriage blood tests, 6:436 medical tests for employment, 3:438
 paternity cases, 7:399
 sobriety, 5:344, 344–345
See also Drug testing; Genetic screening
- Tet Offensive (1968), 10:226
- Texas
 abortion laws, 1:16
 alimony law, 1:229–230
 alternative dispute resolution, 1:241
 annexation, 8:18–19
 Ballinger, William Pitt, 1:460–461
 Baylor, Robert Emmett Bledsoe, 1:504–505
 Burnet, David Gouverneur, 2:174
 Bush, George Walker, gubernatorial race of, 2:183–184
 capital punishment, 2:241
 common-law marriage laws, 3:33–34
 divorce laws, 3:472
 flag-desecration law, 9:426
 Gregory, Thomas Watt, 5:145
 habeas corpus, 5:171
Lawrence v. Texas (2003) (documents), 11:163–254
 limited liability partnerships, 6:321
 martial law, 6:446
 property tax funded education, 6:444
 sodomy laws, 5:46
Texas v. Johnson (1989), 10:13–15 trains and railroad regulation, 1:34–35
 Unauthorized Practice of Law (UPL) committee, 10:142
 Weddington, Sarah Ragle, 10:324
 white primaries, 10:343, 362
 Texas Beef Group, 6:304–305
 Texas Rangers (baseball), 2:183
 Textbooks and course packets, 3:192
 Thacher, Oxenbridge, 10:430
 Thayer, Webster, 8:436–437
- Theater High-Altitude Area-Defense System (THAAD), 1:347
- Theaters and shows, 8:16–17
- Theft, 10:17
 automobiles, 1:426
 fraud distinction, 4:488
 identity theft, 5:323–325
 impossibility, 5:348
See also Larceny
- Theodosian Code, 10:17–18
- A Theory of Justice* (Rawls), 8:241
- Therapeutic jurisprudence, 4:23
- Therapy child abuse cases, 9:148–149
 marital counseling, 3:257–258, 473
- Thermal imaging, 4:473, 9:344
- Thermal pollution, 10:306
- Think tanks. See Research organizations
- Thinking about Crime* (Wilson), 10:392
- Third Amendment, 3:134, 10:18–19
- Third degree, 8:23, 10:19
- Third parties, 10:19 contract beneficiaries, 3:177–178
 impleader, 5:342–343, 7:376
 interpleader, 5:460–461
 legal malpractice, 6:240, 410 relation to partnerships, 7:380–381
 subrogation, 5:419
- Thirteenth Amendment, 10:19–21
Civil Rights cases (1883) (document), 12:311–336
 involuntary servitude, 5:475–476, 9:121
Plessy v. Ferguson (1896), 7:464
Plessy v. Ferguson (1896) (document), 12:337–349
 provisions, 2:396
- Thomas, Clarence, 10:21–22, 22
Beck v. Prupis (2000), 8:220
Chavez v. Martinez (2003), 7:85
 confirmation hearings, 3:157, 5:258, 9:152–153
 ex post facto laws, 4:260
Good News Club v. Milford Central School (2001), 4:502
Kansas v. Hendricks (1997), 3:26
Liquormart v. Rhode Island (1996), 6:335
- Thompson, Smith, 10:22–23, 23
- Thomson Corp. (West Publishing Company). See West Group
- Thoreau, Henry David, 2:388, 10:23–25, 24
- Thornburgh, Richard Lewis, 10:25–26, 26
- Thoughts and Details on Scarcity* (Burke), 2:173
- Threats, 10:26–27
 assault, 1:369–370
 extortion, 4:290
in terrorem, 5:354
 stalking, 9:296
 unlawful communications, 10:169
- Three-fifths Compromise, 3:121, 9:208–209
- Three Mile Island accident (1979), 7:278, 280
- Three strikes laws, 10:27–31
 constitutionality, 4:81
 recidivism, 8:251
 sentencing, 9:108
 Souter, David Hackett, 9:251
 Violent Crime Control and Law Enforcement Act (1994), 10:235
- Threshold Test Ban Treaty (1963), 1:344
- Thrift Supervision, Office of, 10:93
- Thurmond, James Strom, 10:31, 31–33
 Clinton impeachment, 5:340
 Lott, Chester Trent and, 6:374
 presidential election of 1948, 9:328, 328
- Tickets and reservations
 airlines, 1:189–190
 scalping, 10:16–17
 sports events, 3:237
- Tierce, Dennis, 7:398
- Tilden, Samuel Jones, 10:33, 33–34
 Carpenter, Matthew Hale and, 2:253
 Evarts, William Maxwell and, 4:243
 presidential election of 1876, 4:100–101, 6:465
- Till, Emmett, 6:382
- Tillman, Benjamin R., 2:292
- Timber industry logging law, 6:369
 national forests, 10:415
 water pollution, 10:308
- Time, 10:34
 commercial paper dates, 3:18
 equity maxims, 6:467–468

- rescission, 8:329
- rewards, 8:348
- zones, 10:34
- Time, place, and manner restrictions, 10:35–38
- Time drafts, 10:34–35, 35
- Time is of the essence, 10:35
- Time-price differentials, 10:38
- A Time to Heal* (Ford), 3:197–198
- Timely, 10:38
- Timeshares, 10:38
- Tips, 5:131–132, 364
- Tires, automobile, 1:423
- Tison, Ricky and Raymond, 3:409
- Tithes, 9:86–87
- Tithing, 10:40
- Title 11, United States Code, 1:112
- Title I, Elementary and Secondary Education Act (1965), 8:286
- Title III, Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act (1968), 4:107
- Title insurance, 2:455, 10:40–41
- Title IX, Education Amendments (1972), 2:502–503, 9:286–287
- Title searches, 8:255, 10:41
- Title VI, Civil Rights Act (1964), 4:182
- Title VII, Civil Rights Act (1964)
 - affirmative action, 2:399, 8:212–213
 - arbitration, 1:328
 - comparable worth, 3:50, 51
 - Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, 4:184–185
 - equal protection, 4:197
 - reproductive hazards and employment, 8:314
 - sex discrimination, 9:133, 134
 - women's rights, 10:410–411
- Title VIII, Civil Rights Act. See Fair Housing Act (1968)
- Title X, Public Health Service Act (1970), 1:19
- Titles, 10:40
 - abeyance, 1:8
 - abstract of title, 1:36–40
 - adverse possession, 1:139–142
 - after-acquired title, 1:160
 - auctions, 1:405
 - chain of, 2:316
 - clear, 2:433
 - clouds on, 2:457–458
 - color of, 2:509
 - condominiums and cooperatives, 3:73–74
 - constructive trusts, 3:138–141
 - covenants, 3:254–255
 - documents of, 3:497
 - highway land, 5:253–254
 - joint tenancy, 8:357
 - legal, 6:253
 - marketable, 6:432
 - muniments of, 7:140
 - notice recording, 7:272
 - paramount titles, 7:355
 - quiet enjoyment, 8:204–205
 - quitclaim deeds, 8:207
 - recording of land titles, 8:255–257, 271–272
 - search, 1:37–40, 5:131
 - Torrens system, 8:271–272, 10:56
 - transfer of, 3:174, 418
 - vendors and purchasers, 10:201
 - voidable, 7:434
 - warranties, 10:287
 - worthier title doctrine, 10:427
- Tituba (Salem witch trials, 1692), 8:442
- To wit, 10:41
- Tobacco, 10:41–51
 - class actions, 2:425
 - federal excise taxes collected on, 10:46
 - industry lawsuits, 9:343
 - Koop, Charles Everett, 6:154–155
 - regulation, 1:207–209
 - See also* Smoking
- Tobacco Institute, 10:51–52
- Tocqueville, Alexis de
 - Democracy in America*, 12:493, 495–499
 - “Lawyers and Judges” (document), 12:495–499
- Todd, Thomas, 10:52–53, 53
- Tokyo Trial (1946–1948), 10:53–55, 54
- Tolls, 10:55
- Tonkin Gulf Resolution (1964), 10:55–56
- Tontine, 10:56
- Topeka (KS), public schools, 11:1–162
- Torrens title system, 8:271–272, 10:56
- Torricelli, Robert, 1:33, 2:292
- Tort Claims Act (1946), 4:380–381, 9:255
- Tort law, 10:57–62
 - AIDS-related suits, 1:75–76
 - animal injuries, 9:370
 - assault, 1:369
 - assault and battery, 1:370
 - automobile accidents, 1:420, 422
 - avoidable consequences, 1:429
 - battery, 1:504
 - Cardozo, Benjamin Nathan, 2:244–245
 - causality, 2:276–277
 - contributions, 3:183
 - disparagement, 3:459
 - explosives, 4:284–285
 - false imprisonment, 4:311–312
 - Federal Tort Claims Act (1946), 4:356–358
 - Good Samaritan doctrine, 5:114–115
 - government immunity, 5:330
 - handling of corpses, 3:230
 - heart balm acts, 5:321
 - independent contractors, 5:375
 - intent, 5:430
 - joint tortfeasors, 6:35
 - last clear chance, 6:207–208
 - legal cause, 6:235
 - libel and slander, 6:298–305
 - limited liability company members, 6:319
 - malfeasance, 6:404–405
 - malicious prosecution, 6:405–409
 - military personnel, 7:59
 - misfeasance, 7:86
 - mitigation of damages, 7:96
 - motives, 7:131
 - natural and probable consequences, 7:204–205
 - negligence, 7:221, 353
 - nonfeasance, 7:260–261
 - privacy, 8:100–101
 - proximate cause, 8:161
 - publicity, right of, 10:76–77
 - publishing, 8:176–178
 - punitive damages, 8:187–191
 - reasonable person, 8:247
 - reform efforts, 1:377, 3:53, 5:223, 7:30
 - releases, 8:281
 - reparable injury, 8:303
 - restitution, 8:338
 - sovereign immunity, 9:255
 - sports, 9:290–291
 - strict liability, 8:432–433
 - wrongful death, 10:433–435
- Tortfeasors, 10:62
- Tortious, 10:62
- Torture, 1:267, 268
- Total Information Awareness (TIA) program, 8:104

- Total quality management, 6:174–175, 176–177
- Totalitarianism, 3:37
- Totality-of-circumstances test, 6:332
- Totenberg, Nina, 3:156–157
- Totten trusts, 10:62–63, 63
- Toucey, Isaac, 10:63–64
- Tourgee, Albion W., 2:253
- Tourism, 2:385
- Towage service, 10:64
- Tower Commission, 5:476
- Towns, 10:64–65
- Townshend Acts (1767), 10:65–66
- Boston Massacre (1770), 2:85, 86
- War of Independence, 10:279
- Townshend Acts (document), 12:69–78
- Townships, 10:66
- Toxic Substances Control Act (1994), 1:276–277, 4:179, 9:242
- Toxic waste. See Solid wastes, hazardous substances, and toxic pollutants
- Toy, Blackie, 5:10–11
- Toynbee Hall, London, 1:88
- Toyota Motor Manufacturing, 3:440
- Tracing, 10:66
- Tractus de legibus et consuetudinibus regni Angliae* (Glanvill), 5:98–99
- Trade Act (1974), 10:183
- Trade dress, 10:66–68, 150–151
- Trade fixtures, 4:428, 429
- Trade names, 10:68–69, 150–151
- Trade policy
- automobile industry, 1:422
- Bureau of International Labor Affairs, 6:171
- Canada and U.S., 2:228–230
- Commerce Department, 3:10
- diplomatic agents, 3:429
- Embargo Act (1807), 4:117–118
- embargoes, 4:117
- Federal Maritime Commission, 4:348–349
- import quotas, 5:346–347
- Mexico and U.S., 7:50
- War of 1812, 10:277–278
- Trade Representative, Office of U.S., 10:182–183
- Trade secrets, 5:429, 8:101, 9:235, 10:69–70, 151
- Trade unions, 6:178–179, 10:70, 70
- See also* Labor unions
- Trade usage, 10:71, 185
- Trademark Act. See Lanham Act (1946)
- Trademark Law Revision Act (1988), 4:307, 309
- Trademarks, 10:71–77
- acquiescence, 1:66
- applications, 9:117
- copyright, 3:190
- counterfeiting, 3:238
- domain names, 3:13–14
- entertainment industry, 4:167
- false advertising, 4:308
- franchises, 4:478
- infringement, 5:455, 10:150–151
- intellectual property laws, 5:428–429
- jobbers, 6:15
- Lanham Act (1946), 6:204
- licenses, 6:315
- Patent and Trademark Office, 3:11, 7:387–388
- publishing law, 8:175–176
- secondary meaning, 9:56–57
- service marks, 9:116–118
- title, 10:40
- trade dress distinction, 10:67
- trade names distinction, 10:68
- Zippo Manufacturing v. Zippo Dot Com* (1997), 6:370
- Trading stamps and coupons, 10:77–78
- Trading with the Enemy Act (1917), 1:182
- Traffic laws, 1:425, 5:254–255
- Traffic stops
- detention, 3:420
- driving while intoxicated, 5:344–345
- racial profiling, 8:214–216, 216
- searches, 1:353, 413, 9:251
- See also* Roadblocks and sobriety checkpoints
- Traffic violations, 2:383
- Trafficking, drugs and narcotics, 4:24–25, 7:50–51, 101–102, 307–308
- Trail of Broken Treaties (1972), 1:482
- Trail of Tears (1838–1839), 7:197
- Brewer, David Josiah, 2:114
- Catron, John, 2:274
- Cherokee cases*, 2:337
- Ross, John, 8:407
- Training, police officers, 8:4
- Trans-Alaska pipeline, 4:147
- Trans Hawaii* (ship), 1:117
- Transactional immunity, 8:111
- Transcendental meditation, 7:210
- Transcontinental railway, 8:222
- Transcripts, 3:404–405, 10:78
- Transfer of assets, 10:79
- deeds, 3:372–375
- delivery, 3:392
- good will, 5:116
- Medicaid eligibility, 7:28
- mortmain, 7:124–125
- real estate, 1:37
- symbolic delivery, 9:424
- Transfer taxes, 10:79
- Transferred criminal intent, 3:275
- Transfers, 10:78–79
- franchises, 4:477
- multidistrict litigation, 7:137
- resulting trusts, 8:342
- reversion, 8:344
- shares, 2:204–205
- trusts, 10:118
- Transfrontier metropolises, 2:89
- Transitory actions, 10:79–80
- Transmission of AIDS, 1:67, 72, 74–75, 9:145–146
- Transmutation, 8:150
- Transnational corporations, 10:80
- Transnational law, 10:80–81
- See also* International law
- Transportation
- Americans with Disabilities Act (1990), 3:436, 437
- canals, 5:449–450
- carriers, 2:253–256
- charters, 2:321
- commerce regulation, 3:4–5, 6:420
- common carriers, 3:29
- employment discrimination, 5:301
- Federal Aviation Administration, 4:324–326
- Federal Transit Administration, 10:83–84
- ferries, 4:384–385
- Interstate Commerce Act (1887), 5:463
- Interstate Commerce Commission, 5:467–468
- National Transportation Safety Board, 7:191–192
- segregation, 7:110
- street railroads, 9:368
- See also* Airlines; Railroads and trains
- Transportation, Department of, 5:468, 10:81–86, 84

- Transportation Act (1920), 8:222
 Transracial adoption, 1:123
 Trask, Mililani B., 10:86–87
 Travel and tourism, 2:385
 Travel and Tourism
 Administration, U.S., 3:11
 Traveler's checks, 2:335
 Traverse, 10:87
 Traynor, Roger John, 10:87–88
 Treason, 10:88–90
 aid and comfort, 1:182
 Burr, Aaron, 2:176–177, 6:230, 447, 8:230–231
 Casement, Sir Roger David, 2:269–270
 Fries, John, 2:326–327
 Fries's Rebellion (1798), 5:6
 overt acts, 7:341
 United States v. Bollman & Swartwout (1807), 3:261
 United States v. Haupt (1942), 2:226
 Whiskey Rebellion (1794), 10:354–355
 Treason Clause, 10:88–89
 Treasure trove, 4:407–408, 7:433
 Treasury, Department of the, 3:237–238, 10:90–94, 91
 Treasury stock, 10:94
 Treaties, 10:94–95
 accession, 1:51
 Alaska boundary dispute, 1:196
 Antarctic Treaty (1959), 1:288
 Anti-Ballistic-Missile Treaty (1972), 1:291–293, 344–345, 347, 348
 Boundary Waters Treaty (1909), 2:228
 Bryan treaties, 2:151
 Clayton-Bulwer Treaty, 2:430
 congressional-executive agreements, 3:96–97
 Convention for the Amelioration of the Condition of the Wounded in Armies in the Field (1864), 8:422
 Convention on Fishing and Conservation of the Living Resources of the High Sea (1958), 4:424
 Convention on the Law of the Sea (1982), 6:214
 Convention with Respect to the Laws and Customs of War (1899), 8:422
 Conventional Forces in Europe Treaty (1990), 1:346, 3:184–185
 conventions, 3:184
 copyright, 3:199
 Declaration of Paris (1856), 8:110
 Elgin-Marcy Reciprocity Treaty (1854), 2:228
 extradition, 4:293
 Free Trade Agreement (FTA), U.S.-Canada, 2:228, 229 game hunting, 5:26
 General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (1947), 1:179, 2:228, 5:58, 346–437, 7:127, 389
 Hague Conference (1907), 7:62
 Hague Convention on the Civil Aspects of International Child Abduction (1980), 4:317
 Hay-Bunau-Varilla Treaty (1903), 5:449
 hierarchy of law, 6:209
 Hot Line Agreement (1963), 1:344
 human rights, 5:306
 Intermediate-Range Nuclear Forces Treaty (1987), 1:346, 5:436–437, 8:244
 International Convention for the Regulation of Whaling (1946), 10:348
 international law, 5:445
 International Tax Convention (1946), 4:7
 Jay's Treaty (1795), 3:396–397, 6:10, 7:450, 10:302
 Kellogg-Briand Pact (1928), 6:86–87, 111–112, 113, 8:299
 Limited Test Ban Treaty (1963), 1:344, 6:321–322
 Louisiana Purchase (1803), 6:375
 Migratory Bird Treaty (1918), 7:55
 Native Americans, 5:198, 7:196–197, 199–201
 North American Free Trade Agreement (1994), 2:229–230, 450, 7:50, 263–265
 North Atlantic Treaty Organization, 7:265–267
 Nuclear Nonproliferation Treaty, 1:344, 7:274, 276, 281–282
 Panama Canal, 5:450
 presidential powers, 8:73
 protection of diplomatic agents, 3:430 ratification by Senate, 1:142
 rebus sic stantibus, 8:248
 Rome Treaty (1998), 10:277
 SALT II treaty (1979), 1:292, 345
 Seabed Arms Control Treaty (1971), 9:37
 self-executing treaties, 9:91
 Smart Border Declaration (2001), 2:229, 230
 Southeast Asia Treaty Organization, 9:251–252
 START (Strategic Arms Reduction Talks) Treaties, 1:293, 346, 9:311–313
 Threshold Test Ban Treaty (1963), 1:344
 Treaties in Force, 10:94
 Treaty of Ghent (1814), 10:279
 Treaty of New Echota (1835), 2:337
 Treaty of Paris (1783), 10:95–96, 96, 281
 Treaty of Paris (1898), 9:259–260
 Treaty of Paris (1783) (document), 12:90–93
 Treaty of Versailles (1918), 5:263, 8:303, 10:96–97
 Treaty with Sioux Nation (1876) (document), 12:452–455
 uti possidetis, 10:188
 York-Antwerp Rules, 10:448–449
 See also Native American treaties; North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO); Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT I and II)
Treaties in Force, 10:94
 Treatises, 6:215, 10:94
 Treaty of Ghent (1814), 10:279
 Treaty of New Echota (1835), 2:337, 8:407
 Treaty of Paris (1783), 10:95–96, 96, 281
 Treaty of Paris (1898), 9:259–260
 Treaty of Paris (1783) (document), 12:90–93
 Treaty of Versailles (1918), 5:263, 8:303, 10:96–97
 Treaty reinsurance, 8:277
 Treaty with Sioux Nation (1876) (document), 12:452–455
 Treble damages, 3:333, 10:97
 Trees and shrubs, adjoining landowners, 1:95
 Trent affair (1861), 10:97–98, 98
 Trespass, 10:98–102
 action on the case, 1:79
 burglary, 2:169
 cemeteries, 2:285

- crops, 3:303
- environmental law, 4:173
- forms of action, 4:461–462
- landfills, 9:243
- mistakes of fact, 7:91
- replevin distinction, 8:306
- sexual assault as, 2:281
- water pollution, 10:308
- wiretaps, 7:312
- Trespass to try title, 10:102
- Trial by battle, 4:152
- Trial by jury, Magna Charta, 6:394
- Trial by ordeal, 4:151
- Trial records. See Court reporting
- Trials, 10:102–109
 - bench, 2:13
 - bifurcated, 2:27
 - chain of custody, 2:315–316
 - closing arguments, 2:456–457
 - courts, 3:241
 - criminal procedure, 3:286–288
 - examination, 4:261
 - hearings, 5:232
 - legal education, 2:268
 - Nuremberg trials (1945–1949), 7:286–291, 289
 - plea bargaining, 7:458–459
 - practice of law, 8:55–56
 - sequestration, 9:114
 - Sixth Amendment, 9:195–198, 273–275
 - wager of battel, 10:260
- Triangle Shirtwaist Company fire (1911), 7:428–429, 10:109–111
- Tribal courts, 1:463, 5:384
- Tribunals, 10:111
 - Alaskan Boundary Tribunal, 1:196
 - canon law, 2:233, 234
 - consular courts, 3:141
 - court of claims, 3:248
 - international genocide, 5:71
 - Nuremberg trials (1945–1949), 5:494, 7:286–291
 - reference, 8:264
 - war on terrorism, 7:62–63
- Trimble, Robert, 10:111–112, 112
- Tripp, Linda, 10:367
- Trivial matters, de minimis, 3:354
- Trover, 4:462, 8:306, 10:112–113
- Trowbridge, Alexander B., 2:190
- Troy shirt factory, 4:131
- Trucking industry. See Carriers
- True bill, 10:113
- Truman, Harry S., 10:113–115, 114
 - anti-lynching stand, 6:382
 - Byrnes, James Francis, 2:207–208
 - corruption allegations, 5:377
 - executive power, 10:450–452
 - expropriation, 4:288
 - Hiroshima and Nagasaki bombing (1945), 10:427
 - Korean War, 6:157–158
 - McGrath, J. Howard, Attorney General, 7:16–17
 - Vinson, Frederick Moore, appointment of, 10:232
- Truman Doctrine, 10:114
- Trust companies, 10:121
- Trust deeds. See Deeds of trust
- Trust receipts, 10:121
- Trustees, 10:121–122
 - charitable trusts, 10:120
 - naming of, 10:116–117
- Trusties, 10:124
- Trusts, 10:115–121
 - after-born children, 1:160
 - allocation, 1:233
 - antitrust law, 1:298–299, 5:196, 7:103, 9:166–169
 - assignment for benefit of creditors, 1:374–375
 - beneficial interest, 2:16
 - cestui que*, 2:311
 - charitable, 2:318–319
 - common-law trusts, 3:35
 - constructive, 3:138–141
 - cooperatives, 3:74
 - discretionary, 3:452
 - embezzlement, 4:119
 - foreign, 10:79
 - honorary, 5:284–285
 - interest on lawyers trust accounts, 5:431
 - living trusts, 6:347, 347–348
 - Massachusetts trusts, 6:460
 - pour-over, 8:46
 - precatory language, 8:56–57
 - revocable, 4:224
 - rule against accumulations, 8:416
 - spendthrift trusts, 9:278–279
 - Totten trusts, 10:62–63, 63
 - transfer of assets, 10:79
 - unitrusts, 10:166
 - Vidal v. Girard's Executors* (1844), 10:224–225
 - See also* Deeds of trust
- Truth
 - child sexual abuse cases, 9:147, 148
 - as defense for libel, 10:454
 - place in adversary system, 1:137, 138–139
 - testimony, 10:105
 - verification, 10:204–205
- Truth, Sojourner, 10:124–126, 125
 - “Ain’t I a Woman” (document), 12:396–397
- Truth in Lending Act (1968)
 - balloon payments, 1:461
 - disclosure of terms, 3:145, 149, 7:123
- Truth in Lending Act (1976)
 - Federal Reserve Board, 4:354, 10:124
 - finance charges, 4:407
- Try, 10:126
- Tucker, Karla Faye, 2:241
- Tucker, Thomas W., 7:52–53
- Tucker Act (1887), 4:357, 10:126
- Tulsa Race Riot (1921), 8:364
- Turning Point: A Candidate, a State, and a Nation Come of Age* (Carter), 1:451–452
- Turpitude, 10:126
- Tuskegee Institute, 10:298
- Tuskegee Syphilis Study, 10:126–127
- Tuttle, Elbert Parr, 10:127–128
- Twain, Mark, 5:130
- Tweed, William M. “Boss,” 2:377, 4:242–243, 397
- Twelfth Amendment, 10:129, 217
- Twelve-step programs, 1:199
- Twentieth Amendment, 6:184–185, 10:130, 217
- Twenty-fifth Amendment, 10:130–132, 217–218
- Twenty-first Amendment, 1:204, 3:466, 8:141, 10:132–133
- Twenty-fourth Amendment, 10:133
- Twenty-second Amendment, 10:133–134
- Twenty-seventh Amendment, 10:134–135
- Twenty-sixth Amendment, 10:135
- Twenty-third Amendment, 10:135–136
- Two-fund doctrine, 6:438
- 2 Live Crew, 2:287
- Two-party system, 10:129
- Two Treatises of Government* (Locke), 6:362–364
- Twomey, Paul, 3:112–113
- Tying arrangements, 9:168, 10:136–137
- Tyler, John, 2:292, 10:137–138, 138
 - King, Edward, Supreme Court nomination of, 6:140
 - Supreme Court nominations, 7:230

Webster, Daniel and, 10:321
 Whig Party, 10:352–353
 Tyranny, 8:346
 Tyson, Mike, 8:237

U

- UCC. See Uniform Commercial Code (UCC); Universal Copyright Convention (UCC)
 UCCC. See Uniform Consumer Credit Code (UCCC)
 UFW (United Farm Workers of America), 2:333–334, 10:161–162
 Ultimate facts, 10:139–140
Ultra vires, 10:140–141
 Umpires, 10:141
 Unanimity and jury verdicts, 6:82
 Unauthorized practice, 10:141–142
 Unauthorized Practice of Law (UPL) Committee, 10:142
 Unborn children, abuse of, 2:347
Uncle Tom's Cabin, or, Life Among the Lowly (Stowe), 9:365
 Unconditional pardons, 7:355
 Unconscionable, 10:142–143
 adhesion contracts, 1:93
 contracts, 3:169
 leases, 6:225
 property settlements, 8:151
 sales contracts, 8:445
The Uncounted Enemy: A Vietnam Deception (television documentary), 10:226–227
 Undercapitalization, 3:222–223
 Undercounting, census, 2:293–295
 Undercover investigations, 5:495–496
 Underground Railroad, 1:12, 9:365
 Underground water rights, 10:311
 Underinclusiveness, 10:143
 Understanding, 10:143
 Undertaking, 10:144
 Underwrite, 10:144
 Undue influence, 10:144–145
 cancellation of an instrument, 2:232
 constructive trusts, 3:138
 contracts, 3:176
 deeds, transfer of, 3:375
 duress distinction, 4:45
 property settlements, 8:151
 wills, 10:380
 Unemployment compensation, 4:361
 duration, 10:146
 Federal Unemployment Compensation Act (1939), 4:360–361 notice of business closings, 2:189–190
 rate (1950–1995), 4:361 rate during the Great Depression, 4:360 reasons for, 10:145
 tax, 4:361
 Temporary Assistance to Needy Families, 10:336–337
 Unemployment compensation, 10:145–147, 385
 Unenumerated rights, 10:147–148
 Unethical conduct, 10:148
 Unfair competition, 10:148–152
 consumer protection, 3:149
 trade dress, 10:66–67
 tying arrangements, 10:136–137
 Unfair labor practices, 10:152–154
 collective bargaining, 2:489–493
 labor law, 6:174–176
 National Labor Relations Act (1935), 4:131
 secondary boycotts, 9:55
 Taft-Hartley Act (1947), 9:431
 Unforeseeable causes, 2:277
 Unfunded Mandates Reform Act (1995), 3:167
 Unger, Roberto Mangabeira, 3:297–298
 UNICEF, 10:164
 Uniform acts, 10:154
 alternative dispute resolution, 1:241
 child custody, 3:325
 comity, 3:1–2
 Commissioners on Uniform Laws, 3:24
 divorce, 3:473
 Model Acts, 7:98
 Model Penal Code, 7:98–99
 sentencing, 9:106–107
 surrogate motherhood, 9:415
 Uniform Anatomical Gift Act (1968), 7:324–325, 328–329
 Uniform Child Custody Jurisdiction Act, 2:354, 4:317
 Uniform Code of Military Justice, 1:332, 10:154–156
 codification, 2:472
 courts-martial, 3:244, 247
 judge advocates, 6:43
 military criminal justice system, 7:59
 Uniform Commercial Code (UCC), 10:139, 156–158
 automobile sales, 1:423–424 bulk transfer, 2:164
 codification, 2:472
 commercial law, 3:14
 commercial paper, 3:15
 contracts, sale, 3:182
 implied warranties, 8:129–130
 installment contracts, 8:449
 law merchant, 6:213
 Mentschikoff, Soia, 7:39–40
 reasonable time, 8:247
 requirements contracts, 8:320–322
 risk, 8:366
 sales law, 8:444, 448–449
 secured transactions, 9:64
 warehouse receipts, 10:285
 “X” as a signature, 10:441
 Uniform Computer Information Transactions Act, 10:158–159
 Uniform Consumer Credit Code (UCCC), 10:139, 159
 consumer credit, 3:145–146
 usury, 10:187–188
 Uniform Controlled Substances Act, 4:28–29
 Uniform Crime Reports, 10:159–160
 Uniform Deceptive Trade Practices Act (1964), 4:307
 Uniform Durable Power of Attorney Act (1979), 8:54
 Uniform Fraudulent Transfer Act (UFTA), 4:490
 Uniform Guardianship and Protective Proceedings Act (1982), 5:159
 Uniform Interstate and International Procedure Act (1963), 6:369–370
 Uniform Interstate Family Support Act (1992), 2:360, 365
 Uniform Limited Liability Company Act (1995), 6:317–318
 Uniform Management of Institutional Funds Act (1992), 4:142
 Uniform Marriage and Divorce Act, 8:151
 Uniform Militia Act (1792), 7:65
 Uniform Parentage Act (1973, 2000), 7:398–399
 Uniform Premarital Agreement Act, 8:66

- Uniform Probate Code (UPC), 8:119, 120, 122, 10:160, 377
- Uniform Reciprocal Enforcement of Support Act (URESA), 4:318
- Uniform Rules of Evidence, 4:356
- Uniform Securities Act, 9:74–75
- Uniform Simultaneous Death Act, 9:189
- Uniform Vendor and Purchaser Risk Act, 10:202
- Uniform Workmen's Compensation Law, 10:419–420
- Unilateral changes and collective bargaining, 2:492–493
- Unilateral contracts, 3:168, 10:160–161
acceptance, 3:171
bilateral distinction, 2:27–28
consideration, 3:105–106
irrevocable offers, 3:170
wrongful discharge, 10:436
- Union Pacific Railroad, 3:267, 7:343
- Union shops, 10:161
- Unions. See Labor unions
- United Airlines, 1:191
- United Church of Christ, 5:217
- United Counseling Service of Bennington County, 5:115
- United Farm Workers of America (UFW), 2:333–334, 10:161–162
- United Kingdom. See Great Britain
- United Nations, 10:162–165
Cuban Missile Crisis (1962), 3:309, 310
doctrine of equality of states, 3:497
extraterritoriality, 4:295
Hague Tribunal, 5:175
human rights efforts, 5:305–306
International Court of Justice, 5:442–443
international law, 5:445–446
International Monetary Fund, 5:447–448
International Trade Organization, 5:448–449
law of the sea, 6:214–215 lawful wars, 8:426
League of Nations' structure, 6:222 refugee policy, 8:267–268
renunciation of war, 8:299
reprisals, 8:308–309
- Roosevelt, Franklin Delano, 8:397
- rules of war enforcement, 8:426–427
- U.S. ambassadors, 5:105–106
- United Nations Convention Against Torture (1984), 1:268
- United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR), 8:267
- United Negro College Fund (UNCF), 5:137
- United States Government Manual*, 10:165
- United States Information and Educational Exchange Act (1948), 10:177
- United States National Bank, Los Angeles (CA), 1:475
- United States Naval Academy, 7:215
- United States Reports*, 8:193
- United Steelworkers of America, 5:104
- Unities, 10:166
- Uniting and Strengthening America by Providing Appropriate Tools Required to Intercept and Obstruct Terrorism Act (2001). See USA PATRIOT Act (2001)
- Unitrusts, 10:166
- Universal City Studios, 9:246–248
- Universal Copyright Convention (UCC), 3:203
- Universal Declaration of Human Rights, 5:446
- Universal Music Group (UMG), 7:147
- Universal Negro Improvement Association (UNIA), 5:42
- Universities. See Colleges and universities
- University of Alabama
desegregation order, 10:269
University of Alabama v. Garrett (2001), 3:440
- University of California
Davis, Angela Yvonne, 3:347, 348
Regents of the University of California v. Bakke (1978), 1:152–153
- University of Chicago Law School
Chicago Jury Project, 2:340
Freund, Ernst, 4:506
Levi, Edward Hirsch, 6:293–294
- University of Colorado, 3:5–6
- University of Michigan
affirmative action, 1:155–157
Doe v. University of Michigan (1989), 2:504
Gratz v. Bollinger (2003), 8:270
Internet pornography case, 5:452–453 law school, 3:188
- University of Mississippi
integration, 7:40–42
Lott, Chester Trent, 6:372–373
- University of Texas Law School
Hopwood v. Texas (1996), 1:154–155
Sweatt v. Painter (1950), 7:132
- University of Virginia, 2:380–381, 506
- Unjust enrichment, 10:167–168
quantum meruit, 8:196
quasi contracts, 8:198
- Unlawful, 10:168
- Unlawful-act manslaughter, 6:423–424
- Unlawful assembly, 8:363, 10:168–169
- Unlawful communications, 10:26–27, 169
- Unlawful detainer, 4:446, 10:169–170
- Unlawful entry. See Trespass
- Unliquidates, 10:170
- Unocal Corporation, 2:191
- Unpublished works, literary property, 6:337–339
- Unsafe at Any Speed: The Designed-in Dangers of the American Automobile* (Nader), 1:418, 419, 7:160–161
- Unskilled vs. skilled labor force, 1:218–219, 223
- Unsolicited commercial e-mail. See Spam
- Unwritten law, 10:170–171
- Upjohn Co., 1:393
- Upset price, 10:171
- Urban areas movement of African Americans, 7:193 school integration, 9:19–20
- U.S. Airways, 1:190
- U.S. Attorneys, 6:89
- U.S.-Canada Free Trade Agreement (FTA), 2:228
- U.S. Chamber of Commerce, 10:171–172
- U.S. Civil War. See Civil War, U.S.
- U.S. Code Annotated® (USCA), 4:275, 10:174, 186
- U.S. Code Service, 4:275

U.S. Code (USC), 2:472, 4:429, 10:174, 186
 U.S. Commissioners, 10:174
 U.S. Copyright Office. See Copyright Office, U.S.
 U.S. Court of Appeals for the Armed Forces, 4:342, 7:61–62, 10:156
 U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit, 3:247–248, 4:339, 10:176
 U.S. Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit, 2:148–150
 U.S. Court of Appeals for Veterans Claims, 4:342, 9:262, 10:174–175
 U.S. Court of Federal Claims, 4:340, 9:262, 10:126
 U.S. Courts of Appeals, 10:175, 175–177, 176
 U.S. District Court (USDC), 10:186
 U.S. English (advocacy group), 4:159
 U.S. Information Agency, 10:177–178
 U.S. International Communication Agency, 10:177
 U.S. Marshals. See Marshals Service, U.S.
 U.S. Military Assistance Command in Vietnam, 10:226
 U.S. Olympic Committee (USOC), 2:120
 U.S. Postal Service. See Postal Service, U.S.
 U.S. Reports (Supreme Court publication), 6:149
 U.S. Sentencing Commission, 2:116, 10:180–182
 U.S. Taxpayers Party. See Constitution Party
 U.S. Trade Representative, Office of, 10:182–183
 USA PATRIOT Act (2001), 10:183–185
 aiding the enemy acts, 1:183
 Ashcroft, John David, 1:366–367
 attorney general, expanded power of the, 6:90–91
 civil rights of aliens, 1:215, 227 deportation of aliens, 3:403
 enactment, 10:8
 flying schools, 1:148
 Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Court of Review, 4:452–453
 presidential powers, 8:74
 privacy, 8:104–105

 search warrants, 9:44, 46
 Secret Service, 9:57
 speedy trial, right of, 9:275
 visas, 10:241
 wiretapping, 10:398
 See also War on terrorism
 Usage, 10:185
 Usage of trade, 2:236
 USCA. See U.S. Code Annotated® (USCA)
 USDC. See U.S. District Court (USDC)
 Use, 5:254–255, 10:186
 Use and occupation, 10:186
 Use taxes, 10:186–187
 Use variances, 10:199–200
 Used cars, 1:424, 6:267
 USOC (U.S. Olympic Committee), 2:120
 USS Cole, 10:282
 USS Ronald Reagan, 8:244
 Usufruct, 10:187
 Usurpation, 10:187
 Usury, 10:187–189
 consumer credit, 3:142
 credit, 3:266
 forbearance, 4:445
 loan sharks, 6:356
 Utah
 apportionment issues, 1:321
 Bosone, Reva Beck, 2:83–85
 census data lawsuit, 2:297
 Compromise of 1850, 3:60
 English-only law, 4:160–161
 Mormon Church, 7:117–119
 polygamy, 8:27
 Utah War (1857), 7:118
Uti possidetis, 10:188
 Utilitarianism, 10:188–190
 Bentham, Jeremy, 2:20, 6:245
 legal realism, 6:76
 Utility, nuisance cases, 4:172–173
 Utility companies. See Public utilities
 Utter, 10:190
Uxor, 10:190

V
 Vacate, 5:253, 10:191–192
 Vagrancy, 10:192
 homeless persons, 5:280
 prostitution, 8:156
 vagueness, 10:244, 404
 visible means of support, 10:241
 Vagueness, 10:192
 anti-gang laws, 5:34
 high crimes and misdemeanors, 5:251–252

 least restrictive means test, 6:226 liability for punitive damages, 8:189
 loyalty oaths, 6:377–378
 rule according to law, 8:419
 within the statute, 10:404
 void for vagueness doctrine, 10:244–20:245
 Valenti, Jack, 7:134
 Valid, 10:192–193
 releases, 8:280–281
 wills, 10:378, 380
 zoning regulations, 10:457
 Valuable consideration, 10:193
 Valuation, 8:150–151, 10:193
 Value, 10:193–194
 actual cash value, 1:79–80
 assessed valuation, 1:373
 book value, 2:79
 going concern value, 5:103–104
 market value, 4:125, 6:432
 par value, 9:350
 Van Buren, Martin, 4:492, 492, 10:194, 194–195
 Van Devanter, Willis, 10:195–197, 196
 Vandalism, 1:277–278, 10:197–198
 Vanderbilt, Arthur T., 10:198–199
 Vanzetti, Bartolomeo, 8:437
 Variances, 10:199–200, 458
 Vassals, 4:391–392
 Vaughn, George L., 10:200–201
 Vehicles right of way, 8:358
Vel non, 10:201
 Vendee, 10:201
 Vendor credit, 3:142
 Vendors, 10:201
 Vendors and purchasers, 10:201–202
 Venezuela, British Guiana dispute (1895), 7:313
 Vengeance, 2:64–65
Venire facias, 10:202
 Ventura, Jesse, 8:265
 Venue, 10:202–204
 civil procedure, 2:391–392
 determining, 10:103 jurisdiction distinction, 6:73
Verba, 10:204
 Verdicts, 10:204
 directed, 2:393, 3:433, 10:108
 forms, 10:108
 general, 5:61
 guilty, 5:163
 insanity defense, 5:406–407

- judgment notwithstanding the verdict, 2:393, 6:47–48
- juries, 6:82–83, 10:108–109
- polling the jury, 8:23
- sealed, 9:38–39
- Verify, 10:204–205
- Verizon Communications, 1:492
- Verkuil, Paul, 2:89
- Vermont
 - Chipman, Daniel, 2:371
 - domestic partners law, 3:388, 5:53, 322
 - Sargent, John Garibaldi, 9:3
- Vernireman, 10:202
- Versus, 10:205
- Vertical mergers, 7:45, 10:205–206
- Vertical restraints, 1:301
- Vest, 10:206
 - legacies, 10:206
 - remainders, 8:149, 294
 - rule against perpetuities, 8:416–417
- Veterans
 - American Legion, 1:258–259
 - benefits, 7:59
 - Bonus Army March (1932), 5:289
 - civilian veteran population, 10:209
 - Court of Appeals for Veterans Claims, 4:342
 - GI Bill, 5:74–77, 75
 - health care, 10:208–209, 211–212
 - loyalty oaths, 6:378
 - rights of, 10:211–213
 - U.S. Court of Appeals for Veterans Claims, 9:262, 10:174–175
- Veterans Administration. See Veterans Affairs, Department of
- Veterans Affairs, Department of, 10:206–210, 207
- Veterans Affairs and Rehabilitation Commission (VAR), 1:259
- Veterans Assistance Service, 10:210
- Veterans Benefits
 - Administration, 4:86, 10:209
- Veterans Claims Assistance Act (2000), 10:175
- Veteran's Day, 1:342
- Veterans' Employment and Training Service, 6:170
- Veterans Health Administration, 10:208–209
- Veterans Judicial Review Act (1988), 10:174
- Veterans of Foreign Wars (VFW), 10:210–211
- Veterans' rights, 10:211–213
- Vetoes, 10:213–215
 - Congressional procedure, 3:91
 - executive, 6:259, 8:71–72
 - legislative, 1:107
 - line-item, 5:350, 8:70
 - Pocket Veto* case (1929), 7:95
 - without day, 10:404
- Vexatious litigation, 6:406, 10:215–216
- Vicarious liability, 10:216
 - employers, 10:419
 - exclusive control by the defendant, 8:325
- Vice, 10:216–217
- Vice crimes, 10:217
- Vice Presidents, 10:217–218
 - Adams, John, 1:82
 - Agnew, Spiro T., 4:448, 6:135, 135–136
 - Burr, Aaron, 2:174–177, 175, 5:180
 - Calhoun, John Caldwell, 2:213
 - Cheney, Dick, 5:57
 - chronology, 12:553*t*
 - Gore, Albert Arnold, Jr., 5:116–119, 117
 - Humphrey, Hubert Horatio, 5:311, 311–312
 - official seal, 10:218
 - replacement, 10:130–132
 - role in Senate, 9:95
 - selection, 10:129
 - terms, 10:130
- Victim and Witness Protection Act (1982), 10:221
- Victim assistance programs, 10:218–219
- Victim Compensation Fund, 10:184, 185
- Victim Offender Reconciliation Programs, 8:338–339
- Victimless crimes, 10:219
- Victims of Child Abuse Laws (VOCAL), 2:346
- Victims of crime, 10:219–221
 - domestic violence, 5:321
 - homicide, 5:283
 - identity theft, 5:325
 - offender's parole, 7:371–372
 - plea bargaining, 7:460
 - presentence investigation, 8:69
 - property rights, 3:139
 - rape victims, 8:235
 - reparations, 8:304
 - restorative justice, 8:338–339
 - September 11 terrorist attacks, 9:114, 264
 - sex offenses, 9:143
 - shield laws, 8:236–237, 238
 - Son of Sam laws, 9:244–245
 - victim assistance programs, 10:218–219
 - victim impact statements, 10:221
 - victims' advocates, 10:221
 - Victims of Crime Act (1984), 10:222
 - victims' rights, 10:223, 224
 - Victims of Crime Act (1984), 10:218–219, 222–223
 - victims' rights, 10:223–224
 - Victim's Rights Amendment (proposed), 10:223
- Videocassette recorders, 9:246–248
- Videoconferencing depositions, 3:405
- Videotaping depositions, 3:405
- Vienna Convention on Diplomatic Relations (1961), 3:429–430, 432
- Vietnam, vice president Nguyen Thi Binh, 1:243
- Vietnam War, 10:225–230
 - amnesty for draft dodgers, 4:448–449
 - antiwar efforts, 3:408, 9:301, 425
 - Church committee hearings, 2:303–304
 - Clifford, Clark McAdams, 2:441
 - criticism of Johnson, 5:138–139
 - Douglas, William Orville, 4:12
 - election of 1964, 5:111
 - election of 1968, 7:252
 - Fulbright, James William, 5:14
 - Johnson, Lyndon Baines, 6:24
 - Kissinger, Henry Alfred and, 6:146–147
 - McCain, John Sidney, 7:1–2
 - McCarthy, Eugene Joseph, 7:6–7
 - My Lai Massacre (1968), 7:152–153
 - Operation Oregon, 10:229
 - Pentagon Papers*, 7:239–240
 - post-war amnesty, 1:266
 - Rankin, Jeannette, 8:232
 - target planning, 6:43–44
 - timeline, 10:228
 - Tonkin Gulf Resolution (1964), 10:55–56
 - Welsh v. United States* (1970), 10:342–343
- Vigilantism, 10:230–231
- Reconstruction, 8:254

- San Francisco Vigilance Committees, 8:452–453
- Vill, 10:231
- Vinson, Frederick Moore, 10:231–233, 232
- clear and present danger standard, 2:432–433
- Dennis v. United States* (1951), 3:43
- Vinson, Michelle, 9:154
- Violence
- advocated by anarchists, 5:97
- anti-abortion activities, 1:15, 22–24
- Anti-Biased Violence Project, 2:298
- battered child/spouse syndrome, 1:502–503
- Brazil, human rights, 9:316
- cruel and inhuman treatment, 3:304
- cruelty, 3:308
- deadly force, 3:355–356
- gangs, 5:30–34
- gun control debate, 5:165, 166
- juvenile offenders, 6:101
- labor movement, 5:217–218
- Mobile Enforcement Team program, 4:25
- organized crime, 7:332–333
- pornography, 8:34–35
- schools, 5:353
- SWAT teams, 9:421
- television, 2:286–287
- three strikes laws, 10:28
- video games, 4:501
- vigilantism, 10:230–231
- against women, 4:48–51
- See also* Overthrow of government; Pacifism
- Violence Against Women Act (1994), 10:233–234
- Commerce Clause, 10:413
- domestic violence, 3:270, 505
- Dworkin, Andrea, 4:48–49, 51
- feminist jurisprudence, 4:376
- Violent Crime Control and Law Enforcement Act (1994), 2:248, 10:234–236
- capital punishment, 4:29
- domestic violence, 3:270
- drug courts, 4:23
- ex post facto, 4:261
- mandatory life-imprisonment sentences, 10:28
- recidivism, 8:251
- sentencing, 9:107
- Virgin Islands, 5:200
- Virginia
- Barbour, Philip Pendleton, 1:487–489
- Bill of Rights, 2:33
- Buck v. Bell* (1927), 2:159
- Glass, Carter, 5:99
- Henry, Patrick, 5:246–247
- Hill, Oliver White, Sr., 5:259
- Hoffman, Walter Edward, 5:271–272
- Jefferson, Thomas, 6:11–12
- jury trial history, 10:102–103
- Martin v. Hunter's Lessee* (1816), 6:448–449
- Mason, George, 6:451–452
- Monroe, James, 7:105
- murder cases, 3:86–87
- New House of Delegates, 6:387–388
- parole, 7:371
- service marks, 9:117
- slavery, 9:205
- Virginia and Kentucky Resolves, 1:211, 6:12, 129, 9:325–326, 10:236–237
- Virginia and Kentucky Resolves (document), 12:133–135
- Virginia Conventions (1774–1776), 10:237
- Virginia Declaration of Rights, 2:33, 10:238
- Virginia Declaration of Rights (document), 12:85–86
- Virginia Military Institute (VMI), 2:501–502, 5:96, 9:137, 10:238–240
- Virginia Plan
- Madison, James, 6:389
- Randolph, Edmund Jennings, 8:230
- Virginia Plan (document), 12:107–109
- Virtual adoption, 1:123
- Virtual child pornography, 2:359–360, 8:36
- Virtual state court, Michigan, 3:242
- Viruses and worms (computer), 3:63–66, 5:455, 459
- Vis*, 10:240
- Visa U.S.A. (company), 3:263–265
- Visas, 10:240–241
- aliens, 1:217–224
- green cards, 5:139
- Visible means of support, 10:241
- Visitation rights, 10:241–242
- court-ordered, 2:351
- grandparents, 4:317–318, 7:361–362
- parental, 4:316–317
- prisoners, 8:94
- Vitiate, 10:242
- Vitoria, Francisco de, 10:242–243
- Viva voce*, 10:243
- Viz.*, 10:243
- VOCAL (Victims of Child Abuse Laws), 2:346
- Vocational and Adult Education, Office of, 4:65
- Vocational Rehabilitation Service, 10:209
- Vocational training, 10:209, 213–214
- Voice of America, 10:177
- Void, 8:168, 10:243–244
- Void for vagueness doctrine, 10:244–245
- Voidable, 10:245
- contracts, 3:169, 173, 176, 5:368
- marriages, 1:284
- titles, 7:434, 8:146–147
- Voir dire, 6:81, 10:245–246
- Volenti non fit injuria*, 10:246
- Volstead, Andrew John, 10:246–248, 247
- Volstead Act (1919), 4:77–78, 8:140, 10:246
- Voluntary
- bankruptcy, 1:472
- confessions, 4:401–402
- consent, 7:401
- Voluntary acts, 10:248–249
- Voluntary manslaughter, 6:422–423
- Voluntary waste, 10:305–306
- Volunteerism
- American Association of Retired Persons, 1:245
- militias, 7:66
- von Bulow, Claus, 3:409
- von Neurath, Konstantin, 7:290
- Voteauction.com, 4:97
- Voting, 10:249–254
- absentee voting, 1:30–34, 31
- African Americans, 2:250, 10:249–253
- American Association of Retired Persons, 1:245
- apportionment issues, 1:318, 320–321, 9:159–160
- Civil Rights Movement, 1:449
- convicts, 2:386, 388
- cumulative voting, 3:313
- discrimination, 3:23–24, 452, 5:196, 313–314, 7:366
- disfranchisement, 3:453–455, 9:356
- District of Columbia, 3:466–468, 10:135–136

- Dorr's Rebellion (1842), 3:507–508
 Eastman, Crystal, 4:57
 enfranchisement, 4:148
 equal protection, 4:192–193 franchise, 4:476
 fusion method, 7:236
 gerrymandering, 5:72–74
 grandfather clauses, 5:127–128
 homeless persons, 5:279
 Johnson, Frank Minis, rulings of, 6:19
 Latino Americans, 6:223 machines, 4:97
 NAACP Legal Defense and Education Fund, 7:159
 National Woman Suffrage Association, 10:408–410
 one person, one vote, 7:316
 poll taxes, 8:20, 10:133
 primaries, 5:200, 9:314
 prisoners, 1:32
 Puerto Ricans, 8:181
 Rankin, Jeannette, 8:232
 residency requirements, 8:332
 Selma-to-Montgomery march (1965), 6:345–346
 Seneca Falls Declaration of Sentiments (document), 12:394–396
 shareholders, 2:201–202, 3:218–219, 221 states' denial of, 4:94
 statistics, 4:95
 Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, 5:176 territories, U.S., 10:5
 Twenty-sixth Amendment, 10:135
viva voce, 10:243
 voteauction.com, 4:97
 voter turnout for presidential elections, 10:253
 Warren Court rulings, 10:293
 white primaries, 10:250–251, 343, 362
 women, 1:289–291, 7:245, 410, 9:99–100, 358
See also Elections; Registration, voter
 Voting Rights Act (1965), 10:251–253, 254–255
 Civil Rights Movement, 2:407
 discrimination, 3:452
 disfranchisement, 3:454–455
 Johnson, Lyndon Baines, 6:24
 King, Martin Luther, Jr., 6:143
 redistricting, 5:73
 significance, 8:213
 Voting Rights Act (1965) (document), 12:385–391
 Voting Rights Act Address (Johnson) (document), 12:482–483, 482–483
 Voting trusts, 10:255, 256–257
 Vouchees, 10:255
 Vouchers, 7:173, 9:26–27, 30, 10:257
 Vouching-in, 10:257
- W
 W-4 forms, 10:403
 Waco (TX). See Branch Davidian raid (1993)
 Wadset, 10:259
 Wage Appeals Board, Dept. of Labor, 3:345
 Wage assignments, 10:259–260
 Wage earner's plans, 10:260
 Wager of battel, 10:260
 Wager of law, 3:60, 10:113, 260–261
 Wages and Hours Law. See Fair Labor Standards Act (1938)
 Wages and salaries. See Compensation and income
 Wagner, Robert Ferdinand, 10:262–263, 263
 Wagner Act (1935), 7:255–256, 10:261–262
 closed shops, 2:453–454
 collective bargaining, 2:490, 4:131
 discrimination, 2:398
 labor unions, 6:179
 NLRB v. Jones and Laughlin Steel Corp. (1937), 8:396
 overview, 6:172–176
 quality circles and total quality management, 6:174–175, 176–177
 unfair labor practices, 10:152–154
 Wagner, Robert Ferdinand, 10:262, 263
 wildcat strikes, 10:373
 yellow dog contracts, 10:447
 Wait-and-see doctrine, 10:263–264
 Wait-and-see statutes, 8:417
 Waite, Morrison Remick, 10:264–265
 Waiting periods marriage licenses, 6:436
 mergers and acquisitions, 7:46–47
 Waive, 10:265
 Waivers, 10:265–266
 arraignment, 1:349
 continuance, 3:164
 descent and distribution, 3:415–416, 417 lien, 6:315–316
 Miranda rights, 3:81
 statute of limitations, 9:333
 Waiving time, 10:266
 Wald, Patricia McGowan, 1:336, 10:266–268
 Walker, David M., 5:57
 Walker spy ring, 4:211–212
 Wallace, Aaron, 7:437
 Wallace, George Corley, 10:268–270, 269
 civil rights march (1965), 6:345 desegregation court order, 6:19
 election of 1968, 5:382
 Wallace, Henry, 8:139, 139
 Wallace, John William, 10:270, 270–271
 Walnut Street Prison, 10:272–273, 273
 Walsh, John, 6:139
 Walsh, Lawrence, 3:111, 5:477, 477
 Walt Disney Corp. See Disney Corp.
 Want, 10:273
 Want of consideration, 10:273
 Wanted posters, 2:361, 363
 Wanton, 10:273–274
 Wapentake, 10:274
 Wapner, Joseph A., 2:216
 War, 10:274–275
 aerial warfare, 8:425
 aiding the enemy acts, 1:182–183
 alien enemies, 1:212
 amnesty, 1:265–266
 armistice, 1:342
 articles of war, 1:363
 asymmetrical warfare, 6:87
 casus belli, 2:272
 citizens' rights and status, 10:274–275
 Clark, William Ramsey, clients of, 2:419
 clear and present danger, 9:14
 declarations, 3:129–130, 368, 5:148
 embargoes, 4:117
 enemy combatants, 4:142–143
 executive orders, 4:275
 fishing vessels, 4:428
 free speech, 2:312–313, 422
 Geneva Conventions (1949), 5:68–69
 international waterways, 5:449–450

- just war, 6:86–87
- loyalty oaths, 6:377
- marque and reprisal, 6:433
- martial law, 6:444–446
- mobilization, 10:275
- naval warfare, 8:426
- neutrality, 7:230–232
- Nuremburg principles, 8:422
- passports, 7:386
- presidential war powers, 8:69–70, 73–74
- prevention, 5:446
- prize courts, 8:116
- prize law, 8:116
- recognition, 8:253
- renunciation of, 8:299
- reparations, 8:303
- target planning, 6:43–44
- treason, 10:89
- See also* Pacifism
- War, rules of, 8:421–427
 - judge advocates, 6:43–44
 - law of armed conflict, 7:62
 - military government, 7:55–56
 - privateering, 8:110
- War Brides Act (1945), 8:268
- War crimes, 10:275–277
 - civilians, 8:424
 - genocide, 5:71
 - Hague Tribunal, 5:175
 - Nuremburg trials (1945–1949), 5:494, 7:285–286, 291
 - rules of war, 8:422
 - Tokyo Trial (1946–1948), 10:53–55, 54
- War of 1812, 10:277–279, 278
 - Dallas, George Mifflin, 3:330
 - Democratic Republican Party, 3:397
 - Essex Junto opposition, 4:215
 - Harrison, William Henry, 5:198
 - Madison, James, 6:390
- War of Independence, 10:279–281, 280
 - Adams, John, 1:81
 - Chase, Samuel, 2:328
 - Coke, Sir Edward, influence of, 2:485
 - Common Sense* (Paine) (document), 12:83–84
 - Declaration of Independence, 3:368–369
 - Declaration of the Causes and Necessity of Taking Up Arms (document), 12:79–82
 - Dr. Bonham's Case* (1610), 4:153
 - Franklin, Benjamin, 4:486
 - freedom of the press, 4:416
 - Henry, Patrick, 5:246–247
 - militias, 7:65
 - Paine, Thomas, 7:350
 - Treaty of Paris (1783), 10:95–96, 96
 - Treaty of Paris (1783) (document), 12:90–93
 - Washington, George, 10:300–301
- War on drugs, 4:30–32
- War on terrorism, 10:282–284
 - Address to Congress, September 20, 2001 (Bush) (document), 12:488–492
 - Afghanistan, 9:113
 - alien enemies, 1:212
 - American Civil Liberties Union, 1:252
 - attorney general, expanded power of the, 6:90–91
 - aviation, 4:326
 - border security, 2:230
 - Bush, George Walker, 2:184–185, 10:9
 - Central Intelligence Agency, 2:305–306
 - civil liberties curtailment, 2:11–12
 - Defense, Department of, 3:386
 - deportation, 3:403
 - duties of citizens, 2:385–386
 - enemy combatants, 4:142–143, 8:423
 - Federal Bureau of Investigation, 4:333
 - federal laws, 10:8
 - incarceration of citizens, 5:359–360
 - just war concept, 6:87
 - military tribunals, 7:62–63
 - news media, 4:505
 - presidential powers, 8:74
 - privacy, 8:104–105
 - racial profiling, 8:217
 - reprisals, 8:309
 - Ridge, Thomas Joseph, 8:354–355
 - State, Department of, 9:59
 - U.S. Marshals Service, 10:179
 - use of armed services, 1:341
 - wiretapping, 10:398
 - See also* September 11 terrorist attacks (2001); USA PATRIOT Act (2001)
- War Powers Resolution (1973), 3:130, 8:74, 10:274
- Ward, Nathaniel, 10:284–285
- Ward, Samuel, 6:357
- Wards, 10:284
- Wards Cove Packing Company, 3:460
- Warehouse banks, 3:111
- Warehouse receipts, 10:285, 286
- Warehousemen, 5:268, 10:285
- Warranties, 10:287–289
 - commercial leases, 6:225
 - consumer protection, 3:150
 - express, 4:287
 - habitability, 5:174
 - homeowner's, 5:280
 - implied, 2:279, 5:345–346
 - Magnuson-Moss Warranty Act (1975), 6:395–396
 - product liability, 8:126, 128–130
 - sales law, 8:446–447
 - warranty deeds, 3:375
- Warrantless searches
 - automobiles, 1:410–415, 3:282
 - Fourth Amendment
 - exceptions, 4:473–474, 9:41–42
 - fruit of the poisonous tree, 5:9–11
 - hot pursuit, 5:293–294
 - persons on probation, 4:475–476
 - reasonableness, 3:286
 - Terry v. Ohio* (1968), 10:9–11
 - See also* Search and seizure
- Warrants, 10:285, 287
 - bench, 2:13, 14
 - Exclusionary Rule, 4:265–266
 - probable cause, 8:118–119
- Warrants of attorney, 10:287
- Warranty deeds, 8:204–205, 10:289–290
- Warren, Charles, 10:290–291
- Warren, Earl, 10:294–297, 295
 - antitrust cases, 1:301
 - blue laws opinion, 2:67
 - Miranda v. Arizona* (1966), 7:83–84
 - Reynolds v. Sims* (1964), 8:349–351
 - Sweezy v. New Hampshire* (1957), 1:46
 - Warren Court, 10:292–294
- Warren Commission, 10:291, 291–292
 - Ford, Gerald Rudolph, 4:447
 - Kennedy, John Fitzgerald, 6:122
 - Ruby, Jack, 8:415
 - Warren, Earl, 10:296
- Warren Court, 10:292–294
- Warsaw Pact, 3:184–185
- Wash sales, 10:297

- Washington, Booker Taliaferro, 4:35, 10:297, 297–299
- Washington, Bushrod, 10:299, 299–300
- Washington, D.C. See District of Columbia
- Washington, George, 10:300–302, 301
- Attorney general Edmund Randolph, 1:396
- Chase, Samuel, Supreme Court nomination of, 2:328–329
- Constitution, U.S., 3:119–120, 122
- executive privilege, 4:276
- Farewell Address (document), 12:461–469
- Federalist party, 4:368–369
- Hamilton, Alexander, deputy, 5:178–179
- Lee, Charles and, 6:229
- Rutledge, John and, 8:430–431
- War of Independence, 10:280–281, 281
- Washington College of Law, 5:87, 7:148
- Washington Monument, Washington, D.C., 1:73
- Washington (state)
- assisted suicide law, 7:407–408
- comparable worth reform, 3:51
- grandparents' visitation rights, 4:317–318
- National Guard, 1:336
- Native American rights, 7:200–201
- oil spill control, 4:178–179
- Washington v. Glucksberg* (1997), 10:302–305
- Waskal, Samuel, 3:226
- Waste, 6:189, 10:305–306
- Waste management. See Solid wastes, hazardous substances, and toxic pollutants
- Water pollution, 10:306–309
- Clean Water Acts, 8:26
- environmental law, 4:176–178
- Environmental Protection Agency controls, 4:183
- Water rights, 10:309–312
- eminent domain, 4:123–124
- inland waters, 5:400–401
- international waterways, 5:449–451
- islands, 5:485
- log floating, 6:369
- Native Americans, 7:201–202
- prior appropriation doctrine, 1:323
- United States v. Texas* (1896), 3:193–194
- U.S.-Mexico, 7:51
- See also* Riparian rights; Rivers and streams
- Watergate scandal (1972–1974), 7:253, 10:312–314
- Bryant, William Benson, rulings of, 2:154
- Buchanan, Patrick Joseph, 2:157–158
- Cox, Archibald, 3:259–260, 5:377–378
- Ethics in Government Act (1978), 4:229
- executive privilege, 4:197, 277, 277–278, 8:419–420, 10:452
- Ford pardon of Nixon (1974), 7:356
- grand jury, 5:124
- impeachment, 1:361
- Jaworski, Leon, 6:6, 7–9
- Kleindienst, Richard Gordon, 6:148
- Mitchell, John Newton, 7:94
- obstruction of justice, 7:299–300
- political questions, 8:15
- Richardson, Elliot Lee, 8:352
- Saxbe, William Bart, 9:8, 9
- St. Clair, James Draper, 8:439–440
- tape recordings, 2:169
- United States v. Nixon* (1974), 7:254–255, 9:384
- Watkins, Sherron, 10:356
- Wattleton, Alyce Faye, 10:314–316, 315
- Watts, Thomas Hill, 3:76–77
- Wayne, James Moore, 10:316, 316–317
- Wealthy class
- criticism of New Deal, 7:234
- higher education, 5:75–76
- sumptuary laws, 9:399
- Weapons, 10:317–318
- arms sales, 3:110–111, 5:476–477, 7:231
- of mass destruction, 10:283–284
- rules of war, 8:426
- stop and frisk, 9:359
- zero tolerance, 10:455
- See also* Firearms
- Weather
- fatalities, 3:441
- Hurricane Georges (1998), 4:445
- intervening causes, 5:470
- National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, 3:10
- property losses, 3:441
- Web sites
- Census Bureau, 2:297
- Farm Credit Administration, 4:322
- Federal Communications Commission, 4:333
- Federal Register*, 4:352
- Library of Congress, 6:312
- Martindale-Hubbell Law Directory*, 6:450
- Uniform Crime Reports, 10:160
- Weber, Max, 10:318–319, 319
- Webster, Daniel, 10:123–124, 319–321, 320
- Wedding ceremonies, 5:48, 6:436
- Weddington, Sarah Ragle, 10:323, 323–324
- Wedtech investigation (1980s), 7:35
- Weichmann, Louis, 6:325
- Weight of evidence, 10:324–325
- Weights and measures, 10:325
- Weinberger, Caspar W., 5:479–480
- Weinstein, Jack Bertrand, 10:326–328
- Weis, Joseph Francis, Jr., 10:328–331
- Welch, Joseph Nye, 10:331–332
- Welfare, 10:332–339
- aliens, 1:218–220
- Burke, Edmund, 2:173
- Center for Law and Social Policy, 2:299
- Center on Social Welfare Policy and Law, 2:300
- child support, 2:365
- Children's Defense Fund, 2:366–367
- denial of benefits, 1:107
- homeless persons, 5:278–279
- Jobs Opportunity and Basic Skills program, 2:349
- man-in-the-house rule, 6:411–412
- Medicare and Medicaid, 7:26–29
- New Deal programs, 7:234
- recipients, 10:333
- reform history, 10:334–335
- residency requirements, 8:331–332
- Wells-Barnett, Ida Bell, 10:339–342, 340
- Wellstone, Paul, 1:33–34
- Welsh, Illiot A., II, 10:342

- Wesley, Carter Walker, 10:343–344
- West, John B., 6:242
- West Group
- Key Numbers®, 6:134
 - KeyCite™, 6:134–135
 - legal publishing, 6:243
 - West Legal Directory*™, 10:344–345
 - WESTLAW®, 10:344, 345–346
 - Words and Phrases*®, 10:416
 - West Legal Directory*™, 10:344–345
- West Nile virus, 8:170
- West Saxon Lage, 10:345
- West Virginia
- Davis, John William, 3:351
 - sexual assault laws, 8:234, 236
- Western states
- Homestead Act (1862), 5:281–282
 - insurrection plan of Aaron Burr, 2:176–177
 - land-use control, 6:190–191, 192
 - miner's codes, 7:77
 - water rights, 7:201–202
- WESTLAW® (Thomson Corp.), 3:60–61, 10:344, 345–346
- Westminster, First Statute of, 10:346–347
- Westminster, Second Statute of, 10:347
- Westminster Hall, 10:347
- Westmoreland, William C., 10:226–227
- Wetlands court case, 1:175
- Whaling, 4:427, 10:347–348
- Wharves, 10:348–349
- “What Shall Be Done with the Practice of the Courts?” (Field) (document), 12:500–502
- Wheat farming, 1:172
- Wheaton, Henry, 10:349–350, 350
- Wheaton's Reports*, 10:350–351
- Whereas, 10:351
- Whereby, 10:351
- Wherefore, 10:352
- Wherefore clauses, 1:285
- Whig Party, 10:352–353
- Benjamin, Judah Philip, 2:17–18
 - Choate, Rufus, 2:379
- Whip system (Senate), 6:374
- Whiskey Rebellion (1794), 1:199, 10:302, 353–355, 354
- Whistleblowing, 10:355–356
- White, Byron Raymond, 10:356–358, 357
- freedom of the press, 4:504
 - Furman v. Georgia* (1972), 5:19
 - Miranda v. Arizona* (1966), 7:84
- White, Edward Douglass, 10:360–362, 361
- White, Ronnie, 1:366
- White-collar crime, 10:358–360, 360
- White House, Washington, D.C., 1:99
- White primaries, 10:250–251, 343, 362
- White Slave Traffic Act. See Mann Act (1910)
- White supremacy groups, 10:362–364
- Whiteacre, 10:364
- Whitehead, Mary Beth, 1:128–129, 431–433, 4:320, 8:314, 9:410
- Whiteman, Marjorie Millace, 10:364–365
- Whitewater investigation, 10:365–368
- Clinton, Hillary Rodham, 2:447–448, 5:124
 - Clinton, William Jefferson, 2:451–452
 - executive privilege, 4:278
 - independent counsel statute, 4:230
 - Starr, Kenneth Winston, 9:310
- Whitney, Charlotte, 3:41–42
- Whittaker, Charles Evans, 10:368–370, 369
- Wickersham, George Woodward, 10:371–372
- Wickersham Commission, 10:370–371
- Chaffee, Zechariah, Jr., 2:314
 - Hoover, Herbert, policies, 5:288
 - Pollak, Walter Heilprin, 8:23
- Widows, dower, 4:15–16
- Wigand, Jeffrey, 10:47
- Wigmore, John Henry, 10:372, 372–373
- Wildcat strikes, 10:373
- Wilde, Oscar, 10:373–375, 374
- Wildlife preservation
- environmental law, 4:181
 - fish and fishing, 4:420–423
 - game refuges, 5:26
 - Roosevelt, Theodore, 8:399
- Wilkes, Charles, 10:97–98
- Wilkins, Roy Ottoway, 10:375, 375–376
- Will, Hubert Louis, 10:383–384
- Willful, 10:384–385
- misconduct, 10:385
 - nonpayment of fines, 4:410
- William I, King of England
- English law, 4:152–153
 - Lanfranc and, 6:201
 - wager of battel, 10:260
- Williams, Ella, 3:440
- Williams, Franklin Hall, 10:386
- Williams, George Henry, 10:387
- Williams, Ted (baseball player), 3:228
- Williams Act (1968), 10:385
- Williston, Samuel, 3:207, 10:387–388
- Wills and inheritance rights, 5:398, 10:376–382, 379
- acknowledgment, 1:64
 - ademption, 1:92
 - administrators, 1:115
 - adopted children, 1:129, 3:34
 - advancements, 1:135–136
 - after-born children, 1:160, 8:76
 - children conceived by artificial insemination, 6:441–442
 - codicils, 2:470
 - coercion, 2:472
 - collateral, 2:489
 - community property, 3:48
 - competent, 3:53, 5:369
 - constructive trusts, 3:139
 - contested probate proceedings, 8:122
 - court of probate, 3:248
 - cum testamento annexo*, 3:311
 - cy pres, 3:327–328
 - demonstrative legacy, 3:400
 - dependent relatives, 3:401
 - descent, 3:410
 - descent and distribution, 3:410–418
 - devise, 3:425
 - disinherit, 3:455
 - distributees, 3:464
 - dower, 4:15–16
 - elective share, 4:98
 - endowment, 4:142
 - escheat, 4:206–207
 - estate, 4:216–220
 - executors, 1:98
 - failure of issue, 4:300
 - fee tail, 4:370
 - general legacies, 5:59
 - guardianship of minor children, 8:122
 - heirs, 5:241
 - hereditaments, 5:247
 - holographs, 5:276
 - honorary trusts, 5:285

- hotchpot, 5:294
 illegitimacy, 5:326, 327
 incorporation by reference, 5:370–371
in terrorem, 5:354
 interpretation, 5:462
 lapse, 6:205
 legacies, 6:230
 legatees, 6:255
 letters of administration, 6:274
 living wills, 7:406–407
 lost property, 4:408
 Mortmain Acts, 7:125
 no contest, 7:257
 nuncupative wills, 7:285
 obliteration, 7:295
 order denying probate, 8:121
 paternity, 7:398
per capita, 7:424–425
per stirpes, 7:425
 personal representatives, 7:435
 posthumous children, 8:43
 pour-over, 8:46
 precatory language, 8:56–57
 pretermitted heirs, 8:75–76
 primogeniture, 8:83
 probate, 8:119–123
 publication, 8:174
 representation, 8:308
 republication, 8:320
 residuary clauses, 8:333
 revocation, 8:345
 right of election, 8:355–356
 right to retainer, 8:342
 rule against perpetuities, 8:416–417
 rule in Shelley's Case, 8:417–418
 specific legacies, 9:268
 Statute of Wills, 9:335
 tenancy in coparcenary, 9:457
 testacy, 10:12
 testamentary, 10:12
 testate, 10:12
 testators, 10:12
 transfer of assets, 10:79
 vested legacies, 10:206
Vidal v. Girard's Executors (1844), 10:224–225
 worthier title doctrine, 10:427
See also Bequests; Executors and administrators; Gifts and donations; Intestate
- Wilmot, David, 10:388–389, 389
 Wilmot Proviso (1846), 10:389–390
 Wilmot Proviso (document), 12:146
 Wilson, Dick, 1:256
 Wilson, James, 10:390–391, 391
- Wilson, James Quinn, 10:391–393
 Wilson, John Lyde, 4:42–43
 Wilson, Thomas Woodrow, 10:393, 393–395
 and Congress, 3:95
 Democratic Party, 3:394
 Espionage Act (1917), 4:213–214
 Fourteen Points (document), 12:473–475
 Gregoy, Thomas, Attorney General, 5:145–146
 international law, 6:220
 Palmer, Mitchell, Attorney General, 7:353
 Treaty of Versailles (1918), 10:96–97, 97
 Wind up (corporations or partnerships), 7:382–383, 10:395, 395
 Windows operating system, 7:104
 Winfrey, Oprah, 6:304–305
 Winn, Marie, 3:108
Winters rights, 7:201–202
 Wireless communications, 6:459
 Wireless Telecommunications Bureau, FCC, 4:334
 Wireline Competition Bureau, FCC, 4:334
 Wiretapping, 10:397–398, 398
 Brandeis, Louis Dembitz, 2:104–105
 Butler, Pierce, 2:199
 Douglas, William Orville, 4:11
 Fourth Amendment, 4:106
Olmstead v. United States (1928), 7:312
 Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act (1968), 8:103–104
 Sargent, John, 9:4
 Watergate scandal (1972–1974), 7:93–94
See also Electronic surveillance
- Wirt, William, 1:397, 6:90, 10:398–400, 399
 Wisconsin
 DNA evidence, 3:487
 hate crimes law, 5:202–203, 205–206
 La Follette, Robert Marion, 6:167–168
 McCarthy, Joseph, 7:8
 Medicaid eligibility, 7:28
 school desegregation, 3:116
 school vouchers, 9:27
 state legislature, 6:264
 Wisdom, John Minor, 9:18, 10:400–402, 401
- Wise, Stephen, 1:279
 Witan, 10:402
 Withdrawal of appearance, 1:310 from conspiracies, 3:109
 limited liability companies, 6:320
 Withholding of deportation, 1:226
 Withholding of funds, 4:41
 Withholding tax, 10:403–404
 Within the statute, 10:404
 Without day, 10:404
 Without prejudice, 10:404–405
 Without recourse, 10:405
 Witness protection programs, 8:159
 Witnesses, 10:405–407
 accomplice witnesses, 1:56–57 administrative agencies' investigations, 8:165–166
 attest, 1:391
 attestation, 1:391
 avowal, 1:429–430
 cameras in court, 2:219
 cases in chief, 10:106–107 character witnesses, 2:317–318 competence, 10:105
 compulsory process, 3:60
 compurgators, 3:60
 confrontation, 3:85–87, 9:11, 142–143, 198–199 Congressional hearings, 3:95, 7:12
 corroborate, 3:232
 cross-examination, 3:304
 demeanor, 3:392
 direct examination, 3:433
 evidence, 4:248–249
 eyewitnesses, 4:296
 favorable, 9:199–200
 grand juries, 5:123–126
 hearsay, 5:234–237
 holographs, 5:276
 hostile, 1:139, 5:293
 hypothetical questions, 5:322
 immunity, 8:111, 9:62
 information and belief, 5:396
 lawyer-witness rule, 6:219
 leading questions, 6:220
 lineups, 6:331–332
 marital communications privilege, 6:431
 material, 6:461
 matters of fact, 6:463
 motions, 7:128–130
 perjury, 7:427–428
 photo lineups, 7:438–439
 prior inconsistent statements, 8:85

- privileged communications, 8:112–113
 protective custody, 8:158–159
 refreshing memory, 8:266
 self-incrimination, privilege against, 8:111
 sequestration, 9:114
 show-ups, 9:183
 testimony, 10:12–13
 truthfulness, 10:105
viva voce, 10:243
 wills, 8:120, 122, 10:378, 380
See also Expert testimony; Testimony
 WLD (West Legal Directory™), 10:344–345
 Wolcott, Alexander, 10:407–408
 Wolters Kluwer, 6:243
Woman Rebel (periodical), 8:457
 Women admission to bar, 1:122, 4:437–438
 in the armed services, 1:334–335, 338–339, 3:103
 Brief for the Defendant in Error, Muller v. Oregon (document), 12:518–520 child care arrangements of employed mothers, 2:350 college graduates, 1:158 in Congress, 7:246
 contraceptive use, 2:41
 factory workers, 3:50
 fetal protection policies, 4:388–389
 heart balm acts, 5:239
 Indigenous Women's Network, 10:86 judgeships, 2:10–11
 in law schools, 5:87, 6:237
 in literature, 7:75
 Magna Charta, 6:395
 Military Selective Service Act, 8:408–409 murder in the workplace, 7:142
 names, 7:162
 occupations, 9:136*t*
 pregnant women and harm to unborn children, 2:347 reasonable woman standard, 8:247–248
 reproductive hazards and employment, 8:314 roles in society, 3:68
 sexual harassment, 9:153, 154
 small businesses, 9:213
 sports, 2:503, 9:286–287
 stalking victims, 9:294–295 student alcohol use, 1:200 violence against, 3:270, 9:139
 Violence Against Women Act (1994), 10:233–234
 whistleblowers, 10:356
 working hour restrictions, 6:361
 Women's Business Ownership, Office of, 9:213
 Women's Christian Temperance Union (WCTU), 1:202–203
 Women's rights, 10:408–413
 abortion, 1:13–26, 9:250
 Abzug, Bella Savitsky, 1:43–44
 Addams, Jane, 1:90
 "Ain't I a Woman" (document), 12:396–397
 Allred, Gloria, 1:233–236
 Anthony, Susan Brownell, 1:289–291
 Bradwell, Myra Colby, 2:98–99, 99
 Bradwell v. Illinois (1872) (document), 12:398–403
 child custody, 9:457–458
 comparable worth, 3:49–52, 52*t*
 consortium, loss of, 3:106–107
 credit, 3:144
 Dworkin, Andrea, 4:48–51
 Eastman, Crystal, 4:56–58
 Equal Rights Amendment (ERA), 4:198–199
 feminist jurisprudence, 4:373–376
 Fenwick, Millicent Vernon Hammond, 4:379
 fetal rights vs., 4:385–389
 Friedan, Betty, 5:1–4
 Ginsburg, Ruth Bader, 5:95–96
 Ireland, Patricia, 5:481–483
 Jaycees, 4:494
 Lockwood, Belya Ann, 6:364–365
 Mussey, Ellen Spencer, 7:149
 National Organization for Women, 7:186
 National Organization for Women, Statement of Purpose (document), 12:404–406
 Paul, Alice Stokes, 7:410–411
 property, 4:316, 5:319, 8:65
 prostitution, 8:156–158
 Roberts v. United States Jaycees (1984), 8:371–372
 Roe v. Wade (1973) (documents), 11:497–568
 Roe v. Wade as compromise, 8:385
 Schlafly, Phyllis Stewart, 9:14–16
 Seneca Falls Convention (1848), 9:98–100
 Seneca Falls Declaration of Sentiments (document), 12:394–396
 sex discrimination, 9:132–134
 Stanton, Elizabeth Cady, 9:306–307
 Steinem, Gloria, 9:339
 Stone, Lucy, 9:357–358
 suffrage, 7:245
 Terrell, Mary Eliza Church, 10:3
 Truth, Sojourner, 10:124–125, 125
 Women's Strike for Equality (1970), 5:2
 Wong Sun (Wong Sun v. United States), 5:10–11
 Woodbury, Levi, 10:413–414, 414
 Woods, William Burnham, 10:415–416, 416
 Woods and forests, 10:414–415
 Woodward, Louise, 6:441
 Woolworth Building, New York City, 5:85
 Words. See Language and words
Words and Phrases®, 10:416
 Words of art, 10:417
 Words of limitation, 10:417
 Words of purchase, 10:417
Work Accidents and the Law (Eastman), 4:57
 Work for hire, copyright issues, 3:193
 Work hours
 Brief for the Defendant in Error, Muller v. Oregon (document), 12:518–520 collective bargaining agreements, 2:496
 Employment Standards Administration, 6:170
 Fair Labor Standards Act (1938), 4:133, 304
 Lochner v. New York (1905), 3:353, 4:38, 131, 5:275, 6:359–361
 Work product rule, 10:417–418
 Worker Adjustment and Retraining Notification Act (1988), 2:189
 Workers' compensation, 10:418–422
 acceptance of risk, 1:382
 accidents, 1:53
 casual employment, 2:272
 course of employment, 3:240
 Employers' Liability Acts, 4:127

- fellow-servant rules, 4:372
- harbor workers, 1:116
- New York Central Railroad Co. v. White* (1917), 7:454
- state laws, 4:131–132
- willful misconduct, 10:385
- Working capital, 2:206
- Working class
 - communism, 3:37, 45
 - oppression, 1:272, 273
 - unions, 3:338–339
- Workplace
 - accidents, 1:53
 - dangerous conditions, 7:428–429
 - employees with AIDS, 1:71
 - history of women, 9:134
 - murder in, 7:142
 - Occupational Safety and Health Act (1970), 7:300–302, 301
 - See also* Employment issues; Sexual harassment
- Workplace safety. See Occupational safety and health
- Works of art and literature, 3:190–200, 191, 202, 5:426
- Works Progress Administration (WPA)
 - building projects, 7:234, 234
 - Federal Art Project, 1:355
- World Administrative Radio Conference, 2:129
- World Bank, 10:422–423
- World Church of the Creator, 10:363–364
- World Court. See International Court of Justice (ICJ)
- World International Property Organization (WIPO), 3:199
- World leaders
 - assassination attempts, 1:369
 - Bonaparte, Napoleon, 6:375
 - Brezhnev, Leonid, 1:292, 345
 - Castro, Fidel, 3:309–310, 6:368
 - Charles I, King of Great Britain and Ireland, 4:157
 - Edward I, King of England, 10:346–347
 - Edward II, King of England, 9:335
 - Edward VIII, King of England, 1:5, 5
 - Elizabeth I, Queen of England, 1:434, 2:483, 4:300
 - Gandhi, Mohandas, 5:28–30, 29
 - Genscher, Hans-Dietrich, 3:185
 - Gorbachev, Mikhail, 1:345–346, 5:436, 436
 - Henry I, King of England, 6:392
 - Henry II, King of England, 2:4–5, 4:154–155, 5:245, 245–246, 6:392–393
 - Hirohito, 5:260, 260–261
 - Hitler, Adolph, 5:263–264, 264, 7:288
 - Hussein, Saddam, 10:283–284
 - James I, King of Great Britain, 1:434–436, 2:484, 4:153
 - James II, King of England, Scotland, and Ireland, 9:124, 127
 - John, King of England, 3:36, 4:155–156, 156, 6:391–395
 - Juan Carlos, King of Spain, 5:450
 - Justinian I, emperor of Roman Empire, 6:93–95, 94, 8:387
 - Khrushchchev, Nikita, 3:309–310
 - Lenin, Vladimir Ilyich, 3:37, 6:268–269, 269, 9:292
 - Mao Tse-Tung, 3:40, 40
 - Milosevic, Slobodan, 5:71
 - Moscoso, Mireya, 5:450
 - Mussolini, Benito, 6:221, 7:149, 149–150
 - Pinochet, Augusto, 4:294
 - Stalin, Joseph, 3:37–39, 9:292–293, 293
 - William I, King of England, 4:152–153, 6:201, 10:260
 - World War II armistice, 1:342
 - Yeltsin, Boris, 9:312
 - Zhao Ziyang, 3:41
- World Series
 - Black Sox scandal (1919), 9:284
 - tickets, 3:237
- World Trade Center bombing (1993), 10:7
- World Trade Organization (WTO)
 - General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade, 5:58
 - protest (1999), 8:364, 365
- World War I, 10:423–424
 - American Civil Liberties Union, origins, 1:248
 - antiwar efforts, 5:108
 - armistice, 1:342
 - Baldwin, Roger Nash, 1:458
 - Espionage Act (1917), 4:213–215
 - Fourteen Points (Wilson) (document), 12:473–475
 - free speech, 2:312–313
 - Gregoy, Thomas, Attorney General, 5:146
 - industry resources, 5:113
 - liquor laws, 8:140
 - Rankin, Jeannette, 8:232
 - refugees, 8:267
 - reparations, 8:303, 10:449–450
 - Sedition Act (1918), 1:211–212
 - Treaty of Versailles (1918), 10:96–97
 - Wilson, Thomas Woodrow, 10:394–395
- World War II, 10:425–427
 - aerial warfare, 8:425
 - armistice, 1:342
 - atomic bombs, 9:348
 - Bush, George Herbert Walker, 2:179–180
 - Byrnes, James Francis, 2:207
 - Casey, William Joseph, 2:270
 - child care, 2:348–349
 - Civil Rights Movement, 2:403
 - Clark, Tom Campbell, 2:416
 - Eisenhower, Dwight David, 4:82
 - equal pay for women, 4:186–187
 - expropriation, 4:288
 - Great Britain, 7:187
 - Hirohito, 5:261
 - Hitler, Adolph, 5:264
 - Japanese Americans, 1:212, 4:193, 483, 6:1–6, 8:74
 - Korematsu v. United States* (1944), 6:158–159
 - League of Nations, 6:222
 - Lend-Lease Act (1941), 6:267–268
 - loyalty oaths, 6:377
 - Marshall Plan, 6:442
 - martial law, 6:445–446
 - military governments, 7:56
 - Mussolini, Benito, 7:150
 - neutrality, 7:231
 - Nuremberg trials (1945–1949), 7:285–291
 - Office of War Information, 10:177
 - racial discrimination in the defense industries, 8:228–229
 - racial profiling, 8:216–217
 - radio broadcasting, 2:125
 - Rankin, Jeannette, 8:232
 - refugee policy, 8:268
 - reparations, 8:304
 - Roosevelt, Franklin Delano, 8:396–397
 - rules of war enforcement, 8:427
 - Soviet Union, 9:293

- Temporary Emergency Court of Appeals, 6:430
 Tokyo Trial (1946-1948), 10:53-55, 54
 Truman, Harry S., 10:113-114
 war crimes, 10:276-277
 women in the workplace, 9:134
 Yalta Agreement (1945), 10:445-446
See also Holocaust
 World Wide Web. See Internet
 WorldCom, Inc., 3:213, 226, 10:356
 Worthier title doctrine, 10:427
 Wounded Knee (SD), occupation (1973), 1:256, 257, 483
 Wrecking and salvage, 1:427-428
 Wright, James Skelly (Judge), 10:427-429
 Wright, Jim (Congressman), 5:91
 Wright, Susan Webber, 3:157-158
 Write off. See Charge-off Writers and editors
 Abbott, Benjamin Vaughn, 1:4
 Ambrose, Stephen, 7:455
 Bacon, Sir Francis, 1:435
 Bates, Daisy Lee Gatson, 1:498-501, 499
 Bickel, Alexander Mordecai, 2:24-26
 Bigelow, Melville Madison, 2:27
 Blackstone, Sir William, 2:59-61, 60
 Bracton, Henry de, 2:94-95
 Chafee, Zechariah, Jr., 2:312-315
 Chambers, Whittaker, 5:262
 Chase-Riboud, Barbara, 1:265
 Cohen, Felix Solomon, 2:477
 Coke, Sir Edward, 2:482-485, 483
 Collier, William Miller, 2:507, 507-508
 Cranch, William, 3:260-262, 261
 Cushing, Caleb, 3:317-319
 Davis, John Chandler
 Bancroft, 3:350, 350-351
 Dershowitz, Alan, 1:41
 Dworkin, Ronald Myles, 4:51-52
 Garrison, William Lloyd, 5:40-41
 Gilpin, Henry Dilworth, 5:88-89
 Goodwin, Doris Kearns, 7:455
 Lemkin, Raphael, 5:69
 Littleton, Sir Thomas, 6:343
 Llewellyn, Karl Nickerson, 6:353-355
 Maine, Henry James Sumner, 6:397-399, 398
 Miller, Arthur, 3:156
 Millett, Katherine Murray, 7:74-75
 Pollock, Frederick, 8:23-24
 Posner, Richard Allen, 8:37-40
 Robinson, Randall M., 9:206
 royalties, 8:412
 Salinger, J.D., 3:198, 6:337
 Schuyler, George Samuel, 1:447
 Sinclair, Upton Beall, 9:190-191
 Steinem, Gloria, 9:338-339
 Stowe, Harriet Beecher, 9:364, 364-365
 Sweezy, Paul M., 1:45-46
 Thoreau, Henry David, 10:23-25, 24
 Totenberg, Nina, 3:156-157
 Twain, Mark, 5:130
 Ward, Nathaniel, 10:284-285
 Wigmore, John Henry, 10:372-373
 Wilde, Oscar, 10:373-375, 374
 Wise, Stephen, 1:279
 Writs, 10:429-430
 alternative, 1:241-242
 of attachment, 9:165
 certiorari, 2:309-311, 310, 5:78, 9:405-406
 close writs, 2:453
 concurrent, 3:71
 coram nobis, 6:5
 de odio et atia, 4:155
 of execution, 4:267, 399
 feri facias, 4:399
 judicial sale, 6:59
 judicial writs, 6:59
 mandamus, 6:414-416, 415
 praecipe, 8:56
 prerogative, 8:68
 prohibition, 8:142, 143
 scire facias, 9:35
 subpoena duces tecum, 4:37
 supersedeas, 9:400
 venire facias, 10:202
 Wrongful death, 5:392, 10:433-435
 burden of going forward, 2:165
 clergy malpractice, 2:437
 demand letter, 10:434
 parents and children, 7:363
 Settle, Ron, 2:463
 suicide, 5:485
 Wrongful discharge, 4:127-129, 10:436
 Wrongful life or birth, 10:432-433, 436-437 doctors' negligence, 7:442-443
 genetic screening, 5:67-68
 infants' rights, 5:393
 parents and children, 7:363
 Wrongful pregnancy, 10:437
 Wrongfully rejected goods, 8:448
 Wrongs, 10:432
 Wyatt, Walter, 10:437-438, 438
 Wyoming
 limited liability companies, 6:317
 private militias, 9:50
 Ross, Nellie Tayloe, 8:407-408
 Wythe, George, 10:439-440, 440
- X
 X, Malcolm. See Malcolm X
 "X" as a signature, 9:185, 10:441
 X ratings, 10:441-442
 X-rays, 3:398
 XYY chromosomal abnormality defense, 10:442-443
 XYZ Affair (1796), 3:397, 10:443
- Y
 Yablonski, Joseph A., 2:154
 Yahoo! Inc., 3:65-66
 Yakovlev, Anatoli, 8:402
 Yale University Law School, 3:205-206
 Yalta Agreement (1945), 8:397, 10:427, 445-446
 Yates, Andrea, 7:143
 Year Books, 10:446
 Yee, Johnny, 5:10-11
 Yellow dog contracts, 6:178-179, 7:263, 10:446-447
 Yellow journalism, 7:216
 Yeltsin, Boris, 9:312
 Yield, 10:448
 Yonkers (NY), 9:84
 York-Antwerp Rules, 9:177, 10:448-449
 Young, Brigham, 7:117-118, 118
 Young, Owen D., 10:449-450, 450
 Young, Whitney M., Jr., 7:193
 Young Democrats for Roosevelt, 2:226
 Yucca Mountain waste site (NV), 4:146, 6:191, 192, 7:278, 280, 282
 Yugoslavia
 genocide, 5:71

International Criminal Tribunal for the Former Yugoslavia, 5:175, 10:267

Z

Zenger, John Peter, 10:453–454
defended by James Alexander, 1:210
jury nullification, 6:83
libel defense, 7:209

Zero bracket amount, 10:454
Zero tolerance, 9:28, 10:454–456
Zhao Ziyang, 3:41
Zionist movement, 2:105
Zoning, 10:456–458
adjoining landowners, 1:94
adult theaters, 9:342–343
City of Erie v. Pap's A. M., 4:416 discriminatory practices, 8:213
land-use control, 6:187

nonconforming use, 7:259–260
nude dancing establishments, 4:503
ordinances, 7:324
police power, 8:10
property law, 8:150
spot zoning, 9:292
strategic lawsuits against public participation, 9:366– 367 variances, 10:199–200

File not found (FNF)